A TREATISE ON THE LAW

PERIAINING TO

CORPORATE FINANCE

INCLUDING

THE FINANCIAL OPERATIONS AND ARRANGEMENTS OF PUBLIC AND PRIVATE CORPORATIONS

AS DITILIMINALD BY

THE COURTS AND STATUTES OF THE UNITED STATES AND ENGLAND

BY WILLIAM A. REID OF THE NEW YORK BAR

IN TWO VOLUMES VOL. I

ALBANY H B PARSONS, LAW PUBLISHER 1896

Copyright, 1896,

BY

HENRY B PARSONS.

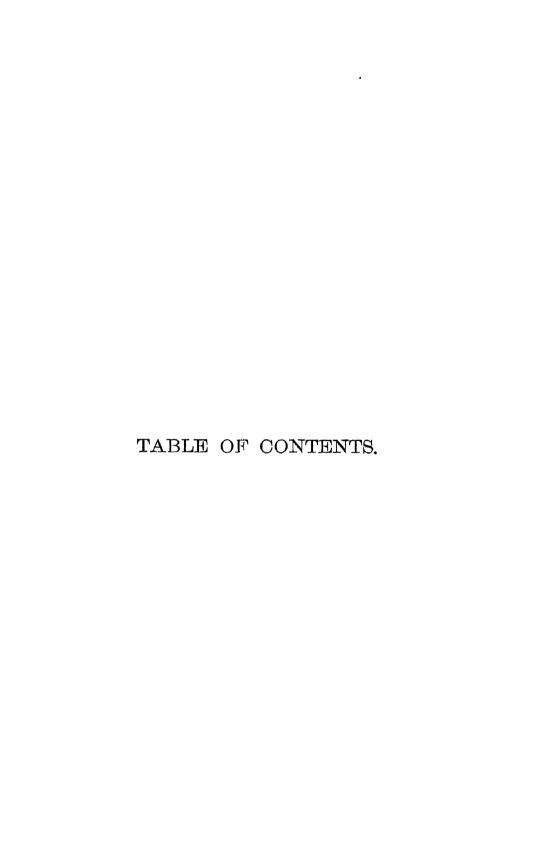

PREFACE

This work is a practical treatise upon the law of "Corporate Finance"—The Financial Operations and Arrangements of Public and Private Corporations—as declared by the courts in a large collection of cases. The idea in the preparation of the work has been that a lawyer searching for law adapted to his case would be aided by a work giving the rules declared by the courts, and, as far as necessary, showing how these conclusions were reached, the reasoning of the courts, and the application of the law to the particular cases as exemplified by the facts therein. In the text such a statement of facts, when necessary, has been made as will give an accurate idea of the case presented to the court, and the rules declared. The notes contain, in many cases, the full reasoning or argument of the courts in support of the rules, and frequently a differentiation of cases which may be assumed to be in conflict with the rules declared.

Especially has the author thought a work prepared upon this plan would be of great use to those who have not access to large libraries. I trust it may prove a ready and useful help to those who may use it

WM. A. REID.

NEW YORK CITY, January, 1896.

		·

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

VOLUME I.

CHAPTER I.

GENERAL	POWER	TO	INCITE	PECTINIARY	LIABILITY -	- PURLIC	CORPORATIONS

	_	A . 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	PAGE
Ŕ		General rules applicable to public corporations	4
		Distinction between public and private corporations	5
	3.	Borrowing money	6
		The United States Supreme Court on borrowing money	7
	5.	The New Jersey Court of Errors and Appeals on borrowing
	_	money	8
		Issue of negotiable securities	y
		Power of Indiana cities to issue bonds	12
		Miscellaneous rules as to issuing bonds	12
		Bonds issued for the erection of a county court house	15
		Funding county indebtedness by issuing interest-bearing bonds.	15
	11.	Issue of bonds to pay subscription to stock of railroad corporations	16
	12.	Notes or warrants to cover funds to be set aside in future
		taxation	18
		The issue of scrip	18
	14.	Purchase of real estate for erection of public buildings on time	19
		Erection of town buildings	20
	16.	Purchase of sites for erection of and repair of school buildings	21
	17.	The same subject continued	22
		Purchasing on credit	24
	19.	Building and repair of bridges	24
	20.	Incurring liability under California statutes	25
	21.	Incurring liability under Indiana statutes	26
	22.	Incurring liability under Kansas statutes	27
	23,	For lighting the streets of a city	28
	24.	Contract on time for lighting streets	29
	25.	Caring for the indigent, etc	30
	26.	Employment of physicians for the poor-Indiana statute construed	81
	27.	Expenses connected with epidemic diseases	31
	28.	For what towns may not be made liable	32
	29.	Expenses of a committee to secure legislation	84
	80.	For the payment of bounties to volunteers	35
		Validating a contract of village trustees	36
		Tillustrations of lie bilities incurred for a "corporate number"	28

			PAGE
s	33.	Purchase of fire engines and apparatus	37
·	34.	Illustrations of wrongfully incurred liability	31
	35.	Purchase of cemetery grounds	40
	36.	Erection of crematory for garbage	41
	37.	Use of private property for sewers	45
	88.	Detection of criminals	4:
	39.	Aiding private corporations	4:
	40.	Subscription to capital stock of railroad corporation	44
	41.	Power of the legislature as to compensation in such matters	47
	42.	Constitutionality of legislation authorizing such aid	47
	43.	In what respect the power of the municipality is restricted	49
	44.	Subscription for less than the amount voted	51
	45.	The effect of subsequent legislation upon such a subscription	5
		Statutory authority to construct a railroad	5
		Constitutional provisions construed	5
	48.	What is not a work of "internal improvement" in the meaning of Nebraska statutes	5
	49.	What is such a work	5
	50.	Contracts of guaranty	51
	51.	Employment of agents or attorneys	5€
	52.	Contracts for legal services — when allowed	57
	58.	Contracts for legal services — how made	59
	54.	When a public corporation is bound for legal services	59
	55.	Employment of counsel for defense of officers	60
		Indemnity for expenses of litigation	61
	57.	. When a public corporation is not bound for professional services of an attorney	64
	58.	The same subject continued	6;
	59.	. What contracts with attorneys are contrary to public policy	64
	60.	. Limitations upon the indebtedness to be incurred	64
	61	. The same subject continued	66
	62	. Limitations upon power to incur indebtedness — procuring a supply of water	68
	63	. The same subject continued	69
	64	Donation of bonds to aid in developing water power	70
		CHAPTER II.
	GEN	eral power to incur pecuniary liability—private corporat	TONE
	§ 65	General rules as to incurring indebtedness	72
	66	6. Purchase of property	74
	67	7. Aiding other corporations	70
	90	S. Contracts of suretyship	77
	98	d. Guaranty of bonds of one railway cornoration by another	78
	70	J. Guaranty of bonds of railroad corneration by one of another bind	70
	7.	i. Circumstances surrounding corporation may authorize the guar-	**
		antv	~

		TABLE OF CONTENTS VOLUME I.	i
5	72.	Guaranty of dividend upon preferred stock of another corpora-	PAG
٠		tion
	73.	What contract of another corporation may not be guaranteed
		Athletic club
		Banking associations
		A savings bank's powers
	77.	Corporations dealing in lands
	78.	Insurance corporations
	79.	Manufacturing corporations
	80.	Mining corporations
		Railroad corporations
		The same subject continued
		Raising money by borrowing notes and indorsement of them
		Evidences of indebtedness — forms
	85.	More rules on this subject
		Bonds of a banking association	1
		Power to secure their indebtedness	1
		Limitation of indebtedness	1
		Debt limited by par value of capital stock	:
	90.	When a statutory limitation of indebtedness does not apply
		CHAPTER III.
		POWERS OF AGENTS AND OFFICERS — PUBLIC CORPORATIONS.
ĸ	91.	General rules
	92.	More general rules
		Illustrations of the duty and powers of municipal officers
	94.	Ratification by municipal corporations of contracts made by their agents and officers
	95.	Agents and officers of counties — generally
		Power of county officers in California
		Power of county boards in Illinois
		Power of county commissioners in Indiana
	99.	Power of supervisors of counties in Iowa
	100.	Power of county commissioners in Kansas
	101.	Power of County Courts in Kentucky
	102.	Power of supervisors in Michigan
	103.	Power of County Courts in Missouri
		Power of county supervisors in New York
		Power of county commissioners in Pennsylvania
	106.	Power of county board in Wiscongin
		Power of township trustees in Indiana
	108.	Power of selectmen of towns in Massachusetts	,
		Power of selectmen of towns in New Hampshire
		. Power of supervisors of townships in Pennsylvania
	111.	Power of selectmen and agents of towns in Vermont	,
		Power of town officers in Wisconsin
	113	. Power of officers of school districts

CHAPTER IV.

	POWER OF AGENTS AND OFFICERS PRIVATE CORPORATIONS.
§ 114.	Agency in general
115.	Rules as to an agent's acts
116.	To what the powers conferred on an agent may be extended
117.	Illustrations of the binding force of an agent's act
118.	Power of general agents
119.	When the authority of a general agent will not be implied
120.	Power of officers generally
121.	The same subject continued
122.	Power of directors — general rules
	Directors for the first year
124.	Directors de facto
125.	Illustrations of the power of directors
123.	More illustrations on this subject
127.	Illustrations of a lack of power in directors
128.	When notes will be held to have been authorized by a hoard of directors
129.	Waiver by directors of their power to repudiate a contract
180.	Power of trustees of a corporation
181,	Power of officers of a corporation to employ attorneys
132.	When officers may use bonds as collateral
188.	When the execution of a note is not authorized
184.	Execution of promissory notes and transfer of choses in action.
185.	Notes signed by officers of corporation
180.	Power of bank officers
137.	Power of a bank cashier
188.	When the authority of its cashier cannot be questioned by a bank
189.	Indorsement of a draft by cashier and president of a bank
140.	Power of a treasurer of a savings bank
141.	Power of officers of mining corporations
142.	General rules as to the power of a president
148.	Rule as to evidence in such cases
144.	Power of president as to transfer of assets
145.	When a president's act is binding
146.	Illustrations of the power of a president
147.	Illustrations of a lack of power
148	What would show the authority of a president
149	Question of authority for the jury
150	Power of a president as to execution of notes
151	. In what cases the authority of a president may not be questioned
,152	. Giving a judgment note — New Jersey.
398	. The same subject — Illinois
254	. Where contract of purchase includes giving a judgment note
700	. What raises a presumption of authority
156	Power of officers acting conjointly

	TABLE OF CONTENTS VOLUME I.	хi
		PAGE
	An illustration on this subject	206
	One holding several offices	207
	Note executed by a secretary	208
	Power of superintendents, etc	209
	A manager's power	211
	Manager of a foreign corporation	212
	Authority of a manager	214
	What is not within the duties of a cashier of a corporation	216
	Auditing board of a corporation	217
	Power of a treasurer generally	217
		218
	Power of a treasurer as to execution of a note	219
109.	Authority of a treasurer to borrow money by means of sterling	000
170	contracts Power of a treasurer to indorse in name of corporation a note	220
170.	for accommodation	222
1771	Power of a treasurer to indorse a note of another corporation	223
	When a corporation will be bound by a note executed by its	ผลอ
112.	treasurer	225
172	When a corporation is bound by acts of its treasurer	226
	When a corporation will not be bound by the act of its treasurer	228
	Another illustration of such a case	230
	When contracts of a chief engineer will bind a railroad corpora- tion	280
177	Ratification by corporation of agent's acts—general rules	288
	Modes of ratification	235
	Illustration of ratification of conduct of agent	286
	What does not amount to a ratification	287
	CHAPTER V.
	FRAUDULENT ACTS OF OFFICERS.
	General rules	241
	General rules continued	248
	Breaches of trust	247
	Officers interested in contracts with a corporation	249
	Directors of an insolvent corporation preferring themselves to other creditors	253
186.	Directors contracting with a syndicate composed of themselves — when such a contract cannot be rescinded	255
187.	Directors issuing shares of stock to themselves	257
188.	Officers profiting by their relation to the corporation	258
189.	Repudiating or avoiding such contracts	264
	Rules as to such contracts	265
191.	Circumstances under which the directors cannot avail themselves of the defense of the invalidity of the contract Purchase by officers of debts due by, or property of, corpora-	267
	tion	269

			PAGE
ŝ	198.	Purchase and sale of property of corporations by officers Illustrations of a sale of property to corporation which was not	27:
	1 54.	fraudulent	274
	195.	When a transfer of property of corporation will be upheld	276
	196.	Officers voting themselves salaries or compensation	278
	197.	Interest upon exorbitant salary voted officer recoverable	281
	198.	Contracts between corporations having the same directors in part.	28:
	199.	Issue of worthless, or overissue of, stock	286
	200.	False representations of officers — deceit	28
	201.	A leading English decision on this subject	202
	202.	The rule adhered to in England	293
	203.	Officers conspiring to wreck a corporation	20
	204.	President conspiring against a corporation — terms on which the	201
		corporation could rescind the contract made by him	29/
		Promoters of corporations accountable for profits	200 208
	206.	Promoters obtaining stock of corporation for nothing	300
	207.	Jurisdiction of equity courts as to breaches of trust, etc When a court of equity is not open to the complaints of stock-	900
	200,	holders	308
	900	Remedy in equity	300
	210	Malfeasance of the president of a corporation—a stockholder's	OU.
	410.	remedy	312
	211.	When a demand upon a directory to bring suit is not required	313
	212.	When a stockholder may bring an action	816
	313 .	Dissolution of a corporation by a scheme of stockholders and a sale of property to themselves	821
	214.	The rights of the minority in such a case	324
	215.	Principles applied to this particular case	326
		When a fraudulent assignment of a mortgage by the treasurer
	o tr	of a corporation will bind it.	827
	æ11.	When a corporation may recover money fraudulently paid out by its treasurer.	828
	218.	When a corporation must respond for damages resulting from a fraudulent issue of its stock	880
	219,	The same subject—a Massachusetts decision	834
	220.	The same subject — a Pennsylvania decision	886
	221.	When a corporation may not respond for damages	339
	222.	A Massachusetts decision on this subject	341
		CHAPTER VI
		PERSONAL LIABILITY OF OFFICERS.
,
	1000 100	Directors' liability — general rules	846
	ape.	Idability of other officers—general rules.	850
	ago.	Rules as to liability of officers for diversion of property of cor-
	QQA.	poration	854
	AN U	Liability of officers arising from manner of execution of com-

		TABLE OF CONTENTS VOLUME I.	хiii
e	997	Tankillan of all and a second	PAGE
8	. וממ	Liability of officers arising from indorsement of commercial	900
	998	paper	360 368
		Liability of officers of savings banks	909
	NNO.	on forged indorsements	366
	980	Liability on contract made before complete organization of the	800
	200.	corporation	367
	281	Rule as to recovery in such a case	372
		County treasurer liable upon his receipts to collector for money.	373
		County treasurer liable as bailee of county funds	874
		County treasurer paying court orders on forged instruments	376
		Arbitration as to liability of a treasurer of a township	377
		Liability under special provisions of charter or statute	879
		Liability under provisions of charter — Pennsylvania	382
		Statutory liability — California statutes	383
	239.	Statutory liability — Colorado statutes	384
	240.	Statutory liability — Iowa statutes	885
	241.	Statutory liability — Massachusetts statutes	386
	242.	Statutory liability — Minnesota statutes	387
	243.	Statutory liability — Missouri statutes	388
	244.	Statute of New York - liability for failure to file annual report.	389
	245.	Actions to enforce this liability	393
	246.	What are, and what are not, "debts" for which liability under this statute may arise	395
		A United States Supreme Court decision on this subject	897
	248.	Statute of New York — liability for creation of debts in excess of	~ capital stock	399
	249.	Liability for incurring indebtedness in excess of capital stock—	400
		Illinois statute	402
	250.	United States Supreme Court decision on a similar statute—the	400
	051	proper action in such a case	406
	201.	etc., filed	407
	oro	Illustrations	410
		Statutory liability — Rhode Island statutes	414
		Statutory liability — various states	414
	255.	Liability of directors or officers under an English statute	418
		CHAPTER VII.
		ULTRA VIRES PUBLIC CORPORATIONS.
ß	258	Issue of negotiable securities	424
8		Borowing money by school districts	425
		Incurring liability in excess of funds in the treasury and	a-713
	200.	amount of tax allowed for one year	427
	259.	Incurring a debt without provision by taxation for interest and sinking fund	429
	260.	Employment of an agent to negotiate bonds	430

X	īv	TABLE OF CONTENTS VOLUME I.
			PAGE.
§	261.	Investment of sinking funds	431
	262.	Contract with corporation attorney for legal services	433
	263.	Discount of its warrants by a corporation	434
	264.	Illustrations of ultra vires contracts	437
	265.	Estoppel of a public corporation to deny its liability on an ultra
		vires contract	439
	266.	Estoppel of a contractor with a public corporation to enforce an ultra vires contract	442
	267.	Injunction of public officials—rules	445
		CHAPTER VIII.
		ULTRA VIBES PRIVATE CORPORATIONS.
S	268.	The doctrine of ultra vires as explained by English courts	447
•	269.	These rules applied by English courts to special acts of corporations,	448
	270.	The doctrine of ultra vires as explained by United States courts	450
		Illustrations of acts not ultra vires the corporation	453
		Illustrations of acts ultra vires the corporation	463
	273.	Leasing corporation's property and franchises for a term of years	469
		Loaning funds of a corporation	476
		Investing funds of corporation in stock of others	478
		Directors of an insurance company raising a guaranty capital	480
		Converting common into preferred stock	482
	278.	The effect of laches on the part of complaining stockholders in such cases	485
	279.	Rules declared by courts as to estoppel of corporations to plead
		ultra vires	487
	280.	When the doctrine of ultra vires is not applicable	492
	281.	Rules declared by courts as to estoppel of parties to contracts
	000	with corporations to plead ultra vires	499
	282.	Financial arrangements contrary to public policy — rules governing proceedings on the part of the state, etc	497

CHAPTER IX.

BANKS AND BANKING.

ş	283.	Powers of banks generally	50
	284.	The guaranty of commercial paper by a bank	50
	285.	Acts ultra vires a bank	50
	286.	Taking mortgage on and purchase of real estate	50
	287.	Purchasing notes	819
	XXXX.	Furchasing stock of corporations	51
	989.	Increase of capital stock	51

	TABLE OF CONTENTS — VOLUME I.	XV
		PAGE.
§ 29 0.	Loans	519
291.	Dividends on bank shares	521
	Licn of a bank on moneys and securities of its customers	523
293.	Lien of a bank on shares of stockholders for their debts to the
	bank	525
	Interest received by banks	527
	A bank's duty as to securities deposited with it	586
	The rights of a bank as to securities pledged to it	538
297.	Personal guaranty of a bank by stockholders and directors	545
298.	Misrepresentations by a bank as to solvency of a customer	545
	CHAPTER X.
	OFFICERS OF BANKS.
	Directors — their powers and duty	548
	violating their duty	554
	Jurisdiction of courts of equity in such cases	555
302.	Statutory liability of directors of national banks - actions to enforce it — rules	557
303.	President — his power and duty	561
	President's acts binding on bank—illustrations	564
	President's acts not binding on bank — illustrations	566
306,	When a bank is not chargeable with constructive notice and knowledge of its president	568
307.	Cashier — his power and duty	569
308.	Cashier's liability for his acts	578
309.	Knowledge of its cashier not imputable to bank — illustrations.	582
310.	Rules as to ratification of a cashier's act by the bank	583
	Act of cashier binding on bank	586
	Estoppel of a bank to deny the validity of an act of its cashier in drawing drafts on its correspondent and fraudulently indors-
	ing them	587
212	Promise by cashier to pay draft of a customer to be drawn at a
0_0	future day not binding on the bank	588
214	Teller and bookkeeper — their powers and duties	593
OLT	Total and boomsetper and posters that advant.	555
	CHAPTER XI.
	DEPOSITS AND CHECKS.
	General deposits	597
	Depositors — duty and rights	602
817	When the ownership of a deposit is questioned—rules	607
818	Passing of title by deposit of check	610
819	Deposits in savings banks	616
	Receiving deposits by a bank knowing its insolvency	619
821	Certificates of deposit.	625

		•
`	v	7
л	v	1

TABLE OF CONTENTS -- VOLUME II.

			PAGE. 634
કુ	322.	Special deposits	034
	323.	The duty of a bank as to deposits and its right as to their	636
		application	644
	324.	Checks generally	651
	325.	Certification of checks	651
	326.	Acceptance of a check by a bank—illustration	655
	327.	Presentment of checks for payment
	328.	When a draft on a bank fails to bind the fund in bank	661
	329.	Forged checks—rules	666
	330.	Payment of forged checks or payment of checks on forged	0.014
		indorsements	671
	381.	Payment of raised checks	675
		CHAPTER XII.
		COLLECTIONS.
o	000	General rules	681
8		Duty of bank	685
		Rules as to notes payable at bank	689
	004, 99≅	When a bank is liable for failure to collect notes	692
		What action on its part will relieve a collecting bank from	ODS
	5 50,	liability	693
	227	Rules as to checks and drafts	695
		Negligence of a bank as to check held for collection	703
		When a bank collecting a draft is liable to the owner	705
	840	When indorser of check is relieved from liability	706
	010.	44 more presented or company to recover statistical transfer and the second statistical second secon	100 pro-TOTITALE IT
		VOLUME II.
		24 TT 1 TT
		CHAPTER XIII.
		INSOLVENCY OF BANK.
g	241	Rules generally	**
8	842	Appointment of a receiver for a national bank	709
	248	When an appointment of a receiver is not authorized	718
	844.	Powers of a receiver for a national bank	714 714
	845	Actions of such receivers—rules
	846	Action to control the conduct of such receivers	715
	847	What a receiver cannot set off in an action to recover trust	718 funds coming into his hands	man
	848.	When a receiver cannot question the disposition of funds com-	720
		ing into the hands of a clearing house association	2004
	849.	Attachment of property of an insolvent bank retains its lien	721 against a receiver of the bank subsequently appointed	Pho
		o and pour schoold out it should be a second	722

		TABLE OF CONTENTS VOLUME II.	xvii
	351. 352. 353. 354. 355.	Claims against an insolvent bank — jurisdiction of court appointing receiver. For what amount claim should be made and allowed. What a claimant may be charged with. Claim of an indorser who paid a note not surrendered to him. Debts due savings banks preferred under New York statute. Claims of municipal corporations for moneys deposited by their officers. Claims preferred to general creditors—illustrations. Claims not preferred to those of general creditors—illustrations.	724 727 729 730 782 785 785 747
		CHAPTER XIV.
		LIABILITY OF BANK SHAREHOLDERS.
	359. 360. 361. 362. 363. 364. 365.	Rules generally. Rule under Minnesota statute. Rule under Michigan statute. Stockholder relieved from liability by a sale of his stock through a broker. Pledgee of stock incurs no liability. When a stockholder is relieved from liability. The rule where shares are transferred to avoid liability. When a transfer of shares does not relieve the stockholder. Liability of stockholder survives.	756 759 760 762 763 766 766 767
	367.	Liability of a married woman upon shares of stock held by her in her own right. Rules as to actions to enforce liability of stockholders	770 772
		CHAPTER XV.
		OFFICERS OF NATIONAL BANKS - CRIMINAL ACTS.
S	870. 371.	Misapplication of funds by officers	773 774 781 783
		CHAPTER XVI.
		FISCAL MANAGEMENT PUBLIC CORPORATIONS.
es.	374. 875.	The power of county commissioners under statutes of Nebraska as to purchase of lands for a poor farm	785 783 789 791

	٠	٠	٠
V 77	7	7	7
△ Y	4	. 4

TABLE OF CONTENTS - VOLUME II.

			PAGE.
8	377.	Erroneous payments into the treasury of a county by a county treasurer under Indiana statutes - his right to recover the	793
	080	same	794
	378.	The board of auditors of a town may be ordered to pay a judg	1117
	879.	ment against the town for interest on its bonds	794
	000	The right of a de facto county treasurer to salary	796
	380.	Payments to city official in excess of his salary may be recovered	* 10
	581.	of him	798
	900	Compelling a ministerial officer to distribute the fund in his	• • • •
	30% .	hands	799
	282	County warrants — their issue and validity — rules governing	H01
	384	Statute of Limitations not applicable to county warrants	803
	004.	beautic (it immediate not appreciate to to the grant of the second CHAPTER XVII.
		FISCAL MANAGEMENT PRIVATE CORPORATIONS.
	20=	The said and the same and the s	805
8		Execution of contracts by corporations	810
		Declaring dividends	810
		Rules as to declaring dividends by a mining corporation	811
		Borrowing money to pay dividends	814
		Rescinding a declaration of dividend.	815
		Contracts within and outside the power of private corporations.	217
		Rules as to estoppel to plead that contents are ultra vires	890
	-5/01
		CHAPTER XVIII.
		COUNTY BONDS
ę	893.	County bonds generally	824
_	394.	Bonds issued for refunding indebtedness	827
	895	Bonds not within the power of a Texas county to issue for the erection of court houses	828
	396.	Rights of holders of such bonds	829
	397.	The effect of a statute of Texas as to county bonds in which school funds may be invested	830
	898.	Validity of bonds as affected by the place of execution	831
	899.	Validity of bonds as affected by constitutional requirements	888
	400.	Validity of bonds as affected by limitations as to indebtedness	833
	401.	The validity of judgments against a county for which the bonds
	400	were issued cannot be questioned in actions on the bonds	840
	TUD.	The statements of a county's agent in sale of the bonds not operative as an estoppel upon the county to refund
	408	When a county may plead an overissue	841
	404	When the defense that a county was not fully organized when	842
	-4 44	the bonds were issued is not open to the courts	040
	405.	Counties suable in federal courts	848 845
	406	Plea of Statute of Limitations on county bonds	845
			U20

		TABLE OF CONTENTS — VOLUME II.	xix
ş	407.	When statute as to presentation of claims is not applicable to	PAGE.
	408.	judgments upon bonds and coupons	846
		series are valid and others invalid	847
		CHAPTER XIX.
		CITY BONDS,
8	409.	City bonds generally	849
	410.	Extension of a bonded debt of a city	852
	411.	Bonds for funding indebtedness	854
	412.	Effect of a statutory limitation on bonds	856
		Bonds in compromise of outstanding indebtedness	858
		The effect of a statute legalizing an issue of bonds	859
		Bonds for public improvements — limitations on power to issue.	860
	416.	Effect of an order by resolution of council of a city for an election to authorize the issue of bonds	861
	417.	Bonds valid when issued as a part of the general indebtedness of a city	862
	418.	Validity of bonds as affected by a restriction in the charter of a	040
		city	863
		CHAPTER XX.
		TOWNSHIP BONDS.
$	419.	Effect of ordinance of town council not being published upon the validity of the bonds	865
	420.	Bonds for purchase of gravel road under Indiana statute-
	401	statute held to be constitutional	867
	421.	The duty and power of county authorities where the vote of the towns is favorable in such cases	OMA
	400	Effect upon bonds of a constitutional limitation upon the indebt-	870
	too.	edness to be incurred by towns	873
	402	Town bonds for improvement of public park under resolution	010
	420.	of the Connecticut legislature—when authorized and to what extent	874
	424.	The effect of recitals in town bonds as to estoppel of the town to claim they were issued without authority	876
	425.	What is required of a bona fide purchaser	877
		CHAPTER XXI.
		SCHOOL DISTRICT BONDS.
S		School district bonds generally	878
_		Bonds executed by a de facto board of education	880
	428.	The power of a city in California to issue bonds for building school houses	880

Δ.		IABBS OF CONTENTS
3	490	The power to issue bonds under Nebraska statutes	PAG St
9	490	When such bonds are void under Nebraska statutes	88
		indebtedness of municipal corporations	85
	482.	Bonds secured by a pledge of school fund and property	88
	488.	Conditions precedent to the issue of bonds	GG
	434.	The adoption of a statute to obtain authority to issue bonds — mode of calling election	89
	498	When non-compliance with the requirements of the Constitution	.,,
	40 0.	of the state is not a defense against bona fide purchasers	8
	4 36.	When the defense that the site of the school house was not owned by the district is not open in a bona fide holder's action on the bonds	بر
	437.	When the defense that the proceeds of the bonds were used for another purpose is not open in such an action	75
	438,	What does not create an estoppel of the district to defend One of the latest decisions on the effect of recitals in bonds	H1
	459,	One of the intest decisions on the enect of fectuary in bonds	1 44
		CHAPTER XXII.
		MUNICIPAL AID BONDS COUNTY.
ĸ	440.	County aid bonds, generally	88
•		Elections to authorize aid bonds—how called—how questions must be submitted to voters—how result determined, etc	111
	442.	Conditions to subscription — the right to pre-cribe, etc	93
		When authority to subscribe to stock gives no power to issue bonds in payment	y:
	444.	When a donation of bonds is authorized	9%
		When county bonds donated to a railroad company cannot in- scaled down	9;
	446.	Bonds of an Illinois county secured by mortgage of its swamp lands	9
	447.	Precinct aid bonds	Ð
	445.	The denomination of bonds changed from those named in the proposal under Alabama statutes—their validity not affected	_
	449.	thereby	9:
	450.	Consolidation of railroads—effect as to county aid	9
	451.	Constitutionality of a Tonnessee aid statute.	9
	452.	Ratification of bonds	9
	458.	Kules as to statutes legalizing a prior issue of honds	9
	454.	Recitals on face of aid bonds—their effect.	9
	455.	Bonds and coupons not claims which require presentation to
	AKR.	county suthorities before suit	9
	457.	Coupous—rules governing. A county suable on precinct bonds	9
	458	Rules as to pleading in such cases	84
		m	-

947

992

993

994

998

1000

1001

1008

1005

1006

CHAPTER XXIII.

			PAGE.
Š		City aid bonds, generally	949
		Rules as to such bonds settled in United States Supreme Court.	955
	461.	Why state decisions should not control United States Supreme Court	956
	462.	When the issue of aid bonds by a city is authorized	958
	463.	When the right to municipal aid is lost by delay in constructing road	960
	464.	The election as to aid and the effect of curative legislation	961
	465.	This case distinguished from others	964
		Aid to railroads outside the state	964
	467.	Estoppel of a city to claim that bonds were wrongfully issued	964
	468.	What will not affect the rights of bona fide bondholders	965
		When a purchaser of void municipal bonds cannot maintain an action for money had and received	966
	470.	Miscellaneous rules as to railroad aid bonds	969
		CHAPTER XXIV.
		MUNICIPAL AID BONDS — TOWNS.
8	471.	Aid by towns, generally	970
v		Bonds invalid unless conditions are complied with	977
		How irregularity of elections affect the validity of bonds	979
		Effect of recitals on face of bond	981
		The power of commissioners of towns for issuing aid bonds
		under New York statutes	982
	476.	The sealing of such bonds	989

477. Proceedings under New York statutes preliminary to issue of bonds

478. Bonds issued after the passage of an act authorizing a change in their terms.....

479. Rules as to the taxes collected for payment of aid bonds issued under New York statutes

484. Bonds absolutely void — effect upon holders

485. When a curative act of the legislature will not validate them ...

486. Effect of curative act of New York.....

X	xii	TABLE OF CONTENTS — VOLUME II.
			PAGE.
§	4 87.	Township aid bonds under South Carolina laws made a legal	1007
		indebtedness by subsequent legislation	1007
	488 .	An Ohio statute as to town aid held unconstitutional	1011
	489.	Miscellaneous rules as to town aid bonds	1011
		CHAPTER XXV.
		BONDS AND COUPONS — PRIVATE CORPORATIONS.
_	100		1013
8	490. 491.	Bonds of private corporations, generally	1010
		when legally held	1019
	492.	Interest on bonds — what rate, etc	1020
		When principal becomes due	1021
		Bonds — when "issued" under Wisconsin statute	1022
	495.	When a mortgage trustee should countersign bonds	1022
	496.	Pledge of its bonds by a corporation — rights of pledgee, etc	1023
		Validity of bonds as affected by statutory or constitutional pro-	1005
	400	visions	1027
	490.	valuate of bonds as an ected by the manner of said and charac-	1001
	499.	ter of purchasers	1081
		bonds—rules	1085
	500.	Bondholders — when bona fide holders and when not — the rights of such	1037
		Holders of income bonds—rules as to an accounting with them.	1044
	502.	Detached, uncanceled coupons—rules governing	1046
		Actions on coupons - rules governing	1047
	504.	Guaranty of bonds of one corporation by another - rules	1049
	505.	Lease of a bonded railroad — when lessee is not bound on the bonds	1051
		CHAPTER XXVI.
		MORTGAGES AND TRUST DEEDS - PRIVATE CORPORATIONS.
§	506.	Power of corporations to execute mortgages and trust deeds upon their property.	1054
	507.	Statutes requiring assent of stockholders to mortgages construed	1061
	508.	Mortgages and trust deeds—rules to as place of execution.
		authorization — mode of execution, to whom executed, etc	1069
	509.	Estoppel of corporation to deny authority of officers to mortgage	1077
	510.	Effect of laches of corporation in repudiating a mortgage.	1079
	51,1,	What are reasonable provisions in a mortgage	1079
	512.	Chattel mortgages of corporations.	1081
	51 8,	Deeds of trust and mortgages securing directors — when properly	****
		given	1088

.

		TABLE OF CONTENTS — VOLUME II.	xxiii
ş	514.	The validity of mortgages as affected by restrictions, constitutional, statutory, or in charter upon indebtedness to be incur-	PAGE
	515.	red	1087
		debts	1089
		Illustration of an equitable mortgage	1091
	KIR	perfected	1092
	510	What corporation mortgages cover, and what they do not cover.	1098 1094
	520.	Trustees of such mortgages — their duty, rights and powers	1101
		CHAPTER XXVII.
		INSOLVENCY OF PRIVATE CORPORATIONS.
ş	521.	How far the assets of an insolvent corporation are a trust fund for its creditors	1106
		of the corporation's property for the benefit of creditors	1111
		Preference of creditors by insolvent corporations	1112
		a creditor to attach — lien of its attachment, etc	1117
		Receivers—rules as to appointment	1121
	ozo. 527.	Removal of receivers and assignees	1126
	200	corporation	1127
	0%0, ≈00	Other rights of receivers and assignees of insolvent corporations.	1129
	ог у . 580.	Insolvent beneficial association—rules	1181
		right to enforce and how enforced	1182
	531.	Creditors' bills — equitable jurisdiction	1140
		Claims against insolvent corporation — rules as to allowances, etc.	1142
	533.	Rules in cases of insolvent banks	1144
		CHAPTER XXVIII.
		FORECLOSURE OF MORTGAGES AND TRUST DEEDS.
3	534.	Jurisdiction of actions to foreclose	1147
	585.	Bringing such actions—rules	1150
		Parties to such actions	1153
		General rules as to such actions.	1158
		Decrees in such actions — general rules	1168 1166
		Decrees for sale of property Purchasers at sales under the decrees — their rights and liabilities.	1172
	o ⊈ U. ≈41	Who may be heard on petition in foreclosure suits	1178
	210 0#1	Disposition in decree of proceeds of sale	1179
		Allowances in foreclosure suits	1182 eret.		~ ~ ~~

13

CHAPTER XXIX.

RECEIVERS IN FORECLOSURE SUITS

			PAGE
3	544	Receivers — their appointment — when they should be appointed
ð	OTT.	-who may be appointed -their discharge and removal	1186
	545.	Conditions attached to the appointment of a receiver	1193
	54R	Receiver's right as to possession of the property of the insolvent
	0.10.	corporation	1191
	547.	The relation of the receiver to property leased by the corporation
	Ų	coming into his hands	1197
	548.	Powers of receivers as to contracts, etc	1203
	549	Power of the court and its receivers as to regulating wages of
	4.22	employees	1208
	550	Receiver's certificates - when they will be authorized - the lien
		of such certificates and its enforcement	1210
	551	Rules as to claims against receiver growing out of rolling stock coming into his possession	1215
	552.	Application of earnings of the road during receivership	1219
		Jurisdiction of actions against receivers	1223
		Claims against receivers for injuries to persons or property dur ing receivership	1227
	555.	Rules as to actions for injuries to persons during receivership	1231 Rules as to allowances to receivers for counsel and expenses of parties in actions where receivers are appointed - what will be allowed and what not	1232
	557.	Actions allowed a receiver for the protection and benefit of the property in his hands	1285
		CHAPTER XXX.
		PRIORITIES OF LIENS IN FORECLOSURE SUITS.
•	222	Priorities of liens — general rules	1000
7	KKO.	Debts contracted for construction	1288 1246
	560	Presumption as to preferential character of a claim.
	561	Mechanic's lien as viewed by the United States Supreme Court.	1248 1247
	562	Furnishers of supplies — Kentucky statutes construed	1249
	563.	The rule under Ohio statutes	1252
	584	Contractors — Tennessee statutes construed	1252
	565.	Furnishers of supplies — Virginia statutes on this subject	1002
		construed	1254
	566	Loans of money to corporation before receivership	1256
	507	. Claims for services rendered the corporation rates to the	TATA
	•	appointment of a receiver.	1258
	568	. When cases are not properly removable to United States count	AMP)
		from state court,	1260

		CHAPTER XXXI.
		TAXATION BY PUBLIC CORPORATIONS.	PAGU.
•	570. 571. 572. 578. 574. 575.	General rules. Exemption from taxes. License tax. Assessment of taxes for benefits. When a levy of taxes by a school district is not authorized. Irregularity in the levy of taxes. When an assessment cannot be attacked. Federal taxation of incomes. Injunction of a collection of taxes.	1262 1264 1267 1268 1271 1271 1272 1273 1278
		CHAPTER XXXII.
		TAXATION OF PRIVATE CORPORATIONS
$	579. 580. 581. 582. 583. 584. 585.	General rules Exemption from taxation—rules. Taxation of corporations—rules in New York. Taxation of corporations—rules in Pennsylvania. Privilege tax. Computation of such rule Taxation of banks and shares of bank stock—rules. Taxation of railroad corporations—rules.	1279 1280 1286 1290 1292 1295 1295 1300
	586.	Taxation of insurance corporations	1306

TABLE OF CONTENTS - VOLUME II.

XXV

TABLE OF CASES.

TABLE OF CASES.

The references are to pages; vol I contains pp 1-707, vol II, pp, 708-1807]

Steam Packet Co., 464 Abbott v. Packet Co., 1282 Abby v. Billups, 158 Aberdeen Railway Co. v. Blakie, 242, 251, 259, 264, 283, 316 Ackerman v. Halsey, 347, 553 Ackley School District v. Hall, 879 Adair v. Brimmer, 365 Adair v. Robinson, 1299 Adams v. Crosswood Printing Co., 203 Adams v. Davis, 1272 Adams v. East River Savings Institu-Adams v. Hackensack Improvement Commission, 711 Adams v. Manning, 551 Adams v. Milling Co., 254, 255, 1087, Adams v. Mills, 393 Adams v. Spokene Drug Co., 716 Adams Cotton Mills v. Dimmick, 1057, 1066, 1075 Adams Mining Co. v. Senter, 92, 180,

A.

Abbot v. American Hard Rubber Co.,

209, 283 Adams & Westlake Co. v. Deyette,

116 Adamson v. Auditor, 132 Adderley v Storm, 757

Addis v City, 109

tion, 838

Addison v. Lewis, 263, 1096, 1108, 1258

Adelbert College of Western Reserve University v. Toledo, W. & W. Ry. Co., 1261 Adrian Water Works v. City of Adrian,

Adriance v. Rome, 151 Advertiser & Tribune Co. v. Detroit, 112

Ætna Insurance Co. v. Wires, 178 Ætna Life Insurance Co. v. Lyon County, 839, 840, 841, 848 Æina Life Insurance Co. v. Middle-port, 980 Æina Nat. Bank v. Charter Oak Life Ins_Co., 80, 465 Æina Nat. Bank v. Fourth Nat. Bank, 598, 640, 658, 666

Agawam Nat. Bank v. South Hadley. 231

Agricultural Bank v. Bissell, 529 258, 274, 470, 476, 1111

Ahern v Goodspeed, 984

Abbott v. Baltimore & Rappahannocks Ahl v Rhoads, 1086, 1090

Aiken v. Marine Bank, 561 Aikman v. School istrict, 889, 891 Aimen v. Hardin, 416

Akin v. Jones, 665, 666

Alabama & Georgia Mfg, Co v, Rob-inson, 1022, 1154

Alabama Gold Life Ins Co. v. Central, etc., Assn., 74, 102

Alabama Great So. R. R. Co v South & No Ala. R. R. Co., 284
Alabama Iron & Ry. Co. v Anniston

Loan & Trust Co., 1218
Albany v. Abbott, 135
Albany v. Cunliff, 446
Alberger v. National Bank of Commerce, 1111, 1114 Albers v. Commercial Bank, 644

Albert v. Savings Bank of Baltimore.

Albitzue v. Guadelupe y. Caloo Mining Co., 1124 Alderson V. Charles County, 128 Aldrich v. Dunham, 603

Alexander v. Brown, 151, 197 Alexander v. Burchfield, 658

Alexander v. Central Railroad of Iowa.

Alexander v. Cauldwell, 146, 466, 469, 567

Alexander v. Learey, 316 Alexander v. Tolleston Club of Chi-cago, 494

Alford v. Miller, 250 Allard v. Gaston, 975

Allegheny City v. McClurksan, 65, 108, 942

Allegheny County v. McKeesport Du-mond Market, 1267 Allegheny County v. Western Penn-sylvania Hospital, 182

Allen v. Addington, 294 Allen v. Bank, 576

Allen v. Citizens' St. Nav. Co., 143, 144, 233

Allen v. City of Janesville, 65 Allen v. Clark, 395, 396 Allen v. Commercial Bank, 650 Allen v. Curtis, 306, 311, 560

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp 709 1307]

Allen v. First Nat. Bank, Xenia, 510, Ames v. Merriam, 649, 658 Allen v. Fourth Nat. Bank. 672 Allen v. Inhabitants of Jay, 43, 44 Allen v. Louisiana, 71 Allen v. Montgomery R. R Co., 91, 1054, 1077 Allen v. St. Louis Bank, 539 Allen v. South Boston R. R. Co., 835, 343 Allen v. Sullivan R. R. Co., 1014 Allen v. Suydam, 681 Allen v. Taunton, 83 Allen v. Walsh, 388 Allen v. Wilson, 316 Alley v. Adams County, 919, 974 Allis v. Jones, 285, 806, 807, 821, 1112 Allison v. Coal Company, 392 Allison v. Hubbell, 188 Allison v. L. H. C. & W. R. Co., Allison v. Railway Company, 946 Alston v State, 754 Alta Silver Mining Co. v. Alta Placer Mining Co., 1075 Alton v. Mulledy, 445 Alves v. Bank, 528 Alvord v Syracuse Sav Bank, 986 American Bridge Co. v. Heidelbach, American Central R R. Co, v. Miles. 279, 856 American Construction Co v. Jacksonville, T. & K. W. Ry. Co , 1196, 1197 American Exchange Nat. Bank v. Oregon Pottery Co., 174, 206 American Express Co. v. Haire, 687 American Ins. Co. v. Oakley, 191
American Loan & Trust Co. v. East
& West R. R. Co. of Ala. (Jersey City Iron Co., Intervener), American Loan Trust Co. v. St. Louis & Chicago Ry. Co., 1048 American Loan & Trust Co. v. Toledo, C. & S. Ry. Co., 1018 American National Bank v. American Wood Paper Co., 1042 American Sunday School Union v. Philadelphia, 1265 American Sunday School Union v. City of Philadelphia, 1265 American Nat. Bank v. Bushey, 602 American Pig Iron Storage Co. State Board of Assessors, 1279 American Preservers' Trust v. Taylor Mfg. Co., 501 American Trust & Sav. Bank v. Gueder & Paeschke Manufg. Co., 619, 1146 American Tube & Iron Co. v. Kentucky Southern Oil & Gas Co., 1156, 1167

Ames v. Union Pacific Ry. ('o 1200) Amey v. Mayor, etc., 49 Anderson v. Armstead, 627 Anderson v. Blattau, 627 Anderson v. Kerns Draining Co., 870 Anderson v. Kinky, 239 Anderson v. Kissam, 564 Anderson v. Lemon, 251 Anderson v. Leverick, 600 Anderson v. Linn, 771 Anderson v. Philadelphia Warehouse Co., 761, 765 Anderson v. Railroad Company, 117; Anderson v. Rogers, 704 Anderson v. Santa Anna, 939 Anderson v Sibley, 195 Anderson v. Speers, 400 Anderson County v. Pocola & Pall River Ry. Co., 899 Anderson County Comrs. v. Beal, 986 Andover v. Grafton, 134, 135 Andover v. Kendrick, 145 Andrew v. Blachley, 656 Andrews v. Board of Supervisors Knox County, 121 Andrews v. Insurance ('a , 497 Andrews v. Kings County, 1297 Andrews v. National Foundry & Pipe Works, 1099 Andrews v. Suffolk Bank, 1888 Anfenger v. Anzeiger Publishing t'o , 384 Angel v. Town of Hume, 1814 Angle v. Chicago, St. P., Minn, & Omaha Ry. Co., 482 Anheuser-Busch Brewing Co. v. Clay ton, 758, 754 Anhouser-Busch Brewing Assn. v. Morris, 747 Anonymous, 620, 720 Anonymous Case, 624 Autletam Paper Co. v. Chronicle Pub. Co., 1074
Anthony v. Adams, 38, 84
Anthony v. Jasper County, 866 Appeal of Hopkins, 752 Appleby v. Mayor, etc., 446 Arapahoe Cattle & Land Co.v. Stevens. 168 Archer v. Waterworks Company, 1121 Ardesco Oil Co. v. North American Co., 478 Argente v. San Francisco, 5, 65, 288, 441, 444, 788, 942 Arkansas Valley Agr. Society v. Eich-holtz, 287 Armour Bros. Bkg. Co. v. Board, etc., of Finney County, 808 Armstrong v. American Exchange Nat. Bank, 628 Armstrong v. Chemical Nat. Bank, 544

[The references are to pages; vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307] Armstrong v. Cowles, 418 Armstrong v. Ettlesohn, 720 Armstrong v. Exchange Nat. Bank, 858 Armstrong v. National Bank of Boyer-town, 744 Armstrong v Scott, 712 Armstrong v Trautman, 720 Armstrong v Warner, 720 Arnold v. Mayor of Poole, 98 Arnold v. Suffolk Bank, 526 Arnold v. Weimer, 723 Arnot v. Erie Ry. Co, 1052 Arnott v. City of Spokane, 437 Arthur v Griswold, 410 Arthur v. School District of Polk City, 80 Borough, 1263 Ascherman v Bank, 1129 Ashburg Railway Carriage & Iron Co. v. Riche, 449, 451 245 Asher v. Bank, 600 249 Asher v Suiton, 198, 562 Asher v Texas, 1267 305 Ashhurst's Appeal, 1084, 1112 Ashley v Board, 880 Ashley v. Board of Supervisors of Presque Isle County, 827, 844 128 Ashley v. Kinnan, 280 Ashley v. Ryan, 1294 Ashenbrodel Club v. Finlay, 470 Ashuelot Manufg. Co. v. Marsh, 198 Ashuelot Nat Bank of Keene v. School Dist. No. 7, Valley County, 198, 249 884 Ashuelot Railroad v. Elliot, 265.1047 Ashurst's Appeal, 283 Aspinwall v Butler, 519 Aspinwall v. Sacchi, 390 Association v. Austin, 738 494 Association for Colored Orphans v. Mayor, etc., of New York, 1289 305, 555 Atchison v. Butcher, 851 Atchison Board of Education v. De Kay, 888, 889 Atchison, T. & S. F. R. Co. v Comrs, 318 Atchison, Topeka & S. F. R. R. ('o. v. Jefferson County, 899, 940, 973 Atkins v. Petersburg R. R. Co., 1258 Atkinson v. Rochester Printing Co, 623, 626, 752 Atlanta & Florida R. R. Co. v. Western Ry. Co. of Alabama, 1141 Atlanta Hill Mining Co. v. Andrews, 250 Atlantic Bank v. Merchants' Bank, 330, 382 Atlantic Cotton Mills v. Indian Orchard Mills, 829, 838 antic City Water Works Co. v. Atlantic City Read, 70

Atlantic & N. C. R. R. Co. v. Cowles. Atlantic & Pac. R. R. Co. v. Le Sueur, 1282, 1300 & P. R. R. Co. v. St. Louis, 498 Atlantic & Pac. Ry. Co. v. Yavapai County, 1802 Atlantic State Bank of Brooklyn v. Savery, 528 Atlantic Trust Co. v. Proceeds of the Vigilancia, 1066 Atlantic Trust Co. of New York v. Town of Darlington, 1012 Atlantic Water Works v. Atlantic Atlas Bank v. Nahant Bank, 1118 Atlas Nat. Bank v. Savery, 515, 516 Atlaway v. Third National Bank, Attorney-General v. Aspinali, 121, Attorney-General v. Bank of Niagara, Attorney-General v Bay State Mining Co, 1073 Attorney-General v Bay Supervisors, Attorney-General v. Continental Life Ins. Co, 664, 666 Attorney-General v. Corp of Leicester, Attorney-General v. Kell, 249 Attorney-General v Life & Fire Ins. Co., 101, 102 Attorney-General v. Lichfield, 121 Attorney-General v. Norwich, 121 Attorney-General v. Poole, 121 Attorney-General v. Sefton, 1275 Attorney-General v. Tudor Ice Co., Attorney-General v. Utica Ins. Co, Attrill v Huntington, 413 Atwater v. American Exchange Nat Bank, 1124 Atwood v. Merry weather, 298, 324 Atwood v. Shenandoah Valley R. R. Co, 1027, 1038 Auburn Savings Bank v. Hayes, 734 Auerbach v. Le Sugur Mill Co., 74, 106 August v. Fourth Nat. Bank, 667 Augusta Bank v. Augusta, 923 Augusta Bank v. Ilamlin, 175 Augusta, T. & G. R. Co. v. Ki 236, 254, 826, 1076, 1079, 1097 Aurora Agr. & Hort. Society v. Paddock, 163, 1078. Aurora & Cincinnati R. Co. v. City of Laurenceburgh, 455 Aurora City v. West, 946, 955 Austin v. Berlin, 384 Austin v. Daniels, 247, 365

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1807] Austin v. District Township of Col- | Ballard v. Carmichael, 809 Ballin v. Loeb, 1125 Ballou v. Campbell, 218 ony, 140, 840 Austin v. Gas Company, 1264 Ballston Spa Bank v. Marine Bank, Australian Steamship Co. v. Mounsey, 574Auxiliary Company v Vickers, 1121 Averell v. Second Nat. Bank, 595 Averill v. Barber, 310, 316 Avery v. Ladd, 1145 Avery v. Job, 445 Axt v. Jackson School Township, 133 Baltimore City R. R. Co. v. Sewell. Baltimore & Ohio R. R. Co. v. Glenn, 1137 Baltimore & Philadelphia Steamboat Co. v. McCutcheon, 191, 210 Ayers v. McCalla, 1263 Aymar v. Boers, 702 Ayrault v. Pacific Bank, 688 Balt., etc., R. R. Co. v. Wilkens, 331 Bainbrick v. Campbell, 191, 210 Bancroft v. Lynnfield, 35, 61 Bancroft v. Wilmington Conf. Acad-Ayres v. Bank, 601 emy, 574, 895

Bangor Boom Corporation v. Whiting

145 В. Babbitt v. Savoy, 35, 60 Babcock v. Goodrich, 118 Bachellor v. Priest, 702 Bachrach v. Norton, 720 Bangor Savings Bank v. City of Still water, 37, 424
Bangs v. Lincoln, 387, 769
Bank v. Alexander, 608 Bacon v. Irvine, 316 Bank v. Armstrong, 706, 731, 737, 730, Bacon v. Mississippi Ins. Co., 99, 182 Bacon v. Pomeroy, 769 Badger v. Bank of Cumberland, 571 758, 754
Bank v. Baker, 513
Bank v. Bank, 170, 209, 614, 655, 692
Bank v. Beal, 731 Baer v. English, 1146
Bagaley v. Pittsburg Iron Co., 198
Bagnall v. Carlton, 260, 297, 298, 28
Bagnall v. State of Wisconsin, 1299 Bank v. Bergen County, 857 Bank v. Bletz, 529 Bank v. Bouny, 1285 Bank v. Bridges, 1086 Bagshaw v. Eastern Union Railway Bank v. Burkhardt, 1213 Co., 300, 450, 471 Bank v. Burns, 692, 705 Bagshaw v. Seymour, 271, 294 Bailey v. Bidwell, 621 Bank v. Butchers', etc., Bank, 170 Bank v. Butler, 545 Bank v. Calder, 572 Bailey v. Mayor, etc., 29, 294 Bailey v. Murphy, 580 Bank v. Carpenter, 527 Bailey v. Pittsburg & Connellsville Gas. Coal & Coke Co., 166 Bank v. Case, 772 Bank v. Childs, 527 Bailey v. Sawyer, 772 Bank v. Christopher, 571, 588 Bailey, Receiver, v. Burgess, 349 Bain v. Peters, 718 Bain v. Bank of Washington, 459 Bank v. Church, 209 * * Bank v. City of St. Joseph, 866 Bank v. Colby, 545 Bank v. Comegys, 207 Bank v. Cortright, 807 Baird v. Todd, 67 Baker v. Boston, 19 Baker v. Guarantee Trust & Safe De-posit Co., 1018, 1055 Baker v. Harpster, 155 Bank v. Cunningham, 571 Bank v. Cupps, 670 Bank v. Davis, 585 Bank v. Dearing Baker v. Inhabitants of Windham, 62 Baker v. Johnson County, 124 Baker v. North Western Guaranty Baker v. Johnson County, 124
Baker v. North Western Guaranty
Loan Co., 490, 821
Baker v. Hallroad Co., 805
Balde v. Wilson, 710, 712
Baldwar, Bank of Newbury, 859
Baldwar, Bank of Newbury, 859
Bald v. Allan, 660
Ball v. Allan, 660
Ball v. Fresidio County, 881 Bank v. Diefende i, 620 Bank v. Dowd, 626, 731, 750, 758
Bank v. Dunn, 19, 198, 216, 217, 588 Bank v. Flagg, 69 Bank v. Foreman, 642 Bank v. Gillespie, 786 Bank v. Goetz, 752 Bank v. Goodman, 682, 692, 705 Bank v. Grace, 488 Bank v. Graham, 546 Bank v. Green, 620, 668 Bank v. Gruber, 529 Bank v. Headley, 600

[The references are to pages: vol I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.]

```
Bank v. Henninger, 523, 643
Bank v. Higbee, 605
Bank v. Hoch, 563
Bank v. Hooper, 359
 Bank v. Howard, 655
Bank v. Hubbell, 613, 706
Bank v. Hughes, 523
Bank v. Johnson, 527
Bank v. Jones, 172, 216, 641
Bank v. Keavy, 580
Bank v. Keim, 561
Bank v. Kennedy, 555
Bank v. Kidder, 1155
Bank v. King, 721, 781 Bank v. Lanier, 517, 763 Bank v. Leach, 651
Bank v. Le Grand, 612
Bank v. Littell, 528
Bank v. Lovitt, 583
Bank v. Loyped, 583
Bank v. Mason, 609
Bank v. Matthews, 495, 942
Bank v. Miller, 617
Bank v. Mivter, 716
Bank v. Neaso, 583
Bank v. North, 942
Bank v. Noxon, 620
Bank v. Patterson, 32, 73, 98, 142, 145, 146, 263
Bank v. Peck, 523
Bank v. Pepom, 577
Bank v. Poisart, 562
Bank v. Porter Township, 866
Bank v. Ruilway Co., 665
Bank v. Richards, 655
Bank v. Russell, 753, 754
Bank v. Savery, 583
Bank v. Schaumburg, 583
Bank v. Schrauck, 1117 Rank v. Schreiner, 640
 Bank v. Schuler, 645
 Bank v. Sherburne, 511
 Bank v. Simpson, 514
Bank v. Smith, 535, 600, 617
Bank v. South Hadley, 114
 Bank v. Strauffer, 527
 Bank v. Stover, 585
 Bank v. Sullivan, 504
Bank v. Tennessee, 1, 1
Bank v. Walker, 736
Bank v. Wallace, 690
 Hank v. Wasson, 10°
Bank v. Weems, 523
Bank v. Well, 659
Bank v. Whitle, 1084, 1112
Bank v. Williams, 400
Bank v. Williams, 629
Bank v. Winchester, 227
Bank v. Wulfekuhler, 241, 1117
Bank of Alexandria v. Sanders, 508 Bank of America v. Indiana Bkg. Co., 645, 650, 057
```

Bank of America v. McNeil, 527 Bank of Attica v. Pottfer & Stymus Mfg. Co., 151, 156, 197 Bank of Auburn v. Putnum, 229 Bank of Augusta v. Earle 95, 478 Bank of Butavia v. New York, L. E. & W. R. R. Co., 149, 229, 383, 986 Bank of Bennington v. Raymond, 700 Bank of British North America v. Merchants' Nat. Bank of New York, 667, 672 Bank of Carlisle v. Graham, 366 Bank of Chillicothe v. Chillicothe, 5, 6, 102 Bank of Chillicothe v. Swayne, 90, 529 Bank of Columbia v. McKenney, 631 Bank of Columbia v. Bruce, 76 Bank of Commerce v. Hart, 517, 577 Bank Cours. v. Bank of Buffalo, 550 Bank of Genesee v. Patchin, 78, 178, 322, 360, 465, 508 Bank of Heald-burg v. Bailhacke, 174, 579 Bank of Holly Phrings v. Pinson, 525 Bank of Huntsville v. Hill, 580 Bank of Ireland v. Evans' Charities, 344 Bank of Kentucky v Schuylkill Bank, 233, 338, 839, 1079 Bank of Lindsborg v. Ober, 68' Bank of Louisiana v. Strusburg, 527 Bank of Louisiana v. Sterling, 527 Bank of Maryland v. Ruff, 158 Bank of Metropolis v. Guttschlick, 146 Bank of Metropolis v. Guttseinek, 146
Bank of Metropolis v. Jones, 576 Bank of the Metropolis v. First Nat.
Bank of Jersey City, 706
Bank of Middlebury v. Bingham, 528
Bank of Middlebury v. Edgerton, 471
Bank of Middlebury v. Rutland R. R.
Co. 144, 105 Co., 144, 195 Bank of Mobile v. Huggins, 681 Bank of Montreal v. Dewar, 627 Bank of Montreal v. J. E. Potts Salt & Lumber Co., 259, 1071, 1081, 1115 Bank of Montreal v. White, 614 Bank Mutual Redemption v. Hill, 551 Bank of New Hanover v. Kenan, 697 Bank of New York v. American Dock & Trust Co., 157 Bank of New York v. Bank of Ohio, 573 Bank of North America v. Tamblyn, 500 Bank of Pennsylvania's Estate, 713 Bank of Peru v. Farnsworth, 627 Bank of Pittsburgh v. Neal, 980 Bank of Poughkeepsie v. Ibbotron, Bank of Republic v. Baxter, 631

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1 707; vol. II, pp. 505-146, 1 Bank of the Republic v. Millard, 597, | Barnet v. National Bank, 521, 528, 531 Barnet v. Smith, 657 615, 651, 662, 664 Barnet v. Denison, $12 Barnet v. Dewey, 201 Barnum v. Boar I of Supervisors of Bank of Rome v. Village of Rome, 49, 985, 1007 Bank of St. Albans v. Farmers' Bank, Sullivan County, 997 Barnum v. Okolona, 1000 Bank of Mary's v. Calder, 563 Barr v. New York, L. E. & W. R. R. Co., 257, 268, 278, 1623 Barr v. Pitt-burgh Prote Glass Co., Bank of St. Marys v. t.t. John, 241, 249, 302 Bank of San Luis Obispo v. Wicker-252, 269 sham, 295 Barry v. Merchants' Exchange Co., 1289 Bank of Springfield v. First Nat. Bank of Springfield, 652 Bank of U. S. v. Bank of Georgia, Barrett v. City of East St. Louis, Sd Barrick v. Austin, 513 Barrow v. N. & C. T. Co., 494 Barry v. Merchants' Evelance Co., 13, 673, 677
Bank of United States v. Dandridge, 32, 146, 204, 840 Bank of U S v. Davis, 361 Bank of United States v. Lanc, 686 75, 85, 102, 153, 1280 Barry v. Mi-souri, Kansas, etc., Ry Bank of the United States v. Macales-Co., 1015 Bartemeyer v. Role f., 900, 906, (53) ter, 603 Bartholomew v. Bentley, 215, 369 Bank of the University v. Hamilton, Bartlett v. Drew, 1133 Bank of Utica v. Smalley, 763 Bartlett v. Remington, 617 Bank of Vergennes v. Warren, 154 Bartlett v. Kinsley, 700 Barton v. Barbour, 1223 Barton v. P. J. & U. F. Plank Reed Co., 75, 1117 Bank of Washington v. Triplett & Neale, 681 Bank of Yolo v Wesver, 151 Banks v. New York Club, 157 Barton v. Swepston, 415 Bannock County v. Bunting, 13 Bash v. Culver Gold Mine Co., 300 Basen v. King's Mining Co., 1075 Bassett v. City of El Paso, 1262 Banque Franco-Egyptienne v. Brown, 1016, 1017 Barber v. City of Saginaw, 112 Bussett v. St. Albans Hotel Co , 388 Bateman v. City of Covington, 4-34 Barbour v. Bayon, 644, 656 Bates v. Androscoggin River R. R. Barb Wire Co. v. Chicago B., etc., Rv., Co., 485 Bates v. Boston & N. Y. Central R R 890 Barcalow v. Totten, 1140 Barclay v. Culver, 1280
Barcus v. Hannibal, Rolls County & P. P. R. Co., 180
Bareno v. Hannibal, Rollo Co. & P. R. Co., 1014 Bates v. Independent School District, 879 Bates v. Iron Co., 147, 227 R. Co., 180 Bates v. Short, 520 Bard v. City of Augusta, 45, 952 Bates v. State Bank, 459 Bard v. Manufacturing Co., 495 Bardstown & Louisville R. R. Co. v. Bates County v. Winter, 446, 935 Bath County v. Amy, 944 Metcalfe, 1054, 1096, 1169 Butler v. Brandy wine, 185 Barker v. Chesterfield, 184 Barker v. Mechanics' Ins. Co., 97, 101 Barker v. Rochester Nat. Bank, 528 Battle v. North Western Cement Co., Battle v. Corporation of Mubile, 48 Barlow v. Planters' Bank, 688 Bauer v. Franklin County, 129, 437 Barnard v. Knox County, 67 Barnert v. Mayor, etc., 62 Barnes v. Brown, 242, 260, 268, 278, Bauer v. Platt, 879, 880 Baumgartner v. Hasty, 38 Bay City Bridge Co. v. Van Etten, 312 Bayless v. Orne, 305 282, 286, 309
Barnes v. Chicago, Milwaukee, etc.,
Ry. Co., 1168 Bayor v. Schaffner & ('o.'s Estate. 1145 Bay View liams, 353 Barnes v. Gas Light Co., 569, 570, 588 View Homestead Assn. v. Wil-Barnes v. Kornegay, 1288, 1284 Barnes v. Ontario Bank, 75, 102 Beach v. Inhabitants of Conway, Barnes v. Suddard, 494 Barnes v. Town of Lacon, 852, 941, 188 Beach v. Miller, 289, 258, 1087 Boal v. City of Somerville, 611 978, 1004

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol II, pp. 708-1807.] Beal v. National Exchange Bank of Bennett v. Glenn, Trustee, 1188
Dallas, 710
Bennett v. Great Western Telegraph Dallas, 710 Beal v. Railroad Co., 348, 1162 Beal v. St. Croix County, 132 Beaman v. Leake County, 920 Beman v. Rufford, 471
Bearce v. Township, 185
Beardsley v. Ontario Bank, 1096
Beattie v. Del., L. & W. Railroad Co., 232, 233 Beaty v. Lessee of Knowler, 50, 478 Beaver v. Armstrong, 946 Beaver Dam v. Frings, 138 Beck v. Kantorowicz, 298 Beckwith v. Windsor Manufg. Co., 143 Bedford R. R. Co. v. Bowser, 166, 253, 365, 471 Beche v. Board, etc., 57 Beebe v. Richmond Light, Heat & Power Co., 1006
Beecher v. Daey, 92
Beecher v. Rolling Mill Company, 1024, 1069 Beecher v. Schieffelin, 309, 310 Beekman v. Saratoga & Schenectady R R. Co , 917, 958 Beeman v. Black, 1012 Beeney, County Treasurer, v. Irwin, 116 Beers v. Bridgeport Spring Co., 816 Beers v. New York Life Ins. Co., 263 Beers v. Phœnix Glass Co., 73, 102, 153 Belden v. Burke, 263, 1057 Belknap v. Davis, 218, 365 Belknap v. North American Bank, Bell v. Chicago, St. L. & N. O. R. R. Co., 964, 1055 Bell v. Hagerstown Bank, 686 Bell v. Hanover National Bank, 525, 564 Bell v. Live Stock Co., 430 Bell v. Mali, 287 Bell v. Montgomery Light Co., 318 Bell v. Platteville, 43 Belleville Savings Bank v. Winslow, Bell's Gap Railroad Co. v. Pennsylvania, 1291 Belmont v. Eric Ry. Co., 1043 Bement v. Plattsburg & Montreal R. R. Co., 1077, 1082 Benedict v. Construction Company, Benedict v. Lansing, 98, 150, 152, 172 Benedict v. Rose, 690 Benefit Assn. v. Blue, 496 Benjamin v. Elmira, Jefferson & Can-andaigua R. R. Co., 1014 Benjamin v. Wheeler, 19

Co., 1140 Benoit v. Inhabitants of Conway, 134 Benseik v. Thomas, 491 Benson v. Heathorn, 242 Benson v. Waukesha, 42 Bentley v. Columbia Ins. Co., 342 Benton v. German-American Nat. Bank, 583 Bergen v. Fishing Company, 1086 Berks County v. Pile, 132 Berlin v. New Britain, 790 Berlin Iron Bridge Co. v. City of San Antonio, 429 Bernard's Township v. Stebbins, 991 Berry, Recr., v. Yates, 478 Boston v. Walten, 250 Beveridge v. Railroad Co., 476 Beverley v. Lincoln Gas Co., 98, 234 Bezon, Comr., v. Pike, 89
Bibby v. Hall, 234
Bickford v. First Nat. Bank of Chicago, 857, 645, 652, 697
Bicknell v. Widner School Township, 20, 133, 427 Biddle v. City of Terrell, 429 Bien v. Bear River & Auburn W. & M. Co., 174, 190 Biggs v. Pennsylvania & New England R. R. Co., 1034 Bill v. National Park Bank, 658 Bill v. Western Union Tel. Co., 316, 323 Bingham v. Stewart, 358 Binney's Case, 72 Bird v. Daggett, 152, 210, 227 Bird Coal & Iron Co. v. Humes, 242 Birdsall v. Clark, 59 Bischoffsheim v. Brown, 1016 Bishop v. Houghton, 312 Bishop v. Moorman, 874 Bi Spool Sewing Machine Co. Acme Mfg. Co., 156 Bishop v. City of Jeffersonville, 897 Bissell v. City of Kankakee, 567, 852, Bissell v. Mich. So. & No. Ind. R. R. Co., 106, 153, 809, 822, 453, 469, 471, 491, 546 Bissell, Receiver, v Heath, 761 Black v. Delaware, etc., Canal Co, 471 Black v. Skreeve, 1051 Blackley v. Andrew, 658 Blackman v. Lehman, 11, 952 Blackshire v. Iowa Homestead Co., 805, 1071 Blain v. Agar, 294 Blaine v. Brown, 706 Blair v. Corning County, 917, 947, 948 Blair v. Perpetual Ins. Co., 463

```
[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 705-1367.]
Blair v. Lewis, Hannibal, etc., R. R. Board, etc., v. Ward, 122 Co., 1172, 1193, 1194, 1221, 1288 Board, etc., v. Welds, 126 Blake v. Buffalo Creek R. R. Co., 251, Board, etc., v. Welder, 82 Board, etc., v. Wel
                                                                                        Board, etc., v. Webb, 126, 412
Board, etc., v. Webb, 126, 412
                                                                                         Bard of Comrs. v. Bright, 949
          260, 282
                                                                                         Board of Commissioners v. State, 971
 Blake v. Griswold, 412
Blake v. Holley, 155, 178
                                                                                        Board of Comrs of Gilson County v.
                                                                                                 Tichenor, 793
Blanchard v. Kaull, 850
Blanchard's Gun-Stock Turning Fac-Hamilton County v.
                                                                                         Board Couns
                                                                                         State, 935
Board of Cours, of Kingmon County
          tory v. Warner, 74 Bland v. Commercial & Railroad Bank,
                                                                                                  v. Cornell University, 912
                                                                                         Board of Education v. Fanda, 990
 Blanding v. Burr, 49, 923
                                                                                         Board of Education v. Fowler, 852 Blanding v. Davenport, I. & D. R.
                                                                                         Board of Education v. Martin, 882
 Co., 151
Blanton v. Board of County Comrs., Board of Supervisors v. Devoe, 380 Board of Supervisors, etc. v. El 907 wards, 120
Board of Supervisors of Madis at Blasdel v. Locke, 617
 Blatchford v. Ross, 248, 260
Bletz v. Columbia Nat. Bank, 554 County v. Brown, 913
 Bliss v. Anderson, 463
                                                                                         Board of Supervisors v. Weider, 1994
 Bliss v. Kaweah Canal & Irrigation Board of Supervisors of Macer
 Co., 192, 204
Bliss v. Matteson, 260, 282
                                                                                                  County v. Hubbard, 899, 910-915,
                                                                                         Board of Trustees v. Smith, 100 Block v. Commissioners, 955
                                                                                         Board of Trustees of August
  Blodgett v. Gardiner, 522
                                                                                                  Maysville & B. S. R. R. Co. 909
  Blood v. Marcuse, 180
                                                                                         Boehm v. Rali, 1086
Bohan v. Township, 135
  Bloodgood v. Mohawk & Hudson R.
  R R. Co., 958

Bloomington v. Chicago & Alton R.
R. Co., 1268

Blount v. Windley, 718

Bloxham v. Florida Central & P. R.
                                                                                         Bohm v. V. Loewer's Brewery Co., 103, 1,2 Cambrinus
                                                                                          Bohn v. Brown, 415
                                                                                         Bolm Mfg. Co. v. Lewis, 961 Bolles v. Brimfield, 939
            R. Co., 1305
  Blum v Looney, 881
Board v. Senn, 1272
Board, etc., v. Applewhite, 121
Board, etc., v. Arrghi, 801
                                                                                          Bolles v. Town of Amboy, 976
                                                                                          Bolton v. Board of Education, 879
                                                                                          Bolton v. Richard, 600
                                                                                          Bommer v. S. S. Co., 234
Bonaparte v. Tax Court, 1277
   Board, etc., v. Boyle, 122
   Board, etc., v. Boynion, 81
Board, etc., v. Bradford, 122
Board, etc., v. Brown, 825
                                                                                          Bond v. Manufg. Co., 400, 495 Bond v. Terrell Cotton & Woolen Mig.
                                                                                                   Co., 821
   Board, etc., v. City of Lincoln, 793
                                                                                          Bonesteel v. City of New York, 113
   Board, etc., v. Cole, 57, 123
                                                                                          Bonnell v. County of Nuckolls, 67
   Board, etc., v. Crook County, 67
Board, etc., v. Everett, 29
                                                                                          Bonnell v. Griswold, 303, 412
                                                                                          Booe v. Junction R. R. Co., 471
    Board, etc., v. Gregory, 122
                                                                                          Book Company v. De Golyer, 1118
Boom v. Utica, 5, 114
    Board, etc., v. Hill, 22, 874
   Board, etc., v. Inii, 22, 574
Board, etc., v. Hon, 31
Board, etc., v. Jennings, 31
Board, etc., v. La Fayette, M. & B.
R. R. Co., 470, 471
Board, etc., v. Lomax, 121
Board, etc., v. McClintock, 17
Board, ctc., v. Nelson, 876
Board, etc., v. Nelson, 876
Board, etc., v. O'Copper, 188
                                                                                         Booth v. Benk, 183, 190, 821
Booth v. Robinson, 76, 97, 102, 282
Booth v. Welles, 755
Brock v. Perkins, 720 Borough of Henderson v. County of Sibley, 895
Borough of York v. Forscht, 125
Borup v. Nininger, 682
Bosler's Admr. v. Bank, 712
    Board, etc., v. O'Connor, 128
    Board, etc., v. People ex rel., 800
Board, etc., v. Roenner, 126
Board, etc., v. Reynolds, 471 Boston & Albany Railroad v. Richardson, 885, 386
Boston & P. R. R. Co. v. New York
& N. E. R. Co., 278
Boston, etc., R. R. Corp. v. Salem, etc., R. R. Co., 471
    Board, etc., v. Richardson, 122
Board, etc., v. Seaton, 31
Board, etc., v. Taylor, 68, 64
Board, etc., v. Verburg, 121
```

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol II, pp 708-1807] Boston, C. & M. R. R. Co. v. State, | Brady v. Mayor, etc., 5, 20, 103 1300 Brady v. Mayor of New York, 444 Boston & Roxbury Mill Corporation v. Brady v. Mayor, etc., 821 Newman, 917
Boston Safe Deposit Trust Co. v. Adrian, Mich., Water Works, 1183 Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Co. v. Co., 985 Bankers & Merchants' Telegraph Co., 1096 Bothwell v. Millikan, 1272 583 Botsford v. New Haven, Middletown, etc., R. R. Co , 1249 519 Bottomley v. Fisher, 360 Boughton v. Otis, 384, 390 Bound v South Carolina Ry. Co., 1103, 1160, 1167, 1171, 1184, 1185, 1219, 1241, 1260 rison, 528 Bound v. South Carolina Ry. Co., Ex parte Mitchell, 1234 528 Bound v. South Carolina R. R. Co, Ex parte Walker; Ex parte Calder, 1184

Bound v. South Carolina Ry.
(Mayfield, Intervener), 1173 Co. Bound v. South Carolina Ry. 465 (Quintard, Intervener), 1260 Bourdeaux v. Cognard, 438 Bowden v. Johnson, 764, 767 Bowen v. Morris, 98 Bowers v. Evans, 753 Bowen v. Newell, 656 Bowles v. Lambert, 359 Bowles v. State, 870 12, 14, 864, 884, 1000 Bowman Dairy Co. v. Mooney, 820 Bowyer v. Camden, 1086 Boyce v. Montruk Coal & Gas Co., 1307 1069 Boyce v. Tabb, 982 Boyd v. Bock, 568 Boyd v. Emmerson, 601, 608 526 Boyd v. Mexico Southern Bank, 650 Boyd v. Sims, 316 Boyden v. Bank of Cape Fear, 597, 685 Boydston v. Rockwall County, 117 Boyer v. Boyer, 1297 Boyington v. Wilson Sewing Machine Co., 195 Boyle v. Thurber, 413 Boynton v. Hatch, 166 Brackett v. Griswold, 393, 413 Bradler v. Boston Canoe Co., 85 Bradlee v. Warren Savings Bank, Briggs v. Whipple, 62 179 Bradley v. Ballard, 75, 102, 107, 153, 489, 496, 942 Bradley v. Farwell, 1108 Bradley v. Poole, 291 Brady v. Mayor, etc., 995 Brady v. Supervisors, etc., 57 Brady v. Mayor, etc., of Brooklyn, 379 560

Brahm v. Adkins, 598, 600, 604, 649
Brainard v. New York & Harlem R.
R. Co., 955, 1014 Brainerd v. New York Central R. R. Branch v. Jessup, 93, 473, 1096 Branch Bank at Huntsville v. Steele, Branch Bank at Mobile v Collins, Branch Bank at Mobile v. Scott, 549 Branch Bank at Montgomery v. Har-Branch Bank at Montgomery v. Knox. 515, 691, 699, 700 Branch Bank at Mobile v. Strother, Branch, Sons & Co. v Atlantic & Gulf R. R. Co., 1077
Brandt v. Goodwin, 397, 411
Brandao v. Barrett, 524 Braslin v. Somerville Horse R R. Co., Breekenridge County v. McC'acken, 920, 931, 946, 947, 948 Breene v. Bank, 726 Breitung v. Lindauer, 416
Bremen Savings Bank v Branch
Crookes Law Co., 361
Brenham v. German-American Bank, Brennan v. Mississippi Home Ins. Co., Brennan v. Titusville, 1267 Brent v. Bank of Washington, 525, Brower v. Boston Theatre, 306, 317, 324, 325 Brewer v. Otoe County, 788, 804 Brewster v. Hatch, 260 Brewster v. Hyde, 857 Brewster v. Stretman, 271 Bridenbecker v. Lowell, 170, 574 Bridgeport v. Railroad, 979 Bridgeport Bank v. Dyer, 658
Bridgeport City Bank v. Empire Stone Dressing Co., 78, 152, 465
Briggs v. Bank, 692
Briggs v. Partridge, 360 Briggs v. Spaulding, 808, 347, 351, 553 Bright v. Banking Co., 506 Bright v. McCullough, 870 Bright v. Metairie Cemetery Assn., Brinckerhoff v. Marvin, 1058 Brinkerhoff v. Bostwick, 348, 555, 556,

با دا

The references are to pages: vol. I centains pp. 1707; vol. 11, pp. 0 - 13 7; Bruff v. Mali, 256, 257 Brinkman v. Hunter, 654 Brinkmeyer v. City of Evansville, 19 Brunswick-Balke Colle nder Co. Boutell, 355 Brinkworth v. Grable, 969 Brush v. City of Carlondale, 121 Briscoe v. Allison, 929 Bryan v. Page, 116 Bristol v. Scranton, 259 Buchanan v. Litchfield, 66, 839, 855, British & American Mortgage Co. v. 897, 929, 968 Buck v. Barder, 390 Buck v. Memphis & Little Reef, R. R. Tibballs, 687 British Coml. Life Ins. Co. v. Comrs. of Taxes, 1287 Co., 1096 Briton v. Mayor, etc., 29 Brockert v. Central Iowa Ry. Co., Buck v. Seymour, 1006 Buckeye Engine Co. v. Douran Brewing Co . 1125 Brockman v. Metcalf, 154 Buckeye Marble & Freestone Co v. Brockway v. Allen, 359 Brode v. Firemen's Ins. Co , 13, 100 Harvey, 410
Buckley v. Briggs, 455
Budd v. Budd, 429
Buell v. Buckingham, 285, 107 a, 1084, 1108, 1112 Broadhead v. Milwaukee, 49, 957 Brodie v. McCabe, 827 Brome v. Cuming County, 57 Bronson v. Bailroad Company, 1042 Brooke v. Railroad Company, 1079 Buffalo v. Bettinger, 996 Brooklyn v. Breslin, 59 Buffalo & Allegany Railroad Co. v. Carey, 390 Brooklyn v. Insurance Company, 965 Brooklyn Buffalo, etc., R. R. Co, v. Bourd, etc., Gravel Road Co. 871 Slaughter, 182 Buffalo, etc., R. R. Co. v. Lampson, Boughton v. Mar Works, 73, 90, 98 Manchester Water 250 Broughton v. Pensacola, 844 Buffit v. Troy & Boston II II Co., Brouwer v. Appleby, 193 Brouwer v. Harbeck, 111, 1117 Brower v. Brooklyn Trust Co., 284 Buford v. Keokuk L. Packet Co., 278 Brower v. Haight, 527 Brown v. Bank, 536 Brown v. Board, etc., 15 Building Fund Trustees v Bossieux, 554 Bull v. Bank of Kasson, 845, 655, 657 Brown v. Bon Homme County, 857 Bullard v. Randall, 661 Brown v. District of Columbia, 111 Brown v. Donnell, 178, 494 Brown v. Duluth M. & N. Ry. Co., Bullene v. Coutes, 601 Buller v. Harrison, 616 Bullock v. Curry, 46, 903 Bunch's Exr. v. Fluvanna County, 287, 405, 1080 Brown v. Grand Rapids Parlor Furni-954 ture Co., 144, 251, 1071, 1081, 1082, 1085, 1120 Buncombe Turnpike Co. v McCarson, 145 Brown v. Houston, 1298 Bundy v. Jackson, 263 Bunting v. Camden & Atlantic R. R. Co., 1043 Brown v. Leckie, 645, 648, 652 Brown v. McElroy, 605 Brown v. Montgomery, 624 Burbank v. Dennis, 800 Burch v. Paper Company, 144 Brown v. Pierce, 645 Burdon v. Association, 1118 Brown v. Point Pleasant, 1004 Brown v. Spofford, 980 Burger v. Burger, 608 Burges v. Mabin, 906 Brown v. Supply Company, 1057, 1075 Burgess v. Pue, 148, 144 Burgess v. Seligman, 988 Brown v. Maryland, 1018, 1267 Brown v. Toledo, P. & W. R. R. Co., Burke v. Smith, 258 1199, 1202 Burkhalter v. Second National Bank. Brown v. Weymouth, 180 Brown v. Winnishmet, 92 Brown v. Wright, 197, 289 Browns v. National Color Burkinshaw v. Nicolis, 328 Burloy v. Marsh, 260 B. G. & M. R. R. Co. v. Warren, 126 Burlington Water Co. v. Woodward, National Color Printing Co., 299 Brownell v. Town of Greenwich, 983, 68. 69 984, 998 Burnes v. Atchison, 952 Burns v. Mayor of N. Y Brownlie v. Campbell, 298 Bruce v. Platt, 394, 398, 399 Burnett v. Abbott, 27, 121, 487

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol II, pp. 708-1307] Burnham v. Bowen, 1220, 1222, 1289 Caldwell v. Nat. Mohawk Valley Burnham v. Strafford, 137 Burnham v. Webster, 571, 681 Caledonia & Dumbartonville Ry Burr v. City of Carbondale, 37, 70, Burr v. McDonald, 75, 1108 Burrall v. Bushwick R. R. Co., 1289 Burrill v. Nahant Bank, 671, 1074, 1075 Burrill v. Boston, 446 Burroughs v. Richmond County, 946 Burroughs & Springs v. Commissioners, 1047 Burrow v Zapp, 525 Burrows v. Bangs, 630 Burt v. Railroad Co., 880 Burt v. Rattle, 94, 1055 Burton v. Norwich, 138 Bush v. Sprague, 547 Burnett v. First Nat Bank, 609 Bush v. Wolf, 116 Bushnell v. Deloit, 48, 49, 958 Bushwick, etc., Turnpike Co. v Ebbetts, 348 Bussey v. Gilmore, 21 Butchers', etc., Bank v. Hubbell, 744
Butler v. Cornwall Iron Co., 262
Butler v. Dunham, 953
Butler v. Eaton, 519, 756 Butler v. Passaic, 890, 1270 Butler v. Poole, 772 Butler v. Rahm, 1096 Butler v. Smalley, 891, 392, 413 Butler v. Sullivan County, 57 Butte Hardware Co. v. Schwab, 470 Butte County v. Morgan, 374 Butternut v. O'Mulley, 138
Butts v. Little, 67
Butts v. Wood, 242, 247, 250, 279, 280, 282, 283, 809, 365, 556

Butts v. Cuthbertson, 142 Butz v. City of Muscatine, 982 Byer v. Rollins, 316

Cabaniss v. Hill, 67 Cable v. Gaiv, 389, 415 Cable v. M. Cunc, 389, 415 Cady v. Sanford, 417
Cady v. Watertown, 139
Cagwin v. Town of Hancock, 985, 986
Cagswell v. Ball, 311 Cahill v. Kal. Mut. Ins. Co., 144, 161 Cairo v. Vane, 893, 966 Cairo & St. Louis R. R. Co. v. City of Sparta, 954 Cairo, V. & C. Ry. ('o. v. Mathews, Cake v Bouck, 562 Caldwell v. Justices of Burke, 49 Magistrates of Helensburgh, 470 Calhoun v. Memphis & Paducah R R. Co., 1096 California Safe Deposit & Trust ('o.

v. Chency Electric Light, Telephone & Power ('o., 1149) California State Telegraph Co Alta Telegraph Co., 454 Callanan v. Brown, 824 Callaway M & M. Co. v Clark, #2, 819 Calumet Paper Co. v. Stotts Investment Co., 1140
Calvert v. Idaho Stage Company, 144
Cambridge Water Works v Somerville Dyeing & Bleaching Co., 347 Camden v. Stuart, 1028 Camden & Atlantic R. R. Co v May's Landing & Egg Harbor City R. R. Co., 822 Cameron v. First Nat. Bank, 470 Cameron v. Seaman, 391, 392 Campbell v. American Zylonite Co, 485 Campbell v. Argenta Gold & Silver Mining Co., 821 Campbell v. Merchants & Farmers' Ins. Co., 158 Campbell v. Mississippi Union Bank, 505 Campbell v. Morgan, 310 Oamphell v. Paris & Decatur R. R. Co., 971, 973 Campbell v. Pope, 158, 233, 234 Campbell v. Texas & N. D. R. R. Co., 1(154 Canada Southern R. R. Co v. Gebhard, 1080 Canal Bridge v. Gordon, 263 Cantillon v. Dubuque & N. W. R. R. Cantinon v. Publique & N. W. K. R.
Co, 976
Capitol State Bank v. Lane, 628
Carey v. Giles, 98, 173
Carey v. Houston & Texas Central
Ry. Co., 1147, 1165
Carley v. Graves, 749
Carling's Case, 299
Carring v. Province of a Franchia Rock Carman v. Prest., etc., Franklin Bank of Baltimore, 509 Carpenter v. Briggs, 152, 180 Carpenter v. Buena Vista County, Carpenter v. Farnsworth, 810 Carpenter v. Union, 446 Carr v. Hamilton, 718 Carr v. Le Fevre, 1014 Carr v. Risher, 390 Carr v. State, 1146 Carrigan v. Port Crescent Imp Company, 155

The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.] ('arroll v. Siebenhaler, 118 Carroll County v. Smith, 911, 912, 957 Carson City Sav. Bk. v. Carson City Rievator Co., 470, 489, 496 Carter v. City of Dubuque, 56 Carter v. City of New Orleans, 1177 Carter v. Ford, etc., Co., 815 Carter v. Glass Co., 560 Carter v. Hightower, 1129 Carter v. Palmer, 251 Carter County v. Slaton, 946 Cartwright v. Dickinson, 1132 Carver v. Braintree Manufg. Co., 414 Cary-Holiday Lumber Co. v. Cain, 809 Cary, Assignee, v. McDougald, 573 Caryl v. McElrath, 191 Casco Nat. Bank of Portland v. Clark, Case v. Bank, 226, 567, 729 Case v. Beauregard, 750, 1140 Case v. Hawkins, 191 Case v. Morris, 657 Case v. Wresler, 800 Case of Bowton, 615 Case of Surgeant, 615 Casey v. Galli, 772 Casey v. People, 951, 916 Casey, Receiver, v. Societe de Credit Mobilier, 733 Cash v. Auditor of Clark County, 26 Cass v. Dillon, 49 Cass County v. Chicago, B. & Q. R. R. Co., 1302 Cass County v. Johnston, 803, 957 Castle v. Belfast Foundry Company, 151 Castle v. Lewis, 234 Cate v. Patterson, 631 Cates v. Allen, 1130 Catlett v. Starr, 509 Catlin v. Eagle Bank, 1108 Catron v. La Fayette County, 14 Cave v. Cave, 338 Cavin v. Gleason, 751 Caylus v. New York, K. & S. R. R. Co., 1042, 1043 Cazenux v. Mali, 287, 201, 309 C., B. U. P. R. R. Co. v. Smith, 899. Coeder v. H. M. Loud & Sons Lumber Co., 198, 210, 232 Clentral Bank v. Empire Stone Dressing Co., 78, 152, 465 Central Bank v. Pratt, 529 Central Bank v. St. John, 528 Central Building & Loan Assn. v. Lampson, 491 Central Gold Mining Co. v. Platt. 1054 Central Nat. Bank v. North River Bank, 567

Central Nat. Bank v. Valentine, 616 Central R. R. Co. v. Collins, 517 Central Railroad v. Georgia, 1282 Central R. R. Co. v. Pennsylvania R. R. Co., 517 Central Railroad v. State Board of Assessors, 1300, 1301 Central R. R. & Bkg. Co. of Georgia v. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. of New York, 1196, 1206 Central Transportation Co. v. Pull man's Palace Car Co., 473, 477, 488, 1178 Central Trust Co. v. Bridges, 260, 1091, 1096 Central Trust Co. v. Condon, 1075 Central Trust Co. v. Florida Ry & Nav. Co. (Hawkins, Intervener), 1104 Central Trust Co. v. Kneeland, 1095 Central Trust Co. v. N. Y. ('ity & Northern R. R. Co., 264, 1162 Central Trust Co. v. Ohio Central R R. Co., 1179 Central Trust Co. v. Richmond, N. I. & B. R. R. Co., 1219, 1251 Central Trust Co. v. St. Louis, A. & T. Ry. Co., 1194

Central Trust Co. v. Walash, St. L. & Pac. Ry. Co., 1185, 1202, 1206, 1222, 1225, 1233, 1236

Central Trust Co. v. Wabash, St. L. & Pac. Ry. Co. (Swayne, Intervener), 1219 Central Trust Co. of New York v. Bridges, 1238, 1253, 1254 Central Trust Co. of New York v. Chattanooga, Rome & Columbus B B Co. 1162 R. R. Co., 1195 Central Trust Co. of New York v. Chicago, K. & T. Ry. Co. (Holton-Warren Lumber Co., Intervener). 1179 Central Trust Co. of New York v. Cincinnati, J. & M. Ry. Co. 1243 Central Trust of New York v. East Tennessee, Va. & Ga. R. R. Co., 1223, 1225 Central Trust Co. of New York v. Marietta & Nor. Ga. R. R. Co.. Central Trust Co. v. Marietta & North Ga. Ry. Co. (Blue Ridge Marble Co., Interveners), 1204
Central Trust Co. of New York v.
Marietta & No. Ga. Ry. Co.
(Groome, Intervener), 1216, 1218
Central Trust Co. of New York v. Marietta & No. Ga. Ry. Co. (Hiawassee Co., Intervener), 1216 Central Trust Co. of New York v.

Marietta & No. Ga. R. R. Co.

1217 Central Trust Co. of New York v. Marietta & No. Ga. Ry. Co. (Jackson & Wordin Mfg. Co., Intervener), 1216, 1218 Central Trust Co. of New York v. Port Royal & Western Carolina R. R. Co., 1093 Central Trust Co. of New York v. St.
Louis, A. & T. Ry. Co., 1230
Central Trust Co. of New York v.
Sheffield & Birmingham Coal, Iron & Ry. Co., 1170 Central Trust Co. v. Sheffield & Birmingham Coal, Iron & Ry. Co. (Anniston Loan & Trust Co., Intervener), 1211 Central Trust Co. of New York v. Valley Ry. Co., 1234, 1235
Central Trust Co. of New York v.
Wabash. St. L. & Pac. Ry. Co.
(St. Louis, K. & N. W. Ry. Co., Intervener), 1208 ('entral Trust Co. of New York v. United States Rolling Stock Co., 1166 Centre Township v. Board. etc., 935 Chable v. Nicaraugua Canal Construction Co., 1197 Chaffee v. Fort, 619, 624 Chaffey County v. Potte 836, 837, 842, 897, 972 Potter, 828, 835, Chaffin v. Cummings, 756 Challis v. Parker, 871 Chamberlain v. Board of Education of Cranberry Township, etc., 1263 Chamberlain v. City of Burlington, 46 Chamberlain v. Monmouth Mining Company, 203 Chambers v. Falkner, 477, 497 Chambers v. Miller, 600 Chambers v. St. Louis, 493, 494 Chambers County v. Clews, 830 Chambliss v. Robertson, 530 Champion v. Gordon, 657 Chandler v. Hong, 890 Chandler, Receiver, v. Bacon, 200 Chapin v. Dake, 979 Chapin v. Vermont & Massachusetts Rullroad, 1000, 1014, 1048 Chapman v. Comstock, 397 Chapman v. County of Douglas, 37, 786, 788, 860 Chapman v. Derby, 720 Chapman v. McCrea, 686 Chapman v. White, 598, 664 Charles v. Hoboken, 112 Charles River Bridge v. Warren Bridge Charlotte Building & Loan Assn. v. Board Comrs., etc., 1800

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.] (Jackson & Sharp Co., Intervener), | Charter Gas Engine Co. v. Charter, 260 Chase v. Cannon, 716 Chase v. Curtis, 393, 415 Chase v. Hathorn, 207 Chaska Company v. Board of Supervisors of Carver County, 74 Chattahoochee Nat. Bank v. Schley. 636 Chattanooga, R. & C. R. R. Co. v. Evans, 1111 Chautauqua County Bank v. Risley, 309 Cheancy v. Hooser, 49 Cheeney v. Brookfield, 448 Cheeney v. La Fayette, B. & W. Ry. Co., 279, 356 Chemical Nat. Bank v. Armstrong. 729, 730 Chemical Nat. Bank v Kohner, 154, 170, 571, 579 Chemical National Bank v. Wagner. 151 Chemical Nat. Bank of Chicago v. City Bank of Portage, 519, 574 Cheming Canal Bank v. Supervisor. of Chemung, 130, 131, 995 Cheney v. Libby, 690 Chesapeake Bank v. Swain, 634 Chesapeake & Ohio Canal Co. v. Blair. 1047 C. & O. R. R. Co. v. Burren County Court, 908 Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad v. Virginia, 1282 Chester County v. Barber, 434 Chester Glass Co. v. Dowey, 460, 494. Chestnut Hill, etc., Co. v. Rutter, 1079 Chethain v. Republic Life Ins. Co., 302, 460 Chew v. Ellingwood, 596, 1111, 1112 Chewacla Lime Works v. Dismukes, 82 Chicago v. Sheldon, 29 Chicago v. Shober, etc., Co., 445, 601 Chicago & Atl. R. Co., v. Derkes, 493 Chicago & A. R. R. Co. v. Lamkin, 1302 Chicago & A. R. R. Co. v. People, 1263, 1264, 1302 Chicago Building Society v. Crowell, Chicago, B. & K. C. R. R. Co. v. Guf-fey, 1280 Chicago, B. & Q. R. R. Co. v. Lewis, 805 Chicago, B. & Q. R. R. Co. v. School Dist. No. 1, 1302 Chicago, D. & V. R. R. Co. v. Coyer,

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307] Church v. Imp. Gas Light Co, 98 Chicago, D. & V. R. R. Co. v. Fosdick, 1080, 1151, 1158, 1156 Chicago, D. & V. R. R. Co. v. Smith, 7Ö, 964 Chicago Deposit Vault Co. v. Mc-Nulta, 1206 Chicago & Eastern III. L. R. Co. v. Hay, 357 Chicago F. & M. Ins. Co. v. Keiron, 627 Chicago Gas Light Co. v. People's Gas Light Co., 503, 1178 Chicago & Grand Trunk Ry. Co. v. Turner, 1047 Chicago & Iowa R. R. Co. v. Pyne, 1015 Chicago, K. & W. Ry. Co. v. Comrs., 974 Chicago, K. & W. R. R. Co. v. Comrs., 911 Chicago, K. & W. R. R. Co. v. Ozark Township, 51 Chicago M. & F. Ins. Co. v. Carpenter, 627 Chicago F. M. Ins. Co. v. Stanford, 645, 660 Chicago, M. & St. Paul R. Co. v. Hartshorn, 900 Chicago, M. & St. P. Ry. Co v. Wabash, St. L. & Pac. Ry. Co., 1177, 1178 Chicago & N. W. R. R. Co. v. James, 167 Chicago, Pekin & S. W. R. R. Co. v. Prest., etc., Town of Marseilles, 455, 503 Chicage, R. I. & P. R. Co. v. Union Pac. Ry. Co., 82 Chicago, etc., v. Boone County, 210 Chicago, etc., R. R. Co. v. Coleman, Chicago, etc., R. R. Co v. President, etc., 460 Chicago, St. Paul, M. & O. Ry. Co. v. Bayfield County, 1305, 1306 Child v. Boston & Fairhaven Iron Works, 414, 415 Childs v. Alexander, 529 Childs v. Brown Township, 136 Childs v. City of Anacosta, 68 Chilton v. People, 1014 Chipman v. Foster, 810 Chittenden v. Thannhauser, 414 Choisser v. People, 984, 940, 966, 967 Chouteau v. Allen, 241, 245, 1098 Chouteau v. Rowse, 647, 660 Christian County Court v. Smith, 907, 911 Christopher v. Mayor of New York, Chrystie v. Foster, 567 Chubb v. Upton, 762, 1028

Church v. Sterling, 235 Cincinnati, etc., Co. v. Clarkson, 144 Cincinnati R. R. Co. v Clinton County. Citizens' Bank v. City of Terrell, 833. 833, 834 Citizens' Bank of Baltimore v. How ell, 686 Citizens' Bank of Louisima v Board of Assessors for the Parish of Or leans, 1285, 1286 Citizens' Bank of Steubenville v. Car son, 640 Citizens' B. L. & S. Assn. v ('oriell, 347, 553 Citizens' Loan A sn v. Lyon, 366 Citizens' Nat. Bank of Cincinnati v. Cincinnati, N. O. & T. R. Ry. Co., 287 Citizens' Nat. Bank of Davenport Importers', etc., Nat. Bank of New York, 648 Citizens' Pass. Ry. Co. v Philadelphia, 104 Citizens' Savings & Loan Association v. Topeka, 27, 930, 932 Citizens' Savings Bank v. Person, Cir cuit Judge, 726 Citizens' Sav. & Loan Assn. v. Perry County, 918 City v. Commonwealth, 954 City v. Lamson, 1047 City of Aberdeen v. Honey, 438 City of Alma v. Guaranty Savings Bank, 801 City of Aurora v. West, 49, 861, 919, City of Austin v. Nalle, 857 City of Beatrice v. Brethren Church. 1280 City of Brazil v. McBride, 27 City of Bridgeport v. Housatonuc R. R. Co., 16, 45, 49
City of Bryan v. Page, 430
City of Buffalo v. Balcom, 445
City of Buffalo v. Holloway, 294 City of Cardillac v. Woodsocket Institution, 14, 827 City of Cairo v. Campbell, 795 City of Carlyle v. County of Clinton, City of Champaign v. Harmon, 5, 4:37, City of Chicago v. Blair, 1270 Oity of Chicago v. Cameron, 316, City of Chicago v. Gage, 232 City of Chicago v. Hasley, 795 City of Chicago v. The People, 65 City of Cleburne v. Brown, 44 City of Columbus v. Dennison, 969

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol II, pp 708-1307] City of Council Bluffs v. Stewart, 66 City of Savannah v. Kelly, 56 City of Corpus Christi v. Central City of Selma v. Mullen, 32 Wharf & Warehouse Co., 441 City of Sherman v. Williams, 483 City of Corpus Christi v. Woessner, City of Crawfordsville v. Hays, 39 City of Delphi v. Bowen, 1271 City of Detroit v. Dean, 316 City of Detroit v. Whittemore, 62 City of East St. Louis v. Albrecht, 1270 City of East St Louis v. East St. Louis Gas, Light & Coke Co., City of East St. Louis v. Maxwell, 13 City of East St. Louis v. Thomas, 59 City of East St. Louis v. Wehrung, 59 City of Ellsworth v. Rochester, 442 City of Eufaula v. McNab, 43 City of Evansville v. Woodbury, 12 City of Findlay v. Pertz, 113 City of Galena v. Corwith, 20, 121 City of Genesco v. Genesco Natural Gas, Coal Oil, Salt & Mineral Co., City of Grand Rapids v. Hydraulic Co., 70 City of Greencastle v. Hazlett, 19 City of Indianola v. Jones, 108 City of Indianapolis v. Bly, 29 City of Indianapolis v. Indianapolis, etc, Co., 28, 30, 69 City of Indianapolis v. Miller, 39 City of La Fayette v. Cox, 5, 20, 952 City of Learned v. Jordan, 1145 City of Lexington v. Butler, 106, 555, 897 City of Lexington v. McQuillan's Heirs, 946 City of Logansport v. Dykeman, 59 City of Macon v. East Tenn., V. & G. Ry. Co., 953 City of Madison v. Smith, 850 City of Mt. Vernon v. Hovey, 949. 950 City of Muscatine v. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co., 1301 City of Nashville v. Sutherland, 488 City of Oakland v. Carpenter, 29 City of Paris v. Craeraft, 795 City of Paterson v. Board of Chosen Freeholders, 117 City of Pekin v. Reynolds, 950 City of Poughkeepsie v. Quintard, 853 City of Quincy v. Steel, 316, 320 City of Quincy v. Warfield, 850, 929 City of Richmond v. McGirr, 19, 850 City of Richmond v. Richmond & Danville R. R. Co., 1284 City of Rochester v. Quintard, 857 City of St. Louis v. Alexander, 49, 1114

City of Shreveport v. Flouryoy, 13 City of Somerville v. Benl, 611, 624 City of Springfield v. Edwards, 40. 66, 801 City of Tacoma v Lillis, 798, 799 City of Valparaiso v. Gardner, 30, 69, 871 City of Vincennes v. Callender, 69 City of Williamsport v. Common wealth, 20 City Bank v. Bateman, 561 City Bank v. Bruce, 76, 455 City Bank v. Cutter, 685 City Bank v. First Nat. Bank, 661 City Bank v. Girard Bank, 667 City Bank of Baltimore v. Bateman. Bank of Hartford v Press ('o. (Lim.), 809 City City Bank of New Haven v Perkins. 572 City Bank of Sherman v. Weiss, 741 City Council of Montgomery v We-tumpka Plank Roud Co. 50, 74, 439 City & County of St. Louis v Alexander, 286 City Nat. Bank v. Burnes, 600 Chaffin v. Farmers & Citizens' Bank. 250, 334, 342 Claffin v. Houseman, 551 Claffin v. South Carolina R. R. Co. Claiborne County v. Brooks, 125, 862, 1000 Clap v. Interstate Street Ry. Co. 1192 Clapp v. City of Spokane, 1044 Clapp v. County of Cedar, 115, 832, Clapp v. Peterson, 455, 1117 Clark v. American Coal Co., 236, 287 Clark v. Bever, 1028 Clark v. Central R. R. & Bkg. Co. of Georgia, 1222 Clark v. City of Janesville, 48, 949, 958, 1047 Clark v. City of South Bend, 38 Clark v. Columbus, 67 Clark v. Davenport, 4 Clark v. Des Moines, 25, 111, 437 Clark v. Edgar, 248 Clark v Farmers' Woolen Mfg. Co., Clark v. Farrington, 74, 463 Clark v Flint & Pere Marquette R R. Co., 270 Clark v. Iowa City, 1047

[The references are to pages: vol I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1507] Coffin v. City of Indianapolis, 13, 856. Clark v. Polk County, 446 863 Clark v. Saline County, 788, 860 Coffin v. Henshaw, 638 Clark v. Sheldon, 905, 997 Clark v. Stackhouse, 650 Clark v. Theomb, 75, 102, 188 Clark v. Town of Nobleville, 22, 878 Coffin v. Nantucket, 111 Cogan v. Mayor, etc., of New York, 131 Coggeshall v. City of Des Moines, 66. Clark v. Nat Metropolitan Bank, 659 Clark Nat. Bank v. Bank of Albia, Coghlan v. South Carolina R. R. Co., 575 1020, 1163 Cogswell v. Clarke v. City of Rochester, 69, 1007. Clarke v. Hawkins, 713 Rockingham Savings Bank, 617 Clarke v. School District, 41 Clarke v. Supervisors of Hancock County, 898, 1004 Clarke v. White, 323 Cohea v. Hunt, 691 Coit v. Gold Amalgamating Co., 1029 Coit v. Noble, 681 Colby v. Copp, 1108 Cole v. Northwestern Bank, 539 Chauser v. Stone, 655 Clausen v. United States, 778 Coleman v. ('oleman, 371 Clay v. Towle, 244 Clay v. Wright, 137 Coleman v. Ewing, 641 Coleman v. Second Avenue R. R. Co.. Clearwater v. Meredith, 325, 499 260, 279 Coler v. Cleburne, 879 Clement v. Everest, 880 Clements v. Empire Lumber Co., 1233 Coler v. School Township, 880 Clerks' Savings Bank v. Thomas, 549 Cleveland v. Amy, 140 Cleveland v. State Bank of Ohio, 445 Coles v. Cleburne, 857 Collector v. Day, 1276 Collen v. Wright, 372 Cleveland, C. & S. R. R. Co. v. Knickerbocker Trust Co , 1223 Collingwood v. Merchants' Bank, 696 Cleveland Rolling Mill Co. v. Joliet Collins v. Gilbert, 980 Enterprise Co., 1129 Clews v. Bank of New York, 595 Collins v. Hatch, 5 Colman v. Eastern Counties Ry., 81, (linch v. Financial Corporation, 325 95, 451, 471 Clinton Company v. Kernan, 176, 527 C., W. & Z. R. R. Co. v. Comrs, of Clinton County, 53 Colman v. Riches, 294 Colman v. Eaves, 828 Colorado C. R. R. Co. v. Lea, 46 Colusa County v. De Jarnett, 118 Colt v. Barnes, 952 Clough v. Hart, 57 Clow v. Brown, 415 Clyde v. Richmond & Danville R. R. Colt v. Brown, 720 Co., 1157, 1222, 1228, 1236 Cosl Company v. Lotspeich, 296 Colt v. Wollaston, 294 Colter v. Frese, 1250 Columbia Bank v. Gospel Tabernacle Coates v. Preston, 645 Coatesville Gas Co. v. County of Church, 218 Columbia & P. S. R. R. Co. v. Chil-Chester, 1266 Coates v. Donnell, 565 Cocheco Nat. Bank v. Haskell, 571, berg, i305 Columbia Electric Co. v. Dixon, 821 Columbia Finance & Trust Co. v. 575, 579 Kentucky Union Ry. Co., 1050, 1095, 1168 Columbian Bank's Estate, 752 Cochran v. Anglo-American Dry Dock & Warehouse Co., 1018 Cockerell v. Cholmeley, 991 Coddington v. Gilbert, 984
Codman v. Vermont & Canada R. R.
Co., 1052
Cody v. City Nat. Bank, 682
Coe v. Columbus, Piqua & Ind. R. R. Columbian Southern Railway Co. v. Wright, 1804 Colwell v. Keystone Iron Co., 233 Coman v. Lakey, 1068 Coman v. State ex rel. Armstrong, 123 Co., 1013, 1021, 1054, 1077 Coe v. East & West R. R. Co. of Ala., Comanche County v. Lewis, 12, 844 Combination Trust Co. v. Weed, 102. 1020, 1029, 1031, 1084, 1085, 1040, 807 1041 Combs v. Scott, 172 Coe v. Errol, 1294 Commercial Bank v. Newport Mfg. Coe v. New Jersey Midland Ry. Co., Co., 102 1055, 1198, 1258 Coffin v. Anderson, 684 Coffin v. City Council, 69 Commercial Bank v. Union Bank, 695 Commercial Bank of Albany Hughes, 598, 637

[The references are to pages: vol I contains pp. 1-707; vol II, pp. 708-1807.] Commercial Bank of Buffalo v. Kort- | Commonwealth v. Comrs. of Alleright, 763 Commercial Bank of Danville v. gheny, 954, 1000 Commonwealth v. Commissioners of Philadelphia, 132 Burgwyn, 570 Commercial Bank of Erie v. Norton, Commonwealth v. East Bunger Consolidated Slate Co., 1280 Commercial Bank of Kentucky v. Commonwealth v. Edgerton Coal Co., Varnum, 687 1279, 1292 Commercial Bank of Manchester v. Commonwealth v Eric & Northeast Bonner, 648 Commercial Bank of Manchester v. Railroad, 1097 Commonwealth v. Essex Company, Nolan, 530 917 Commonwealth v. Fall Brook Coal Commercial Bank of Pennsylvania v. Armstrong, 744, 745, 753 Commercial & Farmers' Nat. Bank v. First Nat. Bank, 668, 671 Co., 1279 Commonwealth v. Franklin Insurance Co., 1208 Commercial Fire Ins. Co. v. Board of Commonwealth v. J. B. Lippincott Revenue of Montgomery County, Co., 1280 Commonwealth v. Judge, etc., of Commercial Nat. Bank v. Iola, 27 Lebanon County, 48 Commercial Nat. Bank v. Proctor. Commonwealth v. Juniata Coke Co... 602, 642 1230 Commercial Nat. Bank of Cincinnati v. Hamilton Nat. Bank of Ft. Common wealth v. Kerstone Bridge Co., 1280 Wayne, 706 Commonwealth v. Lehigh Avenue Rv. Commercial £5 Railroad Bank v. Co., 101 Commonwealth v. Lehigh Coal & Navigation Co , 1279 Commonwealth v. Lehigh Valley R Hamer, 691 Commissioner v. Winkley, 803 Commissioners v. Bolles, 897, 982. R. Co., 1302 1002 monwealth v. Louisville, Louis & K. Ry. Co, 1305 Commisioners v. Clark, 353, 897, 965. Commonwealth 980 Conirs. v. January, 328, 888, 897, 965, Commonwealth v. Lowell Gas Light 982 Co., 1064 Commissioners v. Kelley, 437 Commonwealth v. McWilliams, 48, 49, Commissioners v. Lee, 116 Commissioners v. Thayer, 915 901 Commonwealth v. Minersville Water Comrs., etc., v Holman. 31 Co., 1279 Comrs. of Craven County v. Atlantic & N. C. R R. Co., 97 Commonwealth v. Pennsylvania Coal Co., 1292 Comrs. of Highways v. Newell, 16 Commonwealth v. Penn. Gas Coal Co., Comrs of Knox County v. Aspinwall, 71, 328, 897, 913, 956, 980 1293 Commonwealth v. Pittsburgh & W. It Co., 1279 Comrs. of Knox County v. Wallace, 49 Commonwealth v. Painter, 48 Commonwealth v. Philadelphia & E. Comrs. of Leavenworth County v. R. R. Co., 1279 Commonwealth v. Pittsburgh, 954, 955 Brewer, 442 Comrs. of Leavenworth County v. Miller, 55 Commonweilth v. Pittsburgh Bridge Comrs. ex rel. Thomas v. Comrs. Allegheny County, 40 Comrs. Court of Limestone County v. Co., 1280 Commonwealth v. Pottsville Iron & Steel Co., 1280 Commonwealth v. Railway Co., 1306 Commonwealth v. Savage Fire Brick Rather, 943 Common Council of City of Muskegon v. Gore, 852 Co., 1280 Commonwealth v. American Life Ins. Commonwealth v. Sharon Coal Co. Co., 1292 (Lim.), 1292 Commonwealth v. American Machine Commonwealth v. Smith, 93, 97, 1013, Co., 1292 Commonwealth v. Bank, 334 Commonwealth v. Sponster, 1146 Commonwealth v. R. R. Co., 1806 Commonwealth v. Standard Oil Co., Commonwealth v Canal Co., 1292 1202

[The references are to pages, vol. 1 contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.] Commonwealth v Suffolk Trust Co., | Commonwealth v. Supervisors of Colley, 136 Commonwealth v. Thackara Mfg. Co., 1380 Commonwealth v. Western Union Telegraph Co., 1292 Commonwealth v. Williamstown, 1000 Commonwealth v. Wilkesbarre & Seranton Railway Co., 1290 Commonwealth v. Wilmington & N. R. R. Co., 1104 Commonwealth v. Wm. Mann Co., 1280 Commonwealth ex rel. Armstrong v. Perkins et al., Comrs. of Alle-ghany County, 46 Commonwealth ex rel. Reinboth v. Councils of Pittsburgh, 17 Conners of Pritsburgh, 17 Compton v. Jesup, 1055 Conaut v. Seneca County Bank, 525 Concord v. Robinson, 17, 872 Cone v. City of Hartford, 43 Conine v. J. & B. R. R. Co., 805 Conklin v. School District, 40 Conley v. Directors of West Deer, 138 Connecticut Mut. I., Ins. Co. v. Cleve-land, Col. & Cin. R. R. Co., 79, 955, 1014 Conner v. Drake, 1152 Connett v City of Chicago, 236 Conover v. Insurance Company, 183, Conract v. Trustees of Ithaca, 121 Conro v. Port Henry Iron Co., 250 Conshohocken Tube Co. v. Iron Car Equipment Co., 1048 Consolidated Tank Line Co. v. Eansas City Varnish Co., 254 Consolidated Trust Co. of New York v. Toledo, St. L. & K. C. R. R. Co., 1208 Continental Nat. Bank v. Nat. Bank of the Commonwealth, 595 Continental Nat. Bank of New York v. Weems, 731, 739, 711, 742, 743 Conway v. Halsey, 311 Cook v. Berlin Woolen M. Co., 250 Cook v. City of Burlington, 1298 Cook v. Deerfield, 185 Cook v. East Trenton Pottery Co., 1124 Cook v. Pennsylvania, 1293 Cook v. Putnam County, 130 Ocok v. State Bank of Boston, 651, 658 Cook v. Tullis, 748
Cook County v. McCres, 4, 5, 482
Cook Mfg. Co. v. Randall, 455
Cooke v. State Nat. Bank of Boston,
354, 655 Ocoke v. United States, 674, 677

Coolidge v. Brookline, 35 Coons v. Tome, 250 Coons & Braine v. Torne, 1108 Cooper v. Corbin, 1082, 1096 Cooper v. Delevan, 58 Cooper v. Frederick, 76 Cooper v. Lampeter Township, 135 Coole & Jones v. Bank U. S., 638 Coots v. McConnell, 638 Copeland v. Copeland, 1169 Copeland v. Johnson Mfg. Co., 263, Copes v. Charleston, 49, 964 Coppin v. Greenlees, 1116 Coquerd v. St. Louis Cotton Compress Co., 811 Corbit v. Bank of Smyrna, 598, 600 Corbit v. Nicoll, 188 Corcoran v. Snow Cattle Co., 227, 571 Corey v. Morrill, 418 Corey v. Wadsworth, 1111, 1124 Cork v. Bacon, 646 Corn Exchange Bank v. American Dock & Trust Co., 235 Cornell v. Clark, 273 Cornell v. Guilford, 445 Cornell v. Corbin, 800 Cornell v. Roach, 396 Cornell University v. Maumee, 969 Corning v. Cullogh, 400 ('orning v. Mohawk Valley Ins. Co., 1141 Corning v. Walker, 210 Cornwell v. Kinney, 524, 608 Corporation of Blufton v. Studabaker, Corrugating Co. v. Thacher, 1124 Corsex v. Paul, 574 Cory v. Board, 113 Cothran v. City of Rome, 19 Cotton v. Comrs. of Leon, 49 Cotton Mills v. C. C. Randleman Cotton Mills, 1128 Coulson v. City of Portland, 68, 69 County v. Barker, 132 County Comrs. v. Beal, 893 County Comrs. v. Chandler, 55 County Comrs. of Lucas County v. Hunt, 112 County Court v. Baltimore & Ohio R. R. Co, 263, 820, 1071 County Court of Macoupin County v. People ex rel., etc., 908 County Judge v. Shelby R. R. Co., 871, 946 County of Bates v. Winters, 985 County of Beaver v. Armstrong, 1047 County of Cass v. Johnston, 911 County of Clay v. Society for Savings. 948 County of Cook v. Lowe, 801, 802 County of Crawford v. Spenney, 125

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1807.] County of Erie v. Western Trans-Crampton v. Zabriskie, 788 Crane v. Hearn, 365 Crane v. Pacific Bank, 1121 portation Co., 1266 County of Greene v. Daniel, 847, 933, 943 Crane v. Railway Co., 920 Craven v. Atlantic & North Carolina County of Hardin v. McFarlan, 16. 120 R. R. Co. 1018, 1021 County of Hennepin v. St. Paul, M. Craw v. Bangor Home Proprietory. & M. Ry. Co., 1300 County of Jackson v. Hall, 119 158 Craw v. Village of Toledo, 1268 County of Jackson v. Rendleman, 16. Crawford v. Louisiana State Bank. 120 681 County of Johnson v. Wood, 129 Crawford v. Ross, 1191 Crawford v. Spencer, 362 Crawford v. West Side Bank, 653, 657 Crawshaw v. City of Roxbury, 125 County of Lancaster v Cherraw & C. R. R. Co., 900 County of Lancaster v. Fulton, 433 County of Macon v. Shores, 903, 942 County of Morgan v. Allen, 1108 ('raycraft v. Selvage, 445 Credit Company v. Arkansas Central R. R. Co., 1152 Crescent City Brewing Co. v. Flanner, County of Moultrie v. Rockingham Ten Cent Sav. Bank, 897, 989 County of Pickens v. Daniel, 983, 913 County of Pike v. Hosford, 16 272 Creswell v. Lanahan, 214, 572 Crist v. Brownsville Township, 133 County of San Joaquin v. Jones, 119 County of Scotland v. Thomas, 985, 988 County of Ralls v. Douglas, 880, 943 Crittenden County Court v. Shanks, 5 Cromwell v County of Sac, 840, 886, 887, 946, 980, 1041 County of Stevens v. St. Paul, M. & Cromwell v. Lovett, 648 Crocker v. Nat. Bank of Chetopa, 529, M. Ry. Co., 1282 County of Tipton v. Locomotive Works, 935, 937, 938 County of Warren v. Marcy, 328, 897. 330, 534 Crocket v. Young, 573 Crook v. Jewett, 309 Crosby v. New London, etc., R. R. 982 Covert v. Rhodes, 663, 664 Covert v. Rogers, 1112 Co., 1047 ('rosby v. Wyait, 602 ('ross v. Anglo-American Banking Covey v. Pittsburg, Ft. Wayne & Company, 155, 175 Cross v. North Carolina, 778 Cross v. Rowe, 574 Chicago R. R. Co., 1054 Covington & Lexington R. R. Co. v. Bowler, 271 Cross v. Mackett, 291, 302, 309 Covington v. C., etc., Bridge Co., 73, 143 Crow v. Mechanics' Bank, 691 & L. R. R. Co. v. Kenton County Crowinshield v. Supervisors, 995, 997 ('rowley v. Genesce Mining Company, 154, 174, 195, 206
Crown Point Nat. Bank v. Richmond National Bank, 744 Court, 46 C. & N. R. R. Co. v. James, 150 C. & O. R. R. Co. v. Barren County Court, 46 Crumlish's Admr. v. Shenandoah Valley R. R. Co., 1232 Cowdrey v. Galveston, Houston, etc., Railroad, 1206, 1232 Cowen v. West Troy, 114, 446 Cowgill v. Long, 1006 Cowles v. Mercer County, 845 Crump v. United States Mining Conpany, 155 Crum's Appeal, 166 Crutcher v. Kentucky, 1267, 1298 Culbertson v. City of Fulton, 70 Cullen v. Town of Carthage, 62 Cox v. Batteman, 625 Cox v. Midland Counties Ry. Co., 98 Coy v. City Council, 69 Craft v. South Boston R. R. Co., 227, Culver v. Avery, 291 Culver v. Reno Real Estate Co., 150, 280, 235, 338 Craig v. Gregg, 560 Craig v. Town of Andes, 985 Craig Medicine Co. v. Mc Bank of Rochester, 215 Cumberland Coal & Iron Co. v. Parish, 241, 243, 250 Cumberland Coal & Iron Co. v. Sher Merchants' Cragil v. Hadley, 621, 623, 624, 626 Crain v. National Bank, 572 man, 241, 251, 260, 268, 270, 302, 316 Cram v. Bungor House Proprietary, Cumming v. Brooklyn, 65 158 Cummings v. Bank, 1273, 1297

[The references are to pages: vol I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.] Da Ponte v. No. Pac. R. R. Co . 1013. Cummins v. City of Seymour, 427 Cummins v. District of Doon, 896 Cunliffe v. Manchester & Bolton Canal 1055 Darling v. St. Paul, 59 Darst v. Gale, 489 Co., 300 Dartmouth College v. Woodword, 437 Cunningham v Massena Springs & Dauchy v. Brown, 92 Davenport v. Dodge County, 947 Ft. C. R. Co., 821 Cunningham v. Pell, 302 Curnan v. Delaware & O. R. Com-Davenport v. Inhabitants of Hallowell, 20 pany, 151 Curnen v. Mayor, 793 Davenport v. Johnson, 137 Davenport v. Kleinschmidt, 68 Davenport v. Railroad Co., 1231 Davenport v. Tilton, 1118 Curran v Arkansas, 1108, 1113 Currie v. Bowman, 235, 1081 Currier v. Slate Company, 1116 Curry v. Woodward, 357 Davenport Gas Light & Coke Co. v. City of Davenport, 29 Gurson v. African Co, 720 Davidson v. Bridgeport, 806 Curtis v. Gokey, 1089 Curtis v. Leavitt, 19, 65, 75, 85, 93, 101, 102, 484, 534 Davidson v. Mexican National R. Co 281 Davidson v. Westchester Gus Light Co., 160, 1063 Daviess County v. Dickinson, 446, 843, Curtis v. Piedmont Lumber & Mining Co., 806 Cushing v. Gove, 660 Cushing v. Stoughton, 35 927 Cushman v. Carver, 617 Cushman v. Illinois Starch Co., 627 Cutler v. Madison County, 913 Cutler v. Reynolds, 656 Daviess County v. Huidekoper, 850, Daviess Co. Sav. Assn. v. Sailor, 575 Davis v. American Organ Co., 461 Cutting v. Florida Ry. & Nav Co. (Mallory et al., Interveners), 1204 Cutting v. Florida Ry. & Nav. Co. (Wilson, Intervener), 1102 Davis v. Bank, 600 Davis v. Board of Supervisors of Ontonagon County, 127 Davis v. Gemmell, 316, 809 Davis v. Gray, 1105, 1223 Cutting v. Marlor, 538, 553 Cutting v. Tavares, O. & A. R. R. Co. (Florida Central & P. R. R. Co., Davis v. Jenney, 1071 Davis v. Lee Camp No. 1, C. V., 155 Intervener), 1175, 1180, 1246 Davis v. Lenawce County Savings Bank, 617 Davis v. Litchfield, 1268 Davis v. Manufacturing Co., 1144 Dabree v. Eastwood, 693 Daggett v. Whiting, 653 Davis v. Mining Co., 268 Davis v. Old Colony R. R. Co., 80, 82, 98, 451, 464, 465, 466, 818
Davis v Power Company, 1123 Daily v. City of Columbus, 20, 849 Dallas v. Columbia Iron & Steel Co, Davis v. Proprietors of Meeting House, 75, 484 Dallas County v. Huidekoper, 903 Davis v. Randall, 529 Davis v. Rock Creek L. F. & M. Co., Daly v. Nat. Life Ins. Co., 457 Daman v. Granby, 111
Dana v. Bank of United States, 97, 1013, 1108, 1111, 1112 196 Davis v. United States Electric Power & Light Co., 1123 Davis v. Wells, 545 Dana v. Boston Third Nat. Bank, 649 Dana v. Brown, 526
Dane v. Dane Manufg. Co., 769
Danforth v. National State Bank of Davis v. West Saratoga Buildings Union, 99
Davis v. Yuba, 946
Davue v. Fanning, 264, 1039
Daws v. North River Insurance Co., Elizabeth, 535 Danforth v. Schoharie & Duanesburgh Turnpike Road, 32

> Dawson v. Real Estate Bank, 637 Dawson County v. McNamara, 55,

> Day v. Ogdensburg & Lake Cham-plain R. R. Co., 1045

917 Day v. Green, 111

Day v. Otis, 184

Daniel v. Mayor, etc., of Memphis, 68 Danielly v. Cabaniss, 28, 882 Daniels v. Burford, 799 Daniels v. Davison, 1108 Daniels v. Kyle, 659, 705 Danvemeyer v. Coleman, 816 Danville Seminary v. Mott, 809

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.] Day v. Spiral Springs Buggy Co., | Devaynes v. Noble, 676 489, 496, 497 Dean v. Biggs, 1096 Dearborn v. Brookline, 20 De Camp v. Alward, 1111 Decatur Nat. Bank v. Murphy, 638, 698 Decker v. G., etc., Co., 284 Decker v. Hughes, 898, 975 Dedham Inst. for Savings v. Slack, 172, 179, 238 Decre v. Marsden, 362 Deering v. Thom, 358 Deg v. Deg, 625 De Graff v. American Linen Thread Co., 490 Dehen v. City of Havana, 67 De Kay v. Water Co.. 583 Delafield v. State of Illinois, 111 Deland v. Platte County, 922 Delano v. Butler, 519 Delano v. Case, 553 Delaware & Hudson Canal Co. v. Commonwealth, 1802 Delaware, L. & W. R. R. Co. v. Oxford Iron Co., 1252 Delaware Railroad Tax Case, 1282, 1294, 1304 Deller v. Staten Island Athletic Club, 212 Delooch v. Jones, 505 Delta Lumber Co. v. Williams, 209. De Mattos v. City of New Whatcom, 857 Deming v. State ex rel., 792 Demmon v. Boylston Bank, 640 Denike v. New York & Rosendale Lime & Cement Co., 1125 Denison v. Mayor, etc., of City of Columbus, 965 Dennic v. Walker, 641 Denney v. Cleveland & Pittsburg R. R. Co., 1048 Denny v. Denny, 874 Denny Hotel Co. v. Schram, 76, 470 Densmore Oil Co. v. Densmore, 298, 299 Denton v. Davis, 742 Denver & Rio Grande R. R. Co. v. United States Trust Co., 1017, 1023Deringer's Admr. v. Deringer's Admr., 805 Derry v. Feck, 293 De Ruvigne's Case, 800 Des Moines Gas Co. v. West, 98, 489 Desmond v. Jefferson, 13

Devlin v. Mayor, etc., City of New York, 29 De Voss v. Richmond, 111 Dewar v. Bank of Montreal, 629 Dewey v. Barers, 690 Dewey v. Railway Co., 470, 821 Dewing v. Perdicaries, 311, 560 De Witt v. Walton, 360 Day v. Jersey City, 112 Diamond Watch Co. v. Roeber, 822 Dibble v. Town of New Haven, 789 Dickerson v. Cass County, 1126 Dickinson Hardware Co. v. Pulaski County, 56 Dickinson v. Inhabitants of Conway, 133 Dickinson Township v. Linn, 139 Dill v Wareham, 446 Dillingham v. Kelly, 1228 Dillon v. Insurance Co., 539 Dimpfel v. Ohio & Miss. Ry. Co., 316 Dinsmore v. Duncan, 1014 District Township of Walnut v. Rankin, 379 Ditch v. Western Nat. Bank of Baltimore, 616 Ditch Company v. Zellerbach, 942 Dively v. City of Cedar Falls, 69 Dix v. Dummerston, 137, 379 Dixon County v. Field, 832, 833, 835, 836, 839, 842, 843, 869, 885, 897, 925 Dobbins v. Commissioners, 1276 Dodd v. Wilkinson, 356 Dodge v. City of Memphis, 1004 Dodge v. County of Platte, 111 Dodge v. Minnesota Plastic Roofing Co., 388 ge v. National Exchange Bank, Dodge v. N 616, 671 Dodge v. Woolsey, 300, 306, 311, 313, 314, 348, 1273 Doe v. Northwest Coal & Transportation Co., 1124 Dolan v. Joint School District, etc., 140 Dolan v. Mayor, 798 Dolsen v. Brown, 665 Donaldson v. Haldane, 848 Donnell v. Lewis County Sav. Bank, 504, 572 Donohugh v. Philadelphia Library Co., 1266 Donovan v. Mayor, etc., of New York, 446 Doon Township v. Cummins, 896 Dorian v. City of Shreveport, 857 Dorsey v. Abrams, 572 Dorsey County v. Whitehead, 445 Doty v. Bates, 187 Despatch Line of Packets v. Bellamy 99, 150, 157, 158, Doty v. Ellsbree, 125, 844

Detroit Sav. Bank v. Truesdale, 506

Manufg. Co., 172, 1074, 1100

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.] Doud v. Nat. Park Bank of New | Dunn v. Weston, 207 York, 545 Doud v. Wisconsin P. & S. Ry. Co., Dougherty v. Hunter, 191, 198, 210 Douglass v. City of Anniston, 1262 Douglass v. Ireland, 164 Douglass v. Mayor, etc., of Placer-ville, 5, 25, 48 Douglass v. Mayor, etc., of Virginia, Douglass v. Pike County, 957, 1037 Dow v. Beidleman, 1176 Dow v. Memphis & Little Rock R. R. Co , 1103, 1186, 1231 Dowd v. Stephenson, 193 Earle v. Seattle, Lake Shore & Eastern Downes v. Phœnix Bank, 604 Downer v. Zancsville Bank, 525 Downing v. Dunlap Coal, Iron & Ry. Co., 1123 Downing v. Mount Washington Road Co., 145 Drake v. Flewellen, 350 Drake v. Phillips, 795 Dresser v. Missouri, etc., Construction Co., 615
Driesbach v. National Bank, 528, 521
Driftwood Valley Turnpike Co. v.
Board, etc., Bartholomew County,
26, 437, 487, 442 Drovers' Nat. Bank v. Anglo-American P. & Provision Co., 658, 682, 692, 696, 697, 705 Drovers' Nat. Bank v. O'Hare, 607 Drown v Pawtucket Bank, 689 Drury v. Cross. 242, 243, 1108 Druse v. Wheeler, 144 Dubuque College v. Dubuque, 286 Dubuque County v. D. & P. R. R. Co., 49 Duffield v. Wire & Iron Works, 761 Duggan v. Pacific Boom Co., 154, 239 Duke v. Markham, 1069, 1077 Dull v. Ridgway, 135 Duncan v. Board of Comrs. of Lawrence County, 128 Duncan v. Brennan, 524 Duncan v. Jaudon, 589, 583 Duncan v. Maryland Sav. Institution, 528, 585 Duncan v. Mobile & Ohio R. R. Co., 1047 Duncan v. Watson, 688

Duncomb v. New York, H. & N. R.
R. Co., 260, 270, 278, 282, 808, 1024, 1039, 1055, 1084, 1112

Duncombe v. City of Fort Dodge, 108

Dunham v. Cincinnati, P., etc., R. R. Co., 1095 Dunham v. Isett, 1054 Dunham v. Village of Hyde Park, Dunphy v. Traveller Newspaper Assn., 316 Durant v. Iowa County, 972 Durfee v. Old Colony & F. R. Co., 822 Durkee v. City Bank, 527, 528 Durnford v. Patterson, 681 Dustin & Musick v. Hodgen, 601 Dwight v. Lumber Company, 209 Dwight v. Smith, 1045 Dwyer v. Rathbone, Sard & Co., 809 Dykers v. Bank, 664

Ry Co, 318, 474 East Anglian Ry. Co. v. Eastern Counties Ry. Co., 95, 449, 471
Easterly v. Barber, 398, 402 Eastern Counties Ry. Co. v. Hawkes, 448, 491 Eastern Delaware Bridge Co. v. Metz. Collector, 1295 Eastern Townships Bank v. Vermont, National Bank, 729 Eastman v. Coos Bank, 145, 574 Easton v. Railroad Co., 1234 East New York, etc., R. R. Co. v. Lighthall, 183 East New York & Jamaica R. R. Co. v. Elmore, 260 East Nissouri v. Horseman, 799 East Oakland v. Skinner, 446 East River Bank v. Gedney, 702 East River Nat. Bank v. Gore, 596 East Rome Town Co. v. Brower, 156 Eart St. Louis v. East St. Louis, etc., Co., 69
East St. Louis v. People, 66
East St. Louis Gas Light & Coke Co. v. City of East St. Louis, 438 East Tennessee, Va. & Ga. R. R. Co. v. Atlanta & Florida R. R. Co., 1195 Eaton v. Robinson, 318 Eaton & Hamilton R. R. Co. v. Hunt, 471 Eaton v. Union County Nat. Bank, 1800 Ebough v. German Reformed Church, $1\overline{6}9$ E. Carver Co. v. Manufacturers' Ins. Co., 198, 217 Eccles v. Drovers & Mechanics' Nat. Bank, 608 er v. First Nat. Bank of New Windsor, 575 Eddy v. La Fayette, 1280, 1281 Eddy v. People, 954, 962 Eddy v. Wallace, 1225 Edey v. City of Shreveport, 18

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.]

Edison v. Edison United Phonograph | Elwell v. Grand Street & Newtown R. Co., 1121 Edison General Electric Co. v. Barker, 811 Edsou v. Angell, 702 Edwards v. Aberayron Ins. Society 1152 Edwards v. Carson Water Co., 157, 172, 809 Edwards v. Grand Junction Ry. Co. 198, 491 Edwards v. Kearney, 29 Edwards v. Marcy, 1000, 1014 Edwards v. People, 974 Egbert v. Payne, 608 Eggman v Blanke, 461 Ehle v. Chittenango Bank, 521 Ehlerman v. St. Louis Nat Bank, 640 Eichelberger v. Finley, 563, 596 Eidman v. Bowman, 471 Einsphar et al , Trustees First German Lutheran Zion Church of Adams Co, v. Wagner, 260 Einstein v. Rosenfeld, 1121 Elder v. State, 870 Elderkin v. Peterson, 1136 El Dorado Co. v. Elstner, 118 El Dorado Co. v. Reed, 119 Eldridge v. Smith, 471, 1096 Electric Traction & Mfg Co. v. City of New Orleans, 1280 Elevator Co. v. Clark, 752 Elkins v. Camden & Atlantic R. R. Co., 1089 Ellerman v. Chicago Junation Rys. & Union Stock Yards Co., 456, 502, 1122 Ellicott v. Barnes, 570, 622, 747 Ellicott Machine Co. v. Speed, 1119 Elliot v. Abbot, 574 Elliott v. Gammon, 25 Ellis v. Boston, H. & E. Railroad, 1055 Ellis v. Commercial Bank of Natchez, 688 Ellis v. Howe Machine Co., 218 Ellis v. Northern Pacific R. R. Co., 900 Ellis v. Ward, 356 Ellis v. Wheeler, 660 Ellisworth v. St. Louis, Alton & T. H. R. R. Co., 101, 1042 Ellsworth Woolen Manufg. Co. v. Faunce, 193 Ellysville Manufg. Co. v. Okisko Co., 77, 197 Elmira Savings Bank v. Davis, 782, Elmore v. Naugatuck R. R. Co., 469 Elser v. City of Fort Worth, 482 Elwell v. Dodge, 142, 154, 188, 207 Elwell v. Fosdick, 1162

R. ('o, 1096 Elwell v. Puget Sound, etc., R. Co., 809 Ely v Sprague, 521 Emerson v. Prov. Hat. Mfg. Co., 147. 152 Emery v. Hobson, 660 Emery v. Parrott, 299 Emma Silver Mining Company v. Grant, 298, 299 Empire v. Darlington, 935, 938 Emporium Real Estate & Mfg. Co. v. Emrie, 279 Englar v. Offutt. '752 English v. Chicot County, 45 English v. City of Danville, 1268 English v. Smock, 122, 824 Enos v. Springfield, 1268 Eppright v. Nickerson, 1112 Equitable Life Ins. Co. v. Board of Equalization, 1298, 1306 Eric Railway v. Pennsylvania, 1304 Erlanger v. New Lambrero Phosphate Co., 260, 297 Erskine v Steele County, 435, 436 Ervin v. Olegon Ry. & Nav. Co., 324, 326, 327 Erwin v. St. Joseph Board of Public Schools, 28 Esmond v. Bullard, 394, 415 Espin v Pemberton, 338 Espuela Land & Cattle Co. v. Bindle, 1122 Espy v. Bank of Cincinnati, 651, 655, 661 Estep v Keokuk County, 446 Estowah Mining ('o. v. Wills Valley Mining & Mfg. Co., 1192 Etting v. Bank, 546 Etting v. Commercial Bank, 671 Eureka Company v. Bailey Company. 143, 236, 806 Eureka Iron & Steel Works v. Bres-nahan, 155, 205, 209, 489 European & North American Ry. Co. v. Poor, 242, 258, 263, 471 Evans v. Boston Heating Company, 1063, 1072 Evansville, etc., R. R. Co. v. Evansville, 12, 16, 19, 29, 39, 485, 950, 951, 952 Evening Journal Assn. v. State Board of Assessors, 1295 Everett v. United States, 142, 176, 573 Evertson v. National Bank of New York, 1047 Ewen v. Davis, 598 Excelsior Water & Mining Co. v. Pierce, 813, 815 Exchange Co. v. Boyce, 528

[The references are to pages: vol. I contams pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1807.] Exchange Nat. Bank of Spokane v. | Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Chi-Bank of Little Rock, 598 Exeter Bank v. Gordon, 702 Ex-Mission Land & Water Co. v. Flash, 298, 300 Ex parte Brown, 1231 Ex parte Chamberlain, 1236 Ex parte Chippendale, 489 Ex parte Conway, 1112 Ex parte Fay, 19 Ex parte Hardcastle (In re Manson), 751 Ex parte Powell, 1223 Ex parte Richdale, 613 Ex parte Selma, etc., R. R. Co., 49, 901, 902, 909 Ex parte Willcocks, 158 Express Co. v. Patterson, 92 Express Company v. Railroad Com-pany, 1198, 1205 Eyster v. Centennial Board of Finance, 1292 F. Fabeus v. Mercantile Bank, 682 Fagan v. City of Chicago, 1268

Fairfield Savings Bank v. Chase, 549 Falconer v. Buffalo & J. R. R. Co., 962 Falley v. Talbee, 1181
Fall River Iron Works Co. v. Old Colony, etc., R. R. Co., 471
Fall River Union Bank v. Sturtevant, 583 Falk v. Moebs, 186 Falkland v. St. Nicholas Nat. Bank of New York, 524 Fanning v. Gregoire, 146 Farcira v. Riter, 279 Fargo v. Michigan, 1293 Fargo & S. W. R. R. Co. v. Brewer, 1306 Farmers' Bank v. Burchard, 520 Farmers' Bank v. McKee, 155, 181, 210 Farmers' Bank v. Owen, 699 Farmers' Bank of Maryland v. Duvall, 641, 690 Farmers' Bank of Maryland v. Inglehart, 527 Farmers & Citizens' Bank v. Sherman, 284

Farmers' Bank of Maryland v. Inglehart, 527

Farmers & Citizens' Bank v. Sherman, 234

Farmers' Co-operative Mfg. Co. v.
Drake, 1172

Farmers', etc., Bank v. Payne, 861

Farmers', etc., Bank v. Troy City
Bank, 574

Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Cape Fear & V. Val. R. R. Co. (North State Imp. Co., Intervener), 1190

Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Central Railroad of Iowa, 1982

cago & Atlantic Ry. Co., 1076. range & Atlanta 191. Co., 1016, 1173, 1176, 1218

Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Chicago & Northern Pac R. R. Co., 1153

Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Clowes, Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Com-mercial Bank, 1096 Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Commercial Bank of Racine, 1096 Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Fisher. 1095, 1096
Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Green Bay, W. & St. P. Ry. Co.
(Frunck, Intervener), 1244
Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Hendrickson, 1096 Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Kansas City, W. & N. W. R. Co., 1158, 1194 Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Northern Pac. R. R. Co., 1192 Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Northern Pac. R. R. Co. (Wisconsin Central R. R. Co., Interveners), 1200, 1218
Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Oregon & W. T. R. R. Co. (Congdon, Intervener), 1044 Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Perry. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Postal Telegraph Co., 1161
Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Rockaway Valley R. R. Co., 1018
Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. San Diego Street Car Co., 1025, 1167 Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Tolcdo, A. A. & N. M. Ry. Co., 491 Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. y. Toledo & S. H. R. R. Co., 1024, 1025, TS. H. K. R. Co., 1002, win, 512, 515 Farmers & Mechanics' Bank v. Butchers & Drovers' Bank, 78, 187, 322, 595, 653 Farmers & Mechanics' Bank v. Dear-ing, 529, 583 Farmers & Mechanics' Bank v. Empire Stone Dressing Co., 78, 465 Farmers & Mechanics' Bank v. Planters' Bank, 605 Farmers & Mechanics' Bank of Savings v. Colby, 196 Farmers' & Mechanics' Bank of Los Angeles v. Downey, 262

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1807.] Farmers & Mechanics' State Bank v. | Finance Co. of Pennsylvania v. Char-Armstrong, 717 lotte, C. & C. R. R. Co. (Poca-Farmers' National Bank of Valparaiso, hontas Coal Co., Intervener), 1242 Ind., v. Sutton Mfg. Co., 157 Finlayson v. Vaughn, 972 Farmers & Traders' Bank v. Harrison, Finnell v. Sandford, 757 530 Fire Ins. Co. v. Parker, 1306 Farmers & Traders' Nat. Bank v. Hoff-Firemen's Insurance Co. v. Sturges. 90 mann, 1299 First Municipality v. Orleans Theatre Farmington v. Jones, 135 Co , 77 Farnum v. Blackstone Canal Co., First Municipality v. Cutting, 890 First National Bank v. Armstrong. Farrar v. Gilman, 206, 571 Farrington v. South Boston R. R. Co., 342 First National Bank v. Bailey, 1300 First National Bank v. Bennett, 193, Farrington v. Tennessee, 1307 Farwell v. Curtis, 692, 705 508 First National Bank v. Chapman, 1299 Fawcett v. New Haven Organ Co., First Nat. Bank v. Drake, 550, 580 157 First Nat. Bank v. Elmore, 511 Fay v. Noble, 75, 85, 205, 209, 226, 227 Fear v. Bartlett, 1111 Featherstone v. Cooke, 1121 First National Bank v. First National Bank, 699 First Nat. Bank v. Fricke, 286 First Nat. Bank v. Frickie, 233 Fegley v. McDonald, 523 Feibelman v. Packard, 720 Felker v. Standard Yarn Company, First National Bank v. Gufford, 250 First Nat Bank v. Gillilan, 494 First Nat. Bank v. Gondy, 597 First Nat. Bank v. Haire, 510 First Nat. Bank v. Harris, 515, 658 First Nat. Bank v. Hingham Mfg. Co., Fells Point Savings Inst. of Baltimore v. Weedon, 630, 631 Fenn v. Curtis, 288 Fenton v. Blair, 67, 117 First Nat. Bank v. Kimberlands, 182, Ferguson v. Gill, 407 First v. McKerna, 608
Ficklen v. Shelby County, 1267
Fidehty, etc., Company v. West Pennsylvania, etc., R. Co., 198 First Nat. Bank v. Lucas, 193 First National Bank v. National Bank. 510 First Nat. Bank v. National Exchange Bank, 516, 527 Fidelity Ins., Trust & Safe Deposit First Nat. Bank v. North Missouri Coal Co., 172, 184 First Nat. Bank v. Ocean Bank, 348 First Nat. Bank v. Reed, 193, 563 Co. v. Shenandoah Valley R. Co., 809, 1289, 1257 Fidelity Trust & Safety Vault Co. v. Mobile Street Ry. Co., 1164, 1177, First Nat. Bank v. Salem Capital Fielder v. M. & E. R. R. Co., 47, 902 Fifth Avenue Bank of New York v. Forty-second St. & Grand St. Ferry R. R. Co., 332, 341 Flour Mills Co., 809 First Nat. Bank v. Sherburne, 527, 562 First Nat. Bank v. Strang, 821 First Nat. Bank v. Tappan, 644 First Nat. Bank v. Union School First Nat. Bank v. Union School Township, 133 First National Bank of Albia v. City Fifth National Bank v. Navassa Phosphate Co., 196, 228 Fifth Ward Savings Bank v. First National Bank, 87, 179 Council of Albia, 1297, 1298 First Nat. Bank of Carlisle v. Graham, Filor v. Miller Brewing Co., 820 Finance Co. of Pennsylvania v. Charleston, C. & C. R. R. Co., 1191, First Nat. Bank of Charlotte v. Nat. 1221, 1245 Exchange Bank of Baltimore, 516 First Nat. Bank of Cleveland v. Shedd, 1162, 1172 charleston, C. & C. R. R. Co. (Ex Finance parte Hudson), 1245 Finance Co. of Pennsylvania v.

Charleston, C. & C. Ry. Co. Bank of Evansville v. First Nat.

(Moore, Intervener), 1259 once Co. of Pennsylvania v. Charleston, C. & C R Co. (Shrand et al., Interveners) 1259

Finance

Fourth Nat. Bank of Louisville, 695

First Nat. Bank of Jersey City v. Leach, 658 First Nat. Bank of Lyons v. Ocean Nat, Bank, 841

First Nat. Bank of Meadville v. Fitch v. Lewiston Steam Mill Co., 143, Fourth Nat. Bank, 687 144, 284, 1053, 1073, 1078 First Nat. Bank of Memphis v. Kidd, 507, 511 First Nat. Bank of Middletown v. Council Bluffs City Water Works First Nat. Bank of Monmouth v. Dunbar, 636 First Nat. Bank of Omaha v Masten Bank, 713 First Nat. Bank of Peoria v Commercial Nat Bank of Peoria, 1144 First Nat. Bank of Quincy v. Ricker, First Nat. Bank of Chicago v. Bank, 706 First Nat. Bank of Rochester v Pierson, 513, 515, 516 First Nat Bank of Rock Island, Ill., v. Leyshed, 157 First Nat. Bank of Salem v. Anderson, First Nat. Bank of Sheffield v. Tompkins, 568 First Nat. Bank v. Sioux City Ter-minal R. R. & Warehouse Co., 1070 First Nat. Bank of Springfield v. Coleman, 603
First Nat. Bank of Evansville v.
Fourth Nat. Bank of Louisville, First Nat. Bank of Texarkana v. De Morse, 528 First Nat. Bank of Trinidad v. First Nat. Bank of Denver, 700, 701 First Nat. Bank of Walla Walla v. Hungate, 1297 First Nat. Bank of Washington v. Whitman, 651, 652 First Nat. Bank of Whitehall v. Tis-dale, 175, 562 First Nat. Bank of Winona v. Winona Plow Co., 1184 First Nat. Bank of Wymore v. Miller, Fisher v. Attleborough, 111 Fisher v. Board of Directors, etc., 56 Fisher v. Concord Railroad, 265 Fisher v. Evansville, etc., R. R. Co., 471 Fisher v. Gas Company, 163, 181 Fisher v. Harrisburg, 42 Fisher v. Knight, 721, 731 Fisher v. Murdock, 583 Fisk v. C., R. I. & P. R. Co., 166 . Fisk v. Potter, 1096 Fiske v. Eldridge, 359 Fister v. La Rue, 198 Fitch v. Constantine Hydraulic Co.,

The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307. 144, 234, 1053, 1073, 1078 Fitchett v. North Pennsylvania R. R. Co., 1047 Fitzgerald v. Barker, 363 Fitzgerald v. Evans, 1181 Fitzgerald v. Evans, 1161
Fitzgerald v. Fitzgerald & Mallory Constr. ('o., 318, 319, 320
Fitzgerald & Mallory Construction
('o. v. Fitzgerald, 198, 210, 213 Fitzhugh v. Bank of Shepherdsville, 526 Fitzhugh v. Land Company, 172, 193, 198 Fitzsimmons v. Express Co., 232 Flagg v. Railroad Co., 262, 283 Flagg v. School District No. 70, 894 Flagler Engraving Machine Co. v. Flagler, 307 Flannigan v. California Nat. Bank, 588 Flannery v. Coates, 601 Flash v. Conn, 398, 413, 769 Fleckner v. U. S. Bank, 142, 146, 176, 494, 513, 527, 577, 759 Flemming v. Denny, 660 Fletcher v. Osborn, 617 Fletcher v. Sharpe, 710 Flint v Pierce, 164 Flint v. Roger, 641 Flint & Pere Marquette Ry. Co. v. Dewey, 242 Flint Road Cart Co. v. Stephens, 711, 712Flitcroft's Case, 347, 352 Florence M. Co. v. Brown, 646 Florer, Treasurer, v. McAffee, 1271, 1272 Florida Land & Imp. Co. v. Merrill, 287 Floyd v. Perrin, 1008 Fluker v. Railway Company, 1123 Fluty v. School District, 446 Fogarties v. State Bank, 660, 662 Fogg v. Blair, 1028, 1110, 1113, 1114, 1242 Fogg v. Supreme Lodge, 1131 Foley v. Hill, 597 Folger v. Chase, 206, 573 Folger v. Insurance Company, 1118 Folianshe v. Kilbreth, 168
Foot v. Rutland & Whitehall R. R.
Co., 145, 157
Foote v. Glenn, 1188
Foote v. City of Salem, 18, 19, 65 Foote v. Mining Co., 316
Foote v. Mt. Pleasant, 919
Forbes v. San Rafael Tr. Co., 154
Forbes v. East Hampton Rubber Thread Co., 811, 816 Forbes v. Whitlock, 848 Ford v. Kansas City & I. S. L. R. R. Co., 1122

[The references are to pages: vol. I contours pp 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.] Ford v. McClung, 705 Ford v. Mitchell, 628 Ford v. Plankinton Bank, 1110, 1125, 1127 Fordyce v. Du Bose, 1229 Foreman v Murphy, 46 Foresman v. Chase, 1271 Forniquet v. West Feliciana R. R. Co., Forster v. Clements, 637 Fortier v. New Orleans Nat. Bank, 509 Fort Payne Coal & Iron Co. v. Sayles, 1122 Fort Payne Furnace Co v. Fort Payne Coal & Iro.1 Co , 1123 Fort Worth City Co. v. Smith Bridge Co., 89 Fosdick v. Schall, 1187, 1190, 1198, 1194, 1220, 1221, 1222, 1230, 1245, 1260 Fosdick v. Sturges, 166 Foss v. City of Chicago, 59 Foss v. Harbottle, 294, 298, 306 Foster v. Belcher's Sugar Refining Co., 260 Foster v. Coleman, 117, 436 Foster v. Essex Bank, 193, 636 Foster v. Kenosha, 49 Foster v. Mansfield, C. & L. M. Ry. Co., 1016, 1187 Foster v. Ohio-Colorado Reduction & Mining Co., 219 Foster v. Oxford, W. & W. Ry. Co., 242 Foster v. Paulk, 645, 350 Foster v. Planing Mill Co., 1114, 1118 Foster v. Railway Co., 282 Fougeray v. Cord, 281
Fouke v. Jackson County, 57
Fourth Nat. Bank v. City Nat. Bank, Fourth Nat. Bank v, Francklyn, 387 Fourth Nat. Bank of Chicago v. City Nat. Bank of Grand Rapids, 619 Fourth Street Nat. Bank v. Yardsley, 645 Fowler v. Jarvis-Conklin Mortgage Trust Co., 1192 Fowler v. Scully, 509, 510 Fowler v. Trust Co., 1234 Fox v. Bank of Kansas City, 601 Fox v. New Orleans, 446

Board of School Inspectors, 880

668, 679

Frankland v. Johnson, 358 Franklin Avenue German Sav. Inst. v. Board of Education, 494 Franklin Bank v. Byram, 639 Franklin Bank v. Commercial Bank, 517 Franklin Bank v. Cooper, 580 Franklin Bank v. Freeman, 660 Franklin Bank v. Stevens, 580 Franklin Company v. Lewiston Inst tor Savings, 478, 479, 493, 503, 517 Tor Savings, 476, 419, 498, 503, 517

Franklin County v. Layman, 58

Franklin County v. Nashville, Chattanooga, etc., Railway, 1304

Franklin County Court v. Louisville & Nashville R. R. Co., 1801

Franklin County Nat. Bank v. Beal, Receiver, 750

Executer, 750 Franklin Insurance Co. v. Jenkins, 248, 347, 349, 352 Fraylor v. Sonora Mining Co., 233 Frazer v. Tunis, 395 Frazier v. Bank, 721 Frazier v East Tennessee, Va. & Ga. R. R. Co., 1057, 1246 Frederick v. City Council of Augusta, 23, 70 Freehill v. Chamberlain, 846 Freeman v. Plaindealer Co., 208 Freeman v. Stine, 279 Freeman's Bank v. National Tube Works, 744 Freeman's Nat. Bank v. Lavery, 587 Freiberg v. Cody, 660 Frelinghuysen v. Baldwin, 715 Frelinghuysen v. Nugent, 626, 737 French v. Andrews, 1124 French v. City of Burlington, 66, 886 French v. Dunn County, 132 French v. Gifford, 1238 French v. O'Brien, 172 French v. Quincy, 35, 41
French v. Teschemaker, 44
Freund v. Importers, etc., Nat. Bank, 652, 655 Fridley v. Bowen, 510 Friend v. City, 955 Friend v. Gilbert, 20 Frost v. Belmont, 33, 571 Frost v. St. Paul Banking & Investment Co., 1132 Frost Manufg. Co. v. Foster, 347 Fry, Collector, v. Chicot County, 63 Frye v. Tucker, 206 Fractional School Dist. No. 1 v. Joint Fugitt v. Nixon, 702 Francis v. Evans, 747, 753 Francis v. Howard County, 14, 838, 842 Frank v. Chemical Nat. Bank, 639, Fuld v. Burr Brewing Co., 457 Fuller v. Bennett, 681 Fuller v. City of Chicago, 66 Fuller v. Hooper, 810 Fuller v. Inhabitants of Groton, 85, 61 Frank v. Hicks, 284 Frankfort Bank v. Johnson, 159, 167, Fullerton v. School District of Lincoln, 883

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.]

Fullerton v. Sturges, 608 Fulton v. Town of Riverton, 942 Fulton County v. Mississippi & Wabash Railroad, 898, 904 Furnald v. Glenn, 1187, 1140 Furniss v. Gilchrist, 97, 206

G.

Gaar v. First Nat. Bank of Centralia. Gaddies v. Richland County, 904, 939. 971 Gale v. South Berwick, 125 Gale v. Village of Kalamazoo, 29 Galena Insurance Co. v. Kupfer, 627, 648 Galena & Chicago N. R. R. Co. v. Menzies, 1096 Gall v. City of Cincinnatti, 29 Gallagher v. Brunel, 204 Galveston R. R. Co. v. Cowdrey, 1095 Gamble v. Queens County Water Co., 78 Gane v. Losemo Printing Co., 809 Gans v. Switner, 417
Gansevoort v. Williams, 187
Gardiner v. Pollaid, 309
Gardiner v. Tyler, 1232
Gardner v. B. & M. R. R. Co., 211
Gardner v. Butler, 214, 241, 242, 250, 263, 264 Gardner v. Graham, 1058 Gardner v. National City Bank, 685 Gardner v. Ogden, 251, 326 Garham v. Mutual Aid Society, 1118, Garland v. Board of Revenue, 25 Garrard County Court v. McKee, 126, 127 Garrett v. May, 1013 Garrett v. Plow Company, 1074, 1084, Garrettson v. North Atchison Bank. 655 Garrison v. Howe, 69, 380, 390, 393, 398 Gas Company v. San Francisco, 283, 890 Gashwaler v. Willis, 174, 180 Gas Light Co. v. Nashville, 1807 Gates v. Railroad Co., 1080 Gause v. City of Clarksville, 28, 102, Gay Manufacturing Co. v. Gittings, Gazette v. Bolton, 186 Gebhard v. Eastman, 99, 760, 1184 Geisenheimer v. Dodge, 894 Geischeimer v. Dodge, 894 Gelpcke v. City of Dubuque, 19, 49, 885, 850, 909, 924, 956, 956, 957, 964, 1047

Genesee County Savings Bank v. Michigan Barge Company, 157. 209 Geneva Nat. Bank v. Independent School District, 879 Genoa v. Woodruff. 946 George v. Central R. R. & Bkg. Co.. 318 George v. Nevada Central R. R. Co., George v. Oxford Township, 877 Ry. Co. 1180 George v. Wabash Western Ry. Co., 1174 George v. St. Louis Cable & Western Georgia v. Atlantic & Gulf R. R. Co.. 1236 Georgia Company v. Castleberry, 183 Georgia Pac. Ry. Co. v. Gaines, 897 Georgia Seed Co. v. Talmadge, 1146 Gere v Supervisors of Cayuga County, 131 Gerhard v. Balev. 204 German Exchange Bank v. Comrs. of Excise, 610 German Sav. Bank v. Franklin County, 920, 948, 968 German Savings Bank v. Wulfekahler, 563, 564 German Sav. Inst. v. Adal, 662 Germantown F. M. Ins. Co. v. Dhein, 454 Gernsheim v. Olcott, 1147 Gerry v. Stoneham, 33 Getty v. C. R. Barnes Milling Co., 156, 295 Getty v. Devlin, 299 Gibbons v. Mobile & Great Northern R. R. Co., 47, 49, 958 Gibbs v. Gas Company, 1178 Gilbert v. Washington ('ity, Va. Midl. & Great Southern R. R. Co., 1047 Giblin v. McMullen, 318 Gibson v. Cooke, 665 Gibson v. Furniture Company, 1111 Gibson v. Goldthwaite, 174, 175 Gibson v. Joyce, 326 Gibson v. Poor District, 24 Gibson v. School District, 40 Gilbert v. Manchester Iron Co., 768 Gilbough v. New York & P. R. R. Co., 1047 Gilchrist v. Helena, H. S. & S. R. Co., 1076, 1077 Gildersleeve v. Lester, 246 Giles v. Merritt, 617 Gilkey v. Paine, 811 Gill v. Balis, 1117 Gillespie v. Bross, 57, 121 Gillespie v. Davidge Fertilizer Co., 470, 489 Gillespie v. Palmer, 808

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.] Gillett v. Board of Supervisors of Logan County, 120
Gillett v. Campbell, 98, 154, 178
Gillett v. Moody, 76, 550, 1087
Gillis v. Bailey, 165
Gillis v. Gillis v. Shehovgan, 1 Gilman v. City of Sheboygan, 1264 Gilman v. Milwaukee, 42 Gilman v. Telegraph Co., 1186, 129 1186, 1222 Gilman, etc., R. R. Co. v. Kelly, 243, Gilman v. N. O. & S. R. R. Co., 952 Gilson v. Board of Comrs. of Rush County, 869, 871 Gilson v. Town of Dayton, 974 Girard Life Ins. Annuity & Trust Co. v. Cooper, 1206 Gist v. Drakely, 92 Githers v. Clarke, 382 Gladstone Exchange Bank v. Keating, Glasier v. Rolles, 294 Glass v. Ferd Heim Brewing Co., 470 Glenn v. Liggett, 1138 Glenn v. McAllister's Execrs., 772 Glenn v. Marbury, 1138 Glenn v. Noble, 656 Glenn v. Orr, 772 Glenn v. Springs, 772 Glenn, Trustee, v. Williams, 1137 Glidden v. Unity, 145 Glines v. Supreme Sitting, Order of Iron Hall, 1128 Globe Works v. Wright, 193 Gloninger v. Pittsburgh & Connells-ville R. R. Co., 1019, 1057, 1087 Gloucester Bank v. Salem Bank, 673, Glover v. Lee, 151 Godbold v. Branch Bank of Mobile, 348, 549 Godin v. Bank of the Commonwealth, 602, 650 Goddard v. Bank, 670 Goddin v. Crump, 48, 49, 901, 964 Goetz v. Bank of Kansas City, 696 Goff v. Rehoboth, 134 Goforth v. Rutherford Ry. Construc-tion Company, 907 Gold v. Clyne, 397 Goldbeck v. Bank, 236 Goldfrank v. Young, 1129 Gold Mining Co. v. Anglo-California Bank, 169, 222, 226, 236, 520, 806, 942Goldsmith v. Stetson, 753 Goldsmith v. Stewart, 802 Goodell v. Buck, 752 Goodin v. Cincinnati, etc., Canal Co., 282, 806 Goodin v. Canal Company, 1108

Goodmar v. Oakley, 805 Goodrich v. Reynolds, Wilder & Co., Goodrich v. Winchester, etc., T. P. Co., 870 Goodwin v. Union Screw Co., 158, 195 Goodyear Dental Vulcanite Co. v. Caduc, 858, 354 Goodyear Rubber Co. v. George D. Scott Company, 1111 Gorder v. Platismouth Canning Co., 1071, 1086, 1089 Gordon v. Board of Comrs. Dearborn County, 121 Gordon v. Newman, 1166 Gordon v. Preston, 1055, 1084 Gordon & Gomila v. Muchler, 647 Gorman v. Boise County, 798 Gough v. Staats, 707 Gould v. Cayuga County Nat. Bank, Gould v. Little Rock, M. R. & T. Ry. Co., 1088, 1084, 1112 Gould v. Town of Oneonta, 988 Gould v. Town of Sterling, 111, 998 Govers' Case, 298 Grafins v. Land Company, 210 Grafton Bank v. Woodward, 583 Graham v. Morstadt, 660 Graham v. Norton, 944 Graham v. Railroad Co., 254, 1028, 1042, 1113, 1137 Grammel v. Carmer, 664, 665 Grand Chute v. Winegar, 328, 897, 956 Grand Gulf Bank v. Archer, 494, 530 Grand Lodge v. Waddill, 74 Grand Rapids & Indiana R. R. Co. v. Sanders, 1043, 1048 Grand Rapids Safety Deposit Co. v. Cincinnati Safe & Lock Co., 197, 258 Grand Rapids Savings Bank v. Warren, 761 Granniss v. Cherokec Township of York County, 1010
Graat v. City of Davenport, 68, 69
Grant v. East & West R. R. Co. of Ala., 1020, 1027, 1034, 1040, 1037, 1075 Grant v. Fiol, 597 Grant v. Spokane Nat. Bank, 720, 734 Grant v. Taylor, 523 Grant v. Walsh, 619, 620, 1146 Grape Sugar Manufg. Co. v. Small, 197 Graves v. Mono Lake Hydraulic Mining Co., 267 Gray v. Coffin, 769 Gray v. New York & Virginia St. Ship Co., 250, 309 Great Falls Bank v. Farmington, 145

Goodloe v. Godly, 688

Goodman v. Simonds, 1001

[The references are to pages: vol I contains pp 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.] Great Luxembourg Ry. Co. v. Mag-nay, 242, 471 Great Western Telegraph Co. v. Loew-enthal, 1140 Guthus v. Reid, 527 enthal, 1140 Greaves v. Gouge, 309, 317, 556 Greeley v. Thurston, 641 Green v. Barrett 294 Green v. City of Cape May, 39 Green v. Euston, 394, 395 Green v. Hug v. 246 Green v. Old Fellows' Sav. & Commercial Bank, 599 Green v. Walkill Nat. Pank, 555 Green Bry v Braune, 800 Green Bry & Minnesota R Co. v. Union Steamboat Co., 89, 94, 473, 819 Green County v. Conness, 1282 Greenlaw v. King, 326 Greenleaf v. Norfolk Southern Ry., Greenpoint Sugar Co. v. Whitin, 1060, 1066, 1068 Greenshurg, Milford & Hope Turn-pike Co. v. McCormick, 456 Gregg v. George, 704 Gregg v. Union County Nat. Bank, 628 Gregory v. City of Bridgeport, 790 Gregory v. Patchell, 324 Greig v. Riordan, 155 Grenada County Supervisors v. Brogden, 989 Grew v. Breed, 769 Gribble v. Columbus Brewing Co., 236 Gridley v. La Fayette. B. & Missis-sippi Ry. Co., 246, 279, 856 Griffin v. Chase, 747 Griffin v. Goff, 641 Griffith v. Burden, 824 Griffith v. Chicago, B. & P. R. Co., 156 Grill v. S. C. Co., 348 Griswold v. City of East St. Louis, Griswold v. Haven, 833 Grover & Baker Sewing Machine Co. v. Polhemus, 152 Grusenmeyer v. City of Logansport, 122 Guaranty Trust & Safe Deposit Co. v. Green Cove Springs & Melrose R. R. Co., 1151, 1152, 1153 Guelich v. National State Bank, 682 Guernsey v. Burlington Township, 55, 1011 Guild v. Bank, 585 Guild v. Parker, 244, 264, 278, 854 Guilford v. Minneapolis, S. Ste. M. & A. Ry. Co., 1080 Gulf, C. & S. F. R. R. Co. v. State, 1178

Gutta Percha & Rubber Manufg ('o. v. Village of Ogalalla, 113, 114

Guyette v. Bolton, 186 Gypsum Plaster & Stucco Co. v. Adsit, 1192 Η. Haacke v. Knights of Liberty Social & Literary ('lub, 351 Hackensack Water Co. v. City of Hoboken, 70 Hackensack Water Co. v. De Kay. 200, 1079 Hackett v. Ottawa, 70, 828, 872, 895 Hackettstown v. Swackhamer, 102 Hade v. McVay, 712 Hadsell v. Inhabitants of Hancock, 35, 61 Hagan v. City of Brooklyn, 798 Hagar v. Union National Bank, 523, 526 Hagen v. Bowery National Bank, 654 Hagenbeck v. Hagenbeck Zoolog cal Arena Co., 1124 Hager v. Rice, 359 Hague v. City of Philadelphia, 444, 821 Haile v. Peirce, 359 Haines v. Detrick, 236 Haines v. McFerren, 637 Halbert v. State ex rel., etc., 123 Halbut v. Forest City, 446 Hale v. Bridge Co., 258 Hale v. Frost, 1239 Hale v. Nashua & Lowell R. R. Co., 1289 Hale v. Rawallie, 685 Hale v. Walker, 757 Hale-Berry Co. v. Diamond State Iron Co., 1128 Hall v. Auburn Turnpike Co., 78, 173, 196, 466 Hall v. Baker, 940 Hall v. Bank, 536 Hall v. Cordell, 1021 Hall v. Crandall, 350 Hall v. Jackson County, 16, 120 Hallam v. Hotel Company. 1112 Hallowell & Augusta Bank v. Hamlin, 155, 175, 180 Halsey v. Ackerman, 558 Halstead v. Board, etc., of Lake County, 89 Halstead v. Dodge, 398 Halstead v. Mayor, etc., 5, 20, 64, 114,

[The references are to pages: vol I contains pp. 1-707; vol II, pp. 708-1807.] Hambright v. Cleveland Nat. Bank, | Harrisburg City v. Pennsylvania Tele-529 phone Co., 1262 Hamilton v. Bates, 284 Harrison v. Crowder, 688, 691 Harrison v. Mexican Ry., 484 Hamilton v. City of Shelbyville, 498 Hamilton v. Cunningham, 681 Hamilton v. McLaughlin, 1071 Harrison v. Smith, 642, 731
Harrison v. Union Pac. Ry. Co., 1044
Harrison v. Wright, 644, 648
Harrison v. Wright, 644, 648 Hamilton v. New Castle & D. R. R. Co., 75, 102, 144, 146 Hamilton v. Savannah, F. & W. Ry. Harry v. Wood, 657 Co., 474 Harshman v. Bates County, 446, 935 Hamilton v. Winona Salt & Lumber Harshman v. Knox County, 872 Hart v. Brockway, 246 Co., 692 Hart v. Frontino, etc., Co., 328 Hart v. Lauman, 1031 Hamilton Co. v. Massachusetts, 1274 Hamm v. Drew, 151 Hammock v. Trust Company, 1168 Hart v. Salisbury, 371 Harter v. Kornochan, 935 Hammond v. Michigan State Bank, Hartford Bank v. Barry, 578 Hartford Iron Mining Co. v. Cambria Hancock v. Chicot County, 45 Hancock v. Holbrook, 208, 278 Hancock v. Railroad Company, 946 Mining Co., 165 Hartridge v. Rockwell, 76, 285 Haits v. Brown, 214, 250, 263, 269, Hand v. Savannah & Charleston R. R. Co., 1047, 1234, 1260 Handley v. Siutz, 1028, 1140 Haner v. Town of Polk, 138 1084, 1112 Harvey v. Indianapolis, C. & D R R. Co., 17 Harward v. The St. Clair & Monroe Levee Drainage Co., 1005 Hankins v. Shoup, 146 Hanley v. Balch, 1094 Harwood v Humes, 850 Hannerty v. Standard Theater Co., Harwood v. Railroad Co., 168 246, 264 Hannibal & St. Jos. R. R. Co. v. Hasbrouck v. Milwaukee, 902, 957 Marion County, 110 Hannon v. Williams, 866 Hanson v. Tate, 351 Hascall v. Life Association of America, Hase v. Warren County, 128 Hardee v. Sunset Oil Co., 1125 Hass v. Bank, 1146 Hardin v. Construction Co., 220 Harding v. Rockford, R. I. & St. Hassan v. City of Rochester, 86 Hastings v. Brooklyn Life Ins. Co., Louis R. R. Co., 971 183Hastings v. Drew, 1108 Hatch v. Attrill, 409 Inatch v. Coddington, 147 Hardy v. Merriweather, 20 Hardy v. Metropolitan Land Co, 326 Hardy v. Pilcher, 359 Hardy v. Fights, 505 Hardy v. Waltham, 35, 68 Hardy & Bros. v. Chesapeake Bank, 597, 672, 673, 680 Hare v. Henty, 658 Hatch v. Dana, 1183 Hatfield v. Cummings, 1128 Hanson v. Vernon, 44 Havemeyer v. Iowa City, 957 Haven v. Alams, 1000, 1073 Haven v. Grand Junction R. R. & Hargadine v. Henderson, 1114 Harkness v. Russell, 1102 Harlan v. Rand, 1250 Depot Co., 1047 Havens v. Lathene, 358 Harlem Gas Light Co. v. Mayor, etc., of New York, 29 Hawes v. Oakland, 306, 309, 313, 317, Harman v. Auditor of Public Accounts, 975 1273 Hawk v. Marion County, 124 Harms v. Fitzgerald, 121 Hawkins v. Carroll County, 911, 920 Harney v. Indianapolis, etc., R. R. Hawkins v. Glenn, 1028, 1110, 1138 Co., 437 Hawtayne v. Bourne, 98, 150, 152 Hayden v. Wheeler & Tappan Co., 236 Harper v. Calhoun, 548, 578 Harper v. Carroll, 1140 Hayes v. Bank, 1111 Harrigan v. Quay, 1120 Harriman v. Baptist Church, 497 Hayes v. Beardsley, 682 Hayes v. Holly Springs, 872 Hayes v. Orr, 712 Haynes v. Cape May, 1086 Harrington v. First Nat. Bank of Chittenango, 235 Harris v. Elliott, 1101 Haynes v. Covington, 446 Haynes, Liquidator, v. Succession of Harris v. N. D. Railroad Co., 258 Beckman, 176 Harris v. Runnels, 520

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.] Hicks v. Cheyenne Land & Live Stock Hav's Case, 423 Co., 1100
Hight v. Board, etc., of Monroe
County, 121, 122
Hightower v. Thornton, 357 Hays v. Galion Gas Light & Coal Co., 91, 98, 98, 1054 Hayward v. Board of Trustees of Town of Redcliff, 488 Higley v. First Nat. Bank of Beverly. Hayward v. Davidson, 121, 494 Hayward v. Pilgrim Society, 219 536 Haywood v. Lumber Company, 1087, Hill v. C. F. Jewett Publishing Co., 1111 Hill v. City of Memphis, 17, 952, 954, Hazelett v. Bank, 682 1004 Hazelhurst v. Sav., G. & N. A. R. R. Hill v. Frazier, 248
Hill v. Nisbet, 268
Hill v. Rich Hill Coal Mining Co., 260
Hill v. Todd, 655 Co., 484, 517 Hazleton v. Bank of Columbus, 629 Head v. Cleburne Building & Loan Assn., 470 Head v. Providence Insurance Co., 95 Hill v. Trust Co., 652 Heal v. Jefferson, Township of, Grant Hills v. Bannister, 360 County, 133 Heanley v. State, 870 Heath v. Erie Railway Co., 815, 495, Hills v. Furniture Company, 1071. 1116 Hills v. Parker, 1118 Hillyer v. Overman Silver Mining Co., 556 Heath v. Portsmouth Savings Bank, 172 Hinckley v. Pfister, 1128 Hinckley v. Union Pac. R. R. Co., 617 Heath v. Second Nat. Bank, 512 Hedges v. Dixon County, 897, 924 1047 Hegeman v. Passaic, 1270 Hinds v. Marmolejo, 535 Hintrager v. Richter, 488 Hirschmann v. Iron Range & Huron Bay R. R. Co., 282 Heims Brewing Co. v. Flannery, 470, 490, 821 Hemphill v. Yorkes, 608 Hendee v. Pinkerton, 1014, 1074 Hendee v. Railroad Co., 716 Henkle v. Town of Keota, 1298 Hirsch v. Jones, 311 Hitchcock v. Galveston, 29, 87, 65, 110, 787, 860, 1004
Hitchings v. St. Louis, N. O. & O. Canal Transp. Co., 286 Henley v. Clover, 129 Henderson Bridge Co. v. Common-wealth, 1800 Hennessy v. City of St. Paul, 509 Henry v. Martin, 1145 Hitt v. Allen, 603 Hoag v. Lamont, 234 Hobart v. Johnson, 769 Henry v. North Bank of Alabama, 599 Hobart v. Supervisors, 49 Hobbs v. McLean, 1184 Henry v. Rutland & B. R. R. Co., 279 Henry v. Syracuse, G. & C. K. R. Co., Hockaday v. Commissioners, 67 Hodder v. Kentucky & Great Eastern Ry. Co., 1014, 1020, 1098 Hodge v. First National Bank, 182, 1021 Hentig v. Sweet, 258 Hequembourg v. City of Dunkirk, 87 Herbert v. Balt, & Phil. R. R. Co., 1801, 1904 Hodges v. City of Buffalo, 5, 33, 114, 438, 489, 445 Herring v. New York, L. E., etc., R. R. Co., 1172 Hersey v. Veszie, 812, 495 Hodges v. New England Screw Co., 301, 305, 306, 364, 456, 553, 556 Hodges v. Planters Bank, 526 Hervey v. Illinois Midland Ry. Co., 1020, 1076 Hodges v. Shuler, 1014 Hessler v. Drainage Commissioners, 1005 Hodgin v. Bryant, 547 Hodgkinson v. National Live Stock Ins. Co., 324 Hewitt v. Board of Education, 878. 971 Hodgman v. Chicago & St. Paul Ry. Co., 962 Hewitt v. Goodrich, 644 Hewitt v. Railroad Company, 1286 Hodsdon v. Capeland, 812 Hoetzel v. East Orange, 1086 Hewitt v. Town of Grand Chute, 188 Hewitt v. Wheeler, 285 Hoey v. Gilroy, 854 Hevcock v. Sherman, 415 Hoffman v. Board, etc., 128 Hibernia Building Assn. v. McGrath, Hoffman v. Comrs. of Greenwood County, 442 Hoffman v. Dickey, 885 Hichens v. Congreve, 294, 298, 556

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1807.] Hoffman v. First Nat. Bank of Jersey | Hopewell v. Putt. 186 City, 697
Hoffman v. Reichert, 263, 274
Hoffman Steam Coal Co. v. Cumberland Coal & Iron Co., 251, 272 Hopkins' Appeal, 1111 Hopkins v. Roseclare Lead Company, Hopkinson v. Foster, 664 Hopper v. Sage, 816 Hopper v. Town of Covington, 948 Hogue v. Edwards, 645 Holbrook v. Bassett, 74, 102 Holbrook v. Fauquier, etc., Turnpike Horn v. Mayor, etc., 111 Hornblower v. Crandall, 291 Hornblower v. Duden, 58 Co. Holbrook v. New Jersey Zinc Co., 227 Hornor v. Henning, 388, 400, 403, 406, Holbrook, Merrill & Stetson v. Peters 418, 557 & Miller Co., 1117 Holden v. New York & Eric Bank, Hornsby v. Eddy, 1229 Horn Silver Mining Co. v. New York, 1294 Holden v. Phelps, 334 Holden v. Upton, 155, 580 Horn Silver Mining Co. v. Ryan, 318, 349, 553 Holder v. La Fayette, B. & M. Ry. v. Mobile School Comrs. Horton Co., 245, 258, 279, 356 Hollingsworth v. Detroit, 946 Hollins v. Brierfield Coal & Iron Co., 882 Horton v. Sayer, 1152 Horton v. Town of Thompson, 936, 994, 1007 1109, 1120, 1189 Hollins v. St. Paul, M. & M. R. Co., Horton Ice Cream Co. v. Merritt, 192 Horwitz v. Ellinger, 597 Hospes v. Car Company, 1084, 1135 Hotchin v. Kent., 166, 172 Hollister v. Powlett, 137 Holly Manufg. Co. v. New Chester Hotchkiss v. Marion, 13 Hotchkiss v. Plunkett, 140, 790 Hotel Co. v. Wade, 275, 1088, 1084 Hot Springs Ind. Sch. Dist. v. First Water Co., 1158 Holmes v. Board of Trade, 150 Holmes v. Boyd, 512 Holmes v. City of Shreveport, 13, 849, Nat. Bank of Hot Springs, 734 857 Hough v. Cook Land Co., 494 Houghton v. Dodge, 284 Houghton v. First Nat. Bank of Eik-Holmes v. Gilman, 752 Holmes v. Kansas City Board of Trade, 170, 234 Holmes v. Roc, 659. 692, 707 Holmes, Booth & Haydens v. Willard, 183, 224, 302, 820 horn, 571 House v. Cooper, 309 Howard v. City of Oshkosh, 25 Holmes & Griggs Manufg. Co. v. Holmes & Wessell Metal Co 496, Howard v. Savings Bank, 618 Howe v. Barney, 558 Howe v. Boston Carpet Co., 456 Howe v. Deuel, 309 Holt v. Bennett, 263, 349 Howe v. Freeman, 1055 Howe v. Hartness, 608, 628 Holt v. City of East St. Louis, 1269 Home Friendly Society v. Tyler, 819 Home Insurance Co. v. New York, Howe v. Keeler, 235 Howe v. Newmarch, 338 1274, 1294 Home Nat. Bank v. Newton, 637, 641 Homestead Bank v. Wood, 489 Howe v. St. Clair, 1232 Howe v. Tool Co., 246, 254 Howe Brown & Co. v. Sanford Fork & Tool Co., 1087 Honduras Commercial Co. v. State Board of Assessors, 1292 Hone v. Allen, 193 Hood v. New York & N. H. R. R. Co., 469, 478, 508 Hook v. Bosworth, 1197 Howell v. City of Peoria, 66 Howell v. McCrie, 172 Howell v. Western R. R. Co., 1080 Howland v. Myer, 191 Hooker v. Eagle Bank, 170 Hoyle v. Plattsburgh & Montreal R. Co., 263, 270, 282, 326, 1082 Hoyt v. Shelden, 234 Hoyt v. Stoddard, 1208 Hooker v. Vandewater, 1178 Hooper v. Ely, 129 Hoosac Mining & Milling Co.v. Donat, Hoyt v. Thompson, 157, 180, 194, 202, 217, 225, 233, 466, 576 Hubbard v. Bank, 1118 235 Hope v. Deaderick, 48 Hope v. International Society, 1152 Hope v. Salt Company, 1087 Hope Mutual Life Ins. Co. v. Wood, 90 Hubbard v. Camperdown Hubbard v. Lyndon, 188 Hubbard v. Camperdown Mills, 171

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp 708-1307] Hubbard v. New York & Harlem R. | Hutton v. Scarborough Cliff Co., R. Co., 1013, 1014 Hubbard v. New York, etc., Investment Co., 241, 250
Hubbard v. President, etc., 724
Huber v. Bossart, 657 Huckstein v. Herman, 643 Hudson v. Elevator Company, 1214 Hudson v. Marietta, 67 Hudson v. Wilkinson, 1129 Hudson (County Catholic Protectory v. Board of Township Committee of Kearney, 1279 Hugg v. City Council of City of Camden, 57 Hughes v. Antietam Manufg. Co., 198 Hughes v. Bank of Somerset, 166 Hughitt v. Johnson, 655 Hulbert v. Carver, 627 Hull & Argalls v. County of Marshall, 832 Hull v. Bank, 650 Humboldt v. Long, 880, 835 Humboldt Mining Co. v. American Mfg., Mining & Milling Co., 84 Humboldt Trust Co's Estate, 628 Humes v. Decatur Land Imp. & Furnace Co., 151 Humphrey v. McKissock, 820, 1097, 1100 Humphrey v. Patrons' Mercantile Assn., 78, 469, 490 Humphries v. Bicknell, 657 Hun v. Cary, 347, 864, 365, 558 Hunking v. Johnson, 136 Hunt v Bullock, 1096 Hunt v. Fawcett, 67, 445, 958 Hunt v. Memphis Gas Light Co., 1055 Hunt v. Rahway, 1270 Hunt v. Townsend, 739 Hunter v. Louisville & Nashville R. R. Co., 1264 Hunter v. Nolf, 434 Hunter v. Roberts, Thorp & Co. (a Corporation), 811 Huntington v. Attrill, 212, 408, 409 Huntington v. Savings Bank, 467 Huntley v. Lincoln Park Commrs., 1269 Huntress v. Burbank, 522 Huntsville Belt Line & M. S. Ry. Co. v. Corpeving, 151 Huron Printing & Binding Co. v. Kittleson, 287 Hussey v. King, 322 Hutchinson v. Bidwell, 262 Hutchinson v. Green, 1111 Hubehinson v. Self, 46 Hutchinson v. Surrey Consumers Gas Light & Coke Assn., 157 Hutchinson v. Sutton Manufg. Co., 246, 848 In ra A. D. St. Nav. & Col. Co., 485

825 Hyde v. Larkin, 187, 234, 285, 583 Hyde v Continental Trust Co , 1278 Hyde Park Gas Co. v. Kerber, 310. 318 Hyland, Auditor, v. Central Iron & Steel Co., 1272 Hylton v. United States, 1273 Hypers v. Griffin, 357

Ide v. Passumpsic & Connecticut Rivers R. R. Co., 1014 Ihl v. Bank of St Joseph, 609 Ilgenfritz v. Pettis County Bank, 639 Ilion Bank v. ('arver, 247 Illinois Central R. R. Co. v. City of Decatur, 1806 Illinois Linen Co. v Hough, 279, 356 Illinois & St Louis R. R. & Canal Co. v. City of St. Louis & Pacific Elevator Co., 29 Illinois State Hospital v. Higgins, 800 Illinois Trust & Savings Bank v. First Nat. Bank, 753 Illinois Trust & Sav. Bank v. Smith, 622 Imboden v. Perrie, 666 Importers & Traders' Bank v. Everett, Independent District v. Schreiner, 886 Indian. Nat. Bank v. Holtzelaw, 667 Indianapolis Rolling Mill v. St. Louis, F. S. & W. Railroad, 168, 191, 214, 235 Indianapolis & St. Louis Ry. Co. v. People, 1302 Indig v. National City Bank of Brook-lyn, 687, 692 Industrial & Mining Guaranty Co. v. Electrical Supply Co., 1252 Ingerman Drainage Comrs. v. State ex rel., 800 Ingelhart v. Thousand Island Co., 270. 271 Ingwersen v. Edgecombe, 1110 Inhabitants of Boston v. Brazer. 379 Inhabitants, etc., v Weir, 857 Inhabitants of Brighton v. Wilkinson, 871 Inhabitants of Frankfort v. Inhabitants of Winterport, 56 Inhabitants of Norwich v. County Comrs., 871 Inhabitants of Westbrook v. Inhabitants of Decring, 20, 35 Innerarity v. Bank, 571, 583 Innerarity v. Merchants' Nat. Bank,

338

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp 1-707; vol 11, pp. 708-1307.]

In re Appeal of Des Moines Water | In re School Directors, 138 Co., 1298 In re Armstrong, 525 In re Ayers, 845 In re Balia, etc , 328, 338 In re Barnard, United States Trust Co. of New York v. Omaha & St. Louis Ry. Co., 1227 In re British Seamless Paper Box Co., 298, 328 In 16 Cape Breton Co., 299 In re Cardiff Savings Bank, Davies' 157 Case, 423 Assn., 419 In re Certain Stockholders of the California Nat Bank of San Diego, Co, 420 In re Commissioners of Central Park. In re Cork & Y. Ry. Co., 497, 1059 Slate Co., 421 In re Denham & Co., 347 In re Elwes, 1275 In re Empire City Bank, 757 951 In re Eno. 775 In re European Bank, 338, 570, 583 In re Forest of Dean Coal Mining Co., In re German Mining Co., 152, 365 pin, 29, 445 In re Hallett's Estate, 626 In re Herman, 716 In re Home Provident Safety Fund Agsn., 1129 In re James' Estate, 811 In re Johnson, 1145 In re Land Allotment Co., 420 In re Le Blanc, 817 In 1e Lehigh Co.'s Estate, 1113 In re Lewis, 1123 In re London & Birmingham R. R. Co., 365 In re Louisiana Savings Bank, 598 In re Marseilles Extension Ry. Co., 570 In re Mast, Buford & Burwell Co., 1127 In re Middle Dist. Bank, 712 In re Millward Cliff Cracker Co., 809 In re Minnchaha Driving Park Assn., 1134, 1135 In re Mohawk & H. R. Co., 157 In re National, etc., Society, 497 In re New Mashonaland Exploration Ives v. Smith, 1016 Ivory v. Bank of Missouri, 656, 697 Co., 422 In re North Australian Territory Co. J. (Archer's Case), 298, 423 In re North River Bank, 628, 626 In re Patent File Co., 93 In re Pendleton Hardware & Imp. Co., 155 In re Petition of Powers, 129 In re Pyle Works, 246 In re Reciprocity Bank, 771 re Rochester, Hornellsville Lackawanna R. R. Co., 820 In re 816

In re Seattle, L. S & E. Ry. Co., Grievance Committee of Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen Lodge No. 196 v. Brown, 1209 In re Seven Corners Bank, 755 In re South Mountain Consolidated Mining Co., 756 In re Tallassee Mfg. Co., 523 In re The Independent Assurance Co., In re The Liverpool Household Stores In re Washington Diamond Mining In re Western & Marine Fire Ins Co., In re Westmoreland Green & Blue In re Wetmore, 881 I. N. & S. Ry. Co. v. City of Attica, Insurance Co. v. Cappellar, 1306 Insurance Company v. Lott, 1307 Insurance Company v. Oakley, 170 Intendant, etc., of Livingston v. Pip-Intendant of Marion v. Chandler, 48 International Bank v. Ferris, 696 International Bank v. German Bank, International Bank v. Jones, 638, 647, International & Great Northern R. R. Co. v. State, 1283 International & Gt. Northern R. R. Co. v. Wentworth, 1204 Investment Co. of Philadelphia v. Ohio & N. W. Ry. Co., 1185, 1204, Iowa City Nat. Bank v. McCord, 619 Iowa Lumber Co. v. Foster, 75 Iowa State Sav. Bank v. Black, 585 Iron Company v. Drexel, 164 Iron Works v. Grave, 259 Irving Bank v. Wetherald, 653 Irwin v. Bailey, 191 Irwin v. McKechnic, 1225

Jackson v. Brown, 101, 1055 Jackson v. Campbell, 181 Jackson v. Cartwright Lumber Co., Jackson v. Hathaway, 1101 Jackson v. Ludeling, 244, 326, 1109 Jackson v. Market Company, 181 Jackson v. Newark Plankroad Co.,

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.] Johnson v. Ward, 649 Jackson v. Newton, 641 Jackson v. New York Central R. R. Johnston v. Bank, 604 Johnston v. County of Becker, 428 Co., 308 Johnston v. Crawley, 143 Johnston v. Shoitridge, 583 Jackson v Traer, 166, 1033 Jackson County v Brush, 59, 918 Johnston v. Building Association, Jackson Insurance Co. v. Cross, 602, 154 Joint Stock Discount Co. v. Brown, Jackson School Township v. Farlow, 347, 352 Joliet Electric Light & Power Co. v. 800 Jacksonville, N W. & S. E. R. R. Co. v. Virden, 901, 971 Jacksonville, T. & K. W Ingalls, 201 Joliff v. Newark, 1270 Jones v. City of Cincinnati, 19 Jones v. Avery, 203 Co. v. American Construction Co., 1184 Jones v. Barlow, 390, 394 Jacobs v. Knapp, 1250 Jacobsohn v. Belmont, 688 Jones v. Garcia Del Rio, 294 Jaffray v. Matthews, 1114 Jagger v. National German-American Jones v. Glover, 1146 Jones v. Green, 1142 Jones v. Guaranty & Indemnity Co., Bank of St. Paul, 682 James v. Rogers, 748 Jansen v. Otto Steitz New York Glass 1057 Jones v. Guaranty, etc., Co., 97 Jones v. Hawkins, 188 Jones v. Milton, etc., Co., 144 Letter Co., 209 Janvrin v. Town of Exeter, 125 Jarrolt v. Moberly, 968 Jones v. Morrison, 566 Jarvis v. Manhattan Beach Co., 334 Jones v. Pacific Woolen Co., 665 Jarvis v. Wilson, 655 Jassoy v. Horn, 600, 603 Jofferson County v. Single, 182 Jelliff v. Newark, 1270 Jones v. Pearl Mining Company, 1123 Jones v. Pendleton County Court, 127 Jones v. Robinson, 1146 Jones v. Town of Lake View, 1269 Jones v. Trustees Florence Wesleyan Jemison v. Citizens' Savings Bank of Jefferson, Texas, 466, 467 Jenkins v. Hutchinson, 368 Jenkins v. Walter, 629 University, 144 Jones, McDowell & Co. v. Arkansas Jenks v. Chicago, 59 Jennings v. Coal Ridge Improvement Mechanical & Agricultural Co., Co., 1291 Jones Mfg. Co. v. Commonwealth, Jermain v. Lake Shore & Mich. So. 1292 Ry., 816 Jersey City v. Howeth, 1269 Jesup v. City Bank of Racine, 1073 Jones, Treasurer, v. Rushville Natural Gas Co , 1272 Jonesboro' City v. Railroad Company, Jesup v. Ilinois ('entral R. R. Co., 245, 307, 1053 940 Jordon v. Bank, 721 Jesup v. Wabash, St. Louis & Pac. Ry. Co., 1173 Jordon v. Long Island Railroad Co., 155, 284, 239 Jhons v. People, 144 Jordan v. Nat. Shoe & Leather Bank, John v. C. R. & F. W. R. R. Co., 49, 641 Jordan v. Osceola County, 124 Jourdaine v. Leprone, 701 Johnson v. Bush, 180 Johnson v. County of Stark, 49, 899, 901, 905, 929, 944, 945, 933, 964, 978, 1004 Joy v. Manion, 157 Joy v. Plank Road Co., 209 Judson v. City of Ressemer, 952 Judson v. Rossie Galena Co., 1141 Judy v. Farmers & Traders' Bank, Johnson v. Farmers' Bank, 600 Johnson v First Nat. Bank of Ho-boken, 672 Johnson v. Fisher, 888 Junction Railroad Co. v. Bank of Ash-Johnson v. Goslett, 294 land, 1021 Johnson v. Kessler, 900, 907 Johnson v. Ladiu, 762 Johnson v. Monell, 624 Johnson v. School District, 40 Junction R. R. Co. v. Cheneay, Juniata Township v. Reamer, 186 Just v. Wise Township, 971 Justine v. City of Logansport, 59 J. W. Butler Paper Co. v. Jeffery. Johnson v. Smith, 285 Johnson v. Switch Company, 151 295, 1115, 1141

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307]

Kadish v. Garden City Eq. Loan & Bdg. Assn , 470, 495 Kaiser v. Savings Bank, 371

Kalamazoo R. Nov. Mfg. McAlister, 152, 217 Co. v.

Kalamazoo Spring & Axle Co. v. Winans, Pratt & Co., 1117 Kane v. Independent School District of Rock Rapids, 67, 886

Kansas Mut. Life Assn. v. Hill, Treasurer, etc., 1307 Kansas Valley Nat. Bank v. Rowell,

509

Katenberger v. City of Aberdeen, 17, 953

Kean v. Davis, 288, 359 Kean v. Johnson, 325 Keen v. Beekman, 634 Keene v. Collier, 634

Keeney v. Converse, 261 Keeney v. Jersey City, 114

Keitheburg v. Frick, 970, 976 Kelley v. City of Milwaukee, 19, 42 Kelley v. Lindsey, 133 Kelley v. Mayor, etc., of Brooklyn,

Kelley v. Newburyport Horse Rail-road, 238 Kelley v. Town of Milan, 17, 872, 886

Kelly v. Boyhan, 1082

Kelly v. Fall Brook Coal Co., 152 Kelly v. McCormick, 990 Kelly v. Mobile Building & Loan

Assn., 454 Kelly v. Trustees of Ala. & Cin. R. R. Co., 98, 1018, 1096

Kelsey v. National Bauk, 236, 490 Kelsey v. Scrgent, 248, 250, 278 Kelso v. Teale, 113 Kelty v. Sccond Nat, Bank, 648

Kendall v. Bishop, 209, 1115 Kendig v. Dean, 311

Kenicott v. Supervisors, 916, 930, 956 Kennard v. Cass County, 1048 Kennebec & Portland R. R. Co. v.

Portland & Kennebec R. R. Co., 1055, 1073 Kennedy v. California Sav. Bank, 470, 516, 519

Kennedy v. Gibson, 554, 558, 715,

Kennedy v. Green, 838, 570 Kent v. Brickmaking Co , 296 Kent v. Iron Co., 1188, 1162

Kent v. Quicksilver Mining Company, 92, 94, 458, 482, 486

Kenton Insurance Co. v. Bowman. 210

Kenton Ins Co v. City of Covington, 1306

Kentucky Central R. R. Co. v. Commonwealth, 1282

Kentucky Central R. R. Co. v. County of Pendleton, 1300

Kentucky Flour Co.'s Assignee v.

Merchants' Not. Bank, 1146

Kentucky Union R. Co. v. County of Bourbon, 906, 907, 931

Kentucky, W. & M. L. S. R. R. Co.
v. Clark County Court, 46

Keokuk Northern Line Packet Co. v. Davidson, 250

Keokuk & Western R. R. Co. v. Missouri, 1282

Kerrison v. Stewart, 1158

Ketchum v. City of Buffalo, 20, 24, 32

Ketchum v. Duncan, 171, 1046, 1047, 1256

Kettlewell v. Watson, 238 Keys v. Association, 495 Keyser v. Hitz, 758, 771 Kickland v Menasha Wooden Ware Co., 284

Kiichli v. City of Minneapolis, 428

Kilborne v. Lyman, 1118 Kilbourne v. Supervisors of Sullivan County, 995, 998

Kiley v. Forsee, 145, 184

Killingsworth v. Commercial Bank of Rodney, 530 Kilsby v. Williams, 601

Kilvington v. City of Superior, 41, 435

Kimball v. Cleveland, 209, 573 Kimball v. Donaice, 664

Kimball v. Goodburn, 218 Kimball v. Norton, 617 Kimball v. School Dist. No. 4, 888

Kimball v. Town of Lakeland, 941 Kimmel v. Dickson, 621 Kinder v. Shaw, 539

King v. Egginton, 626 King v. Howard, 1152

King v. Insurance Company, 1129

King v. Paterson & Hudson River Railroad, 816

King v. Union Iron Co., 381 Kingman v. Perkins, 665 Kingman v. School District, 111 Kinkler v. Junica, 288 Kinnie v. City of Waverly, 60

Kinyon v. Stanton, 646 Kirk v. Bell, 217 Kirkland v. Kille, 393, 395

Kirkpatrick v. Penrose Ferry Bridge Co., 279

Kissam v. Anderson, 592

Kitchen v. Branch Bank at Mobile, 528

Kitchen v. Cape Girardeau & State Line R. R. Co., 72

Kitchen v. St. Lous, etc., Railway Co., 283, 241, 288, 285, 286, 1084, 1114 Klauber v. Biggerstaff, 628 Kleekamp v. Meyer, 660 Klee v. E. H. Steel Co., 1121 Kleise v. Galusha, 975 Klemme v. McClay, 174 Kline v. Bank of Tescott, 362 Knatchbull v. Hallett, 781, 782, 742, Knecht v. United States Savings Inst., 597 Kneeland v. American Loan & Trust Co., 1172, 1202, 1218, 1220, 1289, 1240 Kneeland v. Foundry, etc., Works, 1220 Kneeland v. Lawrence, 1037 Knight v. Fisher, 721 Knight v. Lang, 98, 150, 218 Knott v. Venable, 702 Knower v. Haines, 387 Knowles v. Duffy, 263 Knox v. Baldwin, 398, 399, 402 Knox v. Bank of United States, 530 Knox County v. Aspinwall, 858 Knox County v. Ninth National Bank, 914, 957 Koch v. Nat. Union Building Assn., 151, 194 Koehler v. Black River Falls Iron Co 254, 258, 275, 282, 283, 301, 807, 1025, 1108 Kociting v. State, 1146 Koontz v. Bank, 1213 Koppikus v. State Capitol Comrs., 68 Korn v. Mut. Soc., 90 Koshkonong v. Burton, 946 Kountze v. Hotel Company, 1186 Kraft v. Coykendall, 394 Kramrath v. City of Albany, 113 Kreiger v. Railroad Company, 946 Kritner v. Woodson, 389 Kuhn v. Bank, 657 Kuntz v. Sumption, Treasurer, 1272 Kupfer v. Bank & Galena, 598, 699 Kyle v. Malin, 5, 20

Laborde v. Consolidated Assn., 671 Lacey v. Central Nat. Bank, 511 Leclede Bank v. Schuler, 662, 664 Ledics' United Aid Society (Methodist Home) v. Philadelphia, 1266 La Dow v. First Nat. Bank of New London, 580 Ladywell Mining Co. v. Brooks, 299 La Fayette Bank v. McLaughlin, 690 La Fayette, B. & M. Ry. Co. v. Checnéy, 270

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1507.] La Fayette, M. & B. R. R. Co. v. Geiger, 17, 870 La Fayette Savings Bank v. St. Louis, etc., Co., 78 La Favette Savings Bank v. Stoneware Co., 362 Laforge v. Magce, 118 La Grange Butter Tub Co. v. National Bank of Commerce, 1114, 1118 Laing v. Burley, 757

Lake County v. Graham, 40, 832, 835, 836, 839, 872, 897, 927, 972

Lake County v. Rollins, 40, 839, 927

Lake Erie & Western R. R. Co. v. Indianapolis Nat. Bank, 1146

Lake Shore Rapking Co. v. Fuller Lake Shore Banking Co. v. Fuller. 1115 Lake Shore & Mich. So. Ry. Co. v. Chicago, 59 Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry Co. v. City of Grand Rapids, 1306 Lake Superior Iron Co. v. Brown, Bonnell & Co., 1168 Lake Superior Iron Co. v. Drexel, 412, 455 Larkin v. Willamette Valley, etc., R. R. Co., 465 Lamar Water & Electric Light (o. v. City of Lamar, 438
Lamb v. Cecil, 576
Lamb, Trustee, v. Laughlin, 1108
Lamprell v. Billericay, 98
Lancaster Bank v. Woodward, 563. 650 Lancaster County v. Chernw & C. R. R. Co., 210 Lancaster County Nat. Bank v. Smith, Land Company v. Sloan, 154 Land Credit Co. of Ireland v. Lord Fermoy, 554 Lander v. Castro, 350 Landers v. Frank Street Methodist Epis. Church of Rochester, 152 Land Grant Ry. & Trust Co. v. Davis County, 918 dis v. West Pennsylvania R. R. Landis v. West Pennsylvania R. R. Co., 1087 Lane v. Bank of West Tennessec, 550, 570 Langan v. Francklyn, 263 Langdon v. Town of Castleton, 60, 138 Langhorne v. Robinson, 1264

Langston v. South Carolina R. R. Co., 1014, 1047

Lanham v. First Nat. Bank of Crete.

535

Lansing v. Lytle, 1002 Laredo v. McDonnell, 64

Laredo v. Martin, 64

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1807.] La Salle Nat. Bank v. Tolu Rock & Leftley v. Mills, 641
Rye Co., 359
Lasher v. Stimson, 354
Leggett v. New Jersey Manufg. Com-Lassen County v. Shinn, 57 Laubach v. Leibert, 642 Laughlin v. Braley, 1095 Lavenstein v. City of Fond du Lac, Law v. Cross, 169 Law v. People, 4, 40, 66 Lawless v. Reesc, 445 Lawrence v. Gebhard, 152, 167, 172 Lawrence v. Morgan's La. & Tex. R. R. & Steamship Co., 1176 Lawrence v. Schmidt, 648 Lawrence v. Stonington Bank, 701 Lawrence v. Trauer, 1271 Lawrence v. Tucker, 1058 Lawrence Iron Works Co. v. Rockbridge Company, 1124 Lawrenceville Cement Co. v. Purker, 466 Lawson v. Bank, 693, 694 Lawson v. Richards, 657 Lay v. Austin, 206 Laybourn v. Seymour, 1180 Lazarus, Use of, v. Shearer, 192, 359 Lazear v. Nat. Union Bank of Maryland, 512, 515, 529 Lazier v. Horan, 689, 690 Lench v. Hale, 506, 685 Leachman v. Dougherty, 1271 Leather Manufacturers' Bank v. Morgan, 602, 606, 675 Leavenworth v. Norton, 27 Leavenworth County v. Brewer, 126 Leavenworth County v. Chicago, Rock Island, etc., Ry. Co., 1172 Leavenworth County v. Keller, 120 Leavenworth County v. Miller, 844 Leavenworth, L. & G. Ry. Co. v. Douglas County, 919 Leavitt v. Blatchford, 85 Leavitt v. Connecticut Peat Company, 193Leavitt v. Palmer, 469 Leavitt v. Simes, 602 Leavitt v. Stanton, 672 Ledwich v. McKim, 857 Lee v. Board, etc., of Ionia County, Lee v. Neuchatel Asphalte Co., 813 Lee v. Pittsburg Coal & Mining Company, 154, 181 Lee v. Smith, 575, 579 Lee v. Trustees of Flemington, 43 Lee County v. Rogers, 897, 949 Lee County v. State ex rel., 801 Leeds v. City of Richmond, 42 Leekins v. Nordyke & Marmon Company, 152

Leffman v. Flanigan, 306, 563

pany, 193, 199
Le Grand v. Manhattan Mercantile Assn., 73, 92
Lehigh Coal & Navigation Co. v. Central Railroad, 1207 Leighton v. Campbell, 414 Leloup v. Mobile, 1267, 1293 Leo v. Union Pac. Railway Co., 102, 313, 1024 Leon County v. Vann, 114 Leonard v. A. Ins. Co., 466 Leonard v. Burlington Mut. Loan Assn., 205 Leonard v. City of Canton, 4, 441 Leonard v. Long Island City, 39 Le Roy v. Globe Ins. ('o., 817 Leslie v. Lorillard, 188, 407, 500 Lester v. Bank of Mobile, 528 Lester v. Webb, 219, 227 Levey v. New York Central & H. R. R. R. Co., 151 Levi v. Bank, 750 Levy v. Bank of the United States, 595, 1213 Levy v. Mutual Benefit Life & Fire Ins. Co., 89 Levy v. Peters, 657 Levy v. U. S. Bank, 600 Lewis v. Barbour County Comrs., 111 Lewis v. Board, etc., of Sherman County, 15 Lewis v. Bourbon County, 826, 900, 905, 941 Lewis v. Comanche County, 5, 844 Lewis v. Commissioners, 844 Lewis v. Frecholders of Hudson, 62 Lewis v. Hartford Silk Manufg. Co., 189 Lewis v. International Bank 647 Lewis v. Jeffries, 1088 Lewis v. Lyons, 1060 Lewis v. Madocks, '742 Lewis v. Montgomery, 404, 40 Lewis v. Nicholson, 369 Lewis v. Park Bank, 599 Lewis v. Pima County, 948
Lewis v. Pima County, 948
Lewis v. Planters' Bank, 688
Lewis v. St. Albans Iron & Steel Works, 847
Lawis v. Traders' Bank, 685 Lewis v. Traders' Bank, 665 Lewis v. United States, 729 Lewis v. Vicksburg & Meridian R. R. Co., 1233 Lewis, Admr. v. Glenn, Trustee, 1137 Lexington v. Butler, 1037 Libby v. Union National Bank, 198, 512 Liebfritz v. Dubuque St. Ry. Co., 285

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.] Life & Fire Ins. Co. v. Mechanic Fire | Lohman v. New York & Eric R. R. Ins. Co., 75, 98, 109, 150, 182, 439 Lightner v. City of Pcorin, 1268 Co., 154 Long v. Court, 1128 Long v. Straus, 600 Lilly v. Miller, 637 Lime City B., L. & Sav. Assn. v. Black, 1123 Lincoln v. Sun Vapor Street Light Co., 861 Lincoln B. & L. Assn. v. Hass, 1095 cross, č7 Lincoln County v. Luming, 845, 846, 817 Lincoln County Court v. United States, 817 Lincoln Township v. Cambria Iron Company, 918 Linden v. Case, 118 Lindley v. Bank, 655 Lindsley v. McClellaud, 628 Lingle v. National Ins. Co., 271 Linn v. Chambersburg Borough, 1012 Linthicum v. Ray, 1101 Lionberger v. Mayer, 571 Lionberger v. Rouse, 1996 Lippincott v. Carriage Co., 246, 254. son, 49 1087 Lippincott v. Town of Pana, 876, 904, 971, 973, 976, 982, 983 Litchfield v. Ballan, 930, 968 Litchfield v. McComber, 871 Litchfield v. White, 364 Little v. Chadwick, 752 Little v. City of Rochester, 42 Little v. Kerr, 156 Little Rock v. Merchants' National bank, 1004 Little Rock & Fort Smith Ry. Co. v. Huntington, 1104 1263 Little Rock & Fort Smith Railway v. Worthen, 1282 Little Warrior Coal Co. v. Hooper, Liverpool & Great Western Steam Co., v. Phœnix Ins. Co., 478 Live Stock Assn. of New York v. Levy, 502 Livingston v. Hollenbeck, 121 Livingston v. Lynch, 325 Livingston County v. First Nat. Bank of Portsmouth, 920, 935, 941, 965 Livingston County v. Weider, 852 Lloyd v. City, 955 Lloyd v. McCaffrey, 604 Loan Association v. Stonemetz, 279 Loan Association v. Topeka, 48, 44 1052 Railroad, 198 Locke v. Davison, 18, 16 48 Locke v. Merchants' Nat. Bank, 686 Lockhart v. Van Alstyne, 416, 485 Lockwood v. Thunder Bay River Boom Co., 157, 165 Logan v. Earl of Courtown, 84 Logan County Bank v. Townsend, 445 Lowene v. American Insurance Co., 505, 548 817

Longbottom's Execrs. v. Babcock, 597 Loomis v. Bank, 571 Lord v. Yonkers Fuel Co., 1060 Lorillard v. Clyde, 164 Lott v. Mayor, etc., of City of Way-Loudenslager v. Benton, 1035 Loughlin v. Marshall, 627 Louisiana v. New Orleans, 37 Louisiana v. Wood, 787, 855, 860, 925 Louisiana State Bank v. Orleans Navigation Company, 78, 100 Louisiana State Bank v. Senecal, 571, Louisville City Ry. Co. v. City of Louisville, 29 Louisville, etc., R. R. Co. v. County Court, 48 Louisville, etc., R. R. Co. v. David-Louisville & Nashville R. R. Co. v. Common wealth, 1282, 1302, 1304 Louisville & N. R. R. Co. v. County Court, etc., 48, 901 Louisville & Nashville R. R. Co. v.
Hopkins County, 1800
Louisville & N. R. R. Co. v. Literary Societa of St. R. Co. v. Literary Society of St. Rose, 82 Louisville & Nashville R. R. Co. v. Palmes, 1282 Louisville & Nashville R. R. Co. v. Trustees School District No. 108, Louisville, New Albany & Chicago Ry. Co. v. Carsin, 238 Louisville, N. A. & Chic. Ry. Co. v. Flanagan, 455
Louisville, N. A. & O. R. Co. v. Ohio
Valley Improvement & Constr. Co., 1050 Love v. Mining Co., 807 Loveland v. Doran & Wright Co., 402 Loveland v. Garner, 384 Lovingston v. Wider, 1005, 1006 Low v. Buchanan, 403 Low v. California Pac. R. R. Co., 78, Low v. Connecticut & Passumpsic Low v. Mayor, etc., of Marysville, 26, Lowber v. Mayor, etc., 69 Lowell v. City of Boston, 44, 917 Lowell Five Cents Savings Bank v. Inhabitants of Winchester, 138,

Lowry v. Bank, 539 Lowry v. Polk County, 684
Lowry, Trustee, etc., v. Phila. Optical
& Watch Co., 1115
Lucas v. Downer, 743 Lucas v. Pitney, 8, 91, 96, 102 Lucas County v. Hunt, 441 Lucas v. White Line Transfer Co., 468, 470, 489, 490 Ludlow v. Hurd, 1055, 1096 Lumberville Delaware Bridge Co. v. State Board of Assessors, 1203, Luse v. Isthmus Transit Ry, Co., 99, 150, 1073 Luzarder v. Sargeant, 880 Lyceur v. Ellis, 1067 Lyddy v. Long Isl and City, 821 Lyell v. Sanbourn, 152 Lyman v. Bonney, 306 Lyman v. Northern Pac. Elevator Co., 1144 Lynch v. First Nat. Bank of Jersey City, 653 Lynde v. Columbus, C. & I. C. Ry. Co., 1161 Lynde v. The County, 832, 920, 921 Lynde v. Winnebago County, 897, 941, 982 Lyndeborough Glass Co. v. Massachusetts Glass Co., 9, 238 Lyndon Mill Co. v. Lyndon Literary & Biblical Inst., 173, 182 Lyng v. Michigan, 1267, 1293 Lyon v. New York, S. & W. R. R. Co., 1048 Lyon v. State Bank, 580 Lyons-Thomas Hardware Co. v. Perry

Μ.

Stove Manufg. Co., 1114, 1117 Lytle v. Lansing, 1002

Mass v. Missouri, Kansas & Tex. Ry. Co., 1043 Mann v. Second Nat. Bank, 601 McAleer v. McMurray, 250 McAllen v. Woodcock, 271 McAllister v. Plant, 1054, 1096 McBee v. Central Trust Co. of New York, 1147, 1148 McBlair v. Gibbes, 269 McBrain v. Grand Rapids, 114 McCabe v. Board of Comrs. of Fountain County, 121 McCall v. California, 1267 McCallie v. Mayor, etc., 964 McCann v. First Nat. Bank, 519 McCaslin v. State, 446 McCarty v. Roots, 95 McClave v. Thompson, 402 McClelland v. Reynolds, 359

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.] McCloskey v. City of Albany, 114 McClure v. Board of Comrs. of La Plata County, 376 McClure v. Levy, 262 McClure v. Oxford Township, 71, 446, 856, 892, 897 McComb v. Barcelona Apartment Association, 236, 1068 McConnell v. Hamm, 851 McConville v. Gilmour, 720 McCormick v. Bay City, 112 McCoy v. Briant, 444 McCoy v. Washington County, 1048 McCracken v. City of San Francisco, 113, 939 McCracken v. Robison, 263 McCrary v. Chambers, 318
McCrary v. Chambers, 318
McCrory v. Junction R. R. Co., 471
McCullough v. Moss, 78, 90, 152
McCullough v. Talladega Ins. Co., 98
McCurdy's Appeal, 1055, 1093
McDernott v. Bank, 572
McDernott v. Bank, 572
McDernott v. Bank, 572
McDernott v. Bank, 572 McDonald v. Chisholm, 203 McDonald v. Houghton, 258 McDonald v. Mayor, 114, 448, 444, McDonough v. Templeman, 145 McDowell v. Bank of Wilmington, 525, 637, 642 McDowell v. Rutherford Ry. Con-struction Company, 906 McElhenny's Appeal, 298, 299 McElrath v. Pittsburg & Steubenville R. R. (b., 1038 McElroy v. Nucleus Association, 1074 McEwen v. Davis, 610, 638, 640 McGargell v. Hazleton Coal Company, 161 McGarrahan v. Mining Co., 857 McGeorge v. Big Stone Gap Improve-ment Co., 88, 308, 304, 1123 McGhee v. Claridy, 1232 McGourkey v. Toledo & Ohio Central Ry. Co., 243 McGrade v. German Sav. Inst., 660 McGregor v. Covington & Lexington R. R. Co., 1021

McGregor v. Deal & Dover Ry. Co., 95, 450, 491 McGregor v. Loomis, 597, 697 McGregor's Excers. v. Vaupel, 1298 McGugin v. Railroad Company, 1250 McHarg v. Eastman, 393 McHenry v. Hazard, 992 McIlenry v. Railroad Co., 316 McIlhenry v. Binz, 1098, 1172, 1241 McIndoe v. St. Louis, 498 McIntire v. Blakeley, 508 McIntire v. Pembroke, 185

McIntire v. Preston, 106, 206 McIntosh v. Tyler, 648 McKay's Case, 259, 300

urer, 912

[The references are to pages: vol. 1 contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307 | Madison County Court v. Richmond, Irvine & T. F. R. R. Co., 908 Madison, etc., Plank Road Co. v. McKeag v. Collins, 193 McKeesport District v. Miller, 139 McKenzie v. Wooley, 900, 907 Watertown Plank Road Co., 74, McKiernan v. Leuzen, 98, 173 80, 453, 459, 468, 471
Madison, etc., R. R. Co. v. Norwich
Sav. Society, 78
Madry v. Cox, 900 McKim v. Odom, 110 McKinster v. Bank of Utica, 581 McKleroy v. Southern Bank of Kentucky, 670 McLain v. Wallace, 609, 634, 710 McLane, Trustee, v. Placerville & Magee v. Cowperthwaite, 1232 Magee v. Mokelumne Hill Coal & Mining Co., 99, 102 Magee v. Pacific Improvement Co., Sacramento Valley R. R. Co., 97, 1013, 1055 McLaughlin v. Citizeus', etc., Assn., 470 Magill v. Hinsdale, 359 Magniac v. Thompson, 931 Magor v. Ray, 7, 10, 378, 441, 821, McLaughlin v. D. & W. R. R. Co., 485 McLean v. Jephson, 1288 McLean v. Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., 1004 Magruder v. Colston, 756 McLean County v. City of Blooming-Mahaiwe Bank v. Peck, 640 Maher v. City of Chicago, 65, 161, 488 Mahone v. Manchester, etc., R. R. ton, 1269 McLellan v. File Works, 80 McLendon v. Anson County, 946 Corp. 182 McLendon v. ('onmissioners, 1048 McLeod v. Evans, 622, 731, 747, 749, 750, 753 Mahone v. Southern Telegraph Co., Mahoney Mining Co. v. Anglo-Culi-fornia Bank, 561 McMahon v. Morrison, 1282 Main v. Casserly, 490
Main Jellico Mountain Coal Co. v.
Lotspeich, 269
Maine v. Grand Trunk Ry. Co., 1293 McManus v. Duluth, Crookston & Northern R. R. Co., 960 McMasters v. Reed, 1013 McMurray v. Moran, 1183 McMurray v. Oil Company, 203 McNab v. McNab & Harlin Mfg. Co., Maisch v. Saving Fund, 306, 307 Makin v. Institution for Savings, 618 Mallory v. Hanaur Oil Works, 501, 820 McNeal v. Allegheny Township, 135 McNell v. Chamber of Commerce, 226 McNell v. Shober & Cargueville Lith. Mallory v. Mallory & Wheeler Co., 172, 246, 298 Mallory v. West Shore & Hudson Co., 359 McNeil v. Tenth National Bank, 627 McNeill v. Lacey, 246 McNulta v. Lochridge, 1224 McPherson v. Foster, 66, 442, 826 River R. R. Co., 1042 Manchester & Lowell Railroad v. Concord Railroad, 821 Mandeville v. Union Bank of George-town, 687 McTighe v. Macon Construction Com-Mandeville v. Welch, 665 Maneval v. Jackson Township, 24, 136 Mangels v. Donan Brewing Co., 1150 Manhattam Bank v. Welker, 623, 635 pany, 1095 McVeany v. Mayor, 798 McWhorter v. People, 792 M. T. Co. v. Howe, 46 Machinists' Nat. Bank v. Field, 335 Mackintosh v. Eliot Bank, 668 Manhattan Beach Co. v. Harned, 384 Manhattan Brass Co. v. Webster Glass Mackintosh v. Flint & Pere Marquette & Queensware Co., 583 R. R. Co., 821 MacNaughton v. Osgood, 808 Manhattan Co. v. Lydig, 600, 602 Manhattan Hardware Co. v. Phalen, Macomber v. Doane, 665 1075, 1079, 1089 Macon & Birmingham R. R. Co. v. Manhattan Hardware Co. v. Roland, Gibson, 974 1079 Macy v. City of Indianapolis, 19 Madison v. Ross, 144 Manhattan Life Ins. Co. v. Fortysecond St. & Grand St. Ferry R. Madison Ave. Baptist Church v. Bap-R. Co., 840 Manhattan Trust Co. v. Sioux City & tist Church in Oliver St., 234 Madison County v. Bartlett, 16 Madison County v. Paxton, 914, 915 Madison County v. Priestly, Treas-N. Ry. Co., 1095 Manley v. City of Atchison, 112 Mann v. Chandler, 810

Mann v, Cooke, 166

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1907.]

Mann v. Eckford, 459 Mann v. Second Nat. Bank, 615 Manning v. Norfolk Southern R. R. Co., 1042, 1048 Manufacturers' Bank v. Continental Bank, 612, 744, 750 Manufacturers' Bank v. Scofield, 572 Manufacturers' Nat. Bank v. Barnes, 604, 680 Manufrs. Nat. Bank v. Newell, 616 Manufrs. Sav. Bank v. Big Muddy Iron Co., 283 Manufacturing Co. v. Ferguson, 1076 Maux Ferry Gravel Road Co. v. Branegan, 278 Mapes v. Scott, 511 Marble v. Jamesville Manufg. Co., 1141 Marble Company v. Harvey, 81 Marbury v. Kentucky Union Land Co., 79, 83 March v. Eastern Railroad, 265, 306 Marcy v. Amazeen, 617 Marcy v. Township of Oswego, 830, 835, 843, 897 Maricopa & Phonix R. R. Co. v. Arizona Territory, 1305 Marine Bank v. Binys, 166 Marine Bank v. Butts, 529 Marine Bank v. Clements, 180, 182, 183, 207 Marine Bank v. Fulton Bank, 597, 615, 662, 745, 750 Marine Bank of Chicago v. Birney, 598Marine Bank of Chicago v. Chandler, 598, 627, 647 Marine Bank of Chicago v. Ferry's Admr., 596 Marine Bank of Chicago v. Ogden, 646 Marine Bank of Chicago v. Rushmore, 599, 627, 647 Marine Bank of Buffalo v. Butler Colliery Co., 148, 197, 234 Marine Nat. Bank v. National City Bank, 654 Marine Nat. Bank v. National City Bank, 652 Marion County v. Harvey County, 903 Marion Savings Bank v. Dunklin, 497 Market Company v. Jackson, 182 Market & Fulton National Bank v. Jones, 1066 Market Street Bank v. Stompe, 548 Markey v. Mutual Benefit Ins. Co., 193 Markley v. Rhodes, 561 Marks, Trustee, etc., v. Trustees of Pardue University, 26 Marlatt v. Levee Steam Cotton Press

Co., 210

Marlborough Manufg. Co. v. Smith. 166 H. & O. R. R. Co. v. Marquette, United States, 1801 Marquette & Ontonagon R. R. Co. v. Taft, 152 Marrett v. Brackett, 659 Marsh v. Burroughs, 1133 Marsh v. Fulion County, 71, 111, 471, 787, 872, 897, 936, 989, 956, 1004 Marsh v. Maxwell, 643 Marsh v. Oncida Central Bank, 598 Marsh v. Small, 643 Marsh v. Whitmore, 168 Marshall v. F. & M. Savings Bank of Alexandria, 553 Marshall v. Harris, 371 Marshall v. Silliman, 936, 972, 1005 Marshall v. Vicksburg, 1059 Martel v. City of East St. Louis, 793 Martin v. Great Falls Manufg. Co., 182 Martin v. Mayor, etc., of Brooklyn, 446 Martin v. Morgan, 601 Martin v. Ningam Falls Paper Mfg. Co., 149, 186, 1066 Martin v. Railway Company, 163 Martin v. Santa Cruz Water Storage Co., 235 Martin v. Victor Mill & Mining Co., 235 Martin v. Webb, 149, 177, 184, 187, 553, 623 Marza v. Balt. & Ohio R. R. Co., 1282, 1303 Mason v. Chandler, 859 Massachusetts & S. Construction Co.
v. Cove Creek Township, 1008 Massey v. Fisher, 781 Massey v. Papin, 1095 Masterion v. Mayor, etc., of Brooklyn. 20 Mather v. Union L. & Trust Co , 223 Matson v. Alley, 151 Matter of Clark v. Sheldon, 997 Matter of Fayerweather, 1290 Matter of Franklin Bank, 598 Matter of Prime, 1200 Matter of Tiffany & Co., 129 Matthews v. Patterson, 385 Matthews v. Skinker, 493, 509, 510 Maupin v. Franklin County, 446 Maury v. Mason, 758 Maxey v. Williamson County, 824, 898, 902, 966
Maxwell v. Planters' Bank, 570, 571 Mayer v. Grima, 1274 Mayor v. Sands, 983 Mayor v. Wetumpka Wharf Co., 43, 851

Mayor of Ludlow v. Charlton, 98

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.] Mayor of Norwich v. Norfolk Ry. Co., | 491 Mayor, etc., v. Inman, 233, 250 Mayor, etc., v. Kirkley, 111 Mayor, etc., v. Tenth Nat. Bank, 361 Mayor, etc., of Baltimore v. Baltimore & Ohio R, R. Co., 71 Mayor, etc., of Baltimore v. Eschbach, 109 Mayor, etc., of Baltimore v. Musgrave, 111 Mayor, etc., of Baltimore v Poultney, 112 Mayor, etc., of Baltimore v. Reynolds, 110, 111 Mayor, etc., of Cartersville v. Baker, Mayor, etc., of Jackson v. Bownian, 29 Mayor, etc., Kokomo v State, 949, 950 Mayor, etc., of Rome v. Cabot, 29, 70 Mayor, etc., of Rome v. McWilliams, Mayor, etc., of Staple of England v. Governor, etc., of Bank of England, 344 Mayor, etc., of Wetumpka v. Winter, 47, 48 Mead v. Kegler, 73, 75, 100, 102 Mead v. Mali, 287, 309 Mead v. Merchants' Bank of Albany, 647, 651 Mead v. New York, H. & N. R. R. Co., 1013, 1055 Mechanics' Bank v. Bank of Columbia, 359, 572 Mcchanics' Bank v. New York & N. H. R. Co., 286, 489 Mechanics' Bank v. Mcrchants' Bank, 611 Merchants' Bank v. State Bank, 328
Merchants' Bank of Alexandria v.
Bank of Columbia, 142, 146, 185 Mechanics' Bkg. Assn. v. New York, etc., White Lead Company, 78, 106, 223, 362
Mechanics & Farmers' Bank v. Smith, Mechanics & Workingmen's Mut. Sav. Bk., etc., v. Meriden Agency Co., 77, 517 Medberry v. Short, 220 Medomak Bank v. Curtis, 571 Meeker v. Winthrop Iron Co., 267 Meier v. Railway Company, 1126 Meinzer v. Racine, 42 Melledge v. Boston Iron Company, 159, 284 Mellen v. Iron Works, 1140, 1142 Mellen Pipe Lines v. Allegheny County, 1279

Melvin v. Lisenby, 825 Memphis City v. Dean, 29 Memphis v. Ensley, 1303 Memphis v. Home Insurance Co., 1307 Memphis v. Phœnix, etc., Ins. Co.. 1307 Memphis v. Union & Planters' Bank. 1307 Memphis & C. R. R. Co. v. Hoechner. 1232 Memphis Grain & Elevator Co. v. Memphis & Charleston R R. Co., 819 Memphis, Kansas & Colorado Ry. Co. v. Thompson, 919, 962 Memphis & Little Rock Railroad v. Commrs., 1282 Memphis & Little Rock R. R. Co. v. Dow, 98, 1028, 1031, 1037, 1039, 1103 Memphis & Little Rock Ry. Co. v. Stringfellow, 1228 Menasha v. Hazard, 935 Menier v. Hooper's Telegraph Works, 323, 326 Mercantile Bank v. McCarthy, 573 Mercantile Bank v. New York, 1277 Mercantile Library Co. v. City of Philadelphia and Taylor, Receiver of Taxes, 1266 Mercantile Library Co. v. Philadelphia, 1266 Mercantile Trust Co. v. Chicago Peoria & St. Louis Ry. Co., 1162 Mercantile Trust Co. v. Kanar ha & Ohio Ry. Co., 1161, 1166, 1212, 1215 Mercantile Trust Co. v. Missouri, K. & T. Ry. Co., 1149, 1152, 1184, 1186, 1203, 1206 Mercantile Trust Company v. Pittsburgh & W. R. R. Co., 1238 Mercantile Trust Company v. Texas & Pac. Ry. Co., 1105
Mercer County v. Hocket, 825, 940
Mercer County Court v. Kentucky
River Navigation Co., 46, 899 Mercer County Court v. S., M. & H. T. Company, 46 Merchants' Bank v. Bergen County, 445, 872 Merchants' Bank v. Bliss, 398 Merchants' Bank v. Central Bank, 573 Merchants' Bank v. Exchange Bank, 650, 666 Merchants' Bank v. Marine Bank, 672 Merchants' Bank v. McColl, 187 Merchants' Bank v. Rowls, 198

Merchants' Bank v. Rudolf, 575, 579 Merchants' Bank v. State Bank, 174, 177, 208, 222, 226, 506, 507, 546,

571, 651, 652, 655

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.] Merchants' Bank v. Stevenson, 381, Metropolitan Nat. Bank v. Lloyd, 506, 400 Merchants' Bank of Canada v. Union R. R. & Transp. Co., 696 Merchants & Farmers' Bank v. Austin, 750 Merchants & Farmers' Bank v. Hervey Plow Company, 155 Merchants & Farmers' Nat. Bank of Charlotte v. Myers, 529 941 Merchants' Insurance Co. v. Chauvin, Merchants' Nat. Bank v. Bailey Mfg. Co., 388 Merchants' Nat. Bank v. Chattanooga Construction Co., 1140 Merchants' Nat. Bank v. Hanson, 509, 515 Merchants' National Bank v. Manufg. Company, 1123 Merchants' Nat. Bank v. Ritzinger, 641, 644, 645 Merchants' Nat. Bank v. Tracy, 239 Merchants' Nat. Bank of Chicago v. Detroit Knitting & Corset Works. Merchants' Nat. Bank of Gardner v. Citizens' Gas Light Co. of Quincy, 225, 239 Morchants' Nat. Bank of Gardner v. Clark, 361 Merchants' Nat. Bank of St. Paul v. 414 McNeir, 587 Merchants & Planters' Line v. Waganer, 317 Union Barb Wire Co v. Merchants' Rice, 142, 146 Meriden Tool Co. v. Morgan, 390 Meriwether v. Muhlenburg County, 900 Merriam v. Moody's Execrs, 4 Merrick v. Inhabitants of Amherst, 37 Merrick v. Peru Coal Co., 279, 356, Merrick v. Trustees of the Bank of the Metropolis, 162, 188 Merrill v. Consumers' Coal Company, 155, 170 Merrill v. Florida Land Imp. Co , 566, 717Merrill v. Plainfield, 790 Merrill v. Town of Monticello, 12, 425, 884, 999, 1004 Merritt v. Goodrich, 381 Merville v. American Tract Society, 787 Merz v. Interior Conduit & Insulation Co., 1031

613, 614, 619 Metropolitan R. R. Co. v. District of Columbia, 845 Metropolitan Trust Co. v. New York, L. E. & W. R. R. Co., 1102 Metropolitan T. & T. Co. v. Domestic T. & T. Co., 284 Meyer v. City of Muscatine, 897, 909. Meyer v. Utah & Pleasant Valley R. R. Co., 1172 Mezger v. Carr, 381 Michoud v. Girod, 275, 316, 326
Michigan Slate Co. v. Iron Range & Huron Bay R. R. Co., 232
Middlebury v. Rood, 136
Middlesex County Bank v. Hirsch
Bros. Vencer Mfg. Co., 363
Middlesex R. R. Co. v. Boston & Chelsea R. R. Co., 466 Middleton v. Allegheny County, 954 Milbank v. New York, L. E. & W. R. R. Co., 517 Milbank v. Welch, 260 Miles, Treasurer, v. Ray, 1271 Milhau v. Sharp, 29 Millard v. St. Francis Xavier Academy, 487 Mill Co. v. Kampe, 254 Mill Dam Foundery v. Hovey, 395, Miller v. Barber, 291 Miller v. Bradish, 385 Miller v. Chavee, 169 Miller v. Embree, 122 Miller v. Ewer, 1075 Miller v. New York & Erie R. R. Co., 97, 807, 1013 Miller v. Race, 625 Miller v. Roach, 809 Miller v. Rutland & Washington R. R. Co., 1047, 1055, 1073 Miller v. Washington Southern Ry. Co., 493 Miller v. White, 394, 396, 398, 309, 415 Millikin v. Shapleigh, 702 Mills v. Bellmer, 119 Mitts v. Gleason, 24, 41, 42 Mills v. Jefferson, 946, 955 Mills v. State Bank, 653 Millsaps v. City of Terrell, 869 Milne v. Davidson, 798 Miltenberger v. Cook, 787 Miltenberger v. Logansport Railway, 1193, 1202, 1220, 1222, 1240 Milwaukee & Illinois Northern R. R. Co. v. Field, 163 Milwaukee & Minnesota R. R. Co. v. Meserole v. Mayor, etc., of Brooklyn, Soutter, 1192 Miner v. Belle Isle Ice Co., 263 Metropolitan Elevated Ry. Co. v. Man-Miners' Bank Estate, 508 hattan Ry. Co., 167, 264, 265, 308

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307]

Miners' Ditch Co. v. Zellerbuch, 491 Mining Company v. Anglo Californian Bank, 93, 184, 222, 226 Mining Company v. Mason, 1164 Minneapolis Times Co. v. Nimcocks, Minnesota Central R R. Co. v. Donaldson, 1282 Minnesota Thresher Mfg. Co. v. Langdon. 1188 Minor v. Mechanics' Bank, 563, 567 Minor v. Paine, 815 Minor v. Phil., Wilm. & Balt. R. R. Co, 1291
Minot v. West Roxbury, 34
Minturn v. Larue, 4, 29
Miranda v. City Bank, 081 Mish v. Main, 1124 Mississippi R. R. Co. v. Scott, 625 Missouri, K. & J. Ry. Co of Kansas, v. Chilton, 1231 Missouri Lead Mine & Smelting Co v. Reinhard, 1070 Missouri Pac. Ry. Co. v Texas & Pac.
Ry. Co., 1204, 1210, 1225, 1229
Missouri River, etc., R. R. Co v. Morris, 871 Missouri Valley & B. Ry. & B. Co. v. Harrison County, 1301, 1302 Mitchell v. Beckman, 604, 756 Mitchell v. Burlington, 12, 909 Mitchell v. Deeds, 194 Mitchell v. Harris, 1152 Mitchell v. McCabe, 608 Mitchell v. Rockland, 446 Mitchell v. Walker, 716 Mixer v. Manistee County Supervisors, Mobile & Cedar Point Ry. Co. v. Talman, 91, 1055, 1096 Mobile & M. Ry. Co. v. Gilmer, 284 Mobile & Ohio R. R. Co. v. Tennessee, 1281 Mobley v. Clark, 688 Moers v. City of Reading, 49 Moffat v. Winslow, 294 Moffit v. State ex rel., 122 Mohawk Bank v. Broderick, 658, 707 Mohawk Bridge Co. v. Utica & Schenectady Railroad, 1097 Mokelumne Hill Canal & Mining Co. v. Woodbury, 756 Montclair v. Ramsdell, 1001, 1002 Montelius v. Charles, 702 Montgomery v. Township of St. Mary's, 971 Montgomery County v. Barber, 32 Montgomery County Bank v. Albany City Bank, 708

Montillet v. Bank of the United States,

681

Monument National Bank v. Globe Works, 93, 10¢, 226, 227, 465 Moody v. Mack, 661 Mooers v. Swedley, 121 Moon v. Board, etc., 123 Moore v. Butler, 1108 Moore v. Davis, 665 Moore v. City of Walla Walla, 14 Moore v. H. Gano & Sons' Mfg Co. 151, 608 Moore v. Lent, 383 Moore v. Mayor, etc., of New York, 441 Moore v. Meyer, 599 Moore v. Railroad Company, 1031 Moore v. Schoppert, 306 Moore v. Sinks, 857 Moore v. Swanton Tanning Co., 820 Moore v. Waitt, 602 Moores v. Citizens' Nat. Bank, 335, 342, 343 Moors v. Goddard, 612 Moran v. Comrs. of Miami Co., 106, 328, 895, 807, 949, 956, 965 Moran v. New Orleans, 1293 Morey v. Food, 394 Morford v Farmers' Bank of Saratoga. 78, 465 Morgan v. Louisiana, 1282 Morgan v. Merchants' Bank, 192 Morgan V. Skiddy, 286, 291
Morgan County v. Seaton, 31
Morgan County v. Thomas, 901, 1096
Morgan's La. & Tex. R. R. & St. Ship Co. v. Board of Reviewers, 1301 Morgan's La. & Tex. R. R. & St. Ship Co. v. Texas Central Ry. Co., 1147, 1151, 1153, 1256 Morgan & Raynor, Trustees, v. Donovan, 95, 1096 Morrell v. Long Island R. R. Co, 331 Morrill v. Noyes, 1096 Morris v. Keil, 1071, 1075 Morris v. Merrel, 116 Morris v. The State, 881 Morris Canal & Bkg. Co. v. Fisher. Morris Canal & Bkg. Co. v. Lewis, 955 Morris & Essex Railroad v. Central Railroad Co., 1097 Morris R. R. Co. v. Railroad Co., 488 Morris Run Coal Co. v. Barclay Coal Co., 1178 Morrison v. Bailey, 656, 658 Morrison v. Easton & Hamilton R. R. Co., 456, 1021 Morrison v. Globe Panorama Co., 287 Morrison v. Lawrence, 83 Morrison v. Ogdensburg & L. C. R. R. Co., 250

Morrisville School District, 189

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307] Morse v. Beale, 805 Morse v. Swits, 231 Morton v. City of Nevada, 23, 968 Morton v. New Orleans & Selma Ry. Co., 1183 Moser v. Kreigh, 210 Moses v. Franklin Bank of Baltimore, 657, 659, 664 Moses v. Ocoll Bank, 550 Mosher v. Hubbard, 995 Mosher v. Independent School District, 66, 879 Mosher v. Supreme Sitting of Order of Iron Hall, 1123 Moss v. Averell, 819 Moss v. Harpeth Academy, 102 Moss v. Livingston, 360
Moss v. Cakley, 74, 97, 101
Moss v. Rossie L. M. Co., 494
Mott v. Hicks, 20, 74, 96, 101, 358, 360 Moulton v. City of Evansville, 45 Moulton v. Connell-Hall-McLester Co , 1141 Mount v. First Nat. Bank, 691 Mt. Adams, etc.. Inclined Ry. Co. v. City of Cincinnati, 7 Mount Holly Paper Co.'s Appeal, 288 Mount Pleasant v. Beckwith, 844 Mt. Sterling & Jeffersonville T. P. Co., v. Looney, 180, 181, 182 Moyer v. East Shore Terminal Co., 235 Mozley v. Alston, 305, 348 Muench v. Valley Nat. Bank, 640 Mullanphy Savings Bank v. Schott, 246 Mullarky v. Town of Cedar Falls, 24 Muller v. Dows, 1161 Mullikin v. Reeves, Treasurer, 1271 Multnomah County v. Oregon Nat. Bank, 737 Mundt v. Railroad Company, 1250 Mumford v. Hawkins, 170 Munger v. Albany City Nat. Bank, Municipality No. One v. Orleans Theatre Co., 77 Munn v. Burch, 649, 655, 662 Munn v. Commission Company 74, 90, 96 Munson v. Syracuse, Geneva & Corn-ing R. R. Co., 43, 264, 267, 278 Murdock v. Woodson, 1105 Murphy v. City of Jacksonville, 42 Murphy v. East Portland, 67 Murphy v. Louisville, 446 Murphy v. Welch, 1071 Murah v. Branch Bank at Decatur, 530 Murray v. American Surety Co. of New York, 714

Murray v. Bull's Head Bank, 650 Murray v. Cannon, 630 Murray v. East India Co., 98, 152 Murray v. Lardner, 980, 1001, 1037 Murray v. Lumber Company, 172, 238 Murray v. Pauly, 634 Muscatine v. Mississippi & M, R R, Co., 904 Muscatine Water Co. v. Muscatine Lumber Co., 805 Musser v. Johnson, 1071 Mussey v. Prest., etc., Eagle Bank, 594, 651 Mustard v. Union Nat. Bank, 529 Mut. Sav. Bank v. Meriden Agency Co., 469, 478 Mygatt v. City of Green Bay, 945

Nant-y-glo, etc., Co. v. Grave, 300 Narragansett Bank v. Atlantic Silk Co., 227 Nash v. Bank, 527, 528 Nash v. City of St. Paul, 144, 446, 821 Nashua & Lowell Corp. v Boston & Lowell Corp., 158, 470, 1148 Nashua & Lowell Railroad v. State, 1301 Nashville Trust Co. v. Fourth Nat. Bank, 523, 1146 Nassau Bank v. Jones, 407, 469, 517 National Bank v. Burkhardt, 600 National Bank v. Case, 764 National Bank v. Commonwealth, 133, 1296 National Bank v. Colby, 717 National Bank v. Graham, 321, 534, National Bank v. Insurance Co., 609, 626, 731, 735, 736, 737, 750, 752, 759 National Bank v. Johnson, 528, 539 National Bank v. Kimball, 1279 National Bank v. Matthews, 509, 515, 540, 543, 1059 National Bank v. Mechanics' Nat. Bank, 605 National Bank v. Norton, 361

National Bank v. Paige, 417 National Bank v. Strait, 561 National Bank v. Watsontown Bank, National Bank v. Whitman, 673, 676 National Bank v. Whitney, 509, 515, 540, 543, 544

National Bank of Augusta v. Carolina, K. & W. R. R. Co., 1244 National Bank of Battle Creek v.

Mallan, 157

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1807.]

Elmira, 1288 Bank of Commerce v. Nat. Mechanics' Bank, 661

National Bank of Commerce v. Shumway, 1112 National Bank of Commerce v. Town of Granada, 859, 861, 866, 867.

National Bank of Commerce of Kansas City v. Atkinson, 178
Nat. Bank of the Cammonwealth v.

Grocers' Nat. Bank, 672 Nat. Bink of Fort Edward v. Washington County Nat. Bank, 605, Nat. Bank of Gloversville v. Wells, 554 Nat. Bank of Jefferson v. Beahn, 535 Nat. Bank of Jefferson v. Texas Investment Co., 349

Nat. Bank of Metropolis v. Williams, 571

National Bank of Newburgh v. Smith,

National Bank of North America v. Bangs, 331

Nat. Bank of Republic of N. Y. v. Young, Recr., etc., 92, 362, 464 Nat. Bank of Yenia v. Stewart, 517,

540, 543, 572

Nat. Citizens' Bank of New York v. Howard, 620

National Cordage Co. v. Pearson Cord-age Co., 151, 218

National Exchange Bank v. Benbrook School Furnishing Co., 1129

National Exchange Bank v. Hartford, Prov. & F. R. R. Co., 1048

Nat, Exchange Bank of Bultimore v. Peters, 558 National Exchange Bank of Dallas v.

Beal, 710 National Exchange Co. v. Drew, 294

National Foundry & Pipe Works v. Oconto Water Co., 1022 National Gold Bank v. McDonald, 601, 608

National Life Ins. Co. of Montpelier
v. Board of Education of City of Huron, 880, 891, 893, 894, 897

National Panquioque Bank v. First Nat. Bank of Bethel, 689

Nat. Park Bank v. German American Mut. W. & S. Co., 78, 80, 100, 862, 465, 568

National Park Bank v. Remsen, 397 National Pemberton Bank v. Porter, 515, 516

National Security Bank v. Cushman, 887

National Spraker Bank v. Treadwell Company, 197

National Bank of Chemung v. City of | National State Bank v. Independent District, 66

National State Bank v. Young, 1298 Nat. State Bank of La Fayette v. Ringel, 628

National Trust Co. v. Miller, 354

National Tube Works Co. v. Ballou, 1139

National Water & Mining Co. v. Clarkson, 454, 494 Naugatuck R. R. v. Waterbury Button Co., 469 Neal v. Briggs, 404

Neall v. Hill, 302, 311 Neary v. Phila., Wilm. & Balt. R. R. Co., 1280, 1300 Nebr. & Kans. Furm Loan Co. v.

Bell, 211, 284, 285 Needham v. Wilson, 1157 Neely v. Rood, 597, 748, 752 Neely v. Yorkville, 446

Neff v. Greene County Nat. Bank, 603

Negley v. Counting Room Co., 210 Neiffer v. Bank of Knoxville, 198

Neill v. Spencer, 359

Nelligan v. Campbell, 351 Nelson v. City of La Porte, 29 Nelson v. Eaton, 102

Nelson v. Haywood County, 900, 907 908

Nelson v. Hubbard, 1057

Nelson v. Luling, 286 Nelson v. Mayor, 444 Nelson v. Milford, 35, 61 Nemaha County v. Frank, 948

Neosho County v. Stoddart, 125 Nesbit v. Riverside Independent Dis-trict, 879, 885, 886, 897, 1188 Nesmith v. Washington Bank, 525

Neuse River Nav. Co. v. Comrs., 166 Nevada Bank of San Francisco v. Portland Nat. Bank, 546, 547

Nevitt v. Bank of Port Gibson, 494

New Albany, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Smith, 949, 955 Newark Banking Co. v. Bank of Eric

660 Newbery v. Fox, 443, 821

Newbery v. Garland, 201 New Buffalo v. Iron Co., 985 New Chester Water Co. v. Holly Manufacturing Co., 1102 Newell v. Bank, 534

New, etc., Co. v. Erlanger, 291 New England, etc., Ins. Co. v. Robinson, 97 Newgass v. Atlantic & D. Ry. Co. (Central Car Trust Co., Intervener), 1255, 1256

Newgass v. City of New Orleans, 11 New Hampshire Savings Bank v. New Downing, 596

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.] New Haven, M. & W. R. R. Co. v. | Nichol v. Mayor, etc., 4, 48, 49, 901 Town of Chatham, 1052 New Haven & Northampton Co. v. Nicholas v. Oliver, 206 Nicholas v. Howe, 122 Nichola v. Mase, 1082, 1096 Hayden, 155 New Jersey Ins. Co. v. Meeker. 395 Nichols v. Pinner, 624 New London v. Brainard, 33 Newman v. City of Emporia, 114, 889,

New Market Savings Bank v. Gillet. 358

New Orleans v. Clark, 66, 830, 860 New Orleans Canal Co. v. Escofile.

New Orleans, Fla. & Havana St. Ship Co. v. Ocean Dry Dock Co., 77 New Orleans Gas Light Co. v. City of New Orleans, 29, 30

New Orleans, M. &C. R. Co. v. Dunn, 11, 48, 44, 950

New Orleans & Pac. Ry. Co. v. Union Trust Co., 1101 New York & S. C. Co. v. F. Bank,

New York, etc., R. R. Co. v. Smith,

New York Firemen's Ins. Co. v. Bennett, 90 New York Firemen's Ins. Co. v. Ely, 96, 439, 469 New York Firemen's Ins. Co. v.

Sturges, 90, 100 v York Iron Mine v. Citizens' New York from Bank, 180, 200

New York Iron Mine v. First Nat. Bank of Negaunee, 152 v York Iron Mine v. Negaunee

Bank, 180, 209

New York, Lake Eric & West. R. R. Co. v. Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, 1291, 1304 New York Life Ins. Co. v. Beebe, 342 New York & N. H. R. R. Co. v. Ketchum, 279

Y York & N. H. R. R. Co. v. Schuyler, 322, 325, 333, 335, 338, 339, 340, 986 New York, P. & B. R. R. Co. v. Dixon, 183 New York, P. & N. Ry. Co. v. Bates, 156

New York, P. & O. R. R. Co. v. New York, L. E. & W. R. R. Co., 1189, 1201

New York Security & Trust Co. v. Saratoga Gas & Electric Light Co., 1100, 1155

New York State Loan & Trust Co. v. Helmer, 528

Niagara County Bank v. Baker, 515, 527

Niantic Savings Bank v. Town of Douglas, 974

Nichols v. Scranton Steel Co., 151

Nichols v. Stephens, 712 Nickerson v. Ruger, 621

Niles v. Shaw, 1299
Niles v. Shaw, 1299
Niles Water Works v. Mayor, etc.,
City of Niles, 68
Nims v. Mt. Hermon Boys' School, 236

Ninth Nat. Bank v. Knox County, 907 Nixon v. State ex rel., 123

Noble v. Andrews, 742 Noble v. City of Vincennes, 951 Nolan County v. State, 14, 67, 828, 830, 833, 834

Noland v. Busby, 1272 Nolle v. Fenwick, 446 Nolton v. Railroad Co., 348 Nonotuck Silk Co. v. Flanders, 738,

Norcross v. Benton, 721 Norfolk & Western R. R. Co. v. Penn sylvania, 1298 Norfolk & Western R. R. Co. v. Ship pers' Compress Co., 458

Norris v. Despard, 657 Norris v. Hall, 522

North America Bank v. Bangs, 668 Northampton Bank v. Pepoon, 206, 548

Northampton County v. Easton Passenger Railway Co., 1266 North Brookfield Sav. B

Bank Flanders, 580

Northern Bank of Toledo v. Porter Township Trustees, 879, 885, 897 Northern Central Ry. Co. v. Bastian.

Northern Railroad v. Concord Railroad, 1111

North Hudson Mut. B. & L. Assn. v. Childs, 352

North Pa. R. R. Co. v. Adams, 955,

Northern Pac. R. R. Co. v. Clark, 1279 Northern Pacific R. R. Co. v. Raymond, 1300 North River Bank v. Aymar, 262, 334

North Side Ry. Co. v. Worthington, 89, 1031 North Ward National Bank v. City of

Newark, 1296 Northwestern Coal Co. v. Bownian &

Co., 707 Northwestern Union Packet Co. v. Shaw, 497

Norton v. Alabama National Bank, 285

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.]

Norton v. Derry Nat. Bank, 508
Norton v. Deyershurg, 17, 1000
Norton v. Peck, 795
Norton v. Taxing Dist. of Brownsville, 954
Norwich Gas Light Co. v. Norwich City Gas Co., 29
Norwich & W. R. R. Co. v. County Cours., 1282
Norwood & Butterfield Co. v. Andrews, 92
Nosser v. Seeley, 55, 917
Nougue v. Clapp. 1137
Nougue v. Clapp. 1137
Nougue v. Hatland & Burlington R. R.

Ohio Valley Nat. Bank v. V. Architectural Iron Co., 108 il Co. v. Densmore, 275 oil Creek, etc., R. R. Co. v. Pevania Transportation Co., 1 Olect v. The Supervisors, 902, Olect v. Tioga Railroad Co., 14
198, 232, 233
Oilham v. Bank, 510, 529
O'Leury v. Board, etc., 793
Oilphant v. Woodburn C. & M. Co., 165, 316
Oliver v. Platt, 268
Olmstead v. Distilling & Cattle ing Co., 1192
Olney v. Chadsey, 193, 563

Nugent v. The Supervisors, 985, 949

Co., 153, 489

Nunnemaker v. Lanier, 702

Ο. Oakes v. Cattaraugus Water Co., 155, 500 Oakland v. Carpenter, 59 Oakland Bank of Savings v. Wilcox, 563 Oakland Paving Co. v. Rier, 190 Oakland Township v. Martin, 136 Oakley v. Valley County, 117 Oates v. National Bank, 588, 988 O'Bear Jewelry Co. v. Volfer, 1111 O'Brien v. C., R. I. & P. R. Co., 166 Ocean Co. v. Ophelia, 656 Odd Fellows v. First Nat. Bank of Sturgis, 210 Odd Fellows' Bank v. Guillen, 847 Odd Fellows' Hall Assn. of Portland v. Hegele, 470 Oddie v. National City Bank, 600, 639. 1213 Odiorne v Maxcy, 150, 152 Oelbermann v. New York & N. Ry. Co., 470 Ogden v. County of Daviess, 866, 872. Ogden v. Murray, 260, 280, 283 Ogilvie v. Knox Insurance Co., 1133 O'Hare v. Second Nat. Bank of Titusville, 520 Ohio Central R. R. Co. v. Central Trust Co. of New York, 1181 Obio Life & Trust Co. v. Debolt, 957 Ohio & M. R. R. Co. v. McCarthy. 1089 Ohio & Mississippi Ry. Co. v. Commissioners, 1271 Ohio & Mississippi Ry. Co. v. Davis, 1228 Ohio & Mississippi Ry. Co. v. People,

Ohio Valley Nat. Bank v. Walton Architectural Iron Co., 1081 Archiectural from Co., 1081
Oil Co. v. Densmore, 275
Oil Creek, etc., R. R. Co. v. Pennsylvania Transportation Co., 1079
Olcott v. The Supervisors, 902, 957
Olcott v. Tioga Railroad Co., 142, 152, 198, 233, 238
Oldbarn v. Bark 510, 590 Oldham v. Bank, 510, 529 O'Leury v. Board, etc., 793 Oliphant v. Woodburn C. & Mining Co., 165, 316 Oliver v. Piatt, 263 Olmstead v. Distilling & Cattle Feeding Co., 1192 Olney v. Chadsey, 198, 562 Olney v. Land Company, 1087, 1111 Olson v. State Bank, 759, 1135 Omnha Bridge Cases, 895 Omaha & St. Louis Ry. Co. v. Wabash, St. Louis & Pac. Ry. Co., 1095, O. & N. R. R. Co. v. McPherson, 365 Oncida Bank v. Ontario Bank, 65, 653, 858 O'Neil v. Battic, 189 O'Neill v. Bradford, 628 Onstott v. People, 907, 920 Opdyke v. Pacific R. R. Co., 1052 Opinion of the Justices (Me.), 21 Orchard v. School District, 883 Ore Company v. Bird, 298 Oregon v. Jennings, 897
Oregon R. R. & Nav. Co. v. Oregonian
Co., 465, 473
Oregon Railway v. Oregon Ry. &
Nav. Co., 73, 236
Oregon Short Line Ry. Co. v. Yeatcs,
1301 1301 Oriental Bank v. Tremont Ins. Co., 522 Oriental Vienna Bakery, Coffee & Natatorium Co. v. Heissler, 1123, Ornn v. Merchants' Nat. Bank, 510 Oro Mining & Milling Co. v. Kaiser, Oroville, etc., R. R. Co. v. Supervisors, etc., 801 Orphan Society of Lexington v. Fayette County, 127 Osage Valley & So. Kansas R. R. Co. v. Morgan Co. Court, 46 Osborn v. Bank of the United States, Osborn v. Moncure, 641 Osborne v. County of Adams, 54, 917 Osgood v. King, 166 Osgood v. McConnell, 627 Otis v. Gross, 643 Otoe County v. Baldwin, 928

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.] Ottawa v. Carey, 70, 872 Ottawa v. National Bank of Portsmouth, 70, 872, 895 Otter v. Brevoort P. Co., 455 Ouachita Packet Co. v. Aiken, 1294 Oubre v. Donaldsonville, 857 Outterson v. Fonda Lake Paper Company, 155 Overseers of Norwich v. Overseers of New Berlin, 446 Oviatt v. Hughes, 396 Owensboro & N. Ry. Co. v. County of Daviess, 1301 Owensboro & N. Ry. Co. v. Logan County, 1302 Owings v. Grubbs' Admr., 359 Ownings v. Hall, 172

P. Pacific Coast Ry. Co. v. Ramage, Pacific Express Co. v. Seibert, 1268 Pacific Insurance Co. v. Soule, 1274 Pacific Nat. Bank v. Eaton, 519, 756 Pac. Postal Telegraph Cable Co. v. Western Union Telegraph Co., Pac. R. R. Co. v Seely, 493 Pacific Rolling Mill Co. v. Dayton, S. & G. R. Ry. Co., 220, 236 Pack v. Thomas, 645, 660 Packard v. Jefferson County, 46 Packard v. Society, 227 Packet Co. v. Catlettsburg, 1293 Packet Co. v. Keokuk, 1293 Packet Co. v. St. Louis, 1293 Paducah Land, Coal & Iron Co. v. Hays, 261 Paducah Land, Coal & Iron Co. v.
Mulholland, 263
Page v Fall River, W. & P. R. Co., 221 Page v. Supreme Lodge K. & L. of Protection, 1118, 1120 Pahlman v. Taylor, 152 Pahquioque Bank v. Bethel Bank, 554Paine v. Guardians of Strand Union, 98 Paine v. Lake Erie & L. R. Co., 250, 1220 Pairpont Manufg. Co. v. Phila. Opti-cal & Watch Co., 1115 Palmer v. Forbes, 1096 Palmer v. Nassau Bank, 191 Palmer v. Railway Co., 465 Palmer v. Stumph, 870 Palmer v. Whitney, 691 Pana v. Bowler, 897, 980, 981 Pangburn v. Westlake, 520

Paola & Fall River Railroad v. Anderson County Comrs., 889, 890, 899 Pape v. Capitol Bank of Topeka, 513, 515, 527 Parish v. Wheeler, 153, 496, 1096 Park v. Grant Locomotive Works, 163, 815 Park v. New York, L. E. & W. R. R. Co., 1201, 1202, 1222 Parker v. Commonwealth, 48 Parker v. Hartley, 649 Parker v. Jones, 753 Parker v. McKenna, 259 Parker v. Nickerson, 243, 259, 275, 310 Parker v. Scogin, 49 Parker v. Smith, 977 Oxford Iron Co. v. Spradley, 100, 102 Parker v. Supervisors of Dakota County, 798
Parker v. Supervisors of Saratoga, 130 Parkersburg v. Brown, 44, 788, 860 Parkhurst v. Northern Central R. R. Co., 1096 Parks v. Boston, 19 Parr v. Attorney-General, 121 Parrott v. Byers, 311 Parry v. Highley, 509 Parsel v. Bames & Bro., 111 Parsons v. Goshen, 33, 34 Parsons v. Monmouth, 18 Partridge v. Badger, 72, 75, 102, 217 Pasley v. Freeman, 294 Passaic Water Co. v. City of Paterson, 1279 Patriotic Bank v. Farmers' Bank of Alexandria, 692 Patteson v. Ongley Electric Co., 155 Patterson v. Bank, 609, 610 Patterson v. Robinson, 154, 183, 187, 400, 401, 402 Patterson v. Stewart, 388 Pattison v. Yuba, 49 Paul v. City of Kenosha, 857 Pauling v. London Ry. Co., 234 Pauly v. Coronado Beach Co., 470, 477 Pauly v. Pauly, 491 Pauly v. State Loan & Trust Co., 717, 765 Paxson v. Brown, 895 Paxton Cattle Co. v. First Nat. Bank, 281 Payne v. Bullard, 357 Peabody v. Flint, 306, 326 Peak v. Ellicott, 621, 781, 747 Pearce v. Madison, etc., R. R. Co., 94, 450, 471, 478, 478, 493

Pearson v. Concord R. R. Corporation, 282 Pearson's Case, 428 Peck v. Doran Wright Co. (Lim.), 492 Peck v. First National Bank, 624, 706 [The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol II, pp. 708-1907]

```
Peck v. School District, 139
Peddicord v. Connard, 639
Peek v. Derry, 292
Peek v. Detroit Novelty Works, 162
Pelton v. Bank, 1273, 1297
Pemigewassett Bank v. Rogers, 583
Pendleton v. Bank of Kentucky, 575
 Pendleton Co v. Amy, 897
Peninsular Bank v. Hanmer, 209, 578
Peninsular Bank v. Hanmer, 209, 578
Peninsular Bank v. Hanmer, 209, 578
Penobscot R. Co. v. Dunn, 258
Penn v. Calhoun, 1179, 1193
Pennyl Defruit 200
 Pennell v. Deffell, 626, 742
 Pennock v. Coe, 1055, 1095 Pennsylvania Bank Assignces' Account, 713
 Pennsylvania Co. for Insurance of Lives and for Granting Annuities
v. Jacksonville, T & K. Ry Co., 1157
 Pennsylvania, Del. & Md. St Nav. Co.
         v. Dandridge, 145, 234, 439, 452,
 Penn. N. Gas Co. v. Cook, 1079
  Pennsylvania Railroad v. St. Louis,
 etc., R. R. Co., 473, 488

Pennsylvania R. R. Co. v. Allegheny Valley R. Co., 1163, 1173

Pennsylvania R. R. Co. v. City of Philadelphia, 46
  Pensacola Telegraph Co. v. Western Telegraph Co., 1293
Pentz v. Stanton, 360
  People v. American Bell Telephone
Co., 1289
  People v. Arguello, 69
   People v. Assessor, 1301
People v. Baker, 130
  People v. Ballard, 465
People v. Bank of Dansville, 622
   People v. Bank of North America, 667
  People v. Barker, 1288, 1290, 1299
People v. Baraga Township, 446
People v. Batchellor, 994, 1007
People v. Board of Supervisors of Logan County, 910
People v. Board of Supervisors of Ford County, 910
   People v. Brinckerhoff, 130
  People v. Cass County, 904, 918
People v. Central Pacific R. R. Co., 871, 1804
   People v. Chapman, 972
   People v. Cheetham, 1302
People v. Chicago Gas Trust Co., 517 People v. City Bank of Rochester, 622, 781
   People v. Commrs, of Taxes, 1801
People v. Common Council of Detroit, People v. Davenport, 1306
People v. Demarest, 131
```

People v. Dutcher, 977 People v. Eel River & E. R. Co., 236 People v. Flagg, 114 People v. Gage, 1269 People v. Garner, 979 People v. Glaun, 918 People v. Hamill, 67 People v. Haren, 1802 People v. Hicks, 1301 People v. Holden, 918, 919, 953, 977 People v. Home Insurance Co., 1305 People v. Horn Silver Mining Co., 1290 People v. Johnson, 63, 802 People v. Lawrence, 132 People v. Logan County, 905 People v. May, 445 People v. Maynard, 880 People v. Mayor, 1209 People v. Mayor of Brooklyn, 901 People v. Meach, 131 People v. Mead, 111 People v. Merchants & Mechanics' Bank of Troy, 650 People v. M. & T. S. Inst., 466 People v. Mitchell, 994, 1007 People v. Myers, 852 People v. New England Mut. Life Ins. Co., 1289 People v. North River Sugar Refining Co., 498, 500, 501 People v. Overyssel Township Board, 243 People v. Pacheco, 68, 69 People v. Pueblo County, 46 People v. Remington, 1144 People v. River Raisin & Lake Eric R. R. Co., 463
People v. Ryan, 1289
People v. St. Clair County Officers, 2 People v. Salomon, 1269 People v. Stephens, 793 People v. Supervisors, 857 People v. Supervisors of Cortland, 180 People v. Supervisors of Delaware County, 181
People v. Supervisors of Dutchess County, 181 People v. Supervisors of New York, 57, 130 People v. Supervisors of Reussclaer, 180 People v. Supervisors of Warren County, 181
People v. Tazewell County, 898
People v. Town of Bishop, 973, 976
People v. Town of Clayton, 974 People v. Town of Harp, 975 People v. Town of Loenna, 976, 982 People v. Town of Oldtown, 904 People v. Town of Santa Anna, 976, 982 [The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol II, pp. 708-1307.]

People v. Town of Waynesville, 977
People v. Trustees of Schools, 70
People v. Utica Insurance Co., 1058
People v. Vall Valkenburg, 976
People v. Vill Valkenburg, 976 People v. Van Valkenburg, 976 People v. Village of Crotty, 4, 5 People v. Warfield, 979
People v. Wayne Auditors, 128
People v. Weaver, 1297, 1298
People v. Wiant, 979
People, etc., v. Reliance Marine Ins.
Co. (Lim.), 1307
People, etc., v. Wemple, 1288
People or rel v. Caruthers School People ex rel v. Caruthers School District, 880 People ex rel. v. Commissioners, 1306 People ex rel. v. Draper, 871 People ex rel. v. Mead, 999 People ex rel. v. Jackson County, People ex rel. v. Johnson, 424 People ex rel. v. Kingsbury, 424 People ex rel. v. La Salle County, 424 People ex rel., etc., v. Mayor of Chicago, 1005 People ex rel. v. Supervisors of Broome County, 181 People ex rel. v. Supervisors of St. Lawrence County, 181 People ex rel. v. Tazewell County, 944 People ex rel. American Bible Society v. Comrs. of Taxes and Assessments, 1289 People ex rel. American Contracting, etc., Co. v. Wemple, 1289 People ex rel. American Surety Co. v. Campbell, 1289 People ex rel. Bay State Shoe & Leather Co. v. McLean, 1287 People ex rel. Brooklyn Traction Co. v. Board of Assessors, 1288 People ex rel. Chase v. County Court of Macoupin County, 120 People ex rel. Content v. Metropolitan Elevated Ry. Co., 165
People ex rel Dunkirk, Alleghany
Valley, etc., R. R. Co. v. Campbell, 1805
People and Edding Transfer an People ex rel. Edison Electric Illuminating Co. of New York v. Wem-ple, 1288 People ex rel. Edison General Electric Co. v. Barker, 1288 People ex rel. Geneva Looking Glass Plate Co. v. Barker, 1288 People ex rel. Kilmer v. McDonald, 100 People ex rel. McCagg v. Mayor, etc., of City of Chicago, 54 People ex rel. McCauley v. Brooks, 68 People ex rel. McCullough v. Pacheco,

People ex rel. Peabody v. Chicago Gas Trust Co., 503
People ex rel. Pennsylvania R. R. Co.
v. Wemple, 1305 People ex rel. Postal Telegraph Co. v. Campbell, 1289 People ex rel. Pratt Institute v. Board of Assessors of Brooklyn, 1289 People ex rel. Prettyman v. Board of Supervisors of Logan County, 910 People ex rel. Second Avenue R. R.
Co. v. Barker, 1289
People ex rel. Seth Thomas Clock Co. v. Wemple, 1290 People ex rel. Sheldon v. Fraser, 1299 People ex rel. Southern Cotton Oil Co. v. Wemple, 1289, 1305 People ex rel. Stockwell v. Earle, 130 People ex rel. Singer Manufacturing Co. v. Wemple, 1289 People ex rel. Thurber-Whyland Co. v. Barker, 1287 People ex rel. Tiffany & Co. v. Campbell, 1200 People ex rel. Union Trust Co. v. Coleman, 1288 People ex rel. Western Electric Co. v. Campbell, 1290 People ex rel. W. & J. Sloane v. Barker, 1289
People ex rel. Wood, Collector, v. Smith, 1271 People's Bank v. Manufacturers' Nat. Bank, 179, 508 People's Bank v. St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Church, 168 People's Gas, etc., Co. v. Chicago Gas etc., Co., 494
People's Home Sav. Bank v. Court, 1123 Peoria, Decatur & Evansville Railway Co. v. Commissioners, 1271 Peoria & Springfield R. R. Co. v. Thompson, 487, 1018, 1028 Percy v. Millandon, 247, 553 Perkins v. Bradley, 219 Perkins v. Hart, 676 Perkins v. Lewis, 901, 953 Perkins v. Portland, Saco & Portsmouth Railroad, 153 Perkinson v. St. Louis, 445 Perley v. Muskegon County, 597 Pernetual Ins. Co v. Cohen, 629 Perrin v. City of New London, 953
Perrine v. Chesaprake & Del. Canal
Co., 95, 471, 478 Perry v. Council Bluffs Water Works Co., 227 Perry v. Phelips, 742 Perry v. Simpson Waterproof Manufg.

Co., 193

Perry v. Superior City, 446

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.] Perry v. Tuskaloosa Cotton Seed Oil | Phipps v. Millbury Bank, 682 Mill Co., 263 Peterborough Railroad v Wood, 218 Peters v. Bain, 626, 736, 737, 750, 752, Petersburg v Metzker, 4 Petersburgh v. Mappin, 799 Peterson v. Homan, 358 Peterson v. Mayor, etc., 36, 103, 114, 170 Peterson v. Mille Lacs Lumber Co., 809 Peterson v. Union Nat. Bank, 601 Petric v. Myers, 523
Pettibone v. Toledo, C. & St. Louis
R. R. Co, 1018 Pfhol v. Simpson, 340 Pfister v. Milwaukee Electric Ry. Co., 1018 Pharis v. Leachman, 742 Phelps v. Town, 627 Philadelphia v. Barber, 1265, 1266 Philadelphia v. Fox, 29 Philadelphia v. Masonic Home of Pennsylvania, 1265 Philadelphia v. Pennsylvania Hospital, 1266 Philadelphia v. Philadelphia & Gray's Ferry Pass. Ry. Co., 104 Philadelphia v. Ridge Avenue Ry. Co., 104 Philadelphia, etc., Railroad v. Maryland, 1282 Philadelphia Loan Co. v. Towner, 90, 463 Phil. & Read. R. R. Co. v. Fidelity Ins. & Trust Co., 1047 Phil. & Read. R. R. Co. v. Smith, Philadelphia Steamship Co. v. Pennsylvania, 1293 Philadelphia & Sunbury R. R. Co. v. Lewis, 1043 Philadelphia Trust Co. v. Philadelphia *Erie R. R. Co., 1049 Philadelphiu, Wilm. & Balt. R. R. Co.
v. Neary, 1242
Phil., Wilm. & Balt. R. R. Co.
v. Wearly, 1262
Phil., Wilm. & Balt. R. R. Co.
Woelper, 1096
Phillips v. Wicklam, 153
Phillips v. Wicklam, 153 Philipps v. Franciscus, 629 Philler v. Yardley, 722 Phillip v. Aurora Lodge No. 104, etc., Phillips v. Campbell, 98, 178, 217 Phillips v. Huth, 539 Phillips v. Mercantile Nat. Bank of the City of New York, 589 Phillips v. Winslow, 1096, 1169 Phillips Academy v. King, 456 Phinizy v. Augusta & K. R. R. Co., 1018, 1098, 1148, 1155, 1188, 1208, 1244

Phonix Bank v. Risley, 597, 676 Phoenix Ins. Co. v. Allen, 702 Picard v. Tennessee, etc., Railroad, 1282 Pickard v Pullman Southern Car Co., 473, 1293 Pickett v. School District, 139, 263 Piece v Daniel, 660 Pier v George, 398 Pier v. Hanmore, 407, 412 Pierce v. Emery, 1054, 1096 Pierce v. Holzer, 748 Pierce v. Milwaukee Construction Co.. 1133 Pierce v. Milwaukce & St. Paul R. R. Co., 1096 Pierson v. Cronk, 350 Pike v. Middletown, 62 Pimental v. City of San Francisco, Pine Civil Township v. Huber Manufacturing Co., 183, 427 Pine Lake Iron Co. v. La Fayette Car Works (Adams, Intervener), 1130 Pinkard v. Allen, 1183 Piscataqua Bank v. Carter. 602 Pittsburg Mining Co. v. Spooner, 298
Pittsburg R. R. Co. v. Allegheny
County, 1056
Pittsburgh, Cin., Chicago & St. Louis
Ry. Co. v. Backus, 1802, 1308
Pittsburgh, C. & St. L. Ry. Co. v.
Keokuk & H. Bridge Co., 191, 285,
487 467, 473 Pittsburgh & Connellsville R. R. Co. v. Stewart, 191 Pitzman v. Freeburg, 970, 971 Pixley v. Western Pac. R. R. Co., 238 Planters' Bank v. Markham, 690 Planters' Bank v. Sharpe, 575 Planters' Bank v. Snodgrass, 530 Planters' Bank v. Union Bank, 269, Planters' Bank v. Whittle, 1108 Plaquemines Tropical Fruit Co. v. Buck, 207 Platt v. Beach, 715 Platt v. Birmingham Axle Co., 146 Platt v. Philadelphia & Reading R. R. Co., 1192
Platt v. Railroad Company, 1024
Platt v. Sauk County Bank, 628
Pleasant Township v. Ætna Life Insurance Co., 877, 1011
Pneumatic Gas Co. v. Berry, 268, 267, 307 Police Jury v. Britton, 12, 425 Polk v. Railway Company, 1105 Pollard v. Bailey, 387, 772 Pollitz v. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., 1085, 1162

[The references are to pages: vol I contains pp. 1-707; vol II, pp. 708-1807.] Pollock v. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., | 1273, 1276, 1278 Pondir v. New York, L. E. & W. R. Co., 318 Pondville Company v. Clark, 1108 Pontifex v. Bigold, 294 Posck v. La Fayette Building Assn., 496 Pool v. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. 1214 Poole v. Jackson & Whyte's Case. 1108 Poole v. West Point Butter & Cheese Assn , 316, 821 Pope v. Bank, 655 Pope v. Bank of Albion, 576 Pope v. Board of Comrs. of Lake County, 635 324 Port v. Russell, 244, 263, 316 Porter v. Bessemer Steel Co., 858, 1095 Porter v. Industrial Information Co., 1123 Porter v. Pittsburg Bessemer Steel Co., 1241 Porter v. Railroad Company, 1082 Portland & O. C. R. R. Co. v. Inhabitants, etc., of Hartford, 962 Portland Stone Ware Co. v. Taylor, 964 Portsmouth Savings Bank v. Village of Ashley, 857 Post v. Kendall County, 446 Post v. Pulaski County, 938, 940, 941, 966 Postal Telegraph Cable Co. v. Charleston, 1268 Potter v. Douglas County, 67 Potter v. Merchants' Bank, 574 Potter v. New York Infant Asylum, 170 Potter v. Stevens' Machine Co., 387 Potter v. Town of Greenwich, 984 Potter v. United States, 782, 783 Potts v. Bennett, 26 Potts v. Wallace, 192, 193, 1112 Pottsville v. Norwegian Township, 135 Powder River Live Stock Co. v. Lamb, 155 Powell v. Blain, 1090 Powell v. City of Madison, 14, 850 Powell v. Supervisors of Brunswick County, 898
Powell v. Willamette Valley R. R. Co., Powers v. Briggs, 357, 359 Powers v. Dougherty County, 49 Prather v. Kean, 537 Pratt v. Beaupre, 358 Pratt v. Brown, 957 Pratt v. Jewett, 318 Pratt v. Luther, 24

Pratt v. Short, 441, 497 Pratt v. Taunton Copper Mfg. Co., 335 Prentice v. United States & Central Am. St. Ship Co, 156 Presbyterian Church v. City of New York, 483 Prescott Nat. Bank v. Butler, 516 President, etc., v. Railway Co., 263 Pres't, etc., of Springfield Bank v. Merrick, 456 Pres't Mining & Milling Co. v. Coquard, 170 Pres't & Trustees of Town of Petersburg v. Mappin, 121 Press Printing Co. v. State Board of Assessors, 1295 Preston v. Grand Collier Dock Co., Preston v. Prather, 537, 553 Preston v. Loughran, 273 Preston National Bank of Detroit v. Emerson, 1129
Preston Nat. Bank of Detroit v.
George T. Smith Middlings Purifier Co., 207 Prettyman v. Supervisors, etc., 49 Prettyman v. Tazewell County, 905, Price v. Abbott, 715 Price v. G. R. & I. R. Co., 158 Price v. Neale, 669, 673 Price v. Price's Heirs, 1169 Prideaux v. Criddle, 658 Priest v. Way, 655
Prince v. City of Quincy, 40, 68, 60
Prince Manufg. Co v. Prince's Metallic Paint ('o., 268 Prindle v. Washington Life Ins. Co., Printing Co. v. Green, 297, 298 Pritchard v. Louisiana State Bank, 681 Protestant Foster Home Soc. v. Mayor, etc., of New York, 1280 Prouty v. Mich. So. & No. Ind. R. R. Cu., 484 Providence Tool Co. v. Norris, 208 Provident Institution v. Massachusetis, 1274 Puget Sound National Bank v. King County, 1297 Pugh v. City of Little Rock, 437 Pullau v. Cin. & Chic. Air Line R. R. Co., 1054, 1096 Pullman v. Ellis, 1141 Pullman's Palace Car Co. v. Commonwealth, 1292
Pullman Palace Car Co. v. Pennsylvania, 1274, 1294, 1308
Pulman v. Upton, 1028
Pulman v. Upton, 1028 Pumphrey v. Threadgill, 1098 Purdy v. Lansing, 976 Purifier Co. v. McGroarty, 1087, 1114

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1807.]

Pusey v. Meade County Court, 127
Pusey v. New Jersey West Line R. R.
Co., 95
Putnam v. City of Grand Rapids, 66
Putnam v. Jacksonville, Louisville & St. Louis Ry. Co., 1187
Putnam v. Ruch, 318
Putnam v. Sullivan, 608

Railroad Co. v. Maine, 1282
Railroad Company v. Marion Co. 971
Railroad Company v. National 983, 1003
Railroad Company v. Orr, 1156

0

Quaker City Nat. Bank v. Nolan County, 832
Quarry Co. v. Bliss, 384, 390
Queen v. Second Avenue R. R. Co., 146
Queenan v. Palmer, 408
Quigley v. Walter, 394
Quil v. City of Indianapolis, 22, 874
Quincy v. Cook, 959, 962, 964
Quincy v. Jackson, 982
Quincy, Missouri & Pacific R. R. Co. v. Morris, 71, 959, 962, 964
Quincy, etc., R. R. Co. v. Humphreys, 1200, 1202
Quincy, O. & K. C. Ry. Co. v. People, 1805

R. Racine & Mississippi R. R. Co. v. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., 1055 Rahm v. King Wrought Iron Bridge Manufactory of Topeka, 205 Railroad v. Cleghorn, 1108 Railroad v. Davidson County, 979 Railroad v. McGec, 1098 Railroad Bank v. Douglas, 506 Railroad Co. v. Bank, 655 Railroad Co. v. Brown, 465 Railroad Co. v. Cheatham, 92 Railroad Company v. Closser, 1177 Railroad Co. v. Collins, 479 Railroad Company v. Collector, 1275 Railroad Co. v. County of Otoe, 16, 904, 928 Railroad Company v. Cowdrey, 1186, 1222 Railroad Co. v. Crane, 465 Railroad Co. v. Dorby, 546 Railroad Co. v. Durant, 268, 269 Railroad Company v. Elizabethtown, 1169, 1170 Railroad Company v. Falconer, 988 Railroad Co. v. Hamblen County, 1807 Railroad Co. v. Hicks, 1807 Railroad Co. v. Hinsdale, 480 Railroad Co. v. Howard, 79, 80, 91, 254, 1158 Railroad Company v. Humphreys, Railroad Company v. Husen, 1298

Railroad Co. v. Lockwood, 478 Railroad Co. v. Maine, 1282 Railroad Company v. Marion County, Railroad Co. v. Mississippi, 720 Railroad Company v. National Bank, 983, 1003 Railroad Company v. Orr, 1156 Railroad Company v. Pettus, 1183 Railroad Company v. Priex County, Railroad Co. v. Quigley, 321, 546 Railroad Co. v. Railroad Co., 479. 1241 Railroad Co. v. Schutte, 1050 Railroad Co. v. Sloan, 1191 Railroad Co. v. Wilson, 1251, 1259 Railroad National Bank v. City of Lowell, 133, 231 Railway Co. v. Allerton, 166 Railway Company v. Dey, 1237 Railway Co. v. Harris, 321 Railway Co. v. Iron Co., 480 Railway Co. v. Johnson, 1224, 1228 Railway Co. v. McCarthy, 107, 488 Railway Co. v. McCartny, 107, 488
Railway Company v. People, 1302
Railway Company v. Schuyler, 1050
Railway Company v. Whitton, 1148 Railway Company v. Wilkes, 987
Railway Frog v. Haven, 296
Ralph v. Shiawassee Circuit Judge, 1123 Ralls County Court v. United States, 72, 847, 932
Ralston v. Washington & C. R. Ry
Co., 1192
Ramsey v. Erie Ry. Co., 495, 1048 Ramson v. Mayor, etc., of New York, 59 Ranger v. Champion Cotton-Press Co., 312, 1124 Rapp v. Bank, 601 Rasmusson v. County of Clay, 436 Ratcliff v. Teters, 806 Rathbone v. Parkersburg Gas Co., 316 Rathbone v. Sanders, 525 Rathbun v. Snow, 108, 188 Ratterman v. Western Union Tele-graph Co., 1268, 1298 Raub v. Blairstown Creamery Assn., Ray v. Bank of Kentucky, 686 Raymond v. Clark, 1096 Raymond v. San Gabriel Val. Land & Water Co., 263 Re, Asiatic Banking Co., 76 Re, Barned's Banking Co., 76 Re, Bates, 1144 Re New York Catholic Protectory, Reagan v. Aiken, 720

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.] Redington v. Woods, 674 Redmond v. Dickerson, 250, 258 Redmond v. Railway Company, 1250 Red Willow County v. Chicago, B. & L. R. R. Co., 1802 Reed v. Buffum, 155 Reed v. Plattsmouth, 859, 925 Reed v. Powell, 175 Reid v. Bank of Mobile, 952 Reese v. Mitchell, 641 Reeve v. Bank, 155 Reeve School Township v. Dodson, 133, 427 Rehmke v. Goodwin, 67 Reichwald v. Commercial Bank, 97 Reichwald v. Hotel Company, 1084, Reineman v. Covington, Columbus & Black Hills Railroad, 928 Relfe v. Rundle, 466 Removal Cases, 720, 1150 Reno Water Co. v. Leete, 191 Resor v. Ohio & Mississippi R. R. Co., 1096 Rew v. Pettet, 98 Reynes v. Dumont, 528, 544, 1278 Reynolds v. Commissioners of Stark County, 1055, 1058 Reynolds v. Continental Insurance Co., 152, 198 Reynolds v. Crawfordsville Bank, 512 Reynolds v. Shreveport, 857 Reynolds & Henry Construction Co. v. Police Jury, 151 Rhodes v. McDonald, 265 Rhodes, Assignee, v. Webb, 175, 249 Rice v. Plymouth County, 124 Rice's Appeal, 275 Rich v. Errol, 134 Rich v. Town of Mentz, 978 Richards v. Crocker, 407 Richards v. Insurance Company, 1108 Richards v. Merrimack & Connecticut River Railroad, 1054, 1055, 1158 Richards v. New Hampshire Ins. Co., Richards v. Railroad, 93 Richardson v. Green, 263 Richardson v. Lawrence County, 904 Richardson v. Massachusetts Chari-table Mechanics' Assn., 457 Richardson v. St. Joseph Iron Co., 144 Richardson v. Sibley, 406, 471, 1063 Richardson v. Vermont & Mass. R. R. Co., 485 Richardson's Executor v. Green, 266, 1025, 1085, 1113 Richelieu Hotel Co. v. International Military Encampment Co., 470,

Recamier Manufg. Co. v. Lyman, 317 Richmond v. Irons, 175, 758, 766, 768, Redington v. Woods, 674 769, 770, 772 Richmond County Gas Light Co. v. Town of Middletown, 29 Richmond, etc., R. R. Co. v. Snead, 210, 359 Richter v. Jerome, 1158, 1162 Rickets v. Spraker, 1272 Rickford v. Ridge, 658 Ricord v. Railroad Co., 92 Riddle v. County of Bedford, 161 Rider Life Raft Co. v. Roach, 170 Ridgley Nat. Bank v. Patton, 687, Ridgeway v. Farmers' Bank of Bucks County, 75, 102 Riley v. Pettis County, 129 Ring v. County of Johnson, 971 Ringling v. Cohn, 504, 572 Rings v. Binns, 251 Rings v. Biscoe, 1112 Ring & Reil v. Foster, 608 Rio Grande Cattle Co. v. Burns, 821 Ripley v. Sampson, 387, 769 Risk v. Banking Company, 1129 Risley v. Ind., B. & W. R. R. Co., 242, Risley v. Phenix Bank, 653, 666 Ritchie v. Franklin County, 830 Rittenhouse v. Mayor, etc., of Baltimore, 29 Roan v. Winn, 254, 550, 1119 Robbins v. Bacon, 665 Robbins v. Board of Comrs. of Morgan County, 31 Robbins v. Railroad Company, 957 Robbins v. Shelby Taxing District, 1267 Robbins v. Shelby County, 1298 Roberts v. Austin Corbin & Co., 662 Roberts v. Breedlove, 14 Roberts v. Broome, 742 Roberts v. Hill, 544 Roberts v. Pottawatomie County, 28, 126 Roberts & Co. v. Iron Car Equipment Co., 1048 Robertson v. Breedlove, 828 Robertson v. Buffalo County Nat. Bank, 566 Robertson v. City of Rockford, 49, 9.58 Robinson v. Alabam Manufg. Co., 1234 Alabama & Georgia Robinson v. Ames, 702 Robinson v. Atlantic & Great Western Ry. Co., 1059 Robinson v. Hawksford, 658 Robinson v. Iron Railway Co., 1172 Robinson v. Land Company, 1057 Robinson v. Nat. Bank of Nowberne, 554

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.] Robinson v. Smith, 282, 301, 802, 306, Rowley v. Fair, 375
348, 349, 554, 556, 557, 560 Roy & Co. v. Scott, Hartley & Co., 348, 349, 554, 556, 557, 560 Robinson v. Thompson, 402 Robinson v. Turrentine, 772 Robison v. McCracken, 268 491 Royal Bank of India's Case, 164 Royal Bank of Liverpool v. Grand Junction R. R. & Depot Co., 1014 Roby v. City of Chicago, 793 Royal British Bank v. Turquand, 980 Rochester Bank v. Harris, 506, 649 Ruby v. Shain, 46 Rochester Printing Co. v. Loomis, Ruby v. Abyssinian Society, 312 Rudd v. Robinson, 261 Rochester Savings Bank v. Averill, Ruffner v. Coal Co., 809 1061, 1066 Ruggles v. Collier, 59, 114 Rock County Nat. Bank v. Hollister, Rumbough v. Southern Improvement Co., 218 Rumford v. Wood, 795 Rumford School District v. Wood, 84 Rock Creek Township v. Strong, 1011, 1012 Rockford, R. I. & St. L. R. R. Co. v. Sage, 279, 350 Runyan v. Coster's Lessee, 478 Runyon v. Montfort, 686 Rushville Gas Co. v. City of Rush-Rock River Bank v. Sherwood, 527 Rockwell v. Elkhorn Bank, 75, 102, ville, 864 574 Rockwell v. Farmers' Nat. Bank of Russell v. Cage, 14, 834 Russell v. Cook, 121 Russell v. Hadduck, 649, 748 Russell v. Railway Co., 490 Longmont, 531 Rodman v. Justices of Larue County, Rogan v. City of Watertown, 18 Russell v. Southard, 982 Rogers v. Board of Comrs. Le Sueur Russell v. Tate, 44 County, 67, 428 Rogers v. Burlington, 12, 49, 56, 328, 949, 954, 1000 Rutherford v. Davis, 1272 Rutland & Burlington R. R. Co. v. Proctor, 489
Rutland R. R. Co. v. Haven, 287
Rutland R. R. Co. v. Thrall, 484
Ryall v. Rolle, 628, 626
Ryan v. L. A. & N. W. Ry. Co., 258, Rogers v. Durant, 657 Rogers v. Keckuk, 955 Rogers v. La Fayette Agr. Works, 306, 315 Rogers v. Lee County, 955 Rogers v. Stevens, 994 261, 275 Ryan v. Lynch, 851, 852, 1004 Ryder v. Alton & Sangamon River R. Rogers Locomotive & Machine Works v. Southern R. R. Assn., 1049 R. Co., 49 Roll v. City of Indianapolis, 29 S. Rolland v. Hart, 338 Sabin v. Columbia River Lumber & Fuel Co., 1085 Sackett v. City of New Albany, 68, 69 Sackett's Harbor Bank v. Lewis Rolling Stock Co. v. Railroad, 282 Rollins v. Clay, 258, 325 Rollins v. Shaver Wagon & Carriage Co., 470, 1073, 1074, 1087, 1112 Rolseth v. Smith, 349 County, 460 Safford v. Wyckoff, 102, 469 Root v. Olcott, 170 Roper v. Town of Laurinburg, 60 Rorke v. Thomas, 394, 389 Rosborough v. Shasta River Canal Co., 288 Sage v. Culver, 318 Sage v. Heller, 1118 Sage v. Memphis & Little Rock R. R. Co., 1159, 1222 Sagory v. Dubois, 521 Roseboom v. Whitaker, 253 Rosenberg v. First Nat. Bank of Tex-St. John v. Homans, 660 St. John v. O'Connell, 681
St. Joseph & Denver City R. R. Co.
v. Buchanan County, 46, 49, 964
St. Joseph, etc., R. R. Co. v. Humpharkana, 524 Rosenblatt v. Habermann, 661 Rosenthal v. Martin Bank, 665 Ross v. City of Philadelphia, 198 Rothrock v. Carr, 27, 122, 481 Rounds v. Smith, 652 reys, 1202 Joseph Fire & M. Ins. Co. v. Rouse v. Bank. 1087, 1111, 1113, 1114 Rouse v. Harry, 1232 Rowe v. Table Mountain Water Com-Hauck, 498 St. Joseph Township v. Rogers, 71, 911, 980 St. Louis Bridge & Tunnel R. R. Co., pany, 205 Rowe v. Tipper, 698 1302

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. EI, pp. 708-1307.]

St. Louis Car Co. v. Stillwater Street | Sampson v. Bowdoinham Steam Mill Ry. Co., 1188

St. Louis Drug Co. v. Robinson, 498 St. Louis, etc., R. R. Co. v. Cleveland, etc., R. R. Co., 1239, 1241 St. Louis, etc., R. R. Co. v. Johnston, 624, 750

St. Louis, Ft. Scott & W. R. Co. v.

Grove, 156
St. Louis, Ft. Scott & Wichita R. R.
Co. v. Tiernan, 276
St. Louis, Iron Mountain & So. Ry.

Co. v. Anthony, 129

St. Louis, Iron Mountain, etc., R. R. Co. v. Berry, 1282

St. Louis & Sandoval Coal & Mining

Co. v. Sandoval Coal & Mining Co., 356

St. Louis & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Apperson, 1802

St. Louis & Santa Fe Ry. Co. v.

Gracy, 1263
St. Louis & S. F. Railway Co. v.
Johnston, 612, 613, 614, 619
St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Kirkpatrick, 239

St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Graham, Intervener, 1247 St. Louis S. W. Ry. Co. v. Stark, 1175 St. Louis, Vandalia & T. H. R. R. Co.

v. Terre Haute & Ind. R. R. Co.,

St. Mary's Industrial School for Boys v. Brown, 30

St. Nicholas Insurance Co. v. Howe, 198

St. Nicholas Nat. Bank v. Bank of the State of New York, 654 St. Paul, M. & M. Ry. Co. v. City of St. Paul, 1282 St. Paul & Sioux City R. R. Co. v.

Robinson, 1302 St. Paul & Sioux City R. R. Co. v. Shanks, 1302

St. R. Co. v. Morrow, 1807

Salem Bank v. Gloucester Bank, 567 Salem Land Co. v. Montgomery Land Co., 198
Salem Turnpike v. County of Essex,

871

Salem Water Co. v. City of Salem, 68

Saline County v. Anderson, 798 Saline County v. Wilson, 128 Salmon v. Richardson, 289, 347
Salmon v. Richardson, 289, 347
Salmon Falls Bank v. Leyser, 514
Salomons v. Laing, 77, 452
Salt Company v. Guthrie, 1178
Salt Lake City v. Hollister, 321, 473
Saltmarsh v. Spaulding, 273, 809, 1073, 1075

Sammis v. Clark, 603

Corporation, 159
San Antonio v. Jones, 49
San Antonio v. Lane, 955

San Antonio v. Lewis, 108

San Antonio v. Mchaffy, 328, 488, 990 San Antonio & G. S. R. R. Co. v.

Davis, 1123 Sanborn v. Deerfield, 134

San Diego County v. California Nat-Bank, 735, 738 San Diego, S. D. & L. A. R. R. Co., 196

San Diego Water Co. v. City of San Diego, 44, 118
Sands v. Matthews, 665
Sandy River Bank v. Merchants &

Mechanics' Bank, 578

Sandford v. Prentice, 803

San Francisco Gas Co. v. City of San Francisco, 29

San Francisco Water Co. v. Pattee. Sang v. City of Duluth, 438

Sangamon, etc., R. R. Co. v. County of Morgan, 871 Sanger v. Upton, 1028

San Joaquin Valley Bank v. Bours, 580 Sankey v. Terre Haute & S. W. R. R.

Co., 949 San Luis Obispo County v. Pettit,

Santa Cruz Co. v. Spreckels, 263 Sargent v. Franklin Ins. Co., 763 Sargent v. Kansas Midland R. R. Co., 262

Sargent v. Webster, 1074, 1084, 1112 Sartwell v. North, 337

Satterice v. Strider, 901 Sauer v. Town of Nevadaville, 376

Savage v. Rix, 359 Savage Mfg. Co. v. Worthington, 78 Savannah & Memphis R. R. Co. v.

Lancaster, 98 Savings Bank v. Hamlin, 571 Savings Bank v. Holt, 562 Savings Bank of New Haven v. Davis,

143 Sawyer v. Hoag, 255, 1028, 1108

Sawyer v. Manchester & Keene R. R. Co., 976 Sayers v. First Nat. Bank, 155 Saylor v. Bushong, 646

Sayles v. Bates, 774 Sayre v. Association, 1178 Scanlan v. Keith, 357, 358, 359 Schaeffer v. Bonham, 971, 977 Schallard v. Eel River Steam Nav.

Co., 155, 220 Schanck v. Mayor, 42 Schenck v. Andrews, 164

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.] Schenck v. Bandmann, 884 Seale v. Baker, 288 Seaman v. Baughman, 22 Schetter v. Southern Oregon Improvement Co., 263 Search v. Ellicott, 1119 Searight v. Payne, 76, 819 Schierenberg v. Stephens, 712 Schindelholz v. Collum, 1118 Sears v. Hotchkiss, 306 Sears v. Trustees Illinois Wesleyan Schneider v. Irving Bank, 602, 646 University, 211 Schneitman v. Noble, 176 Schoff v. Bloomfield, 137 Schoffeld v. Henderson, 416 Scholey v. Rew, 1275 Sears v. Waters, 390 Seaver v. Coburn, 359 Second Nat. Bank v. Pottier & Sty-School District v. Padder, 189 School District v. Snell, 40 School District v. Stone, 842, 844, 876, mus Mfg. Co., 285, 362 Second Nat. Bank of Albany v. Williams, 647 Second Nat. Bank of Baltimore v. Western Nat. Bank of Baltimore, 988 School District 2 of Township of Buckeye v. Clark, 794 School District No. 3, etc., v. Western Tube Company, 40 690 Second Nat. Bank of Baltimore v. Wrightson, 630 Second Nat. Bank of Louisville v. Nat. State Bank of New Jersey, School District No. 39, etc., v. Sullivan, 115 School Town of Monticello v. Kendall, F97 20 Second National Bank of New Albany v. Town of Danville, 38, 39
Second & Third St. Pass. Ry. Co. v.
Philadelphia, 104
Security Bank v. Cushman, 549
Security Bank of Minnesota v. North-Scott v. People, 4, 5 Schrader v. Manufrs. Nat. Bank of Chicago, 175 Schuler v. Laclede Bank, 662 Schultz v. Jerrard, 1129 Schum v. Seymour, 443, 445 Schurr v. Investment Co., 458 western Fuel Co., 616 urity Bank of New Security Bank of York Schuyler County v. The People, 898, National Bank of the Republic, 654 1004 Security Co. v. Ball, 605 Security Sav. & Trust Co. v. Piper, Schuylkili County v. Citizens' Gas Company, 1267 Scipio v. Wright, 15, 915 1123 Scobey v. Decatur County, 128 Scofield v. Parlin & Orendorff Co., Sedgwick v. Lewis, 152 Seeley v. Bridges, 55, 917 Seeley v. San Jose Independent Mill & Lumber Co., 154, 196 Scofield v. State Nat. Bank, 511 Scotland County v. Hill, 858, 1021 Scott v. Armstrong, 525, 783, 784 Scott v. Avery, 1152 Seibert v. Minneapolis & St. Louis Ry. Co., 1080, 1102, 1150, 1153, 1159, 1204 Seibrecht v. City of New Orleans, 121 Scott v. Clinton & S. R. R. Co., 1055 Scott v. Depeyster, 248, 802, 308, 864 Scott v. Independent District of Har-Seiser v. Mali, 287 Selby v. McCullough, 661 Selser v. Brock, 608 Seneca County Bank v. Neass, 550 din County, 189 Scott v. Johnson, 187 Scott v. Nat. Bank of Chester Valley, 866, 686 Scott v. Noely, 1189 Senter v. Continental Bank, 661 Settle v. Van Evrea, 888 Seventh Nat. Bank v. Cook, 645 Scott v. Ocean Bank, 688 Seventh National Bank v. Shenandoah Scott v. Gossi Bana, 1005 Scott v. Shirk, 638 Scott v. W., etc., R. R. Co., 284 Scott v. City of Davenport, 66, 69 Scott's Exers. v. Shreveport, 17, 114 Iron Co., 1235, 1256 Sewage Co. v. Hartmont, 298 Sewange Co. v. Harmiont, 295
Sewanee Mining Co. v. McCall, 152
Seward County v. Cattle, 597
Sewell v. Beach Company, 1122
Sewickley Borough v. Tholes, 1265
Seybert v. City of Pittsburg, 16, 954
Seymour v. Canandaigua & Niagara Falls R. R. Co., 1096
Seymour v. Spring Forest Competers Scottish North Eastern Ry. v. Stew-Scudder v. Anderson, 181 Scudder v. Trenton Delaware Falls Co., 917 Scudder v. Union National Bank, 1021 Seymour v. Spring Forest Cemetery Assn., 236, 457, 470 Seal v. Puget Sound Loan & Investment Co., 286, 1078 Shaffer v. Hahn, 809

Shaffner v. Edgerton, 655 Shamokin Valley R. R. Co. v. Liver-more, 1096 Shand v. Du Buisson, 665 Shank v. Shoemaker, 121 Shannon v. Portsmouth, 798 505, 586 Shapley v. Abbort, 995

Sharpless v. Mayor, 44, 48, 49, 964 Shaver v. Bear River, etc., Co., 190, 198 Shaver v. Hardin, 236 Shaw v. Bill, 1055

Shaw v. Campbell Turnpike Road Co.,

820 Shaw v. County of Pina, 798 Shaw v. Clark, 549 Shaw v. Dennis, 49, 901

Shaw v. Independent School Dist. of Riverside, 896 Shaw v. Port Phillip & Colonial Gold

Mining Co., 334, 335, 844, 1148 Shaw v. Railroad Company, 1001, 1080, 1158, 1162 Shaw v. Spencer, 539

Shawmut Bank Plattsburg

Montreal R. Co., 819 Shea v. Mabry, 563, 1108 Shear v. K. & K. R. R. Co., 568

Sheboygan County v. Parker, 1000 Sheffield School Township v. Andress, 20, 39

Shelby v. Chicago & Eastern III, R. R. Co., 493

Shelby County v. Tennessee & T. Ry. Co , 1302 Shelby County Court v. C. & O. R. R.

Co , 46, 908

Shelbyville, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Barnes, 471 Shelbyville Trustees v. S. & E. T. Co.,

46 Sheldon v. Mann, 1081

Sheldon, etc., Co. v. Eickeymeyer Hat Blocking Machine Co., 490 Shepaug Voting Trust Cases, 500

Sheppard v Township, 136 Sheridan Electric Light Co. v. Chatham Nat. Bank, 169, 363 Sherlock v. Village of Winnetka, 849.

878, 879

Sherman v Carr, 60 Sherman v Fitch, 197, 288 Sherman v. Sleyback, 397

Sherman Center Town Co. v. Fletcher, 490, 821

Sherman Center Town Co. v. Morris, 103, 821

Sherman Center Town Co. v. Russell, 461, 821

Sherman Center Town Co. v. Swigart, 198 Sherwood v Milford State Bank, 748, xii

752

Shields v. Ohio, 1282 Shields v. Thomas, 738 Shinbone v. Randolph County, 943, Shinkle v. First Nat. Bank of Ripley.

Shipman v. Bank of the State of New York, 378, 590

Shipman v. State, 446 Shipsey v. Bowery Nat. Bank, 705 Shirk v. Pulaski County, 437

Shockley v. Fisher, 111
Shorb v. Beaudry, 258
Shotwell v. Mali, 286, 287
Showalter v. Improvement Co., 1123, 1129

Shrewsbury & Birmingham Ry. v. Northwestern Ry., 448 Shrewsbury v Blount, 294 Shrieve v. Duckham, 657 Shunk v. Bank, 539

Sicardi v. Oil Company, 111 Sice v. Cunningham, 702 Sickels v. Richardson, 266

Siebricht v. New Orleans, 446 Sieby v. Joshua Hendy Machine Works, 210

Silliman v. Fredericksburg, O. & C. R. R. Co., 153 Silva v. Metropolitan Drug Co., 188 Silver Lake Bank v. North, 65, 459, 1059

Simmes v. Chicot County, 63 Simmons v. Troy Iron Works, 820 Simms v. Hervey, 857 Simons v. Fisher, 565

Simons v. Patchett, 372 Simons v. Vulcan Oil & Mining Co. 260, 275, 291, 298, 299

Simpson v. Dennison, 491 Simpson v. Turney, 693 Simpson v. Waldby, 702 Simpson Centenary College v. Bryan, 455

455
Sims v. Board of Comrs., etc., 122
Singer Manufg. Co. v. Holdfodt, 158
Sioux City v. Weare, 446, 851
Sioux City & St. Paul R. R. Co. v.
King, 1302
Sioux City & St. Paul R. R. Co. v.
Osceola County, 826, 840
Sioux City & St. Paul R. R. Co. v.
Robinson, 1802
Sistare v. Best. 188, 466

Sistare v. Best, 183, 466 Sisters of St. Francis v. Mayor, etc., of New York, 1289

Skiddy v Railroad Company, 1158 Skiles v Houston, 712 Skinner v. City of Santa Rosa, 969 Skinner v. Merchants' Bank, 330,

832 Skinner v. Smith, 277

[The references are to pages: vol I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1807.] Skinner v. Walter A. Wood Mowing | Smith v. Mosby, 628 Smith v. Nashua & Lowell Rail ad. & Reaping Machine Co , 217 Slack v. Maysville & Lexington R. R. 145 Smith v. Ossipee Savings Bank, 617 Co., 12, 49, 54, 901 Slark v. Highgate Archway Co., 90 Slater v Orientel Mill , 788, 752 Slater Woolen Co. v. Lamb, 515, 822 Smith v. Poor, 560 Smith v. Prattville Manufg. Co, 348 Smith v. Prior, 1135 Slattery v. St. Loui, & N. O. Transp. Smith v. Rathbun, 551 Smith v. Sac County, 980 Co . 316 Smith v. Sage, 394 Slaughter v State ex re., 792 Slaymaker's Admr. v. Jaffray & Co, Smith v. Shawnee County, 28 Smith V. Shawnee County, 28
Smith V. Skeary, 1084, 1108, 1112
Smith v. Smith, 192, 194, 210, 263
Smith v. Tracy, 172
Smith v. White, 470, 495
Smith Bridge Co. v. Louisville, N. A.
& St. L. R. R. Co., 1251
Smith Canal or Ditch Co. v. City of 418 Small v. Minneapolis Electro-Matrix Co., 475 Small, Receiver, v. City of Lawrenceburgh, 1272 Smallwood v. La Favette County, 129 Denver, 444 Snelling v. Soffrion, Prest. of Police Smead v. Ind., Pittsburgh & Cleveland R. R. Co., 78, 98, 464 Jury, 18 Snyder's Sons Co. v. Armstrong, 720 Snyder Township v. Bovaird, 136 Smedes & Utica Bank, 681 Smith v. Ala. Life & Fire Ins. Co., 74, 439, 477 Societe des Mines D'Argent et Fon-Smith v. Alexander, 186 Smith v. Appleton, 41 derics de Bingham v. Mackintesh. Smith v. Aylesworth, 641 Smith v. Bank, 508, 528 Smith v. Branch Bank at Mobile, 652 Society for Savings v. Coite, 1274 Soens v. Racine, 957 Smith v. Case, 761 Solomon v. Penoyar, 350 Sombrero Phosphate Co. v. Erlanger, Smith v. Cheshire, 857 Smith v. Chicago & North Western 297, 299 Railway, 1178 Smith v. City of Newburgh, 114, 444 Southern California Colony Assn. v. Bustamente, 155, 204 Smith v. Commissioners, 123 Southern Development Co. v. Houston Smith v. County of Clark, 903 Smith v. County of Los Angeles, 119, & Texas Central Ry. Co., 560 Southern Kansas & P. R. R. Co. v. 430 Towner, 900 Smith v. Cramer, 36 Smith v. Essex County Bank, 688 Smith v. Eureka Flour Mills, 74, 99 Southern White Lead Co. v. Haas, 1087 Southgate v. Railroad, 145, 150, 169 South Joplin Land Co. v. Case, 298 South Ottawa v. Perkins, 446, 872 Southwestern A. & L. T. Ry. Co. v. Smith v. Exchange Bank, 515 Smith v. First Nat. Bank of Crete, 535 Martin, 811 Smith v. First Nat. Bank of Westfield, South Yorkshire Ry. v. Great Northern Ry., 447 Sower v. Philadelphia, 890 686 Smith v. Flanders, 523 Smith v. Florida Central & Western R. R. Co., 1048 Sowles v. Bank, 785
Sowles v. Witters, 720, 784, 785
Spafford v. First National Bank of Toma City, 508
Spann v. Webster County, 67 Smith v. Hodson, 332 Smith v. Hull Glass Co., 154 Smith v. Hurd, 212, 320, 560 Smith v. Inhabitants of Dedham. 68 Sparhawk v. Yerkes, 1203 Smith v. Janes, 707 Smith v. Law, 73, 75, 102 Smith v. Los Angeles Immigration Land Co., 261 Sparks v. Dispatch Transfer Co., 183, 184 Sparrow v. Evansville, etc., R. R. Co., Smith v. McLean, 690 Smith v. McNair, 879 Smith v. Martin Anti-Fire Car Heater Spaulding v. Lowell, 33, 35, 41, 42 Spear v. Crawford, 756 Spear v. Ladd, 577 Co., 151, 294, 236 Smith v. Mayor, etc., of New York, 57 Smith v. Mechanics' Bank, 671 Speidel v. Henrici, 263 Spence v. Mobile & Montgomery R. R. Co., 1288

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307] Spering's Appeal, 241, 347, 348,364, 553 | State v. Commissioners of Hancock, Spies v. Chicago & Eastern Iowa Ry. 49 Co., 1046 State v. Common Council, 41 Spilman v. City of Parkersburg, 67 Spilman v. Mendenhall, 1136 State v. District Court, 1306 State v. Echolo, 803 Spokane County v. Clark, 736 Spring & Axle Co.'s Appeal, 524 State v. Estabrook, 48 State v. Farmers & Drovers' Bank of Buttle Creek, 740 State v. Fields, 1146 State v. Hannibal & St. Jos. R. R. Springer v. United States, 1275 Springfield & I. S. E. Ry. Co. v. Cold Spring Township, 975 Springfield Marine & Fire Ins. Co. v. Co., 975, 1264, 1282, 1801, 1802 Peck, 610, 629 Spyker v. Spence, 193 State v. Harris, 907 State v. Haskell, 446 Squire v. Cartwright, 36 State v. Hastings, 446 Squire v. Preston, 36, 57 State v. Hausen, 59, 864 State v. Hoff, 1268 State v. Jersey City, 112, 890, 1282 State v. Keim, 597 Stafford v. Harris, 490 Stair v. Bank, 721 Stamp v. Cass County, 127 Stamp v. Cass County, 127 Stanley v. Sheffield, L. I. & C. Co., Stallcup v. National Bank of the Re-State v. Keokuk & W. R. R. Co., 1282 State v. Linn County Court, 49 State v. McCauley, 68, 69 State v. Macor County Court, 915 Stanton v. Allen, 1178 Stanton v. Wilkeson, 715, 772 Staples v. Franklin Bank, 641 State v. Mayor, 65 State v. Mayor, etc., City of New York, 29 Staples v. Schulenberg & Bockler State v. Medberry, 68 Lumber Co., 1117 Star Printing Co. v. Andrews, 1088 Starin v. Genoa, 49, 111 State v. Milwaukee Gas Light Co., 29 State v. Missouri Pac. Ry. Co., 1300 State v. Morris & Essex R. R. Co., State v. Morris & Rissex R. R. Co., 321, 1282 State v. Myers, 1146 State v. Nashville, C. & St. L. R. R. Co., 1301, 1307 State v. Nebraska Distilling Co., 501 State v. Northern Pac. R. R. Co., 1282, 1301 State v. Pierce, 126 State v. Powers, 1298 Starin v. Edson, 490, 821 Stark Bank v. U. S. Pottery Co., 144, 172, 205, 220 Star Line v. Van Vliet, 209 State v. Allen, 929 State v. Babcock, 883 State v. Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, 816 State v. Powers, 1293 State v. Bank of Commerce, 1300 State v. Bank of Louisiana, 521 State v. Bank of New England, 1123, State v. Rice, 1055 State v. Roggen, 924 State v. Saline County Court, 46 1185 State v. Bell, 59 State v. Bevers, 446 State v. Board of Assessors, 1280 State v. Second Jud. Dist. Court of Silver Bow County, 1123 State v. Shortridge, 128 State v. Brobston, 1144 State v. Smith, 296 State v. Branin, 1293 State v. Buck, 1146 State v. Carroll, 55 State v. Standard Oil Co., 1178 State v. Stone, 1304 State v. The Mayor, 989 State v. Thorne, 917 State v. Cassidy, 1270 State v. Trustees of Union, 49 State v. Union Trust Co., 1801 State v. Van Horne, 49 State v. Wabash, St. L. & Pac. Ry. State v. Catron, 1299 State v. Central Pac. R. R. Co., 1302 State v. Cincinnati Gas Light & Coke Co., 29
State v City of Bayonne, 438
State v. City Council, 850
State v. City of Omaha, 1268
State v. Clark, 798 Co., 1801
State v. Washington Social Library
Co., 50
State v. Webber, 1282
State v. Winterbottom, 803
State v. Worth, 1262
State Bank v. Andrews, 381
State Bank v. Comegys, 144
State Bank v. Fox, 76, 456 State v. Commercial Bank of Man-chester, 580, 548, 578 State v. Commercial State Bank, 723 State v. Commissioners of Clinton County, 49

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1807.] State ex rel. Page v. Smith, 144, 204 State Bank v. Holcomb, 172, 200 State Bank v. Kain, 599 State Bank of Troy v. Bank of the State ex rel. Phillips v. School Dist. No. 9, 888 State ex rel. Stow v. City Council of Capitol, 687 State Board of Agriculture v. Citizens' St. Ry. Co, 29, 65, 441 State Board of Assessors v. Paterson & R. R. R. Co., 1801 Montgomery, 958 State ex rel. Treadwell v. Commissioners, 949 State ex rel. Vandiver v. Tolly, 68 State, Bradley, v. Hammonton, 62 State of California v. Central Pac. R. R. Co., 1802 State Freight Tax, 1268 State Railroad Tax Cases, 1278, 1303 State Savings Assn. v. Boatmen's Savings Bank, 528, 641, 650, 661
State Sav. Assn. v. Nixon-Jones
Printing Co., 588
State Tax on Foreign Held Bonds, State, De Baun, Prosecutor, v. Smith, Collector, etc., 1296 State, Edison Phonograph Co., Prosecutor, v. State Board of Assessors, 1291 1286 State, Hoxsey, v. Mayor, etc., of the City of Paterson, 59 State Tax on Railway Gross Receipts. 1294 State of Tennessee v. Davis, 575 State, Padney, Prosecutor, v. Passaic, Steamboat Co. v. Brockett, 321 1269, 1270 Steamboat Co. v. Locke, 752 State, Smith, Prosecutor, v. Ramsey, Collector, 1298
State, Walls, Prosecutor, v. Mayor & Aldermen of Jersey City, 1270
State ex rel. v. A..en, 125 Steam Engine Co. v. Hubbard, 398 Steckel v. Bank, 628 Steel Edge Stamping & Retinning Co. v. Manchester Savings Bank, State ex rel. v. Board, etc., 800 State ex rel. v. Davis, 801 State ex rel. v. Yoxall, 844 1141 Steele v. Russell, 682 Stein v. Mayor, etc., of Mobile, 47, 48, State ex rel. v. Hannibal, etc., R. R. 909 Stein v. Mobile, 964 Co., 78 State ex rel. v. Marion County, 125 State ex rel. v. Nevada County, 907 Stever v. Davis, 490 Stephens v. Benton, 1018 Stephens v. Follett, 758 State ex rel. v. Osawakee Township, Stephens v. Fox, 394, 399 Stephens v. McNeill, 658 Stephens v. Monongahela Bank, 520, 877 State ex rel. Quincy, Mo. & Pac. Ry. Co. v. Harris State ex rel. v. Reitz, 870 528 State ex rel. v. Schaack, 801 Stephens v. Overstoln, 558 Stephens v. Railroad, 1228 Stephens, Receiver, v. Schuchmann, 711, 712 State ex rel. v. Slick, 801 State ex rel. v. Standard Oil Co., 501 State ex rel. v. Trustees, 800 State ex rel. Attorney-General v. Ne-Sterling v. Parish of West Feliciana, braska Savings Bank, 1143 State ex rel. Bowen v. Adams County, 18 Sterrett v. Rosencrantz, 661 55 Stetson v. Kempton, 20, 2., 33, 34, State ex rel. Bermadez v. Heath, 58 State ex rel. Carpenter v. Beloit, 49 Steubenville & Ind. R. R. Co. v. North Township, 49 Steubenville v. Culp, 798 State ex rel. C., C. & C. R. Co. v. Whitesides, 1008, 1010 State ex rel. Clinton County v. Hanni-Stevens v. Anson, 46 Stevens v. Buffalo & New York City R. R. Co., 1082 bal & St. Joseph R. R. Co., 129 State ex rel. Copes v. Charleston, 49, 964 Stevens v. Carp River Iron Company, State ex rel. Dean v. City of Madison, 208 Stevens v. New York & Oswego Mid. R. R. Co., 1047, 1286 Stevens v. Rutland R. Co., 326 State ex rel. Dickinson v. Neely, 1009 State ex rel. Girardez v. Southern Bank, 648 Stevens v. St. Mary's Training School, State ex rel. Greeley County v. Milne, 445 797 Stevens v. Williams, 1146 Stevenson v. Bay City, 112, 571 State ex rel. Mayor, etc., v. Kirkley, Stewart's Appeal, 471, 1178

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.] Stewart v. Board of Supervisors of Street Ry. Co. v. Morrow, 1807
Polk County, 49
Streeter v. First Nat. Bank, 511, 686
Stewart v. City of Council Bluffs, 110
Streight v. Junk, 818 Polk County, 49 Stewart v. City of Council Bluffs, 110 Stewart v. Dunham, 1150 Stewart v. Lansing, 980, 1002 Stewart v. Lehigh Valley R. R. Co., Strieb v. Cox, 22, 874 Stringer's Case, 815 Strong v. Southworth, 772 Strong v. Sproul, 393 241, 242, 265 Stewart v. Otoe County, 786 Stewart v. St. Louis, Ft. S. & W. R. Co., 167, 259, 275 Stewart v. Smith, 697 Strough v. Supervisors, 997 Stuart v. Boulware, 1232, 1283 Stuart v. Supervisors, 923 Sturdivant v. Hull, 359 Stewart v. Wyoming Ranche Co., 294 Stidger v. Red Oak, 446 Sturgeon v. Hampton, 128 Sturges v. Keith, 635 Sturges v. Knapp, 489 Sturges v. Stelson, 166 Stillwell v. Mayor, etc., of New York, Stiz v. City of Indianapolis, 1271 Stobie v. Dills, 357, 359 Sturtevant v. Liberty, 857 Stutz v. Handley, 1140 Stuyvesant Bank v. National Mechan-Stockdale v. Wayland School District, ics' Bkg. Assn., 672 Succession of Kercheval, 657 Stockholders of Bank of Abingdon v. Supervisors of Washington Sugden v. Crossland, 259 Suit v. Woodhall, 837 County, 1296 Stocking v. The State, 26 Sullivan v. Lewiston Institution for Savings, 618
Sullivan v. Mitchell, 690
Sullivan v. Murphy, 74, 99
Sullivan v. School District, 140
Sullivan v. Triunfo Gold & Silver Stockle v. Silsbee, 128 Stockton v. Mechanics' Bank, 618 Stockton v. Mechanics & Labor. S. Bank, 366 Stockton & Visalia R. R. Co. v. Sullivan v. Triunfo Gold & Silver Mining Co., 168 Sumner v. Marcy, 92, 478, 517 Sunflower Oil Co. v. Wilson, 1198, 1200 Sun Mutual Ins. Co. v. Mayor, etc., of New York, 1806 Supervisors v. Bowen, 995 Supervisors v. Deyoe, 1051 Supervisors v. Schenck, 362, 980 Supervisors v. Stanley, 1298 Supervisors v. United States, 795 Supervisors v. United States, 795 Supervisors etc., of Hensley Town-Stockton, 49 Stockwell v. State ex rel., 792 Stokes v. Jersey Pottery Company, 150, 184, 198, 200, 201, 209 Stokes v. Stickney, 898 Stoller v. Coates, 648, 731 Stone v. Bank, 761 Stone v. Chisholm, 418, 557 Stone v. Hayes, 342 Stone v. Trust Company, 1105 Supervisors, etc., of Hensley Town-ship v. The People, 71 Stoney v. American Life Ins. Co., 106 Stonky v. Hughes, 359 Storrs v. City of Utica, 121 Storry v. Furman, 400 Stoudinger v. City of Newark, 42 Supervisors of Orleans v. Bowen, 121, 131 Supervisors of Marshall County v. Stout v. Yaeger Milling Company, 102, Cook, 825, 904 Supervisors of Richmond County v. Stoutenburgh v. Hennick, 1267 Stover v. Mitchell, 121 Stow v. Wyse, 98, 150 Stowe v. Bank of Cape Fear, 681 Stoystown & Greensburg Turnpike Ellis, 131 Supervisors of Schuyler County v. Bank of Havana, 609 Supervisors of Schuyler County v. Farwell, 824 Road Co. v. Craver, 159 Straman v. North Baltimore Water Supreme Sitting of the Order of Iron Hall v. Baker, 1123 Susquehanna Bridge & Bank Co. v. Works Co., 1122 Strang v. Cook, 976 General Ins. Co., 102, 808 Sutcliffe & Bird v. McDowell, 657 Stratton v. Allen, 263, 569, 1084, 1108, Sutliff v. Board, etc., Lake County, 885, 842, 869, 897, 927 1112 Straus v. Trotter, 380, 894 Strauss v. Eagle Ins. Co., 73, 74, 90, Sutliff v. Cleveland & Mahoning R. R. Co., 1048 Sutro v. Pettit, 445 Sutro Tunnel Co. v. Segregated Strauss v. Sage, 394 Street v. Maryland Cent. Ry. Co., 1192,1211 Belcher Mining Co., 76, 818

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.] Swan v. City of Arkansas City, 858 Swan v. North British Australasian Co., 344 Swan Land & Cattle Co. v. Frank, 1139 Swan v. Clark, 1215 Swartwout v. Mechanics' Bank of New York, 599 Swazev v. Union Manufacturing Co., 210 Sweency v. Easter, 682, 706, 744 Sweet v. City of Syracuse, 857 Sweet v. County Comrs. of Carver County, 376 Swentzel v. Penn Bank, 347, 367, 368 Swift v. Jewsbury, 547 Swift v. Smith, 1001 Swift v. Tyson, 982 Swift v. Whitney, 627 Symmes v. Union Trust Co., 263 Syracuse Savings Bank v. Town of Seneca, 993

T.

Taft v. Brewster, 300 Tafft v. Pittsford, 446 Tagg v. Tennessee Nat. Bank, 521 Talbot v. Dent, 49, 901, 979 Talcott v. First Nat. Bank of Larned, Taliaferro v. Bank, 539 Talladega Ins. Co. v. Landers, 98 Talladega Ins. Co. v. Peacock, 91 Tallman v. Treasurer of Butler County, 1298 Tallmadge v. Fishkill Iron Co., 102, 166 Talmage v. Pell, 469 Talman v. Rochester City Bank, 98, 506 Tappan v. Bailey, 151 Tappan v. Bank, 227 Tappan v. Merchants' National Bank, 1296 Tash v. Adams, 93 Tatlock v. Louisa County, 194 Tatten v. Tisou, 484 Taxing District of Brownsville v. Loague, 954 Taylor v. Board of Supervisors, 898 Taylor v. Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minn. Ry. Co., 1096 Taylor v. Callaway, 495 Taylor v. Chichester Ry. Co. 825 Taylor v. Henry & Bruscup, 680 Taylor v. Holmes, 316 Taylor v. Insurance Company, 1118 Taylor v. Miami Export Co., 76, 258 Taylor v. Newberne, 49 Taylor v. Philadelphia & Reading R. R. Co., 94

Taylor v. Plumer, 625, 626, 742, 751 Taylor v. Thompson, 35, 70, 964 Taylor v. Wilson, 658 Taylor v. Ypsilanti, 45 Taymouth v. Koehler, 144, 806 Tazewell Co. v. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., 315 Tehan v. Bank, 784 Teitig v. Boesman, 151, 809 Telegraph Co. v. Texas, 1268 Templin v. Chicago, B. & P. R. Co., 156 Tennessee v. Davis, 720 Tennessee v. Whitworth, 1282, 1285, 1307 Terhune v. Bank of Bergen County, 711 Terhune v. Mayor, 798 Terridice v. mayor, 496
Terrell v. Bank, 569
Terry v. Tubman, 1134
Texas & Pac. Ry. Co. v. Goay, 1282
Texas & Pac. Ry. Co. v. Marlor, 1049
Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Southern Pac.
Ry. Co., 1178
Theeber v. Comps. of Lefferson Thacher v. Comrs. of County, 27, 57 Thacher v. King, 386, 387 Jefferson Thayer v. Butler, 519, 756 Thayer v. Montgomery County, 824, 826, 946 Thayer v. Union Tool Co., 387 The Banks v. Poitiaux, 494 The Charitable Corporation v. Sutton, 301, 348, 364, 554 The Distilled Spirits, 337 The Floyd Acceptances, 152, 936 The Liquidators of Western Bank v. Baird, 364 The People v. Dupuyt, 70 The People v. Utica Insurance Co., 50 The State Freight Tax, 1293
The State, Muller, Prosecutor, v.
Mayor & Council of City of Bayonne, 1209 The State, Raymond, Prosecutor, v. Mayor & Council of Borough of Rutherford, 1269 The State, Simmons, Prosecutor, v. City of Passaic, 1270

The State, Singer Mfg. Co. Prosecutors, v. Heppenheimer, 1292

Thew v. Porcelain Manufg. Co., 201 Third Nat. Bank v. Allen, 521 Third Nat. Bank v. Boyd, 587 Third National Bank v. Clark, 681
Thomas v. Brownville, etc., R. R.
Co., 98, 268, 268, 278, 284, 451,
467, 478, 497
Thomas v. Cincinnati, N. O. & T. P. Ry. Co., 1210 Thomas v. Citizens' Horse Ry. Co., 487, 1054

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307.] Thomas v. City National Bank of Tillinghast v. Troy & Boston R. R. Hastings, 285, 507

Thomas v. City of Port Huron, 5

Tillotson v. City of Saginaw, 852 Thomas v. City of Richmond, 4, 787 Tinley v. Bellingham Bay Boom Co.. Thomas v. East Tennessee, V. & S.
Ry. Co. (Cook, Intervener), 1210
Thomas v. Leland, 901 Titus v. Cairo, etc., R. R. Co., 182, 199 Thomas v. Minot, 1311
Thomas v. Morgan County, 899
Thomas v. Peoria & R. I. Ry. Co.
(Western Car Co., Intervener), 1219, 1222, 1240 Titus v. Great Western Turnpike Co., 333, 334, 386 Titus v. Mabee, 1096 Tobey v. County of Beland, 1152 Tobin Canning Co. v. Fraser, 272 Thomas v. Railroad Co., 820 Thomas v. Railway Co., 1220 Thomas v. Sweet, 261 Tod v. Kentucky Union Land Co., 79. 81, 83 Tod v. Kentucky Union Ry. Co. (Rosser et al., Interveners), 1251, 1252 Todd County v. St. Paul, M. & M.
Ry. Co., 1301
Toledo, Delphos & Burlington R. R. Thomas v. Western Car Co., 1240 Thomas Kane & Co. v. School District of Calhoun, 115 Thompson v. Charnock, 1152 Thompson v. City of Peru, 39, 951 Co. v. Hamilton, 1247, 1248 Toledo, etc. R. R. Co. v. Hamilton, 1095, 1096 Thompson v. Giles, 615 Thompson v. Lumbert, 77, 102, 469 Thompson v. Lumber Company, 1111, Tombigbee R. R. Co. v. Kneeland, 1129 478 Thompson v. McKee, 198
Thompson v. New York & Harlem
Railroad, 1050 Tome v. Parkersburg Branch, 334 Tompkins v. Saltmarsh, 366 Tomlinson v. Branch, 1282 Thompson v. Perrine, 1007 Thompson v. Riggs, 597, 598 Thompson v. St. Nicholas Nat. Bank, Tomlinson v. Jessup, 1283 Tootle v. First Nat. Bank of Port Angeles, 490 Topeka Primary Assn. v. Martin, 156, 540, 542 Thompson v. School District, 169 210 Toppan v. Cleveland, Col. & Cin. R. R. Co., 1053 Topping v. Bickford, 159 Torbett v. Eaton, 401 Thompson v. Sioux Falls Nat. Bank. 616 Thompson v. Stanley, 151, 851
Thompson v. Valley R. R. Co., 1095
Thompson's Appeal, 623, 752
Thomson v. Bank of British No. Torbett v. Goodwin, 408 Torrey v. Bank of Orleans, 251, 326 Torrey v. Dustin Monument Assn., 98, 150, 227 America, 672 Thomson v. Harris, 1263 Tovey v. Culver, 394
Towle v. American Buildg., Loan &
Inv. Society, 1123, 1126
Town v. Bank, 1115
Town Co. v. Morris, 490 Thomson-Houston Electric Co. v. Capitol Electric Co. (Read, Intervener), 1044 Thomson v. Lee County, 4, 49, 71, 909, 946 Thomson v. Madison Building & Aid Town Co. v. Swigart, 490 Town of Andes v. Ely, 1012 Town of Big Grove v. Wells, 852, Assn., 497 Thorington v. Gould, 204 Thorne v. Deas, 348 972 Thornton v. National Exchange Bank, Town of Brewton v. Spira, 1012 Town of Bruce v. Dickey, 58
Town of Cabot v. Britt, 137
Town of Cherry Creek v. Becker, 978
Town of Cicero v. Clifford, 945 493, 511 Thornton v. St. Paul, etc., R. R. Co., Thorp v. Wegefarth, 718 Thrasher v. Greene County, 129 Town of Colona v. Eaves, 897, 972, 982 Town of Concord v. Robinson, 974 Thurber v. Cecil Nat. Bank, 588 Ticonic Bank v. Johnson, 527, 640 Tiffany v. Nat. Bank of Missouri, 528, Town of Darlington v. Atlantic Trust Co., 1012 Town of Douglas v. Ariantic Savings 582 Bank, 850 Tifft v. Bank, 562 Tifft v. City of Buffalo, 994 Town of Duanesburgh v. Jenkins, 994, 1007 Tilden v. Sacramento Co., 118

[The references are to pages: vol I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1807.]

Town of Durango v. Pennington, 113 | Trenton Mut. Life & Fire Ins. Co. v. Town of Eagle v. Kohn, 977, 978 Town of East Lincoln v. Davenport, Town of Enfield v. Jordan, 974 Town of Guilford v. Supervisors of Chenango County, 928 Town of Hackensack v. Swackhamer, Town of Harwood v. Hamilton, 8 Town of Keithsburg v. Frick, 1005 Town of Lyons v. Chamberlain, 985 Town of Lyons v. Coledge, 795, 796 Town of Middleport v. Ætna Life Ins. Co., 973 Town of Mt. Vernon v. Patton, 58, 59 Town of Newport v. Batesville & B. Ry. Co., 438 Town of Odell v. Schroeder, 795 Town of Pana v. Lippincott, 879, 971, 974, 976 Town of Reading v. Wedder, 974 Town of Solon v. Williamsburgh Sav-ings Bank, 988, 985, 987, 990, 992, 993 Town of Springport v. Teutonia Sav-ings Bank, 992 Town of Venice v. Murdock, 56 Town of Weyanwega v. Ayling, 971 Town of Winamac v. Huddleston, 22, Township v. County, 132 Township v. Gibboney, 135 Township of Bernards v. Morrison, 913 Township of Burlington v. Beasley, 54, 55, 917 Township of Pine Grove v. Talcott. 471 Township of Rock Creek v. Strong, 27 Township of Washington v. Coler, 972, 999 Tracy v. Talmage, 65, 514, 527 Traders' Nat. Bank v. Manufacturing Co., 1021 Traders' Nat. Bank of San Antonio v. Cresson, 528, 525 Tradesman's Bank v. Merritt, 689 Tradesmen's Bank v. Astor, 608 Tradesmen's Nat. Bank v. Lumber Co., 151 Trammell v. Pennington, 906 Transportation Co. v. Parkersburg. 1298 Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Township of Oswego, 974 Traver v. Board Traver v. Board, etc., of Merrick County, 55, 917 Treadway v. Schnauber, 446 Treadwell v. Commissioners, 111 Treadwell v. Sellsbury Manufg. Co., 278, 805, 456, 478, 491, 1068 Treichler v. Berks County, 132

McKelway, 91, 481 Trimmer v. City of Rochester, 1288 Tripp v. Swanzey Paper Co., 147, 152, 162 Trisconi v. Winship, 349 Trott v. City Insurance Co., 1152 Trott v. Warren, 158 Trowbridge v. Scaman, 627 Trust Company v. City, 955 Trust Co. y. Floyd, 368, 373 Trust Co. v. Morrison, 1222 Trust Company v. Shepherd, 1222 Trust Co. v. Souther, 1220, 1223 Trust Company v. Thomason, 1229 Trustees v. Greenough, 1183, 1232 Trustees, etc., v. Shoemaker, 49 Trustees of Belleview v. Hohn, 446 Trustees of First Presbyterian Church in Newark v. National State Bank of Newark, 511 Trustees of Paris v. Cherry, 49, 446 Trustees of Schools v. Rautenberg. 357, 359 Trustees of Smith Charities v. Connolly, 580 Trustees of University v. Moody, 98 Tryon v. White & Corbin Co., 234 Tucker Manufg. Co. v. Fairbanks, 359
Tuller v. Arnold, 151
Tunno v. Lague, 681
Turnbull v. Lumber Company, 1115
Turnbull v. Payson, 772 Turner v. Bank of Fox Lake, 648 Turner v. Chillicothe & Des Moines R. R. Co., 217 Turner v. Cruzen, 440 Turner v. First Nat. Bank, 511, 636. 711 Turner v. Richardson, 1203 Turner v. Woodson County, 54 Tuscaloosa Manufg. Co. v. Cox, 317 Tuskaloosa Cotton Seed Oil Co. v. Perry, 234 Tuttle v. Frelinghuysen, 711 Tutt v. Sand Hills Hotel Co., 1283 Twin-Lick Oil Co. v. Marbury, 168, 214, 254, 268, 270, 278, 285, 1084 Twiss v. Guaranty Life Assn. of Iowa, 469 Tyler v. E. & P. R. R. Company, 46 Tyler v. Hamilton, 1176, 1237 Tyler v. Savage, 291 Tyng v. Clark, 304 Tyson v. State Bank, 686

Underhill v. Gibson, 185 Underhill v. Santa Barbara Land, Building & Improvement Co., 99,

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1301.] Underhill v. Sonora, 846 Union Bank v. Bagley, 176 Union Bank v. Board of Comrs. of Town of Oxford, 1012 Union Bank v. Cochran, 689 Union Bank v. Corcoran, 527 Union Bank v. Jacobs, 75, 102 Union Bank v. Jones, 176 Union Bank v. Kansas City Bank, 1114 Union Bank v. Laird, 526 Union Bank v. Ridgely, 145 Union Bank v. State, 1307 Union Bank v. Tutt, 597 Union Bank v. United States Bank, Union Bank v. Wando Mining & Mfg. Co., 562 Union Bank of Georgetown v. Mackall. 595, 596 Union Bank of Quincy v. Tutt, 638 Union Bridge Co. v. Troy & Lansing-burgh R. R. Co., 235 Union Gold Mining Co. v. Rocky Mt. Nat. Bank, 78, 102, 152, 191, 198, Union Insurance Co. v. Keyser, 158 Union Loan & Trust Co. v. Southern California Motor Road Co., 1015, 1038, 1077, 1222, 1233 Union Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Frear Stone Mfg. Co., 258 Union Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. White, 154, 194, 263 Union Nat. Bank v. Hunt, 493, 517 Union Nat. Bank v. Oceana County Bank, 645 Union Nat. Bank v. Rowan, 506 Union Nat. Bank of Chicago v. Goetz, 750 Union Pacific Railroad v. Commissioners, 917 Union Pacific Railroad v. Lincoln, Union Pac. Ry. Co. v. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co., 82, 458 Union Pac. R. R. Co. v. United States, 432, 815 Union School Furniture Co. v. School District No. 60, etc., 115, 440 Union School Township v. First Nat. Bank of Crawfordsville 133, 427, Union Stock Yards Bank v. Gillespie, 609 Union Stock Yards Nat. Bank v. Dumond, 607 Union Township v. Gibboney, 24 Union Trust Co. v. Illinois Midland Ry. Co., 1207, 1212, 1222 Union Trust Co. v. Missouri, Kansas, etc., Ry. Co., 1108 Union Trust Co. v. Souther, 1239

Union Trust Co. of New York v Nevada & O. R. R. Co., 1044 Union Turnpike Co. v. Jenkins, 163 Union Water Co. v. Murphy's Flat Fluming Co., 478, 494 United Electric Securities Louisiana Electric Light Co., 1123 United Lines Tel. Co. v. Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Co., 470 United Lines Telegraph Co. v. Safe Deposit & Trust Co., 458 United Society of Shakers v. Under-wood, 241, 558, 685 United States v. Allen, 776 United States v. Babbit, 1058 United States v. Bank, 674 United States v. Britton, 773, 777, 778 United States v. City Bank of Columbus, 111, 177, 570, 578, 588 United States v. Dandridge, 283, 306 United States v. Dodge County, 917 United States v. Eno, 773 United States v. Eque, 776, 778 United States v. French, 779 United States v. Graves, 779, 781 United States v. Hughitt, 776 United States v. Linn, 990 United States v. Means, 558, 776 United States v. Mooney, 715 United States v. National Exchange Bank, 673 United States v. New Orleans, 795 United States v. New Orleans & O. R. R. Co., 1102 United States v. Northway, 773, 774, United States v. Potter, 777, 778, 782 United States v. Railroad Co., 1276, 1277 United States v. Shaw, 715 United States v. Trans-Missouri United States v. 7 Freight Assn., 1178 United States v. Union Pac. R. R. Co., 301 United States v. Western Union T l Co. 475 United States Bank v. Carneal, 691 United States Bank v. Dunn, 177 United States ex rel. v. Board, etc., United States ex rel. Huidekoper v. Macon County Court, 803 United States ex rel. Portsmouth Savings Bank v. Board of Auditors of the Town of Ottawa, 795, 796 United States Electric Power & Light Co. v. State, 1300 United States Express Co. v. Ellyson, United States Rolling Stock Co. v. Atlantic & G. W. R. Co., 238, [The references are to pages vol. I contains pp. 1-707; vol II, pp 708-1307.]

United States Trust Co. of New York v. Wabash, St. Louis & Pac. Ry. Co., 1097

United States Trust Co. v. Mayor, etc., of New York, 1288, 1290

Upton v. South Reading Bank, 512

Upton v. Vail, 294

Upton v. Vail, 294

Usher v. Raymond Skate Co., 78

Usica Water Works Co v. City of Utica, 66

v.

Vaglino v. Bank of England, 844 Vail v. Hamilton, 1067 Vail v. Newark Savings Institution, 711 Vairin v Hobson, 643 Van Allen v. Assessors, 1274, 1296 Van Brocklin v. Tennessee, 1277 Van Cott v. Van Brunt, 275, 1031, Van Courtlandt v. Underhill, 348 Vandall v. Dock Company, 88 Vandegrift v. Delaware R. R. Co., 805 Vanderpoel v. Gorman, 1112, 1290 Vanderwerken v. Glenn, 772 Van Dresser v. Navigation Co., 465 Vane v. City of Evanston, 1269 Vane v. Newcombe, 1251 Van Epps v. Van Epps, 251, 268
Van Etten v. Van Eaton, 416
Van Hoffman v. City of Quincy, 909
Van Leuven v. First Nat. Bank of Kingston, 634 Van Slyke v. Wisconsin, 1296, 1299 yan giyke v. Wisconsin, 1296, 1299
Van Vechten v. Terry, 1158
Van Vleet v. Jones, 410
Van Weel v. Winston, 1142
Van Wagoner v. Gas Light Co., 712
Van Wart v. Wooley, 681
Van Weel v. Winston, 290
Vaughn v. School Dist. No. 8, etc., Veazie Bank v. Fenno, 1274 Veazie Bank v. Nims, 702 Veazie Bank v. Winn, 659 Veeder v. Baker, 898 Veeder v. Mudgett, 400 Venango Nat. Bank v. Taylor, 718, 720 Vermilye v. Adams Express Com-pany, 1048 Vermont & Canada R. R. Co. v. Vermont Central R. R. Co., 487 mont Mining Co. v. Windham Vermont Mining Co. v. County Bank, 588 Verplanck v. Mercantile Insurance Co., 76, 805 Verzan v. McGregor, 205

Bradley, 1282 Vicksburg S. & T. R. R. Co. v. Ouachita, 49 Victory Webb Printing Co. v. Beecher, 390, 896 Vidal v. Girard's Excrs., 494 Viets v. Union Nat. Bank of Troy. 610 Vigers v. Pike, 168 Vilas v. Milwaukee, etc., Railway, 1.78 Vilas v Page, 1212, 1215 Village of Oncida v. Board of Supervisors of Madison County, 996 Vincent v. Chapman, 350 Vincent v. Inhabitants of Nantucket, 83, 790 Vincent v. Lincoln County, 847 Vincent v. Mecosta County Supervisors, 128 Vincent v. Snoqualmie Mill Co., 1081 Vining v. Bricker, 520 Vionet v. Municipality No. 1, 30 Virginia v. Chesapeake & Ohio Canal Virginia V. Chesapeake & Onio Canal Co., 1014, 1047 Virginia Development Co. v. Crozer Iron Co., 1244 Virginia, Tenn. & Carolina Steel & Iron Co. v. Wilder, 1128 Volger v. Siddner, 1271 Von Roun v. Superior Court, 726 Von Schmidt v. Widber, City Treasurer, 32 Voris v. Renshaw, 210 Vosburgh v. Diefendorf, 620

W. Wabash, St. Louis & Pac. Ry. Co. v.

Ham, 1109
Wabash, St. Louis & Pac. Ry. Co. v.
Illinois, 1298
Wabash, St. Louis & Pac. Ry. Co. v.
McKissock, 1100
Wachob v. Bingham School District, 138 Waco Water & Light Co. v. City of Waco, 442
Wade v. Am. Colonization Society, 494 Wade v. Chicago, Springfield & St.
Louis R. R. Co., 1040, 1095
Wade v. Donau Brewing Co., 1100
Wagner v. Cleveland & Toledo Railroad, 1221
Wahl v. Milwaukee, 109
Wahlig v. Standard Pump Manufg.
Co., 78, 228
Wait v. Nashua Armory Assn., 182
Waite v. Moning Company, 162, 247

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-70;; vol. II, pp. 108-1307.]

Wakefield Bank v. Truesdell, 571 Wakeman v. Dalley, 410, 558 Walburn v. Ingilby, 294

Waldo v. Chicago, St. P & Fond du Lac R. R. Co., 95, 463

Walker v. Bank of State of New York,

Walker v. Birchard, 385

Walker v. City of ('incinnati, 53, 877, 924, 964

Walker v. Detroit Transit R. Co., 143, 162

Walker v. Linn County, 129

Walker v. Miller, 1120 Walker v. Oswald, 803 Walker v. Richards, 734

Walker v. St. Louis Nat. Bank, 596

Wall v. Monroe County, 1004

Wall v. Spurlock, 597 Wallace v. Agry, 702

Wallace v. Exchange Bank of Spencer,

Wallace v. Loomis, 1093, 1212

Wallace v. Mayor, etc., of San Jose, 5, 63, 445

Wallace & Sons v. Walsh, 391 Walling v. Miller, 726, 1120 Wallis v. Johnston School Township, 133, 134, 426, 427 Walnut v. Wade, 916 Walsh v. Barton, 1096 Walsh v. Dart, 702

Walter v. Kirk, 641

Walters v. Anglo-American Mortgage

& Trust Co., 1191

Walters v. Town of Lake, 1269 Walther v. Seven Corners' Bank, 1123

Walton v. Godwin, 408, 411 Walton v. Hake, 249

Walton v. Oliver, 372

Walton v. Riley, 54

Walworth County Bank v. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., 180, 182, 236 Ward v. Allen, 670

Ward v. Davidson, 245, 262, 278 Ward v. Johnston, 488 Wardell v. Railroad Co., 242, 243, 259,

268, 275, 284 Warden of St. James v. Rector, etc., Church of the Redeemer, 283

Warder, Bushnell & Glesner Co. v. Jock, 470

Ware v. Grand Junction Water Works Co., 300, 348 Warfield v. Canning Company, 1074

Warner v. De Witt County Nat. Bank, 309

Warner v. Littlefield, 1081 Warner v. Martin, 589

Warner v. Mower, 1112

Warren v. First Nat. Bank of Columbus, 1115, 1117

Warren v. Gilman, 571 Warren v. Ocean Însurance Co., 141

Warren County v Marcy, 1037 Warren County Agr. Joint Stock Co. v. Barr, 27, 437

Warrensburg Co op, Building Assn.

v. Zoll, 650 Wasatch Mining Co. v. Jennings, 263 Washburn v. Blake, 580 Washburn v. Board, etc., 31

Washington v. Lewis, 571
Washington County Court v. Thompson, 127

Washington Mut. Fire Ins. Co. v. Seminary, 45, 184 Washington National Bank of Tacoma

v. Eckels, 714 Washington, Ohio & W. R. R. Co. v.

Lewis, 1176 Washington Savings Bank v. Butchers', etc. Bank, 198

Wasson v. Hawkins, 620, 624 Waterbury v. City of Laredo, 64 Waterhouse v. Comer, 1208

Waters v. Quimby, 417 Waters v. Trovillo, 57

Watertown v. Cady, 48 Waterworks v. Yeomans, 1051

Watson v. Bennet, 575 Watson v. New Jersey Chemical Co.,

1144 Watson v. Sutherland, 874

Watson v. Turpley, 982 Watt's Appeal, 88, 244, 245, 283, 302, 317

Watts v. Shipman, 636

Watts-Campbell Co. v. Yuongling, 190, 823 Waverly Company v. Worthington

Company, 1123 Waxahachie Nat. Bank v. Vickery,

Waymire v. Powell, 122

Wayne County v. Benoit, 798 Wayne Pike Co. v. Hammons, 279, 281, 315 Wear v Lce, 060

Weatherford, M. W. & N. W. R. Co. v. Granger, 234, 300

Webb v. Spokane County, 282 Webber v. Williams College, 146,

Weber v. Ohio & Mississippi Ry. Co.,

Weber v Spokane Nat. Bank, 509 Webster v. Howe Machine Co., 464 Webster v. School District, 139 Webster v. Upton, 763, 1028 Webster County v. Taylor, 443 Weckler v. First Nat. Bank of Hagerstown, 508 Weeks v. Love, 380

Mining Co., 193 Weeks v. Texarkana, 799 Weiner v. Sturgis, 1131 Weirick v. Mahoning County Bank, Weismer v. Village of Douglas, 48, 44 Weisser v. Denison, 604, 673, 679 Welch v. Sage, 1014 Weld v. Gorham, 690 Welles v. Graves, 557, 558 Welles v. Stout, 772 Welhesburg, etc., Co. v. Young, 74 Wells v. Jewett, 287 Wells v. Morrow, 569 Wells v. Supervisors, 71, 872, 920, 1000 Wells v. Town of Salina, 8 Welsh v. Ferd Heim Brewing Co., 470 Welsh v. German-American Bank, 667, 668, 679 Welsh v. St. Paul & Pac. R. R. Co., 1047, 1048 Welton v. Missouri, 1267 Wentworth v. Lloyd, 168 Wentworth v. Whittemore, 69 Werk v. Mad River Valley Back. 697 Werner v. Murphy, 1204 Wesley Church v. Moore, 198 West v. Camden, 268 West v. City of Utica, 112 West v. Errol, 135 West v. First Nat. Bank of Elmira, 628 West v. Menard County Agr. Board. West v. St. Paul National Bank, 692 Westburg v. City of Kansas, 798 Westchester Bank v. Donner, 521 Westchester Gas Co. v. County of Chester, 1266 Westchester, etc., R. R. Co. v. Jackson, 485 Westerfield v. Radde, 108, 182, 192, 228, 392 Western Bank of Missouri v. Gilstrap, 169 Western College of Medicine v Cleve land, 446 Western M. R. Co. v. Franklin Bank, Western Organ Co. v. Reddish, 489 Western R. R. Co. v. Bayne, 167, 182, 198, 260 Western Saving Fund Society of Phila-delphia v. City of Philadelphia, 29 Western Union v. Smith, 859 Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Alabama, 1268 Western Union Tel, Co. v. American Union Tel. Co., 1178

[The references are to pages: vol I contains pp. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1907.] Weeks v. Silver Islet Consolidated | Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Massachusetts, 1294 Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Pendleton, 1293 Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Texas, 1298 Western Union Telegraph Co. Yopst, 155 Weston v. City of Syracuse, 30, 69 Weston v. Charleston, 1276 West Salem Land Co. v. Land Co., 284 West St. Louis Sav. Bank v. Shawnee Co. Bark, 250, 568, 571, 576, 579, West School District v. Merrills, 790
West Virginia Transportation Co. v.
Ohio River Pipe Line Co., 1178
Wetherbee v. Fitch, 146, 190, 191 Wetmore v. Railroad Company, 1158 Whaley, etc., Co. v. Green, 299 Wheeler v. Alton, 140 Wheeler v. County of Wayle, 5 Wheeler v. Northwestern Sleigh Co., 816 Wheeler v. Reed, 859 Wheeler v San Francisco & A. R. Co., 819 Wheelock v. Kost, 709, 757, 772 Wheelwright v. St. Louis, N. O. & O. Transportation Co., 1042, 1070, 1.56 Whelan v. McCreary, 569 Whelen's Appeal, 955 Whelpdale v. Cookson, 243 Wherry v. Hale, 512 Whetstone v. Ottawa University, 88, Whilden v. Bank, 635 Whitaker v. Grummond, 162 Whitaker v. Hartford, Prov. & F. R. R. Co., 1048 Whitaker v. Kilroy, 156, 210, 233 Whitaker v. Masterton, 398, 415 Whitbeck v. Mercantile Bank, 757 White v. City of Rahway, 114
White v. Hosford, 385
White v. Knox, 727, 729, 759
White v. Madison, 369, 372
White v. Mecnanics' Nat. Bank, 667
White v. National Bank, 706, 744
White v. Rosella, 1869 White v. People, 1268 White v. Syracuse & Utica R. R. Co., White v. Vermont & Massachusetts White v. Vermont & Massachnetts Railroad, 1000, 1014, 1048 White v. Westport Cotton Manufg. ('o., 150, 152, 157, 198 White, etc., Manufg. Co. v. Pette Importing Co., 254, 274, 1087 Whitehead v. Vineyard, 1098 White Mountains Railroad v. White Mountains (N. H.) Railroad, 245

[The references are to pages: vol. I contains pp. 1-707: vol. II, pp. 708-1807.] Whiteside v. United States, 446 White Water Valley Canal Co. v. Vallette, 1014, 1058 Willetts v. Paine, 605, 648, 659 Williams v. American Bank, 1241 Williams v. Cheney, 226 Whiting v. Railroad Co., 49
Whiting v. Town of West Point, 1264
Whiting v. Wellington, 180, 827
Whitman Mowing Co. v. Baker, 494
Whitney v. Butler, 766, 768 Williams v. Dorrier, 576 Williams v. Hood, 661 Williams v. Jackson County Patrons of Husbandry, 247 Williams v. Jones, 254 Wutney v. Cammann, 392 Whitney v. Fairbanks, 303, 318 Whitney v. National Bank of Brattle-Villiams v. McKay, 554 Williams v. Manufacturing Co., 296 Williams v. Miami Powder Co., 357 Williams v. Morgan, 1184 Williams v. People, 911, 940 Williams v. Riley, 365 Williams v. Town of Albion, 22 boro, 634, 636 Whitney v. South Faris Manufg. Co., 148 Whitney v. Union Trust Co., 1071 Whitney Arms Co. v Barlow, 394, Williams v. Town of Roberts, 876, 326, 898, 899, 415, 467, 469, 489, 495, 497, 943 Whittaker v. Amwell Nat. Bank, 1085, Williams v. Town of Duanesburgh, 1007 Williams v. State Board of Assessors, 1086, 1130 1302 Whittenton Mills v. Upton, 499, 501 Whitwell v. Johnson, 685 Whitwell v. Warner, 150 180 1084, Williams v. Uncompangre Canal Co., 181 Williams v. Western Union Tel. Co., 1108, 1112 815, 1289 Whyte v. Mayor, etc., 59 Williams v. Wood, 294 Wichita Nat. Bank v. Maltby, 607 Williamsburg City Fire Ins. Co. v. Wickens v. Foster, 413 Frothingham, 1071 Wickersham v. Chicago Zinc Co., 570 Williamsburgh Sav. Bank v. Town of Wickham v. Hull, 769 Solon, 987 Wiggins v. Burkham, 673, 676 Williamson v. Keokuk, 852 Williamson v. Wash, City, Va. Mid.
& Great Southern R. R. Co., 1230
Williamson, Trustee, v. New Jersey
Southern Railroad, 1082, 1248 Wiggins Ferry Co. v. East St. Louis, 1293 Wiggins Ferry Co. v. Ohio & Missis-sippi Ry. Co., 1174, 1221 Wilbur v. Lynde, 196 Willim v. Bernheimer, 857 Wilcombe v. Dodge, 641 Willink v. Morris Canal & Bkg. Co., 1054, 1096, 1097 Wilcox v. Bickel, 316 Wild v. Bank of Passamaquaddy, 176 Wild v. New York, etc., M. Co., 234, Wilmington & Weldon Railroad v. Alabrook, 1282 488 Wile & Brickner Co. v. Rochester & K. F. Land Co., 157, 167, 260 Wiles v. Suydam, 398, 400
Wiley v. Silliman, 972
Wiley v. Starbuck, 530, 534
Willelm v. Cedar County, 124
Wilting v. State, 1272 Willis v. Philadelphia & Darby R. R. Co., 388, 1079 Willis v. St. Paul Sanitation Co., 114, 236 Williston v. Mich. So. & No. Ind. R. R. Co., 485 Willmarth v. Crawford, 74
Willoughby v. Chicago Junction Rys.
& Union Stock-Yards Co., 456, Wilkins v. State, 1272 Wilkinsburgh Borough v. Home for Aged Women, 1266 Wilkinson v. Albany, 135 Wilkinson v. Babbitt, 858 Wilmer v. Railroad Company, 1195 Wilmington, O. & E. C. R. R. Co. v. Board of Comrs. of Onslow Wilkinson v. Bauerle, 272, 356, 1084, 1086, 1112, 1114 Wilkinson v. City of Peru, 950 Wilkinson v. Johnson, 670 County, 948
Wilson v. Bank, 583
Wilson v. Beckwith. 1098
Wilson v. Boyce, 1098
Wilson v. Brett, 348 Willamette, etc., Co.v. Bank of British Columbia, 473 Willard v. Denise, 239 Willard v. Killingworth, 5 Wilson v. City Council, 1012 Wilson v. Coburn, 622 Wilson v. Dawson, 636 Willard v. Newburyport, 33, 35 Willets v. Phœnix Bank, 651

Wilson v. Gaines, 1307

[The references are to pages; vol. I contains up. 1-707; vol. II, pp. 709-1807.] Wilson v. Kings County Elevated R. | Woodruff v. Plant, 658 R. Co., 233 Wilson v. M. E. R. Co., 342 Wilson v. Rocke, 620 Wilson v. Salamanca, 830, 935, 938 Wilson v. Supervisor, 126t Wilson v. Union Gavings Assn., 973 Wilson v. Williman, 641 Wilson V, Williaman, Ori Wilson Mfg Co. v Schwind, 394 Wilson Sewing Machine Co. v. Boy-ington, 153, 195 Winchester v. Baltimore & Susque-hanna R. R. Co., 151 Winchester v. Railroad Co., 570 Wind v. Fifth Nat. Bank, 671 Windham Provident Inst. v. Sprague, Winn v. City Council of Macon, 53 Winona v. Minnesota Ry. Constr. Co., Winsor v. La Fayette County Bank, Winter v. Bank of New York, 602 Winter v. City Council of Mont-gomery, 48, 51, 52, 950 Winters v. Hub Mining Co., 800 Winton v. Little, 509 Wisconsin v. Pelican Insurance Co., 413 Wisconsin Central R. R. Co. v. Comstock, 1282 Wiser v. Blachly, 991 Witherow v. Slayback, 397 Witter v. Grand Rapids Flouring Mill On., 821 Witters v. Sowles, 558, 771 Wolf v. Aroninus Copper Mine Co., Wolff v. Walter, 681 Wood v. Commissioners of Oxford, 906, 974 Wood v. Hummer, 1106, 1113, 1133 Wood v. Guarantee Trust & Safe De-nosit Co., 1046, 1246, 1256, 1260 Wood v. Holly Manufacturing Co., 1100 Wood v. Oregon Development Co., 1126 Wood v. Whelen, 163, 236, 1075, 1100 Wood v. Wiley Construction Company, 151 Woodbridge v. City of Duluth, 862 Woodhall v. Rosenthal, 1101 Wood Hydraulic Hose Mining Co. v. King, 92 Woodin v. Frazec, 656 Woodley v. Town Council of Clio, 1012 Woodroof v. Howes, 273 Woodruff v. Comrs. of Noble County, 128, 442 Woodruff v. Merchants' Bank, 656

Woodruff v. Okalona, 1001 Woods v. Board of Supervisors of Madison County, 995 Woods v. Lawrence County, 904 Woods v. Louislana, 857 Woods v. People's Bank, 500 W. & Mt. St. T. R. Co. v. Clark County Court, 46, 899 Woodstoca Iron Co. v. Richmond & Danville Extension Co., 268 Woodward v. Reynolds, 874
Woodward v. Reynolds, 874
Woodward v. Taylor, 403, 1124
Worcester v. Railroad Company, 958
Worcester Nat. Bank v. Cheeney, 510
Workhouse v. Moore, 157, 166 Worthern v. Griffith, 1111 Wray v. Insurance Company, 754 Wright v. Bundy, 471
Wright v. First National Bank, 1081
Wright v. First National Bank, 1081
Wright v. Pipe Line Co., 1079
Wright v. Proville Gold, Silver & Copper Mining Co., 306
Wright A Papeal, 199, 397 Wright's Appeal, 182, 287 Wullenwaber v. Dunigan, 883 Wyandotte v. Zeitz, 350 Wylie v. Northampton Bank, 635 Wyman v. Colorado Nat. Bank, 524

Υ.

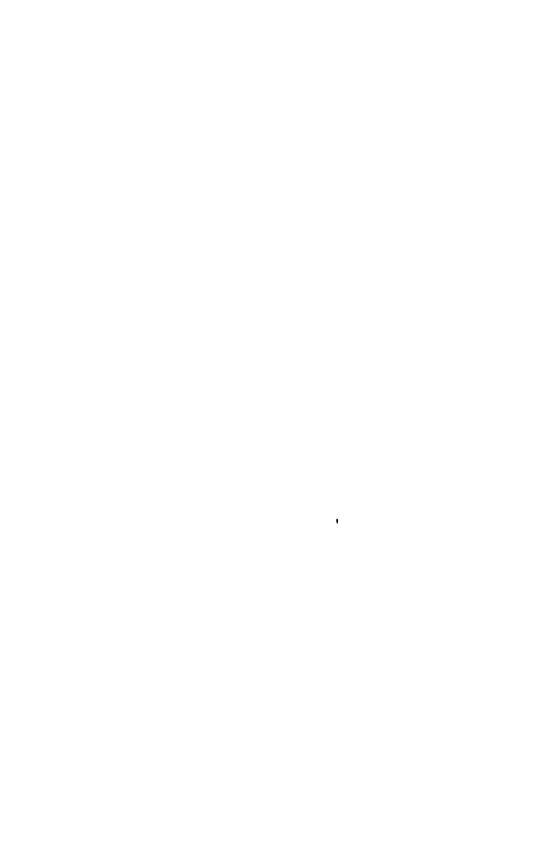

Yale Gas Stove Co. v. Wilcox, 297 Yancey v. Hopkins, 446
Yandley v. Clothier, 712, 716, 717, 720
Yardley v. Dickson, 715
Yardley v. Philler, 722
Yardley v. Wilgus, 765
Yardley v. Wilgus, 765 Yarish v. Cedar Rapids, I. F. & N. W. Ry. Co. 906 Yarnell v. City of Los Angeles, 736 Yazoo & M. V. R. R. Co. v. Board of Levee Comrs., 1282 Yellow Jacket Silver Mining Co. v. Stevenson, 172 Yoakum v. Kroeger, 1232 York Buildings Co. v. Mackenzie, 243, York Co. v. Mackenzie, 1039 York & Maryland Railroad v. Winans, 473 York & North Midland Ry. Co. v. Hudson, 801 Young v. Board of Education of Ind. School Dist. No. 47, 895 Young v. Camden County, 873 Young v. Clarendon, 17 Young v. Clarendon Township, 425, 1000 Young v. Hudson, 574 Young v. McKay, 766 Young v. Railroad Company, 907, 920

[The references are to pages: vol. I. contains pp 1-707; vol. II, pp. 708-1307] Young v. Wempe, 772 Youngman v. Elmira & Williamsport R. R. Co., 1096 Young Men's Christian Association v. Donohugh, 1286 Youngs v. Hall, 847

Zabriskie v. Railroad, 49, 79, 473, 895, 1018

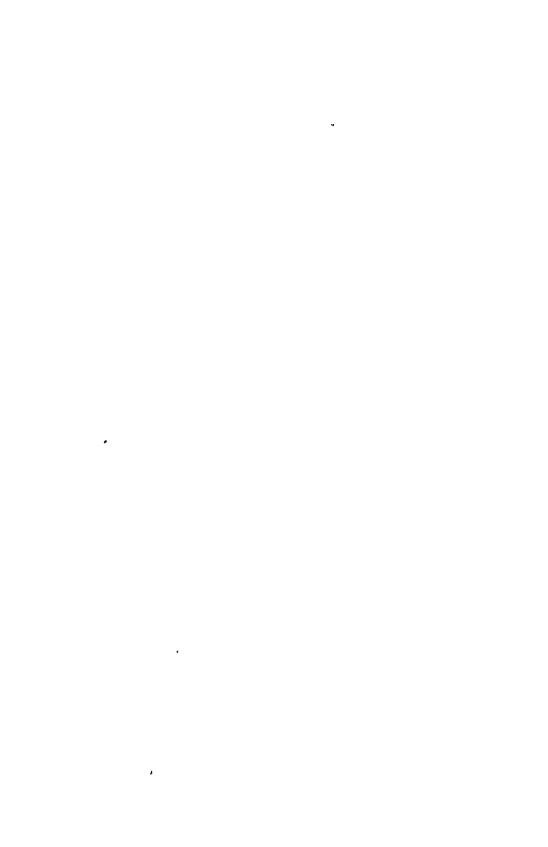

Zearfoss v. Farmers & Mechanics' Institute of Northampton County, 161 Zellerbach v. Allenberg, 815 Zelle v. German Suv. Inst., 660 Ziegler v. Bank, 628 Ziegler v. Hoagland, 280 Zieverink v. Kemper, 1128 Zihlman v. Cumberland Glass Co.,

807 Zook v. Spray, 379

CORPORATE FINANCE

THE FINANCIAL OPERATIONS AND ARRANGEMENTS OF PUBLIC AND PRIVATE CORPORATIONS

CHAPTER I.

GENERAL POWER TO INCUR PECUNIARY LIABILITY—PUBLIC CORPORATIONS.

- § 1. General rules applicable to pub- | § 22. Incurring liability under Kansas lic corporations.
 - 2. Distinction between public and private corporations.
 - 3. Borrowing money.
 - 4. The United States Supreme Court on borrowing money.
 - 5. The New Jersey Court of Errors and Appeals on borrowing money.
 - 6. Issue of negotiable securities.
 - 7. Power of Indiana cities to issue
 - 8. Miscellaneous rules as to issuing bonds.
 - 9. Bonds issued for the erection of a county court house.
 - 10. Funding county indebtedness by issuing interest-bearing bends.
 - 11. Issue of bonds to pay subscription to stock of railroad corporations.
- 12. Notes or warrants to cover funds to be set aside in future taxation.
- 13. The issue of scrip.
- 14. Purchase of real estate for erection of public buildings on time.
- 15. Erection of town buildings.
- 16. Purchase of sites for erection of and repair of school buildings.
- 17. The same subject continued.
- 18. Purchasing on credit.
- 19. Building and repair of bridges.
- 20. Incurring liability under California statutes.
- 21. Incurring liability under Indiana statutes.

- statutes.
 - 23. For lighting the streets of a city.
 - 24. Contract on time for lighting streets.
 - 25. Caring for the indigent, etc.
 - 26. Employment of physicians for the poor - Indiana statute construed.
 - 21. Expenses connected with epidemic diseases.
 - 28. For what towns may not be made liable.
 - 29. Expenses of a committee to secure legislation.
 - 30. For the payment of bounties to volunteers.
 - 31. Validating a contract of village trustees.
 - 32. Illustrations of liabilities incurred for a "corporate purpose."
 - 33. Purchase of fire engines and apparatus.
 - 34. Illustrations of wrongfully incurred liability.
 - 35. Purchase of cemetery grounds.
- 36. Erection of crematory garbage.
- 37. Use of private property for sewers.
- 38. Detection of criminals.
- 39. Aiding private corporations.
- 40. Subscription to capital stock of railroad corporation.
- 41. Power of the legislature as to compensations in such mat-
- 42. Constitutionality of legislation authorizing such aid.

- municipality is restricted.
- 44. Subscription for less than the amount voted.
- 45. The effect of subsequent legislation upon such a subscription.
- 46. Statutory authority to construct a railroad.
- 47. Constitutional provisions con-
- 48. What is not a work of "internal improvement" in the meaning of Nebraska statutes.
- 49. What is such a work.
- 50. Contracts of guaranty.
- 51. Employment of agents or attorneys.
- 52. Contracts for legal serviceswhen allowed.
- 58. Contracts for legal services how made.

- § 43. In what respect the power of the | § 54. When a public corporation is bound for legal services.
 - 55. Employment of counsel for defense of officers.
 - 56. Indemnity for expenses of litigation.
 - 57. When a public corporation is not bound for professional services of an attorney.
 - 58. The same subject continued.
 - 59. What contracts with attorneys are contrary to public policy.
 - 60. Limitations upon the indebtedness to be incurred.
 - 61. The same subject continued.
 - 62. Limitations upon power to incur indebtedness -- procuring a supply of water.
 - 63. The same subject continued.
 - 64. Donation of bonds to aid in developing water power.

Section I. General rules applicable to public corporations.

-All public corporations are limited to the exercise of those powers which are expressly granted or which are necessarily or fairly implied in or incident to the powers expressly granted, or which are essential to the declared objects and purposes of such corporations.1 ('orporations and their officers can only act within the scope of the powers conferred by their charters, and such powers are to be construed strictly.² A municipal corporation said upon the power of municipal corare presumed to know it, that municipal bodies can only exercise such powtheir charters, and all persons dealing Thomas v. City of Richmond, 12 Wall.

¹Town of Harwood v. Hamilton, purposes. Hence power to borrow (1883) 13 Bradw. 358; Cook County money or create indebtedness is not v. McCrea, 93 Ill. 236; People v. Vil- an incident to such local governments, lage of Crotty, 93 III. 180; Petersburg and the power cannot be exercised unv. Metzker, 21 Ill. 205; Schott v. People, less it is conferred by their charter, 89 Ill. 195. In Law r. People, (1877) 87 and no one has the right to presume Ill. 385, the Supreme Court of Illinois the existence of such power, and persons proposing to loan money to these porations: "The law is, and all persons bodies must see that the power exists."

² Minturn v. Larue, 28 How. 435; ers as are conferred upon them by Thomson v. Lee County, 3 Wall. 327; with them must see that the body has 349; Clark v. Davenport, 14 Iowa, 494; power to perform the proposed act. Merriam v. Moody's Exrs., 25 Iowa, Such corporations are created for 163; Nichol v. Mayor, etc., 9 Humph. governmental and not for commercial 252; Leonard v. Canton, 35 Miss. 189;

has no general authority to exchange promises with other corporations or persons; its contracts to be valid, must be within the scope of the authority conferred upon it by law and for municipal purposes.1 A municipal corporation, as a general rule, cannot incur any liability not authorized by the statute or charter by which it is created.2 Counties, in the absence of legislative authority, have no power to borrow money and, execute their obligations for the loan, notwithstanding a purpose to apply the money to the use of the public.3 The statutory grant in Kansas to county commissioners to borrow money to meet current expenses, when a deficit exists in the county revenue, only authorizes a horrowing when the deficit has actually occurred.4

§ 2. Distinction between public and private corporations.

- Political corporations, in their organization and purposes, are essentially different from private corporations. The former are created to aid in the government of the people, the latter to promote trade, manufactures and a variety of other interests. Private corporations are usually endowed with all the powers and rights of an individual, so far as they can be conferred. And the power to contract debts and to issue evidences of the same is an incident equally attending their creation. When authorized to perform an act, unless restricted by the charter, they may employ the means and perform the act in the same manner that might be done by a private individual. This is necessarily so to effectuate the purpose of their foundation with most private corporations. Municipal corporations, however, being created for purposes of government, and authorized as it were to exercise, to a limited extent, a portion of the power of the state government, have Douglass r. Placerville, 18 ('al. 643; Malin, 8 Ind. 31; Willard v. Killing- lage of Crotty, 93 Ill. 180. worth, 8 Conn. 247; Brady v. Mayor, etc., 20 N. Y. 312; Hodges v. Buffalo, 2 Denio, 110; Halstead v. Mayor, etc., 3 Rep. 468.

² Wheeler v. County of Wayne, (1890) Argenti z. San Francisco, 16 Cal. 255, 133 III. 599; s. C., 24 N. E. Rep. 625, 282; Wallace r. San José, 29 Cal. 180; affg. 31 Ill. App. 299; Cook County v. City of Lafayette c. Cox, 5 Ind. 38; McCrea, 93 Ill. 236; City of Cham-Bank v. Chillicothe, 7 Ohio, 31, pt. II; paign v. Harmon, 98 Ill. 491; Schott Collins v. Hatch, 18 Ohio, 523; Kyle v. v. People, 89 Ill. 195; People v. Vil-

³ Crittenden County Court v. Shanks, (1889) 88 Ky. 475; s. c., 11 S. W.

4 Lewis v. Comanche County, 35 Fed. N. Y. 480; Boom v. Utica, 2 Barb. 104. ¹COOLEY, J., in Thomas r. City of Rep. 343. Port Huron, (1873) 27 Mich. 320

always been held to act strictly within their charter. It is to them their fundamental law, and their power is only co-extensive with the power granted. Not being essential to the purposes and object of their creation, without an express grant of power for the purpose, they have no authority to contract debts, binding upon the body or individual residing within their limits. a power being unusual when they are created, and usually being conferred, if at all, by special enactment, and all persons familiar with the fact, it is but natural that those who deal with them, or in their obligations, should see to it that the body possesses the power to bind itself for their payment. On the other hand, the object of private corporations usually renders it necessary that they should transact such business as may involve the necessity of incurring debt.

§ 3. Borrowing money.—In a case arising in Ohio, frequently cited as authority, the Supreme Court of that state held that a town corporation, invested with the powers usually conferred upon such bodies, could enter into a contract for a loan of money to be used by the town, which would bind the corporation for repayment, although no express power to borrow money be given in the law incorporating the town.1 The court upheld the power of the corporation to borrow money as incident to the powers expressly granted in the charter of the town. But a municipal corporation in Ohio has no power to borrow money except in conformity with the statute of that state, which provides that "all bonds issued under authority of this chapter shall express upon their face the purpose for which they were issued. and under what ordinance," and another statutory provision that such bonds shall be advertised and sold at auction to the highest bidder.1

¹ President, etc., Bank of Chillicothe be, as is insisted by counsel, a substanv. Mayor, etc., Town of Chillicothe, tial legislative power, or, according to (1886) 7 Ohio (Pt. II) 31. It was said my apprehension of the subject, an inby Hitchcock, J., delivering the opin-cident to legislative power, and, if it ion for the court, after referring to became necessary for the safety and certain provisions in the charter of the convenience of the town, or to carry town: "From these extracts it will be into effect the power granted to purseen that this corporation, as by that chase real or personal estate, or to law constituted, had legislative power; erect or repair public buildings, to borthis power, it is true was restricted to row money, there could be no objecsuch powers as should seem necessary tion to passing a law or ordinance to for the internal safety and convenience that effect. When passed, it would be of said town of Chillicothe, and re-obligatory on the corporation, and the stricted, too, so far that the laws made money procured would constitute a and published should not be contrary debt which the corporation must disto the laws of the state or of the United charge. Such law would contravene States. It had the power further 'to no principle of the Constitution or laws purchase, receive, possess and convey of the state or of the United States, or any real or personal estate for the use any principle contained in the charter of the town, to erect and repair public of incorporation. To effect other subbuildings for the benefit of said town,' jects [objects?] than those specified in etc. If the power to borrow money the charter, money could not with pro-

§ 4. The United States Supreme Court on borrowing money.— A majority of the Supreme Court of the United States has held that the power to borrow money does not belong to a municipal corporation as an incident of its creation. To be possessed, it must be conferred by legislation either express or implied. Indebtedness may be incurred to a limited extent in carrying out the objects of the incorporation. For its payment, however, the corporation must look to and rely on taxation, the legitimate mode of raising the funds for the purpose.2

priety be borrowed cleansing, raising, draining, paving, either case." turnpiking or otherwise keeping the same in repair. * * * If, in effecting c. ('ity of Cincinnati, 25 Wkly. Law any of these objects, it become neces- Bull. 91, Rev. St. Ohio, §§ 2703, 2709. sary to borrow money, the corporation money was borrowed expressly for im-

* " An ter than by borrowing. And really, I amendment to the charter conferred cannot see the great difference whether upon the mayor and common council a corporation shall be indebted to A. the power to pass and publish all such for labor in repairing streets or buildlaws and ordinances as to them shall apings, or to B. for money borrowed to pear necessary for regulating the pay A, for the same labor. The moral streets, alleys and highways, and for obligation to pay would be the same in

¹ Mt. Adams, etc., Inclined Ry. Co.

² Mayor e. Ray, (1873) 19 Wall. 468. might with propriety do it. In one of Justice Bradley in the opinion renthe cases now before the court the dered by him for the majority of the court, said: "A municipal corporaproving one of the streets. For the pur-tion is a subordinate branch of the pose of purchasing real estate, erecting domestic government of a state. It is and repairing public buildings, cleans- instituted for public purposes only; ing, raising, paving, draining, turnpik- and has none of the peculiar qualities ing and otherwise keeping streets in re- and characteristics of a trading corpair contracts must necessarily be poration, instituted for purposes of made. Ultimate payment, it is true, private gain, except that of acting in must be made from taxation. But a corporate capacity. Its objects, its until money could be thus raised it responsibilities, and its powers are seems to the court that it might be different. As a local governmental provided otherwise, and in no way bet- institution it exists for the benefit of

§ 5. The New Jersey Court of Errors and Appeals on borrowing money. Soon after this ruling of the Supreme ('ourt of the United States, the Court of Errors and Appeals of New Jersey held that municipal corporations, in the absence of a specific grant of power, do not, in general, possess the power of borrowing money, and that a note given by a town in New Jersey for an unauthorized loan could not be enforced, even though the money borrowed had been expended for municipal purposes.1

The legislature invests it with such implication, when not in this particupowers as it deems adequate to the lar specially restricted, the power in ends to be accomplished. The power question. The law was so held in of taxation is usually conferred for this state, in the case of Lucas v. Pitthe purpose of enabling it to raise the ney, 27 N. J. Law, 221, and the same necessary funds to carry on the city rule has been repeatedly recognized in government and to make such public other decisions. And this result is improvements as it is authorized to the appropriate product of the princimake. immediately affects the entire con- the necessary accompaniments of powstituency of the municipal body which ers conferred, will be implied. exercises it, no evil consequences these instances the ability to borrow are likely to ensue from its being con- money is so essential that without it ferred; although it is not unusual to the business authorized could not be affix limits to its exercise for any single conducted with reasonable efficiency. year. The power to borrow money is and as it cannot be supposed that it different; when this is exercised the was the legislative intent to leave the citizens are immediately affected only company in so imperfect a condition, by the benefit arising from the loan; the inference is properly drawn that its burden is not felt till afterwards, the power to raise money in this mode * * * The system of local and mu- is inherent in the very constitution of nicipal government is copied in its gen- such corporate bodies. Such a deduceral features from that of England. No tion is simply, in effect, a conclusion evidence is adduced to show that the that the lawmaker designed to authorpractice of borrowing money has ize the use of the means fitted to acbeen used by the cities and towns of complish the purpose in view. It has such practice has ever obtained," See must be necessary to the successful 280; s. c., 23 N. E. Rep. 870.

private corporation, constructed with practically inoperative or incomplete.

the people within its corporate limits. a view to pecuniary profit, has, by As this is a power which ple that corporate powers which are that country without an act of Parlia- been often said that the means which ment authorizing it. We believe no can be thus raised up by implication Wells v. Town of Salina, 119 N. Y. prosecution of the enterprise, and that the circumstance that they are conven-¹Town of Hackettstown v. Swack- ient will not deputize their introduchamer, (1874) 37 N. J. Law, 191. BEAS- tion. But the necessity here spoken LEY, Ch. J., in an elaborate opinion, of does not denote absolute indispendiscussed the question in the follow- subleness, but that the power in quesing language: "At the present time it tion is so essential that its non-existence seems to be generally conceded that a would render the privileges granted

§ 6. Issue of negotiable securities.—A majority of the Supreme Court of the United States, while conceding that vouchers for money due, certificates of indebtedness for services rendered or for property furnished for the uses of a municipality, orders or drafts drawn by one city officer upon another, or any other device of the kind used for liquidating the amounts legitimately due to public creditors, are, of course, necessary instruments for carrying on the machinery of municipal administration and for anticipating the collection of taxes, looked upon the investing of such documents with the character and incidents of commercial paper so as to render them in the hands of bona fide holders absolute obligations to pay, however irregularly or fraud-

sumption, resting on such a basis as ditions an opposite deduction may not this, must spring up in favor of al- be legitimately drawn. most the entire mass of commercial that it is practicable to impose a duty and manufacturing corporations, for on a municipality requiring the immewithout the franchise to effect loans diate use of sums of money, and in the chartered business could be but such a situation the inference may beimperfectly transacted. even in such instances, the usual in- that funds were to be provided by ference that such an implied power loans. My remarks are to be restricted exists may be repelled by the language to that class of cases where charters of the particular charter or the pecu- are granted containing nothing more liar circumstances of the case. In a than the usual franchises incident to word, the rule of law in question is municipal corporations, and under nothing but the discovery, by the such conditions it seems clear to me courts, of the legislative intent, such that the power to borrow money is intent having been ascertained by a not to be deduced. I have already construction of charters, as applied to said that it does not appear to be a the subject-matters. Taking this as necessary incident to the powers the ground of our reasoning I am at a granted, for such powers can be loss to perceive how it can be inferred readily and efficiently executed in its that a power to borrow money is an absence. It would be to fly in the appendage to the usual franchises face of all experience to claim that the given to municipal corporations, ordinary nunicipal operations cannot Such a right cannot, in any reasonable be efficiently carried on except with sense, be said to be necessary within the assistance of borrowed capital. the meaning of that term as already Without any help of this kind, it is defined. Under ordinary circum- well known that our towns and cities stances it is not certainly indispensable have long been, and are now being, as common experience demonstrates. improved and governed. For the at-In the great majority of instances the tainment of these ends it has not genmunicipal affairs are, with ease and erally been found necessary to resort completeness, transacted without it. to loans of money. The supplies de-I do not wish to be understood as indi-rived annually from taxation have

It is consequently obvious that a pre- cating that under certain special con-It is plain And, yet, come irresistible that it was intended ulently issued, as an abuse of their true character and purpose; as having the effect of converting a municipal organization into a trading company and putting it in the power of corrupt officials to involve a political community in irretrievable bankruptcy. They held that no such power legally existed, unless conferred by legislative enactment, either express or clearly implied.1

been found amply sufficient for these and commercial paper generally. But be conveniently reached, without a re- by delivery or indorsement. tion in question."

purposes. Consequently I am unable where the power has not been given, to perceive any necessity to borrow parties must take municipal orders, money, under these conditions, from drafts, certificates and other documents which the gift of such power to bor- of this sort at their peril. Custom and row is to be implied. It undoubtedly usage may have so far assimilated them is clear that if, as has been asserted, to regular commercial paper as to make the ends of the municipal charter can them negotiable; that is, transferable sort to the device of raising money by quality renders them more convenient loan, there is not the least legal basis for the purposes of the holder, and has for a claim of the power to obtain undoubtedly led to the idea subsefunds in that way. Granted the fact quently, but, we think, erroneously, that the charter can be executed with entertained, that they are invested with reasonable case and with completeness, that other characteristic of commercial the conclusion is inevitable that the paper-freedom from all legal and power in question cannot be called equitable defenses in the hands of a into existence by intendment, and, as bona fide holder. But every holder of I claim the fact to exist, I must, of a city order or certificate knows that to necessity, reject the right of implica- be valid and genuine at all it must have been issued as a voucher for city ¹ Mayor v. Ray. (1873) 19 Wall, 468, indebtedness. It could not be law-Mr. Justice Bradley, in the opinion fully issued for any other purpose. delivered by him, said: "There are He must take it, therefore, subject to cases, undoubtedly, in which it is the risk that it has been lawfully and proper and desirable that a limited properly issued. His claim to be a power of this kind should be conferred. bona tide holder will always be subject as where some extensive public work to this qualification. The face of the is to be performed, the expense of paper is notice to him that its validity which is beyond the immediate re- depends upon the regularity of its issources of reasonable taxation, and ca- suc. The officers of the city have no pable of being fairly and justly spread authority to issue it for any illegal or over an extended period of time. Such improper purpose; another's acts cancases, however, belong to the exercise not create an estoppel against the city of legislative discretion, and are to itself, its taxpayers, or people. Perbe governed and regulated thereby, sons receiving it from them know Where the power is clearly given, and whether it is issued and whether they securities have been issued in con-receive it for a proper purpose and a formity therewith, they will stand on proper consideration. Of course, they the same basis and be entitled to the are affected by the absence of these essame privileges as public securities sential ingredients, and all subsequent Supreme Court of Louisiana has held that, in the absence of express legislative authority, a municipal corporation has no power to utter unconditional obligations to pay money. Such a corporation may, however, issue evidences of liability for consideration received for ultimate payment, depending upon contingencies which must have happened before any right of action can accrue.1

ulent issues, peculations and embezzlements and the accumulation of vast amounts of indebtedness without any corresponding public benefit have been Rep. 565. That a municipal corporarendered easy and secure from merited tion has not an incidental or implied punishment. The purpose and object power to make or i-sue negotiable paof a municipal corporation do not ordinarily require the exercise of any such power. They are not trading Lehman, 63 Ala. 547. corporations and ought not to become holders take cum one re and are affected such. They are invested with public by the same defect. Much less can trusts of a governmental and adminisany precedent be found (except of trative character; they are the local modern date and in this country) for governments of the people, established the issue, by local civil authorities, of by them as their representatives in the promissory notes, bills of exchange management and administration of and other commercial paper. At a municipal affairs affecting the peace, period within the memory of man the good order and general well-being of proposal of such a thing would have the community as a political society been met with astonishment. The and district, and invested with power making of such paper was originally by taxation to raise the revenues necconfined to merchants. But its great essary for those purposes. The idea convenience was the means of extend- that they have the incidental power to ing its use, first, to all individuals, and issue an unlimited amount of obligaafterwards to private corporations hav- tions of such a character as to be irreing occasion to make promises to pay trievably binding on the people, withmoney. Being only themselves re- out a shadow of consideration in responsible for the paper they issue, no turn, is the growth of a modern misevil consequences can follow sufficient conception of their true object and to counterbalance the conveniences and character. If, in the exercise of their benefits derived from its use. They important trusts, the power to borrow know its immunity in the hands of a money and to issue bonds or other combona fide holder from all defenses and mercial securities is needed, the legisequities. Knowing this, if they choose lature can easily confer it under the to issue it, no one is injured but them- proper limitations and restraints, and selves. But if city and town officials with proper provision for future reshould have the power thus to bind payment. Without such authority it their constituencies it is easy to see cannot be legally exercised. It is too what abuses might and probably would dangerous a power to be exercised by ensue. We know from experience all municipal bodies indiscriminately, what abuses have been practiced where managed as they are by persons whose the power has been conferred. Fraud- individual responsibility is not at stake."

> ¹ Newgass v. City of New Orleans, (1890) 42 La. Ann. 163; s. c., 7 So. per, see New Orleans, M. & C. R. R. Co. v. Dunn, 51 Ala. 128; Blackman v.

- § 7. Power of Indiana cities to issue bonds.—A city in Indiana has power, under a charter authorizing it "to borrow money for the use of the city," to issue bonds for money so horrowed.1
- § 8. Miscellaneous rules as to issuing bonds.—Municipal corporations in which power is vested by legislative grant to make expenditures for purposes of a certain kind, unless prohibited by law, may make contracts for the accomplishment of those purposes, thereby incur indebtedness and issue proper evidences of indebtedness in payment for the same.2 A county in Kansas has power to borrow money for the erection of county buildings, and to issue its bonds for the money borrowed.8 The officials of a municipal corporation, which is vested with the usual power of such bodies, are authorized to issue bonds or promissory notes to (1894) 60 Fed. Rep. 718; s. c., 9 C. C. United States held directly the same A. 241, following Railroad Co. v. Ev- construction upon a grant of power ansville, 15 Ind. 395, which adopted the 'to borrow money for any public tollowing from Slack v. Railroad Co, purpose' in Rogers v Burlington, 3 13 B. Mon. (Ky.) 1, to wit: "Moreover, Wall. 654, and Mitchell v. Burlington, the first act under which the debt was 4 Wall. 270. These decisions were created gave full power to the County five and six years after that in Indiana; Court to provide for its payment either and although they appear to have been by taxation or by borrowing the overruled in recent years, they would money, which, of course, implied the constitute some justification, if any power, as it did the necessity, of fur- were needed, for reliance by purnishing some evidence of indehtedness, chasers upon the Indiana interpretaanother court might doubtless have tion. The federal courts have mainissued the bonds of the county in tained a rule from their organization some form to the lender." In City of that in all cases depending upon a Evansville v. Woodbury, supra, the state statute, they will adopt and fol-United States Circuit Court of Appeals, low the adjudications of the court of speaking through Seaman, D. J., had last resort in its construction, when this to say as to the rule declared in that construction is well settled, and the text: "The herrowing of money without injury as to its original soundto pay outstanding indebtedness of the ness. * * * Therefore, the recent city was clearly a borrowing for the decisions in Merrill v. Monticello, 138 use of the city; and if this ruling (in U. S. 673; s. c., 11 Sup. Ct. Rep. 441, Railroad Co. c. Evansville, supra) must and Brenham v. Bank, 144 U. S. 178; bonds is well shown. That decision are not applicable." appears to have remained undisturbed, and is in accord with the doctrine constantly held by that court. Dill. on U.S. 198. Mun. Corp. § 119. It is worthy of ¹City of Evansville v. Woodbury, note that the Supreme Court of the govern here, the power to issue the s. c., 12 Sup. Ct. Rep. 559, * * *

> Police Jury v. Britton, 15 Wall. 566. ² Comanche County v. Lewis, 183

evidence the credit price of any works for which they are authorized to contract, which in the hands of a bona fide holder. will be protected by the law merchant. A city, by the issue of its bonds according to law, having created a debt against itself, has power, like any other debtor, to enter into negotiations concerning such bonds, and to have them delivered up for cancellaation and new bonds issued in exchange for them, without any special grant of authority therefor.2 The charter of a city empowering it "to horrow, on the credit of the city, a sum of money not exceeding [a sum named]; to issue bonds, scrip, or certificates of indebtedness therefor," etc., with a provision that "with the money so borrowed the city council shall first liquidate and discharge all legal indebtedness of the city," may issue such bonds as they deem proper within the terms of the charter. and with the proceeds take up the floating indebtedness of the corporation.8 Towns in Maine must be expressly or impliedly authorized by statute, or they cannot borrow money and issue notes of a commercial character for the execution of their ordinary business.4 The governing powers of counties are not authorized by the statutes of Illinois which empower them "to make all contracts and do all other acts necessary to the exercise of its corporate powers," and "to manage the county funds and county business, except as otherwise specifically provided," to issue bonds without a vote of the people. A grant of authority to a municipal corporation to issue "refunding bonds" or original bonds to procure money for use in the "legitimate exercise of the corporate powers," and for the payment of legitimate corporate debts does not carry with it power to issue bonds to replace in the treasury money already used in paying prior bonds. A municipal corporation having statutory power to issue bonds for loans lawfully made has, by necessary implication, also ¹ Holmes v. City of Shreveport, (1887) 31 Fed. Rep. 113, in which case the 30 Wis. 259. bonds sued upon were issued for public improvements. As to authority of (1881) 99 Ill. 489. corporations to give notes to evidence indebtedness, see Brode v. Firemen's Ann. 709; Desmond v. Jefferson, 19 Fed. Rep. 483.

² Rogan v. City of Watertown, (1872)

⁸ City of East St. Louis v. Maxwell,

⁴Parsons v. Monmouth, 70 Me. 262. ⁵ Locke n, Davison, 111 Ill. 19. As to Ins. Co., 8 Rob. (La.) 244; Edey v. authority to issue bonds, see Bannock City of Shreveport, 26 La. Ann 636; County v. Bunting, (Idaho) 37 Pac. Rep. City of Shreveport r. Flournoy, 26 La. 277; Hotchkiss v. Marion, 12 Mont. 218. 6 Coffin v. City of Indianapolis, (1894) 59 Fed. Rep. 221.

the power to make the bonds negotiable. A County Court in Missouri with statutory authority to make bonds issued for the purpose of improving public roads transferable in such manner as by its order it might direct, may issue negotiable bonds; and this may be done by the issue of such bonds, without an order prescribing their form.2 And under the statutory authority to issue bonds to pay for improving public roads, and "building culverts and bridges to secure permanent and good roads," the county may issue bonds to pay for riprapping around the abutment of a bridge to prevent its becoming a wreck.3 Under the laws of Washington giving municipal corporations authority to provide means for constructing works of public utility by issuing and selling negotiable bonds there is authority to make such bonds payable in gold coin of the present standard weight and fineness.4 Municipal corporations may issue new bonds with coupons for future interest for the purpose of funding debts, with accrued interest existing prior to the adoption of the amendment of the State Constitution of Indiana prohibiting municipal corporations from becoming indebted to an amount in the aggregate exceeding two per centum on the value of their taxable property. and providing that all obligations in excess of such amount shall be void, as the amendment is only prospective in its operation.5

Ch. J., said: "The case of Brenham v. S. W. Rep. 270. Bank, 144 U.S. 173; s. c., 12 Sup. Ct. Rep. 559, has no bearing upon this (1894) 60 Fed. Rep. 961. question. Nothing more is there demoney so borrowed.

Mo. 659; s. c., 17 S. W. Rep. 577.

816. As to a limitation upon the issue debtedness."

1 City of Cadillac v. Woonsocket of bonds, see Francis v. Howard Inst. for Savings, (1893) 58 Fed. Rep. County, 50 Fed. Rep. 44, following 935; s. c., 7 C. C. A. 574; LURTON, Russell v. Cage, 66 Tex. 428; s. c., 1

4 Moore v. City of Walla Walla,

⁵ Powell v. City of Madison, (1886) cided than that an act empowering a 107 Ind. 106. The court said: "The city to "borrow for general purposes issuing of new bonds to provide, at not exceeding $15,000 on the credit of their par value, for the payment of an the city" did not authorize the issu- old debt or the substitution of new ance of negotiable obligations for the evidences of a pre-existing debt, is not, in any legal or proper sense, the ² Catron v. LaFayette County, 106 creation of a new indebtedness. Nor is the funding of interest already due, *Ibid. As to the power of counties or the execution of coupons for the to issue negotiable securities, see payment of interest which will there-Francis c. Howard County, 50 Fed. after accrue upon a pre-existing in-Rep. 44, following Nolan County v. debtedness, either the creation of a State, 88 Tex. 182; s. c., 17 S. W. Rep. new debt, or, in legal contemplation, 828; Robertson v. Breedlove, 61 Tex. an increase of such pre-existing in-

- § o. Bonds issued for the erection of a county court house.— A statute authorizing the electors of a county to empower the commissioners of such county to "borrow money" for the erection of a court house does not authorize them to empower such commissioners to issue bonds for that purpose.1 The authority to issue bonds as an evidence of indebtedness might perhaps follow as an incident of the right to borrow money, but in that case the amount of money borrowed should equal the amount for which the bonds call. There is no right to issue them and sell them for what they will bring.2 County warrants issued for the purpose of erecting a county court house in Nebraska have been held void where their issue was not authorized by a vote of the qualified electors of the county, and no benefit whatever resulted to the county from the issuing of such warrants.8
- § 10. Funding county indebtedness by issuing interestbearing bonds.—There is no authority of law for a county board in Illinois to fund county indebtedness or issue interestbearing bonds for money with which to take up outstanding county orders and obligations without a vote of a majority of the legal voters of the county; and such a vote having been obtained, the interest on the bonds is limited to eight per cent. Such boards are not given by the statute which provides that they shall have power "to manage county funds and county business, except as otherwise specially provided," an absolute and unlimcause none of the bonds or the pro- the people as the law required. ceeds thereof were ever used to build a court house or were ever used for sioners of Sherman County, (1881) 2 any other purpose by the county; and McCrary, 464, supported by Scipio v. because the bonds contained no recitals Wright, 101 U.S. 665. showing that they had been issued bonds issued by the county, reciting McCrary, 469.

¹ Lewis v. Board of County Commis- that they were issued conformably to sioners of Sherman County, (1881) 2 law, were, however, held valid in the McCrary, 464, holding certain bonds hands of an innocent purchaser for issued by the commissioners for erect-value in open market, the bridges ing a court house invalid, on the fol- having been built in the county by lowing grounds: Because of the lack direction of the county, for the county, of statutory authority to vote for such and having been paid for by such bonds bonds; because no bonds had ever or their proceeds, although they were been voted for any such purposes; be- not in fact authorized by the vote of

2 Lewis v. Board of County Commis-

³ Brown v. Board of County Commisconformably to law. Certain bridge sioners of Sherman County, (1881) 2 ited power of management of county funds, there being an absence of any specific provision of law to the contrary.1

§ II. Issue of bonds to pay subscriptions to stock of railroad corporations.—There has not been uniformity in the decisions of the state and federal courts as to whether or not the grant of legislative authority to subscribe carried with it as an incident the power to issue bonds in payment of the subscriptions. The Supreme Court of Connecticut, at an early date, held that a city empowered to subscribe to the stock of a railroad corporation and to effect loans of money as a means of paying its subscriptions, upon the proper vote of its tax-paying citizens, had authority to issue its bonds to the railroad corporation in payment of such subscriptions; 2 this upon the established principle in the law of corporations, that they may exercise all the powers within the fair intent and purpose of their creation which are reasonably proper to give effect to powers expressly granted.8 The following are the views entertained by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania: The power given a municipal corporation to be issued in the absence of statutory Ill. 879. authority. The court in this case distinguished City of Galena v. Corwith, R. R. Co., (1848) 15 Conn. 475. 48 Ill. 428, in that "the decision in restricted as to the means of exercis- Ind. 895. ing this power, could issue the bonds."

¹ Locke v. Davison, (1884) 111 Ill. 19, They further said; "It was held in affirming a decree granting an injunc- Commissioners of Highways v. Newell, tion against the payment of ten per 80 Ill. 587, that more was said in that cent interest on the funding bonds case than the subject justified, and issued by this county board; follow- that it needed modification confining ing County of Hardin v. McFarlan, it to cases where the charter of the (1876) 82 Ill. 138, holding that under corporation expressly grants a power, the act which enabled counties to for a corporation cannot exercise any liquidate their debts, providing that powers save those granted or necesthe County Courts or boards of super- sarily implied in order to carry into visors might levy a special county tax effect a granted power." Upon the for that purpose, those debts could be subject of contracting for interest on discharged by the levy of such tax, the part of counties, see also Madison and the county board had no authority County v. Bartlett, 1 Scam. (Ill.) 67; to take up its outstanding orders and County of Pike v. Hosford, 11 Ill. 170; give bonds in lieu thereof, bearing Hall v. Jackson County. 95 Ill. 352; interest, as such obligations could not County of Jackson v. Rendleman, 100

⁹ City of Bridgeport v. Housatonuc

² Seybert v. City of Pittsburg, 1 that case was based upon the ground Wall. 272; R. R. Co. v. County of that the city, by its charter, had power Otoe, 16 Wall. 667; Evansville, etc., to borrow money, and not having been R. R. Co. v. City of Evansville, 15

subscribe for stock of a railroad company gives the power to create a debt, and to give an evidence of it. The power to execute and issue bonds, contracts or other certificates of indebtedness belongs to all corporations, public as well as private, and is inseparable from their existence. For a legal and authorized debt a municipal corporation may give its bond under its general corporate powers. A municipal bond in payment of a subscription to stock of a railroad company, if invalid, is so, not because the corporation has no power to issue bonds, but because the subscription to the stock is outside of the power of the corporation; and when a city has been authorized to make such a subscription by the legislature it becomes a debt like any other, and may be evidenced in the same way. Bonds issued in payment of the debt are valid obligations of the corporation.1 The Supreme Court of the United States has held to the doctrine that grants of power to municipal corporations to subscribe for stock in railways should be construed strictly and not be extended beyond the terms of the statute; and as there is no power in a municipal corporation to become a stockholder in a railroad corporation unless expressly conferred by the legislature, the power to issue negotiable bonds to pay such a subscription must be expressly, or by reasonable implication, conferred by statute.2 Neither is the issuing of negotiable bonds authorized by a grant to a municipal corporation of power to appropriate moneys in aid of construction of a railroad, directing levy and collections of taxes to meet such appropriation, and prescribing no other mode of payment.\(^1\) Considering the difference of opinion existing in these two jurisdictions upon this question, it seems that it would be well for the legislature hereafter in granting powers to municipal corporations to aid in the construction of public works by subscription to the stock of the corporations organized for the purpose, to expressly include the power to issue negotiable bonds for the payment of such subscriptions.

¹ Commonwealth ex rel. Reinboth r. St. 278.

firming Kelley v. Town of Milan, 21 Fed. Rep. 842; Norton v. Dyersburg, 127 U. S. 160; Young v. Clarendon, U. S. 198.

³Concord o. Robinson, 121 U. S. Councils of Pittsburgh, (1861) 41 Pa. 165. See, also, Scott's Exrs.r. Shreveport, 20 Fed. Rep. 714; Katzenberger ² Kelley v. Milan, 127 U. S. 139, af- v. City of Aberdeen, 16 Fed. Rep. 745; Board of Comrs. of Delaware County r. McClintock, Auditor, (1875) 51 Ind. 325; La Fayette, M. & B. R. R. Co. r. 132 U. S. 340; Hill v. Memphis, 134 Geiger, 34 Ind. 185; Harney r. Indianapolis, C. & D. R. R. Co., 32 Ind. 244.

§ 12. Notes or warrants to cover funds to be set aside in future taxation.—The Supreme Court of Louisiana has held that the police juries, the governing boards of the parishes in that state, have the undoubted authority to construct bridges. repair the same and to open roads and to keep the same in order. But they have no power to contract an indebtedness for this purpose in advance and to issue promissory notes or warrants to cover funds which may be set aside for this purpose in future tuxation without express authority from the supreme political power of the state.1

§ 13. The issue of scrip.— Under a statute authorizing the city council to issue scrip to a certain amount, bearing interest at a rate not exceeding six per cent per annum, and providing that the statute should be void unless approved by a majority of the voters of the city present and voting at meetings held on a certain day, the council issued and sold scrip with principal and interest payable in coin. A statute enacted afterwards authorized the city to contract for the payment in coin of the principal and interest of this scrip and ratified all acts of the city or any officer in the matter of making payment in coin of this scrip, not providing for any new submission of the matter to the voters of the city. The issue of the scrip as it had been issued payable in coin was held to be legal.2 And a city authorized, for the pur-

Jury, (1890) 42 La. Ann. 886; s. c., 8 advance to cover this amount which So. Rep. 609, in which case the court may go into the treasury. It must be affirmed the judgment in favor of the there before the warrant issues, unless annul the ordinance of the police orized to issue the same in advance. notes of equal amounts payable one 26 La. Ann. 59." in each of the ten years to come from which are set apart for this special im- enactment." provement, but they cannot issue any

¹ Snelling v. Joffrion, President Police promissory note, draft or warrant in taxpayers who brought the action to by legislative authority they are authjury authorizing the giving of ten Sterling v. Parish of West Feliciana,

² Foote v. City of Salem, (1867) 14 the date, to a bridge company which Allen, 87, Brownow, Ch. J., said: "It had contracted to build the bridge, was clearly competent for the legisla-The court said, however: "We do not ture to grant such power and to give mean to say that police juries cannot validity to contracts into which the contract for improvements which they city had entered without the requisite are authorized to make, to be paid out legislative authority. No legal or of the taxes which they are authorized constitutional right, either public to levy for parochial expenses, and or private, was violated by such pose of defraying the expense of a public work, to issue scrip may lawfully issue the same all at once, and invest the money not required for immediate use upon the work in United States securities. The issue of change bills or promises in the similitude of currency are prohibited in Georgia by statute, and no recovery can be had upon such change bills issued by a city.3

$ 14. Purchase of real estate for erection of public buildings on time.— The statutes of Indiana a conferring on cities the general power, with restrictions, to purchase real estate, for the purpose of constructing public buildings thereon, by implication, gives the exclusive right to determine the expediency of the purchase, the power to purchase on credit and to issue negotiable bonds of the city for the purchase money. And the purchase of real estate by a city for construction of public buildings thereon on a credit of ten years is not a loan within the meaning of the Indiana statute, pre-cribing that "loans may be made by a vote of two-thirds of the council, in anticipation of the revenue of the current and following year, and payable within that period; but the aggregate amount of such loan in any fiscal year shall not exceed the levy and tax authorized by this act for municipal expenses," and is not prohibited by that statute.6

Allen, 87.

³ Ind. R. S. 1881, $ 3106, clause 4. ¹City of Richmond v. McGirr, (1881) 78 Ind. 192. That courts cannot interfere with the exercise by gov-Kelley v. City of Milwaukee, 18 Wis. Cincinnati, 18 Ohio, 318. There was Boston, 8 Pick, 218; Benjamin v. Wheeler, 8 Gray, 409; Evansville, etc., Ind. 395; Macy v. City of Indianapolis, 17 Ind. 267; City of Greencastle r. City of Evansville, 29 Ind. 187.

⁵ Ind. R. S. 1881, § 3159.

78 Ind. 192. As to the distinction be- is implied from the general unlimited

¹ Foote c. City of Salem, (1867) 14 tween a transaction like this and borrowing money, the court referred to ² Cothran r. City of Rome, 77 Ga. Gelpcke v. City of Dubuque, 1 Wall. 175, 221, where it was held that the execution of bonds to pay an existing indebtedness of the city was not within the prohibition of the charter against the borrowing of money, and distinerning authorities of their discretion in guished Mayor, etc., of Baltimore v. such matters, as a general rule, see Gill, 31 Md. 315, and Jonas e. City of 83; Baker v. Boston, 12 Pick. 184; a limitation in the charter of this city Ex parte Fay, 15 Pick. 243; Parks r. upon the borrowing of money, but no restriction upon the creation of indebtedness. The court said: "The charter R. R. Co. v. City of Evansville, 15 expressly grants to the council the power to purchase the real estate; * * and in the absence of any Hazelett, 23 Ind. 186; Brinkmeyer r. statutory mode being pointed out for the exercise of such power, it may contract with reference to such power 6 City of Richmond v. McGirr, (1881) as a natural person; and such power power granted. This rule, we think, of towns to raise and appropriate arises from the necessity of the case, money is derived wholly from statutes. and is in harmony with the general The statutes do not attempt to rule of the law as established by the enumerate all the purposes for which authorities. Citing Ketchum v. City money may be raised, but after of Buffalo, 14 N. Y. 356; Brady v. specifying some of the more promi-Mayor, etc., Brooklyn, 1 Barb. 584; nent ones provide that towns may Halstead v. Mayor, etc., New York. 5 grant and vote such sums as may be Barb. 218; Mott v. Hicks, 1 Cow. 513; required "for all other necessary Moss v. Oakley, 2 Hill, 265; Kelley v. charges arising therein." Gen. St. Mayor, etc., Brooklyn, 4 Hill, 263; Mass. chap. 18, § 10. It is under this Field on Corp. § 271; City of Gulena general provision that towns have the v. Corwith, 48 Ill. 423; City of Wil-power to vote money for the erection liamsport v. Commonwealth, 84 Pa. of town houses. Stetson v. Kempton. St. 487; City of Lafayette v. Cox, 5 13 Mass. 272. The right to build car-Ind. 38; Hardy v. Merriweather, 14 ries with it by implication the power Ind. 208; Daily v. City of Columbus, to make contracts, to waive or alter 49 Ind. 169; Kyle v. Malin, 8 Ind. 34; them and to make arrangements for Dill. on Mun. Corp. § 55, note 1, and the payment of those who furnish

§ 15. Erection of town buildings.— As incident to its power to build a town house, a town has a right, in its discretion, to make additional compensation to a person for labor done by him in building it as a contractor under another person with whom the town had contracted to build it for a fixed sum.1 Massachusetts statute authorizing towns and cities to establish public libraries and in so doing to "appropriate money for suitable buildings or rooms" and for "the foundation of a library a sum not exceeding one dollar for each of its votable polls" has been construed, and the court determined that the words "not exceeding" did not necessarily qualify and limit the entire first clause; that on the contrary they were intended to restrict the latter provision with which they were immediately connected; that the intention of the legislature was to put a precise limit on the sum to be expended for books, and not on that to be appropriated for buildings or rooms.2

§§ 81-85. As to the kind and form of labor and materials." evidences and obligations to be exe-Ind. 501.

² Dearborn v. Brookline, (1867) 97 cuted in such contracts by the authori- Mass. 466. In Inhabitants of Westties, see Sheffield School Tp v. An- brook v. Inhabitants of Deering, dress, 56 Ind. 157; School Town of (1874) 68 Me. 231, the words "neces-Monticello v. Kendall, 72 Ind. 91; sary charges" in the statute as to Bicknell v. Widner School T'p, 73 the powers of towns to incur expense received a full discussion from the Friend v. Gilbert, (1871) 108 Mass. court in these words: "The construc-408, Morron, J., said: "The power tion of this clause came before this court three years after the separation clearly have not, expenses which are position to modify or change it if we 598. had the power to do so, which we in Bussey v. Gilmore, 3 Me. 191, by erality of this phrase has received in which a tax for the discharge of a con- the case above referred to a reasonable tract between a town and a toll bridge limitation. Without enumerating the corporation for the free passage of objects which this term may be underthe bridge by the citizens of the town stood to embrace, it may in general be was held illegal upon the ground that considered as extending to such exthe power to raise money for 'neces- penses as are clearly incident to the sary charges' extends only to those execution of the power granted or incident to which necessarily arise in the fulfilthe discharge of corporate duties." ment of the duties imposed by law." Weston, J., says. "The construction The Maine Supreme Court of Judicaof the statutes in relation to the au- ture in 1863 in answer to questions thority of towns to raise, assess and submitted by the governor said: collect money is so clearly stated and "The words 'other necessary town so fully illustrated in Stetson o. Kemp- charges' do not constitute a new and ton, 13 Mass, 272, that we have little distinct grant of indefinite and unoccasion to say more than that we are limited power to make money for any entirely satisfied with the principles purpose whatsoever, at the will and of that case and the deductions there pleasure of the majority. They emdrawn. The court remark that 'it is brace only all incidental expenses important that it should be known arising directly or indirectly in the that the power of the majority over due and legitinate exercise of the the property and even the persons of various powers conferred by statute. the minority is limited by law to such While towns may raise money to discases as are clearly provided for and charge all liabilities in the performance defined by the statute which describes of their multiplied duties, they canthe powers of these corporations.' By not (unless new powers are conferred, that decision this principle did become or an excess of power receives a subknown; and believing that it is justi- sequent legal ratification) transcend fied, as well from considerations of their authority and incur expenses in public policy as from a sound con- no way arising in its exercise." struction of the law, we have no dis- Opinion of the Justices, 52 Me. 595, exceeding a limit specified in the statute.1 The general power given a common council of a city by its charter to purchase land for the necessary purposes of the corporation, would be qualified by another provision that the board of education shall have power. with the consent of the common council, to buy sites for schoolhouses in such city, and a valid purchase of a site for a schoolhouse could be made only by the concurrent action of the two bodies.2 And these two bodies cannot delegate the power of purchasing a schoolhouse site to a board of commissioners of such city without an express grant from the legislature of authority to do so.3 A tax for the erection of a new schoolhouse may be voted by the electors of a school district before any site for the house has been selected. And the electors of such a district have been held to have been warranted in voting a tax for the erection of a new schoolhouse at the center of the district in a case where the district, two miles wide from east to west, had one schoolhouse situated one-half mile east of the center, which was about thirty years old, but in reasonably good condition, yet too remote for some of the children of the district to attend school.⁵ Under the constitutional limitation of Indiana upon municipal corporations, a town cannot issue bonds to obtain funds with which to rebuild a schoolhouse, should the issuance of the bonds create a debt in excess of two per centum of the taxable value of the property within the limits of the town.6 Petitions from property owners are not necessary to authorize the board of trustees of incorporated towns in Indiana to issue bonds or procure money with which to build schoolhouses.7

§ 16. Purchase of sites for, erection of, and the repairs of school buildings .- The school trustees of an incorporated town, under the general law of Indiana, having filed with the board of trustees of such town a verified report, showing that they have contracted for the purchase of real estate on which to erect school buildings, and showing the amount of the debt incurred for such realty, and other estimated cost of the buildings, and asking the issue of bonds, the board of trustees under the statute relating to such bodies may, by ordinance, authorize the issue and sale of the bonds of the town equal in amount to the cost of the real estate and the estimated cost of the projected school buildings, not

§ 17. The same subject continued.—A statute conferring express authority upon a municipal corporation "to aid in the

Williams v. Town of Albion, (1877) lie corporation is not an obligation payable out of specific funds, but is a contract to pay money generally, and hence this case is not within the doctrine of such cases as Quill v. City of ⁴Seaman v. Baughman, (1891) 82 Indianapolis, 124 Ind. 292; s. c., 23 N. Iowa, 216; s. c., 47 N. W. Rep. 1091. E. Rep. 788; Strieb v. Cox, 111 Ind. 299; s. c., 12 N. E. Rep. 481; and Town of Winamac v. Huddleston, Board, etc., v. Hill, 115 Ind. 816; s. c., ⁵⁸ Ind. 329.

Lauenstein v. City of Fond du Lac, (1871) 28 Wis. 836.

FIbid.

^{(1882) 182} Ind. 217; s. c., 31 N. E. 16 N. E. Rep. 156. Rep. 561. The court said: "The debt Clark v. Town of Noblesville, (1878) created by a bond executed by a pub- 44 Ind. 83.

building up of such schools and institutions of learning as they may think proper," clearly implies the power to build a house for that purpose.1 Unless there is something in the charter of a municipal corporation, such as a city or town, which forbids it, such a corporation, without express authority, may incur liability for the building of a school house, it being clearly within the scope of the general power of such corporations.² The application of corporate funds, or creating a corporate debt, for the purchase of the interest in a building to be used as a public school or college for the accommodation of the people of a town is within the purposes and scope of the corporation. And should it appear that the enterprise is not for any private gain. and that a board of trustees not elected by the municipal corporation contract to keep up in the building a public school, the fact that the superintendence of the school is left in the hands of such trustees would not render the appropriation of the corporate funds or the debt created illegal.1 The charter of a board of public schools in Missouri gave the board power "to purchase, receive and hold property real and personal; to lease, sell or dispose of the same, and do all other acts as natural persons," and also "generally to do all lawful acts which may be proper and convenient to carry into effect the objects of the corporation." These provisions, taken in connection with the whole charter, have been construed not to authorize the board to create a debt for building a school house and to issue bonds to pay the debt." Besides the provision in the charter of the board authorizing it to make an annual e-timate of the amount of money to be raised for the purpose of building, repairing and furnishing school houses and requiring the County Court to cause the same to be levied and collected upon all taxable property in the school district was a limitation upon the power of the board regarding the building of school houses, and did not authorize the board to create a debt for that purpose and issue bonds for the payment of the debt.6

¹ Mayor, etc., of Cartersville ... Baker, (1884) 73 Ga. 686.

² Ibid; citing Frederick v. City Coun- lie Schools, (1880) 2 McCrary. 608. cil of Augusta (1848) 5 Ga. 561; Danielly v. Cahaniss, (1874) 52 Ga. 211.

⁸ Danielly r. Cabaniss, (1874) 52 Ga 211.

⁴ Ibid.

⁵ Erwin r. St. Joseph Board of Pub-

⁶ Ibid; approving the reasoning in Gause v. Clarksville, 19 Alb. L. J.

- § 18. Purchasing on credit.—The trustees of towns in Indiana being prohibited by statute from horrowing money or contracting a debt except upon the petition of five-eighths of the citizen taxpayers of the town, in the absence of such a petition cannot purchase cemetery grounds on credit.1
- § 10. Building and repair of bridges and roads.—Where the statute not only authorizes the supervisors of a township to repair the roads and build the bridges, but makes it their imperative duty to do so, and subjects them to fine and imprisonment for neglecting to keep the roads and bridges in a safe and passable condition, money is a necessary means to execute this power and perform this duty, and where it can only be obtained by borrowing it the power to do so is necessarily implied and passes as an incident to the execution of the general powers given and the performance of the duties required.2 An incorporated town charged with the control of its streets and the duty to improve them may legitimately contract for the construction of free bridges over a stream dividing its streets, and by an issue of warrants or bonds raise the money necessary for the purpose.8 But a municipal corporation cannot erect a toil bridge unless expressly authorized by law; nor has it power to lend its credit or make its accommodation paper for the benefit of citizens to enable them
- ¹ Pratt v. Luther, (1873) 45 Ind. 250. chase ground for a public market. If of these general powers," so there is nothing in the charter or general law of the state forbidding the (1865) 19 Iowa, 21. purchase to be made on credit."
- ² Maneval v. Jackson Township, See Ketchum v. City of Buffalo, 14 N. (1889) 9 Pa. Co. Ct. Rep. 28. The Y. 356, holding that if the charter of court distinguished Union Township the city or the general law of the state v. Gibboney, 94 Pa. St. 534, and Gibdid not forbid the purchase of ground son v. Poor District, 122 Pa. St. 557. for a market place to be made on In Mills r. Gleason, 11 Wis. 470, the credit the city could purchase such Wisconsin Supreme Court held that grounds on credit. The court said: "where the charter of a municipal "A municipal corporation, therefore, corporation confers the power to purmay at common law, unless restrained chase fire apparatus, cemetery grounds, by some statute, purchase and hold all to establish markets and to do many such real estate as may be necessary other things for the execution of which to the proper exercise of any power money would be a necessary means, it specifically conferred," etc. And af- also, in the absence of any positive reterwards: "I think it must be con- striction, confers the power to borrow ceded that the city had power to pur- money as an incident to the execution
 - ⁸ Mullarky v. Town of Cedar Falls, to execute private enterprises.1 Authority being given by a charter of a city to its common council "to appropriate in any one year, over and above the ordinary expenses needed on the bridges in said city, an expenditure not to exceed ten thousand dollars, for the building of a new bridge in said city, or for any extraordinary repairs on any bridge, and for the payment of the same in whole or in part," and the charter declaring further that "the council, instead of collecting the same in the next tax roll, may issue its bonds," etc., these provisions would not prevent the council letting by a single contract the work of constructing a bridge at a greater price than $10,000. The provisions merely limit the amount to be raised by taxation, or the amount of the bonds to be issued, in any one year to pay for such work.2 A statute authorizing two of the counties of Alabama to erect a bridge, which might be either a free foot and wagon bridge for the traveling public, or a railroad bridge, or both combined, has been held to contravene the constitutional provision which denies to the legislature power to authorize any county to lend its credit or to grant public money or a thing of value in aid of or to any individual, association or corporation.8 The governing authorities of a county, having, under authority from the legislature, purchased certain bridges from private parties, and changed them from toll to free bridges, upon their being destroyed by freshets, or otherwise, may rebuild them.4

§ 20. Incurring liability under California statutes.— The power to levy and collect a tax in the charter of a city "for any object whatever within the provision of the corporate powers before given," will not authorize the levy and collection of a tax for making a survey of a railroad route from the city to another." The power granted to a city to take stock "in any public improvement, or effect a loan for any purpose," upon obtaining the con-

¹ Clark o. City of Des Moines, (1865) to build a bridge at its own cost across a boundary creek, one end of the bridge ² Howard v. City of Oshkosh, (1873) extending into the territory of another county, in which the Supreme Court 3 Garland r. Board of Revenue, 87 of the United States construed the Kentucky statutes relating thereto.

⁵ Douglass v. Mayor and Common See Washer v. Bullitt County, (1884) Council of Placerville, (1861) 18 Cal.

¹⁹ Iowa, 199.

³³ Wis. 309.

Ala. 223; s. c., 6 So. Rep. 402.

⁴ Elliott v. Gammon, (1886) 76 Ga. 766. 110 U.S. 558, involving the question 648. of the power of a county in Kentucky sent of the people at an election held for the purpose cannot be extended to improvements other than municipal in their char-Under such a power, for instance, a city cannot subscribe to stock in a navigation company.1

§ 21. Incurring liability under Indiana statutes.— The board of commissioners of a county in Indiana, under their power "to make all orders respecting the property of the county * * and to take care of and preserve such property," may contract for insurance upon the public buildings of the county.2 While at the time of the passing of an order by an Indiana board of county commissioners, making a donation for the purpose of securing the location of an agricultural college within their jurisdiction and making an appropriation to pay the same, the Supreme Court of that state held that the order was not void, but was capable of ratification by the legislature. And this order was ratified and rendered valid by subsequent legislation accepting the donation and locating the college in that county. And the law authorizing a collection by taxes of the amount donated for this purpose was not objectionable as being local or special when a general law could have been made applicable.8 There is no power in an Indiana board of county commissioners to furnish aid to a gravel road or turnpike company in building or repairing its road at the expense of the county, neither can they enter into a contract with such companies for the future repairs of a bridge or the approaches to such bridge on the line of its road. Such a board cannot make a contract improvements which are the proper not commercial." subject of police and municipal regulation - such as gas, water, alms- E. Rep. 518. houses, hospitals, etc. - and cannot be ring to the many privileges exercised Stocking v. The State, 7 Ind. 326. by the free cities of Europe, some of Low e. Mayor and Common Coun- patent or their own usurpation, we cil of Marysville, (1855) 5 Cal. 214. understand the powers of municipal The court said: "The words 'public corporations to be limited, particularly improvements' when applied to a in the United States, to the express municipal government must be taken grant of their charters, the object of in a limited sense as applying to those their creation to be governmental and ⁹ Potts v. Bennett, (Ind. 1895) 39 N.

³ Marks, Treasurer of Tippecanoe extended to subjects foreign to the ob- County n. Trustees of Purdue Uniject of the incorporation and beyond versity, (1871) 37 Ind. 155; see Cash v. its territorial limits. Without refer- Auditor of Clark County, 7 Ind. 227;

4 Driftwood Valley Turnpike Co. v. which exercised almost all the power Board of Comrs. of Bartholomew of sovereignty by virtue of royal County, (1880) 72 Ind. 226.

conditionally to pay certain expenses of borng wells for oil and digging for minerals. 1 Neither can it appropriate the funds of the county to the payment of the debts of a county agricultural joint-stock company or to the building of schoolhouses.2 It is not, under the Indiana laws regulating the incorporation of cities. etc., within the power of a city council to contract to pay its marshal any sum of money for the performance of any duties outside of his official duties.3

§ 22. Incurring liabilities under Kansas statutes.— The grant of power by the Kansas statutes to townships to issue bonds "to aid in the construction of railroads or water power by donation thereto, or the taking stock therein or for other works of internal improvement" includes authority to assist in the construction of depots and sidewalks of a railroad.4 A statute authorizing a municipal corporation to issue bonds which can only be paid by taxation, for the benefit of a manufacturing enterprise of private persons has been held to be void as violating the fundamental rights of property, the purpose being essentially private in its nature, though the public may be incidentally benefited.⁵ In the same federal court municipal bonds issued under legislative authority to be paid by taxation as a bonus or donation to secure the location, or aid in the erection of a manufactory or foundry owned by private individuals were held to be void even in the hands of holders for value.6 County commissioners in Kansas may employ counsel to take charge of litigation on behalf of the county where the county is interested in the result of the action, either in its own behalf, or in that of some township of the county, where the suit is brought against the representatives of the county, and is beyond the limits of the county.7 Though made their duty, unless the charter of municipal corporations expressly permits it, they cannot levy a tax for the erection of schoolhouses.8 A trustee of a town in Kansas

¹ Burnett v, Abbott, 51 Ind. 254.

² Warren County Agricultural Joint Topeka, (1874) 3 Dill. 376. Stock Co. v. Barr, 55 Ind. 30; Rothrock v. Carr. 55 Ind. 334.

³ City of Brazil v. McBride, (1979) 69 Ind. 244.

Township of Rock Creek v. Strong, (1877) 96 U.S. 271.

⁵ Citizens' Savings Association r.

⁶ Commercial National Bank v. Iola. (1878) 2 Dill. 353.

⁷Thacher v. Jefferson County, 13

⁸ Leavenworth v. Norton, 1 Kans.

has no power to bind the county by a contract with a physician for treatment of persons sick with smallpox. The power to do so is alone in the commissioners of the county.1 Neither is a county in Kansas bound to pay a physician for medical services rendered by him in attending on prisoners confined in the county fail. except when authorized by the county commissioners.2

§ 23. For lighting the streets of a city.— The contention in an Indiana case was that to regulate the lighting of the streets of a city is a legislative power which cannot be delegated away, surrendered or restricted by contracts or otherwise, and that, therefore, the contract made by the city authorities with a gas company for lighting its streets for a term of years was a restriction upon that legislative power, and, therefore, invalid. The Supreme Court of the state held the contract binding upon the city, and enforceable in the same manner as the contract of a person or a business corporation; also, that it could not be repealed, impaired or changed by the city by ordinance or otherwise.3

10 Kans. 29.

¹ Smith v. Shawnce County, 21 Kans. to legislate within the authority delegated to them by law is distinct from ² Roberts v. Pottawatomie County, the power to contract, although exercised by the same corporation. They ³ City of Indianapolis v. Indianapo- cannot, by contract, delegate or rells Gas Light & Coke Co., (1879) 66 strict their legislative power, nor can Ind. 396. As to the power to con-they, merely by their legislative power, tract, it was said by BIDDLE, J., make a contract. These two powers speaking for the court: "No corpora-need not be confounded. The exertion can construct unless the power is cise of the legislative power requires granted by law. This power is gen- the consent of no person except those erally granted to business corporations, who legislate, while it is impossible to as for banking, manufacturing, ship- make a contract without the consent ping; and such corporations generally of another, or others. We think, therehave no legislative or governmental fore, that when [this city] made the powers, except the power to make by- contract in question with the gas light laws for their own government; they company it made it in the exercise of cannot pass ordinances for the govern- its power to contract, and not in the ment of others. Municipal corpora- exercise of its power to legislate, altions, besides the power to contract, though the power to make the conwhich is generally granted to them tract was authorized by an ordinance; within certain limits, have legislative and having the power to make a conor governmental powers by which they tract touching the subject-matter, it make by-laws to govern themselves had the right to make it according to and pass ordinances to govern others, its own discretion as to its prudence or the citizens of a town or city within or good policy within the limits of its their geographical limits. This power franchise." The court commented

§ 24. Contract on time for lighting streets.— A municipal corporation may contract on time with a gas or other lighting company for a supply of gas or light for several years, as it would not be the contracting of a debt within the scope of section 2448 of the Revised Statutes of Louisiana, which provides that the "police juries of the several parishes and other constituted authorities of incorporated towns and cities in this state shall not hereafter have power to contract any debt or pecuniary liability without fully providing in the ordinance creating the debt the means of paying the principal and interest of the debt as contracted." The

York, 3 Hill, 531; Masterton v. Mayor, 64 Pa. St. 160. etc., City of Brooklyn, 7 Hill, 61; Mil-

upon Roll c. City of Indianapolis, 52 Harlem Gas Light Co. c. Mayor, etc., Ind. 547, and distinguished Ritten- New York, 33 N. Y. 309; Illinois & house v. Mayor & City Council of St. Louis R. R. & Canal Co. v. City of Baltimore, 25 Md. 836; Gale v. Village St. Louis & Pacific Elevator Co., 2 of Kalamazoo, 23 Mich. 344, and City Dill. 70; State of Ohio c. Cincinnati of Oakland v. Carpentier, 13 Cal. 540 Gas Light & Coke Co., 18 Ohio St. They considered their views to be sus- 262; Gall v. City of Cincinnati, 18 tained by the main consent of the fol-Ohio St. 563; Minturn c. Larue, 23 lowing authorities: Evansville, Ind. & How. 435; Memphis City c. Dean, 8 Cleveland Straight Line R. R. Co. r. Wall 64; Chicago n. Sheldon, 9 Wall. City of Evansville, 15 Ind. 395; Nel- 50, Hitchcock v. Galveston, 96 U. S. son v City of La Porte, 33 Ind. 258; 341; Edwards v. Kearzey, 96 U. S. City of Indianapolis v. Bly, 39 Ind. 595; People v. Common Council of De-373; City of Crawfordsville r. Hays, troit, 28 Mich. 228; Mayor, etc., of 42 Ind. 200; State Board of Agricul- Jackson v. Bownan, 39 Miss. 671; ture v. Citizens' St. Ry. Co., 47 Ind. Davenport Gas Light & Coke Co. c. 407; Board of Comrs. of Tippecanoe City of Davenport, 13 Iowa, 229; State County v. Everett, 51 Ind. 513; San of Wisconsin v. Milwaukee Gas Light Francisco Gas Co. v. City of San Fran- Co., 29 Wis. 454; Norwich Gas Light cisco, 9 Cal. 453; Roll v. City of In- Co. v. Norwich City Gas Co., 25 Conn. dianapolis, 52 Ind 54; Davenport v. 19; Western Saving-Fund Society of Inhabitants of Hallowell, 10 Me. 317; Philadelphia v. City of Philadelphia, Bailey v. Mayor, etc., City of New 31 Pa. St. 175; Philadelphia v. Fox,

1 New Orleans Gas Light Co. v. City hau v. Sharp, 27 N. Y. 611; Rich- of New Orleans, (1890) 42 La. Ann. mond County Gas Light Co. r. Town 188; s. c., 7 So. Rep. 559. The court of Middletown, 59 N. Y. 228; Devlin said: "There is no stipulation or exv. Mayor, etc., City of New York, 68 pression, either in the contract or ordi-N. Y. S; Mayor & Council of Rome r. nance, on which to ground the con-Cabot, 28 Ga. 50; Intendant & Town tention that the city thereby intended Council of Livingston v. Pippin, 31 to contract a debt. The agreement Ala. 542; State of New York v. Mayor, imparts no absolute and binding oblietc., City of New York, 3 Duer, 119; gations on the part of the city to pay Britton v. Mayor, etc., New York, 21 any sum of money for a consideration How. Pr. 251; Louisville City Ry. Co. pre-existing or executed on the part of v. City of Louisville, 8 Bush, 415; the obligee which is of the essence of a court held further that in the absence of a special statutory limitation or restriction the power given to the city to make contracts for lighting its streets, landings, etc., was sufficient to authorize a contract for more than one year for such commodity.1

§ 25. Caring for the indigent, etc.—There is inherent in every municipal corporation the power to relieve sick persons indicent in their circumstances, especially in times of epidemic diseases, and to provide for poor persons who are unable to labor.2 A city with power delegated to it to provide for foundlings, the insane, the indigent, infirm and helpless, and for the correction of the vicious and vagrant portions of its population, if it has not provided for such persons, or if they can be better cared for and trained in other institutions than in those of the city, may contract for such care and training by such other institutions. But the exercise of the power of making such contracts must be with the limitation that the subject-matter of the contract be kept within the power and control of municipal authority, and that complete accountability be provided for, and thus make the institution contracted with, pro hac vice, municipal officers.3 future disbursements in favor of the c., 7 Am. & Eng. Corp. Cas. 626. company is conditioned on the pereffect of the contract was to place it in debt to that amount. If under the La. Ann. 42. terms of the contract the company fur-debt. The obligation of the city for of Valparaiso v. Gardner, 97 Ind. 1; s.

¹ New Orleans Gas Light Co. v. City formance on the part of the latter of of New Orleans, (1890) 42 La. Ann. its part of the contract, a fact to be 188; s. c., 7 So. Rep. 559; citing in ascertained under the terms of the con- support of the ruling City of Indiantract itself from month to month, apolis r. Indianapolis Gas Light Co., 66 Although the eventual disbursements Ind. 396; Weston v. Syracuse, 17 N. Y. to be made by the city may amount to 110; City of Valparaiso v. Gardner, 97 several hundred thousand dollars, it is Ind. 1; Atlantic Water Works v. Atlancertainly not correct to argue that the tic City, 15 Am. & Eng. Corp. Cas. 327. ⁹ Vionet v. Municipality No. 1, 4

³St. Mary's Industrial School for nishes and operates in quality and Boys v. Brown, (1876) 45 Md. 310. It quantity the lights contemplated and was said by the court: "The authoragreed upon, and if payments are ity (to provide for such persons) that made therefor by the city from month is held and excreised in this behalf is to month, as stipulated in the contract, a trust, as well for those who become the city would certainly never be in the objects of it, as those who support debt to the company. Hence we con- it by contribution in the form of taxes clude that no indebtedness was con- levied upon their property, and being templated to flow from or was created an important public trust it cannot be by the contract." On authority of delegated beyond the power and dis-Weston v. Syracuse, 17 N. Y. 110; City cretion of those to whom it is confided."

§ 26. Employment of physicians for the poor — Indiana statute construed. - The Indiana statute 1 makes it the duty of the board of commissioners of a county "to contract with one or more skillful physicians, having knowledge of surgery, to attend upon all persons confined in jail, or paupers in the county asylum, and may also contract with physicians to attend upon the poor generally in the county. " " Provided that this section shall not be so construed as to prevent the overseers of the poor, or any one of them, in townships not otherwise provided for, from employing such medical or surgical services as paupers within his or their jurisdiction may require." The Supreme Court has held that a county is not liable to a physician for medical services rendered by him to a poor person, when the physicians employed by the board of county commissioners to attend the poor, as required by this statute, refused to act, and when the town trustee, who by statute is the overseer of the poor, declined to employ this physician.2

§ 27. Expenses connected with epidemic diseases.—The Supreme Court of Alabama has held that a contract by a city

¹ Ind. Rev. St. (1881) \ 5764 122 Ind. 521; s. c., 21 N. E. Rep. 213. Ind. 256. As to the powers of town The holding of the court has been trustees under this statute, see Robbins uniform that the overseer of the poor, . Board of Comrs. of Morgan County, under this statute, has power to employ a physician only in the event the of a contract with a physician under board of commissioners fail to make suitable provision for attendance upon v. Ritter, (1883) 90 Ind. 362. As to the the poor by contract. Board, etc., r. duty and power of a town trustee Boynton, 30 Ind. 359; Board, etc., c. Hon, 87 Ind. 356. But the overseer in providing for persons in need of of the poor, in case the physician em-temporary relief, see Board of Comrs., and an emergency is deemed to exist, 108; s. c., 3 N. E. Rep. 619. or if he refuses for any reason to act, mere fact that a board of commissionmedical aid, and, in the absence of limitation upon the power of a townfraud, the county will be bound by ship trustee as overseer of the poor to his judgment and liable for the medi- employ others in case of emergency. the county. Board, etc., r. Seaton, 90 32 N. E. Rep. 800. Ind. 158; Washburn v. Board, etc.,

104 Ind. 321; S. C., 3 N. E. Rep. 757; ² Morgan County c. Senton, (1889) See, also, Comis., etc., c. Holman, 34 (1853) 91 Ind. 537. As to the terms, etc., this statute, see Board of Comrs, etc., under Ind. Rev. St. (1881) § 6089, ployed by the board is not accessible, etc., A. Jennings, (1885) 104 Ind. may employ a physician in case of ur- ers employs physicians to attend the gent necessity to treat one in need of poor of a county will not operate as a cal services, notwithstanding the em- Board of Comrs. of Perry County v. ployment of a regular physician by Lomax, (1892) 5 Ind. App. 567; s. c., with a physician, entered into during the late war, to attend to indigent persons sick with the smallpox, whether belligerents or non-belligerents, was not such a contract as is forbidden by the law of the land or public policy.1 A statute authorizing the board of supervisors of a city "to allow and order paid out of the general fund, not to exceed six thousand dollars for any one year, for the support of" a smallpox hospital, has been held in California not to authorize the board to purchase a site for a smallpox hospital.2 Neither was the purchase of a site for the hospital authorized by the statute giving the board power to make all regulations which may be necessary or expedient for the prevention of contagious diseases, nor by the constitutional provision of the state authorizing a city to make all such police, sanitary and other regulations as are not in conflict with general laws.3

§ 28. For what towns may not be made liable.—A town has no authority to appropriate money for the payment of expenses incurred by individuals, prior to its corporate existence

Ala. 287.

² Von Schmidt v. Widber, City Treasplied from the power conferred upon Buffalo, 14 N. Y. 856.

¹ City of Selma v. Mullen. (1871) 46 the board of supervisors by the statute. Ala. 411; in this case, where it appeared Aside from the fact that this statute that the usage of the city authorities makes no mention of real estate, or of was to have the city physician attend any purchase thereof, its language limto smallpox cases for an extra com- its the power to the expenditure of 'six pensation, and the city physician, thousand dollars for any one year,' plaintiff here, had been told by one of and the money thus allowed to be exthe aldermen in the presence of the pended is for the 'support' of the others, no one objecting, to "go on, smallpox hospital - words which emidoctor, with your smallpox cases, and nently refer to an existing hospital, we will do what is just and right," it rather than to one to be thereafter was held that the city was bound by brought into existence. It is not to be an implied promise to pay him a rea- inferred that when the legislature was sonable value for his services in this thus careful in limiting the amount of respect. As to an action of assumpsit money to be expended, and in the lanlying against corporations upon an guage in which it described the mode express or implied promise, see Bank of its expenditure, it intended to conof Columbia v. Patterson, 7 Cranch, 299; fer an unlimited authority upon the Bank of U. S. v. Dandridge, 12 Wheat. board of supervisors to expend any 64; Danforth v. Schoharie & Duanes- amount of money that it might choose burgh Turnpike Road, 12 Johns. 227; for the purchase of a site for the hos-Montgomery County v. Barber, 45 pital for whose support it had thus provided."

⁸ Von Schmidt v. Widber, City Treasurer, (1894) 105 Cal. 151; s. c., 38 Pac. urer, (1894) 105 Cal. 151; s. c., 38 Pac. Rep. 688. The court said: "(Authority Rep. 688 citing as authority for the to make such a purchase) cannot be im- last proposition, Ketchum v. City of as a town, in procuring the passage of its charter.1 In the commonwealth of Massachusetts towns have no authority to expend money or pledge their credit to celebrate the anniversary of the surrender of Cornwallis.³ Nor has it authority to appropriate money for the celebration of the Fourth of July.3 By the statute of 1861 (Chap. 165) cities are now authorized in Massachusetts to appropriate money to celebrate a holiday, but such authority can be exercised only in pursuance of a "vote of two-thirds of the members of each branch of the city council present and voting by yea and nay vote.4

¹ Frost v. Belmont, (1863) 6 Allen, expend moneys "to defray the con-

10 Cush. 252.

"Hood v. Lynn, (1861) 1 Allen, 103. the power of towns to raise money for 553. "all other necessary charges": The granted to the city; nor is it inci-tingent and other expenses of the ²Tash c. Adams, Treasurer, (1852) city "to provide an entertainment for its citizens at the expense of the city, see Hodoes c. Buffalo, 2 Den. 110; BIGELOW, Ch. J., said, after referring to New London r. Brainard, 22 Conn.

⁴Morrison, Admx., r. Lawrence, appropriation is neither necessary to (1867) 98 Mass. 219. In Morton c. the exercise of any power expressly City of Nevada, 41 Fed. Rep. 582, bonds issued by the city for the purdental to any right or authority, chase of a right of way and depot which, though not expressly granted, grounds for a railroad were held to be has its origin in well-settled usage void as violating the constitutional and is founded upon the necessities, provision of Missouri declaring that convenience, or even the comfort of the general assembly shall not author the inhabitants. This is the extreme ize any city to lean its credit to any limit of the power of towns and cities corporation unless two thirds of the to grant money as settled by repeated qualified voters assented thereto. It adjudications of this court. St tson was further held that the purchaser of v. Kempton, 13 Mass. 272; Parsons r these bonds could not maintain an Goshen, 11 Pick, 396; Willard v. New- action against the city for money paid buryport, 12 Pick. 227; Allen v. and received to recover the amount Taunton, 19 Pick. 485; Spaulding paid the city for the bonds, as the city v. Lowell, 23 Pick. 71; Anthony v. having no power to create the debt, Adams, 1 Metc. 281. See, also, Gerry no implied promise could arise for its v. Stoneham, (1861) 1 Allen, 319. In payment, notwithstanding the general New London v. Brainard, 22 Conn. statute of Missouri, which gives the 553, an appropriation which had been board of trustees power "to borrow voted by the city for the celebration money for the improvement" of the of Independence Day was held to town, the purchase of highway and have been properly enjoined as be-depot grounds for the railroad not youd the power of the city under its being for the improvement of the charter and the laws generally. As town, but a debt incurred for the to the power of a city under the benefit of the railroad corporation power given in its charter to raise and without the proper assent of voters.

§ 20. Expenses of a committee to secure legislation.— A town cannot raise by taxation or by pledge of its credit, or pay from its treasury, money for the expenses of a committee directed by a vote of the town to petition the legislature for the annexation of the town to another town. 1 Neither can it raise

112 Mass. 1. Endicorr, J., a. t. such as town houses to assemble in proper construction of the works and market houses for the sale of pro-"necessary charges," referred to the visions, may also be a proper town various Massachusetts cases previous charge, and may come within the fair to this one as follows: "The lead- meaning of the term necessary, for ing case is Stetson v. Kempton, 13 the e may be essential to the com-Mass. 272. The meaning of the word fort and convenience of the citizens. 'necessary' in the statute is discussed * * * With respect to the defense at length by Chief Justice PARKER, of any town against the incursions of with a fulness of illustration in regard an enemy in time of war, it is difficult to to the various expenses which may be see any principle upon which that can said to fall within the words 'neces- become a necessary town charge. It is sary charges,' that seem to exhaust is not a corporate duty,' etc. In another the subject, and has not been mate- case * : Rumford School District rially enlarged by later decisions. He v. Wood, 13 Mass. 193, the chief jusphrase

1 Minot v. West Roybury, (1873) the accommodation of the inhabitants, 'necessary tice said of towns that they may be charges' is indeed general; that the considered as quasi corporations, with very generality of the expression shows limited powers co-extensive with the that it must have a reasonable limitated uties imposed on them by statute or tion. For none will suppose that un- u ages. The rule of construction hid der this form of expression every tax down in these early cases has been would be legal which the town should strictly followed in the later decisions. choose to sanction. The proper con- In Parsons v. Coshen, 11 Pick. 396, struction of the term must be that in Mr. Justice Wilde says: 'The imaddition to the money to be raised for portant question in this case is settled, the poor, schools, etc., towns might and upon principles that cannot be raise such sums as should be necessary controverted, in Stetson r. Kempton.' to meet the ordinary expenses of the In Anthony v. Adams, 1 Metc. 284, year, such as the payment of such mu- Chief Justice Snaw said: 'It is now nicipal officers as they should be well settled that a town, in its corpoobliged to employ, the support and de- rate capacity, will not be bound, even fense of such actions as they might be by an express vote of a majority, to parties to, and the expenses they the performance of contracts or other would incur in performing such duties legal duties not coming within the as the laws imposed, as the erection of scope of the objects and purposes for powder houses, providing ammuni- which they are incorporated.' In Vintion, making and repairing highways cent v. Nantucket, 12 Cush. 108, it was and town roads, and other things of a said by Mr. Justice Merrick: 'Their like nature, which are necessary contracts will be valid when made in charges because the effect of a legal relation to objects concerning which discharge of their corporate duty/ they have a duty to perform, an inter-The erection of public buildings for est to protect, or a right to defend, by taxation, or pay from its treasury, money for expenses incurred in opposing before the legislature the annexation of the whole or a part of its territory to another town. A Maine town cannot incur expenses in opposing before a legislative committee a division of its territorial limits.2

§ 30. For the payment of bounties to volunteers.—The Illinois Supreme Court sustained the constitutionality of a law authorizing the towns in certain counties therein named to lovy a tax to pay bounties to persons who should thereafter enlist or be drafted in the army of the United States, a vote of the township being first taken. The courts defined a tax for "corporate purposes" to mean "a tax to be expended in a manner which shall promote the general prosperity and welfare of the municipality which levies it," and held that a tax levied by the town for the purpose of paying bounties to such as would volunteer in the army during the late war in order thereby to exempt the town from an impending draft on conscription might be fairly considered a tax for the common good and for a "corporate purpose." a the support of a public clock, as within tion of town affairs. the jurisdiction of a town, in the same Stoughton, 6 Cush. 349." manner as hay scales, burying grounds, wells and reservoirs, being objects of Mass. 592. convenience and necessity to the inhabitants. Willard v. Newburyport, habitants of Deering, (1874) 68 Me. 281. 12 Pick. 227. A town may also in-

But here is the extent at once of their demnify its officers against liabilities right and their power. They cannot incurred in the bond fide discharge of engage in enterprises foreign to the their official duties, as in regard to the purposes for which they were incor- reassessment of taxes, the repairs of a portied, nor assume responsibilities highway, the report of a school comwhich involve undertakings not within mittee, the crection of a town house, the compass of their corporate pow- all incidental to and connected with ers.' Following this rule of construct the exercise of the powers of a town tion, this court has held expenditures (Nelson v. Milford, 7 Pick. 18; Bancroft to be legal though not within the ex- c. Lynnfield, 18 Pick. 566; Fuller v. press terms of the statute, but inci- Groton, 11 Gray, 310; Hadsell v. Handental to and within the scope of a cock, 3 Gray, 526; Bubbitt o. Savoy, 3 power of a town, as for the erection of Cush. 530), and may pay for profesmarket and town houses, and the con-sional services in the delense of suits, struction of reservoirs to supply fire independent of the result of the suit, Spaulding v. Lowell, 23 and whether the town acted legally or Pick. 71; French v. Quincy, 3 Allen, illegally in the matter in controversy, 9; Hardy v. Waltham, 3 Met. 163. For it being in the ordinary administra-Cushing v.

1 Coolidge r. Brookline, (1874) 114

Inhabitants of Westbrook v. In-³ Taylor v. Thompson, (1866) 42 III. 9.

§ 31. Validating a contract of village trustees.— Under the statutes of New York there is required a submission of a proposition for furnishing a water supply to a vote of the electors before a contract can be made by the village trustees, if the cost is to exceed a certain sum. In case village trustees enter into a contract for this purpose, not authorized by this statute, and there is an attempt to ratify it by the electors of the village, the contract would not be validated as of the time when it was made. but simply rendered operative from and after the date of the vote.1 And the statute as to submission to a vote of the electors of the matter in question was not modified by the subsequent statute providing for the submission "to the taxpaying electors," at a special election of the question of raising moneys for some proper village object additional to the amount already authorized, and for raising the same in like manner with other taxes, and authorizing the trustees to borrow such sum in emergency in anticipation of the tax, but granting them no authority to bond the village otherwise by contract.2

§ 32. Illustrations of liabilities incurred for a "corporate purpose."—The Illinois Supreme Court has held that where a tax was voted by a city to donate a sum of money in aid of normal school in case it should be located therein, and it was so located, and the Laws 1885, chap. 422.

¹ Squire r. Preston, (1894) 82 Hun. r. Cramer, 14 N. Y. Wkly, Dig. 107: 88; s. c., 31 N. Y. Supp. 174. The Hassan v. City of Rochester, 67 N. Y. statute referred to is N. Y. Laws 1873, 528. As to ratification of the contracts chap. 737, § 5, as amended by N. Y. by a vote the court considered applicable the language of Judge Denio in ³ Squire v. Preston, (1894) 82 Hun, 88; Peterson v. Mayor, etc., 17 N. Y. 449, s. c., 31 N. Y. Supp. 174. The later 454, which was as follows: "No sort statute referred to is N. Y. Laws 1887, of ratification can make good an act chap. 504; see, also, N. Y. Laws 1890, without the scope of the corporate chap 566, $81, which re-enacts in sub- authority So where the charter, or a stance the act of 1873. See In re Com- statute, binding upon the corporation, missioners of Central Park, 50 N.Y. 493; has committed a class of acts to par-In re Evergreens, 47 N. Y. 216. The ticular officers or agents other than questions involved in Squire v. Preston, the general governing body, or where supra, were considered also in Squire it has prescribed certain formalities as v. Cartwright, (1893) 67 Hun, 218; s. conditions to the performance of any c., 22 N. Y. Supp. 899, the contract description of corporate business, the made by the village trustees with the proper functionaries must act, and the water company being for the erection designated forms must be observed. and supply of hydrants. As to the and generally no act of recognition points involved, the court cited: Smith can supply a defect in these respects."

bonds of the city were regularly issued and put in circulation to that amount, such debt was incurred for a "corporate purpose," within the meaning of the constitutional provision allowing taxation for "corporate purposes." So, also, held as to a certain issue of the city's bonds under legislative authority and upon a vote of its legal voters, whereby the city was relieved from the payment of a larger amount of its prior indebtedness.2 The city being also authorized by the statute to give bonds to aid in the establishment and foundation of a university, and for that purpose having purchased grounds and submitted to vote of the people the question of issuing a certain amount of bonds to make payment for the lands, and it being carried, these bonds were also held to be for a "corporate purpose," there appearing no fraud, combination or oppression in the transaction. The constitutional provision of New York prohibiting cities from incurring indebtedness except for city purposes, does not deprive the city of the power to construct and operate a plant for a supply of electric light to the city and its inhabitants, as this is a corporate purpose within the meaning of the constitutional provision. Should a municipal corporation issue negotiable certificates of indebtedness, for instance, to a contractor for the performance of work to be done, or done, for an authorized corporate purpose, without legal authority or power to issue such certificates, the payee may maintain an action for money had and received; and the fact that the payee was not a party to the contract would be immaterial if the certificates are issued to him at the request of the contractor and the money received by the city and paid over to the contractor.5

§ 33. Purchase of fire engines and apparatus.— A town possesses inherent power to purchase fire engines for the protection of the property of its citizens from fire.6 The statute of

¹ Burr v. City of Carbondale, (1874) 204; Chapman v. Douglas County, 76 III. 455.

⁹ Ibid.

³ Ibid. In support of these views the 841. court cited Merrick v. Inhabitants of Amherst, 12 Allen, 500.

¹⁰⁷ U. S. 348; s. c., 2 Sup. Ct. Rep. 62; Hitchcock r. Galveston, 96 U. S.

b Corporation of Bluffton r. Studabaker, (1885) 106 Ind. 129. The court 4 Hequembourg v. City of Dunkirk, said: "The power to purchase fire 49 Hun, 550; s. c., 2 N. Y. Supp. 447. engines by an incorporated city or Bangor Savings Bank v. ('ity of town does not, however, of necessity, Stillwater, (1892) 49 Fed. Rep. 721; depend upon the question whether Louisiana v. New Orleans, 102 U.S. the charter of such city or town has,

Indiana for incorporating towns gives them power in one section among other things "to provide all necessary apparatus for the extinguishment of fires." Under this section a town is anthorized to purchase a fire engine for cash.1 section gives towns power "to incur a debt, on proper petition from the taxpayers of the town severally. Under this section the town may incur a debt for the purchase of a fire engine and apparatus, or purchase it upon credit.2 Another provision of this law requires the assent of fiveeighths of the taxpaying citizens of the town before there is power in the town to borrow money or incur any debt or liability. Upon a proper petition the board of trustees in this case passed an ordinance for raising the money necessary to pay for an engine by sale of the bonds of the town. The court held that the board had the power to disregard this ordinance for an issue and sale of bonds. Their power to purchase an engine on a credit was not exhausted by the mere passage of the ordinance for the issue and sale of bonds. The engine might be purchased by parol and South Bend, 85 Ind. 276; s. c., 44 such corporations are organized." Am. Rep. 18, the court said: "A municipal corporation has powers as are expressly granted and Ind. 504. also such implied or incidental ones the express powers and effectuate the Ind. 504.

or has not, expressly granted such object of the corporate existence. It power. In 1 Dill. on Mun. Corp was long ago declared that the power (3d cd.) § 143, the learned author says: to prevent danger from fire is an in-"The prevention of damage by fire is cidental one, belonging to all municusually an object within the scope of ipal corporations," So, also, in municipal authority, either by ex- Baumgartner v. Hasty, 100 Ind. 575; press grant or by the power, in a s. c., 50 Am. Rep. 830, the court chartered town or city, to make police said: "The rule has always been that regulations or needful by laws, and a municipal corporation has the infor this purpose it may regulate the herent power to enact ordinances for mode and removal of ashes. And the protection of the property of its where the town or municipal body citizens against fire. * * * The has such power, it is authorized to exercise of such a power is not the appropriate money for the purchase exercise of a new power, nor of one of engines, or for the repair thereof, not connected with the purposes for if to be used for the purpose of ex- which public corporations are organtinguishing fires therein, and this, ized; on the contrary, it is the whether they belong to the corpora- exercise of a power long possessed by tion or were purchased by private municipal corporations and closely consubscription." So in Clark v. City of nected with the purposes for which

¹ Second National Bank of New such Albany v. Town of Danville, (1878) 60

Second National Bank of New as are necessary to carry into effect Albany v. Town of Danville, (1878) 60

in this case on credit, and notes commercial or otherwise might be executed for the price by the board of trustees of the town.1 The power to purchase fire engines and apparatus is necessarily or fairly to be implied as incident to a power granted a city's common council to pass ordinances for the prevention and suppression of fires and to appoint and remove fire wardens; and, by ordinance to prescribe the powers and duties of such fire wardens and of the fire engineers and firemen; and also the right to raise money by taxation for supporting the fire department.2 Under a statutory authority to purchase fire engines and apparatus of all kinds for the use of the fire department of a city, the board of fire commissioners having charge of such matters may purchase hose carriages.8

§ 34. Illustration of wrongfully incurred liability. — Where the sum of $1,500 had been voted by a school district of Wyoming for contingent expenses, the Supreme Court of that state held that the purchase of a steam-heating apparatus for a sum largely in excess of that amount was not within the power of the

of Lake County, 56 Ind. 363.

shall arise and become the subject of § 94." municipal regulation. The power to panied with the power to equip the Supp. 26.

¹ Second National Bank of New department with apparatus would be Albany v. Town of Danville, (1878) 60 a. futile as the privilege of raising an Ind. 504; Sheffield School Township army without the power to provide v. Andress, 56 Ind. 157. See upon weapons or sub-istence. The power this subject, generally, Evansville, to do either would imply the power etc., R. R. Co. r. City of Evansville, to effectuate the intent involved in the 15 Ind. 395; City of Indianapolis r. grant by the execution of its incidents. Miller, 27 Ind. 394; Thompson o. City The contracts for the purchase of of Peru, 29 Ind. 305. On the prin- apparatus are clearly among the ciple, Halstead v. Board of Comrs. incidents of the grant. The power to purchase fire engines has been, in ² Green v. City of Cape May, (1879) several states, sustained under the au-41 N. J. Law, 45. It was said in the thority of the city to make police opinion: "The power to suppress regulations for public safety, which, fires, etc., would be nugatory without it is held, confers the power to take the power to obtain the means by measures for the prevention of fires. which the suppression can be effected. Whether the power to suppress fires The authority to prescribe the power arises from the general safety clause and duties of firemen and fire engineers of the charter or from express grant, implies that there shall be apparatus, it carries with it the right to purchase in the management of which duties fire engines. 1 Dill. on Mun. Corp.

³ Leonard v. Long Island City, (1892) organize a fire department unaccom- 47 N. Y. St. Rep. 761; s. c., 20 N. Y. district board.1 The court held the warrant issued by the school district for a steam-heating apparatus to be void for another reason that it was in violation of the statute of congress limiting the amount of indebtedness to be incurred by every political or municipal corporation, county or other subdivision of the territories of the United States to an amount not exceeding a certain percentage on the value of taxable property therein.2 § 35. Purchase of cemetery grounds.—A charter of a municipal corporation conferring the power to purchase fire

67 Mo. 819."

County v. Western Tube Co., (1895) 38 Graham, 130 U. S. 674; s. c., 9 Sup.

1 School District No. 3 in Carbon Pac. Rep. 922; Acts 49th Cong. (1st County v. Western Tube Co., (Wyo. Sess.) chap. 818, § 4. It was urged 1895) 38 Pac. Rep. 922. It was said before the court that the debt atby the court: "Certainly our statute tempted to be incurred by the district does not permit the contracting of board for the heating apparatus was a debts far in excess of the appropriation necessary one, and that the very existmade for contingent purposes for that ence and maintenance of the public year, and we doubt that such author- schools required that they should be ized expenditures would be counte- kept open and the pupils comfortably nanced anywhere in the absence of a seated and warmed. The court said to statute giving a district school board this: "But this question is settled. express powers to contract for the dis- The provisions of the act of congress trict beyond the annual appropriations were probably borrowed from the made by the annual school meeting, Constitution of Illinois, which conwhere such meeting is made the tains a similar restriction, a limitation source of the power of taxation. It which has been judicially interpreted. would authorize the creation of a The clause shall not become indebted floating indebtedness which should 'in any manner or for any purpose' bind the district the same as a bonded in the Illinois Constitution is construed indebtedness permitted by an act of to mean just what it says, and not to the legislature. In some of the states permit an exception that would allow the district heard or some of its mem- a public corporation to incur indebtedbers are authorized either in express ness for supplies to meet its ordinary statutory terms or by implication, wants and necessities, an exception where the board or officer are charged which the framers of the Constitution with certain duties, to incur expenses did not see fit to make and which the for the district in limited sums for courts have no power to insert. Prince specific purposes, but this power to v. City of Quincy, 103 III, 138, 143. bind the district is strictly limited to 216; City of Springfield v. Edwards, the purposes named in the statutes. 84 Ill. 626; Law v. People, 87 Ill. 385. Conklin v. School District, 22 Kans. The same principle is sustained by the 521; School District v. Snell, 24 Mich. Supreme Court of the United States 350; Gibson v. School District, 36 in construing a similar construction in Mich. 404; Johnson v. School District, the Constitution of Colorado. Lake Co. v. Rollins, 180 U. S. 662; s. c., 9 School Dist. No. 8 of Carbon Sup. Ct. Rep. 651; Lake Co. v.

apparatus, cemetery grounds, to establish markets and other things, for the execution of which power money would be a necessary means, in the absence of any positive restriction, confers the power to borrow money as an incident to the execution of such general powers.\(^1\) A power of taxation conferred in the charter cannot be deemed to exclude the power of borrowing.2 This city having contracted to purchase a cemetery lot, and pay for the same by its corporate bonds, it was held, having acted within the powers conferred by its charter, could not be prevented by a subsequent act of the legislature forbidding the issuing of bonds.3

§ 36. Erection of crematory for garbage, etc.—The Supreme Court of Wisconsin has held that, under the general power given by the statutes of Wisconsin to prevent or abate nuisances, a village board may contract for the building of a crematory for garbage, dead animals, etc.4 is wholly void."

R. I. 199.

or dead animals were found within the 9, 12. them. To this end, it might provide lage, in order to prevent or abate nui-

Ct. Rep. 654. It makes no difference for destroying them, instead of foulfor what purpose or in what manner ing the waters of a lake or stream of the debt was created; if in excess of water with them, to be again cast up, the statutory or constitutional limit it to the prejudice of the public, or depositing them where they would create ¹ Mills r. Gleason, (1860) 11 Wis. 470. a new nuisance. To this end, if a ² Ibid.; Clarke v. School District. 3 garbage crematory becomes necessary, the board may, within a fair and bona 3 Mills v. Gleason, (1860) 11 Wis. 470; fide exercise of their discretion, consee State c. Common Council, 7 Wis. tract for its construction, and the vil-688; Smith r. Appleton, 19 Wis. 468, lage will be bound by the contract. 4 Kilvington r. City of Superior, Speaking of the powers of such cor-(1892) 83 Wis. 222. The court said: porations, in Spaulding v. Lowell, 23 "The power 'to prevent or abate nul- Pick, 71, 71, Shaw, Ch. J., says: 'They sances' - that which occasions public can exercise no powers but those which hurt or inconvenience -- is necessarily are conferred upon them by the act by a very broad and comprehensive one, which they are constituted, or such as and essential, if not indispensable, to are necessary to the exercise of their the purpose for which the village was corporate powers or duties and accomcreated. It would hardly be questioned plishment of the purposes of their asby any one that if garbage, manure, sociation.' French v. Quincy, 3 Allen, This rule has been affirmed village, in the interest of good order, in this state, with the just qualification cleanliness or public health, the board that such corporations may resort to of trustees would have power to abate the usual and convenient means of exsuch nuisances by removing or other- ecuting the powers granted; that is to wise making suitable disposition of say, as applied to this case, that the vil-

- § 37. Use of private property for sewers.—Under the authority to construct sewers as incident to the general right of a municipal corporation to maintain streets and highways,1 the governing authorities of a city may contract for a right to construct a sewer through private property and bind the city for the cost by way of damages agreed upon by the authorities and the owners of the private property.2
- § 38. Detection of criminals.—Municipal corporations, when not authorized to levy taxes to pay the expenses of detecting and bringing to justice persons guilty of crimes punishable under general laws, cannot through their governing board create an indebtedness against the corporation for any such purpose, whether by proclamation, resolution or ordinance.8
- § 39. Aiding private corporations.— A municipal corporation cannot become a shareholder or stockholder in a private corporation or borrow money or incur debts to aid extraneous sances, might resort to such means as 444; Spaulding v. Lowell, 23 Pick. 17, were usual and convenient. Mills v. 80. It was not necessary, therefore, Gleason, 11 Wis. 470, 491; Gilman v. that there should have been express Milwaukee, 61 Wis. 588, 592; Bell v. power conferred on the village to build, Platteville, 71 Wis. 139, 142; Meinzer v. or contract for building, the crematory. Racine, 63 Wis. 241, 245. The power The village board might contract for to prevent and abate nuisances is an ex- it as a means adapted to the end of press grant of power, and not an im- preventing or abating nuisances, and plied one; and 'it lastong been an estab- as a health measure, and so within the lished principle in the law of corpora- general purpose for which the village tions that they may exercise all their was organized." powers within the fair intent and purexpressly granted. In doing so, un- ark, 28 N. J. Eq. 187. less restricted in this respect, they is a manifest invasion of private rights. (1883) 17 N. Y. Wkly, Dig. 518. Dill. Mun. Corp. §§ 91, 94, and cases ¹Cone r. City of Hartford, 28 Conn. pose of their creation which are ren- 368, 366, Fisher v. Harrisburg, 2 Grant sonably proper to give effect to powers (Pa.), 291; Stoudinger v. City of New-

² Leeds r. City of Richmond, (1885) must have a choice of means adapted 102 Ind. 372. In the power granted to ends, and are not confined to any to a city to construct a sewer outside one mode of operation,' and their dis- of its limits, when necessary to afford cretion in this respect cannot be re- an outlet for sewers within, is invised or interfered with by the courts, cluded the power to agree with ownexcept where the substantive power is ers of lands as to terms of their occuexceeded, or fraud is shown, or there pancy. Little v. City of Rochester,

8 Murphy v. City of Jacksonville, cited; Benson v Waukesha, 74 Wis. (1881) 18 Fla. 818. Whether or not 31, 39; Kelley v. Milwaukee, 18 Wis. town trustees could bind a town by 83, 85; Schanck v. Mayor, 69 N. Y. offering a reward for the apprehenobjects, unless the power be expressly granted. There is no power conferred upon a city to purchase real estate within its corporate limits designed for the benefit of an agricultural society that its annual fairs should be held therein, by a provision in its charter giving the council "full power and authority to purchase, and provide for the payment of the same, all such real estate and personal property as may be required for the use, convenience and improvement of the city." 2 Even with power, granted by sion of a felon who had been guilty of character, however 1 audable may be conceded that if the land in question had been purchased for an exclusively and the validity of the contract of purchase could not be affected or ren dered invalid by any sub-equent dithe purchase. 2 Dill. on Mun. Corp. § 444; Wei-mer r. Village of Douglas, 64 N. Y. 91; s. c., 21 Am. Rep.

Ala. 611; Low r. Marysville, 5 Cal 643.

homicide in the town has been ques its purpose, or however useful may be tioned in Kentucky. Lee c. Trustees its encouragement. As said by Mr. of Flemingsburg, (1838) 7 Dana (Ky.), Justice Miller in Loan Association v. Topeka, 20 Wall, 655, 660; "It fol-¹ Mayor v. Wetumpka Wharf Co., 63 lows that in this class of cases the right to contract must be limited by 214; Douglass v. Placerville, 18 Cal. the right to tax, and if in the given case no tax can lawfully be levied to ² City of Enfaula v. McNab, (1890) pay the debt, the contract itself is void 67 Ala. 588. Somenville, J., speak- for want of authority to make it. The ing for the court, said: "It may be same view was expressed by Brick-TIJ. Ch. J., in the N. O. M., etc., R. R. r. Dunn, 51 Ala, 128, 136, where public use, as being designed for dedi- the following language is used. 'The cation to a purpose within the usual power of taxation thus conferred (by scope of municipal governments, it the charter) must be limited and conmight be a proper exercise of corpor- fined strictly to the purposes for which ate power under the above section, the corporation is created. The revenues derived from the exercise of this power must be faithfully applied to these purposes. The corporate auversion of the land to unauthorized thorities cannot, without a violation of uses, not shown satisfactorily to have duty and usurpation of power, approbeen mutually intended at the time of priate the revenues thus produced to any other purposes or objects than such as are fairly expressed or reasonably implied in the charter. It is not ma-586. But the terms of the charter are terial what is the character of the obimperative that such property must ject, or how pressing the necessity, or be 'required for the use, convenience what are the benefits, real or imaginand improvement of the city.' Col- ary, which may flow to the city. If lateral advantages, incidentally result- not within the purposes of the act of ing in the promotion of the city's incorporation, there is a want of commercial or business prosperity, power in the corporate authorities.' It will not be sufficient. It is not con- was said by the Supreme Court of templated or permitted that such Maine in Allen z. Inhabitants of Jay, property shall be acquired in aid of 60 Me. 124, that 'taxation by the private enterprise not of a public very meaning of the term implies the its charter, in a city to aid in the construction of improvements partaking of a public character, the city could not, in the exercise of the power, contract to pay money, or to appropriate its revenues to aid in constructing the works of a private corporation.1 There being no provision in the Constitution of West Virginia authorizing the levying of taxes to be used to aid private persons in conducting a private manufacturing business, the Supreme Court of the United States neld that the legislature had no power to authorize a city of that state to issue its bonds for the purpose of lending them to persons engaged in manufacturing; the act, therefore, was invalid and all bonds issued under its authority were, as against the city, void.2 The Supreme Court of Arkansas has held that the common council of a town has no power to appropriate money to aid the building of a court house in such town, as such an act is prohibited by that article of the Constitution of the state that no county, city or town, or other municipal corporation, shall appropriate money or loan its credit to any corporation, institution or individual.3

§ 40. Subscription to capital stock of railroad corporations.—Municipal corporations are clothed with no power, outside of express authority granted by statute, to subscribe to the stock of private corporations.4 And if such authority be given by the legislature the mode and procedure prescribed by the statute must be strictly followed." The legislature of a state may grant to municipal corporations power to subscribe to the capital raising of money for public uses, and excludes the mising it for private objects and purposes,' 'I concede,' Mayor, 21 Pa. St. 147, 168, 'that a law than public purposes is void.' Loan Association v. Topeka, 20 Wall. Lowell v. City of Boston, 111 Mass. v. Vernon, 27 Iowa, 28; s. c., 1 Am. County, 12 Kans. 482. Rep. 215; Railroad Co. v. Dunn, 51 Ala. 128, Weismer v. Village of Doug- Cal. 518. las, 64 N. Y. 91; s. c., 21 Am. Rep. 586."

¹San Diego Water Co. v. City of San Diego, (1881) 59 Cal. 517.

² Parkersburg v. Brown, (1882) 106 says Black, Ch. J., in Sharpless v. U. S. 487; s. c., 1 Sup. Ct. Rep. 442. ⁸ Russell v. Tate, 52 Ark. 541; s. c., authorizing taxation for any other 13 S. W. Rep. 130. As to the loaning The of its credit by a municipal corporacourt cited as sustaining the text: tion to a private corporation, forbidden by constitutional provisions of the 655; Allen v. Inhabitants of Jay, 60 state, see City of Cleburne v. Brown, Me. 124; s. c., 11 Am. Rep. 185; 78 Tex. 448; s. c., 11 S. W. Rep. 404. ⁴ French v. Teschemaker, (1864) 24

454; s. c, 15 Am. Rep. 39; Hanson Cal. 518; Gulf Railroad Co. v. Miami

French v. Teschemaker, (1864) 24

stock of private corporations formed to carry out such public improvements as tend to increase the trade and business interests of the municipality. In the absence of constitutional prohibition the legislature of a state may authorize municipal corporations to aid in the construction of railroads.3 And a statute authorizing municipalities to aid in the construction of a railroad is not in conflict with the provisions of a State Constitution forbidding a loan of the credit of the state to private persons or corporations, and forbidding the state subscribing to the stock of any corporation, or from being interested in any work of internal improvement, and forbidding any person being deprived of his property without due process of law.4 There is no ground for a constitutional objection to the grant of power by the legislature to a city to subscribe to stock of a railroad company in the fact that such company is a foreign corporation and that its road terminates at a point in another state from which it runs a line of boats to the city issuing its bonds in aid of the company.1 The statute of Arkansas authorizing counties "having or controlling internal improvement funds, or credits granted to it by the state," to subscribe to the capital stock of any valid and duly organized railroad, has been held not to confer power upon counties to subscribe for stock in a railroad company and issue bonds of the county in payment for it which might by any possibility become a proper charge upon the taxpayers of the county.5 The court adhered to this decision in a later case and held generally that a county or other municipal corporation had no power, independently of an express grant of authority, to subscribe for stock in a railroad company and issue bonds in payment of the subscription.6 The Iowa Supreme Court has held that to aid in the construction of a railroad was not a public purpose within the meaning of a provision in the charter of a city that "whenever, in the opinion of the city council, it is expedient to borrow money for any public purpose the question shall be submitted," etc., and

R. R. Co., (1843) 15 Conn 4.5.

² Taylor o. City of Ypsilanti, 11 Fed. Rep. 925.

³ Ibid. As to the power of Kanses cities under the legislation of that Ark 454. state to become interested in railroad enterprises and to issue railroad aid 32 Ark. 575.

¹ City of Bridgeport v Housatonuc bonds, see Bard v. City of Augusta, 30 Fed. Rep. 906.

⁴ Moulton v. City of Evansville, 25 Fed. Rep. 382,

⁵ English v. Chicot County, (1871) 26

⁶ Hancock v. Chicot County, (1877)

there was no power conferred by the charter to borrow money for the purpose of aiding in the construction of a railroad, the power to horrow money conferred upon the city not authorizing the loan of the credit of the city. The Supreme Court of Illinois has recently held that where an act incorporating a railroad company gave power to towns along the line of its road to subscribe to the capital stock of the company, a town along its line, subsequently incorporated by an act of the same session of the legislature, which did not enumerate among the powers of the town the power to subscribe to such stock, could make a valid subscription to such stock, there being no inconsistency between the act incorporating the railroad company and the one incorporating the town.2

¹ Chamberlain v. City of Burlington, of subscriptions. C. & O. R. R. Co. (1865) 19 Iowa, 395.

v. Barren Co. Court, (1874) 10 Bush, ² Hutchinson v. Self. (1894) 153 Ill. 610. Constitutionality of acts author-542; s. c., 39 N. E. Rep. 27. As to the izing subscriptions settled. Shelby constitutionality of acts authorizing Co Ct. v. C. & O. R. R. Co., (1871) 8 municipal subscription to stock of rail- Bush, 215, Tyler v. E. & P. R. R. Co., roads, etc., see Commonwealth ex rel. (1872) 9 Bush, 515; Bullock v. Curry, Armstrong v. Perkins et al., Commis- 2 Metc. 174; Allison v. L. H. C. & W. sioners of Allegheny County, (1862) 43 R. Co., 9 Bush, 248; Shelbyville Trus-Pa. St. 400. As to power of munic- tees v. S. & E. T. Co., 1 Metc. 57. ipal corporations under the Constitu- Under what circumstances the legislation and laws of Colorado to make dona- ture may repeal acts granting authortions or subscribe to capital stock of ity to subscribe to capital stock of private corporations, see Colorado C. railroad company. C. & L. R. R. Co. v. R. R. Co. r. Lea, 5 Col. 192; Packard v. Kenton County Court, (1851) 12 B. Jefferson County, 2 Col. 338; People v. Mon. 150; M. T. Co. v. How, (1854) Pueblo County, 2 Col. 360. In Ken- 14 B. Mon. 432. In Missouri: Osage tucky: W. & M. S. T. R. Co. v. Valley & Southern Kansas R. R. Co. Clark Co. Ct., (1860) 3 Metc. 144; v. Morgan County Court, (1878) 53 Mo. Shelby Co. Ct. v. C. & O. R. R. 156; Rubey r. Shain, (1878) 54 Mo. Co., (1871) 8 Bush, 216; Mercer Co. 207. As to the power of the legislature Ct. v. S. M. & H. T. Co., (1874) to authorize such subscriptions, see 19 Bush, 257; Mercer Co. Ct. v. St. Joseph & Denver City R. R. Co. v. Ky. River Navigation Co., (1871) 8 Buchanan County Court, 39 Mo. 485; Bush, 807; C. & O. R. R. Co. v. State v. Saline County Court (1870) Barren Co. Court, 8 Bush, 215; Fore- 45 Mo. 242. As to raising money to aid man v. Murphy, (1870) 7 Bush, 304. in the construction of a railroad, see Subscription made valid by con- Stevens v. Anson, 73 Me. 489. In firmation by act of the legislature. Pennsylvania R. R. Co. v. City of Shelby Co. Ct. v. C. & O. R. Philadelphia, (1864) 47 Pa. St. 189, R. Co., 8 Bush, 218. Legislature the power to invest its stocks, money may modify, etc., after a vote is or credit directly or indirectly in aid taken and before the actual making of a steamship line between this city

§ 41. Power of the legislature as to corporations in such matters.—It is in the power of the legislature of a state to confer on municipal corporations larger powers than would be implied from the general purposes of their creation, and when the legislature of a state, in express terms authorizes cities or towns to subscribe for stock in an enterprise, of the kind usually known as internal improvements, canals, railroads and plankroads, for instance, the contract of such cities or towns, made pursuant to the statute, is binding upon them.1

§ 42. Constitutionality of legislation authorizing such aid.—The Supreme Court of Alabama has sustained the acts authorizing cities to aid by subscription to stock and issue of bonds in the construction of railroads as constitutional.² In an

and foreign ports, in the absence of Court of Alabama construed the special legislation authorizing it, was words, however, to authorize the city denied to this city by the Supreme to pledge its credit, and thereby raise Court of Pennsylvania See chap, money to aid in the construction of " Municipal Aid."

by the statute that "the money aris lature to confer upon municipal coring from the sale of soid bonds may porations the power to lend its credit be appropriated under the supervision in aid of railroad or other improve and direction of the mayor and alder-ments, see Fielder c. M & E. R. R. Co. men of [the city], for any purpose of 51 Ala. 178 internal improvement for the benefit of the citizens of [the city]" These ern R. R. Co., (1860) 36 Ala. 410, bonds were used to aid in the con-adhering to the doctrine declared in struction of a plank road which was Stein v. Mayor, Aldermen, etc., of to enter the city from an outside point. Mobile, (1854) 21 Ala. 591, that There was a contention that this was although the only legitimate object an improper use of the bonds on the of taxation is the support and mainpart of the city; that inasmuch as the tenance of government, yet this purpowers of municipal corporations are pose embraces a wider range than the conferred for their well-being and mere machinery employed in its adgenerally confined to police and sani- ministration; that the power authortary regulations within the chartered izes the employment of the necessary limits of such corporations, the proper appliances to augment the aggregate construction of the words "internal wealth and prosperity of the inhabitimprovements" in the statutes was ants of the city; and that this may that they applied to no works except be accomplished by providing outlets within the city limits. The Supreme for commerce, opening channels of some work of the kind generally re-1 Mayor & Aldermen of Wetumpka ferred to as internal improvements in v. Winter, (1857) 29 Ala. 651. It ap- the general acceptation of the words peared in this case that certain bonds as a means of improving the commerce had been issued by a city under stat of the city, and thereby benefiting its utory authority, and it was provided citizens. As to the power of the legis-

² Gibbons v. Mobile & Great North

early leading case in Wisconsin, involving the lending of its credit by the issue of its bonds in aid of a railroad company by a city of that state, the constitutionality of the act granting the power to the city to do so was vigorously attacked on all points. The Supreme Court, however, sustained the constitutionality of the act, holding that the constitutional provisions that the "credit of the state shall never be given or loaned in aid of any individual, association or corporation," and that "the state shall never contract any debt for works, of internal improvement, nor be a party in carrying on any such works were limitations upon the state alone and did not prohibit the legislature to authorize counties, towns and cities to loan their credit or contract debts for works of internal improvement; that the Constitution in another place recognized the power of municipal corporations to loan their credit and required the legislature simply to restrict it.1 The legislature may authorize a town to subscribe for the stock of a railroad company and to incur indebtedness for making internal inter-communication with other parts issue of bonds in payment for it, and of the state, etc. Mayor, etc., of declared this rule: "To justify a court Wetumpka v. Winter, 29 Ala. 651; in pronouncing a statute void, it must Sharpless v. Mayor, etc., 21 Penn. St. be apparent that it is an exercise of 147, Louisville & Nashville R. Co. v. powers not legislative - of power County Court, 1 Sneed, 637. In Stein committed to one or more of the other n. Mayor, etc., supra, the court re- departments of the government, or that viewed as to the power as well as it is violative of some provision of the purposes of taxation the following Constitution, state or federal. Whether cases, arising in different states, the policy of the statute is sound to wit: Battle r Corporation of whether it will promote the public Mobile, 9 Ala. 234; Intendant of good - whether it is in harmony with Marion v. Chandler, 6 Ala. 899; natural right or will obstruct justice State v. Estabrook, 6 Ala. 653; are not judicial questions. Dorman

Nichol v. Mayor of Nashville, 9 v. State, 34 Ala. 216." Humph. 252; Hope v. Deaderick, 8 Clark v. City of J

¹ Clark v. City of Janesville, (1859) Humph. 1; Commonwealth v. McWil- 10 Wis. 136, following State ex rel Dean liams, 11 Penn. St. 61; Parker v. Com- v. City of Madison, 7 Wis. 688. See, monwealth, 6 Barr, 507; Common- also, Watertown v. Cady, 20 Wis. 501. wealth v. Judges, etc., of Lebanon In Bushnell v. Beloit, (1860) 10 Wis. County, 8 Barr, 391; Commonwealth 195, the same court has declared that v. Painter, 10 Barr, 214; Goddin v. the Constitution of Wisconsin clearly Crump, 8 Leigh, 120; Burgess v. Pue, recognized the principle that mu-2 Gill, 19. In Winter v. City Council nicipal corporations may be clothed of Montgomery, (1880), 65 Ala. 403, with power to "borrow money," the Supreme Court of Alabama sus- "contract debts" and to "loan their tained the act which in this case au- credit;" and that the legislature being thorized the subscription by this city required to restrict such corporations to stock in a matured company and in the exercise of such powers was an improvements; and the corporation would be liable for the payment of such indebtedness.1

§ 43. In what respect the power of a municipality is restricted .- A city, the charter of which fully empowers and admission that the power existed. of Burke 4 Jones Eq. (N. C.) 323; Sec Foster v. Kenosha, 12 Wis, 616, Louisville, etc., R. R. Co. v. David-¹Bushnell v. Beloit, (1860) 10 Wis. son, 1 Sneed, 637; Nichol v. Mayor, 195. See, also, Brodhead v. Milwau- etc., of Nashville, 9 Humph. 252; kee. 19 Wis. 634: State ex rel. Car- Railroad Co. v. Comrs. of Clinton penter v. Beloit, 20 Wis. 79; Whiting Courty, 1 Ohio St. 77; Trustees of v. Railroad Co., 25 Wis, 167. Bridge- Paris v. Cherry, 8 Chio St. 564. Cass nort v Housatonuc R. R. Co., 15 Conn. v. Dillon, 2 Ohio St. 607; State v. 475; Sharpless v. Mayor, etc. 21 Penn. Comrs. of Clinton County, 6 Ohio St. St. 147; Comm. ex rel. Thomas v. 280; State v. Van Horne, 7 Ohio St. Comrs. Alleghenv Co., 7 Am. Law 327; State v. Trustees of Union, 8 Reg. 92; Talbot v. Dent, 9 B. Mon. 526; Ohio St. 394; Trustees, etc., v. Shoe-Slack v. Maysville & Lexington R. R. maker, 12 Ohio St. 624; State v. Co., 13 B. Mon, 1, Cheancy v. Hooser, Comrs. of Hancock, 12 Ohio St. 596; 9 B. Mon. 250; Goddin v. Crump. 8 Powers v. Dougherty County, 23 Ga. Leigh, 120; Nichol v. Mayor, etc., 65; San Antonio v. Jones, 28 Tex. 19; Nashville, 9 Humph, 252; Cincinnati Commonwealth r. McWilliams, 11 R. R. Co. v. Clinton County, 1 Ohio Penn St. 61; Moers v. City of Reading, St. 77; Steubenville & Ind R. R. Co. 21 Penn. St. 188; Slack v. Railroad Co., v. North Township, 1 Ohio St. 105; 13 B. Mon. 1; Talbot v. Dent, 9 B. Shaw v. Dennis. 5 Gilm. (Ill.) 105; Mon. 526; City of St. Louis o. Alex-Ryder v. Altor & Sangamon River ander, 23 Mo. 483; City of Aurora v. R. Co., 13 Ill. 516, Dubuque County West, 9 Ind. 74; Cotton v. Cours. of v. D. & P. R R. Co., 4 G. Gr. 1; Vicks- Leon. 6 Flu. 610; State ex rel. Copes v. burg, Shreveport & Texas R. R. Co. v. Charleston, 10 Rich. (S. C.) 491; Comrs. Ouachita, 11 La. Ann. 649; Parker v. of Knox County v. Aspinwall, 21 How. Scogin, 11 La. Ann. 629; City of Au 539; Comrs, of Knox County v. Walrora v. West, 9 Ind. 74. As to the lace, 21 How, 546; Zabriskie v. constitutionality of legislative enact- Railroad Co., 23 How. 381; Amey v. ments authorizing a subscription to Mayor, etc., 24 How. 364; Gelpcke v. stock, etc., in aid of railroads, see Dubuque, 1 Wall. 175; Thomson v. Stewart v. Board of Supervisors of Lee County, 3 Wall. 327; Rogers v. Polk County, (1870) 30 Iowa, 9; Goddin Burlington, 3 Wall. 654; Gibbons v. Crump, 8 Leigh, 120; Starin v. Genoa, v. Mobile & G. & Northern R. R. Co., 29 Burb. 442; Bank of Rome v. Village 36 Ala. 410; St. Joseph, etc., R. R. of Rome, 18 N. Y. 38; Prettyman v. Co. v. Buchanan County Court, 39 Supervisors, etc., 19 Ill. 406, Robertson Mo. 485; State v. Linn County Court, v. Rockford, 21 Ill. 451, Johnson v. 44 Mo. 504; Stewart v. Board of Stark Co., 24 Ill. 75; Pattison v. Yuba Supervisors of Polk County, 30 Iowa. Co., 18 Cal. 175; Blanding v. Burr, 9; John v. C. R. & F. W. R. R. Co., 13 Cal. 343; Hobart v. Supervisors, 17 35 Ind. 539; Ex parte Selma, etc., R. Cal. 23; Taylor v. Newberne, 2 Jones R. Co., 45 Ala. 696; Stockton & Visalia Eq. (N. C.) 141; Caldwell v. Justices R. R. R. Co. v. Stockton, 41 Cal. 147.

authorizes its city council "to make, ordain and enact such laws and regulations (not contrary to the Constitution and laws of this state) as may be deemed necessary in relation to the streets and highways, public buildings and powder magazines, and every other matter and thing which they may deem necessary for the good order and welfare of said city," is not authorized to construct or aid in constructing a plank road or bridge beyond the corporate limits of said city.1 was created. 상 # #'' limited by their discretion.

¹ City Council of Montgomery v. proceeds in any manner which they Montgomery & Wetumpka Plank Road might suppose would advance the Co., (1857) 31 Ala, 76, holding a loan interest of the proprietors. It is only of the city funds to this company for necessary to state the consequence to construction of its road and a bridge show the danger of such a construcbeyond the limits of the city to have tion." Citing The People v. Utica been unauthorized and void; STONE, J., Ins. Co., 15 Johns. 358 383; Stetson said: "We find no express authority v. Kempton, 13 Mass. 272, 278, 279; [in the charter of this city] to enter State of Ohio v. Washington Social into the contract declared on; neither Library Co., 11 Ohio, 96; Aug. & is the exercise of such power neces- Ames on Corp. (2d ed.) 81, 85, 86. sary to carry into effect any of the ex- The language found in the charter pressly granted powers; nor was the which was construed in the case of exercise of the power under considera- Beaty v. Lessee of Knowler, supra, tion a necessary means of effecting the strikingly resembles the clause from purpose for which this corporation the actineorporating the city of Mont-As to the gomery, which we are considering, effect of the general words in the The grant of power in the one case is charter it was said: "In the case of that "the directors shall have power to Beaty v. Lessee of Knowler, 4 Pet. do whatever shall appear to them to be 152-171, the Supreme Court of the necessary and proper to be done," etc. United States held the following lan- In the other it embraces "every other guage: 'The provision in the 10th matter and thing which they may deem section that the 'directors shall have necessary for the good order and welfare power to do whatever shall appear to of said city." In this case, as in the them necessary and proper to be done case from 4 Pet. supra, if the words for the well ordering of the interest of of the charter "are not to be restricted the proprietors, not contrary to the by the other provisions of the statute, laws of the state,' was not intended to but to be considered according to their give unlimited power, but the exercise literal import, they would vest in the of a discretion within the scope of the corporate authorities a power * * * authority conferred. If the words of only limited by their discretion." We this section are not to be restricted by cannot believe it was the intention of the other provisions of the statute, but the legislature to confer on the city to be considered according to their lit- council of Montgomery "unlimited eral import, they would vest in the power," but only to grant to that body directory a power over the land only the right to exercise "a discretion They within the scope of the authority concould dispose of the land and vest the ferred. In other words, we limit the words, 'every other matter and thing,' ness transaction. The act itself authas found in the act, to such subjects origing counties, townships conferred."

§ 44. Subscription for less than the amount voted.—When authorized by the legislature to issue bonds which may be delivered to a railroad corporation in payment of a subscription to its capital stock by a municipal corporation, the subscription to stock or issue of bonds may be for less than the amount voted.1

private purpose, enterprise or busi- fare of the individual members thereof

as are cognate to the powers expressly municipal corporations to subscribe for stock in and to issue bonds to rail-1 Chicago, Kansas & Western R. R. road companies, is entitled. 'An act to Co. v. Ozark Township, (1891) 46 Kans. enable counties, townships and cities 415. The court cites Turner v. Wood- to aid in the construction of railroads, son County, 27 Kans. 314, and then etc. Laws of 1876, chap. 107. This said: "This question has also been shows that the main object of the act virtually decided * * * by the was to enable counties, townships and Supreme Court of Alabama [in] Win- cities 'to aid in the construction of railter v. City Council of Montgomery, 65 roads,' and was not to permit such cor-Ala. 403; s. c., 7 Am. & Eng. R. R. porations to engage in such trans-Cas. 307. This case is as nearly in actions as a mere business venture, or point, as nearly applicable, as nearly as an investment in stock or a specuanalogous to the present case as it lation in bonds and stocks." Twenty could well be, and we know of no years ago it was said by this court in authority to the contrary, and the the case of Comrs. of Leavenworth principle enunciated in the cases cited Co. v. Miller, 7 Kans. 479, 528, 529, 532, is substantially that when authority is among other things, as follows: "If a given to the officers of a public corpo- railroad company is purely a private ration, by an election or otherwise, to corporation, and if the construction issue a certain amount of the bonds of and operation thereof is purely a the corporation, the officers will have private purpose, neither the governthe power and the right, wherever ment nor any municipal corporation there is a sufficient reason therefor, to has any right to become a sto-kholder issue a less amount of the bonds of therein. Governments were not orthe corporation." The court further ganized for the purpose of engaging on in the opinion said: "The object in private enterprises or private busiof the law in permitting public corpo- ness, but only for the transaction and rations to subscribe for stock in rail- promotion of public affairs. Even if road companies, and to issue their the purchase of stock in a railroad bonds in payment therefor, is not in- company should be a paying transtended as a business transaction like action as an investment (which unforthat consummated by an individual tunately for counties and municipal when he purchases stock and pays corporations it is not), still a governtherefor in money or in something mental organization would have no else. It is merely for the purpose of right for that reason alone to engage procuring greater facilities for travel in it, for governmental organizations and transportation for the general are not created for purposes of specupublic which is always considered as a lation, nor are they created for the public purpose and not merely as a purpose of promoting the general wel-

§ 45. The effect of subsequent legislation upon such a subscription. - A city in Georgia, the mayor and council of which had been by statute empowered "to borrow money and contract loans. not to exceed $200,000, for the use of the city * * to pledge the funds or property of the corporation and the commons thereof, for the redemption of such loan or loans, and also shall have power to purchase any real or personal estate for the use and benefit of the corporation, * scribed for shares of stock of a railroad company. After the subscription the city authorities were by statute "empowered to contract a further loan of the same amount, over and above the amount already borrowed, and that the town commons and pullie property of the city be pledged for the payment of the same." The preamble to this last act referred to the passage of the first act, concluding: "And whereas, that sum has been already borrowed and vested in stocks for the purposes of internal improvement." The Supreme Court of Georgia held that the effect of this last or citizens. The increased facility for the voters at the election. The propotravel and transportation is the main sition was, when fairly construed, that object in the creation of railroads, and the city should extend aid to the railthis it is which constitutes a railroad road company by the issue of its bonds a public purpose. All other benefits, to an amount not exceeding one milthough belonging of right to the pub- lion of dollars, which were to be emlic, are simply incidental." Pages 528 ployed in building and equipping the and 529. "The opening of hotels, road. It was not pecuniary gain, not the running of stage coaches, hacks, any of the advantages which would drays, etc., have never been considered accrue to an individual from memberas incumbent upon governments, ship in the railroad company .hat Governments have never undertaken to formed a motive or inducement for keep hotels, run stage coaches, etc., and clothing the city with power to aid in it has never been considered that there the construction of the road. The was any moral or legal obligation rest- benefits which would result to the ing upon them to do so. But the duty commerce and industry of the city, of opening highways, canals and other the increased facilities of access to it, like improvements for the accommo- were the purposes for which the dation of travel and commerce, has power was conferred. If these could always been considered most binding be secured without involving the city upon all governments." Page 532. in a debt of one million of dollars, it In the case of Winter v. City Council was not only within the power, but it of Montgomery, above cited, the was the duty of the city council to Supreme Court of Alabama used the secure them for the least practicable following, among other language: sum. The power to create the larger "We do not discover that the city includes the power to create the lesser council varied the propositions which debt. Onne majus continet in se were submitted to and approved by minos." 7 Am. & Eng. R. R. Cas. 310.

statute, by necessary implication was to ratify and make valid the subscription for the shares of stock of the railroad corporation.1

- § 46. Statutory authority to construct a railroad.—The Supreme Court of Ohio has sustained the constitutionality and validity of the act of the legislature of that state, the general scope and purpose of which was to authorize cities of the state of a certain population to construct a line of railroad leading therefrom to any other terminus in the state, or in any other state, through the agency of a board of trustees, etc., with authority to such board of trustees to borrow a sum of money to a limited amount, and to issue bonds of the city, secured by a mortgage upon the railway and its net income, with a pledge of the faith of the city to levy a tax sufficient, with the net income of the road, to pay the interest upon and provide a sinking fund for the payment of the bonds.2
- § 47. Constitutional provisions construed.—The constitutional provision in Kentucky that no act of the legislature authorizing the creation of any debt on behalf of the commonwealth shall become effective until it has been submitted to the people at a general election, and shall have received a majority of all

(1857) 21 Ga. 275.

Winn v. City Council of Macon, construction of such improvements. And it was said that for much stronger ² Walker v. City of Cincinnati, (1871) reasons counties might be authorized 21 Ohio St. 14. Scott, Ch. J., said: to construct works of a similar kind, "That it is within the legitimate scope of a local character, having a special of legislative power to authorize a mu-relation to their business and interests. nicipality of the state to aid in the con- And, as the state might construct or struction of a public improvement, authorize the counties to construct such as a railroad, by becoming a stock- these works entire, or create corporaholder in a corporation created for that tions to do it entire, it was held that as purpose, and to levy taxes to pay the a question of power each might be ausubscription, must be regarded as fully thorized to do a part. * * * And settled in this state by repeated adju- if, in the absence of a constitutional dications. In the case of C., W. & prohibition, a municipal corporation Z. R. R. Co. r. Comrs. of Clinton may be authorized to aid, by stock County, 1 Ohio St. 77, the subject was subscriptions, in the construction of a very fully considered; and it was held railway which has a special relation to that as the state may itself construct its business and interests, upon what roads, canals and other descriptions of principle shall we deny that it can be internal improvements, so it may cm- authorized to construct it entirely at ploy any lawful means and agencies its own expense, when its relation is for that purpose, among which are such as to render it essential to the private companies incorporated for the business interests of the municipality?"

the votes then cast" does not include debts created by a county or other municipal division of the state. Whether tax in aid of the construction of a turnpike for instance shall be levied or not may be submitted to the voters of a county or magisterial district of a county at a special election.1

§ 48. What is not a work of "internal improvement," in the meaning of Nebraska statute.— A steam grist mill is not a work of internal improvement within the meaning of the statute of Nebraska which authorizes counties, cities and precincts of organized counties "to issue bonds to aid in the construction of any railroad or other work of internal improvement." ?

278, it was held that the legislature oppressive burdens." might be regarded as prohibited by the

¹ Walton v. Riley, (1887) 85 Ky. 413; up of cities, counties and towns, the s. c., 3 S. W. Rep. 605. See Slack r. whole state may thus become in-Maysville & Lexington R. R. Co., volved. This provision, then, would (1852) 13 B. Mon. 1. In People ex rel. be no restriction upon the power to McCagg v. Mayor, Comptroller & create a debt beyond a certain amount, City Clerk of the City of Chicago, and would fail of its purpose of pro-(1869) 51 Ill. 17; s. c., 2 Am Rep. tecting the state and its citizens from

² Osborne r. County of Adams, clause of the State Constitution which (1882) 106 U. S. 181; s. c., 1 Sup. Ct. prohibited the state from creating a Rep. 168, affirming Osborne r. County debt exceeding $50,000 without the of Adams, (1881) 2 McCrary, 97. The consent of the people, manifested by a court distinguished Township of Burvote at a general election, from fore- lington v. Beasley, 91 U. S. 310, as ing one of the municipalities of the follows: "That case arose under a state to incur debts for an amount statute of Kansas, which empowered larger than $50,000 without the con-municipal townships in that state to sent of the people of such municipal issue bonds for the purpose of builddivision of the state. The court said: ing bridges, free or otherwise, or to "What is the real value of this pro- aid in the construction of railroads vision of the Constitution if the legis- or water power by donation thereto. lature, inhibited from incurring a debt or the taking of stock therein, or for beyond fifty thousand dollars on be- other works of internal improvehalf of the state, may force a debt ten- ment." The bonds there in suit were fold or one hundred-fold greater, for issued to aid in the construction and there is no limit to the power upon all completion of, and to furnish the the cities of the state? We can per- motive power for, a steam custom ceive none. Where these municipali- grist mill. It was held that the statties become so indebted by compulsion ute, reasonably interpreted, embraced of the legislature the whole state, in a grist mill operated by steam, as well its real and substantive, if not in its as one run by water power; that corporate body, will in truth and fact, since municipal aid was authorized be the debtor, for the same power of for "the construction of * * * coercion can be applied to counties water power," the phrase "other and towns, and as the state is made works of internal improvement," in the

§ 49. What is such a work.—The Nebraska Supreme Court has held that a water grist mill erected for public use, the rates of toll to be determined by the county commissioners, was a work of internal improvement within the meaning of the statute of that state authorizing counties and cities in that state "to issue bonds or aid in the construction of any railroad or other work of internal improvement * * * *."1 § 50. Contracts of guaranty.—The authority to sell negotiable paper held by a city does not carry with it, as an incident,

v. McNamar, 10 Neb. 276.

Kansas statute, might be fairly con to pay interest on an issue of bonds of strued as embracing works of the the county in aid of a steam grist mill minor class, and consequently as em- on the ground that there was no statbracing a steam grist mill. The court ute in that state authorizing the voting was somewhat influenced, as plainly of aid to such mills, and that bonds appears from its opinion, by decisions voted in aid of them were invalid, it of the Supreme Court of Kansas, par- was said that the decision in the case ticularly that of Commissioners of of Traver v. Board, etc., Merrick Leavenworth County v. Miller, 7 Kans. County, 14 Neb. 327, was based al-479. The present case is different, most entirely upon the statute author-The only work of internal improve- izing the condemnation of private ment specially in the Nebraska statute property for the purpose of erecting is a railroad, and we are not justified dams and overflowing lands in order by anything in Township of Burling- to obtain power to propel mills, and ton v. Beasley, or in the decisions of upon the decisions of the Nebraska the courts of Nebraska in holding that Supreme Court in Nosser v. Scelev. 10 a steam or other kind of grist mill is Neb. 460, and Sceley v. Bridges, 13 of the class of internal improvements Neb. 547. In Traver v. Board, etc., which municipal townships in that Merrick County, suprat, it was said on state are empowered, by the statute page 834: "There is a clear distinction in question, to aid by an issue of between aiding the development of the bonds." For cases holding that the water power of the state - a power right to erect public buildings, such which is continuing in its nature, and as jails and court houses, derives no may be used without cost or expense support from such a statute, see and must be used at certain points on Union Pacific Railroad v. Lincoln a stream where a dam can be erected County, 3 Dill. 300; Dawson County and power obtained - and a mill propelled by steam that must be attended ¹Traver v. Board, etc., of Merrick with a continuous cost for fuel, and County, (1883) 14 Neb. 327. Citing as may at any time be removed to another authority for this ruling: Guernsey v. locality." In County Commissioners Burlington Township, 4 Dill. 372, 375; v. Chaudler, (1877) 96 U. S. 205, the Township of Burlington v. Beasley, 94 Supreme Court of the United States U. S. 310, 313. In State ex rel. Bowen held that a bridge intended for and v. Adams County, (1884) 15 Neb. 568, used as a thoroughfare to be a public in which the Supreme Court denied a highway and, hence, a work of "inmandamus to compel a levy of a tax ternal improvement," within the meanthe power to guarantee it. A county in Arkansas cannot be bound by a contract entered into by the county judge guaranteeing payment for goods to be sold one who has a contract for the construction of a turnpike.2 A municipal corporation authorized by statute to obtain money on loan, on the faith and credit of the corporation, for the purpose of contributing to works of internal inprovement, may, under the power granted by the statute, guarantee the payment of the bonds of a railway company.3

§ 51. Employment of agents or attorneys .-- There is authority in the Revised Statutes of Maine, relating to towns, to expend money "for the necessary town charges," after specifying certain other purposes. Under those words towns may employ a reasonable number of agents or attorneys to advance or protect the rights of towns before any legally constituted tribunal;4 but they do not authorize a town to raise and expend money to send lobbyists before the legislature.5 The board of directors of schools in Louisiana have authority to constitute or defend suits, and the right to incur liability for the costs of such suits follows, as a matter of course.6 Reasonable attorney's fees in an action against village trustees to enjoin the collection of a tax, and defended in good faith, are a proper charge against a works of "internal improvement."

35 Iowa, 416.

County, 55 Ark. 437; s. c., 18 S. W Rep. 462.

vanced directly to the city, but upon 494." its assurance of repayment to the railfrom the letter of the law, much less 250. from its meaning; nor does the fact that the money was advanced partly diminish the presumed reliance of the La. Ann. 184; s. c., 10 So. Rep. 494.

ing of the Nebraska statute authoriz- purchaser upon that of the city with ing cities, counties and precincts in which it was joined. It is difficult to that state to issue bonds in aid of conceive of language more comprehensive than that employed to em-¹ Carter v. City of Dubuque, (1872) brace every form of securities in which the faith and the credit of the city might ² Dickinson Hardware Co. v. Pulaski be embodied, and that in such cases it is not important to the character of the transaction that the money is obtained ³City of Savannah v. Kelly, (1883) in the first instance by the railroad 108 U. S. 184; s. c., 2 Sup. Ct. Rep. company, upon the credit of the city. 472. Mr. Justice Matthews, speak- was directly ruled in Rogers v. Buring for the court, said that the lington, 3 Wall, 654, and affirmed in fact that the money "was not ad- Town of Venice v. Murdock, 92 U.S.

⁴Inhabitants of Frankfort v. Inhabroad company, is not a departure even itants of Winterport, (1865) 54 Me.

Blbid.

Fisher v Board of Directors of on the credit of the railroad company City Schools of New Orleans, (1892) 44 village under a statute authorizing village trustees "to employ an attorney or attorneys for the transaction of any matter requiring legal skill." The Kansas Supreme Court has held that whenever a county is interested at all in the result of a suit, either in its own behalf or in that of some township of the county, and the suit is brought against the legal representatives of the county, and is beyond the limits of the county, as, for instance, a mandamus proceeding against the commissioners of a county before the Supreme Court, the county commissioners may, if they choose, employ counsel to take care of the interests of the county.2 This rule has been declared in Kansas. A county's contract with a counselor at law for services, such as are required by law to be performed by the county attorney, is prima facic void.8 So, also, is a contract by a city for services as an attorney or counselor at law, such as the law requires to be performed by the city attornev.4

§ 52. Contracts for legal services — when allowed.— Towns in Illinois have power, at their annual town meetings, to provide for the institution and defense of all suits in which they are interested, and a town meeting may exercise the power by resolution directing the supervisor to procure legal services, and such a contract will be binding on the town should the amount agreed

¹ Squire v. Preston, (1894) 82 Hun, was not clear. As to the employment 88; s. c., 31 N. Y. Supp 174.

County, (1874) 13 Kans. 182; People r. ally business in which the city is Supervisors of N. Y., 32 N. Y. 473; interested, see Smith v. Mayor, etc., Brady v. Supervisors of N. Y., 2 of New York, (1875) 5 Hun, 237. As to Sandf. 460; Gillespie v. Broas, 23 employment of attorneys by counties, Barb. 370.

City of Camden, (1878) 29 N. J. Eq. 6, App. 475, s. c., 28 N. E. Rep. 772; where there was a city ordinance pro- Beebe v. Board Suprs. Sullivan County, viding that the solicitor of the city 64 Hun, 877; s. c., 19 N. Y. Supp. 629; should prosecute and defend all suits, Waters v. Trovillo, 47 Kans. 197; s. c., ctc., brought by or against the city, 27 Pac. Rep. 822; Butler v. Sullivan the chancellor refused a mandatory in- County, 108 Mo. 630; s. c., 18 S. W. junction to restrain the city from em- Rep. 1142; Lassen County v. Shinn, ploying other counsel, on the ground of 88 Cal. 510; s. c., 26 Pac. Rep. 365; possible irreparable injury to the city. Fouke r. Jackson County, 84 Iowa the suit being ready for trial, and on the 616. s. c., 51 N. W. Rep. 71. ground that the complainant's right of additional counsel to assist corpora-²Thacher v. Comrs. of Jefferson tion counsel or to conduct professionsee Brome r. Cuming County, 31 Neb. ³ Clough r. Hart, (1871) 8 Kans. 487. 362; s. c., 47 N W. Rep. 1050; Board ⁴ Ibid. In Hugg v. City Council of Comrs. Rush County v. Cole, 2 Ind. to be paid not be so great, in view of the interests involved, as to indicate bad faith.1 The Supreme Court of Illinois has upheld as implied, under the legislation of that state with reference to towns, the power of the supervisor of a town to enter into a contract of retainer with an attorney at law to defend a suit instituted against the town upon coupons attached to bonds of the town the validity of which was disputed.2 In case, in the oxercise of their judgment and discretion, the governing board of a county conceive that the interests of the county are involved in a certain question, and take legal measures by suit or otherwise, to advance or protect those interests, the expense incurred thereby becomes a legal charge against the county, notwithstanding the judgment of the court in the matter be that a wrong remedy was adopted, or that there was no remedy at all.8 A county, under the statutory power "to make all contracts and do all other acts in relation to the property and concerns of the county necessary to the exercise of its corporate powers," may retain attorneys to resist the collection of a tax in the action of a taxpayer who has been induced by the courts to refuse to pay a tax levied by the state for payment of interest on certain county bonds, the object being to test the validity of such bonds.4 And the statnte making it the duty of county boards to take suitable measures for prosecuting and defending all suits to be brought by or against their respective counties, and all suits which it is necessary to prosecute or defend to enforce the collection of all taxes charged on the state assessment, does not take away the right to retain an attorney in such a case.5

(1879) 94 Ill. 65,

Cooper v. Delavan, 61 Ill. 96.

cilitate the collection of debts due it infringed on no rights of the city's firming 48 Ill. App. 168. officers. The court upheld a contract

¹ Town of Mt. Vernon v. Patton, in this case made with one who was assistant city attorney, to collect all ² Town of Bruce v. Dickey, (1886) bills for taxes assessed on property as 116 Ill. 527; s. c., 6 N. E. Rep. 435; unknown, and all unsatisfied judg ments in favor of the city for taxes, on 3 Aornblower v. Duden, (1868) 35 Cal. the ground that it neither violated the 664. In State ex rel, Bermudez v. charter of the city nor conflicted with Heath, Mayor of New Orleans, (1868) any of the rights of the assistant city 20 La. Ann. 172; s. c., 96 Am. Dec. attorney, nor did the duties involved 890, the Supreme Court held the right in the contract embrace any of the of the city to employ an attorney at duties or include any of the emolulaw conversant with city affairs to fa- ments of the office of assistant attorney.

⁴Franklin County v. Layman, 145 the city was unquestionable as long as Ill. 138; s. c., 83 N. E. Rep. 1094, af-

§ 53. Contracts for legal services — how made.—The common council of a city in Indiana is vested with the power to employ counsel to assist the city attorney to protect the interests of the city; but the contract of employment must be made directly or through an authorized agency.1 The common council of a city being empowered by its charter to employ counsel cannot delegate this power to the mayor, and any contract made by the mayor with an attorney to act for the city will be void.2 This power by ordinance to select an attorney for a city conferred upon the common council is a trust created for a public purpose, not assignable at the will of the trustee.3 The Court of Errors and Appeals for New Jersey has held that the corporate authorities of one of the cities of that state, under the provisions of its charter, had the power to employ associate counsel in defending suits against the corporation or in which the city was interested: and that the board of aldermen were sole judges of the necessity of such employment in any particular case, and the exercise of their discretion in such a matter was not reviewable in that court.4 The authorities of the city, though under its power to employ associate counsel, were not vested with the right, under the guise of such employment, to withdraw and take out of the hands of the city counsel any particular class or classes of cases and to confide the management of them to others.5

§ 54. Where a public corporation is bound for legal services.—An attorney properly employed by a town to perform legal services, being ready and willing to perform the contract, should the proper officers of the town prevent his doing so, will be entitled to recover under the contract.6 If there is an appeal

6 Ind. App. 135; s. c., 32 N. E. Rep. Ohio St. 194; State v. Hauser, 63 Ind. 868; City of Logansport v. Dykeman, 155; Birdsall v. Clark, 73 N. Y. 73; 116 Ind. 15.

² City of East St. Louis v. Thomas, Ruggles v. Collier, 43 Mo. 358. (1882), 11 Bradw. 283.

East St. Louis v. Wehrung, 50 Ill. 28; N. J. Law, 186. Foss v. City of Chicago, 56 Ill. 354; M. S. Ry. Co. v. Chicago, 56 Ill. 454; 24 Barb. 226. Jackson Co. v. Brush, 77 Ill. 59; Oakland v. Carpentier, 13 Cal. 540; Whyte (1879) 94 Ill. 65. v. Mayor, 2 Swan, 364; Darling r. St.

¹ Justice v. City of Logansport, (1892) Paul, 19 Minn. 389; State r. Bell, 34 Brooklyn v. Breslin, 57 N. Y. 591:

4 State, Hoxsey, v. Mayor & Alder-^a Cooley's Const. Lim. 204; City of men of the City of Paterson, (1878) 40

⁵ Ibid. See reasoning of the court in Jenks v. Chicago, 56 Ill. 397; L. S. & Ramson v. Mayor, etc., of New York.

⁶ Town of Mt. Vernon v. Patton, from the action of a city council while acting as a board of equalization, this being the discharge of a corporate function, and acting as a representative of the city, a city solicitor would be justified in defending its action in the appellate court and for such services would be entitled to compensation, even though neither the service nor the compensation be provided for by ordinance. An attorney employed by a town agent in Vermont in a suit in favor of or against the town is entitled to payment for his services from the town, without an express vote to that effect; and the rule is the same if the town agent, being an attorney, renders professional services for the town.2 And if a town agent, after the expiration of his term of office, continues the management of suits in which the town is interested, without any objection from, or any express employment by the town or his successor, as town agent, he is entitled to recover of the town for his services after his term of office expires.8 An officer of a city who has employed counsel in a contest to gain possession of the city's property, in the result of which the city is interested, may compel the city to pay the expenses incurred by him in the matter.4

§ 55. Employment of counsel for the defense of officers.— Counsel may be employed by a town to defend their police officers in actions for false imprisonment.5

¹ Kinnie v. City of Waverly, (1876) of that state, BRADLEY, Ch. J., used 42 Iowa, 437.

(1858) 30 Vt. 285.

8 Ibid.

19 Abb. Pr. 376.

(1884) 90 N. C. 427; s. c., 7 Am. & jury to have exceeded the lawful Eng. Corp. Cas. 180, Babbitt v. Savoy, powers of that office and to have tres-8 Cush. 580. In Sherman v. Carr, 8 R passed upon the rights of a citizen? I. 481, an action of taxpayers to en- If the power to indemnify an officer join the payment by the treasurer to under these circumstances does not the mayor of moneys appropriated by rest in that body who appropriated the city council to defray the expenses the money for all the legitimate duties of a suit brought against the mayor of of a municipality within its own a city and the constable who acted in province, the various executive officers his aid for certain acts of theirs in vir- of a city perform their duties at the tue of a power conferred upon the peril of an individual responsibility mayor by act of the general assembly for all their mistakes of law and of this language in support of the judg-² Langdon v. Town of Castleton, ment denying an injunction: "Is it then one of the usual and ordinary expenses of a city to protect its offi-4 Stilwell v. Mayor, etc., of N. Y., cers who, while exercising in good faith the functions of their office. ⁵ Roper v. Town of Laurinburg, have been found by the verdict of a

§ 56. Indemnity for expenses of litigation.—A promise on the part of a town to refund money paid by assessors on an illegal assessment of a town tax made by them is a valid contract. An action by selectmen to recover the amount of a judgment for damages and costs recovered against them and paid, and the reasonable expenses of defending the action, paid and incurred by them, would be supported by a vote of the town to indemnify the selectinen against any claim for damages and costs of a certain description which may be legally substantiated against them or either of them.2 And, on such a vote to indemnify them, the action may be to recover the amount of the judgment against the selectmen for the damages and costs and the fees of counsel and witnesses, and other expenses incurred reasonably and in good faith in defending the action in which the judgment was recovered without proving that the town had notice of the pendency of the action.3 Money may be appropriated by a town by vote to indennify its school committee for expenses incurred in defending an action for an alleged libel contained in a report made by them in good faith and in which libel suit judgment has been rendered in their favor.4 A town, where it has appointed a committee to defend an action against one of its officers, as for instance, a surveyor of highways, on account of the digging of a drain, would be bound by a vote to defray the expenses incurred by such committee in his defense, notwithstanding it were under no previous obligation to indemnify the surveyor, and that the committee were entitled to compensation and indemnity from the town for their services and expenses.⁵ A city may and should reimburse a mayor who has successfully resisted a proceeding zen when brought in conflict with the him." exercise of official power. It the officer is thus responsible he will natu- 18. rally be too cautious, if not timid, in the exercise of his powers which must (1855) 3 Gray, 526, be frequently exercised for the protection of society, before and not after a thorough investigation of the case (1858) 11 Gray, 340. in which he is called upon to act, * * * We know of no case in Pick. 566.

fact, however honest and intelligent which, while the officer continues to they may be, and also at the perul of act in behalf of the community, and the possible mistakes of a jury natu- not in his own behalf, it is held that rally jealous of the rights of the citi- the community cannot indemnify

- ¹ Nelson r. Milford, (1828) 7 Pick.
- ² Hadsell v. Inhabitants of Hancock.
 - 3 Ibid.
- Fuller v. Inhabitants of Groton,
- ⁵ Bancroft v. Lynnfield, (1836) 18

taken in the name of the city against him to compel him to a course of official action deemed by him violative of law and detrimental to the city's interest, where the performance of that duty has involved on his part the disbursement of his own money. Towns may bind themselves by a vote to indemnify a collector of taxes from the costs and expenses of defending actions brought against him for acts done in the performance of his duties. And the town may be bound to the same extent by the selectmen under the provision of the statute relating to towns that they "shall have the ordering and managing of all the prudential affairs of the town." 2

§ 57. When a corporation is not bound for professional services of an attorney.—An attorney retained by a city to conduct certain litigation until it was concluded, upon an agreement that he was to receive reasonable compensation for his services, being afterwards appointed city counselor, with prescribed duties to perform in the matters of the city involving litigation, the Supreme Court of Michigan has held could not recover on a quantum meruit for services in such suit performed after his appointment to the official position, in the absence of any agreement that the business of carrying on the suit, though falling within his official duties, should not be considered as included among the services paid for by the annual salary, but should be compensated for in some other way.8 A corporation cannot by a suit at law question its own existence, seek to restrain the regular succession of its officers, and to have a decree declaring its charter see Baker v. Inhabitants of Windham, had arrested for violation of law, (1886) 18 Me. 74. Towns may by a vote bond themselves for expenses of (1878) 27 Mich. 281. a suit when action is for or against

¹ Barnert v. Mayor & Aldermen them, and in cases even where the suit of City of Paterson, (1886) 48 N. J. is between third parties, if the towns Law, 395; s. c., 6 Atl. Rep. 15; 16 are interested. Briggs v. Whipple, Am. & Eng. Corp. Cas. 131. On the (1834) 6 Vt. 95. In Cullen v. Town of right of a municipal corporation to re- Carthage, (1885) 103 Ind. 196; s. c., imburse its officers in such cases, see 53 Am. Rep. 504; 14 Am. & Eng. State, Lewis, v. Freeholders of Hud- Corp. Cas. 256, the court upheld the son, 37 N. J. Law, 254; State, Brad-power. as an incidental one, of the ley, v. Hammonton, 88 N. J. Law, 430, board of trustees of a town to employ ² Pike v. Middleton, (1841) 12 N. II. counsel to defend the action brought 278. As to indemnity for expenses in against the marshal of the town for suits in which the town is interested, false imprisonment by one whom he void, and having no power to institute such a suit, its authorities cannot bind it to pay for the services of an attorney in the conduct of the suit.1 The statute of Arkansas makes provision for an allowance by the County Court in favor of a collector of taxes for reasonable attorneys' fees and other expenses incurred in defending suits brought against him for performing or attempting to perform any duty in reference to the collection of the revenue.2 But a county is not bound to pay attorneys he may be represented by in an action for injunction against his collection of a tax, under a contract with the collector. He has no power to bind the county to pay such fees. And, in the absence of statutory regulation, he alone is liable in such cases.3

³City of Detroit v. Whittemore,

§ 58. The same subject continued.—A board of county commissioners in Indiana is authorized to employ counsel in matters pertaining to the business of the county, and to give to the members of the board legal advice in relation to their official duties; but they have no power to bind their successors by employing attorneys to act for a period beyond the time when the board will, by operation of law, have to be reorganized.4 A county is not bound by the expenses for attorney's services incurred by a county collector for resisting objections to his bond.5 Negotiable drafts drawn by a municipal corporation for ¹ Daniel v. Mayor & Aldermen of Memphis, (1851) 11 Humph. 582. In Ark. 566; s. c., 9 S. W Rep. 308; Wallace v. Mayor & Common Council Fry r. Chicot Co., 37 Ark. 117. of the City of San Jose, (1865) 29 Cal. in the mayor and council to enter into Corp. Cas. 294. a contract by which the city became McCullough v. Pacheco, 27 Cal. 175. ² Mansf. Dig. Ark. § 5859.

"Simmes v. Chicot County, (1888) 50

Board of Comrs. of Jay County 180, it was held that there was no v. Taylor, (1889) 123 Ind. 148; s. c., power, under the charter of this city, 23 N. E. Rep. 752; 30 Am. & Eng.

⁵ Fry, Collector, v. Chicot County, obligated to pay an attorney at a (1881) 37 Ark. 117. In Baldwin v. future time a sum of money, if he suc- School City of Logansport, (1881) 73 ceeded in placing the city in posses- Ind. 346, where the school trustees of sion of certain real estate, unless there the city made an order authorizing the was money in the treasury at the time treasurer of the school board to emto pay the same, after paying the ex- ploy attorneys "to prosecute the penses of the city government and all county auditor for refusing to pay other demands legally due. As to this over moneys belonging to the school contract creating a debt, see People v. fund, and shortly afterward there was Johnson, 6 Cal. 499; Nougues v. elected a new board of school trustees, Douglass, 7 Cal. 65, 69; People ex rel. whereupon the attorneys employed under the order of the former trustees proceeded in the proper court for a

the payment of judgments and costs in actions brought against the supervisors of the county for penalties for an alleged neglect of duty in refusing to audit and allow salaries to associate judges of general sessions of the corporation appointed under an unconstitutional law, have been held in New York to be void upon the ground that the corporation had no right to assume defense of an action to which it was not a party and which it had no interest in resisting.1

- § 50. What contracts with attorneys are contrary to public policy.—A contract entered into by the authorities of a city, with an attorney who had been under the employment of the city in a litigation to protect its rights in certain property and franchises, under a former contract, which by its terms is irrevocable and binds the city for additional compensation to such attorney in the form of a large proportion of the city's receipts, as, for instance, from the use of a ferry by the public, is beyond the power of such authorities; is contrary to public policy.2
- § 60. Limitations upon the indebtedness to be incurred .-By a statute of Massachusetts one of its cities, for the purpose of supplying pure water to its citizens, after providing for condemnation of lands, etc., and the appointment of commissioners to execute the work, was authorized through its city council "for the purpose of defraying the cost" of whatever lands were so such services.

government of the discretion conferred to public policy.

mandate to the auditor, etc., the ob- upon it -a discretion necessarily legject of the suit being to determine islative in character, which such a who were the legal school trustees, it body cannot surrender by contract or was held that the order of the school bind itself not to exercise freely whentrustees above mentioned did not au- ever it may become necessary." Waterthorize the employment of the attor- bury v. City of Laredo, 60 Tex. 522; neys to bring a civil suit to try the Laredo v. Macdonnell, 52 Tex. 520; question as to who were the legal Laredo r. Martin, 52 Tex. 559. In trustees, and the school city was not Board of Comrs. of Jay County v. liable for the fees of the attorneys for Taylor, (1889) 128 Ind. 148; s. c., 23 N. E. Rep. 752; 30 Am. & Eng. Corp. ¹ Halstead v. Mayor, etc., of New Cas. 294, a contract entered into be-York, 8 N. Y. 480, affg. 5 Barb. 218. tween the board of commissioners and ⁹ Waterbury v. City of Laredo, (1887) certain attorneys, by which the board 68 Tex. 565; s. c., 20 Am. & Eng. employed these attorneys to act as Corp. Cas. 186. It was said by the county attorneys for a period of three court: "Such a contract, if valid, years from a date named in the concertainly would divest the municipal tract, was held to be void as contrary condemned, and of completing the works and paying all expenses incident to the accomplishment of the main purpose "to issue scrip to an amount not exceeding in the whole five hundred thousand dollars." The Supreme Court of Judicature of that state construed this act not to restrict the city in the amount of expenditures which they might make for the accomplishment of the purpose of the act, but only in the amount of permanent debt which they might create.1 The provision in the charter of a city that the council "shall not borrow for general purposes more than fifty thousand dollars," the Supreme Court of the United States has held did not limit the debt of the city, nor prohibit the council from entering into a contract involving an expenditure exceeding that amount for special improvements, such as the grading and paving of streets and the construction of sidewalks, which were authorized by its charter.2 The effect of authorized by law. The contract, so Francisco, 16 Cal. 255.

statute."

¹ Foote v. City of Salem, (1867) 14 far as it was in other respects lawful. Allen, 87. Bigniow, (h J , said: "It remained in force, and for the breach is a restriction on the authority of the of the same the corporation was liable. city to create a permanent debt, pay- See as to this last point: Tracy v. able at a distant period of time, but Talmage, 11 N. Y. 162; Curtis v. not a limitation on their powers to Leavitt, 15 N. Y. 9; Oneida Bank v. raise money by taxation or temporary Ontario Bank, 21 N. Y. 490; Argenti loans in order to carry forward and v. City of San Francisco, 16 Cal. 255; execute the works which, by the pre- Maher v. City of Chicago, 38 Ill. 266; vious provisions of the act, they were City of Chicago v. The People, 48 Ill. in the broadest terms empowered to 416. In The State Board of Agriculconstruct. * * * If construed as ture v. Citizens' Street Railway Co., 47 an absolute condition or limitation on Ind. 407, it was held that although there the authority of the city, no steps may be a defect of power in a corporacould be safely taken to execute the tion to make a contract, yet if a con authority conferred, unless it had been tract made by it is not in violation of previously ascertained that the expen- its charter or of any statute prohibitditure to be incurred would not ex- ing it, and the corporation has by its ceed the prescribed sum. But it is promise induced a party relying on obvious that this would be clearly im- the promise and in execution of the practicable in relation to an enterprise contract to expend money and perof the character contemplated by the form his part thereof, the corporation is liable on the contract. See, sub-² Hitchcock v. Galveston, (1877) 96 stantially to the same effect, Allegheny U. S. 341, holding further that the City v. McClurkan, 14 Penn. St. 81; contract was not rendered wholly in- Silver Lake Bank v. North, 4 Johns. operative because it provided that the Ch. 370. As to the rule in the text, work done under the contract should see Cumming v. Brooklyn, 11 Paige, be paid for in bonds of the corpora- 596; Allen v. City of Janesville, 85 tion, the issue of which bonds was un- Wis. 403; Argenti v. City of San charter provisions of a city prohibiting the creation of municipal liabilities in any one year exceeding the amount to be raised by tax and providing that payments on a municipal contract shall be made from sums raised by tax for the year for which such contract is made, is to forbid the creation of future responsibility for annual current expenses.1 The provisions in the statute of Iowa declare that it is competent for any city authorized by that statute to levy a tax to pay for the paving of street and alley intersections "to anticipate the collection thereof by borrowing money, and pledging such tax, whether levied or not, for the payment of the money so borrowed." The Supreme Court of that state has held that there was no limitation upon the city as to the amount of the work of the kind contemplated it might do in a single year except the limitation in the Constitution as to the indebtedness it might contract, and that the provision above referred to did not limit the city in making the loan provided for to the amount of tax which would accrue under a levy for a single year, but that it was empowered to pledge the tax to any extent necessary to enable it to meet such indebtedness as it might lawfully incur in a single year, and to levy a tax for successive years for that purpose.2

§ 61. The same subject continued.— The indebtedness of a school district having exceeded that allowed by the constitutional limitation, should its directors contract an indebtedness with other (1885) 58 Mich. 416; S. C., 25 N. W. Rep. tract entered into by a city with a 330; City of Springfield v. Edwards, 81 water works company to furnish water III. 626; Law v. People, 87 III. 385; to the city for an annual sum has Fuller v. City of Chicago, 89 Ill. 282; been held not to be in violation of a Howell n. City of Peoria, 90 Ill. 104; law that the council of the city shall New Orleans v. Clark, 95 U. S. 644, contract no debt on its part which 652; French v. City of Burlington, 42 shall not be payable within the fiscal Iowa, 614; National State Bank v. year in which it, was contracted, and Independent District, 39 Iowa, 490; which cannot be discharged from the McPherson v. Foster, 43 Iowa, 48; income of such year, as the compensa-City of Council Bluffs v. Stewart, 51 tion for each year's service of the Iowa, 885; Scott v. City of Davenport, company under the contract in ques-34 Iowa, 208; Mosher v. Independent tion was payable in that year and each School District, 44 Iowa, 122; East St. year's indebtedness was only for the Louis v. People, 6 Bradw. 76; Bu- water furnished in that year. Utica chanan v. Litchfield, 102 U.S. 278.

² Coggeshall v. City of Des Moines, (1884) 31 Hun, 426. (1889) 78 Iowa, 235; s. c., 41 N. W.

¹Putnam v. City of Grand Rapids, Rep. 617; 42 N. W. Rep. 650. A con-Water Works Co. v. City of Utica, persons, and afterwards, through collusion with those other persons, permit them to obtain judgment for such indebtedness against the school district, the judgment would be of no validity against the district, and could not be enforced.1 The limitation of the indebtedness which may be incurred by a county of the territory of Utah, as fixed by the act of congress with reference to territories and the territorial legislature, is the amount of the income and revenue of the county for the two years just preceding the incurring of the indebtedness, and the Supreme Court of the territory has held county warrants, issued for indebtedness beyond that amount, to be void and unauthorized.2

¹ Kane v. Independent School Dist. county under a contract which pros. c , 47 N. W. Rep. 1076.

of Rock Rapids, (1891), 82 Iowa, 5, vided that the contractors agreed "to take and receipt the sum of $3,510 in ² Fenton v. Blair, (Utah, 1895) 39 Pac. warrants on county treasurer, payable Rep. 485. In Butts v. Little, (1881) 68 on December 25, 1884, and bearing Ga. 272, the Supreme Court of Georgia eight per cent interest after that date held that for a county to contract for until paid in full, in payment for said the erection of a public building at a cells and wrought iron works," for specified price, which was to be com- which, at the November term of the pleted by a certain date, and payment Court of Ordinary orders were issued for which was to be made as the work to "pay out of any money now being progressed, on estimates to be made collected for new jail fund," was held by certain architects, less fifteen per to create a new debt, and that it was cent, was in effect a contract to pay the in violation of the Constitution of the price agreed on by the day of the date state. Rogers v. Board of Comrs. of completion fixed; and the amount Le Sueur County, (Minn.) 59 N. W. being more than could constitutionally Rep. 488; Hunt v. Fawcett, 8 Wash. be raised by taxation without author- 396; s. c., 36 Pac. Rep. 318; Hockaity of the voters exhibited by an elec-day v. Comrs., 1 Colo. App. 362; tion, was to incur a debt not authorized Barnard v. Knox County, 105 Mo. 382; by the Constitution. See Spann c. s. c., 16 S. W. Rep. 917, overruling Webster County, 61 Ga. 498, 500; Hud-Potter v. Douglas Co., 87 Mo. 240; son v. Marietta, 61 Ga. 286. As to the Bonnell v. County of Nuckolls, 32 Neb. effect of limitation upon the power to 189; s. c., 49 N. W. Rep. 225, affirmcreate indebtedness, see Murphy v. ing Bonnell v. Nuckolls County, 28 East Portland, 42 Fed. Rep. 308; Lott Neb. 90; s. c., 48 N. W. Rep. 1145; v. Mayor, etc., of City of Waycross, 84 Baird v. Todd, 27 Neb. 782; Spilman Ga. 681; s. c., 11 S. E. Rep. 558; Dehm v. City of Parkersburg, 35 W. Va. 605; v. City of Havana, 28 Ill. App. 520; s. c., 14 S. E. Rep. 279; Hockaday Clark v. Columbus, 23 Wkly. Law Bull. v. Board of County Comrs., (Colo. 289; Coggeshall v. City of Des Moines, App.) 29 Pac. Rep. 287; Nolan County 78 Iowa, 235; s. c., 41 N. W. Rep. 617. v. State, 83 Tex. 182; s. c., 17 S. W. In Cabaniss v. Hill, (1885) 74 Ga. 845, a Rep. 828; People v. Hamill, 134 Ill. contract for certain iron doors, cells, 666; s. c., 29 N. E. Rep. 280; Rehmke pipes for sewers, etc., furnished a v. Goodwin, 2 Wash. St. 676; s. c., 27

8 62. Limitations upon power to incur indebtedness procuring a supply of water.—Where the common council of a city was prohibited by the charter from contracting debts or incurring liabilities exceeding in any one year the revenue for such year unless authorized by a majority vote of the electors of the city, the Supreme Court of Michigan held that a contract made by the common council without such a vote for the use of at least fifty water hydrants per year at fifty dollars each for a term of thirty years, created a liability against the city to the full extent of the thirty years' rental, which aggregate liability being in excess of the revenue which could be legally raised in any one year, the contract was void.1

s. c., 32 Pac. Rep. 217.

Am. & Eng. Corp. Cas. 299. ham, (1887) 144 Mass. 177; s. c., 10 N. of Portland, 1 Deady, 481.

Pac. Rep. 478; Mayor, etc., of Rome E. Rep. 782. That townshaving power v. McWilliams, (1881) 67 Ga. 106; to provide for the purchase and main-State ex rel. Vandiver v. Tolly. (S. C., tenance of fire engines for the extin-1892) 16 S. E. Rep. 195; Childs v. City guishment of fires have the incidental of Anacortes, (1892) 5 Wash, St. 452; power to make provision, by reservoirs or other means, for a supply of water, 1 Niles Water Works v. Mayor, etc., without which the engines would be of the City of Niles, (1886) 59 Mich. uscless, see Hardy v. Waltham, 3 Met. 311; s. c., 26 N. W. Rep. 525; 11 163. In Salem Water Co. v. City of In Salem, 5 Oreg. 30, it was held that an Davenport v. Kleinschmidt, (1887) 6 agreement by the city to pay the Mont. 502; s. c., 16 Am. & Eng. water company $1,800 per annum for Corp. Cas. 301, where the bonded seventeen years in quarterly installindeptedness of a city was $19,500 ments for water to be furnished the and the floating indebtedness over city without any provision for raising $15,000, a contract bonding the city to and appropriating revenue to be aptake water from a contractor at an plied in payment for such liabilities as annual rent of $15,000 was held to be they became due, necessarily created in violation of a provision in the char- a liability within the meaning of the ter of the city limiting the power of act of incorporation of the city which the city council "to incur any indebt- prohibited the city from creating edness on behalf of said city for any "any debt or liabilities in any manpurpose whatever to exceed the sum ner" against the city which should of $20,000, as such contract created an exceed the sum of $1,000; and that indebtedness within the meaning of the contract was void. The court this limitation. See on this subject reviewed the following cases perti-Burlington Water Co. v. Woodward, nent to this ruling: State of Califor-49 Iowa, 58, 61; Grant v. City of Daven- nia v. McCauley, 15 Cal. 429; People port, 36 Iowa, 896, 401; Sackett v. City ex rel. McCauley v. Brooks, 16 Cal. New Albany, 88 Ind. 478; s. c., 45 Am. 11, 24; Koppikus v. State Capitol Com-Rep. 472; Prince v. City of Quincy, 105 missioners, 16 Cal. 249, 258; State v. III. 188, 142; State v. Mayor, 28 La. Medbery, 7 Ohio St. 526; People v. Ann. 358; Smith v. Inhabitants of Ded-Pacheco, 27 Cal. 175; Coulson v. City

§ 63. The same subject continued,—Power conferred upon cities by statute "to construct, maintain and operate water works" does not, expressly or impliedly, deprive such cities of their pre-existing and co-existing power and right to "authorize any incorporated company or association to construct such works" for furnishing the city with wholesome water.1 The Indiana Supreme Court, in a later case involving a contract with a water company, has held that although the power of a city to contract for a supply of water for public use, be, in a general sense, a discretionary one, it cannot be so exercised as to create a corporate debt beyond that limited by law, nor to surrender or suspend legislative power.2 A city vested by the terms of its charter with "full power and authority to make such assessments on the inhabitants of the city, or those who hold taxable property therein, for the safety, benefit, convenience and advantage of said city, as shall appear to them expedient" may make an assessment to supply water as not ultra vires.

upon the city stated in the text and as to

1 City of Vincennes v. Callender, what constitutes a "debt" or "in-(1882) 86 Ind. 484, sustaining a con-debtedness," under the constitutional tract of the city with a water company provisions of various states, the Indiana court refer to and comment upon the supply water as not ultra vires. court refer to and comment upon the ² City of Valparaiso v. Gardner, following cases: Sackett v. City of (1884) 97 Ind. 1. As to the contract New Albany, 88 Ind. 473; Lowber v. in this case, it was generally said by Mayor, etc., 5 Abb. Pr. 325; Clarke ELLIOTT, Ch. J.: "We have no doubt v. City of Rochester, 24 Barb. 446; that the corporation had authority to Weston v. City of Syracuse, 17 N. Y. contract for a supply of water for a 110; Garrison v. Howe, 17 N. Y. 458; period of twenty years, and that the Wentworth v. Whittemore, 1 Mass. contract cannot be overthrown solely 471; People v. Arguello, 37 Cal. 524; on the ground that it is a surrender of East St. Louis v. East St. Louis, etc., legislative power. There is a distinc- 98 Ill. 415; Prince v. City of Quincy, tion between powers of a legislative 105 Ill. 138; s. c., 44 Am. Rep. 785; character and powers of a business Dively v. City of Cedar Falls, 27 nature. The power to execute a con- Iowa, 227. Approved of in 1 Dill. on tract for goods, for houses, for gas, Mun. Corp. (3d ed.) § 135; Grant v. for water and the like, is neither a City of Davenport, 36 Iowa, 396; judicial nor a legislative power, but French v. City of Burlington, 42 Iowa, is a purely business power. The 614; Burlington Water Co. v. Woodquestion is, however, so firmly settled ward, 49 Iowa, 58; Scott County v. by authority that we deem it unneces- City of Davenport, 34 Iowa, 208; sary to further discuss it. City of State v. McCauley, 15 Cal. 429; Peo-Indianapolis v. Indianapolis, etc., Co., ple v. Pacheco, 27 Cal. 175; Coulson 66 Ind. 896; Dill. on Mun. Corp. v. City of Portland, Deady, 481; SS 473, 474, and authorities cited." Coy v. City Council, 17 Iowa, 1; Upon the question of the restriction Coffin v. City Council, 26 Iowa, 515. on the value of the real estate within the corporate limits of the city, through its city council, for the purpose of constructing a canal for the better securing a supply of water for the city. A municipal corporation may under legislative grant of power, to make all contracts in its corporate capacity which may be deemed necessary for the welfare of the corporation, make a contract for the construction of water works.2 Under the statute entitled "An act to enable cities to supply the inhabitants thereof with pure and wholesome water," a city is authorized to contract for a supply of water for public and private use.4

§ 64. Donation of bonds to aid in developing water power. - A municipal corporation, the charter of which authorizes it "to borrow money on the credit of the city and to issue bonds therefor," and which, under a special statute, is authorized to borrow a sum named "to be expended in developing the natural advantages of the city for manufacturing purposes," has no authority, under the grants of power above stated, to issue bonds by way of donation to an individual to aid in developing the water power of the city, and is not liable to an action upon such bonds by one who takes them with notice of the facts.⁵ facturing purposes.

Cabot, (1859) 28 Ga. 50.

⁸Pub. Laws N. J. (1876), 366.

Hoboken, 51 N. J. Law, 220; s. c., 17 Atl. Rep. 307. As to contracting 64 Mich, 584; s. c., 81 N. W. Rep. Atl. Rep. 10.

court distinguished Hackett v. Ottawa, bondale, 76 Ill. 455; People v. Trustees

Frederick v. City Council of 99 U. S. 86, and Ottawa v. National Augusta, (1848) 5 Ga. 561. This canal Bank of Portsmouth, 105 U.S. 342, was constructed for procuring a bet- involving bonds of the same issue, ter supply of water and for manu- where it was held in substance that, as there was legislative authority to ² Mayor & Council of Rome v. issue bonds for municipal purposes, and it was recited in the bonds then sued on that they were issued for such 4 Hackensack Water Co. v. City of purposes, the city was estopped from proving, as against bona fulc holders, that the recitals were untrue: and as for water supply, see City of Grand the plaintiffs in those cases had no Rapids v. Hydraulic Co., 66 Mich. knowledge of the precise purposes for 606; s. c., 83 N. W. Rep. 749; which the bonds were issued, they had Adrian Water Works v. City of Adrian. the right to rely on what was recited. The parties here suing did know the 529; Culbertson v. City of Fulton, 127 purpose for which they were issued. Ill. 30; s. c., 18 N. E. Rep. 781; These bonds being Illinois contracts, Atlantic City Water Works Co. v. WAITE, Ch. J., referred to these cases: Read, 50 N. J. Law, 665; s. c., 15 Taylor v. Thompson, 42 Ill. 9; Chicago, Danville & Vincennes R. R. Co. v. Ottawa v. Carey, (1883) 108 U.S. Smith, 62 III. 268; The People v. Du-110; s. c., 2 Sup. Ct. Rep. 361. The puyt, 71 Ill. 651; Burr v. City of Carporate purpose. tainly power to govern the city does S. 80."

of Schools, 78 Ill. 136; Quincy, Mis- not imply power to expend the public souri & Pacific R. R. Co. v. Morris, 84 money to make the water in this river Ill. 410; Supervisor, etc., of Hensley available for manufacturing purposes. Township v. The People, 84 Ill. 644, as It is because railroads are supposed to to what might be held to be a cor- add to the general prosperity that The chief justice municipalities are given power to aid then used this language as to the case in their construction by subscriptions before the court: "As power in a to capital stock or donations to the municipal corporation to borrow corporations engaged in their construcmoney and issue bonds therefor im- tion; but in all the vast number of plies power to levy a tax for the pay- cases involving subscriptions and doment of the obligation that is incurred. nations that have come before this unless the contrary clearly appears court for adjudication since The Com-(Ralls County Court v. The United missioners of Knox County v. Aspin-States, 105 U. S. 733), it follows that wall, decided twenty-five years ago the power contained in the charter to and reported in 21 How, 539, it has borrow money did not authorize the never been supposed that the power issue of the bonds in this case, unless to govern, of itself, implied power to they were issued for a corporate pur- make such subscriptions or such dopose, there being a constitutional pro- nations. On the contrary, it has been hibition against taxation by the city, over and over again held, and as often except for corporate purposes. * * * as the question was presented, that The charter confers all the powers unless the specific power was granted, usually granted for the purposes of all such subscriptions and all such dolocal government, but that has never nations, as well as the corporation been supposed of itself to authorize bonds issued for their payment, were taxes for every thing which, in the absolutely void, even as against bona opinion of the city authorities, would fide holders of the bonds. Thomson v. promote the general prosperity and Lee County, 3 Wall. 327; Marsh v. Fulwelfare of the municipality.' Un- ton County, 10 Wall, 676; St. Joseph doubtedly the developments of the Township v. Rogers, 16 Wall. 644; water power in the rivers that traverse McClure v. Township of Oxford, 94 the city would add to the commerce U.S. 429; Wells v. Supervisors, 102 and wealth of the citizens, but cer- U. S. 625; Allen v. Louisiana, 103 U.

CHAPTER II.

GENERAL POWER TO INCUR PECUNIARY LIABILITY — PRIVATE CORPORATIONS.

- § 65. General rules as to incurring | § 76. A savings bank's powers. indebtedness.
 - 66. Purchase of property.
 - 67. Aiding other corporations
 - 68. Contracts of suretyship.
 - 69. Guaranty of bonds of one railway corporation by another.
 - 70. Guaranty of bonds of railroad corporation by one of another kind.
 - 71. Circumstances surrounding corporation may authorize the guaranty.
 - 72. Guaranty of dividend upon preferred stock of another corporation.
 - 78. What contract of another corporation may not be guaranteed
 - 74. Athletic club.
 - 75. Banking associations.

- - 77. Corporations dealing in lands.
 - 78. Insurance corporations.
 - 79. Manufacturing corporations.
 - 80. Mining corporations.
 - 81. Railroad corporations.
 - 82. The same subject continued.
 - 83. Raising money by borrowing notes and indersement of them.
 - 84. Evidences of indebtednessforms.
 - 85. More rules on this subject.
 - 86. Bonds of a banking association.
 - 87. Power to secure their indebtedness.
 - 88. Limitation of indebtedness.
 - 89. Debt limited by par value of capital stock.
 - 90. When a statutory limitation of indebtedness does not apply.

§ 65. General rules as to incurring indebtedness.—Within the scope of its general and discretionary powers, the authority of a corporation to dispose of its funds for any purpose whatever may be admitted to be absolute and beyond all control. It is always presumed that a corporate body may make any proper contracts, the scope and tendency of which are manifestly to forward the design of its legislative creation.2 Such corporations, if not restricted by their charters, have incidental authority to borrow money for any of their lawful purposes.8 But the power to borrow money, being an incidental power, does not extend

² Kitchen v. Cape Girardeau & State sign of the corporation. Line R. R. Co., (1876) 59 Mo. 514, an action to recover for services as an

¹ Binney's Case, (1829) 2 Bland's Ch. agent under employment to perform services consonant to the general de-

⁸ Partridge v. Badger, 25 Barb, 146.

^{99, 142.}

beyond cases where it is essential to the transaction of its ordinary affairs.1 The limit fixed in the charter of a corporation as to its capital does not restrict its power to contract debts for the purpose of the incorporation as to their amount, nor as to the amount of property it may purchase or accumulate.2 A private corporation has been held liable, at least to the extent of the consideration received, for indebtedness assumed to be contracted in excess of the limit imposed by the articles of incorporation.3 A corporation, created with authority to construct a certain road and collect toll thereon, may purchase a like road already constructed, and charge toll thereon.4 A corporation organized under a state corporation act which authorizes the formation of a corporation to engage "in any lawful enterprise, business, pursuit or occupation," has power to buy and sell or lease a railway.5 There is an implied power in a corporation empowered to construct a work to borrow money necessary for the purpose of such construction, and to issue its bonds for the money borrowed.⁶ A corporation authorized by the general law under which it is incorporated to borrow money for the purpose of constructing its works, and to issue bonds for its payment, has the power to purchase works already constructed and suitable for its purposes, and issue bonds in payment for such works.7 In such a case, the corporation may issue stock for a portion of the purchase money of such works, and pay in cash or issue bonds for the balance.8

Beers v. Phœnix Glass Co., 14 Barb 358.

² Barry v. Merchants' Exchange Co., 1 Sandf. Ch. 280.

⁸ Humphrey v. Patrons' Mcrcantile Association, (1879) 50 Iowa, 607. The & Navigation Co., 23 Fed. Rep. 232. New York Court of Appeals has sustained the validity of a contract of a private corporation for proper and Co., (1890) 25 Abb. N. C. 410, reversnecessary work preliminary to active ing 52 Hun, 166. business operations, as within its inciwhich it was created. of Columbia v. Patterson, 7 Cranch, Keeler, 24 Barb. 20. As to raising ^{209;} Straus & Bro. v. Eagle Ins. Co. of Cincinnati, 5 Ohio St. 59.

⁴State ex rel. v. Hannibal, etc., Road Co., (1889) 37 Mo. App. 496.

⁵ Oregonian Ry. Co. v. Oregon Ry. ⁶ Smith v. Law, 21 N. Y. 296.

⁷ Gamble v. Queens County Water

⁸ Ibid. As to legislature's power to dental power to make any contract authorize corporations of its creation necessary to advance the object for to borrow money, etc., see Covington Legrand v. v. C., etc., Bridge Co., (1873) 10 Bush, Manhatian Mercantile Association, 74. As to power to borrow money, (1880) 80 N. Y. 638, affirming 44 N. see Union M. Co. v. Rocky Mt. Nat. Y. Super. Ct. 562. See Broughton v. Bank, 2 Col. 248; Beers v. Phonix M. Water Works, 8 B. & A. 1; Bank Glass Co., 14 Barb. 858; Mead v.

A corporation, with power to borrow money, may legitimately borrow promissory notes upon which to raise money for its business.1

8 66. Purchase of property.—By the common law corporations have a right to purchase and hold property so far as may be necessary to carry into execution the purposes and objects for which they are created.² A corporation incorporated under the general laws of Alabama, has power to borrow money to purchase and improve real estate that it may be enabled to carry into effect the purposes of its incorporation.3 The Iowa Supreme Court has held that a corporation authorized by its charter to purchase, etc., "any real estate or other property deemed advisable in the transaction of its business'" might purchase its own 258.

tral Agricultural & Mechanical As- creation, Ang. & Ames on Corp.

money for the purpose of carrying out sociation, (1875) 51 Ala. 73. Arguendo the purposes of its creation, see Wellers- it was said by BRICKELL, Ch. J: "The burg, etc., Co. v. Young, 12 Md. 476; general principle is that a corporation Mayor, etc., of Baltimore v. Baltimore can make no contracts, and do no acts, & Ohio R. R. Co., 21 Md. 91. As to except such as are authorized by its the means employed to carry out such charter. From the charter it derives purposes, coming within the implied all its powers, and the capacity of expowers of corporations, see Willmarth ergising them. Any contract made by v. Crawford, 10 Wend. 342; Madison, it not necessary and proper, directly etc., Plank Road Co. v. Watertown, or indirectly, to enable it to answer etc., Plank Road Co., 5 Wis. 173; the purpose of its creation, is void, Clark v. Farrington, 11 Wis. 306, and neither a court of law or of equity As to these implied powers being per- can enforce it. Grand Lodge v. Wadformed by their agents, see Smith v. dill, 36 Ala. 313; Smith v. Ala. Life Eureka Flour Mills, 6 Cal. 1; Straus Ins. & Trust Co., 4 Ala. 558; City & Bro. v. Eagle Ins. Co., 5 Ohio St. 59. Council v. Montgomery & Wetumpka As to making promissory notes under Plank Road, 31 Ala. 76. It must not the implied power, see Moss v. Oakley, be understood, however, that the 2 Hill, 265; Munn v. Commission Co., charter, whether it is of special legis-15 Johns. 44; Mott v. Hicks, 1 Cow. lative enactment, or derived from gen-518; Auerbach v. Le Sueur Mill Co., eral statutory provisions, must ex-(1881) 28 Minn. 291; s. c., 9 N. W. pressly confer the power of making Rep. 799; Sullivan v. Murphy, 23 contracts. As we have said, the ca-Minn. 6; Chaska Company v. Board pacity to contract is an incidental corof Supervisors of Carver Co., 6 Minn, porate power, and if the special act of incorporation, or the general statutory ¹ Holbrook v. Basset, 5 Bosw. 147. law is silent as to the contracts into Blanchard's Gun-Stock Turning which a corporation may enter, it has Factory v. Warner, (1848) 1 Blatchf. the power to make all such contracts as are necessary and proper to enable Alabama Gold Life Ins. Co. v. Cen- it to accomplish the purposes of its stock.1 Upon evidence that it was customary and necessary, in the economical conduct of the business of iron furnaces to conduct a supply store in connection therewith, the Supreme Court of Tennessee has held that debts created in the purchase of a stock of goods for such store were valid obligations of the furnace company. The power to conduct such a store being clearly inci-

§ 271. This is the theory on which so narrowed that the corporation could the general statutes for the organiza- not contract a debt for its purchasetion of private corporations proceed, that at the very moment of the purfor though the powers of such cor- chase and conveyance the purchase poration are enumerated, that of mak-money must be counted out or the ing contracts is not included, but is purchase and conveyance is void. If left to implication from the powers the necessities and interests of the cormentioned, and the character and pur- poration require it, which must be deposes of the corporation. It is not in-termined by those having charge of its dispensable, therefore, to the validity affairs, and intrusted with the power of a contract made by a corporation and duty, that a debt be contracted in for money borrowed, that the power the acquisition of the necessary propto borrow money should be expressly erty, the power to contract it cannot the corporation render the power a ate payment than to contract the debt usual and proper mode of accomplish- for the purchase money with the vening its objects and purposes, the dor, the contract is equally within the power is incidental or implied. When scope of corporate power and valid." the corporation has, as all private cor- Fay v. Noble, 12 Cush. 1; Davis v. porations have, under the general law Proprietors of Meeting House, 8 Met. providing for their creation, the capac- 321; Union Bank v. Jacobs, 6 Humph. ity of acquiring and holding personal 515; Barry v. Merchants' Exchange and real property, the mode of acquir- Co, 1 Sandf. Ch. 280; Burr v. Mcing not being limited, they may ac- Donald, 3 Gratt. 215; Curtis v. Leavquire it by purchase or by gift. The itt, 15 N. Y. 9; Bradley v. Ballard, corporation has the capacity of an in- (1870) 55 Ill. 413; Mead v. Keeler, dividual in this respect, within the (1857) 24 Barb. 20; Partridge v. Badscope of its legitimate objects and ger, (1857) 25 Barb, 146; Clark v. Titpurposes. Having the power to ac- comb, (1864) 42 Barb. 123; Life & Fire quire and hold personal and real es- Ins. Co. v. Mechanic Fire Ins. Co., tate by purchase, it has, as an incident, (1831) 7 Wend. 31; Barnes v. Ontario the power to borrow money to make Bank, (1859) 19 N. Y. 152; Smith v. the purchase. The exercise of such Law, (1860) 21 N. Y. 296; Ridgway n. power may be advantageous and use- Farmers' Bank of Bucks Co., (1825)12 ful, enabling the corporation, the Serg. &R. 256; Hamilton v. Newcastle owner, to put its powers into active & Danville R. R. Co., (1857) 9 Ind. exercise, and to acquire the necessary $59; Rockwell v. Elkhorn Bank, (1861) property on terms more profitable to its 13 Wis. 653. stockholders. It would scarcely be affirmed that the power to acquire and 49 Iowa, 25. As supporting this doc-

Ang. & Ames on Corp. be denied. If more advantageous to If the nature and character of borrow the money and make immedi-

¹ Iowa Lumber Co. r. Foster, (1878) hold real and personal estate must be trine, see Barton v. P. J. & U. F.

dental to the business of making iron, was, therefore, within the corporate powers of the company, though not mentioned in the charter.1

8 67. Aiding other corporations.—An act of the legislature of New York authorizing the several railroad corporations of that state to subscribe to the capital stock of a railroad company designed to penetrate the western country has been held to be constitutional and valid.2 The Supreme Court of Nevada has held a contract by a mining corporation to advance a specific sum of money to aid in the construction of a tunnel to drain its mine not to be ultra vires, and that such a contract came within the incidental and implied powers of a mining company.3 Notwithstanding the Code of Oregon in one place provides that "persons" shall be construed to include a corporation, the authority granted under the same Code to two or more "persons" to form a corporation in a certain manner does not empower a corporation to become a subscriber to shares in another corporation.4 The Court of Appeals of Maryland has sustained the power of one steamboat company to purchase shares of stock in another.5

v. Bruce, 17 N. Y. 507.

¹ Searight v. Payne, 6 Lea, 283.

Co., (1858) 14 Barb. 559.

³ Sutro Tunnel Co. v. Segregated Belcher Mining Co., 19 Nev. 121; s. c., 7 Pac. Rep. 271.

⁴ Denny Hotel Co. of Seattle v. Schram, (Wash.) 32 Pac. Rep. 1002.

Booth v. Robinson, (1880) 55 Md. 419. It was said by the court: "This [purchase and holding of this stock]. it is contended, by the plaintiffs, of authority is the other way. There 252. In the latter of the cases first Plank Road Co., 17 Barb. 397; Cooper is nothing in the charter of the steam v. Frederick, 9 Ala. 738; Verplanck v. packet company or in the nature of Mer. Ins. Co., 1 Edw. Ch. 84; Hart- its business that would, in the slightridge v. Rockwell, R. M. Charlton, est manner, forbid the exercise of such 260; Gillet v. Moody, 3 Comst. 479; power, and having money to loan or in-Taylor v. Miami Exporting Co., 6 vest, there would appear to be no good Ohio, 176; State Bank v. Fox, 3 reason why it might not invest in the Blatchf, 431; City Bank of Columbus stock of other corporations as well as in any other funds, provided it be done bona fide and with no sinister or unlaw-³ White v. Syracuse & Utica R. R. ful purpose. The courts of England at one time strongly opposed the rights of one corporation to deal or invest in the stock of another corporation without express authority for so doing, but that opposition has been entirely overcome and it is now settled there that one corporation may deal in the shares of another, without express authority so to do, unless where expressly prohibited or the nature of its business rencould not be done without express deritimproper so to deal. Re Barned's authority by law. But, while some Banking Co., L. R., 3 Ch. 105; courts have so held, the great weight Re Asiatic Banking Co., L. R., 4 Ch.

joint stock corporation organized "to do a general insurance agency commission and brokerage business and such other things as are incidental to and necessary in the management of that business." has been held in Connecticut to have no power to subscribe to the stock of a savings bank and building and loan association.1 Though the power to borrow money may be implied in such a corporation, it cannot legally subscribe to such stock as a means of effecting a loan of money.2 The power of an agricultural society to subscribe to stock in a street railway company which was to construct a street railroad through the streets of the city to the grounds of the society and to borrow money, secure it by assigning certain promissory notes of the railroad company and mortgage to secure them and to guarantee such notes in order to effectuate the purposes of the society, has been sustained by the Iowa Supreme Court.3

§ 68. Contracts of suretyship.— The Louisiana Supreme Court has held that there was no express authority given to the officers of the corporation involved in this case to enter into a contract of suretyship; neither was there any general authority cited, Lord Justice Selwyn, in speak- same case affirmed on appeal in 5 Md. ing of this power of corporations, said: 152. "As to the capacity of a trading corfor me to say that I entirely agree Agency Co., (1855) 24 ('onn. 159. with the judgment of Lord CAIRNS in hibit one trading corporation from First 92. And in this state the same prin- Beav. 339. ciple has been fully sanctioned in the Thompson v. Lambert, (1876) 44 case of Elysville Manuf. Co. v. Iowa, 289. Okisko Co., 1 Md. Ch. Dec. 392, and

¹ Mechanics & Workingmen's Muporation to accept shares in another tual Savings Bank & Building Assotrading corporation, it is sufficient ciation of New Haven v. Meriden

² Ibid. That a municipal corporation the case of Barned's Banking Co., viz., may be bound by a subscription to that there is not, either by the com- stock not authorized by its charter mon or statute law, anything to pro- by subsequent legislative sanction, see Municipality taking or accepting shares in another Theatre Co., 2 Rob. (La.) 209. In New trading corporation. There may, of Orleans, Florida & Havana Steamship course, be circumstances which pro- Co. v. Ocean Dry Dock Co., (1876) 28 hibit or render it improper for a com- La. Ann. 173, the Louisiana Supreme pany so to do having regard to its Court held that the dock company own constitution, as defined by its could not subscribe to the capital memorandum and articles." It is in stock of the navigation company, this accordance with the statutes that the being foreign to the object of its own law is laid down as settled by Brice in charter. Purchasing stock of another his work on Ultra Vires, pp. 91, company. Salomons v. Laing, 12 from which the power to enter into such a contract could be implied or fairly deduced under a plea of usage, necessity, convenience or public interest.¹ A corporation cannot by its officers execute a note for a debt due from a third person to another. having no relation to its business.2 A manufacturing corporation, organized under the general laws of New York, has no power to indorse for the accommodation of another paper in which it is not interested. And the indorsement of such paper by the treasurer of a manufacturing corporation may be presumed to be ultra vires. But this rule has been adhered to, that while a corporation has no right to bind itself by an accommodation acceptance or indorsement, the corporation is liable on such acceptance or indorsement to a bona fide holder, although it was made for a purpose or at a place not authorized by the charter of the corporation.5

§ 60. Guaranty of bonds of one railroad corporation by another. Upon a sufficient consideration one railroad corporation may guarantee the payment of the bonds of another.6 It is ¹Louisiana State Bank v. Orleans in which case the powers of corpora-Civil Code of Louisiana are fully discussed.

(1865) 27 Cal. 255.

Pump Manufacturing Co , (1889) 25 N. Norwich Saving Society, 21 Ind. 457, Stone Dressing Co., 26 Barb. 28; Louis, etc., Co., 2 Mo. App. 299. Bank of Genesee v. Patchin Bank, 13 Bank r. Empire Stone Dressing Co., 30 Barb. 421; Farmers & Mechanics' Bank v. Empire Stone Dressing Co., 5 of Saratoga, 26 Barb. 568.

Wahlig v. Standard Pump Manu-864; s. c., 5 N. Y. Supp. 420.

Mather v. Union Loan & Trust Co., Navigation Co., (1848) 3 La. Ann. 294, (City Court of N. Y. 1889) 26 N. Y. St. Repr. 58; s. c., 7 N. Y. Supp. 213, tions at common law and under the citing McCullough v. Moss, 5 Denio, 567, Mechanics' Banking Association v. New York, etc., White Lead Co., ² Hall r. Auburn Turnpike Co., 35 N. Y. 505; Farmers & Mechanics' Bank v. Butchers & Drovers' Bank, 16 ³ National Park Bank r. German- N. Y. 125. See, also, Usher r. Raymond American Warehousing, etc., Co., Skate ('o., (Mass. 1695) 39 N. E. Rep. (1889) 116 N Y. 281, s. c., 26 N. Y. 416, Savage Mig. Co. v. Worthington, St. Repr. 675; Wahlig v. Standard 1 Gill 284; Madison, etc., R. R. Co. v. Y. St. Repr. 864; s. c., 5 N. Y. Supp. modifying Smead v. R. R. Co., 11 Ind. 420; citing Central Bank v. Empire 104; LaFayette Savings Bank v. St.

⁶Low v. California Pacific R. R. N. Y. 309. See, also, Bridgeport City Co., (1977) 52 Cal. 53. It appeared in this case that one railroad company, under authority of law, leased the line of another for a term of years. The Bosw. 275; Morford v. Farmers' Bank consideration of the lease was an annual rental, and that the lessee company should guarantee the principal facturing Co., (1889) 25 N. Y. St. Repr. and interest of bonds to be issued by the lessee company. The contract of a good consideration for the guaranty of the bonds of one railroad corporation by another that the former conform its gauge to that of the latter and thus form running connections between the roads of the different corporations; and the gnaranty of such bonds by a company empowered by general law of a state, "at any time, by means of their subscription to the capital stock of any other company, or otherwise, to aid such company in the construction of its railroad, for the purpose of forming a connection of said last-mentioned road with the road owned by the company furnishing such aid," is within the powers of the guaranteeing corporation.1

§ 70. Guaranty of bonds of railroad corporations by one of another kind. In a very recent and elaborately considered case, the United States Circuit Court for the district of Kentucky has held that a land company, a Kentucky corporation, vested by its charter with large and extensive franchises and powers, had power to guarantee the bonds of a railroad company.2 conditional promise involved by a con- Howard, 7 Wall, 411. tract of guaranty.

guaranty was challenged as ultra Supreme Court of New York held the The lessee company had no arrangement entered into between express authority to make such con-several connecting railroad companies, tract of guaranty, but did have power for the purpose of securing a uniform to make all such contracts as were gauge of the several roads, and thus usual and proper in the building and increasing the business and profits of operation of a railway, and it likewise each, constituted a sufficient considerahad power to lease the line of the tion for a guaranty by one of the corlessor company. The Supreme Court porations of the payment of the bonds held that the consideration was suffi- of another; also that the general cient and the guaranty valid. They statute referred to in the text gave were of opinion that it was as com- power to the companies whose lines petent for the company to promise to were connected to enter into the pay conditionally as to promise to pay arrangement as to a uniform gauge absolutely; that the validity of the and to make it part of such arrangeagreement depended upon the suffi- ment that one or more of the comciency of the consideration. The panies should guarantee the payment right to take the lease being express, of the interest coupons issued by it was a good consideration for the another. See, also, Railroad Co. v.

² Tod v. Kentucky Union Land ¹ Zabriskie v. Cleveland, Columbus Co., (1893) 57 Fed. Rep. 47; affirmed & Cincinnati R. R. Co., (1859) 28 How. by the United States Circuit Court of 881. In Connecticut Mutual Life Appeals for the sixth circuit in Mar-Insurance Co. v. Cleveland, Columbus bury v. Kentucky Union Land Co., & Cincinnati R. R. Co., (1863) 41 (1894) 62 Fed. Rep. 335. LURTON. Barb. 9: s. c., 26 How. Pr. 225, the Circuit Judge, said: "The power to

§ 71. Circumstances surrounding corporation mav authorize the guaranty.—The court applied the principles governing corporations in reference to their acts under the powers

porators themselves. an unlawful diversion.

execute accommodation paper, or to there is no inherent want of power in guarantee for accommodation the obli- a business corporation, having the gations of another corporation is not power to execute negotiable paper, to expressly conferred by the charter of obligate itself as a surety or guarantor. the land company. Ordinarily, such If such a corporation receive commerpower is not implied from the powers cial paper or bonds in due course of conferred upon corporations, and such business, we see no reason why, upon contracts are generally in excess of transferring such paper, it may not be the powers of corporations, and, there-lawful to obligate itself as indorser or fore, void as ultra vires, in the true guarantor. Such a contract would be sense of the term. This proposition a new and independent contract, and rested upon two or more very evident would rest upon a sufficient considerareasons: (1) The corporate funds be- tion, if entered into us a legitimate long to its shareholders, and, by the means of increasing the value of the very terms of the law creating it, can-security to be disposed of in the ornot be devoted to any other purposes dinary course of husiness. In Rail than those indicated by its charter road v. Howard the question arose as and constitution. Such obligations to the liability of a railroad company would violate the fundamental terms upon its guaranty of certain bonds of the agreement between the cor- issued by various counties and cities, (2) To do so and received by the railroad company would be to exercise a power not con- in payment of subscriptions to its ferred by the state, either expressly stock. Upon full consideration it was or impliedly. The state's grant of the held that, inasmuch as the company corporate franchises is for the purpose had received the honds in payment of prescribed, and the execution of such stock, and had a right to obligate itself obligations would be beyond the by its own bonds for the purpose of power conferred, and, therefore, a di-building its road, it might lawfully, version of the corporate purposes, as and in furtherance of its authorized well as the corporate funds. (3) Such purpose, guarantee such bonds as a obligations rest upon no consideration, means of augmenting their value on and would not, therefore, be valid, the market, thus producing funds to They would amount to a donation of build its road. 7 Wall. 411, 412. The the corporate funds, and, therefore, power of a corporation to bind itself Mor. Priv. by a guaranty, when it does so for its Corp. 428; Davis v. Railroad Co., 131 own benefit and as a means of selling Mass, 258; Madison Plank Road Co. v. at an augmented value, is generally Watertown Plank Road Co., 7 Wis. conceded by the authorities. 'In such 59; McLellan v. File Works, 58 Mich. cases, says Mr. Randolph in his work 579; s. c., 23 N. W. Rep. 321; Na- upon Commercial Paper (Vol. 1, tional Park Bank v. German-American § 384), 'the guaranty is an original Mutual Warehousing & Security Co., contract of the corporation for its own 116 N. Y. 292; s. c., 22 N. E. Rep. benefit, the consideration moving to 567; Ætna Nat. Bank v. Charter Oak itself, and not to the person whose Life Ins. Co., 50 Conn. 167. But debt is guaranteed.' There being no expressly granted and implied, referring to the general purposes, franchises, etc., embraced in the charter of this land company, to this particular case, showing wherein the circumstances surrounding it made it legal and proper that it should guarantee the bonds of the railroad company.1

lish the proposition that if such a cor- as being legitimate and authorized. securities issued by other corpora- way company, and the right to exertions, it may indorse or guarantee them eise control over the railway compose of raising money to carry out trol of those shares. Undoubtedly the any purpose for which it might bor- general rule is that a corporation has row money. The right of a corpora- no implied power to acquire shares in tion to do an act or make a contract is another for the purpose of controlling not always a question of law. What it. Marble Co. v. Harvey, 92 Tenn. it may not do under some circum- 115; s. c., 20 S. W. Rep. 427. This stances, it may do under others. It would be contrary to the well-undermay carry on the business it is author- stood public policy concerning such ized to do in the usual and customary companies. But this objection does manner that business of the same not lie here: (1) Because the charter nature is carried on by individuals."

(1893) 57 Fed. Rep. 47. Referring to by any other corporation. (2) The a special power granted the land com- express power in the charter of the tion" with the railroad company, it based on grounds of public policy, to was said: "The power to make a tem- its control of a railway company by four corners of the charter, clearly im- legislature of Kentucky has expressly plies the power to make such an alli- permitted cannot be voil as against ance or bring about such a union and public policy in the absence of any co-operation of interests between the violation of a constitution il provision. land company and a railway company Under such circumstances it is not for as shall be to the mutual interest of the courts to say that what the legiseath, and place both under the same lature authorizes is unlawful because control and management. This could contrary to public policy. Having shares of one company should be held had express authority to borrow absolute want of power in an ordinary by the other or by the same persons. business corporation to bind itself as a This meaning seems reasonable and guarantor, we must next inquire as to proper, looking to the objects and the circumstances which will make purposes of this corporation, and any such a contract lawful and obliga- steps which brought about unity of tory. The cases already cited establinterest and co-operation in purpose poration has the power to issue bonds. Under this power we are of opinion or other commercial securities, and that [this] land company had the becomes the holder of such bonds or power to acquire the shares in the railupon transferring them for the pur- pany through the ownership and conof the railway company expressly 1 Tod v. Kentucky Union Land Co., provides that its shares may be owned pany for a "temporary consolida- land company removes all objections, porary consolidation, looking to all the and through its shares. What the be done by the plan suggested by Mr. authority to acquire this stock, the Morawetz in section 942 of his work land company became the sole stockon Private Corporations, whereby the holder in the railway company. Each half million of these bonds. The re-support a musical festival.

$ 72. Guaranty of dividend upon preferred stock of another corporation.—The court also held that this land com-

money and issue bonds to carry out trust in the proceeds of the bonds, and the purposes of the organization, thereby enable it to defeat its respon-The completion of this railway was sibility, as a contract ultra vires, would an object within the scope of its char- be sticking in the bark and result in ter powers. It could do so by its own manifest injutice. That at some name or by aiding the railway com- future day this union may be dispany to negotiate its securities by solved by a sale of the stock owned guaranteeing their payment. The by the land company is not of import guaranty was not for the accom- ance. The real and substantial owner modation of the railway company, of the railroad company at the time The guaranter being the sole share- these bonds were guaranteed was the holder of the railway company, it was land company. The guaranty was a contract for its own benefit, and, for the benefit of the guarantors. therefore, rested upon a sufficient Union Pac. Ity. Co. c. Chicago, R. I. security. In addition, the land com- & P. Ry. Co., 51 Fed. Rep. 310; s. c., pany was a creditor of the railway 2 C. C. A. 114. The case is not like company, and was to, and did, receive that of Davis o Railroad Co., 131 the proceeds arising from the sale of the Mass, 253. That was a donation to mainder of the money thus raised was benefit to the railroad company was to be applied to the building of the in the supposition that it would profit railway line. The consideration was by increased travel. This was altosufficient to fully support the contract. gether too remote, and the contract A like question arose in Chicago, R properly held void. When the ques-I. & P. R. Co. v. Union Pac. Ry. Co., tion is, as here, whether or not a par-47 Fed. Rep. 16, where Mr. Justice ticular act is altra vires, decided cares Brewer held that 'where one rail- are of little value. Each case must road company owns substantially all be largely a question of fact. Yet, the stock of another railroad company, by reference to a few of the decided a lease of the latter line for rent to be cases, we can discover the principle paid to the former company is not upon which other courts have provoid for want of consideration since it ceeded in deciding such questions. amounts merely to an agreement to We will refer to a few cases: In Louispay the rent directly to the stock- ville & N. R. Co. r. Literary Society of Upon appeal to the United St. Rose, 91 Ky. 395; s. c., 15 S. W. States Circuit Court of Appeals for Rep. 1065, the Court of Appeals of Kenthe fifth circuit, this ruling was tucky passed upon a question involving affirmed. 51 Fed. Rep. 329; s. c., 2 the implied power of a corporation. It C. C. A. 242. The directors of the appeared that the literary society of St. railway company held the property of Rose and the literary society of St. that company, including these bonds Catherine were corporations for eduand their proceeds, when sold, in trust cational purposes, existing in or near for the * * * land company as the town of Springfield in Washingholders of the shares in that company. ton county, Kentucky. They had To say that its guaranty of these power to contract and to buy and sell bonds was a mere accommodation real and personal property for the guaranty when it was the cestui que purpose of sustaining and carrying pany was authorized to guarantee a dividend upon the preferred stock of the railroad company.1 obligations, it was contended that void."" they were ultra vires. The court powers from charters. add to their value. How far this ment of, or on account of, indebted-on said institutions of learning and power extended we need not decide not otherwise. Each of them owned Certainly, however, if during a por and operated a farm of about 1,000 tion of the year these institutions had acres of very considerable value, been almost inaccessible for the lack This, in the language of the court, of a turnpike or a bridge, a subscrip 'created a large industry in the way tion by them to build either would of supplies furnished to them, and have been valid; and while not author they in turn furnishing to others.' ized to enter into all manner of specu-Each of these corporations signed an lations, yet, in our opinion, a subscripobligation to a railroad company to tion by them to aid the building of induce it to extend its line near their this road was not, under all the cir property. In an action upon those cumstances, ultra vires and, therefore,

¹ Tod v. Kentucky Union Land Co., 'Corporations derive their (1893) 57 Fed Rep. 47, affirmed by They are United States Circuit Court of Appeals those which are expressly given or by for the sixth circuit in Marbury v. fair implication are necessary to the Kentucky Union Land Co., (1894) 6% execution of their object. Cases may Fed. Rep. 335. This "guaranty," the be found where the officers of a cor- court said, "stands upon the same portaion have exceeded their powers, footing as the guaranty of the bonds. but the corporation, nevertheless, held The temporary consolidation between liable because the transaction was the two companies, springing out of within the scope of its business, and the ownership of the stock in the railit had received a benefit from it. The way company by the land company, only trouble arose from a defect of in view of the terms of the charter of power in the managers. This case is the latter company, authorized it to not within this class, however, be- aid the former in any usual way to cause it appears beyond all doubt that build its line of railroad." Certain the change of location as to depot second mortgage bonds of the railroad was not to the interest of these insti- company were issued and delivered to tutions. The building of the road the land company on account of inwas calculated, however, to be highly debtedness due by the railway combeneficial to them, both as to furnish- pany to the land company. A large ing convenient access to them for part of these bonds had been sold by persons coming and going, and also in the land company, and were in the furnishing them a means of obtaining hands of various individuals who held their supplies and sending their pro- them as bona fide purchasers for value. ducts to market. It was calculated When sold, the payment of these to and undoubtedly did add greatly bonds, principal and interest, was to the value of their properties and guaranteed by the land company. the large industries which their char- Others had been pledged as collateral ters had authorized them to create. security, and these, also, were guar-It conferred a direct benefit. The anteed by the land company. As to power existed by fair implication to these bonds the court said: "The do anything reasonably calculated to bonds, having been received in pay-

§ 73. What contract of another corporation may not be guaranteed.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the sixth circuit has held that a corporation organized under the law of Ohio for the purpose of making iron work for mining plants had not the power to guarantee the performance of another's contract for the erection of a mining plant, and the accompanying warranties, on the ground that the guaranty would secure a sile of the iron work used in the plant. Further, the performance of such contract on the part of the party to whom the guaranty was given did not estop the corporation from denying its power to give the guaranty.2

§ 74. Athletic club.— A corporation formed under a statute for encouraging athletic exercises, under a provision of the statnte that it "may hold real and personal estate, and may hire, purchase or erect suitable buildings for its accommodation to an amount not exceeding five hundred dollars," has power to take a lease of land, and to erect a suitable club house upon it. Having such power it may raise money for the purpose by negotiating a panies, or obligating itself by this 13 Beav. 22. guaranty. The amendment should be trospective. Any relation which had (1894) 62 Fed. Rep. 856. theretofore been entered into with this ness, became the property of the fland railway company was not affected by company). To augment their value the amendment, and all which could be when sold, or pledged as collateral, lawfully done by reason of such exist their payment was guaranteed. It is ing lawful union might thereafter be true that when this guaranty was done, so long as it continued. Irreplaced upon the bonds, the clause in spective of the particular power rethe charter of the land company per- sulting from the 'temporary consolimitting a consolidation with a railroad dation,' and the relations resulting company had been repealed. Inas- therefrom, this obligation of the land much, however, as the connection be- company is valid, under the authority tween these two companies was of the cases holding that a corporation authorized when the latter acquired having the power to hind itself by the stock of the former, and paid or commercial paper might indorse or assumed its debts, and inasmuch as guaranty commercial obligations rethis alliance, union or 'temporary con- ceived in ordinary course of business, solidation' was in force when this re- and guaranteed when sold to augment pealing act took effect, and when these the price realized in their sale and bonds were guaranteed, we think it transfer." As to guaranteeing diviwas not prohibited by the repeal from dends, see Colman v. Eastern Rv. Co., continuing the union of the two com- 10 Beav. 1; Logan v. Earl of Courtown,

¹ Humboldt Min. Co. v. American construed as prospective and not re- Manufacturing, Mining & Milling Co.,

12 Thid.

loan and giving its promissory note for its payment. Additional authority given in the statute "to receive and hold in trust funds received by gift or bequest" will not confine it to that mode of raising it.2

§ 75. Banking associations.— The General Banking Law of New York did not give banking associations power, in express terms, to borrow money; but, notwithstanding this fact, the Supreme Court held that as such an association might become indebted, in the exercise of its undoubted legitimate business, it had, as a necessary incident, the power to borrow money for the purpose of paying its debts.3 The Court of Appeals of New York, in a case between the receiver of this same banking association and other parties, held to the same effect that these banking associations had capacity to borrow money as incidental to the banking business and to the powers expressly granted.4

Rep. 132.

Cush. 1.

³ Leavitt v. Blatchford, (1848) 5 sociation. ver bullion, foreign coins and bills of business." exchange; and it may become indebted upon such purchase.

¹Bradbury v. Boston Canoe Club, disappointment, unexpected losses, or (1891) 153 Mass. 77; s. c., 26 N. E. some unforeseen casualty, it has no available assets to meet its engage-² Ibid. Citing Fay v. Noble, 12 ments. This emergency may occur in the soundest and best regulated as-The question then must Barb. 9. Edwards, J., for the court, arise, whether a solvent institution is said: "Without reference to the bank- to fail to meet its liabilities, and be ing law, it is a general fundamental broken up and ruined, or whether it principle, that when a right is given, shall be permitted to substitute a all powers are given which are neces- credit for some convenient period of sary to the exercise and enjoyment of time, in the place of a debt then due the right. Now, it cannot be ques- and payable, or, in other words, tioned that a banking association may whether it can substitute one creditor become indebted, in the exercise of its in the place of another. The power undoubted legitimate business. It to borrow then is a necessary incident has the right to receive deposits, and to the power to become indebted. It it must become indebted for them. It is a power without which no banking has the right to purchase gold and sil- association could safely carry on its

4 Curtis v. Leavitt, (1857) 15 N. Y. 9. It requires Comstock, J., in the opinion rendered state stocks as a basis of its circula- by him, on page 63, stated the tion, and it may lawfully contract a doctrine in Barry v. Merchants' Exdebt in the purchase of state stocks change Company, 1 Sandf. Ch. 280, for that purpose. There may be 289, in the language of Assistant Viceother ways in which a banking asso- Chancellor Sandford: "A corporaciation can become legally indebted, tion, in order to attain its legitimate It may become liable for the payment objects, may deal precisely as an indiof its debts at a time when, owing to vidual may, who seeks to accomplish

§ 76. A savings bank's powers.— Every corporation created for transacting business, unless restrained by its charter or some statute, has, as a necessary incident, the power of incurring debts in the course of its legitimate business. For instance, in the case the same ends. If chartered for the ever varying exigencies of human afpurpose of building a bridge, it may fairs. It is plain that corporations, in contract a debt for labor, the materials, executing their express powers, are or the land upon which the bridge is not confined to means of such indismay borrow money to purchase such there could be no execution at all. debtedness, it may execute to the there are several modes of accomplishcreditors a note, a bond, or a mortgage, ing the end, neither one is indispenobjects of their charters. But neces- many degrees of comparison. great necessity and a small necessity, amongst those means.

If more advantageous, it pensable necessity that, without them, land or materials, or to pay for such The entire doctrine would lead at labor, and as the evidence of the in- once to a very great absurdity, for if whether the debt be for the money sable, and each would exclude all the borrowed, or the work, materials, or others. And thus, by inevitable logic, land." Comstock, J., said, on pages an express grant of power would lie 64, 65: "I confess my own inability to forever dormant because there are refute the doctrine so perspicuously more modes than one of carrying it laid down by Assistant Vice-Chancel- into execution. It is almost as diffilor SANDFORD. I am not aware that cult to say that the incidental power it comes in conflict with any known depends for its existence on the dedistinction between private persons gree of necessity which connects it and corporations. It is true that the with the power in chief. Such a doclatter take all their powers, direct and trine would impose upon courts a incidental, under their charters; but never-ending difficulty, for the inquiry when the direct power is granted in would plainly be whether the chosen terms, they take it, as a natural per-instrumentality is the very best that son enjoys it, with all its incidents could be selected, and if not the very and accessories. A simple association best, however minute the difference of merchants to build an exchange may be, then the inevitable decision could, if they so agreed with each must follow that the choice was fatally other, very appropriately borrow bad, although strictly adapted to the money in furtherance of the object, end in view, and made in the utmost and why can they not, if they take good faith. These demonstrations, the principal power under a charter for such they appear to me, would from the government, which enables seem to leave but one other conclusion, them to act as a single person, and which is, that corporations, along with with a collective will? It is truly said their specific powers, take all the reathat corporations can only exercise sonable means of execution, all that such incidental powers as are neces- are convenient and adapted to the end sary to carry into effect the express in view, although not the very best by sity is a word of flexible meaning, this is a doctrine which must neces-There may be an absolute necessity, a sarily result in the liberty of choice The choice and between these degrees there may may be wise or unwise. If made in be many others depending on the the exercise of an intelligent good of a savings bank it was held that it had the power to negotiate a loan from another bank and of making and indorsing negotiable paper in payment of such debts.1 § 77. Corporations dealing in lands.—The Supreme Court of California has held that "where a corporation was formed for the purpose of dealing in and speculating in real estate, and with the express power "to buy, improve, sell, lease and otherwise dispose of real estate" the term "improve" included the performance of any act, whether on or off the land, the direct and proximate tendency of which was to benefit or enhance its value. Therefore, a subscription made by such a corporation to a railroad company for the purpose of increasing the facilities and lessening the cost of transportation on the same, "where the direct and proximate tendency of such increase of facilities is to enhance the value of its lands" was held a valid and binding faith, the wisdom of the selection may adjudged case." his opinion, pages 210-213.

1 Fifth Ward Savings Bank v. First be called in question, but the power National Bank, (1886) 48 N. J. Law, to make it cannot be. I can, there- 513. DEPUE, J., speaking for the fore, see no room for the distinction Court of Errors and Appeals of New which admits the power of a corpora- Jersey, said: "Savings banks are estabtion to contract a debt for labor and lished for business purposes. Their materials to be used in building an ex- functions are to receive, hold and inchange, or a bridge, or a turnpike vest moneys that may be deposited road, or in manufacturing, those being with them, and to repay the money in each case the specified object of the deposited under reasonable regulations charter, but denies the right to bor- in their by-laws. In order to make row money to be used in the purchase the business successful, these instituof the same labor and materials. If tions are required to keep their money there be any reason for a distinction, invested as closely as may be conresting on a comparison of benefit to sistent with the ordinary demands of the corporation, the advantages of bor-depositors. But in seasons of financial rowing would in most cases be unde- excitements they may be subjected to niable. So, in point of public policy, extraordinary demands from deposthe reason for that preference would iters, to meet which and save the appear to be still stronger, for while credit of the institutions, large sums the industrial classes would require no of money may be required to be raised protection, the money lenders could on sudden and unforescen contingensafely be left to guard their own in- cies. At such times, the securities terests. I believe the distinction re- such institutions usually hold are ferred to is not recognized by any likely to be depressed in the market Brown, J., dis- and unsalable except at ruinous sacricusses these questions in his opinion, fices. If these institutions should not pages 157-161; SHANKLAND, J., in his have the power to borrow money and opinion, pages 166-169; PAIGE, J., in to make negotiable paper, or make a pledge of securities on which money contract.1 In a Pennsylvania case, where a corporation owned a large body of wild land and had power by its charter " to aid in the development of minerals and other materials, and to promote the clearing and settlement of the country," the Supreme Court held that the building of saw mills and a hotel for the accommodation of those having business in connection with carrying out the prime object of the corporation was within its powers.2 The Kansas Supreme Court, in an opinion delivered by Mr. Justice Brewer, now of the United States Supreme Court, held that where a corporation was created for the purpose of locating and laying out a town site, and making improvements thereon, it was within the power of such corporation to donate lands for the purpose of securing the erection and maintenance of a school upon property adjacent to that owned by the town site company; "that the direct and proximate tendency of the improvements sought to be obtained by the donation is the building up of the town, and the enhanced value of the remaining property. The purpose of the corporation is to build up the * * * and this purpose is directly furthered by such a donation." In the United States Circuit Court for the western district of Virginia it was held that an improvement company organized under an act of the legislature of that state, to buy and sell lands, erect, sell and lease buildings, to grade and improve streets, to furnish gas, electric light and water works, to construct and operate street railways, furnaces and mills, and to acquire by purchase or subscription the stock or bonds of any mining, manufacturing, water, gas, street railway, or other improvement company, had power to give part of its stock to a railway company in order to enable the latter to complete its line to the property of the improvement company.4 A corporation created for the purpose of dealing in lands, and to which the powers to pur-

if not financial ruin, would be the borrowing," probable result of every unexpected run upon the bank by depositors to withdraw their deposits. It is the existence of conditions and contin- 820. gencies of this kind likely to arise in the conduct of business that the law Co., (1893) 57 Fed. Rep. 262. recognizes as the ground for raising may be borrowed temporarily, great by implication a power in corporasacrifices in the sale of the securities tions to borrow money and give in which the trust funds are invested, negotiable security as a means of

¹ Vandall v. Dock Co. 40 Cal. 84.

² Watts' Appeal, 78 Pa. St. 370. ⁸ Whetstone v. University, 18 Kans.

⁴ McGeorge v. Big Stone Gap Imp.

chase, to subdivide, to sell, and to make any contract essential to the transaction of its business are expressly granted, possesses as fairly incidental the power to incur liability in respect of securing better facilities for transit to and from the lots or lands which it is its business to acquire and dispose of.1

§ 78. Insurance corporations.— A corporation created for the purpose of carrying on the business of insurance, with power to convert its bonds and stocks into cash, when needed, to pay risks, may, through its president borrow money and pledge its stock as collateral security.3 A corporation organized under the law of Indiana providing for the organization of life and accident insurance companies, has power to borrow money and secure its payment by mortgaging its real estate.8 The power to contract and be contracted with, is one of the common-law incidents of a corporation. Unless expressly restrained by its charter, every corporation has the incidental power to make any contract, and

Bridge Co., (1894) 151 U.S. 294; s.c., mate business methods to render the 14 Sup. Ct. Rep. 339, affirming a judg lands accessible. ment in favor of the bridge company expenditure of money or the assumpupon a contract to build a bridge over tion of liability, but there is no a river for which the corporation element in this case of any unreason agreed to pay a portion in its bonds. able excess in that regard, or of the FULLER, Ch. J., quoted in his pursuit of any abnormal and extraopinion as follows: In Green Bay & ordinary method. The result sought Minnesota Railroad v. Union Steam- was in accomplishment of the legitiboat Co., 107 U. S. 98, 100, it was mate objects of the corporation and said: "The charter of a corporation, essential to the transaction of its auread in connection with the general thorized business, and the power to laws applicable to it, is the measure make the contract was fairly incidental of its powers, and a contract mani- if not expressly granted." See, also, festly beyond those powers will not North Side Ry. Co. v. Worthington, sustain an action against the corpora- (Tex. Civ. App. 1894) 27 S. W. Rep. tion. But whatever, under the charter 746, following the case above. and other general laws, reasonably incidental to the objects for which the guished Levy v. Mutual Benefit Life corporation is created, is not to be taken as prohibited. the creation of the corporation was the express provision of the charter. acquisition and sale of lands on subdivision, and it cannot successfully be 324; s. c., 21 N. E. Rep. 907. denied that that object would be

¹ Fort Worth City Co. v. Smith directly promoted by the use of legiti-This involved the

² Bezou, Commissioner, v. Pike, (1871) construed, may fairly be regarded as 23 La Ann. 788. The court distin-& Fire Ins. Co., 8 La Ann. 380, in that the directors in that case did an act Further on, he said: "The object of in conflict or inconsistent with an evidence it by any instrument that may be necessary and proper to accomplish the objects for which it is created. A note or bill. therefore, made or received by such a corporation is prima facie within its corporate powers, and, therefore, valid. But when such a transaction is drawn in question, it is always competent to show that it was given or taken for a purpose not authorized. and when shown, the contract is void, and the instrument a nullity.2 A mutual life insurance company has been held in Connecticut to have the power, as incident to its business of insuring lives, to provide a guaranty fund by taking the notes of responsible parties, payable only if required for the purpose of meeting losses, and allowing a reasonable compensation to the makers of the notes for the use of their credit.8 A corporation clothed by its charter with power to transact the business of life, fire, and marine insurance, receive money on deposit, collect chanic Fire Ins. Co., 8 Wend. 94.

⁸ Wright v. Hughes, (1889), 119 Ind.

Archway Company, 5 Taunt. 792.

sary to the prosecution of their proper granted to such bodies."

1 Straus & Bro. v. Eagle Insurance business, and was shown by experience Co. of Cincinnati, (185b) 5 Ohio St. 59; to be such. We cannot, therefore, pro-N. Y. Firemen Insurance Company v. nounce that arrangement to be an Sturges, 2 Cow. 664; Barker v. Mc- illegitimate exercise of the powers conferred by their charter. Indeed, if ² Straus v. Eagle Insurance Co. of we were to declare it invalid on this Cincinnati, (1855) 5 Ohio St. 59, Brough- ground, we do not see why the broad ton v. Manchester Water Works, 3 ground must not be taken that, in the Barn, & Ald. 1; Munn r. Commission case of any corporation created for Co., 15 Johns. 44; New York Fire- the purpose of carrying on a parmen Ins. Co. v. Ely, 2 Cow. 678; N. Y. ticular kind of business requiring Firemen Ins. Co. r. Bennett, 5 Conn. credit in its prosecution, it would be 574: Philadelphia Loan Co. v. Towner, an excess of its power to engage or 13 Conn. 249; Korn v. Mut. Soc., 6 secure, in support or aid of its own Cranch, 199; Bank of Chillicothe v. credit, that of other persons in regard Swayne, 8 Ohio, 257; McCullough v. to the fulfillment of its contracts, even Moss, 5 Denio, 567; Slark v. Highgate when the exigencies of its business required such aid for its prosecution; 3 Hope Mutual Life Ins. Co. v. Weed, and the principle would even go so (1859) 28 Conn. 51. The court said: far as to prohibit the ordinary engage-"It was an arrangement which was ment of suretyship in behalf of such made, not as an end, but only as a corporation. Nothing is more commeans or instrument for the success- mon than the exercise of such a power ful prosecution of their main and by our pecuniary corporations, and the appropriate business. And the facts power is one from the exercise of before us conclusively show that such, which not only no evil, but the greatin the present instance, was the only est benefits to such corporations and design or motive with which it was to the public, has arisen. And it was entered into, and that it was resorted never before suggested that it was to by the plaintiffs as a matter neces- beyond the scope of the powers promissory notes, and bills of exchange, lend money, and discount or sell such notes or bills, and to "borrow money and issue its bonds therefor," is not restricted by this latter provision to making loans secured by bonds, but has the incidental and implied power, common to all such corporations, to borrow money, and make negotiable, or non-negotiable paper, and give such securities as may be deemed most advantageous.1 Under statutory authority to "invest their money in real or personal property, stocks or choses in action" an insurance corporation cannot subscribe for stock in a projected corporation.2

§ 79. Manufacturing corporations.— A corporation organized under the General Incorporation Act of Ohio, for the purpose of manufacturing and supplying gas to the inhabitants of a city or village, may borrow money to enable it to accomplish the legitimate objects of its creation, and secure the payment of the loan by note and a mortgage upon its property.8 A corporation, incorporated "for the purpose of manufacturing and selling glass" may purchase glassware, for the purpose of keeping up their stock and supplying customers, while the works which they manufacture in are being put in repair. A manufacturing corporation may incur a liability for a stock of merchandise to be sold by it in a retail store connected with their manufacturing

¹ Talladega Insurance Co. v. Peacock, Admr., (1880) 67 Ala. 253; Allen Board of Revenue of Montgomery r. Montgomery R. R. Co., 11 Ala. 454; County, 99 Ala. 1; s. c., 14 So. Rep. Mobile & Cedar Point Ry. Co. r. Talman, 15 Ala. 491; Lucas c. Pitney, 27 N. J. Law, 221; Railroad Company v. Co., (1876) 29 Ohio St. 380 Howard, 7 Wall. 411. In Trenton meet the exigency."

² Commercial Fire Insurance Co. v.

3 Hays v. Galion Gas Light & Coal

⁴Lyndeborough Glass Co. v. Massa-Mutual Life & Fire Insurance Co. v. chusetts Glass Co., (1873) 111 Mass. McKelway, (1858) 12 N. J. Eq. 133, 315. The court said: "They succeeded 136, Chancellor Williamson said: "It a former company which had been cannot be denied but that the corpora- engaged in the same business; it was tion might borrow money under some important that they should retain the circumstances, and that a contract old customers. They were repairing hona fide made for such loan would be their manufactory and machinery and illegal [legal?], and not in contraven- these goods were bought to keep in tion of the charter. For instance, their stock and enable them to fill should the corporation incur a loss, orders from their customers until they and not have the available means could supply themselves from their promptly to meet it, it would not be own manufactory. Such purchases illegal for them to make a loan to are auxiliary and incidental to the main purposes of their incorporation business, as a convenience or necessity thereto.1 A corporation manufacturing machinery may purchase cotton for use in packing its manufactures for cash or on credit and give its evidences of debt for the same.2 A manufacturing and mercantile corporation may incur a liability in the nature of a reward to one causing the apprehension of persons charged with crime and their conviction.3

8 80. Mining corporations.—The power to borrow money is an incident to the corporate powers of a mining corporation.4 It is a necessary incident of a mining corporation that it shall have power to contract and to bind itself to those dealing with it in matters within the intent of the charter, even though the charter contains no express grant or power to contract or incur indebtedness.5 A corporation, the purpose of which by the act creating it is to mine and transport coal, may purchase and use a steamboat for the purpose of transporting and delivering coal.6 A corporation organized for mining purposes has power to purchase timber.7 But it has no authority to issue accommodation paper and deliver it to strangers.8 The board of directors of a

326."

Rep. 828; Ricord v. Railroad Co., 15 Nev. 167; Express Co. v. Patterson, 73 Ind. 430. In National Bank of Republic v. Edward C. Young, Receiver, etc., (1886) 41 N. J. Eq. 581, it was held that a corporation created v. King, (1872) 45 Ga. 34. for the purpose of carrying on a manufacturing business had implied power to make negotiable paper for use within the scope of its business. but no power to become a party to bills or notes for the accommodation 92. of others. In Sumner v. Marcy. 3 and are fairly within the scope of the Woodb. & M. 105, it was held that a powers conferred upon them by law. manufacturing corporation could not Brown r. Winnisimmet Co., 11 Allen, legally invest money in a bank for the purpose of carrying on the banking Dauchy v. Brown, (1852) 24 Vt. business; nor could it issue promissory notes in payment of shares in a ²Gist v. Drakely, 2 Gill, (Md) 330, banking company which would bind the corporation or its members. As to ³ Norwood & Butterfield Co. v. the incidental power of a private cor-Andrews, (1894) 71 Miss. 641; s. c., porution to make any contract neces-16 So. Rep. 262. Citing Railroad Co. sary to advance the objects for which v. Cheatham. 85 Ala. 292; s. c., 4 So. it was created, see Legrand v. Manhattan Mercantile Association, (1880) 80 N. Y. 638, affg. 44 N. Y. Super. Ct. 562. ⁴Kent v. Quicksilver Mining Co., (1879) 78 N. Y. 159.

⁵ Wood Hydraulic Hose Mining Co.

Callaway M. & M. Co. v. Clark, (1862) 32 Mo. 305.

⁷ Adams Mining Co. v. Senter, (1872) 26 Mich. 78,

⁸ Beecher v. Dacey, (1881) 45 Mich.

mining corporation which is empowered to enter into any contracts essential to its ordinary business may borrow money for the purposes of the corporation and invest certain of its officers with power to negotiate loans, etc.1 That such officers have been invested with power to negotiate loans, etc., may be shown otherwise than by official record of the board's proceedings.2

§ 81. Railroad corporations.—A corporation incorporated for the construction of a railway has power to agree to pay for its right of way in bonds.3 A railroad company, granted a right to construct a particular line of road, with general power to purchase all kinds of property of whatever nature, may purchase from another railroad company a road constructed on that line if the latter company has the power to sell it.4 Corporations created for the construction of railroads, in the absence of limitation or restraint by statute, have power to borrow money and to make bonds, bills or promissory notes for its repayment, and also power to mortgage their property, real or personal, as a security for such evidences of debt. These are powers necessary and proper to enable them to accomplish the purposes of their creation, and are regarded as incidental or implied, though not expressly conferred by the charter or act of incorporation.5 A railroad corporation, with power to construct and maintain a railroad, cannot, however, incur a debt for an examination of mines along its route by an expert and a report upon the extent of the output of the same, this being a matter not within the legitimate purposes of its creation.6

§ 82. The same subject continued.—A railroad company has no right, under an authority to borrow money, to raise money

Bank, 104 U. S. 192.

² Ibid.

R. R. Co., (1886) 103 N. Y. 58; s. c., 4 File Co., L. R. (6 (h) 83, Monument Cent. Rep. 191.

⁴Branch v. Jesup, 106 U. S. 468.

R. R. Co, (1877) 58 Ala 489; Rich- Y. 9. ards v. Railroad, 44 N. II. 127; Com-Lancaster, (1878) 62 Ala. 555 As to Davis v. Railroad Co., 181 Mass. 259.

¹ Mining Co. v. Anglo-Californian the implied power of a corporation to borrow money needed for its legitimate purposes, and give security ³ Munson r. Syracuse, Geneva, etc., therefor to the lender, see In re Patent Nat. Bank v. Globe Works, 101 Mass. 57; Hays r. Galion Gas Light Co., 29 ⁵ Kelly v. Trustees of Ala. & Cinn. Ohio St. 830; Curtis v. Leavitt, 15 N.

Georg v. Nevada Central Railroad monwealth v. Smith, 10 Allen, 448; Co, (Nev. 1894) 38 Pac. Rep. 441; citing Savannah & Memphis R. R. Co. v. Thomas r. Railroad Co., 101 U. S. 82;

by the issue of irredeemable bonds entitling the holder merely to a share of the earnings after the payment of a certain dividend to the stockholders; neither has it the right to issue interest-bearing bonds, secured by mortgage, if a portion of such bonds are perpetual.1 Under the laws of Wisconsin railroad companies were given power to make such contracts with railroads terminating on the eastern shore of Lake Michigan, within the state of Michigan, as would enable them to run their roads in connection with each other, etc., and to "build, construct and run as a part of their corporate property such number of steamhoats or vessels as they may deem necessary to facilitate their The Supreme Court of the United States has held that, under the power given by the above-mentioned statutes, a railroad company could contract with a steamboat company to run in connection with its line, and might lawfully guarantee that their earnings should not fall below a certain sum.2 A cor-

"It does not propose to create the return the property borrowed. borrowed, because that implies reimbursement, and it is not demandable defendant. It has not the essential and distinguishing qualities of a loan. It contemplates a stipulation that the subscribers, in consideration of the sums paid, not lent, by them, shall be entitled to receive, in a remote and uncertain contingency, a portion of the defendant's earnings, to be measured by a certain rate per cent upon three times the sums paid by them, and after that shall participate with the common shareholders in the di-

¹Taylor v Philadelphia & Reading this question: "Every admissible defi-R. R. Co., (1881) 7 Fed. Rep. 386. nition of the term borrow or loan, as Mckennan, C. J., referring to the applied to money and commercial proposition to issue such bonds, said. transactions, embraces an obligation to relation of debtor and creditor be- loan of money is universally undertween the defendant and the sub- stood to be the delivery of a certain scribers. The money obtained by the sum to another on contract for its redefendant could not be regarded as turn, generally with interest, as compensation for its detention and use. To call the payment of money to anby the subscribers or payable by the other, who is to receive and permanently retain it as his own, in consideration of an annual benefit or profit. a loan, would seem to be a plain misuse of language." See Kent r. Quicksilver Mining Co., 78 N. Y. 159, 177; Burt r. Rattle, 31 Ohio St. 116.

² Green Bay & W. R. Co. v. Union Steamboat Co., 107 U. S. 98; s. c., 2 Sup. Ct. Rep. 221, in which case Justice GRAY said: "Whatever under the charter or other general laws, reasonably considered, may fairly be revision of the residuary earnings. By garded as incidental to the objects for what allowable definition of a loan or which the corporation is created, is not borrowing such a transaction can be to be taken as prohibited." In Pearce embraced I am at a loss to conceive." v. Madison & Indianapolis R. R. Co., BUTLER, D. J., concurring, said upon (1858) 21 How. 441, the Supreme poration formed for the purpose of constructing a railroad cannot engage in the business of running a line of steamers.1 Neither can it engage in the banking business in order to raise a fund with which to construct or operate its road.² Authority in the charter of a railroad corporation to "obtain by purchase or any steamboats * * * that the said directors may deem necessary, profitable and convenient for this corporation to own, use and manage in connection with its said railroads" does not carry with it the power to buy off an opposition line of steamers with a view not of employing but of withdrawing them from the field of competition.8 The power to issue to contractors in payment for work due negotiable certificates of indebtedness, payable in money or bonds, is included in the power granted a railroad corporation by its charter to build a road and issue bonds to pay therefor.1

§ 83. Raising money by borrowing notes and indorsement of them.—In a leading New Jersey case, the president and directors of a railroad company agreed among themselves that they would execute their individual several notes to the company and the latter should raise money upon them for the purposes of the corporation. The note involved in this action was never directly negotiated by the company to raise money, but was indersed by the company as a renewal of former such notes and finally delivered to one to whom the company was indebted for money, in payment of that indebtedness. It was insisted before the Court of Errors and Appeals that the provision in the charter of the company "that the said corporation shall have power to borrow such sum or sums of money from railroad corporation, to be run in connection with its business, was not authorized by its charter or within its power as necessary or incident to its business, and that there could be no recovery upon the notes given for its purchase. The court cited in support Wis. 575, 580. of their ruling: MacGregor v. The Official Manager of the Deal & Dover Donovan, (1877) 58 Ala. 241. Railway, 16 Eng. Law & Eq. 180; Col-10 Beav. 1; East Anglian Railways Co. 434.

Court of the United States held that v. Eastern Counties Railway Co., 11 C. the purchase of a steambout by the B. 803; Head c. Providence Insurance Co., 2 Cranch, 127; Bank of Augusta, v. Earle, 13 Pet. 519; Perrine v. Chesapeake & Delaware Canal Co., 9 How.

> ¹McCarty v. Roots, 21 How. 432. ² Waldo c. Chicago R. R. Co., 14

⁸ Morgan & Raynor, Trustees, v.

⁴ Pusey v. New Jersey West Line man v. Eastern Counties Railway Co., R. R. Co., (1873) 14 Abb. Pr. (N. S.)

time to time, as shall be necessary to build, construct or repair said road, and furnish the said corporation with all the necessary engines and machinery for the uses and objects of the said company, and to secure the payment thereof by bond or mortgage. or otherwise," was a limitation of the power of the company to borrow money for specified purposes, and in the mode designated, and was tantamount to a prohibition of the company's borrowing money for any other purpose or upon any other security than that specified. The court held that it was within the power of the company to raise money through borrowing these notes and indorsing them to others for its indebtedness.1 grant of additional power.

Lucas v. Pitney, (1858) 27 N. J. or for its necessary purposes. It is Law, 221. Chief Justice Green in conceded that the corporation has the opinion rendered said that this such powers only as are expressly section of the charter "was designed conferred by charter or necessarily innot as a limitation or restriction of the cident to those powers. If it may powers of the corporation, but as a lawfully contract debts, it would seem clear that it may enter into obligations The corporations are clothed with to pay those debts or borrow money powers, which, independent of that for that purpose. The power of inprovision, they could not have exer- curring debts in the course of its legitcised. But there is nothing in the imate business, of giving notes, or provision which, by necessary implica- borrowing money for the payment of tion or by fair intendment, can be such debts would seem necessarily inconstrued to limit the general powers cident to every corporation whose and capacities incident to every cor- business involved the expenditure of poration." On the part of the defend- large sums of money, and often upon ant, it was insisted that a corporation sudden and unforescen contingencies. can make no contract which is not Such it is believed is the universal necessary to enable it to answer the custom of all important corporations object of its incorporation; that the whether private or municipal. The loaning of money, or the borrowing authorities in support of the practice of notes to be discounted in market, is are abundant. Our statute recognizes not necessary to the operation of a bodies politic or corporate as persons railroad company; and that, conse- by whom promissory notes and bills quently, the making or indorsement of exchange may be drawn, indorsed of commercial paper by such com- and accepted. Nix. Dig. 667, § 4 pany as a security for money loaned (N. J.). The technical doctrine that a and the indorsement of notes bor- corporation can contract only under its rowed for the purpose of raising corporate seal, was long since exmoney were void acts. To this in- ploued. In Munn v. The Commission sistment the chief justice said. "The Co., 15 Johns. R. 44, it was held that simple inquiry is whether a railroad a corporation of limited powers might company has, as a necessary incident, engage to pay or advance money at a the inherent power of borrowing future day by the acceptance of a bill money for the payment of its debts of exchange. In Mott v. Hicks, 1

§ 84. Evidences of indebtedness—form.—At common law a corporation has power to issue a bond or note to pay a debt. The weight of modern authority supports the conclusion that private corporations, organized for pecuniary profit, may, like individuals, borrow money whenever the nature of their business renders it proper or expedient that they shall do so. subject only to such express limitations as are imposed by their charter. The power to borrow carries with it, by implication, unless restrained by the charter, the power to secure the loan by mortgage. Accordingly, it may be regarded as settled, that where general authority is given a corporation to engage in business, and there are no special regraints in its charter, it takes the power as a natural person enjoys it, with all its incidents and accessories; it may borrow mone, to attain its legitimate objects, precisely as an individual, and bind itself by any form of obligation not forbidden.2 Unless restrained by legislative enactment paper for a debt contracted in the incorporation was created." course of its proper business. This is Hill, 265; Barker v. The Mcchanic Watts & S. 223. Ins. Co., 8 Wend, 96. Furniss v. Gilporations carrying on business under Hotel Co., 106 Ill. 439; Booth v.

Cowen, 513, it was held that a private no restraining act may make promiscorporation might give a negotiable sory notes and draw bills of expromissory note for a debt incurred in change, where these are the usual its ordinary business. In Kelley v. and proper means to accomplish the Mayor of Brooklyn, 4 Hill, 263, it was purposes of their organization; that held that a municipal corporation may such notes and bills are to be preissue negotiable paper for a debt con-sumed legal and valid where they are tracted in the course of its proper busi- not prohibited by law and are reness; and in delivering the opinion of crived in good faith, and that they the court Cowen, J., said. "Inde- are invalid when given in violation of pendently of any statute provision, law, or when given for purposes a corporation may issue negotiable wholly foreign to those for which the ¹McLane, Trustee, v. Placerville & a power incident to allecorporations, Sacramente Valley R. R. Co., (1885) and no provision in its charter or else- 66 Cal. 606; citing Commonwealth v. where, merely directing a certain Smith, 10 Allen, 448; Cours. of form in affirmative words should be Craven v. Atlantic & N. C. R. R. Co., so construed as to take away the 77 N C 289; Miller v New York & The same general principle Erie R. R. Co. 18 How. Pr. 374; will be found in Moss v. Oakley, 2 Dana v. Bank of United States, 5

⁹ MITCHELL, J., in Wright v. christ, 1 Sandf. Sup. Ct R. 53, Angell Hughes, (1889) 119 Ind. 324; s. c., 21 & Ames on Corp. § 257: Pierce on N E. Rep. 907; New England, etc., Railroads, 372. The result of the Ins. Co. v. Robinson, 25 Ind. 536; authorities, to adopt the language of Jones v. Guaranty, etc., Co., 101 U. a recent writer, seems to be that cor- S. 622; Reichwald v. Commercial to a specific mode of contracting, the contracts a corporation has capacity to make may be made in that manner or form in which a similar contract by an individual could be made. A private corporation, authorized to "borrow money and issue their bonds therefor," may bind itself by simple as well as by sealed contracts.2

& 85. More rules on this subject.—There is a capacity in a cornoration to enter into any obligation or make any contract essential for its purposes and for the transaction of its ordinary affairs. Such a power to contract existing, the power may be exercised by the corporation or its proper officers as a natural person can contract unless its charter presents some particular mode of contracting.3 Promissory notes may be given by trad-

843.

country, is now obsolete."

Co., (1871) 46 Ala. 376 · Bank of Co., 6 Ad. & E. 846. Columbia r. Patterson, 7 Cranch, 299;

Robinson, 55 Md. 419; Hays v. Galion seal, see Arnold v. Mayor of Poole, 2 Gus Light Co., 29 Ohio St. 330; Dowl. (N. S.) 574; Bowen v. Morris, Memphis, etc., R. R. Co. v. Dow, 19 2 Taunt. 374; Paine v. Guardians of Fed. Rep 388; Creen's Brice's Ultra Strand Union, 8 Q. B. 326; Cox v. Vires, 228; 1 Moraw, on Corp. §§ 342, Midland Counties Railway Co., 3 Exch. 268, Lamprell v. Billericuy, 3 ¹Trustees of University v. Moody, Exch. 306. How far they confine (1878) 62 Ala. 389. BRICKELL, Ch. J. liability on promissory notes and bills said: "The technical rule of the of exchange to trading corporations ancient common law, that a corpora-only, see Mayor of Ludlow r. Charlton, tion could not manifest its intentions 6 Mees. & W. 815; Murray v. East by any personal act or oral discourse, India Co., 5 B. & Ald. 204; Broughton and that it spoke and acted only by its v. Manchester W. Wks., 3 Barnw. & common seal, if it ever obtained in this Ald. 1; Beverley v. Lincoln Gas Co., 6 Ad. & E 829 · Rew v. Pettet, 1 A. ² McCullough v. Talladega Insurance & El. 196; Church v. Imp. Gas Light

³McKiernag v. Lenzen, (1880) 56 Talladega Ins. Co. v. Landers, 43 Ala. Cal. 61. As to what officers of a cor-115. That corporations may contract. poration may do in connection with as individuals do, in matters pertain- the affairs of a corporation, see Gillett ing to their business, see Smead v. v. Campbell, 1 Denio, 520, 522: Carey Indianapolis, etc., R. R. Co., 11 Ind. v. Giles, 10 Ga. 10; Phillips v. Camp-104; Talman v. Rochester City Bank, bell, 43 N. Y. 271. As to what a gen-18 Barb. 128. As to the power of a eral manager cannot do, see Stow n. corporation expressly or impliedly Wyse, 7 Conn. 219; Hawtayne v. authorized to borrow money being Bourne, 7 Mees, & W 595; Life & exercised by issuance of negotiable Fire Ins. Co. v. Mechanic Fire Ins. bonds, see Des Moines Gas Co. v. West, Co., 7 Wend. 31; Knight v. Lang, 4 (1878) 50 Iowa, 16. For rules in E D. Smith, 381; Benedict v. Lansing, English cases as to liability of cor- 5 Denio, 288; Torrey v. Dustin Monuporations upon contracts not under ment Association, 5 Allen, 827, 829; ing corporations for any indebtedness contracted within the scope of their powers, and it may prima facie be presumed that any notes given by them are for an indebtedness within the scope of their powers.1 The power of a corporation to create debts and to make promissory notes is an incident to the power conferred by statute of California "to make by-laws, " " * organization of the company, the management of its property, the regulation of its affairs, the transfer of its stock and for carrying on all kinds of business within the objects and purposes of the company." 2 The provision of the statute of California that "no corporation created or to be created shall by any implication or construction be deemed to possess the power of issuing bills, notes or other evidences of debt upon loans or for circulation as money" has been construed not to prohibit the borrowing of money by corporations and issuing the usual evidences of debt therefor.8 The constitutional provision of California forbidding, except on certain conditions, the increase by corporations of their bonded indebtedness has been held not to forbid the execution of non-negotiable notes and mortgages by a corporation in consideration of the promise by the payee of the notes and mortgages to advance money and deliver lumber as needed by the corporation for improvement of the mortgaged property. A building association, the charter of wnich vests it with such power as to enable it to borrow money and to make loans to its members with a view to accomplish the purpose of its formation, may employ the usual legal methods of effecting this purpose, subject to such restrictions as that it shall not issue paper currency, for instance. And, having the right to effect a loan, it, through its officers, in their discretion, may give a promissory note for the purpose, and it may issue such a note for an intended indebtedness.5 It is competent for any manufacturing corporation organized under the general laws of Minnesota to execute promissory notes as evidence of the debts it may lawfully contract.6

Despatch Line of Packets v. Bellamy Luse v. Isthmus Transit Ry. Co., 6 s. c., 28 Pac. Rep. 1049. Oreg. 125.

- ¹ Gebhard v. Eastman, 7 Minn. 56.
- ² Smith v. Eureka Flour Mills Co., (1856) 6 Cal. 1.
- & Mining Co., (1855) 5 Cal. 258.

4 Underhill v. Santa Barbara Land, Manufacturing Co., 12 N. H. 205, 228; Building & Imp. Co., 93 Cal. 300;

Davis v. West Saratoga Building Union, (1869) 32 Md. 285.

⁶ Sullivan v. Murphy, 23 Minn. 6. In Bacon v. Mississippi Insurance Co., ³ Magee v. Mokelumne Hill Canal 2 George (Miss.), 116, the Supreme Court of Mississippi held that a corporaunder our general credit system, and the manner and modes of doing business, the success and prosperity of manufacturing corporations and other enterprises of like character would be greatly impeded and embarrassed, if not utterly destroyed, without the capacity and power to contract debts, borrow money and make and receive bills of exchange and promissory notes, these powers will be inferred where there are no prohibitions to the contrary in their charters. A manufacturing corporation, declared by general law for the incorporation of such an one, "capable of buying, purchasing, holding and conveying any lands or tenements, hereditaments, goods, wares and merchandise whatever, necessary to enable [it] to carry on their manufacturing operations * * * ," has power to execute its promissory notes upon the purchase of such personal property or in liquidating the claims of its employees in its legitimate transactions. It also possesses power to borrow money for the same purposes and to bind itself in its corporate capacity by a written obligation for its payment.² A corporation authorized to construct a building for its use and purposes may accept an order drawn upon it by a materialman for material furnished and payable out of money due such materialman.8 There can be no recovery on a note given by a corporation on a contract beyond the scope of its power.4 A corporation being authorized by its charter to incur indebtedness and give evidence thereof, one dealing in its securities may, in the absence of notice to the contrary, assume that restrictions upon its power have not been violated.5

tion having power to loan money on and in the same manner as individuals bottomry, respondentia, etc., had no engaged in like business. And when power to borrow money, and prinut they do so, and confine themselves to facts no power to make a promissory the purposes and objects of their innote. As to making promissory notes corporation, they should not be by private corporations in the course deemed as transcending their auof their legitimate business, see Brode thority, but should be regarded as v. Firemen's Insurance Co., 8 Rob. (La.) acting within the scope of those Navigation Co., 3 La. Ann. 294.

46 Ala. 98; New York Firemen Ins. given." Co. v. Sturges, 2 Cowen, 664.

Mead v. Keeler, (1857) 24 Barb. 20. v. Smith, (1880) 58 Miss. 801. It was further said by the court. "It is to be presumed that [corporations] 441. will conduct their operations in detail

244; Louisiana State Bunk v. Orleans implied incidental powers necessary to the full and advantageous develop-Oxford Iron Co. v. Spradley, (1871) ment of those which are expressly

'Board of Trustees of Prairie Lodge

⁴ Pearce v. Madison R. R., 21 How.

⁵ National Park Bank v. Germansubstantially upon the same principles American Warehousing, etc., Oc., tion may make a promissory note for a debt contracted in the course of its legitimate business, although not specifically authorized by its charter to contract in that form.1

§ 86. Bonds of a banking association.—In a case before the Court of Appeals of New York, the court held certain evidences of debt, called bonds, payable at different periods, issued by this banking association, intended for sale in London, to raise money for the uses of the association, bearing interest payable semi-annually in London, not naming the place for the payment of the principal, with the corporate seal impressed upon each bond, but without the use of wax or other tenacious substance, not to be within the prohibition of the restraining laws, and to be valid securities for the money loaned thereon, even if regarded as unscaled obligations, and, therefore, in legal effect, mere promissory notes.2

(1886) 53 N. Y. Super, Ct. 367; following Ellsworth v. St. Louis, Alton & Terre Haute R. R. Co., 98 N. Y. 558.

¹ Moss v. Oakley, (1842) 2 Hill, 265; citing Mott v. Hicks, 1 Cow. 518; Barker v. Mechanic Fire Ins. Co., 3 Wend. 94. Later, in a case in the Chancery Court of New York, Attorney-General v. Life & Fire Insurance Co., (1842) 9 Paige, 470, the chancellor, WALWORTH, held that a corporation which was not prohibited by law from doing so, and without any express power in its charter for that purpose, might make a negotiable promissory note, payable either at a future day or upon demand, where such note the legitimate purposes for which further held that where such notes have been issued and put in circulation in violation of a restraining law, it seems the holder is bound to show that he received them in the ordinary course of business and paid a valuable of the illegal object for which they thereon as a bona fide holder.

² Curtis v. Leavitt, (1857) 15 N. Y. 9. Speaking as to the power of corporations to issue such paper, Comstock, J., in his opinion, on page 66, said: "The right of corporations in general to give a note, bond or other engagement to pay a debt is so nearly identical, or so inseparably connected with the right, to contract the debt that no doubt upon the question ought to be admitted. When a corporation can lawfully purchase property or procure money on loan in the course of its business, the seller or the lender may exact, and the purchaser or borrower must have the power to give, any known assurance, which does not was in fact made or given for any of fall within the prohibition, express or implied, of some statute. The parthe company was incorporated. He ticular restriction must be sought for in the charter of the corporation, or in some other statute binding upon it; but if not found in that examination, we may safely affirm that it has no existence. This doctrine would seem to be clear in principle, and it is well settled consideration for them, without notice in this state. Mott v. Hicks, 1 Cow. 513; Barker v. Mechanic Ins. Co., 8 were issued, to entitle him to recover Wend. 96; Jackson v. Brown, 5 Wend. 590; Moss v. Oakley, 2 Hill, 265; At-

§ 87. Power to secure their indebtedness.—It is now well settled that corporations, like individuals, may borrow money for the conduct of their affairs, without express authority therefor. whenever the nature of their business may render it proper or expedient. And the power to borrow carries with it very generally, unless expressly restrained, the power to secure the loan by mortgage.1 Having negotiated a loan for the advancement of its best interests, a corporation may pledge, as security for the loan, unissued stock held by it in trust.2 The power to sell such securities for the payment of its debts, includes the power of the corporation to pledge securities owned by it for the same purpose.8 The securities of a corporation may be lawfully pledged by the directors of a solvent corporation to secure individual demands of directors and others, due or to accrue, for money loaned to the corporation.4

§ 88. Limitation of indebtedness.—A limitation by statute of the amount of debts of a corporation includes indebtedness to the directors as well as indebtedness to third parties. special charter."

Steamship Co. v. Mounsey, 4 K. & J. 783; Curtis v. Leavitt, 15 N. Y. 9; Clark v. Titcomb, 42 Barb. 122; Barry v. Merchants' Exchange Co., 1 Sandf. Ch. 280; Life Insurance Co. v. Mechanic Ins. Co., 7 Wend. 31; Barnes Rep. 273. v. Ontario Bank, 19 N. Y. 152; Smith v. Law, 21 N. Y. 296; Nelson r. Eaton, Fed. Rep. 802. 26 N. Y. 410; Holbrook v. Basset, 5 Bosw, 147; Lucas v. Pitney, 27 N. J. Barb, 382.

torney-General v. Life & Fire Ins. Co., Law, 221; Hackettstown v. Swack-9 Paige, 470; Safford v. Wyckoff, 4 Hill, hamer, 37 N. J. Law, 191; Ridgway 442, Barry v. Merchants' Exchange v. Farmers' Bank, 12 Serg. & R. 256; Co., 1 Sandf, Ch. 280. It would be a Oxford Iron Co. v. Spradley, 46 Ala. very illogical conclusion to hold that 98; Ala. Gold Life Ins. Co. v. Central, an indefinite number of corporations, etc., Assn., 54 Ala. 73; Union Bank r. authorized by a general law, do not Jacobs, 6 Humph. 515; Moss r. Harpeth possess the same right in this respect, Academy, 7 Heisk. 283; Commercial which they would have if the express Bank v. Newport Mig. Co., 1 B. Mon. powers of each were derived from a 14; Bank of Chillicothe r. Chillicothe, 7 Ohio, pt. 2, 31; Hamilton v. ¹Booth v. Robinson, (1880) 55 Md. Newcastle R. R. Co., 9 Ind. 359; Rock-419; Susquehanna Bridge Co. v. In- well v. Elkhorn Bank, 13 Wis. 653; surance Co., 3 Md. 305; Australian Thompson v. Lambert, 44 Iowa, 239; Bradley v. Ballard, 55 Ill. 413; Gause v. City of Clarksville, 7 Rep. 519; Beers v. Phœnix Glass Co., 14 Barb. Union Mining Co. v. Rocky Mountain 358; Mead v. Keeler, 24 Barb. 20; Nat. Bank, 2 Colo. 248; Magee v. Partridge v Badger, 25 Barb. 146; Mokelumne Hill Canal Co., 5 Cal. 258.

² Combination Trust Co. v. Weed. 2 Fed. Rep. 24.

³ Leo v. Union Pac. Ry. Co., 17 Fed.

⁴Stout v. Yaeger Milling Co., 13

⁵ Tallmadge v. Fishkill Iron Co., 4

before the Court of Common Pleas of New York city, it has been held that where a corporation adopted a by-law providing that all contracts by it involving a liability for $500 or more must be in writing, executed by both the president and treasurer, and attested by the seal of the company, the company cannot be held liable on a lease to it reserving a rent exceeding $500, and executed by the president alone, without the seal of the company; and this whether the lessor had notice of the by-law or not.1 And in such case, no ratification could be based on the treasurer's knowledge of the facts where his testimony that he refused to sign the lease was wholly uncontradicted.2 The Kansas Supreme Court has held that a private corporation organized under the statute of that state was bound by a contract within the scope of its business, by which an indebtedness greater than $500 was incurred, notwithstanding a provision in its charter that its indebtedness should not exceed $500, as this provision was merely directory, and the statute under which it was organized did not require its indebtedness to have any limit other than the amount of its capital stock.8

§ 80. Debt limited by par value of capital stock.— A street railway company, a Pennsylvania corporation, was authorized by its charter to borrow money not exceeding in amount "one-balf of the par value of the capital stock." The capital authorized in the act of the legislature granting its charter was $1,000,000. Only ten per cent, or $100,000, of the authorized amount was paid in. The directory of the company by resolution authorized an issue of bonds, to be secured by mortgage to the amount of subsequent adoption or ratification of etc., 20 N. Y. 312-319." the president's act by the trustees, Sherman Center Town Company predicated upon the neglect of the v. Morris, 43 Kans. 282; s. c., 28 Pac. trustees to repudiate the transaction Rep. 569.

¹ Bohm v. V. Loewer's Gambrinus when it was brought to their notice. 326.

Brewery Co., (1890) 16 Daly, 80; s. c., * * * The trustees * * * as 9 N. Y. Supp. 514, following Rath- such, could not, pursuant to the proburn v. Snow, 3 N. Y. Supp. 925. visions of the by-laws mentioned, See, also, Westerfield v. Radde, 7 Daly, have originally created any liability on behalf of the corporation exceeding ² Bohm v. V. Loewer's Gambrinus five hundred dollars in amount; and Brewery Co., (1800) 16 Daly, 80; s. c., it cannot be said that they can by im-9 N. Y. Supp. 514. Bischoff, J., plication do the acts prohibited in unsaid: "An attempt was made by the equivocal terms. Peterson n. Mayor, plaintiff, upon the trial, to show a etc., 17 N. Y. 449; Brady v. Mayor,

$250,000. A bill in equity having been filed by the commonwealth to restrain by injunction the issue of these bonds to the extent proposed, an injunction was decreed, from which an appeal was entered to the Supreme Court of the state. Before the latter the contention of the company was that the grant of power in their charter authorized an issue of bonds for the purpose of borrowing money to the amount of one-half of their authorized capital. The Supreme Court held adversely to this contention, and sustained the decree of the court which enjoined an issue of the bonds beyond the amount of $50,000, one-half of the amount of the stock actually paid in.1

¹Commonwealth v. Lehigh Ave. measures his relative interest in the capital of the company.

Ry. Co., (1889) 129 Pa. St. 405; s. c., whole. As between himself and the 18 Atl. Rep. 414, 498; 7 Ry. & Corp. corporation, or his fellow-subscribers, L. J. 42. WILLIAMS, J., for the court, or the public, his share of the upon the question of what constitutes whole stock is fixed by the proportion the capital stock of a corporation and which his actual contribution bears to its par value, discusses the question, the entire amount contributed by all quite in extense as follows: "The who are associated in the enterprise. words stock and capital stock may * * * Does the corporation stand be defined as meaning the fund or on better ground than its members? property belonging to a firm or cor- It claims the right to issue bonds beporation, and used to carry on its cause of its stock. We must inquire, This is contributed by therefore, first, what is the amount those who embark in the business, of its stock? And, next, what is the The articles of copartnership, or the par value of a share of that stock? charter of the corporation, fix the We think the first of these questions maximum amount of stock that may is, in the light of the facts in this case, be issued, and this may properly be answered by repeated decisions of this spoken of as the proposed or au- court. Whether it be for the purpose thorized capital of the company, of adjusting and paying dividends When an organization is effected, sub- to stockholders, or of regulating the scriptions are made to the stock, by amount of taxes due to municipalities which the subscribers agree to take having the right and power to tax the and pay for certain sums or shares amounts of stock actually paid is the each. The total amount of the stock capital stock of the company. Citithus taken constitutes the subscribed zens' Pass, Ry. Co. v. Philadelphia, 49 Some of Pa. St. 251. Neither the cost of the these subscriptions may not be paid road, nor the authorized capital can and may be uncollectible, but when be made the basis of dividends or the amount subscribed, or called for taxation, but these must rest on the upon subscriptions, has been collected, amount of capital stock actually paid so far as collection is practicable, the in. Second & Third St. Pass. Ry. Co. amount so gathered into the treasury v. Philadelphia, 51 Pa. St. 465; Philaconstitutes the actual capital on which delphia v. Philadelphia & Gray's the business is undertaken. The Ferry Pass. Ry. Co., 52 Pa. St. 177; amount paid by each subscriber Philadelphia v. Ridge Avenue Ry. Co., § 90. When a statutory limitation of indebtedness does not apply.- In a Minnesota case where the corporation, a milling company organized under the general statute of that state.

what he has paid upon it; no more, cited above, no less. That value may be increased substantially ruled by them. for purposes of taxation or payment ings of the corporation.

102 Pa. St. 190. The company have cited, which hold that, for the appellant proposes to exercise a power purposes enumerated, the par value and incur a liability upon the basis of has no necessary relation to either the its capital stock, and for this purpose, authorized or the market values, but as for purposes of taxation or pay- is fixed by the amount actually paid. ment of dividends, its rights must be and is the equivalent or par of the measured not by nominal or author- value of the shares as shown by the ized capital, but by the actual amount stock account. The issuing of certifiof capital paid in. The issuing of cates does not affect our question. If certificates of stock to the subscribers issued they cannot increase the money does not add to the common stock in in the treasury, or confer any indethe treasury or business of the cor- pendent right on the stockholder. poration, nor does it increase the inter- They simply afford evidence of the est of the individual stockholder. He extent of his interest in a more contakes this certificate when issued, sub-venient form than the books of the ject to all the unpaid installments of company furnish, but leave him subthe subscription and the terms and ject to all the liabilities resting on conditions on which the subscription him before they come into his hands. was made. Its value to him, as be- We see no good reason for dis tween him and the corporation, is tinguishing this case from the cases but regard it as or diminished in a commercial sense [corporation here] has received just by the success of the business, the one hundred thousand dollars from ability of the management, or other the subscribers to its stock. So similar consideration, and such in- far as the paper books advise crease or decrease makes the market us, this is all it has ever asked for value greater or less than the amount in the more than fifteen years of its he has paid upon it, as the case may corporate life, and all it expects to rebe; but as between himself and the ceive. The other nine hundred thoucorporation or his fellow-stockholders sand dollars of authorized capital are the consideration of market value has uncalled and unpaid. The par value no place. He must pay his subscrip- of all its shares taken together is one tion as calls are mule whether the ven-hundred thousand dollars, because ture prospers or fails. If the value of that is the sum paid upon them, the the stock is measured by what has value they represent. The par value been paid upon it, is the 'par value' of each share is fixed in like manner. measured in the same manner when Its value is the equal, or par, of the the right of the corporation to do a corporate capital it represents, which given act is to be settled? The par is the amount paid upon by the subvalue of the stock of this corporation scriber or applied to it out of the earnof dividends, is, as we have already We have the fact on the record that seen, the amount actually paid upon but one-tenth of the nominal value it, or one hundred thousand dollars, [of the stock] has been paid. The cor-This is well settled by the cases we poration is the party. It has one hunone of the original articles of incorporation of which provided that "the highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which said corporation shall be subject shall not exceed $5,000," was sued upon a promissory note issued by it in payment of a balance upon settlement of an account, to one who was an officer of the company and a member of a banking firm through which the financial business of the corporation was largely done, and by him transferred before maturity to the bringer of this action, the corporation made the defense that the giving of the promissory note was ultra vires. The Supreme Court affirmed the order of the trial court giving judgment in favor of the plaintiff.1

dred thousand dollars in its treasury Mechanics' Banking Assn. v. New cise an important power on that basis. who subscribed for them."

(1881) 28 Minn. 291; s. c., 9 N. W. Rep. 799. Reasoning in support of their issue negotiable securities, such instruments, when issued, possess the legal character ordinarily attaching to and no more; yet it asks us to hold York & Saugerties White Lead Co., 35 that the par value of its stock is one N. Y. 505; McIntire v. Preston, 10 Ill. million dollars, and permit it to exer- 48; Monument Nat. Bank v. Globe Works, 101 Mass. 57; Bissell v. Mich. This we decline to do. The par value Southern & Northern Ind. R. Co., 22 N. of its shares is measured by the Y. 258, 289; City of Lexington v. Butler, money it has received upon them, and 14 Wall 282; Moran v. Miami County, not by the broken promises of those 2 Black, 722; Angell & Ames on Corp. § 268; Field on Corp. 303; Green's Auerbach v. Le Sueur Mill Co., Brice's Ultra Vires, 273, 274, 729. Although in such a case the corporation or its officers exceeded the corporate judgment, the court said: "Where a authority, and its contract would be, private corporation has authority to hence, in a sense, ultra virca, yet other legal principles, besides those merely relating to the powers of the corporation, come in to affect the result. It negotiable paper, and the holder in is true, a corporation is a being created good faith before maturity, and for by the law, and has properly no value, may recover, even though, in authority but such as is conferred the particular case, the power of the upon it, expressly or by implication, corporation was irregularly exercised by the law of its creation; yet it may or was exceeded; or, to state the legal become legally bound to observe and proposition in its application to this perform contracts which it had not case, this defendant having power to authority to enter into. The ends of incur debts to a limited extent and to justice may require, as in this case, issue its negotiable notes therefor, the that the corporation which has explaintiff, as a bona fide holder of the ceeded its powers should be estopped note in suit, may recover upon it, by its own acts from pleading, in although, in this particular case, the defense of its assumed obligations, indebtedness of the corporation at the that they were ultra vires. "To aptime of giving this note already ex- ply the principle of estoppel is not to ceeded the limits prescribed by its enlarge the powers of the corporation; articles of association. Stoney v. Amer- nor does it give warrant to a corporaican Life Ins. Co., 11 Paige, 685; tion to disregard or violate the remonest sense of honesty, and after ercise of corporate power within the performance of an act ultra vires has To refuse to recognize and enforce, been acomplished.' In Railway Co. when accessary to the attainment of say: 'The doctrine of ultra rires, contracts, made in violation of the poration, should not be allowed to remedy for the wrongful acts of the prevail where it would defeat the corporation. ends of justice or work a legal this, the unauthorized contract has wrong.' Whether the plea of ultra been executed by the corporation, and vires should be allowed as a defense it has reaped the benefits of it, public to assumed obligations should not be policy does not require the courts to determined without regard to the refuse to administer justice between character and objects of the cor- the parties in accordance with the poration, the nature of the powers plain principles of law. In such a ticular character of the obligations the corporation of its charter power assumed on contract entered into, the lies elsewhere. We are here seeking to relations of the contracting parties, administer justice as between these and the bona files of him against contracting parties. If justice did not whom the doctrine of ultra vires is invoke the application of other princiasserted. In this case the defense ples of law, the defense of ultra rires sought to be made to the note is that might be sufficient; but the doctrine in giving it the article of the defend- of estoppel, as a principle of law, is as incorporation. amount of its indebtedness, was vio- law that a corporation may not exceed lated. The debt was incurred in the its corporate powers, and although the ordinary prosecution of the business defendant exceeded its authority, it of the corporation. The defendant re- should be denied the right to assert the ceived and appropriated the money fact of its own wrong, when to allow which was the consideration of the its plea would work injustice and note, and having authority to issue wrong to him who has been misled by negotiable paper, it put forth the note its acts, performed within the general in question, negotiable, calculated to scope of its powers. What has been circulate as, and perform the office of, said should be regarded only as said commercial paper, and expressing with reference to this case, and should upon its face the obligation and not be considered as stating a rule of promise of the maker to pay the law which should prevail generally in bearer, at all events, the sum named. the case of contracts not negotiable." It has come into the hands of a bona strictions which have been expressly fide purchaser, and simple justice, as imposed upon it, or which exist in the well as plain principles of law, forbid absence of power conferred. It was that courts should listen to the plea said by the court in Bradley v. Bal- that in this particular case the corpolard, 55 Ill. 413: 'This doctrine ration had not authority to issue its [estoppel] is applied only for the note. It ought to be and is estopped. purpose of compelling corporations to To so hold does not weaken the sancbe honest, in the simplest and com- tion of the law which restrains the exwhatever mischief may belong to the limits prescribed by the creative act. r. McCarthy, 96 U.S. 258, the court justice and prevention of wrong, such when invoked for or against a cor- corporate charter, is not to afford a When, in a case like or withheld, the par- case, the remedy for the violation by limiting the positive and well recognized as is the

CHAPTER III.

POWER OF AGENTS AND OFFICERS-PUBLIC CORPORATIONS.

- § 91. General rules.
 - 92. More general rules.
 - 93. Illustrations of the duty and powers of municipal officers.
 - Ratification by municipal corporations of contracts made by their agents and officers.
 - 95. Agents and officers of counties—generally.
 - 96. Power of county officers in California.
 - 97. Power of county boards in Illinois.
 - 98. Power of county commissioners in Indiana.
 - 99. Power of supervisors of counties in Iowa.
 - 100. Power of county commissioners in Kansas.
 - Power of County Courts in Kentucky.
 - 102. Power of supervisors in Michigan.

- § 103. Power of County Courts in Missouri.
 - 104. Power of county supervisors in New York,
 - 105. Power of county commissioners in Pennsylvania.
 - 106, Power of county board in Wisconsin.
 - 107. Power of township trustees in Indiana.
 - 108. Power of selectmen of towns in Massachusetts.
 - Power of selectmen of towns in New Hampshire.
 - Power of supervisors of townships in Pennsylvania.
 - 111. Power of selectmen and agents of towns in Vermont.
 - 112. Power of town officers in. Wisconsin.
 - 113. Power of officers of school districts.
- § 91. General rules.— Municipal officers have no general authority to bind the corporation. Their authority as agents is special. The contracts of such officers, entered into with its knowledge, though not expressly authorized, will bind the corporation. In like manner as individual and private corporations, municipal or public corporations may make contracts through their officers or agents, appointed properly for the purpose, in all matters that appertain to the corporation. And such contracts may be by parol. Parol contracts made by authorized agents of a municipal corporation, within the scope of its purposes, are express promises of the corporation. But contracts not within
- ¹Ross v. City of Philadelphia, 115

 Pa. St. 222; s. c., 8 Atl. Rep. 898.

 Allegheny City v. McClurkan, 14

 Pa. St. 81.

 *Duncombe v. City of Fort Dodge, (1874) 38 Iowa, 281; City of Indianola v. Jones, 29 Iowa, 282.

 *San Antonio v. Lewis, 9 Tex. 69.

the scope of their authority are not enforceable against the corporation. For instance, under the ordinances of a Maryland city, as appeared in this case, the city commissioner could make contracts for grading and paving, and assess taxes for the same in two classes of cases, to wit: (1) Upon application of the proprietors of a majority of front feet, where the street had been condemned; and (2) upon the like application of all the proprietors of ground fronting on the street, where it had not been officially condemned. The Court of Appeals held that without such an application the city commissioner was entirely destitute of the official character and power, in and by which alone he could take any legal proceeding or make any valid contract for grading and paving, and the power of the mayor to approve of his determinations to grade and pave, and of his contracts for the same was limited likewise and controlled by the same conditions: therefore, it followed that a contract made by the city commissioner for grading and paving a street not formally condemned, upon the application of the owners of a majority of feet fronting on it, and not of all the proprietors of ground on it. was an invalid contract, and not binding on the city.2 The government or other public authority of a municipality will not be bound by acts of public agents, unless it manifestly appears that the agent is acting within the scope of his authority, or he has been held out as having authority to do the act, or has been employed in his

v. Milwaukce, 23 Wis. 272.

public agent is otherwise. The city ration or of public law." commissioner, upon whose determina-

Addis v. City, 85 Pa. St. 379; Wahl tion to grade and pave the contract was made, was the public agent of a Mayor & City Council of Balti- municipal corporation, clothed with more v. Eschbach, (1861) 18 Md. 276. duties and powers specially defined In this case the Court of Appeals of and limited by ordinances learing the that state have expressed themselves character and force of public laws, igfully upon the principles governing norance of which can be presumed in the contracts of public agents in these favor of no one dealing with him in words: "The fact that the contract matters thus conditionally within his made related to a subject within the official discretion. For this reason the scope of his powers, does not make it law makes no distinction between the obligatory on the [municipality] if effect of the acts of an officer of a corthere was a want of specific power to poration and those of an agent for a make it. Although a private agent, principal in common cases. In the acting in violation of specific instruc- latter the extent of authority is necestions, yet within the scope of a general sarily known only to the principal and authority, may bind his principal, the agent, while in the former it is a matrule as to the effect of a like act of a ter of record in the books of the corpocapacity as a public agent to make the declaration or representation for the government.1

§ 92. More general rules.— The legislature of a state investing a public corporation with the power to do certain acts, the governing board of the corporation will have an implied right to use the fit and appropriate means. For instance, where the County Court of a county under the authority conferred upon it to subscribe to the stock of a railroad corporation may make an order for the subscription, they may subsequently make an order appointing an agent to enter the subscription upon the books of the railroad corporation as a proper method for completing the subscription.2 Where a city has lawful authority, say to construct sidewalks, involved in this authority would be the right to direct the mayor, and the chairman of the committee on streets and alleys, to make a contract on behalf of the city for doing the work.3 So a municipal corporation, a city, may employ a third person, not an officer or regularly constituted agent, to negotiate for it in procuring a right of way for a ditch, for instance.4 It is well settled that public officers or agents are held more strictly within the limits of their prescribed powers than private general agents - not only because the extent of their power is more easily seen, but because the rights of large communities are in greater need of diligent guards than those of individuals, whose bodies politic which are allowed to as- the facts." sume some of the duties of the state, Ames on Corp. 11. Agents themselves, reposed in it." not principals, answerable to their *Hitchcock v. Galveston, (1877) 96 constituents, they are not to be pre- U. S. 841. sumed to recognize and individually 4 Stewart v. City of Council Bluffs, ratify and confirm the acts of their of- (1882) 58 Iowa, 642.

¹ Mayor & City Council of Baltimore ficers, done beyond the scope of their v. Reynolds, (1863) 20 Md. 1. It was authority. Acts of ratification by such said by the court: "Cities and other bodies politic should be direct, explicit, purely municipal corporations or unequivocal, with full knowledge of

² Hannibal & St. Joseph R. R. Co. in a partial or detailed form, having v. Marion County, (1865) 36 Mo. 294. neither property nor power for the The court said: "The County Court purposes of personal aggrandizement, * * * has the control and managecan be considered in no other light ment of the property, real and perthan as auxiliaries of the government, sonal, of the county. It is the agent and as secondary and deputy trustees of the county, and may lawfully and and servants of the people. McKim v. of right do whatever is necessary to Odom, 3 Bland Ch. (Md.) 417; Ang. & carry out and execute the trusts selfishness is quite apt to hold in frequent review the acts of all employees.1 It is well settled that the fact that the contract made by a public agent, related to a subject within the general scope of his powers, does not bind his principal, if there was a want of specific power to make it. Although a private agent acting in violation of specific instructions, yet within the scope of his general authority, may bind his principal, the rule as to the effect of a like act of a public agent is otherwise.2 From this it follows that one who contracts or deals with the agents or officers of a municipal or public corporation must, at his peril, take notice of the limits of their powers.3 The United States Supreme Court has approved the rule as declared by Judge Dillon in his work on Municipal Corporations, section 283, in these words: "As a general rule, it may be stated that not only where the corporate power resides in a select body, as a city council, but where it has been delegated to a committee or agents, then, in the absence of special provisions otherwise, a minority of the select body or of the committee or agents, are powerless to bind the majority or do any valid act. If all the members of the select body or committee, or of all of the agents are assembled, or if all have been duly notified, and the minority refuse or neglect to meet with the others, a majority of those present may act, provided those present constitute a majority of the whole number. In other words, in such a case, a majority part of the whole is necessary to constitute a quorum, and a majority of the quorum may act. If the major part withdraw so as to leave no quorum, the power of the minority to act is, in general, considered to cease."

Ark. 261

² Ibid. field v. State of Illinois, (1841) 26 Columbus, Wend. 192.

grave, (1877) 48 Md. 272; State ex rel. Comrs., 3 Fed. Rep 191. Mayor, etc., r. Kirkley, 29 Md. 85; Gould v. Sterling, 23 N. Y. 464; (1850) 5 Cush. 269; Damon v. Granby,

¹ Parsel r. Barnes & Bro., (1868) 25 Starin r. Genoa, 28 N. Y. 489, 452; People r. Mend, 36 N. Y. 224; Dodge r. Mayor, etc., of Baltimore County of Platte, 82 N. Y. 218; v. Reynolds, (1862) 20 Md. 1; Dela- United States v. City Bank of (1858) 21 How. DeVoss v. Richmond, (1868) 18 Gratt. ³ Mayor, etc., of Baltimore v. Mus- (Va.) 339; Lewis v. Burbour Co.

⁴Brown v. District of Columbia, Horn v. Mayor, etc., 30 Md. 218. See, (1888) 127 U. S. 579, 586. This rule is also, The Floyd Acceptances, (1868) 7 supported by the following cases: Wall. 666; Marsh v. Fulton County, Day v. Green, (1849) 4 Cush. 488; (1870) 10 Wall. 676; Clark v. Des Moines, Fisher v. Attleborough, (1849) 4 Cush. (1865) 19 Iowa, 199, 210; Treadwell v. 494; Kingsbury v. School District, Commissioners, (1860) 11 Ohio St. 183; (1846) 12 Met. 99; Coffin v. Nantucket,

§ 93. Illustrations of the duty and powers of municipal officers.—A city comptroller, being required to perform "such duties in relation to the finances" as "shall be prescribed by ordinance," would be authorized, upon an ordinance properly passed giving him the power, to negotiate and dispose of city bonds. It is his official duty, when such bonds are in his hands in shape to be negotiated, to keep them safely, until he lawfully disposes of them, and an unauthorized disposition of such bonds will subject him and sureties to liability upon his bond for the proceeds.1 The common council of a city being given the power by its charter to audit and allow accounts, and the comptroller being only permitted by the charter to receive, examine and report upon them, the comptroller has no power to modify a contract on the part of the city.2 A director of the poor appointed by the council of a city, his duties and powers being expressly such as officers of like kind in townships, has no power to bind the city by a contract with a surgeon to perform a surgical operation upon a pauper for a fixed sum. A city charter providing that no moneys could be lawfully paid out of its treasury, except upon warrants regularly drawn according to the charter, its treasurer cannot justify any payments of moneys made by him otherwise, as to contractors, for instance, doing work for the city.4 A. mayor and council of a city have no authority to contract with a city treasurer that the latter may use the funds of the city and pay a percentage therefor; such a contract would be illegal and void, and would not authorize the treasurer to so use the funds.5 A city cannot be made liable, by a resolution of the city aldermen, for the expense of defending contempt proceedings against its aldermen who have been convicted of contempt in disobeying an injunction, the conviction not having been reversed. In entering into a contract for the grading of a street a street commissioner of a city has no power to contract, except according to

^{(1824) 2} Pick. 845, 855; State v. Jersoy Barber v. City, 27 N. J. Law, 493; Charles v. 84 Mich. 52. Hoboken, 27 N. J. Law, 203; Dey v. 4McCormi

Jersey City, (1869) 19 N. J Eq. 412; Mich. 457.

Mayor, etc., of Baltimore v. Poultney, (1866) 25 Md. 18.

¹Stevenson v. Bay City, (1872) 26 Mich 44.

² Advertiser & Tribune Co.v. Detroit, 48 Mich. 116; s. c., 5 N. W. Rep. 72.

³ Barber v. City of Saginaw, (1876) 4 Mich. 52.

⁴McCormick v. Bay City, (1871) 28 Mich. 457.

⁵ Manley v. City of Atchison, (1872) 9 Kans. 358.

⁶ West v. City of Utica, 71 Hun, 540; s. c., 24 N. Y. Supp. 1075.

the resolution of the common council directing the doing of the work under his direction, and the proposals and estimates received in pursuance of the advertisement of the same. There being no limitation of the power of a city to make purchases for fitting up rooms for the use of city officers, and no particular manner for making contracts for such a purpose prescribed in its charter, the city council may confer the power on a committee, as the act to be performed would be a mere business act, and not of the class relating to the government of the city, which they could not delegate.2 Where an order was given by a single member of a committee appointed by a city council to perform a business act, for work to be done and goods furnished, the New York Court of Appeals held that the city, having enjoyed the benefit of the same, was liable for the work and goods on a quantum meruit.8 Under a city charter in California authorizing the library board "to control and order the expenditure of all moneys at any time in the library fund," and "generally to do all that may be necessary to carry out the spirit and intent of this charter in establishing a public library and reading room," the Supreme Court of that state has held that the library board might appropriate money to pay the expense of a delegate to a congress of librarians.1

§ 04. Ratification by municipal corporations of contracts made by their agents or officers.—A contract, neither immoral nor unlawful, entered into by an agent of a municipal corporation, and such as it might make itself, may be ratified by the corporation, as hy an individual, either formally or by its conduct.5 The contract of a municipal corporation, which is invalid when made, as in violation of some mandatory requirement of its charter, can be ratified only by an observance of the conditions essential to a valid agreement in the first instance.6 But where the forms and conditions prescribed are not intended as a ¹Bonesteel v. City of New York, (1860) 22 N. Y. 162, affirming Bone- C. A. 1895) 66 Fed. Rep. 427. steel v. City of New York, 6 Bosw.

² Kramrath v. City of Albany, (1891) 127 N. Y. 575; s. c., 28 N. E. Rep.

⁸ Ibid.

Rep. 948.

⁸ City of Findlay v. Pertz, (U. S. C.

Gutta-Percha & Rubber Manuf. Co v. Village of Ogalalla, (Neb. 1894) 59 N. W. Rep. 513; citing Town of Durango v. Pennington, 8 Colo 251, s. c., 7 Pac. Rep. 14; McCracken v. City of San Francisco, 16 Cal. 623; San ⁴ Kelso v. Teale, (Cal. 1895) 89 Pac. Diego Water Co. v. City of San Diego. 59 Cal. 522; Cory v. Board, 44 N. J.

limitation upon the powers of the corporation, a compliance with such conditions is not essential to a binding ratification.1 A corporation retaining and using money borrowed for it by its officer in excess of his authority ratifies the transaction and is liable.2 A public corporation cannot, by subsequent ratification, make good an act of an agent which it could not have directly authorized.3 A contract made in behalf of a municipal corporation, void in its inception from want of authority in the officer to make it, cannot be validated by the subsequent approval of the council. A school district, by its action in completing a school building, left unfinished by an absconding contractor, by furnishing the building with desks, seats and other necessary schoolhouse furniture. by occupying the building for school purposes and insuring the village.

Newburgh, 77 N. Y. 130; Bank v. S. W. Rep. 258. South Hadley, 128 Mass 503.

by the treasurer he pledged as security of the municipal authorities. for its payment bonds of the city, subthe note, it was held in the federal Hun, 472. sey the treasurer was authorized, un- York, 5 T. & C. 371.

Law, 445; Keeney v. Jersey City, 47 der the board of finance, to make the N. J. Law, 440, s. c., 1 Atl. Rep. 511; loan, and that there could be a recov-Newman v. City of Emporia, 32 Kans. ery upon the note without first dispos-456; s. c., 4 Pac. Rep. 815; McBrian ing of the collaterals. As to what v. Grand Rapids, 56 Mich. 103; s. c., 22 would show a valid contract by ratifi-N. W. Rep. 206; McDonald v. Mayor, cation on the part of the county, see etc., 68 N. Y. 23; Smith v. City of Leon County v. Vann, (Tex. 1894) 27

4 Hodges v. City of Buff ilo, 2 Denio, ¹ Gutta-Percha & Rubber Manuf. 110; Halstead v. Mayor, etc., of New Co. v. Village of Ogalalla, (Neb 1894) York, 3 N. Y. 430, Boom v. City of 59 N. W. Rep. 513. An action to re- Utica, 2 Barb. 101; Cowen v. Village cover the value of goods sold to the of West Troy, 43 Barb. 48. When a ratification will bind the corporation, see ² Willis r. St. Paul Sanitation Co., Peterson v. Mayor, etc., of New York, (1893) 53 Minn, 370; s. c., 55 N. W. 17 N. Y. 449; People v. Flagg, 17 N. Rep. 550. In White v. City of Rah- Y. 584; s. c., 16 How. Pr. 36. In way, 11 Fed. Rep. 853, it appearing Scott's Eyrs. v. Shreveport. 20 Fed. that the treasurer of a city, under the Rep. 714, it was held that the agent of board of finance, borrowed of a bank the city, having no authority to bind a sum of money and the city ratified the city by giving a note, for lack of the loan made by its agent by a re- power in the city to raise money to donewal of the note from time to time, nate to a railroad company, the obliand by payments upon it at different gation could not be made binding on times, and when the note was executed the corporation by any subsequent act

4 Ruggles v. Collier, (1869) 43 Mo. sequently substituting therefor other 853. As to ratification of contract of ten-year bonds of the city, and there an agent by a municipal corporation, remaining a sum due and unpaid upon see McCloskey v. City of Albany, 7 Where it cannot be court that under the laws of New Jer- inferred, see Burns v. Mayor of New same, will ratify and make binding upon the district a contract for constructing the school building void because made by only one member of the school board. So a school district which had received, retained and used for a long period of time school furniture bought for it by the members of the school district board, acting separately without any meeting of the board, has been held to have ratified the purchase and a recovery allowed upon the contract against the district.² he Appellate Court of Missouri has held that, as the board of directors of a school district can act only when assembled in a meeting as a board, and neither two nor all can bind the district by a contract, the fact that furniture purchased by them under a contract made outside of a board meeting had been placed in the schoolhouse and used would not amount to a ratification of this illegal contract.8

§ 95. Agents and officers of counties—generally.—The character of the agency which the officers of a county hold in connection with its financial affairs is well expressed and defined by the Iowa Supreme Court in an early case when the county judge was charged with the management of the affairs of a county in that state. They said: "The analogy between this officer and an agent will hold good but a little way. It does not hold good in any valuable sense. It is true that the statute in creating him styles him the general agent of the county. But this is not to institute this relation properly. It was to declare him to be the general rather than the special agent. At the best he is but a quasi agent. Properly speaking, he has no principal, and so far as he has, this principal only appoints him and has no further power over him. He does not derive his powers from the county but from the law, and the county cannot revoke them. It cannot act itself in any case. He is the head and hand of the county. In short, he is an officer of the law, deriving his powers from the law, and governed by it."4 The governing boards of counties are known under different titles in the different states.

¹ School District No. 39 in Brown Dist. of Calhoun, (1893) 48 Mo. App.

4 Clapp v. County of Cedar, (1857) 5 ² Union School Furniture Co. v. Iowa, 15, 55, a case involving the au-School District No. 60 of Elk County, thority of a county judge in the (1898) 50 Kans. 727; s. c. 32 Pac. Rep. issuance of county bonds in payment of a subscription to the stock of a rail-

County v. Sullivan, (1892) 48 Kans. 624; 408. s. c., 29 Pac. Rep. 1141.

^{368.}

^a Thomas Kane & Co. v. School road company.

County Courts in some, board of county commissioners in others: supervisors in some and boards of chosen freeholders in others. as well as other titles. We will give some illustrations in this chapter of the powers of these different officers in the financial management of the counties from different state decisions which may guide in determining the powers of similar officers in any other state. The County Court in Arkansas may levy a tax for the payment of a judgment recovered against a county for a valid debt evidenced by warrants duly issued by the county authorities.1 In affirming an order for a peremptory writ of mandamus to compel a county treasurer to pay certain warrants issued by order of a board of county commissioners, the Colorado Court of Appeals has held that a county treasurer is not clothed with power to pass on the legality of the action of the governing body of the county. "Power to determine the validity of all claims," they said, is intrusted to the board. When they have audited and allowed a claim, and a warrant is issued in accordance with their determination, we cannot see that the statute has clothed the treasurer with the supervisory power to determine the validity of their acts.2 County commissioners cannot legally transact county business except at a regular session of the county board or one specially called by the county clerk, of which notice is given in the mode provided by law.3 The money in the hands of a county treasurer in Nebraska under the revenue bond road laws of that state, being held in trust by the treasurer for the road districts, the board of county commissioners have no authority

s. c., 17 S. W. Rep. 709.

the funds of a county, is devolved on public revenues." the board of county commissioners. They alone have the right to disburse W. Rep. 865. the public moneys and to decide in ¹ Bush v. Wolf, (1891) 55 Ark. 124; what cases and under what circumstances such funds shall be paid out, ² Beeney, County Treasurer, v. Ir- unless it be in those cases where fixed win, (Colo, App. 1895) 39 Pac Rep. 900. rights are conferred by statute. In Leading up to their conclusion, the and of itself this fact should be decourt used this language: As we said cisive of the present inquiry. Wherin Commissioners v. Lee, 3 Colo. App. ever a broad, universal and sweeping 177; s. c., 32 Pac. Rep. 841: "Under power is thus given to a governing the statutory plan which divides the body it cannot be conceded that, by state into counties and regulates the implication, any other body, whether government of those territorial sub- it be a court or one resembling the divisions all power to fix, control, de- board of county commissioners, should termine, or in any manner dispose of likewise have power to dispose of the

³ Morris v. Merrel, (Neb. 1895) 62 N.

to draw warrants against such funds. Under the New Jersey statutes in regard to such matters, a board of chosen freeholders are not empowered to make an excessive appropriation for some particular class of expenditures that it, with the surplus, may make up deficiencies in other classes of expenditures.2 Under the statute of New Jersey, a hoard of chosen freeholders can improve any ordinary highway under their control only with money obtained from the sale of road bonds.3 A county commissioners' court in Texas by electing, with knowledge of a contract of a county judge to purchase county bonds for the permanent school fund, to carry out its provisions and to hold the bonds, has been held to be a ratification of the contract.4 The Washington Supreme Court has held that a board of county commissioners in that state, having power to contract for the services of a county physician, though their term of office be about to expire, may contract with a physician for one year extending into the term of office of their successors.5 The different statutes of Utah, the one which empowers the County Court in Utah to lay out and maintain public roads and perform other acts from which indebtedness must arise; another which provides that no county shall incur any indebtedness or liability in any manner or for any purpose to an amount exceeding, etc.; another, that the County Court must not contract liabilities except in pursuance of law, and the one which provides that warrants drawn by order of such court must specify the liability for which they are drawn, have been held by the Supreme Court of that territory to confer by implication on the County Court the power to create indebtedness against the county.6

§ 96. Power of county officers in California.— A board of supervisors of a county have no power to create a debt or liability on the part of the county for any purpose except as provided by law.7 And no order made by a board of supervisors is valid or binding unless it is authorized by law; thus, if they allow claims

¹ Oakley v. Valley County, (Neb. (1894) 86 Tex. 234; s. c., 24 S. W. 1894) 59 N. W. Rep. 368. Rep. 272.

² City of Paterson v. Board of ⁵ Webb v. Spokane County, (Wash, Chosen Freeholders, (N. J. 1894) 29 1894) 37 Pac. Rep. 282. Atl. Rep. 331. ⁶ Fenton v. Blair, (Utah, 1895) 39 3 Ibid.

Pac. Rep. 485.

⁴ Boydston v. Rockwall County, ⁷ Foster v. Coleman, (1858) 10 Cal. 278.

not legally chargeable to a county, neither the allowance nor the warrants drawn therefor create any legal liabilities.1 They are anthorized to erect a county jail without a law authorizing the levy of a special tax therefor, and the expenses of such erection, as among the expenses of a current year, may be paid for out of the money raised by the general tax which the board are authorized to levy. And a contract entered into by a board of supervisors for this purpose, for and on behalf of the county, and signed by the chairman of the board, would be the contract of the county.2 So far as concerns the examination and settlement of accounts and claims against a county, its board of supervisors are a quasi judicial body, and the allowance and settlements of such a board is an adjudication of the claims, and is conclusive. And an auditor of a county cannot assume to set up his judgment in opposition to that of a board of supervisors in respect to the issuance of a warrant on an account against the county, except in cases where the board have exceeded their powers.4 Nor can he refuse to issue a warrant when the board of supervisors has ordered its issue, because the person in whose favor it is to be drawn, and whose account has been allowed, has committed a fraud on the county in relation to procuring the contract on which the warrant is to be issued.⁵ If by a contract of a board of supervisors for the erection of a county jail it be provided that the work and labor be paid for in installments, on the certificate of the architect that a certain sum has been expended, an account giving the sum total of an installment, without "all the items of the claim" certified by the architect, would be a sufficient compliance with the statute (Pol. Code Cal. § 4072) to authorize the board to allow the same.6 It cannot set apart a portion of the revenue of the county as a fund for current expenses.7 They have no authority to allow an unaudited claim against a county, except within one year after the claim accrues and becomes due.8 The board must first give public notice of a special meeting at which it proposes to settle with the county treasurer, and specify

¹ Linden v. Case, (1873) 46 Cal. 171. ⁴ Babcock v. Goodrich, (1874) 47 Cal. 488.

^{*}El Dorado Co. v. Elstner, 18 Cal.
144; Tilden v. Sacramento Co., 41 Cal.
68; Colusa County v. De Jarnett, 55 Cal. 878.

⁴Babcock v. Goodrich, (1874) 47 Cal.

Ibid.

⁶ Ibid.

⁷ Laforge v. Magee, 6 Cal. 285. ⁸ Carroll v. Siebenthaler, 37 Cal. 193.

in the notice that such business will be transacted; otherwise they cannot settle with the officer.1 Unless specially authorized by law, the board cannot allow the salary of a county treasurer out of county funds.2 A county treasurer, authorized to advertise for bids for the surrender of bonds of the county, in order that he may redeem them with money in the treasury, has no authority in the advertisement to insert a condition upon which bids will be received, which is not to be implied from the duty to advertise, and which is not necessary to the exercise of his authority, such as that the bonds must accompany the bid.8 The County Government Act of California authorizes the county boards of supervisors to issue bonds, and provides that the bonds shall be delivered to the county treasurer, by whom they shall be sold to the highest bidder. Under the section of that act, which further authorizes these boards to do "all other acts and things which may be necessary to the full discharge of the duties of the legislative authority of county government," they have been held to have no power to employ an agent to procure bids to be made for such bonds.4

§ 97. Power of county boards in Illinois.—The governing authorities of a county, elected by the people and becoming their agents for the management of the financial affairs of the county, when they act within the scope of their authority, however indiscreet the action, it is binding upon the county. In an Illinois case, the agents making the contract for a county jail for a price in excess of what was ordered by the County Court, yet the County Court, acting as such, having received the jail and appropriated it to the use of the county, and acknowledged that the county owed the contractors the balance due upon the contract price, this final action of the County Court was held to bind the county to pay the full amount due the contractors, notwithstanding the fact that those making the contract exceeded their authority so far as the price fixed for the cost of the building was concerned.5 Only such powers can be exercised by County Courts, when sitting for the disposition of county busi-

 ¹ El Dorado Co. r Reed, 11 Cal 131.
 ⁴ Smith r Los Angeles County,
 ² County of San Joaquin r Jones, (1894) 99 Cal 628; s. c., 34 Pac. Rep.
 18 Cal. 327.
 489.

Mills v Bellmer (1874) 48 Cal.
 County of Jackson v. Hall, (1870)
 124
 58 Ill. 440.

ness, as have been conferred on them by express law or that it may be necessary to exercise in order to carry into effect the nowers granted to them. So, where an act to enable counties to liquidate their debts provides that the County Courts or other governing boards may levy a special county tax for that purpose, the county board has no authority to take up its outstanding orders and give bonds in the place of them, bearing interest. Such obligations cannot be issued without express statutory authority. Another statute, under which the board would be acting in such case, would confine the court to a liquidation through a levy of taxes for that purpose.1 A county board having authority to contract for the repair of a county court house and building of fire-proof vaults, in the absence of any restrictions of law as to the amount of the price they should pay or its mode of payment, it is open to such board to contract to pay for such work in interest-bearing orders as well as in non-interest-bearing orders.2 The governing authorities of a county, intrusted with exclusive power over the county revenues and their collection, if, in their judgment a tax already ordered be found to be unnecessary, have a right to rescind the order and arrest the collection of such tax.8 They are not authorized to allow in a settlement with him to a collector more than the sum fixed by law as fees or commissions. and an allowance of the kind does not bind the county, nor is the county estopped by the action of the board to object to such allowance.4 It being their duty to protect the county's interest, they have the power to appoint agents, to employ counsel, and make legal contracts for procuring information and evidence necessary and proper in defense of suits against the county.5 The power given by statute to the board of county commissioners to construct a court house, for instance, and connected with it the power to make contracts for its construction, carries with it of necessity the power to exercise its discretion of settling and adjusting claims against the county arising from such construc-

¹ County of Hardin v. McFarlan, (1876) 82 Ill. 138.

² County of Jackson v. Rendleman, Ill. 217. (1881) 100 III. 879, holding such orders court distinguished County of Hardin 544.

v. McFarlan, 82 Ill. 188, 141, and Hall

v. Jackson County, 95 Ill, 852.

⁸ People ex rel. Chase v. County Court of Macoupin County, (1870) 54

⁴ Board of Supervisors of Cumbervalid and the interest collectible. The land County v. Edwards, (1875) 76 Ill.

⁵ Gillett v. Board of Supervisors of . Logan County, (1878), 67 Ill. 256.

tion, and in case, under this power, in the use of their discretion. a board has settled and compromised a claim about which there was dispute, in the absence of anything showing fraud or corruption on their part, a court of equity has no jurisdiction to prevent the consummation of the agreement of the board for a compromise by process of injunction.1

§ 98. Power of county commissioners in Indiana.— The board of county commissioners in Indiana is a body corporate and politic, under the statute. The statute authorizes the board to make contracts, and it may make them by parol in some cases. and be bound thereby; but it cannot make contracts of all descriptions and for all purposes for which natural persons may. It is confined in making contracts to the powers expressly granted to it by the act of its creation, and to the implied powers, incidental and necessary to the execution of such expressed powers and the performance of the duties enjoined upon it. For these purposes, it may make contracts, and it will be bound to perform them the same as individuals.2 The law of Indiana conferring no powers, and enjoining no duty, upon the board of commissioners of a county to aid in the arrest, prosecution or

C. 17; Attorney-General v Lichfield, Ohio St. 488. 13 Sim. 547; Attorney-General v. Nor- 2 Hight v. Board of Comrs. Monroe tees of Town of Petersburg v. Map. 107. pin, 14 Ill. 193. That the decision of

¹ Harms v. Fitzgerald, (1878) 1 the board in such a matter is final, see Bradw. (III.) 325. In support of this Supervisors of Orleans v. Bowen, 4 rule, see Attorney-General v. Aspin- Lans. 24, 83; Shank v. Shoemaker, 18 all, 2 Mylne & C. 618; Parr r. At- N. Y. 489; Russell v. Cook, 3 Hill, 504; torney-General, 8 Clark & F. 409; Stover v. Mitchell, 45 Ill. 213; County Attorney-General v. Poole, 4 Mylne & Comrs. of Lucas County v. Hunt, 5

wich, 16 Sim. 225; Mooers v. Smed County, (1879) 68 Ind. 575; citing ley, 6 Johns. Ch. 28; Livingston r. Seibrecht v. City of New Orleans, 12 Hollenbeck, 4 Barb. 10, 14; Meserole La. Ann. 496; Douglass v. Mayor & v. Mayor & Common Council of Bd, of Aldermen of Virginia City, 5 Brooklyn, 8 Paige, 198; Giltespie v. Nev. 147; Hayward v. Davidson, 41 Broas, 23 Barb. 370; Andrews v. Ind. 212; McCabe r. Board of Com-Board of Supervisors Knox County, missioners of Fountain County, 46 70 Ill. 65; City of Galena r. Corwith, Ind. 380; Burnett v. Abbott, 51 Ind. 48 Ill. 423; Brush v. City of Carbon- 254; Gordon v. Board of Comrs. dale, 78 Ill. 74; Conrad v. Trustees of Dearborn County, 52 Ind. 322; Board Ithaca, 16 N. Y. 168; Storrs v. City of of Comrs. Jackson County v. Apple-Utica, 17 N. Y. 104. As to the power white, 62 Ind. 464; Board of Comrs. of county board, see Prest. and Trus- Jennings County v. Verbarg, 63 Ind.

conviction of a person charged with the commission of crime. either by an offer of reward or by the employment of detective or professional skill, a contract by such a board to pay a reward for the arrest of a criminal has been held to be beyond its powers and not enforceable against the county. A county board cannot authorize the county treasurer to employ an attorney to assist in the collection of delinquent taxes, at the county expense.2 County boards have no authority to make allowances for services done or things furnished voluntarily for which they cannot lawfully contract.8 Should such improper allowances be made, relief may be had from it by an appeal.4 County boards may contract for an examination and adjustment of the accounts of a ment for embezzling county funds.

133.

8 Tbid.

Logansport, 76 Ind. 549; Rothrock v. their decision in such a case.

Board of Cours, of Grant Co. v. that 'The boards of commissioners Bradford, (1809) 72 Ind. 455. The may make allowances at their discrecourt considered the case within the tion, etc., but, as was said, in Rothprinciple of Hight v. Board of Com-rock v Carr, 55 Ind. 334, this does missioners of Monroe County, (1879) 'not mean an arbitrary, uncontrolled, 68 Ind. 575, where it was held that unlimited discretion, contrary to law. such board had no power to employ a or without authority of law; for where person to aid the state's attorneys in there is no law there is no act to do. prosecuting, and procuring to be pros- and, therefore, no discretion to be ecuted, a person charged with crime. exercised.' The discretion, therefore, To the same effect, see Board of Comrs. must be according to and in subordi-Ripley County v. Ward, (1880) 69 Ind. nation to the law, and not outside and 441, holding that the board had no in violation of it." English c. Smock. power to employ an attorney to assist 34 Ind. 115, s. c., 7 Am. Rep. 215. in the prosecution of one under indict- * * " "Where the board of commissioners of their own motion do an ² Miller v. Embree, (1882) 88 Ind. act which under the law they may do or not, as in the exercise of their discretion seems best, and the time Board of Comrs., etc., v. Gregory, and mode of doing the act are not 42 Ind. 32; Grusenmeyer v. City of prescribed by law, no appeal lies from Carr, 55 Ind. 834. See Waymire v. when they make an allowance which Powell, (1885) 105 Ind. 328, holding is illegal and appears so on its face, an allowance by a board of commis- any one aggrieved may appeal." In sioners to one or more of its members the cases of Nichols v. Howe, 7 Ind. 506; for services rendered in inspecting, Board of Comrs., etc., v. Boyle, 9 Ind. examining and measuring the abut- 296; Sims v. Board of Comrs., etc., 39 ments of a bridge which had been Ind. 40; Moffit v. State ex rel., 40 built under a contract made with the Ind. 217; Board of Comrs., etc., v. board, to be an illegal allowance, and Richardson, 54 Ind. 153, where such that any person interested had a right an appeal was denied, the allowances to appeal from such allowance. The were for services which might have court said: "[The statute] provides been made the subject of a contract.

county treasurer.1 The county commissioners have no power to declare, even by express contract, a man's taxes paid before they are assessed, and merely ministerial officers, such as the treasurer and auditor, have no such authority.2 Among the powers of such boards fixed and designated by law is not the right to interfere with, or in any way affect, the course marked out for the collector or treasurer of the county. They can neither abridge nor enlarge the duties or liabilities of those officers. It follows that an order of such a board giving the collector of the county revenue a longer time for payment of the revenue of the year than the law prescribes, would be without authority, and inoperative.8 A board of county commissioners, under the statutes, have no power to direct the county treasurer how, or where, he shall keep the county funds; and if a county treasurer, under an order of such board, they having purchased an iron safe, keep the county funds in such safe, this order, being without authority, would not release the collector from his liability to the county to make good the loss, in case the funds be stolen from the safe.4 County commissioners in Indiana are not empowered by the statute relating to proceedings to secure free gravel roads to order payments of fees of attorneys rendered to the petitioners for such roads.5

§ 99. Power of supervisors of counties in Iowa.—County boards of supervisors must act as a board in session in order to bind a county, they not being authorized to bind the county by a

¹ Duncan c. Board of Cours. of as such." See Hoffman r. Board, etc., Ind. 111.

² Scobey v. Decatur County, (1880) 72 Ind. 551.

³ Coman v. State ex rel. Armstrong, 28 N E. Rep. 772. (1836) 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 241.

¹ Halbert v. State ex rel. Board of Lawrence County, (1884) 101 Ind. 403. Comrs. Martin County, (1864) 22 Ind. It was said: "The board of commis- 125. As to contracts in relation to sioners have very full powers in refer- bridges entered into by county boards ence to the management of the affairs or superintendents appointed by the of their respective counties. It is, for board, see Board Comrs. Carroll all financial purposes, the county, and ('ounty r. O'Conner, (1894) 137 Ind. its contract in relation to the adjust- 622; s. c., 37 N. E. Rep. 16; Smith v. ment of the finances of the county is Comrs., 6 Ind. App. 153. As to county the contract of the county, and valid board contracting with a physician for services in attending the poor, see 96 Ind. 84; Moon v. Board, etc., 97 Woodruff v. Comrs. of Noble County, Ind. 176; Nixon v. State ex rel., 96 (1894) 10 Ind. App. 179; s. c., 37 N. E. Rep. 732.

> 5 Board of Comrs. of Rush County, r. Cole, (1891) 2 Ind. App. 475; s. c.,

contract made by them individually.1 That a contract made with a board of supervisors be entered on the supervisors' record is not necessary to its validity, as the contract may be proved by parol.2 There is no authority in the chairman of the board of supervisors to contract with an attorney for services in a suit in which the county is interested, but the board of supervisors may confer such authority upon the chairman, and, in case this is done, such a contract would bind the county.3 A county has been held not to be bound by a contract for building materials for a public building, made by the chairman of a building committee who was also chairman of the board of supervisors of the county, as there was shown no special authority from the board to him to make such contract, and such authority could not be inferred from the simple facts that he was chairman of the building committee and of the board of supervisors.4 Further, that no obligation could be created against the county by an assurance of the chairman of the board that they would pay the bill, as to bind the county a majority of the members must assent to such an assurance. These boards have power, implied from their power under statutes "to represent their respective counties, and to have the care and the management of the property and business of the county in all cases where no other provision is made," to employ one to assist in the collection of taxes not collectible by the county treasurer in the discharge of his duty.6 It has been held that they have the power to offer a reward for the recovery of money stolen from the county, by necessary implication from the statutes giving them full control of county property, and the care and management thereof; but not for the arrest of persons charged with the commission of crime.8

⁶ Wilhelm v. Cedar County, (1878)

¹ Jordan v. Osceola County, (1882) 59 Iowa, 388; s. c., 13 N. W. Rep., 50 Iowa, 254.

² Ibid., following Tatlock v. Louisa Iowa, 472. County, 46 Iowa, 188. The same rule mouth County, 48 Iowa, 186.

⁴⁶ Iowa, 188.

⁴³ Iowa, 136.

⁵ Ibid.

⁷ Hawk v. Marion County, (1878) 48

⁸ Ibid. The court said: "It is the recognized in Baker v. Johnson duty primarily of the state to cause County, 38 Iowa, 151, 153; Rice v. Ply- the arrest and conviction of criminals. in the performance of which the state ⁸ Tatlock v. Louisa County, (1877) makes use of such officers and agencies as it sees proper, and, if the general 4 Rice v. Plymouth County, (1876) assembly saw proper, there is no doubt a duty in respect thereto could be legitimately imposed on counties.

§ 100. Power of county commissioners in Kansas.— After a vote of the people in favor of it, county commissioners have power to borrow money to meet the current expenses of the county in case of a deficit in the county revenue and to issue the bonds of the county for the loan.1 It is within the scope of the authority of a board of county commissioners to determine whether an election has been had authorizing them to subscribe stock in a railroad company, and to subscribe such stock when such election has been held, and to make all necessary orders with reference to the matter.2 The county commissioners alone possess the power to contract for the county or to create an indebtedness against the county for articles, as mattings for the floor, for instance, to be used about the court houses.3 And the board will not be bound for a debt created for such purposes by the court or the sheriff of the county, without the consent of the county commissioners.4 They have no power to appropriate the fund raised by taxation to defray county charges and expenses of the current year to the erection of permanent county buildings.5 And in case a board has contracted for the erection of permanent county buildings, when it was beyond their power as county officers to make such contracts, and propose to carry out the terms of the contract at the cost of the county, and to use the general revenue fund to pay for the work done under such contract, they may be restrained by injunction from erecting the buildings, or from drawing any warrants on the county treasurer on account of the contract.6 Medical services to prisoners confined in county expressly authorizes the governor, in 23 Pa. St. 391, on the ground that the certain specified cases, to offer a re-burgesses of the borough were a part ward for the apprehension of persons of the public police. Janvrin v. Town charged with crimes of murder or ar- of Eveter, 48 N. II. 83, is not applicable Maine, as to the power of towns, in ferred by statute, and such is true as this respect, are much like ours as to to Crawshaw v. City of Roxbury, 7 counties, and there also the governor Gray, 374." is authorized to offer rewards in certain cases. It was held in Gale v. South Berwick, 51 Me. 174, that towns in that state had no power to offer re- Kans. 207. wards for the arrest of criminals. Such seems also to be the rule in Illinois. County of Crawford v Spenney, Kans. 419. 21 III. 288. But a contrary rule was

But instead of doing so, the statute adopted in Borough of York v. Forscht, Code, § 58. The statutes in because the power in that state is con-

- ¹Doty v. Ellsbree, 11 Kans. 209.
- ²State ex rel. v. Allen, 5 Kans. 213.
- ³ Neosho County v. Stoddart, 13

 - ⁵ State ex rel. v. Marion County, 21
 - f Ibid.

jails must be authorized by the county board, otherwise the county will not be liable for them. A county having no poorhouse may be bound by a township trustee to pay for medical services furnished to a poor person, who is a resident of the county and township, and who is temporarily a pauper.2 The allowance of a claim against a county by its county commissioners is not final and conclusive. The board itself may re-examine it. and, on appeal, it may be examined and disallowed in whole or in part by the court to which the right of appeal in such cases is given.3 Where a claim against a county has been disallowed in whole or in part by the county commissioners, it is the right of the claimant to appeal to the District Court or to commence an original action for it.4 Two members of a board of county commissioners cannot enter into a contract to bind the county, outside of the county, without previous authority from the board. Under the statute of Kansas empowering the county commissioners of a county "to purchase at their true value any and all bridges built upon the public highways of said county by any township or private person or persons, and pay for the same in county bonds," they have no authority to purchase such bridges and pay for them with county warrants or orders; nor have they power to purchase such bridges at the original cost of their construction, where that cost exceeds the "true value" of the hridges.6

§ 101. Power of County Courts in Kentucky.—County courts have no power to impose a tax in aid of a railroad on the people of a county or to-submit the question of taxation to popular vote without some special legislative enactment authorizing it.7 Such courts have power to employ counsel to defend a suit against the counties and test the validity of a subscription of the counties to a private corporation and to bind the counties for a reasonable fee.8 And in a suit by the attorney for the recovery ¹Roberts v. Pottawatomie County, 10 v. Webb, (1891) 47 Kans. 104; s. c., 27 Kans. 29.

^{*}Board of Comrs. of Clay County v. Renner, 27 Kans. 225,

⁸ Leavenworth County v. Keller, 6

⁴ Leavenworth County v. Brewer, 9 Kans. 807.

Board of Comrs. of Hamilton Co.

Pac. Rep. 825.

⁶ State of Kansas v. Pierce, (1893) 52 Kans. 521; s. c., 35 Pac. Rep. 19, ⁷B. G. & M. R. R. Co. v. Warren County Court, 10 Bush, 718.

⁸ Garrard County Court v. McKee. 11 Bush, 236.

of his fee, the judgment of the County Court as to what was beneficial for the county, and the employment of counsel to effect the object cannot be questioned. So have they power to employ counsel to resist the application of a railroad company for a mandamus to compel the court to subscribe for its stock and to issue the bonds of the county to pay the subscription; and the County Levy Court should make provision for the payment of a reasonable compensation for the services rendered under such employments.² They may appropriate money toward paying the cost of additional buildings erected by a society which supports a portion of the poor children of the county, as the authority given them to purchase land and establish poorhouses is not compulsory and could not constructively abolish the power to provide for the poor in other modes.' The power given to employ physicians to inoculate the poor does not empower them to employ a physician for the general treatment of the smallpox. They are authorized to employ medical aid for the relief of poor persons afflicted with smallpox without regard to the color of such persons.⁵ The county judge and justices, those constituting the tribunal in charge of county matters in Kentucky, are the judges of the need of a poorhouse, and may purchase land for such purpose and make the necessary improvements.6

§ 102. Power of supervisors in Michigan.— Unless distinctly authorized by legislation, a board of supervisors cannot incur debts or make engagements, except as the basis of benefit to the county it represents.7 The power of raising money reposed in boards of supervisors is confined to raising it for none but necessary uses, and all loans negotiated by them must be for some of the purposes mentioned in the statute.8 They cannot delegate to a committee or third parties such powers as the law requires to be submitted to their own discretion and judgment,9 They cannot delegate to the county treasurer the auditing of ² Washington County Court Thompson, 13 Bush, 241.

³ Orphan Society of Lexington v. 330; s c., 11 N. W. Rep. 183. Fayette County, 6 Bush, 415.

Bush, 218.

⁵ Rodman r. Justices of Larue County, 3 Bush, 145.

⁶ Jones v. Pendleton County Court,

e. (Ky. 1892) 19 S. W. Rep. 740.

⁷ Stamp r. Cass County, 47 Mich.

⁸ Davis r. Board of Supervisors of Puscy v. Meade County Court, 1 Ontonagon County, 64 Mich. 404; s. c, 31 N. W. Rep. 405.

⁹ Maxwell v. Bay City Bridge Co., 41 Mich. 453; s. c., 2 N. W. Rep. 639;

accounts against the county. A resolution of a board of supervisors providing for the raising of money to be paid over to the towns, without any definition of purposes, and to be spent under a town officer's direction, would be invalid, as the board must exercise its own judgment in expending money for roads under its control.2 There is a presumption that the action of a board of supervisors in voting money for a bridge or for county buildings is lawful.3 In allowing pay for services as to which the law is silent, a board of supervisors has considerable discretion, which it must exercise if a proper case, in its judgment, arises.4 Where the determination of a board of supervisors is conclusive not only as to the propriety of making an allowance, but as to the amount, mandamus will not lie to control their action. Neither will mandamus lie to compel a board of auditors to allow a demand rejected by it on the ground of non-performance of the services charged for.6

§ 103. Power of County Courts in Missouri.—County Courts in Missouri are the administrative agents of the counties. and can only exercise the powers conferred on them by statute.7 Their acts within the course prescribed by the statutes are binding upon the county; if beyond, they are not binding.8 They may make verbal contracts,9 but cannot bind the counties to all the contracts they may choose to make. 10 If an order of record of a County Court show the subsequent ratification and approval of a contract made by an agent, under a mere verbal appointment, the contract will, notwithstanding the irregularity, be as binding upon the county as if the appointment had been properly

People v. St. Clair County Officers, 15 Mich 85.

¹ Vincent v. Mecosta County Supervisors, 52 Mich. 340; s. c., 17 N. W. 126. Rep. 938.

visors, 84 Mich. 46.

Stockle v. Silsbee, 41 Mich. 615; s. c., 2 N. W. Rep. 900.

*Lee v. Board of Supervisors of Ionia County, 68 Mich. 330; s. c., 36 N. W. Rep. 83.

Mixer v. Manistee County Supervisors, 26 Mich. 422.

⁶ People v. Wayne Auditors, 10 Mich. 307.

⁷ State v. Shortridge, (1874) 56 Mo.

8 Saline County v. Wilson, (1875) 61 ² Attorney-General v. Bay Super- Mo. 287; Sturgeon v. Hampton, (1885) 88 Mo. 203. County Courts as agents. State ex rel. Quincy, Mo. & Pac. Ry. Co. v. Harris, (1888) 96 Mo. 29; s. c., 8 S. W. Rep. 794.

⁹Hase v. Warren County, (1877) 3 Mo. App. 567.

10 Alderson v. St. Charles County, (1879) 6 Mo. App. 420.

made in the first instance.\(^1\) Contracts with County Courts must be proved by the record alone, and cannot be varied, contradicted or destroyed by oral evidence of the intention of the judges.2 Their contracts cannot bind parties with whom they profess to contract by simply reciting the alleged contracts on their records. The assent of the contracting party must appear.3 They have no implied power to levy a tax. The power must be clearly and expressly given by statute. And if the statute imposes conditions upon which it is to be exercised, those conditions must be observed before the exercise of the power to levy a tax would be lawful.4 They cannot alter the assessment of taxes to build school houses on the mere ground that a school house was unnecessary, but may compromise disputed claims for taxes. They may contract for insurance upon the county buildings against fire or lightning.7 They would have no authority to employ counsel at the expense of the county to litigate a question as to whether a scheme of separation had been adopted, the effect of which was to abolish the County Court, but in which the county asserted no claim adverse to that of either party;8 but may, by an order of record, employ attorneys to aid the prosecuting attorney in any civil business, upon such terms as they may deem proper, if, in the judgment of the courts, the interests of the counties require They have no power to issue county certificates of indebtedness; 10 neither is it in their power to discount county warrants in payment of a county debt. 11 They have no authority to issue a a warrant for money expended by the sureties of a defaulting and absconding county treasurer in bringing him back to the county.12 In case a county treasurer pays a warrant when there is no money in the fund on which it is drawn, he cannot recover

¹ Walker v. Linn County, (1880) 72 Mo. 650.

² County of Johnson v. Wood, (1884) 84 Mo. 489.

8 Riley v. Pettis County, (1888) 96 Mo. 318; s. c., 9 S. W. Rep. 906.

⁴ State ex rel. Clinton County v. Hannibal & St. Joseph R. R. Co., (1885) (1882) 75 Mo. 450.

87 Mo. 236. ⁵ In re Petition of Powers, (1873) 52 51 Mo. 205. Mo. 218.

St. Louis, Iron Mt & So. Ry. Co. 505. v. Anthony, (1881) 73 Mo. 481.

8 Henley v. Clover, (1878) 6 Mo. App. 181.

⁹ Thrasher v. Greene County, (1885) 87 Mo. 419.

10 Smallwood v. Lafayette County,

11 Bauer v. Franklin County, (1873)

19 Hooper v. Ely, (1870) 46 Mo.

17

Walker v. Linn County, (1880) 72 Mo. 650.

the amount from the county; and it does not matter that the payment be made at the instance of the County Court, and upon their promise that the amount would be made good, nor that the warrant was received from the treasurer and canceled by the court.¹

§ 104. Power of county supervisors in New York.—A county cannot be bound by any acts of a board of supervisors. except within the limits of the express power conferred upon them by statute.2 A county may be bound by a majority of the board of supervisors, lawfully convened, unless it be otherwise expressly provided by law.8 Such boards having no inherent power to borrow money or to issue negotiable paper, must have statutory authority, express or implied, to do so.4 Money having been properly raised for a legitimate object, a board of supervisors of a county may change its appropriation, and devote it to another object within the scope of their powers. Under a power given a board of supervisors to provide for a permament location of an armory, by erecting it, they may hire a building for that purpose for a term of years.6 The execution of its mechanical and physical work may be delegated by a board of supervisors when acting as a mere business corporation in the same manner as by any other corporation.7 A building committee authorized by a resolution of a board of supervisors "to advertise for sealed proposals," the work "to be let to the lowest responsible bidder, the building committee, together with the architect, to furnish the necessary plans and specifications," would not be authorized to enter into a contract, but simply to take the steps preliminary to the execution of one.8 A board of supervisors has no authority to contract, in advance, for necessary printing for county officers, but they are bound to audit an account for such printing.9

¹Cook v. Putnam County, (1879) 70 Mo. 668.

⁹ Chemung Canal Bank v. Supervisors of Chemung, 5 Denio, 517.

³ People v. Brinkerhoff, 68 N. Y. 259.

^{*}Parker v. Supervisors of Saratoga, 106 N. Y. 892; s. C., 18 N. E. Rep. 808

⁵ People v. Baker, 29 Burb. 81.

⁶ People ex rel. Stockwell v. Earle, New York, 22 How. Pr. 71. (1874) 47 How. Pr. 870.

[†]People v. Supervisors of Rensselaer, 52 Hun, 446; s. c., 5 N. Y. Supp. 600.

⁸ Ibid.

⁹ People v. Supervisors of Cortland, 58 Barb. 139; s. c., 40 How. Pr. 58. As to the principle, see People v. Supervisors of New York, 21 How. Pr. 288; People v. Supervisors of New York, 22 How. Pr. 71.

they cannot bind a county for the payment of the expenses of a litigation by an individual to establish his rights to an office.1 They have no power to control the disbursements of the poor fund in the hands of the county treasurer.2 The general power of supervisors of a county to maintain actions includes the power to compromise a doubtful claim on which an action has been brought.3 Under the power conferred by statute upon the supervisors of a county to provide for the crection of bridges, they may appoint commissioners to carry out the work.4 A board of supervisors may pass upon and audit a claim for repairs to a county building in case the facts proved raise an inference that the committee of the board ordering the repairs to be made were authorized to do so by the board, and gave directions for the repairs by one of its members.⁵ A board of supervisors, where no definite or fixed sum is prescribed as compensation for services rendered for a county, is vested with discretion, and may allow such sum as may seem just.6 In the statutory power of a board of supervisors to examine, settle and allow all accounts chargeable against a county, is implied the exercise of judgment and discretion, and they have the right and power to reject a claim for sufficient reasons. A board of supervisors, in case they have been induced by misconception of fact to audit and allow a claim against a county, may reconsider and reverse their action in the matter.8 Supervisors should ascertain whether the county is liable for services rendered at the request of an overseer of the poor who has confessed judgment for the same before they allow the claim against the county.9 They cannot allow a claim against a county on their own notions as to its being an equitable one.10

¹ Supervisors of Richmond County Supervisors of Warren County, 1 How. Pr. 116.

v. Ellis, (1875) 59 N. Y. 620.

² People v. Demarest, 16 Hun, 123. ³ Supervisors of Orleans County v. Broome County, 65 N. Y. 222.

Bowen, 4 Lans. 24.

⁵ Cogan v. Mayor, etc., of New How. Pr. 50. York, 5 Hun, 291.

County, 9 Wend, 508; People v. Lawrence County, 30 How, Pr. 178.

⁸ People ex rel. r. Supervisors of

⁹ Gere v. Supervisors of Cayuga ⁴ People v. Meach, 14 Abb. Pr. (N. County, 7 How. Pr. 255; People v. Supervisors of Delaware County, 12

¹⁰ Chemung Canal Bank v. Super-⁶ People ex rel. v. Supervisors of visors of Chemung County, 5 Denio. St. Lawrence County, 30 How. Pr. 517. As to the duty of supervisors in auditing claims against a county, see People v. Supervisors of Dutchess People ex rel. v. Supervisors of St.

They have no power to indemnify a justice of the peace against the expenses of his defense in impeachment.1

§ 105. Power of county commissioners in Pennsylvania. -A county is not bound by a contract made by one county commissioner.2 But two of the commissioners may bind the county by a contract made in their official capacity, though not at their office.3 County commissioners in Pennsylvania have power to purchase everything necessary for the accommodation of persons employed in conducting a general election.4 But they cannot bind a county by a prior agreement to pay costs on a nolle prosequi with leave of court.⁵ To bind a county by an informal agreement made by two of its commissioners within the scope of their powers, such agreement must be expressly or impliedly ratified and confirmed by its commissioners acting as a board.6 They may also bind a county by a contract for the removal of an insane prisoner to a hospital and his maintenance therein.7 County commissioners can only contract with counsel to represent the county in litigation for a reasonable compensation.8

§ 106. Power of county boards in Wisconsin.—A county board may bind the county by contracts as to matters within their control, but not as to matters intrusted to a particular officer.9 A county board may, by resolution, confer upon a committee of its number the power to purchase a poor farm. 10 And the county will be bound by the action of such committee in making a purchase of a poor farm and accepting the deed and liable for the price of the same without any further action of the county board ratifying the purchase.11

§ 107. Power of township trustees in Indiana.—Township trustees may levy a tax to build school houses.12 And a contract

```
<sup>1</sup>People v. Lawrence, 6 Hill, 244.
```

Cas. (Pa.) 445.

⁸ Jefferson County v. Slagle, 66 Pa. St. 202.

⁴ Commonwealth v. Commissioners of Philadelphia, 2 Serg. & R. 193.

⁵ Berks County v. Pile, 18 Pa. St.

Township v. County, 2 Woodward's Dec. (Pa.) 194.

Allegheny County v. Western ² Treichler v. Berks County, 2 Grant's Pennsylvania Hospital, 48 Pa. St.

⁸ County v. Barber, 97 Pa. St.

Beal v. St. Croix County, 18 Wis. 500.

¹⁰ French v. Dunn County, 58 Wis.

¹³ Ibid.

¹⁹ Adamson v. Auditor, 9 Ind. 175.

of township trustees for building such houses is binding on the township. An order of a board of trustees of a township signed by the clerk and president of the board, requiring the treasurer to pay a fixed sum for building a school house, was in this case held to be a valid demand against the township.2 A township trustee has no authority to borrow money or to execute notes in the name of the school township.3 The trustee of the school township in this case borrowed money from a bank and executed notes of the corporation for the loan. He deposited the money in the bank in his own name and drew upon it as an individual. The Supreme Court of Indiana held that this was a transaction between him and the bank, and that the township was not liable upon the note. On the petition for a rehearing of this case the court adhered to the opinion that the trustee of a school corporation was a special agent of very limited authority; that not only was he a special agent, but that he was one whose authority was only such as the public statute conferred upon him.5

Grant County, (1860) 15 Ind. 431.

Township r. Dodson, 98 Ind. 497.

the school township only when he does Mass. 214. the acts which the law authorizes, and does them in the manner which it pre- National Bank of Crawfordsville, scribes. All who deal with him are (1885) 102 Ind. 464, 473. ELLIOTT, J., bound to take notice of the scope of speaking for the court, said: "That

1 Crist v. Brownsville Township, 10 his authority " " "." The court said in Axt v. Jackson School Town-² Heal v. Jefferson Township of ship, 90 Ind. 101: "In dealing with such trustee the appellant was bound ³ Union School Township v First to take notice of his fiduciary charac-National Bank of Crawfordsville, ter, and to know that he could only (1885) 102 Ind. 464; Bicknell v. Widner bind his township by his words and School Township, 73 Ind. 501; Wallis deeds which were authorized by law." v. Johnson School Township, 75 Ind. It was not in [this trustee's] power, by 368; First National Bank v. Union checks, notes or other instruments, to School Township, 75 Ind. 361; Pine bind the school corporation unless the Civil Township v. Huber Manufactur- claim for which they were given exing Co., 83 Ind. 121; Reeve School isted against the township, and in this case no claim did exist. Even if the 4 Union School Township c. First trustee had been guilty of fraud the Nat. Bank of Crawfordsville, (1885) school corporation would not have 102 Ind. 461. It was said: "The been bound. Lowell Five Cents Savtrustee, in the management of the ings Bank v. Inhabitants of Winchesfinancial affairs of the school township, ter, 8 Allen, 109; Benoit v. Inhabitants is a special agent with limited statu- of Conway, 10 Allen, 528; Dickinson r. tory powers. He has no general au- Inhabitants of Conway, 12 Allen, 487; thority to bind the corporation. His Kelley v. Lindsey, 7 Gray, 287; Railacts create a binding obligation against road Nat. Bank v. City of Lowell, 109

⁵ Union School Township v. First

§ 108. Power of selectmen of towns in Massachusetts.— A town cannot be bound by an unauthorized oral promise of its selectmen to pay bounty to a soldier. Where the inhabitants of a town have by vote authorized their treasurer to borrow money for the adjustment of a state tax for the reimbursement of bounties to volunteers, and the tax had been adjusted without the necessity of borrowing money, it was held that the treasurer's authority to borrow money under that vote of the inhabitants ceased upon the adjustment of the tax.2 Selectmen have no authority. merely virtute officii, to make a contract on behalf of a town for the hiring of a building in which town meetings may be held.8 Selectmen of a town have no authority to bind the town by an offer of a reward for the apprehension and conviction of a person who has not been charged with a crime by complaint or indictment.4

§ 100. Power of selectmen of towns in New Hampshire.— Selectmen of towns have no general authority to bind the town by contract.5 They cannot borrow money upon the credit of the town.6 Being general agents for towns in respect to pecuniary matters, unless restrained by specific instructions, they are warranted in paying any existing debts of towns which, in the exercise of a sound discretion on their part, should be paid.7

local school affairs, and to do this with he had authority to confer." the money derived from the revenues set apart for school purposes. There Mass. 127. is, in strictness, no power in the corporation to obtain or to expend money derived from any other source than the school revenues. Wallis v. Johnson School Township, 75 Ind. 368. Thus is the power of the corporation itself circumscribed, and its agent, the trustee, can by no possibility possess this conclusion is a just one cannot be authority that is not possessed by his doubted by one who considers the na- principal. It is perfectly obvious, ture of a school corporation and the therefore, that one who deals with a character of the authority of its agent, school trustee must, at his peril, ascerthe trustee. The corporation is itself tain that the trustee is acting within organized for a limited and local pur- his authority. It is incumbent upon pose. It is not a corporation with gen- a person seeking to hold the corporaeral powers; it has neither the general tion liable for a debt created by the power to contract debts nor to buy trustee in the name of the corporation. property. Its power is to conduct the to affirmatively show that it was one

- ¹ Barker v. Chesterfield, (1869) 102
- Benoit v. Inhabitants of Conway. (1865), 10 Allen, 538,
 - ³ Goff v. Rehoboth, (1846) 12 Met. 26.
 - Day v. Otis, 8 Allen, 477.
 - ^a Andover v. Grafton, 7 N. H. 298.
 - 6 Rich v. Errol, 51 N. H. 850.
 - ⁷Sanborn v. Deerfield, 2 N. H. 251 may, in some cases, bind the town by a promissory note, but the holder must show that in giving the note the selectmen acted within the scope of their authority.1 They may institute a suit in the name of a town to recover back usurious interest.2 Negotiable notes, the property of a town, may be sold and transferred by selectmen. Adjustment of suits or controversies of a town, not being in their power, as selectmen, they cannot bind the town to the payment of money for such an adjustment by a written contract. A town may be bound by its selectmen for medical services in vaccinating, but not for medical services rendered persons sick with smallpox, who are not purpers. The health officers of a town have no authority to bind the town for medicines and medical services furnished to inhabitants who are not paupers.5

§ 110. Power of supervisors of townships in Pennsylvania.— A township cannot be bound by one of its supervisors in a matter requiring deliberation, consultation and judgment. Such a matter must be determined by a majority of the board at a regular meeting.6 Nor can it be bound by a contract made by one supervisor, without the assent of his colleague, with an attorney for a year at a fixed sum. A township may be bound by a mere ministerial act of a single supervisor, such as the employment of hands and giving due bills for the amount of work done on its roads.8 In a matter where the township is bound by law to perform the contract made by a single supervisor, it is in the power of this single supervisor to contract if the other refuse his assent.9 A supervisor has no authority to bind a township by his agreement to pay a bounty for enlistment in United States service. 10

8 Dull v. Ridgway, 9 Pa. St. 272; McNeal v. Allegheny Township, 1

¹ Pottsville v. Norwegian Township, which will bind the township, see

Am. Law Reg. 124.

¹ Andover v. Grafton, 7 N. II. 298.

⁹ Albany v. Abbott, 61 N. H. 157.

³ West r. Errol, 58 N. II. 233.

⁴ Underhill v. Gibson, 2 N. H. 352.

⁵ Wilkinson v. Albany, 28 N. H. 9; 11 Pa. St. 543. As to contracts that Farmington v. Jones, 36 N. H. 271; Me-cannot be made by a single supervisor Intire v. Pembroke, 53 N. II. 462.

⁶ Township v. Gibboney, 94 Pa. St. Cooper v. Lampeter Township, 8 584. As to liability of a township for Watts, 125; McNeal v. Allegheny a contract made by its supervisors Township, 1 Am. Law Reg. 124; Batwithin the apparent scope of their auten v. Brandywine, 3 Clark, (Pa.) thority, see Cook v. Deerfield, 64 Pa. 462.

¹⁰ Bearce v Township, 27 W. N. C.

Bohan v. Township, 4 Kuip, (Pa.) (Pa.) 212.

Supervisors of a township may borrow money for the purpose of repairing roads and building bridges, and confess judgment against the township for the amount borrowed.1 Supervisors of townships have power to contract for making new roads ordered to be opened and building the necessary bridges.2 It is within the general powers of the supervisors of a township to contract for the erection of a township bridge in place of one destroyed by a freshet.3 They may bind the township by a promise to repay voluntary subscriptions to a bounty fund.' And in case supervisors agree to a division of the charge of the affairs of the township, by apportioning to each a certain part of the district, the acts of each, within the limits assigned to him, will be bind-Supervisors have no right to take up an ing on the township.5 old certificate of indebtedness issued by the township and issue a new one to the assignee of the original payee.6

§ III. Power of selectmen and agents of towns in Vermont.—A town cannot be bound by a contract made by one selectman, without the knowledge or consent of the others.7 In case it be shown that the three selectmen of a town agreed together as to the mode in which the business of the town should be transacted and the business was intrusted by two of them to the third one, and he made the contracts with reference to the business of the town, a jury would be justified in finding such assent on the part of the others, or any of them, as to make the act of the one contracting the act of the majority and binding upon the town.8 Selectmen of a town have no right to receive money collected by a sheriff on an execution in favor of a town and discharge him, it being the duty of the sheriff to pay it to the town treasurer.9 Selectmen have no authority to draw town

Pa. St. 308.

⁴Juniata Township c. Reamer, 2 W N. C. (Pa.) 91.

⁵Commonwealth v. Supervisors of Pa. St. 442; s. c., 15 Atl. Rep. 910. Colley, 29 Pa. St. 121; Hopewell v. Putt, 2 W. N. C. (Pa.) 46. In Sheppard v Township, 4 Del. Co. Rep.

¹ Maneval v. Township, 9 Pa. Co. Ct. (Pa.) 385, where the supervisors had divided their district, the township ² Childs v. Brown Township, 40 Pa. was held liable for stone purchased by one of the supervisors for the use of ³Oakland Township ». Martin, 104 the township, and the other supervisors had not dissented from the purchase.

⁶Snyder Township v. Bovaird, 122

Hunkins v. Johnson, 45 Vt. 181.

⁸ Guvette v. Bolton, 46 Vt. 228.

Middlebury v. Rood, 7 Vt. 125.

orders in their own behalf in settlement of their own private claims against the town; nor are such orders made effectual by the allowance of the town auditors.1 Selectmen of a town may submit to arbitration a claim against the town, for instance, for building a bridge, under the statutory powers given them "to audit, and in their discretion to allow, the claim of any person against the town for money paid or services performed for the town."2 So they may submit to arbitration claims against their towns for damages sustained upon the highways of the towns.3 The selectmen of a town have the power to settle and stop a suit against a party brought to recover a penalty for not removing an obstruction out of the highway under an order of the selectmen.4 And the general authority of the selectmen over the subject would not be limited by a vote of the town "to direct the town agent to manage the law suits as he thinks best." A town having appointed an agent for the purpose of "compromising" a claim for damages in the laying of a highway, the agent may refer the claim to arbitration. A town agent, appointed to defend and prosecute suits, has no authority as such to bind the town by a promise to pay a certain sum on settlement of a suit against the town to recover for an injury occasioned by insufficiency of a highway. A town would be bound for professional services of the town agent, who is an attorney, where he is authorized as town agent to employ an attorney to prosecute and defend that the town denied his authority to in this action. give the order and refused to pay it, and denied that he had paid the money into the treasury, or that the town ever received any part of it; and upon this Vt. 349. refusal and denial on the part of the town, the selectmen took up the order by paying the holder the amount for

¹ Davenport r. Johnson, 49 Vt. 403. which it called. The Supreme Court In Burnham r. Strafford, 53 Vt. 610, held that, although he could not rean action of assumpsit brought by a cover for the amount paid to take up selectman against the town, the evi- the order as for money paid at the dence tended to prove that he borrowed town's request, the town having refor the town a sum of money and gave pudiated the order, nor upon the order a town order for the same, to which itself, it not being negotiable, yet, if in he attached his own name and the fact he paid into the treasury the sum names of the other two selectmen, and originally borrowed and he had himpaid the money into the town treasury, self repaid the loan, he could recover

- ⁹ Dix v. Dummerston, 19 Vt. 262,
 - ³ Hollister v. Pawlet, 43 Vt. 425.
- ⁴ Town of Cabot v. Britt, (1863) 36
 - 5 Ibid.
 - ⁶Schoff r. Bloomfield, 8 Vt. 472.
 - ¹Clay v. Wright, 44 Vt. 538.

suits on behalf of the town.1 In road cases, where the town agent provides no counsel and makes no objection to the employment of counsel by the selectmen of a town, it is within the scope of the implied powers of the selectmen to protect the interests of their town by the employment of counsel at the charge of the town in such cases.2 And the assent of the town agent to such employment of counsel by the selectmen may be presumed where he neglects to employ counsel and no dissent on his part is shown.8

§ 112. Power of town officers in Wisconsin.—The officers of a town when transcending their lawful authority cannot bind the town. A town may be bound by a contract which it is authorized to make by the joint act of two supervisors. A town board of supervisors is not authorized to compromise and discharge an existing valid judgment in favor of the town, without full payment in money or its equivalent.6 A town board may, without special authority from the electors, defend a suit against the town, or take an appeal therein. The chairman of a town board may be directed by such board to execute a subscription or bond authorized to be issued by the town, and the act of the chairman will be essentially the act of the board.8

§ 113. Power of officers of school districts.—School districts can be bound by their directors by their official acts, and of these acts the minutes of the board are the best evidence.9 They cannot, by contract, divest themselves of powers conferred for a public purpose. 10 School directors have an absolute discretion as to the necessity of erecting new school houses and of borrowing money to pay for them.11 Where a committee has been appointed by a school board to get up plans for a new school building and submit them to the board for approval, the committee would be authorized to contract with an architect for plans and specifica-

¹Langdon v. Castleton, 30 Vt. 285.

Burton r. Norwich, 34 Vt. 345.

⁸ Ibid.

⁴Hubbard v. Lyndon, 28 Wis. 674. trict, 8 Phil. 568.

Beaver Dam v. Frings, 17 Wis.

Butternut v. O'Malley, 50 Wis. 329.

Haner v. Town of Polk, 6 Wis. 350.

⁸ Hewitt v. Town of Grand Chute, 7 Wis. 282.

Wachob v. Bingham School Dis-

¹⁰ Conley v. Directors of West Deer, 32 Pa. St. 194.

¹¹ In re School Directors, 3 Kulp, (Pa.), 104; In re School Directors, 2 Pa. Co. Ct. Rep. 497.

Contracts with a school teacher cannot be made except by a vote of the school board; one made by the president and secretary of the board cannot be enforced.2 As incidents to their power to sell, directors of school districts have power to mortgage the real estate held by them.8 Where school officers are authorized to make contracts only with the assent of a majority of the electors, a contract made by them without such assent would be void.4 The officers of a school district may make a valid contract with a qualified teacher extending beyond their own term.⁵ A valid contract with one of their number for the purchase of a site for a school house in exchange for bonds may be made by commissioners to receive and negotiate bonds and purchase school sites, the vendor not acting in the transaction as a commissioner. A school district may avoid a contract between a school board and one of the members of the board for the erection of a school house by the latter.7 Directors of a school district voting for a misapplication of the public funds are personally liable therefor to the township.8 Where it was found that a school board had conspired with a contractor to defraud the district in the erection of a school building, it has been held in Iowa that under the statute authorizing such boards to employ counsel in suits brought against any of the school officers to enforce the provisions of the school law, they had no power to employ counsel in a suit to enjoin them from accepting and paying for the school building." A de fucto trustee of a school district may bind the district by his contract with a teacher for the schools.10 The officers of school districts are limited to the purposes named in the statute prescribing their powers in the matter of raising or expending funds of the school district. action against members of a school board of education, for instance, for damages to the business reputation of parties by

¹ McKeesport District v, Miller, 1 Pennypacker (Pa.), 510.

² School District n. Padden, 89 Pa.

⁸ Morrisville School District, 3 Phil.

⁴Peck v. School District, 21 Wis. Rep. 15.

^{316.}

⁶ Cady v. Watertown, 18 Wis. 322.

¹ Pickett v. School District, 25 Wis.

⁸ Dickinson Township v. Linn, 36 Pa. St. 431.

⁹ Scott v. Independent District of Hardin County, (Iowa, 1894) 59 N. W.

¹⁰ O'Neil r. Battie, (1892) 62 Hun, Webster v. School District, 16 Wis. 618; s. c., 18 N. Y. Supp. 255. See, also, O'Neil v. Battie, 61 Hun, 622; s. c., 15 N. Y. Supp. 818.

reason of a refusal on their part to entertain a bid of such parties for furnishing supplies for the schools on the ground that such parties had before dealt dishonestly with the district, the school board would not be authorized to expend the moneys of the district in defending the suit, it being such a matter as the district itself has no interest in. A member of a district school board having no school funds in his hands, not being its treasurer. it has been held in New Hampshire could not recover of the district the money he had paid to a teacher hired by himself to teach one of the schools and for board he had furnished the teacher on the ground that he could contract only on the credit of the school money of the district and not on the credit of the district itself.² Directors of a school district in Iowa have power to borrow money to discharge a debt which has been legitimately created, and may pledge the credit of the district for that pur-But the obligation evidencing the debt can only bear six per cent interest.³ The district board of primary school districts in Michigan may contract with qualified teachers for such term as shall be determined by the qualified voters of the district at the annual school meeting thereafter to be held.4 The presumption that a contract with a teacher was authorized by a vote of the school board pursuant to the statute of Wisconsin upon the subject will be raised by the fact that the officers constituting the board signed it. And the mere fact that the officers were not together when they signed it would not tend to disprove that it was so authorized.

¹Hotchkiss v. Plunkett, (1891) 60 Conn. 230; s. c., 22 Atl. kep. 535.

² Wheeler v. Alton, (N. H. 1892) 23 Atl. Rep. 89.

Colony, (1879) 51 Iowa, 102; s. c., 49 Rep. 960. N. W. Rep. 1051.

⁴ Cleveland v. Amy, (1891) 88 Mich. 374; s. c., 50 N. W. Rep. 293.

⁵ Dolan v. Joint School District No. 13, Towns of Utica & Freeman, ⁸ Austin v District Township of (1891) 80 Wis. 155; s. c., 49 N. W.

CHAPTER IV.

POWER OF AGENTS AND OFFICERS-PRIVATE CORPORATIONS.

- § 114. Agency in general.
 - 115. Rules as to an agent's acts.
 - 116. To what the powers conferred on an agent may be extended.117. Illustrations of the binding
 - force of an agent's act.
 - 118. Power of general agents.
 - 119. When the authority of a general agent will not be implied.
 - 120. Power of officers generally.
 - 121. The same subject continued.
 - 122. Power of directors—general rules.
 - 123. Directors for the first year.
 - 124. Directors de facto.
 - 125. Illustrations of the power of directors.
 - More illustrations on this subject.
 - 127. Illustrations of a lack of power in directors.
 - 128. When notes will be held to have been authorized by a board of directors.
 - 129. Waiver by directors of their power to repudiate a contract.
 - 130. Power of trustees of a corpora-
 - 131. Power of officers of a corporation to employ attorneys.
 - 132. When officers may use bonds as collateral.
 - 133 When the execution of a note is not authorized.
 - 134. Execution of promissory notes and transfer of choses in action.
 - 185. Notes signed by officers of corporation,
 - 186. Power of bank officers.

- § 137. Power of a bank cashier.
 - 138. When the authority of its cashier cannot be questioned by a bank.
- 189. Indorsement of a draft by cashier and president of a bank,
- 140. Power of a treasurer of a savings bank.
- 141. Power of officers of mining corporations.
- 142. General rules as to the power of a president,
- 143. Rule as to evidence in such cases.
- 144. Power of president as to transfer of assets.
- 145. When a president's act is binding.
- 146. Illustrations of the power of a president.
- 147. Illustrations of a lack of power.148. What would show the authority of a president.
- 149. Question of authority for the jury.
- 150. Power of a president as to execution of notes.
- In what cases the authority of a president may not be questioned.
- 152. Giving a judgment note—New Jersey.
- 153. The same subject Illinois.
- 154. Where contract of purchase includes giving a judgment note.
- 155. What raises a presumption of authority.
- 156. Power of officers acting conjointry,

- - 158. One holding several offices.
 - 159. Note executed by a secretary.
 - 160. Power of superintendents, etc.
 - 161. A manager's power.
 - 162. Manager of a foreign corporation.
 - 163. Authority of a manager.
 - 164. What is not within the duties of a cashier of a corporation.
 - 165. Auditing board of a corporation.
 - 166. Power of a treasurer generally.
 - 167. Power of a treasurer as to transfer of a note.
 - 168. Power of a treasurer as to execution of a note.
 - 169. Authority of a treasurer to borrow money by means of sterling contracts.
 - 170. Power of a treasurer to indorse in name of corporation a note for accommodation.

- § 157. An illustration on this subject. | § 171. Power of a treasurer to indorse a note of another corporation.
 - 172. When a corporation will be bound by a note executed by its treasurer.
 - 173. When a corporation is bound by acts of its treasurer.
 - 174. When a corporation will not be bound by the act of its treas-
 - 175. Another illustration of such a esse.
 - 176. When contracts of a chief engineer will bind a railroad corporation.
 - 177. Ratification by corporation of agent's acts - general rules.
 - 178. Modes of ratification.
 - 179. Illustration of ratification of conduct of agent.
 - 180. What does not amount to a ratification.
- § 114. Agency in general.—A corporation can only act through a duly authorized agent or committee. Authority may be conferred by a single resolution of the directors for action in a class of cases as well as by a separate resolution in each case.2 Though a corporation must, in general, act through its common seal, yet it may appoint an agent whose acts, within the sphere of his powers, do not require any such appendage to impart to his acts validity.8 The powers of an agent of a corporation are such as he is allowed by the directors or managers of the corporation to exercise within the limits of the charter. The silent acquiescence of the directors or managers may be as effectual to clothe the agent with power as an express letter of attorney.4 A corporation will be bound by a promissory note executed by its agent should he act within the sphere of his power or his act be subsequently ratified. An agent of a corporation acting within the scope of his authority may bind his principal in the same way

W. Rep. 494.

² Elwell v. Dodge, 83 Barb, 886.

^{*}Everett v. United States, (1837) 6 Port. (Ala.) 166; citing Bank of Colum- Y. 546. bia c. Patterson, 7 Cranch, 299; Me-

¹ Merchants' Union Barb Wire Co. v. chanics' Bank of Alexandria v. Bank Rice, (1886) 70 Iowa, 14; s. c., 28 N. of Columbia, 5 Wheat. 326; Fleckner v. United States Bank, 8 Wheat, 389, 358.

Olcott v. Tioga R. R. Co., 27 N.

⁵ Butis v. Cuthbertson, 6 Ga. 166, as if he were the agent of a natural person unless the charter expressly provides otherwise.' Should an agent of a corporation having authority to execute a mortgage and affixes to one he executes anything which the law recognizes as a seal when affixed by a natural person, it will be presumptively a good execution by the corporation.2 A contract in writing may be binding on a corporation though a private seal of one its officers be used instead of the corporate seal, and though no record may be found authorizing the officer to make the contract if proven by other evidence that he had such authority or that the corporation ratified his act afterwards.3 The authority of an agent to bind a corporation by a contract for borrowing money may be inferred from proof of the character of the agency, the acts of the agent and the knowledge of the officers and directors of his habit to make similar contracts and their acquiescence in the same and the fact of the money being applied to the use of the corporation. Whatever the purpose of the agency, an agent of a corporation may be appointed without the use of a seal.⁵ The appointment of an agent by a corporation may be inferred from the permission, or acceptance, of his services 6 If one has long acted in the capacity of managing director of a corporation without objection, and his services as such have been invariably accepted, it matters not, as against strangers, whether or not he has received a specific appointment to such position from the directors.7 It is not necessary that the authority be given by a formal vote in matters where the acts of the agent of a corporation in the transfer of personal property require no formal instrument under seal, as in the sale or mortgage of personal pany, (1870) 11 Wall. 488.

¹ City of Covington c. Covington & vote entered upon their record book, (Ky.), 69.

² Johnston c. Crawley, 25 Ga. 316.

Conn. 201, it appeared that the directors of a corporation, by the 80 Me. 34; s. c., 12 Atl, Rep. 732. charter, had the power of disposing of its property and of appointing such forming its business, and that, by a 187.

Cincinnati Bridge Co., (1873) 10 Bush they appointed an agent to execute a mortgago deed of real estate to secure a creditor. The appointment of the ⁸ Eureka Company v. Bailey Com- agent, though not otherwise evidenced or authenticated by the corporate seal. ⁴ Allen v. Citizens' Steam Naviga- was held valid for the purpose intion Co, 22 Cal. 28. In Savings tended. See, also, Beckwith v. Wind-Bank of New Haven r. Davis, 8 sor Manufacturing Co., 14 Conn. 603.

⁵ Fitch v. Lewiston Steam Mill Co.,

⁶ Burgess v. Pue, 2 Gill (Md.), 254. Walker v. Detroit Transit R. Co., agents as should be requisite for per-. 47 Mich. 338; s. c., 11 N. W. Rep. 144 property.1 The authority of an agent of a private corporation to bind it by a contract for borrowing money may be shown without proof of a resolution of the managing board directly conferring the authority or of any formal ratification of the contract by such board. His authority may be inferred from proof of the character of the agency, of the acts of the agent or other knowledge of the officers and directors of such habit to make such contracts and their acquiescence in the same and the fact of the money being applied to the use of the corporation.2 The authority to an agent of a corporation to contract in its behalf. either under seal or otherwise, need not be conferred at a meeting of the directors unless that is the usual mode of their doing such an act. Should the board adopt the practice of giving assent to the execution of contracts by their agents, assent so given is of the same force as if done at a regular meeting of the board. Where an act of incorporation does not require that the appointment of an agent of the corporation shall be by written instrument, and it does not appear to have been so made, the appointment may be proved by parol.4 It is not necessary to enter on the minutes of a corporation a vote or resolution of the directors appointing an agent. His appointment may be inferred from the permission or acceptance of his services by the corporation. The appointment as well as the authority of an agent of a corporation may be implied from the adoption or recognition

¹ Fitch v. Lewiston Steam Mill Co., mouth v. Koehler, 35 Mich. 22. As (1894) 25 Or. 412; s. c., 86 Pac. Rep. tion Company, (1863) 22 Cal. 28.

³ Bank of Middlebury v. Rutland & agents of corporations by parol, see 772. Jhons v. People, 25 Mich. 499; Tav-

80 Me. 34; s. c., 12 Atl. Rep. 732. to proving by parol evidence their As to formally authorizing the acts official capacity, see Cahill v. Kal. of officers being or not being neces- Mut. Ins. Co., 2 Douglass (Mich.), sary, see Culvert v. Idaho Stage Co., 124; Druse v. Wheeler, 22 Mich. 439.

⁴ Hamilton v. New Castle & Dan-24; Brown v. Grand Rapids Parlor ville R. R. Co., (1857) 9 Ind. 359; Rich-Furniture Co., 58 Fed. Rep. 286; s. c., ardson v. St. Joseph Iron Co., 5 Blackf. 7 C. C. A. 225; Burch v. Paper Co., (Ind.) 146; Madison v. Ross, 3 Ind. 236 141 Ill. 519; s. c., 31 N. E. Rep. 420. Cincinnati, etc., Co. v. Clarkson, 7 Ind. ² Allen v. Citizens' Steam Naviga- 595; Jones v. Milton, etc., Co., 7 Ind.

⁵ Burgess v. Pue, 2 Gill (Md.), 254; Washington R. R. Co., 30 Vt. 159; Warren v. Ocean Insurance Co., 16 Me. Stark Bank v. U. S. Pottery Co., 34 439; Jones, Admr., etc., v. Trustees Vt. 144; State ex rel. Page v. Smith, Florence Wesleyan University, 46 Ala. 48 Vt. 266. As to appointment of 626; State Bank v. Comegys, 12 Ala.

of his acts by the corporation. So, also, from the course of dealing and from contemporaneous and subsequent acts on the part of the corporation.2 An agent of a corporation will not be personally liable upon a contract in his own name under seal with another person where, in the body of the contract, it is stated that the agent contracted in behalf of the body corporate.8

§ 115. Rules as to an agent's acts.—The power of an agent of a corporation, unless otherwise shown, will be limited to the business of the corporation, connected with or relating to the object and design of the charter of the corporation.4 And he can only make such contracts as the corporation can lawfully make.5 If the acts of an agent of a corporation are some within, and some beyond, the corporate powers, the corporation may ratify his acts so far as they were within its powers. Agents of a corporation are not required, by any rule of the common law, to act by deed in behalf of their principals, where they might act themselves by parol.7 Though not reduced to writing, their contracts bind a corporation.8 Wherever a corporation is acting within the scope of the legitimate purposes of its institution, all parol contracts made by its authorized agents are express promises of the corporation; and all the duties imposed on them by law, and all benefits conferred at their request, raise implied promises, for the enforcement of which an action will lie.9 The acts of agents of corporations, within the ordinary line of their duty, bind corporations without any formal vote. 10 The name of the corporation as

¹ Kiley v. Forsee, (1875) 57 Mo. 390; Southgate v. Atlantic & Pacific R. R. ing, (1848) 29 Me. 123. Co., (1875) 61 Mo. 89. As to implying an agency for a corporation son, 1 Dev. & Bat. (N. C.) 306. from facts and circumstances, see 15 Md. 494.

² Washington Mut. Fire Ins. Co. v. St. Mary's Seminary, (1873) 52 Mo.

³ McDonough v. Templeman, 1 H. & J. (Md.) 156.

Steam Navigation Co. v. Dandridge, 8 G. & J. (Md.) 248.

Downing v. Mount Washington Road Co., 40 N. H. 230.

⁶ Bangor Boom Corporation v. Whit-

⁷ Buncombe Turnpike Co. v. McCar-

8 City Bank of Baltimore v. Bate-Northern Central Ry. Co. v. Bastian, man, 7 II. & J. (Md.) 104; Union Bank v. Ridgely, 1 H. & G. (Md.) 326.

Bank of Columbia v. Patterson, 7 Cranch, 299, 306; Eastman v. Coos Bank, 1 N. H. 23; Smith v. Nashua & Lowell Railroad, 27 N. II. 86; Glidden r. Unity, 33 N. H. 571; Great ⁴Pennsylvania, Del. & Maryland Falls Bank v. Farmington, 41 N. H. 33; Andover v. Kendrick, 42 N. H.

> 10 Foot v. Rutland & Whitehall R. R. Co., 32 Vt. 633. As to acts of the contracting party should be in the body of the contract. where an agent would bind the corporation only in making a contract in its behalf, and the agent should sign it as agent or officer.1 A committee appointed by a corporation, having made a settlement of matters between the corporation and third parties, and it appearing that the corporation had received the check of the third party from its committee, it has been held was sufficient to justify the trial court in submitting the question of ratification of the committee's action by the corporation to the jury.2 An attorney at law representing a corporation in a suit in the courts, must have special authority to compromise the same. But, in case he makes such a compromise, the facts of which may be known to the officers of the corporation intrusted with its affairs, and they frequently advise with the attorney about the matter, and make no objection to it, and the corporation accept the benefit of the compromise, as by receiving the money agreed to be paid it, this would amount to a ratification of the attorney's acts.' Authority to give a negotiable promissory note for the amount advanced is not included in an authority to advance money for a corporation.4 A corporation will not be bound by the acts or knowledge of one of its officers in a matter in which he acts for himself and deals with the corporation as if he had no official relations with it.5

§ 116. To what the powers conferred on agents may be extended.— The authority to give to the lender of money bor-bind the corporations, see Queen v. Sec ond Avc. R. R. Co, (1872) 35 N. Y. Fleckner v. U. S. Bank, 8 Wheat, 389 Super. Ct. 154. There can arise no pretransact business, which the corpora- Hankins v. Shoup, 2 Ind. 342. tion is not authorized by its charter to (1881) 88 N.Y. 480. As to corporations N W. Rep. 494. being bound by the acts of their agents made in the ordinary discharge of 67; s. c , 7 N. E. Rep. 518. their duty, though not authorized, or executed, under corporate seal, see 28 Pick. 302. Mechanics' Bank v. Bank of Columbia, 5 Wheat. 326; Fanning v. Gregoire, (1874) 41 Conn. 255. 16 How. 524; Bank of Metropolis v.

agents of corporations being done in Guttschlick, 14 Pet. 19; Bank of U S the line of such agency in order to v. Dandridge, 12 Wheat. 67; Bank of Columbia v. Patterson, 7 Cranch, 299;

¹ Hamilton v. New Castle & Dansumption that an agent has authority to ville R. R. Co, (1857) 9 Ind. 359,

² Merchants' Union Barb Wire Co engage in Alexander v. Cauldwell, v. Rice, (1886) 70 Iowa, 14; s. c., 28

⁸ Wetherbee v. Fitch, (1886) 117 III.

⁴ Webber v. Williams College, (1839)

⁵ Platt v. Birmingham Axle Co.,

rowed, or to the seller of things purchased, the ordinary securities of a corporation is included in a general power conferred upon an agent of a railroad corporation to borrow money on its behalf, in such sums, for such length of time and at such a rate of interest as he may think proper, and to purchase iron rails, locomotives, machinery, etc., as he may deem advisable, and, in order to do so, to make, execute and deliver obligations, bills of exchange, contracts and agreements of the corporation.1 And the authority from a corporation to an agent to give a company "note" has been held to authorize drawing a bill of exchange on a person who had no funds, and where the company would not by law be chargeable with damages on dishonor.2 While a factor employed by the general agent of a corporation to sell its manufactured goods and to purchase stock has power to buy on credit, he is not authorized to give the note of the corporation for the purchases he makes on its account.3 An agent of a manufacturing corporation was empowered by its by-laws to manage the affairs of the corporation committed to his care, and to exercise the powers committed to him according to his best ability and discretion, and promptly to collect all assessments and other sums that should become due to the corporation, and to disburse them according to the order of the board of directors, who were made a board of control over him. The Supreme Court of Judicature of Massachusetts held that the agent, the board of directors not interposing to control his proceedings, had anthority to employ workmen to carry on the business of the corporation, and to pay them with its funds, or, not being in funds, to give the notes of the corporation in payment.1 An agent of an incorporated manufacturing company, authorized by its by-laws to raise money and create liability on its part, may also waive demand and notice on a note indersed by such company, and this, too, after the note has been negotiated. He may waive demand and notice to procure delay of payment of the note and bind the corporation, although, in procuring delay, he may also be the agent of the maker. And the fact that he agreed to pay more than the legal rate of interest for such delay would prevent a recovery against

¹ Hatch r. Coddington, (1877) 95 U. S. 48.

² Tripp v. Swanzey Paper Co., (1882) 13 Pick. 291.

³ Emerson v. Providence Hat Manufacturing Co., (1815) 12 Mass. 237.

⁴ Bates v. Keith Iron Co., (1848) 7 Met. 224.

the company, upon their indorsement, of the amount legally due.1

§ 117. Illustration of the binding force of an agent's acts .- In a New York case it appeared that the president of a Pennsylvania corporation, a coal company, was, during all the time of the transactions involved in the action, the actual manager of the business of the corporation, and, with the nominal treasurer of the corporation, owned all its stock, except a few shares held by persons employed in the office of the company, sufficient to qualify them for directors, and thus to make and maintain a corporate organization. As president, he drew the drafts and indorsed the checks and other commercial paper of the company. and directed all the financial affairs of the corporation with the knowledge of the other directors and stockholders. The company's business, the sale of coal mined by them, for cash and on credit, at wholesale and retail, was quite large in one of the cities of New York. The president of the coal company addressed a letter to the president of a bank it that city informing him that a certain person was "the authorized agent of the [corporation] for the sale of its coal at [that city]," and then added: "Any paper he may take for coal sold for said company he is authorized to indorse as the agent of said company, and get it discounted at your [the Marine] bank, and that any and all such paper so indorsed which you may discount for him the said company will see paid.

"[Signed by] [his name], President."

This was an action by the bank against the company on its indorsement of a number of these notes discounted by it, which were not paid by the makers, and for an overdraft made by this agent. The Supreme Court of New York, in General Term, sustained the conclusion of a referee in the suit awarding a recovery to the bank.2

turing Co., (1855) 39 Me. 316. letter [above quoted] gave the [bank]

¹ Whitney v. South Paris Manufac- dorse them for the defendant. ² Marine Bank of Buffalo v. Butler notice of [his] authority as agent of Colliery Co., (1889) 52 Hun, 612; the defendant to sell its coal at Buffalo, s. c., 5 N. Y. Supp. 291. Arguendo, to take notes for coal sold, to indorse it was said: "The notes were evi- such notes for the defendant and to dently discounted by the [bank], procure their discount at the [bank]. relying upon the apparent au- The authority of [the writer] to write thority of Hubbell, the agent, to in- the letter and to bind the defendant

§ 118. Power of general agents.—A general agent of a corporation has power to direct and control its general business, to make contracts which will bind the corporation in the ordinary course of its business, and to borrow money for such purpose on thereby is clearly established by the the existence of some extrinsic fact undisputed evidence of the manner in necessarily and peculiarly within the which the business of the corporation knowledge of the agent, and of the was conducted. During all the years existence of which the act of executcovered by the transactions in question ing the power is itself a representation. the president of the corporation was a third person, dealing with such permitted to be, and to hold himself agent in entire good faith, pursuant to out to the world as being, the general the apparent power, may rely upon manager and director of its business, the representation, and the principal The act in question was within the is estopped from denying its truth to scope of the authority thus practically his prejudice.' In this case the extrinaccorded to him, and the defendant sie fact that the notes were given for cannot set up its by-laws, never pub- coal, upon which the authority of the lished to the world and habitually dis- agent depended, and which were solely regarded by itself, as countervailing within his knowledge, was represented the authority thus publicly conferred. not only by the presentation of the Martin v. Niagara Falls Paper Manu- notes for discount, but by the repeated facturing Co., (1887) 44 Hun. 130, 138; assurances of the agent that he never Martin v. Webb, 110 U. S. 7; s. c., 3 did and never should present notes of Sup. Ct. Rep. 428. That the notes any other character. The fact that the were within the terms of the letter indorsements were made in the name has been found by the referee on un- of E. S. Hubbell, agent of the Butler disputed evidence. They were given Colliery Company, and not in the for coal sold by the agent for the de- name of the corporation by E. S. Hubfendant. That some of them were bell, agent, though not strictly contaken in renewal of notes given when fined to the language of the authority, the coal was sold, does not change the was within its spirit and intent, and character of the indebtedness, nor of was ratified by a long course of dealing the evidence of it. Moreover, the on the part of the [corporation], with [bank] had a right to rely on the rep-full knowledge of the manner in which resentations of the agent, not of the the business was done, and with full existence of his authority to procure enjoyment of the fruits of the transacdiscounts, but that the notes offered tion." A counterclaim on the part of by him for discount were within the the corporation for moneys received by scope of that authority, and the [cor- the bank from the corporation's agent poration] is estopped to deny that and afterwards drawn out and, as was those representations were true. Bank alleged, misappropriated by him, was of Batavia r. New York, L. E. & W. also disallowed by the referee below. Railroad Co., 106 N. Y. 195; s. c., The court said: "The same principles 12 N. E. Rep. 433. In that case the [applied to support this disullowance]. court says: 'It is a settled doctrine of The authority of the agent to open the law of agency in this state that and maintain the account with the where the principal has clothed his [bank] and to draw against it for the agent with power to do an act upon purposes of his agency, being estabits credit.1 But such a general agent, though clothed with the power to contract debts and borrow money on the credit of the corporation, has no power, in virtue of such an agency merely, to make a mortgage on the property of the corporation, real or personal.2 An agent appointed by the directors of a corporation to superintend and carry on its business, has no power, as such agent, to pledge or mortgage the machinery used by the corporation for the security of a loan.8 A director may act as the agent of a corporation, with the knowledge of the board, and independently of his duties as director, and his acts will bind the corporation.4 Corporations may be bound by contracts of their general agents clearly within the scope of their employment, but no further.⁵ The general agent of a corporation is not authorized to give its note for a debt due from a previous unincorporated company to which the corporation succeeded. An agent of a corporation, performing the daily routine of his business, under the supervision and control of a board of directors, would not be authorized, as agent, to create a lien upon the entire property of the corporation to secure advances of money to it.7 Managing officers of a corporation may, without an express delegation of power, or a formal resolution to that effect, employ attorneys to represent the corporation in litigation, or for counsel in its business affairs.8 The general agent of a corporation organized for lished by the letter of authority and the course of dealing between the parties, the [bank], in the absence of notice to the contrary, or of facts to put it upon inquiry, had the right to assume that the acts of the agent in facturing Co., (1822) 1 Pick. 215. this connection were what they purhis power as agent. The [bank] was, therefore, entitled to credit for all moneys drawn by the agent in the ordinary course of the business and apparently within the scope of his authority as agent."

- 1 Stokes v. New Jersey Pottery Co., (1884) 46 N. J. Law, 287.
- R. R. Co. v. James, 24 Wis. 888.
- Despatch Line of Packets v. Bellamy Manufacturing Co., 12 N. H. 205. R. Co., (1875) 61 Mo. 89.

- ⁴ Holmes v. Board of Trade, (1883) 81 Mo. 137.
- ⁵ Odiorne v. Maxey, (1816) 13 Mass.
- 6 White v. Westport Cotton Manu-
- Whitwell v. Warner, 20 Vt. 425. As ported to be, viz., in the execution of to power of managing agents, see Stow v. Wyse, 7 Conn. 214, 219; Hawtayne v. Bourne, 7 Mees. & W. 595; Life & Fire Ins. Co. v. Mech. Fire Ins. Co., 7 Wend. 31; Knight v. Lang, 4 E. D. Smith, 381; Benedict v. Lansing, 5 Denio, 283; Torrey v. Dustin Monument Assn., 5 Allen, 329; Despatch Line of Packets v. Bellamy, 12 N. H. ²Stow v. Wyse, 7 Conn. 214; C. & N. 205, 228; Luse v. Isthmus Transit Ry. Co., 6 Oreg. 122.
 - ⁸Southgate v. Atlantic & Pacific R.

purchasing timber land, converting the timber into lumber and selling it, and for carrying on a trading establishment, has an implied power from the nature of his business to give the negotiable note of the corporation in payment for labor in getting out such lumber.1

§ 119. When the authority of a general agent will not be implied.— A corporation engaged in a mining business in Michigan had its financial office in New York. Its general agent in Michigan was accustomed to indorse the company's paper for collection or discount, and to draw on the treasurer in New York for the current needs of the corporation, and his drafts were duly paid. He executed several notes in the name of the corporation. In an action upon these notes it was held by the Supreme Court of Michigan that a general agent, without being specially empowered so to do, had no authority to make notes in the name of his principal. Also that the facts stated above as to what he & O. R. Co., 138 N. Y. 480; s. c., 34 E. Rep. 419, affirming 41 Ill. App. 72; v. Pearson Cordage Co., 55 Fed. Rep. v. Switch Co., 59 N. Y. Super. Ct. 812: Huntsville Belt Line & M. S. Ry. 169; Koch r. Association, 137 III. 497; & Henry Construction Co. r. Police 137.

¹ Tappan v. Bailey, (1842) 4 Met 529. Jury, 44 La. Ann. 863; s. c., 11 So. As to power of officers and agents to Rep. 286; Smith r. Car Heater Co., 64 make contracts, see Blanding v. Da- Hun, 639; Glover v. Lee, (1891) 140 Ill. venport, I. & D. R. Co., (1894) Iowa, 102; s. c., 29 N. E. Rep. 680; Matson 55 N. W. Rep. 81; Curnan v. Delaware v. Alley, (1892) 141 Ill. 284; s. c., 31 N. N. E. Rep. 201; National Cordage Co. Hamm r. Drew, 83 Tex. 77; Johnson Co. r. Corpening, (1892) 97 Ala. 681; s. s. c., 27 N. E. Rep. 530; Bank of Atc., 12 So. Rep. 295; Moore r. H. tica r. Manufg. Co., 49 Hun, 606; Bank Gaus & Sons' Manufg. Co., (1892) 113 of Yolo r. Weaver, (Cal. 1893) 31 Pac. Mo. 98; s. c., 20 S. W. Rep. 975; Nich- Rep. 160; Tradesmen's Nat. Bank r. ols v. Scranton Steel Co., 137 N Y. Lumber Co., 64 Hun, 635. That offi-471; 83 N. E. Rep. 561; Teitig v. Boes-cers of a corporation are special and man, 12 Mont. 404; s. c., 31 Pac. Rep. not general agents of the corporation, 371; Thompson v. Stanley, (N. Y. and their powers being limited by the Super. Ct. Spl. T. 1892) 20 N. Y. charter and by-laws, see Adriance v. Supp. 317; Chemical Nat. Bank v. Roome, 52 Barb. 399. As to their Wagner, (Ky. 1894) 20 S. W. Rep. 535; power to bind it within the scope of Levey v. New York Central & Hudson their authority, see Alexander v. Brown, River R. Co., 24 N. Y. Supp. 124; 9 Hun, 641. As to power of an agent Humes v. Decatur Land Improvement of a joint-stock corporation formed & Furnace Co., (1893) 98 Ala. 461; s. c., under the laws of Connecticut, see 13 So. Rep. 368; Tuller v. Arnold, Wood v. Wiley Construction Co., (Col. 1894) 33 Pac. Rep. 445; Reynolds (1887) 56 Conn. 87; s. c., 13 Atl. Rep.

was accustomed to do in the business could not imply authority in him to make such notes.1

8 120. Power of officers generally.—Where persons are named in the statute of incorporation who may bind the corporation, no others can act as the agents of the corporation in the particulars designated in the statute.2 While the records of a corporation are the best evidence as to who its officers are, it may be shown by parol that one was an agent of the corporation and what his duties as such were. Powers may be conferred upon name. Murray v. East India Co., 5 B. Denio, 283, and The Floyd Acceptsupport of the same view. The plaintiff, then, cannot rest its case on the implied authority of the general agent; the issuing of promissory notes is not a power necessarily incident to the conduct of the business of mining, injury, and indeed, to the utter destruction, of a corporation, that it is wisely left by the law to be conferred or not as the prudence of the board of Ch. of Rochester, 97 N. Y. 119. directors may determine." See, also, 298; Union Gold Mining Co. r. Rocky Rep. 1.

¹ New York Iron Mine v. First Mountain Nat. Bank, 1 Colo 531; 2 National Bank of Negaunee, (1878) 39 Colo. 565, 570; In re German Mining Mich. 644. Cooley, J., in the opinion, Co., 19 E. L & E. 599; Hawtayne r. said upon the subject: "It was not Bourne, 7 M. & W. 595; Carpenter v. disputed by the defense that the cor- Biggs, 46 Cal. 91; Lawrence v. Gebporation had power to make the notes hard, 41 Barb. 575; Sewance Mining in suit. The question was whether it Co. v. McCall, 3 Head, 619; Silliman had in any manner delegated that v Fredericksburg, O. & C. R. R., 27 power to [its general agent]. We Gratt. 120; Emerson v. Providence Hat cannot agree with the plaintiff that Co, 12 Mass. 237; Hammond v. Michthe mere appointment of general agent igan State Bank, Walk, Ch. (Mich.) confers any such power. x * * In 214; Grover & Baker Sewing Ma-McCullough v. Moss, 5 Denio, 567, the chine Co. v. Polhemus, 34 Mich. subject received careful attention, and 247, 249; Reynolds v. Continental Ins. it was held that the president and sec- Co., 36 Mich. 131; Lyell v. Sanbourn, retary of a mining company, without 2 Mich. 109; Marquette & Ontonagon being authorized by the board of R. R. Co. v. Taft, 28 Mich. 289; Kal. directors so to do, could not bind the Nov. Mfg. Co. v. McAlister, 36 Mich. corporation by a note made in its 327. As to corporations authorizing agents to make or indorse notes, see & Ald. 204; Benedict v. Lansing, 5 Olcott v. Tioga R. R., 40 Barb. 179; Melledge v. Boston Iron Co., 5 Cush. ances, 7 Wall. 666, are authorities in 158; White v. Westport Cotton Mfg. Co., 1 Pick. 215, 219; Odiorne v. Maxey, 13 Mass. 178; Kelly v. Fall Brook Coal Co., 4 Hun, 261; Sedgwick v. Lewis, 70 Pa. St. 217; Pahlman v. Taylor, 75 Ill. 629; Bird r. Daggett, 97 Mass. 494; Bridgeport City Bank v. Empire and it is so susceptible of abuse, to the Stone Dressing Co., 30 Barb. 421; Central Bank r. Empire Stone Dressing Co., 26 Barb. 28.

² Landers v. Frank St. Meth. Epis.

⁸ Leekins v. Nordyke & Marmon Co., Tripp v. Swanzey Paper Co., 13 Pick. (1885) 66 Iowa, 471; s. c., 24 N. W.

the officers of a corporation by a course of conduct of the corporation with its officers and the public which they would not have as such officers but for the usages of the corporation. A corporation will be bound by the acts of one of its officers performed at his office, and where they have been numerous and long continued this justifies a presumption that they were done under instructions of the managers of the corporation.2 Courts of equity will not interfere with the actions of officers of corporations who may be vested with discretionary powers by statute to correct mere errors of judgment, the power conferred not having been illegally nor unconscientiously executed.3 One owning a majority of the stock of a corporation cannot act for the corporation in selling leases, for instance, that it may own, unless specially authorized, as a corporation can only act through its officers or by expressly delegating power to others.4 One openly and notoriously exercising the functions of a particular agency of a corporation will be presumed to have sufficient authority from the corporation to so act.5 The authority of an officer of a corporation to make a contract in its behalf may be inferred from the fact of the corporation's knowing that he is making such contract, and that it availed itself of whatever benefit arose from the contract.⁶ A corporation will be liable upon contracts made by its officers and agents with other persons if these officers or agents, in their negotiations, so act as to induce the persons with whom they make such contracts to believe that they are acting for the corporation, notwithstanding the fact that they were in reality not acting for it. Officers of a corporation have no power to bind the corporation as surety for their private debts.8 corporation will not be bound by the release of a debt given to a ^{(1885) 18} Mo. App. 665.

Barb. 358.

^{(1874) 72} Ill. 378.

fodt. (1877) 86 Ill. 455.

⁶ Chicago Building Society v. Crowell. (1872) 65 Ill. 458, citing Bradley v. Boyington, (1874) 73 Ill, 584. Ballard, 55 Ill. 413, 417; Buffit v. Troy & Boston R. R. Co., 36 Barb. 420; Abby St. 367.

Winsor v. La Fayette County Bank, v. Billups, 35 Miss, 618; Parish v. Wheeler, 23 N. Y. 494; Noyes v. R. & ⁸ Beers v. Phœnix Glass Co., 14 B. R. R. Co., 27 Vt. 111; Bissell v. M. S. & N. I. R. R. Co., 22 N. Y. 258; ³ Philips v. Wickham, 1 Paige, 590, Perkins v. Portland, Saco & Ports-⁴ Hopkins v. Roseclare Lead Co., mouth R. R., 47 Me. 590; Barry v. Merchants' Exchange Co., 1 Sandf. ⁵ Singer Manufacturing Co. v. Hold- Ch. 280, 289; Goodwin v. Union Screw Co., 34 N. II. 378.

⁷ Wilson Sewing Machine Co. v.

⁸ Culver v. Real Estate Co., 91 Pa.

debtor by one of its officers without authority.1 A corporation cannot be bound by the act of an officer in a case where he professes to represent only himself and to deal with the corporation as if he had no official relation to it.2 Under a resolution of the directors of a corporation, directing its officers to use certain notes in liquidating the liabilities of the corporation, the officers may give such notes as collateral security with the note of the corporation itself in payment of its debts.3 The long usage of officers in issuing stock in exchange for the debt of a corporation for more than two years after the resolution of the board giving them the power had been rescinded, has been held to have implied an authority to make the exchange as effectually as an express reso-A corporation will not be bound by the declarations of its secretary as to the amount due on a mortguge held by it unless it be shown that the secretary had authority to bind it.5

§ 121. The same subject continued.—The president of a corporation will be authorized to purchase the materials to be used in the business of the corporation, and to borrow money for it and give its note for the money borrowed, by a vote of the directors clothing him with full power and control of its business.6 Where a contract is one which the board of a corporation has power to authorize its president to make or ratify it after it has been made, the burden, if it is claimed to have been unauthorized, is on the corporation to show that it was not authorized or ratified by its board.7 A manufacturing corporation cannot be

^{532.}

² Winchester r. Baltimore & Susquehanna R. R. Co., 4 Md. 281.

R. Co., 2 Sandf. 39.

⁵ Johnston v. Building Association, 104 Pa. St. 894.

¹ Land Co. v. Sloan, 109 Pa. St. can sanction or ratify. Forbes v. San Rafael T. Co., 50 Cal. 340. As to a note signed by president and secretary, see Duggan v. Pacific Boom Co., (Wash. ³ Brookman v. Metcalf, 5 Bosw. 1893) 34 Pac. Rep. 157. As to a president's authority, see Crowley r. Gene-Lohman v. New York & Erie R. see Mining Co., 55 Cal. 273; Union Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. White, 106 Ill. 67.

⁷Patterson v. Robinson, (1889) 116 N. Y. 198; s. c., 22 N. E. Rep. 872; ⁵ Castle v. Belfast Foundry Co., 72 citing Bank of Vergennes v. Warren, Me. 167. What is within the scope of 7 Hill, 91; Gillett v. Campbell, 1 Den. the business intrusted to a president of 520; Elwell v. Dodge, 83 Barb: 336; a corporation. Seeley v. San José In- Chemical National Bank v. Kohner, 85 dependent Mill & Lumber Co., (1881) N. Y. 189, 198; Smith v. Hull Glass 59 Cal. 22. What kind of a transaction Co., 11 C. B. 897, 929; Lee a Pittsburgh a board of directors or stockholders Coal & Mining Co., 56 How. Pr. 378; bound by a contract of one who is a stockholder and director and overseer of part of its business, to aid in the extension of a railroad.1 The treasurer of a savings bank, by virtue of his office merely, has no implied authority to transfer to a purchaser a promissory note belonging to the bank.2 A vote of a newly-affirmed in 75 N. Y. 601. See, also, and secretary and having the corporate Patteson v Ongley Electric Co., (1895) seal attached, must be presumed to 87 Hun, 462; s. c., 34 N. Y. Supp. 209; have been executed in pursuance of a citing Jourdan v. Railroad Co., 115 N. due authorization to such officers, and Y. 381; s. c., 22 N. E. Rep. 153; Oakes the burden of proof was on the corv. Water Co., 143 N. Y. 430; s. c., 38 poration to show the contrary. Also, that where the circumstances sur-¹ New Haven & Northampton Co. r. rounding the execution of the mort-Hayden, (1871) 107 Mass, 525. As to gage showed the existence of proper authority of officers to make contracts, resolutions of authorization and supsee Baker v. Harpster, 42 Kans. 511; s. ported the presumption of its authoric., 22 Pac. Rep. 415; Western Union tative execution as shown by affixing Tel. Co. v. Yopsi, 118 Ind. 248; s. c., the corporate scal, and the signatures 20 N. E. Rep. 222; Read v. Buffum, of the proper officers, the mere fact 79 Cal. 77; s. c., 21 Pac. Rep. 555; that such resolutions did not appear Eureka Iron Works v. Bresnahan, 60 in the proper book of the corporation Mich. 332; s. c., 27 N. W. Rep. 521; was not sufficient to disprove their Merrill v. Consumers' ('oal Co., 114 N. existence and invalidate the mortgage. Sec. also. Southern California Colony ² Holden v. Upton, (1883) 134 Mass. Association v. Bustamente, 52 Cal. 177. As to what authority, exufficio, 192-196. Where acts of officers and an officer has, see Farmers' Bank r. agents in making contracts have been McKee, 2 Barr, (Pa.) 318; Hallowell & held to bind the company. Powder Augusta Bank v. Hamlin, 14 Mass. 178, River Live Stock Co. v. Lamb, (Neb. 180; Crump v. United States Mining 1894) 56 N. W. Rep. 1019; Greig r. Co., 7 Gratt 352. Where it would not Riordan, 99 Cal. 316; s. c., 33 Pac be assumed that the treasurer of a Rep. 913; Carrigan r. Port Crescent board of trustees of a corporation had Imp. Co., 6 Wash, 590; s. c., 31 Pac. no authority to make an indorsement Rep. 148; ()ro Mining & Milling Co. upon a note. Sayers r. First National r. Kaiser, (1894) 4 Colo. App. 219, Bank, (1883) 89 Ind. 230. In Blake r. s. c., 35 Pac. Rep. 677. Agreement Holley, 14 Ind. 383, it was held that a of officers that will bind a corporacorporation might authorize its proper tion. Outterson v. Fonda Lake Paper officer to assign a note by delivery, Co., 66 Hun, 629; s. c., 20 N. Y. and perhaps it would be within the Supp. 980. When a note signed by general powers of officers of a railway the president, secretary and two directcorporation to assign, in such manner ors will be held to be the note of the as they might deem expedient, its corporation. In re Pendleton Hardchoses in action. In Schallard v. Eel ware & Imp. Co., (1893) 24 Orc. 830; River Steam Navigation Co., (1886) 70 s. c., 33 Pac. Rep. 544. See, also, Cal. 144; s. c., 11 Pac. Rep. 590, it was Reeve v. Bank, 54 N. J. Law. 208; held that a mortgage executed in the Davis v. Lee Camp No. 1, C. V. (Va. name of a corporation by its president 1894) 18 S. E. Rep. 889; Cross v.

N. E. Rep. 461.

Y. 210; s. c., 21 N. E. Rep. 155.

formed manufacturing corporation contemplated the payment of royalties to and the purchase from an existing corporation in addition to tools and material of "all the other personal estate of said corporation, giving in payment therefor" a certain number of shares of stock in the new corporation to be issued to the president of the old corporation as trustee for the parties in interest, any balance of such shares remaining "after paying the liabilities" of the old corporation to be issued to the treasurer of the new corporation. A written contract, purporting to be made between the two corporations, was signed by their presidents, who were the principal creditors of the old corporation, by which the new corporation, in consideration of the transfer of all the stock, tools, materials and machinery of the old one, and of its agreement to license the new one under all its patents, agreed to pay, besides royalties, all the debts of the old corporation. No director or stockholder of the new corporation besides the president, knew anything of the particulars in which the contract departed from the terms of the vote. The Supreme Court of Massachusetts held, in an action on the contract, that there was no evidence for a jury of the authority of the president of the new corporation to make or sign the contract or of its ratification. A corporation cannot be bound by a contract made by a promoter of the corporation in obtaining a subscription of stock before the organization of the corporation. But after its organi-

Anglo-American Banking Co. (1894) mary A. U. B. v. Martin, 39 Kans. Atl. Rep. 613; Templin v. Chicago, B. 483. & P. R. Co., 78 Iowa, 548; s. c., 35 N. & W. R. Co. v. Grove, 39 Kans, 731; Mass, 404. s. c., 18 Pac. Rep. 958; Topeka Pri-

79 Hun, 424; s. c., 29 N. Y. Supp. 750; s c., 18 Pac. Rep. 941; Griffith 960; Merchants & Farmers' Bank v. v. Chicago, B. & P. R. Co., 74 Iowa, Hervey Plow Co., 45 La. Ann. 1214; 85; s. c., 36 N. W. Rep. 901; Mers. c., 14 So. Rep. 139; Prindle v. chants' Nat. Bk. of Chicago v. Detroit Washington Life Ins. Co., 73 Hun, Knitting & Corset Works, 68 Mich. 448; s. c., 26 N. Y. Supp. 474; Pren- 620; s. c., 36 N. W. Rep. 696; New tice v. United States & Central Ameri- York, P. & N. Ry. Co. v. Bates, 68 can Steamship Co., 58 Fed. Rep. 702. Md. 184; s. c., 11 Atl. Rep. 705; Getty Whether or not the acts of officers or v. C. R. Barnes Milling Co., 40 Kans. agents bind the corporation. Stanley 281; s. c., 19 Pac. Rep. 617; East v. Sheffield, L. I. & C. Co., 88 Ala. Rome Town Co. v. Brower, 80 Ga. 260; s. c., 4 So. Rep. 34; Whitaker v. 258; s. c., 7 S. E. Rep. 273; Bank of Kilroy, 70 Mich. 635; s. c., 38 N. W. Attica v. Pottier & Stymus Mfg. Co., Rep. 606; Little v. Kerr, (N. J.) 14 49 Hun, 606; s. c., 1 N. Y. Supp.

¹ Bi-spool Sewing Machine Co. v. W. Rep. 684; St. Louis, Fort Scott Acme Manufacturing Co., (1891) 153 zation the corporation may ratify it and be estopped from denying its liability upon such a contract.1

§ 122. Power of directors—general rules.—The directors have control of the ordinary management of a corporation.² But a corporation cannot be bound by the acts of individual directors.3 A board of directors may, under their power to make by-laws. delegate their authority to a quorum composed of less than a unajority of their number, notwithstanding a declaration in the charter of the corporation that its powers shall be exercised by a board of directors, consisting of a specified number. A director who is permitted to act as such after he has sold all his stock in a corporation is a director de facto, and the proceedings of the board, in which he takes part, are valid as to third persons. To bind a corporation by an express promise, the individual directors must be authorized; otherwise they have no power to bind it.6 A corporation will be bound by the action of its directors, though acting separately, if in the usual sphere of directors.7 The acts made by officers are not binding on J. Rep. (Eq.) 223. corporation. Banks v. New York Genesce County Savings Bank v. American Dock & Trust Co., (1893) Rep. 206. 70 Hun, 152; s c., 21 N. Y. Supp. 406. For a full discussion on this sub- Boom Co., 42 Mich. 537; 4 N. W. Rep. ject, see Edwards v. Carson Water Co., 292. (Nev. 1893) 34 Pac. Rep. 381. When authority of officers to indorse a note Minn. 896; s. c., 10 N. W. Rep. 421; 135. Farmers' Nat. Bank of Valparaiso, Ind., v. Sutton Manufacturing Co., 408. (1892) 52 Fed. Rep. 191; s. c., 6 U. S. App. 812; 8 C. C. A. 1. As to corpo- R. Co., 32 Vt. 633. rations not being liable for debts con-

1 Joy v. Manion, 28 Mo. App. 55. tracted by the corporators before in-See Fawcett v. New Haven Organ Co., corporation, see Hutchinson v. Surrey 47 Conn. 226, as to the circumstances Consumers' Gas Light & Coke Associunder which a contract made by a sec- ation, 73 Eng. C. L. 689; White v. retary and treasurer was held not to Westport Cotton Co., 1 Pick. 215; In bind the corporation. When contracts re The Independent Assur. Co., 30 L.

Club, 68 Hun, 92; s. c., 22 N. Y. Michigan Barge Co., 52 Mich. 438; Supp. 727; Bank of New York v. s. c., 17 N. W. Rep. 790; 18 N. W.

³ Lockwood v. Thunder Bay River

⁴ Hoyt r. Thompson, 19 N. Y. 207. Wile & Brickner Co. v. Rochof the corporation is shown. National ester & K. F. Land Co., (1893) 4 Bank of Battle Creek r. Mallan, (1887) Misc. Rep. 570; 25 N. Y. Sup; 794. 37 Minn. 404; s. c., 31 N. W. Rep. See, also, Despatch Line of Packets v. 901; First National Bank of Rock Bellamy Manufg. Co., 12 N. H. 205; Island, Illinois, v. Loyhed, (1881) 28 In re Mohawk & H. R. Co., 19 Wend.

⁶ Workhouse v. Moore, 95 Pa. St.

'Foot v. Rutland & Whitehall R.

of a board of directors of a corporation, evidenced by a written vote, as completely bind the corporation, and are as complete authority to its agents, as the most solemn acts done under the corporation seal.1 The power of directors to bind a corporation by their contracts may be exercised by a majority of the board. It is not necessary that all the doings of a board of directors should be entered on their records. The corporation will be bound by any verbal order or direction, in which a majority of the board concurs in relation to any matter of business intrusted to them.2 An act purporting to be the act of a board of directors at a meeting of such board may be presumed to be the act of a majority of the board, unless shown to the contrary.8 Other circumstances proving the consent of directors to a contract, it is not necessary, to bind the corporation, that the records of the board should disclose a formal vote of the directors.4 The power placed by a charter in the directors cannot be limited by a by-law of a corporation. A charter of a corporation providing that the president is entitled to all the powers and privileges of a director, and requiring seven directors to make a quorum, the president and six directors would constitute such a quorum.6 In the absence of a special provision in a charter of a corporation upon the subject, less than a majority of the board of directors have no power to transact business. Their acts are absolutely void and the corporation cannot ratify them. That it is provided in a charter of a corporation that a majority of the directors present at a regular meeting would be competent to decide on all business, is not a declaration that a minority of the directors. however small, may act as a board.8 There is no power in the directors of a corporation to bind it by an agreement for extra

¹ Campbell v. Pope, (1888) 96 Mo 468; s. c., 10 S. W. Rep. 187.

² Cram v. Bangor House Proprietary. (1835) 12 Me 354 In Trott v. Warren, contract, made by a minority of a committee of a corporation, and not 85. assented to by a majority, nor by the corporation, was not valid.

⁸ Despatch Line of Packets v. Bellamy Manufacturing Co., 12 N. H. 13 Ind. 58. 205.

⁴ Nashua & Lowell Railroad Co. v. Boston & Lowell R. R. Co., 27 Fed. Rep. 821.

⁵ Union Insurance Co. v. Keyser, 32 (1834) 11 Me. 227 it was held that a N. H. 313; Campbell v. Merchants & Farmers' Insurance Co., 87 N. H.

Bank of Maryland v. Ruff, 7 G. & J. (Md.) 448.

⁷Price v. G. R. & I. B. Co., (1859)

^aEx parte Willcocks, 7 Cow. 409.

compensation, not made at a meeting of the board.1 Directors of a bank, in case a deficit in the funds appears by the accounts of its cashier, have authority to make a settlement with such officer.2 A corporation having power by its charter "to make contracts in writing, and signed by the president and secretary, or by such other officer or officers as the directors may appoint for that purpose," the directors may authorize the president alone to sign for the company. Proof of the formal vote of the directors giving him such authority is not necessary.' After seven years' acquiescence by a corporation in the lease of its property by its directors, something more must be shown than that it was executed in excess of the powers of the directors before the lessee will be required to surrender the profits he may have made upon it.4

§ 123. Directors for the first year. - The New York Court of Appeals has considered the objections to the validity of a mortgage executed by a manufacturing corporation formed under the statute of 1848 relating to such corporations, that the persons acting as a board of directors for the mortgage were not, at the time of passing the resolution authorizing the mortgage, stockholders of the company, and were, therefore, not qualified under the statute to act as such directors. The court held the objection not tenable, and RUGER, Ch. J., for the court, arguendo, said: "The provisions of the statute (§ 3, chap. 37, Laws of 1848) requiring the stock, property and concerns of such company to be managed by directors who shall respectively be stockholders of the company, and who shall, except the first year, be annually

1 Stoystown & Greensburg Turn- its by-laws to the directors to manage pike Road Co . Craver, 45 Pa. St. all its prudential concerns.

24 Me. 490.

poration, under the authority given in its existence."

⁴ Pneumatic Gas Co, v Berry, (1884) ² Frankfort Bank v Johnson, (1844) 113 U S 322, s c., 5 Sup. Ct Rep. 525. The court said: "A court of equity ³Topping v. Bickford, (1862) 4 does not listen with much satisfaction Allen, 120. In Sampson v Bowdoin- to the complaints of a company that ham Steam Mill Corporation, 36 Me transactions were illegal which had its 78, it was held that an action could be approval which were essential to its maintained against the corporation protection, and the benefits of which upon a document signed by its direct- it has fully received Complaints that ors in that capacity certifying that the its own directors exceeded their holder of it had previously advanced authority come with ill grace when a specified sum of money for the cor- the acts complained of alone procured elected by the stockholders, do not apply to the original organization of a company formed under said act. The language of section 1 of the act, by express terms, makes the persons named in the certificate of incorporation as such, directors of the company for the first year of its existence, and confers upon such persons full power to act as directors in the performance of any corporate duty after the filing of such certificate. The corporate authority of such an organization must, from necessity, be coincident with the inception of its corporate existence, and antedate the acquisition by it of property, or the issue of stock certificates representing such property. It is conceded that the persons passing the resolution were those named as directors in the original certificate of incorporation, and the purchase of the property in question was one of the first official acts of the corporation: that the property thus purchased of the plaintiff furnished the basis of capital upon which their corporate stock was distributed, and that certificates for its entire amount in payment of such purpose were issued and delivered to the plaintiff simultaneously with the conveyance of the property to the corporation by him and the delivery to him of the mortgage. It is quite obvious that the statute cannot be made effective under any other interpretation, and it is a primary rule of construction to give some effect to the expressions of the legislative will, if consistent with a reasonable interpretation of its language. If its provisions be so construed as to require the existence of stockholders before there is a legal organization, it must necessarily defeat the creation of any corporation under it, as it, is quite manifest that stock cannot be owned in a corporation which has itself no legal existence. The terms of the act providing for the appointment of directors for the first year do not require such an interpretation, and it is contrary to reason and settled rules of construction to ascribe to a statute such a meaning as will nullify its operation if it is capable of any other interpretation." 1

§ 124. Directors de facto.—One who had been adjudged entitled to a premium on cattle exhibited at the fair of an agricultural society in Pennsylvania brought his action for its recovery. It appeared that certain directors of the corporation who had, in proceedings quo warranto, been adjudged not to be the legal officers, had offered these premiums, and the corporation defended on the ground that the acts of this board were not binding upon them, they not being directors de jure. The findings of the trial judge were that this board of directors "held the possession of the books of the corporation and the custody and control of its property, both personal and real. It was under their direction and management that the fair was held, and all purchases made for the purpose of holding the fair. They had custody also of all moneys paid as entrance fees, as well as all moneys received for admission. The premiums, for the recovery of which these suits were brought, were premiums offered by this board of directors." The judge held that the acts of the de farto directors were binding upon the corporation, which was affirmed by the Supreme Court.1

¹ Davidson v. Westchester Gas Light Co., (1885) 99 N. Y. 558, 565, 566.

§ 125. Illustrations of the power of directors.— It is within the power of a board of directors of a manufacturing corporation, clothed with authority to manage its concerns, to authorize the agent of the corporation to raise money for his own use by corporation may act by means of an 124.

¹ Zearfoss v. Farmers & Mechanics' officer de facto as fully and effectually Institute of Northampton County, as regards the public and third per-(1893) 154 Pa. St. 449; s. c., 26 Atl. sons as by an officer de jure,' in all Rep 211. In the opinion per curium matters within the scope of the corpoit was said: "Contracts entered into ration's ordinary business." To the by a corporation de facto are binding contention that there is a distinction after having been executed by either between de facto officers of public corparty. 2 Morawetz on Corp. $$ 750, porations and de fueto officers of private 752. The act of an officer de facto is corporations it was said: "While such good whenever it concerns a third per- a distinction appears to be recognized son who had a previous right or had in some of the cases cited and relied paid a valuable consideration for it. on by [counsel], we are not convinced Angell & Ames on Corp. (11th ed.) that it is sound. The weight of au-§§ 287, 286, 299. An officer de facto thority, in this country especially, is is one whose acts, though not those of decidedly against it. In the case of a lawful officer, the law, upon prin- public corporations, the reasons for ciples of policy and justice, will hold holding the acts of de facto officers valid, so far as they involve the inter- binding on the corporations they repests of the public and third persons, resent are doubtless stronger than in State v. Carroll, 38 Conn. 449. Our the case of private corporations; but, own cases are to the same effect, to some extent at least, they are the Riddle v. County of Bedford, 7 S. same in both, differing only in degree." & R. 886, 392; McGargell v. Hazle- As to a corporation being bound by the ton Coal Co., 4 W. & S. 424-425. acts of its officers de facto. see Cahill v. In the latter it was held that 'a Kal. Mut. Ins. Co., 2 Douglass, (Mich.)

giving therefor a "company note," where this is intended as an advance or payment of the agent's wages.1 Where full power to conduct the affairs of a corporation are by its charter vested in its president and directors, they have the right to authorize the president to indorse its notes.2 The power to modify the terms of a guaranty of one corporation to another of a certain annual dividend on its capital stock, under an agreement between the two corporations, is in the directors and not in the stockholders of the corporation, and a court will not interfere in case the board exercise the power fairly and in good faith.3 The custody of the assets of a corporation may properly be placed with a managing director, and if he is allowed by the corporation to hold himself out to the public as competent to dispose of its assets, the public are entitled to presume that he has authority to dispose of them.4 There being power in corporate authorities, and generally the directors, to compromise corporate debts, they can release a part of a subscriber's liability in case there is doubt about it, for the purpose of securing the rest; and a compromise of that kind will bind the stockholders of any new corporation to which the property and rights of the existing corporation may be transferred, notwithstanding the fact that it cannot extinguish rights that have already been acquired by creditors.5 In case there is no restraint by law or contract upon the power of the directors of a corporation, they may make any disposition of the profits of its business deemed by themselves to be judicious.6 A completed contract between a corporation and an individual for the sale of stock by the individual to the corporation could not be proven by statements of individual directors out of a session of the board, and not accompanying any official act, and statements made by them in debate while in session.7 The by-laws of a business corporation giving the directors authority to appoint a treasurer, they may do so without any formal meeting; and, there being no prohibition in the charter or by-laws, may agree with the treasurer as to his compensation.8 All business of a corporation relating to

¹ Tripp v. Swanzey Paper Co., (1832) 18 Pick, 291.

Merrick v. Trustees of the Bank of Metropolis, 8 Gill. (Md.) 64.

^{*}Flagg v. Manhattan Ry. Co., 10 Fed. Rep. 413.

Walker v. Detroit Transit R. Co.,

⁵ Whitaker v. Grummond, 68 Mich. 249; s. c., 36 N. W. Rep. 62.

⁶ Park v. Grant Locomotive Works, 18 Stew. (N. J. Eq.) 114.

⁷ Peek v. Detroit Novelty Works, 29 Mich. 313.

⁸ Waite v. Mining Co., 37 Vt. 608; 47 Mich, 388; s. c., 11 N. W. Rep. 187. Waite v. Mining Co., 36 Vt. 18. As to the legitimate objects of its creation may be transacted by the directors without the sanction of the stockholders. Where it has under its charter the power to borrow money and secure the same by deed or lien on its real or personal property, or both, or borrowing money for the purpose of forwarding the objects of the corporation is among the ordinary duties of the board of directors, it follows that the board may secure the loan by deed or other lien. This is a part of the business transactions of a corporation which has always been regarded as within the province of the directors to perform.\(^1\) The stockholders of a corporation would be estopped to deny the authority of its directors to borrow money and make a mortgage of the corporation's property to secure the loan, even if they were not authorized to do so, if they ratify the action of the directors in effecting the loan and mortgaging the property by approving the minutes of their proceedings before the loan is effected, and afterward receive the benefit of the loan and pay interest on it.2 A railroad corporation may be bound by its directors under the powers usually conferred upon them to pay interest on stock subscribed until the completion of a portion of its road.3

§ 126. More illustrations on the same subject.—The Supreme Court of Colorado has held that a proposition by the officers of a private corporation to pay a party $5,000 in the stock of the company for his services, if he would procure a loan of $15,000 for the use of such corporation, or a proportionate amount of stock for a smaller loan, duly accepted and acted on, warranted the finding in this case of an agreement to pay such party, in the capital stock of the corporation, thirty-three and one-third per cent of any sum he could procure to be loaned it: also, that the officers acted in behalf of the corporation, although the president testified that the stock was to be furnished by the officers individually.4 Directors authorized to receive subscrip-contracts made by directors, see Fisher Martin v. Railway Co., 37 Leg. Int. 132. ¹ Wood v. Whelen, (1879) 98 Ill. 153. Aurora v. Paddock, (1875) 80 Ill. 263. R. Co. v. Field, 12 Wis. 340.

⁴ Arapahoe Cattle & Land Co, v. v. Gas Company, 1 Pears. (Pa.) 118, Stevens, (1889) 13 Colo. 534; s. c., 22 Pac. Rep. 823. The court, in the opinion, discussed the ² Aurora Agr. & Hort. Society of whether the contract was within the scope and authority of the officers ⁸ Milwaukee & Northern Illinois R. making it and binding upon the corporation as follows: "As we have tions for stock, payable "in such manner as the board of directors should direct," may receive payment in promissory notes.1 Under the authority of the president and directors of a corporation to manage the affairs of the corporation they may make an already seen, the corporation was labor and materials useful in carrying company, and his rights cannot be incorporated companies.

organized for the purpose of buying on the corporate business. In fact, and selling lands, horses, cattle, etc., such payment may usually be made also all other business incidental to in money or its equivalent, and, if in stock raising. [The president and the latter, the transaction cannot be secretary] were general officers of the impeached for error of judgment on company, and must be presumed to the part of the officers of the company have the powers usually conferred as to the value of the services or upon such officers. In addition to property. Good faith and the exerthis, they were duly empowered to cise of an honest judgment meet the purchase the Gebhardt stock, etc., requirements of the law. Moraw. Priv. Ifor which purpose the money loaned Corp. §$ 426, 429; Schenck v. Andrews. was to be used, and this authority 57 N. Y. 133; Douglass v. Ireland, 78 N. must be held to be as broad as the Y. 100; Iron Co. v. Drexel, 90 N. Y. transaction. The power to purchase 87; Lorillard v. Clyde, 86 N. Y. 384. necessarily carried with it the power The [cases just cited] were all deto obligate the company to pay, not-cided under the provisions of the act withstanding the fact that a by-law of of 1853 of the state of New York, which the company forbade the contracting act was amendatory to the provisions of any debt for the company except of a previous law of the state requirby order of the board of directors, ing that nothing but money should be Plaintiff was not a member of the received as payment for the stock of Bv affected by a by-law restricting the amendment the trustees of such comgeneral powers of the officers of the panies were authorized to purchase company, of the existence of which any property necessary for the corby-law he is not shown to have had porate business, and in payment notice. Moraw. Priv. Corp. $500: Ang. therefor to issue stock 'to the amount & A. Corp. 370, note a; Flint v. Pierce, and value thereof.' Under this act it 99 Mass. 68-70; Royal Bank of India's may now be considered as the settled Case, L. R. (4 Ch.) 252; Maher v. City doctrine in that state that the trustees, of Chicago, 38 Ill. 266." The question in taking property, must exercise of the payment for services of the their discretion, and that their judgagent negotiating the loan in stock of ment as to the value of the property. the company also received the atten- and the necessity for it will not be intion of the court in this case. They terfered with, in the absence of fraud. said, upon that question: "It is not Thus it is said in Schenck r. Andrews, necessary that shares in a corporation supra: 'They were the agents in bebe paid for in cash. It has been held half of the company, for that purpose, that the managing officers for a cor- and the discharge of their duty called poration may, in their discretion, issue for the exercise of their discretion and full paid-up shares for real estate, judgment (having reference and due order requiring payment of an installment on the stock. A corporation cannot be held to have contracted unless by such agents or officers as have express or implied authority. Individual directors have no power whatever to bind a corporation.2 A board of directors, when no express restraint appears to have been imposed upon it, may, in a case where a contract has been made between two corporations and circumstances indicate an inability on the part of one party to the contract to fulfill the terms of the agreement, compromise or adjust the matter between the two corporations on a basis dispensing with full and complete performance.3

¹ Magee v. Badger, 34 N. Y. 247.

$ 127. Illustrations of a lack of power in directors.— Directors of a corporation cannot delegate their authority or any portion of it requiring the exercise of judgment and discretion, unless, as conferred upon them, the authority includes the power of substitution in express terms, or by necessary implication.4 Directors of a corporation have no authority to sell the stock of the corporation at a less sum than the price fixed in the charter.5

jury), for the exemption of a stock- full sum allowed for it."" holder from the liability which the original act imposed, in case the whole Caines, 381. capital was not actually paid in cash. tion of companies by the appropriation Mich. 401. of manufactories, mines and other property, proper for their business, itan Elevated Ry. Co., 26 Hun, 82. and at a fair valuation, instead of money as a capital therefor. No per-regard to the interests of those repre- appropriate his property, and he, sented by them) in determining what nevertheless, be held liable to a conshould be bought, and the price to be tribution in favor of creditors, to the paid therefor. It cannot be properly extent of the stock issued for such claimed, in giving a construction to property, if a jury should subsethe power conferred on them by the quently, and at an indefinite and unamendatory act, that the property limited period thereafter, find that the purchased, and every part thereof, trustees had, under a mistake, but in should be indispensable for the prose- an honest exercise of their judgment, cution of the business of the company, concluded erroneously either that the or that the sum allowed therefor property was in fact, as disclosed by should be its precise, actual, intrinsic subsequent events, not absolutely invalue (and that to be determined by a dispensable, or actually worth the

¹ Union Turnpike Co. v. Jenkins, 1

² Lockwood v. Thunder Bay River Such a construction would defeat the Boom Co., (1880) 42 Mich. 536, 539; evident object of the law, which adhered to in Hartford Iron Mining clearly was to encourage the forma- Co. r. Cambria Mining Co., (1890) 80

" People ex rel. Content v. Metropol-

⁴ Gillis r. Bailey, 21 N. H. 150.

⁵ Oliphant v. Woodburn Coal & Minson could be expected to become a ing Co., (1884) 63 Iowa, 832; s. c., 19 stockholder and pay his money or N. W. Rep. 212. On this point, see Neither can they accept property for a stock subscription at a price largely in excess of its value.1 And a subscriber who received the shares for such property originally, or a transferee of such shares with notice, at the suit of any one injured thereby, may be compelled to make up the difference in value. Directors of a corporation alone cannot increase the capital stock of a corporation unless expressly authorized. The general power to perform all corporate acts which they may have refers to the ordinary business transactions of the corporation, and does not extend to a reconstruction of the body itself, or to an enlargement of its capital stock.3 The subscriber to the stock of a railroad corporation cannot be released from his liability for his subscription by its directors.4 It is not within the power of officers of a corporation to ratify an unauthorized act of their own. No express promise of an individual director of a corporation, unless authorized, will bind the corporation." A parol contract made by the directors of a bank is not binding on the corporation.7 The stock of a member cannot be relieved by the president and directors of a corporation from forfeiture of its dividends by their advancing the money of the corporation to satisfy the conditions on which a forfeiture of dividends depends, as it is not in their power to do so.8 The act of a president of a corporation, which the directors themselves have no authority to perform, cannot be ratified by the directors.9 Where a charter, while giving the directors of a corporation the power to manage its stock, property and affairs, provides that the corporation should have the power to assess the stockholders in order to pay the corporation debts, its directors cannot exercise the power of assessment without authority from the corporation. There is no power in a Sturges v. Stetson, 1 Biss. 246, Fosdick v. Sturges, 1 Biss. 255; Mann v. Wall, 283. Cooke, 20 Conn. 188; Fisk v. C., R. I. & P. R. Co., 53 Barb. 472, 513; O'Brien Pa. St. 29. v. C., R. I. & P. R. Co., 53 Barb. 568; Neuse River Navigation Co. v. Commissioners, 7 Jones Law (N. C.), 275. 408.

¹Osgood v. King, 42 Iowa, 478.

² Jackson v. Traer, (1884) 64 Iowa, 5 Litt. (Ky.) 45. 469; s. c., 20 N. W. Rep. 764. See Bailey v. Pittsburg & Connellsville (Md.) 338. Gas, Coal & Coke Co., 69 Pa. St. 384; Boynton v. Hatch, 47 N. Y. 225; Tallmadge v. Fishkill Iron Co., 4 Barb. 882. Smith. 2 Conn. 584.

Railway Co. r. Allerton, (1873) 18

⁴ Bedford Railroad Co. v. Bowser, 48

⁵ Hotchin v. Kent. 8 Mich. 526.

Workhouse v. Moore, 95 Pa. St.

⁷ Hughes v. Bank of Somerset, (1824)

⁸ Marine Bank v. Biays, 4 H. & J.

⁹ Crum's Appeal, 66 Pa. St. 474.

¹⁰ Marlborough Manufacturing Co. v.

simple director or vice-president of a railroad company, by virtue of his office, to appoint agents to sell the lands or the timber on them.¹ Without special authority, a director, as such, cannot make notes binding the corporation.² The directors of a rail way corporation cannot give away its stock.³ A committee of its directors, authorized by a railroad corporation to enter into a contract for the construction of its road, after the contract is executed, would have no power to modify the contract as originally made.⁴ Directors, though they may compromise an existing claim, have no implied power to make new agreements radically modifying previous agreements which they did not make and had no power to make.³ The directors of a corporation have no power to make a donation from, or misappropriate the funds of the corporation in violation of the laws and rules regulating its mode of action.⁵

§ 128. When notes will be held to have been authorized by a board of directors.— In a case in the federal court for the district of Kansas it was urged that certain notes issued by a railroad company were in violation of a by-law of the company, which prohibited the giving of notes, bonds, bills, acceptances, etc., by the company unless ordered by the board of directors. Foster, J., said upon this that "lone note was made by positive order of the board of directors, and by the president and secretary, as therein directed. Some by-law of the company required notes to be made to the order of the president and secretary. This is a mere matter of form, and not material. The other notes were made [before the adoption of the by-law], and besides, the board of directors at their meeting | held nine months before their execution], directed that orders be drawn on the company for [their amount]. Orders are not notes, but that order of the board would, doubtless, have been good for acceptances, which stand on the same footing as notes under the by-laws."7

¹ Chicago & Northwestern R. Co. r. James, 22 Wis. 194.

² Lawrence r. Gebhard, 41 Barb 575.

³ Thornton n. St. Paul, etc., R. R. Co., 6 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 309.

⁴ Western R. R Co. v. Bayne, 11 Hun, 166.

^{&#}x27;Metropolitan Elevated Ry. Co. c. Mauhattan Ry. Co., (Spl. Term Sup. Ct. 1884) 14 Abb. N. C. 103; s. c., 11 Daly, 373

⁶ Frankfort Bank r. Johnson, (1844) 24 Me. 490.

⁷ Stewart v. St. Louis, Ft. S. & W. R. Co., (1887) 41 Fed. Rep. 736. In Wile

§ 120. Waiver by directors of their power to repudiate a contract.—The officers of a corporation being made subject by the by-laws of a corporation to its board of directors, provided the board elect to exercise such control, should the board for some length of time rail to repudiate a contract made by the superintendent and treasurer of the corporation, their failure so to act will be presumed to operate as a waiver of their power.1

§ 130. Power of trustees of a corporation.—The trustees of a corporation have authority to enter into contracts for the payment of money, under the corporate seal, in furtherance of

of their authority so to do.

256; s. c., 7 Sup. Ct. Rep. 542, in which Wentworth v. Lloyd. 32 Beav. 487; case the Supreme Court of the United Follanshe v. Kilbreth, 17 II. 522: 3.

& Brickner Co r. Rochester & K. F. States said: "The rule of law upon Land Co., (1893) 4 Misc. Rep. 570; s. the subject of the disaffirmance or c., 25 N. Y. Supp. 794, where notes ratification of the acts of an agent rewere given by the corporation to two quired that if they had the right to of its directors in payment for prop- disaffirm it they should do it promptly, crty purchased from them, the resolu- and if after a reasonable time they did tion to purchase and to give the notes not so disaffirm it, a ratification would having been adopted at a directors' be presumed. In regard to this it meeting when the vendors were pres- appears that the board, when notified ent and were necessary to constitute a of what had been done by their agents, quorum, but they did not vote on the did not disaffirm their action at that resolution, it was held that though the time, but that the act or resolution of transaction was voidable as between disaffirmance was passed about two the corporation and its directors, the years after notice of the transaction, notes so given were valid in the hands and that if the suit brought in this of a bona fide purchaser, who, before case can be considered as an act of distaking them, asked the corporation's affirmance, it came too late, as it was secretary about them, and was in- commenced some six months after they formed that they had been authorized had knowledge of the release. It was by the board of directors. The court stated in the somewhat analogous distinguished People's Bank r. St. case of The Twin-Lick Oil Co. v. Mar-Anthony's Roman Catholic Church, bury, 91 U. S. 592, 'the authorities 109 N. Y. 513; s c, 17 N. E Rep. to the point of the necessity of the 408, in that in that case it appeared exercise of the right of rescinding or affirmatively that the officers who avoiding a contract or transaction as signed the note acted separately and soon as it may be reasonably done not at a meeting of the board, and that after the party, with whom that right there was no corporate act as a basis is optional, is aware of the facts which gave him that option are numerous. Indianapolis Rolling Mill Co. r. * * * The more important are as St. Louis, F. S. & W. R. ('o., 26 Fed follows: Badger n. Badger, 2 Wall Affirmed in Indianapolis 87; Harwood & Railroad Co., 17 Wall. Rolling Mill v. St. Louis, Fort Scott 78; Marsh r. Whitmore, 21 Wall. 178. & Wichita Railroad, (1887) 120 U. S Vigers v. Pike, 8 Cl. & Fin. 65C; the business of the corporation. A corporation may be bound by the contract of a board of trustees holding their office under a judicial decision declaring their title to the office. And the cor poration will not be relieved from its liability by a subsequent reversal of this decision on appeal.2 Under the law of California empowering the trustees of a corporation formed under the general laws of that state, to levy and collect, for the purpose of paying expenses incurred in the management of the corporation's business, assessments upon the capital stock of the corporation not to exceed five per cent of such capital stock, provided no previous assessment then remained unpaid or uncollected,3 such trustoes, where the expenses incurred in the management have largely exceeded ten thousand dollars, may levy and collect such assessments upon the stock as will pay those expenses, notwithstanding a by-law of the corporation limiting the amount of the indebtedness they may incur to ten thousand dollars. It is not beyond the power of the trustees of a secret society vested with general power to manage its property, to lease the lodge room to unother society for use one night in each week.5

§ 131. Power of officers of a corporation to employ attorneys.—Attorneys and counsellors may be employed by the managing officers of a corporation without any specific authorization to that effect by formal resolution of the board of directors.

c., 65 Am. Dec. 691.' See, also, Gold corporation may make a contract, and Mining Co. r. National Bank, 96 U S. their power to draw the money on 640; Law r. Cross, 1 Black, 533."

facturing Co., 15 Wend, 256.

Church, 3 E, D, Smith, 60.

³ Pub. Laws Cal, 1864, 402.

Mining Company, (1866) 29 Cal. 565. one of the contentions was that no legal ⁵ Phillip r. Aurora Lodge, No. 104, authority to prosecute the suit on be-I. O. G. T., (1882) 87 Ind. 505. See half of the corporation was shown, Miller r. Chance, 3 Edw. 399, where said: "The law in this state is settled it was held that a mortgage executed by a course of uniform adjudications by five of nine chosen trustees might that no formal resolution of the board be presumed to have been executed of directors is prerequisite for the emwith the concurrence of a majority of ployment of counsel for a corporathe board. Under what circumstances tion. Western Bank r Gilstrap, 45 an executive committee appointed by Mo. 419; Southgate r. Railroad, 61 a board of trustees of a manufacturing Mo. 89, Thompson c. School District, checks issued in payment under such ¹ Clark v. Farmers' Woolen Manu- contract, see Sheridan Electric Light Co. r. Chatham National Bank, (1891) ² Ebaugh v. German Reformed 127 N. Y. 517; s. c., 28 N. E. Rep. 467 b Western Bank of Missouri v. Gilstrap, (1870) 45 Mo. 419. The Appel-⁴ Sullivan r. Triunto Gold & Silver Late Court of Missouri, in a case where § 132. When officers may use bonds as collateral.—A manufacturing corporation having been placed in the hands of a receiver in South Carolina, the master having found certain bonds in the hands of creditors to have a priority of lien, and his report having been confirmed, application was made upon the ground of newly-discovered evidence which it was claimed would show that the resolutions of the board of directors authorizing the issue of these bonds did not authorize such use of them as had been made with these particular creditors for an opening and recommitting of the report of the master. Upon the merits of the application the trial judge said it must fail, and gave these reasons: "The purpose with which the bonds in question were issued is declared in the preamble of the resolutions authorizing them to be 'to provide commercial capital for the proper management of the business of the company.' This was to be accomplished by the sale of the bonds or by their use as collaterals. In the course of business it became necessary to raise moncy to buy cotton and to pay the employees of the mill or to stop. An application was then made to the bank * * and the resident directors to advance

71 Mo. 495; Holmes v. Board of Trade, ployed attorneys by the year and paid 81 Mo. 187. In the last case cited them in its stock; that the contract Judge Houen says: 'A contract for had been made by the president, with legal services may be made by the the approval of the board of directors, tacit or implied contract of the board and that plaintiff rendered the services of directors,' and in Thompson r. called for by his contract with the School District, supra, Judge Shen- knowledge of the directors. The New cede the power, without formal reso- evidence was sufficient to warrant a lution, to employ an attorney, the finding that the contract was approved follow as a necessary consequence.' As to a president's authority or that of The question in that case was whether other officers to employ counsel, etc., the entry of the appearance of the cor- see Potter v. New York Infant Asylum, president. It appeared that the corpo- Denio, 355. ration had from its organization em-wood says: Of course, if we con- York Court of Appeals held that the usual results of such employment will of or acquiesced in by the directors. poration as a party defendant by at- 44 Hun, 367; Insurance Co. r. Oakley. torney was duly authorized." Presi- 9 Paige, 496; Bank v. Bank, 10 Wall. dent Mining & Milling Co. v. Coquard, 604; Root v. Olcott, 42 Hun, 536; (1890) 40 Mo. App. 40, 43. Merrill v. Rider Life Raft Co. v. Roach, 97 N. Y. Consumers' Coal Company, (1889) 114 378; Bridenbecker v. Lowell, 33 Barb. . N. Y. 216, was an action of an attor- 9; Chemical Bank'v. Kohner, 8 Daly, ney against a corporation to recover 530; Bank v. Butchers', etc., Bank, 26 shares of its stock to which he alleged How, Pr. 5; Hooker v. Eagle Bank, 30 he was entitled for services for one N. Y. 86; Peterson c. Mayor, etc., 17 year under a contract made with its N. Y. 449; Mumford v. Hawkins, 5

the money needed, and to hold the honds as collateral security until they could be sold outright. This arrangement was made and the money advanced, and the bonds deposited as collateral security with the bank and the resident directors. This was done with the full knowledge and consent of the board of directors, and the money used to carry on the mill, and all this was done before the bonds were taken by * * * pal moving creditor." He then refers to certain affidavits made in the case and said: "If true, then there has been no improper or unauthorized use of said bonds, and if they were not pledged by resolution of the directors duly assembled, the company, with their knowledge and approval or gratification [ratification?], have received the benefit of the money advanced on the said bonds, and the transaction, in law or equity, must stand as against the said company and all creditors." The Supreme Court affirmed this judgment, referring to the action of the judge in these words: "There can be no doubt whatever that one of the purposes for which the bonds were issued was to raise money to continue the running of the mills, and there is quite as little that upon application [the creditors whose claims were preferred by the master | did advance largely for that very purpose. were pressing, two of the directors were absent from the state, non-residents, and a majority, the other six, authorized, informally, it may be, these bonds to be held by [them] as collateral security for advances made by them, as was done in the case of other advances, and upon the faith of this transaction the advances were actually made and used to the relief of the company. Under these circumstances it seems to us that the circuit judge did not abuse his judicial discretion in holding [as he did]."2

§ 133. When the execution of a note is not authorized.— In a Nevada case, where the execution of a note by a president and secretary of a corporation was held to have been unauthorized, the Supreme Court further held that where information of such act was not communicated to the trustees as a board, the trustees could not be held to have ratified the act by reason of the knowledge of a majority thereof acquired while acting as

Hubbard v. Camperdown Mills,
 Cling Ketchum v. Duncan, 96 U.
 S. 659; Claffin v. South Carolina R. R.
 Rep. 576.
 Co., 8 Fed. Rep. 118.

president and secretary; also that the fact that the secretary made out a statement of the debts of the corporation in gross was not sufficient to give the stockholders notice that an unauthorized note was included therein, so that by their inaction they should be held to have ratified it, or to be estopped to deny its validity.1

§ 134. Execution of promissory notes and transfer of choses in action.— Authority to execute and issue promissory notes of a corporation need not be expressly given to its officers by the by-laws of the corporation or by formal resolution of its hoard of directors.2 Such authority may be inferred from the acquiescence of the corporation in or its recognition of the acts of its accredited officers in the regular course of the authorized business of the corporation.3 A note executed by an agent of a manufacturing corporation will not be presumed to have been authorized by the corporation. To render such a note valid against the corporation the powers of the agent must be shown.4 The officers of a corporation have no power to authorize the execution of a note as surety for another in respect to a matter having Institution for Savings r. Slack, 6 Silver Mining Co., 6 Nev. 51, 55. Cush. 408, 411. The Nevada court supra, give this as their understand- Mo. 125. ing of the law upon this subject: "That before an individual or cor-

¹ Edwards v. Carson Water Co., the unauthorized acts of his or its (Nev. 1893) 84 Pac. Rep. 381. See, agents, every detail of the transacalso, Hotchin v. Kent, 8 Mich. 527; tion must have been made known to Dabney v. Stevens, 40 How. Pr. 314, the principal. If, after obtaining such Story Ag. § 243; Howell v. McCrie, knowledge, the principal fails to act, 36 Kans. 652; s. c., 14 Pac. Rep. 257; long and continued silence will be Combs v. Scott, 12 Allen, 496; Mallory deemed an approval of the act, and e. Mallory Wheeler Co., 61 Conn. 141; such ratification relates back and is s. c., 23 Atl. Rep. 708, Despatch Line equivalent to a prior authority to of Packets c. Bellamy Mfg. Co., 12 N. make the contract." Citing 1 Dan. H. 205, 232; Lyndon Mill Co.v. Lyndon Neg. Inst. §§ 316-319; Stark Bank v. Literary & Biblical Inst., 63 Vt. 581; United States Pottery Co., 34 Vt. 144, s. c., 22 Atl. Rep. 577; Owings v. 146; Story on Agency, § 239, Bank v. Hull, 9 Pet. 629; Bohm r. Brewery Jones, 18 Tex. 816; Smith r. Tracy, Co., (1890) 16 Daly, 80; s. c., 9 N. Y. 36 N. Y. 79, 82; French v. O'Brien, 52 Supp. 515; Murray v. Lumber Co., How. Pr. 394, 398; Combs v. Scott, 12 143 Mass. 250; s. c., 9 N. E. Rep. Allen, 493, 497. See, also, Yellow 634; Fitzhugh v. Land Co., 81 Tex. Jacket Silver Mining Co. v. Stevenson. 310; s. c., 16 S. W. Rep. 1078; Dedham 5 Nev. 224, 228; Hillyer v. Overman

- ² First National Bank of Hannibal in Edwards v. Carson Water Co., v. North Missouri Coal Co., (1885) 86
 - 8 Ibid.
- 4 Benedict v. Lansing, 5 Denio, 283; poration can be held to have ratified Lawrence v. Gebhard, 41 Barb. 575.

no relation to the corporate business, and in which the corporation has no interest. Such a transaction is not within the scope of its business, and a party receiving such note with notice of the circumstances under which it is given cannot recover on it.2 A corporation may authorize its proper officer to assign a note by delivery. The authority of an agent of a corporation to indorse a note may be shown by other evidence than the by-laws, as for instance, that a president and treasurer of the corporation was in the habit of negotiating notes of the corporation with the sanction of its finance committee.4 An agent of a corporation may have authority to transfer a note by indorsement but has no authority to bind the corporation as indorser.³ Express authority from a board of directors of a corporation is not necessary to enable its managing agent, to whom has been intrusted the management of the affairs of the corporation, to assign the choses in action belonging to it to its creditors, either in payment of, or as security for, the payment of a precedent debt.6 Officers of a corporation, within their general powers, may assign its choses in action in such manner as they may deem expedient.7 A corporation, it seems, would be bound by an assignment of its dues without recourse by one of its officers intrusted with the collection of its debts upon receiving the amount.8

§ 135. Notes signed by officers of a corporation.— Gil-BERT, United States Circuit Judge, in sustaining a demurrer to the defense in an action upon the promissory note of a corporation, that the president and secretary of the corporation had no authority from the corporation, either by by-law or resolution, to execute the note, and that the corporation received no benefit therefrom and did not ratify the same, declared these rules of law upon the questions involved, to wit: "The payce or indorsee of a negotiable promissory note, signed by the officers of a corporation as the note of the corporation, is not required to ascer-

¹ Hall v. Auburn Turnpike Company, (1865) 27 Cal. 255,

Bank. 13 N. Y. 309.

³ Blake v. Holley, (1860) 14 Ind. 383,

⁴ Brown v. Donnell, (1860) 49 Me. 383.

⁵ Ibid.

⁶ McKiernan v. Lenzen, (1880) 59 Cal. 61; Gillett v. Campbell, 1 Denio, ² Ibid.; Bank of Genesee v. Patchin 522; Carey r. Giles, 10 Ga. 10; Phillips v. Campbell, 43 N. Y. 271.

⁷ Blake v. Holley, (1860) 14 Ind.

⁸ Ætna Insurance Co. v. Wires. 28 Vt. 98.

tain whether the officers have authority to make the note. A corporation formed under the General Incorporation Laws for the purpose of conducting business has, so far as the law is concerned, the same power that an individual has to contract debts whenever necessary or convenient in furtherance of its legitimate objects. It may borrow money to pay its debts. It may execute notes, bonds and bills of exchange. The power to sign such paper may be conferred upon any officer. If the president and secretary sign, their authority is inferred from their official relation. All persons dealing with them have the right to assume that there is no restriction of that authority. They also have the right to assume, unless they have actual notice to the contrary, that a note so signed is made in the regular course of the business of the corporation. To hold otherwise would destroy the negotiability of all notes made by corporations."

$ 136. Power of bank officers.—It is not sufficient to establish the official character of a person to designate him as an offi-There must be competent and official proof of his authority to act in an official capacity. Therefore, the assignment and acknowledgment of a judgment, purporting to have been made by a bank, in the absence of proof of the authority of the persons executing the assignment in the name of the bank, were held not sufficient to establish the fact of the assignment.2 An assignment of the assets of a banking corporation under a resolution of its directory, for a purpose within the scope of their powers, is prima facie valid.' The settlement of a defalcation to a bank, and the acceptance of a deed of real estate in satisfaction and release, are not transactions which fall within the ordinary powers of a corporation which may be exercised by its agents or persons who are held out to the public as such. Power to do such acts must be conferred by the board of directors.4 The president of the directory of a banking corporation cannot use its cash or credits, ¹ American Exchange National Bank v. Oregon Pottery Co., (1892) 55 Fed. Rep. 265; citing Merchants' Bank v. State Bank, 10 Wall. 644; Crowley v. Mining Co., 55 Cal. 273; 1 Dan. Neg. Inst. § 381.

² Klemme v. McLay, (1885) 68 Iowa, 158; s. c., 26 N. W. Rep. 53.

³ Gibson v. Goldthwaite, (1845) 7 Ala. 281.

⁴Bank of Healdsburg v. Bailhache, (1884) 65 Cal. 327; Gashwiler v. Willis, 38 Cal. 11; Blen v. Bear River Co., 20 Cal. 602.

etc., for the purpose of settling the demands of its creditors, in the absence of authority conferred by its charter, by-laws or resolution of the directory within their power to adopt.1 And the affixing of the seal of the corporation to an unauthorized transfer by its president of its assets cannot impart validity to the transfer.2 The officers of a national bank, without express authority from its shareholders, after the bank goes into liquidation, can only bind them by acts implied by the duty of liquidation.' General authority, unrestricted by rules or by-laws, given to the president and eashier of a bank to manage and control all of its financial affairs, does not authorize them to use the property of the bank for private purposes of their own, or for the benefit of themselves; therefore, they cannot bind the bank by a contract to which they, or either of them, are parties.4

$ 137. Power of a bank cashier. -- A cashier of a bank has no authority, by virtue of his office, to represent the bank at a meeting of the creditors of an insolvent, and to vote for syndic. A resolution of the board of directors can alone empower him to do so.5 The cashier of a bank is held out to the world as its

Bank c. Hamlin, 14 Mass, 180,

270, the president and chief executive amination of the inspector of a foreign banking corporation having its principal place of business in S. 27; s. c., 7 Sup Ct. Rep. 788. the city of New York, being authorequip the office of the corporation, into liquidation, there being no by-law of the corporation or resolution of the directors lim iting his power, or requiring that no (La.) 98. The court said: "The diexpenditures should be made except rectors are the general agents and under a resolution of the board of administrators of the corporation, and directors. In First National Bank of by the charter are empowered to

¹ Gibson r. Goldthwaite, (1845) 7 of a president of a national banking Ala, 281 See Hallowell & Augusta association to bind the association by an agreement to hold, without collect-² Gibson r. Goldthwaite, (1845) 7 ing, a note which had been indorsed to Ala 281. In Cross c. Anglo-American it at the president's request, for the pur Banking Co., (1894) 79 Hun, 424, s. c., pose of increasing the bank's assets 29 N. Y. Supp. 960; C1 N. Y. St. Repr. and enabling it to pass an expected ex-

¹ Richmond v. Irons, (1887) 121 U. Schrader c. Manufacturers' National ized by its articles of incorporation Bank of Chicago, (1890) 133 U. S. 67; and by the action of its directors to s. c., 10 Sup Ct. Rep 238, it washeld open its office in that city, was held that the rights of the shareholders could presumptively to have authority to not be affected by the acts of the presipurchase the furniture necessary to dent, done after the bank had gone

⁴ Rhodes r. Webb, 24 Minn. 292.

⁵ Reed r. Powell, (1845) 11 Rob. Whitehall r. Tisdale, (1881) 84 N. Y. appoint such officers and sub-agents 655, it was held to be beyond the power as may be necessary for the transacexecutive officer intrusted with its notes and bills, and the collection and transfer of them in the ordinary course of its business. And in case of promissory notes held by banks an indorsement by the cashier of the bank, in his official character, is sufficient, at least prima facie to pass the title of the bank thereto.1 The cashier of a bank, in the course of his ordinary duties and by virtue of the general power appertaining to his office, has a right to transfer the paper securities of the bank, in payment of its debts.2

the charter and by-laws of the bank. Rob. (La.) 49.

Within the sphere of their respective duties they represent the corporation, matters and things not properly belonging to their office they cannot repintrusted with the transaction of the banking business of the corporation, other person. make such an appointment, or do any other act on behalf of the corporation, Jones, 4 La. Ann. 236.

Fleckner v. United States Bank, 8 by transferring them to him. Schneit-Wheat. 860; Wild r. Bank of Passa- man v. Noble, (1888) 75 Iowa, 120, tion of its business. The powers and maquoddy, 3 Mason, 505, 507; Merduties of these officers are defined by chants' Insurance Co. v. Chauvin, 8

² Everett r. United States, (1837) 6 Port. (Ala.) 166. The court quoted and bind it by their acts; but in all the language of Mr. Justice Story in Fleckner v. United States Bank, 8 Wheat. 358, as clearly recognizing the resent or act for the corporation right of the cashier as stated in the unless specially or generally author- text. That language was as follows: ized so to do by a resolution of the "The cashier is usually intrusted with Thus, the cashier, who is all the funds of the bank, in cash, notes, bills, etc., to be used from time to time, for the ordinary and extraneeds no special authority to do and ordinary exigencies of the bank. He perform any act required for the receives directly or through the subproper management and dispatch of ordinate officers, all moneys and notes. the same; but when it becomes neces- He delivers up all discounted notes sary for the corporation to appoint an and other property, when payments agent for any particular purpose, or have been duly made. He draws to do any other thing not properly be- checks from time to time, for moneys, longing to the duties of his office, he whenever the bank has deposits. In has no better right to act than any short, he is considered the executive To say that he can officer, through whom, and by whom, the whole moneyed operations of the bank, in paying or receiving debts, or because it is a mere act of administra- discharging or transferring securities. tion, would be to make the cashier its are to be conducted. It does not general agent and administrator, in- seem too much, then, to infer, in the stead of the board of directors." See, absence of all positive restrictions. also, Union Bank v. Bagley, 10 Rob. that it is his duty as well to apply the (La.) 43; Clinton Company v. Kernan, negotiable funds, as the moneyed 10 Rob. (La.) 176; Union Bank v. capital of the bank, to discharge its debts and obligations." The cashier ¹ Haynes, Liquidator, v. Succession of a bank has no authority to pay a deof Beckman, (1851) 6 La. Ann. 224; positor in notes belonging to the bank

138. When the authority of its cashier cannot be quesed by a bank.—Under the facts disclosed in a case before United States Supreme Court, it was held by the court that binding force of an agreement made by the cashier of the s, in reference to the indebtedness of one of the debtors of bank, including the cancellation of the debtor's old notes and t deeds made by him to secure them and the acceptance of ones could not be disputed by the bank.1

iples stated by Mr. Justice ceedings of the directors. words: "It is quite true from circumstances. s financial operations.

artin v. Webb, (1884) 110 U.S. thority to do so being in writing or he ruling was based upon the appearing upon the record of the pro-LAN, speaking for the court, in thority may be by parol and collected It may be * that a cashier of a bank has inferred from the general manner in ower by virtue of his office, to which, for a period sufficiently long the corporation except in the dis- to establish a settled course of busito of his ordinary duties, and that ness, he has been allowed, without rdinary business of a bank does interference, to conduct the affairs of omprehend a contract made by a the bank. It may be implied from the er - without delegation of power conduct or acquiescence of the core board of directors -- involving poration, as represented by the board ayment of money not loaned by of directors. When, during a series bank in the customary way. of years or in numerous business d States Bank v. Dunn, 6 Pet. transactions, he has been permitted, United States v. City Bank of without objection and in his official nbus, 21 How. 356; Merchants' capacity, to pursue a particular course v. State Bank, 10 Wall. 604. of conduct, it may be presumed, as sarily, he has no power to dis- between the bank and those who in e a debtor without payment, nor good faith deal with it upon the basis render the assets and securities of his authority to represent the cor-2 bank. And, strictly speaking, poration, that he has acted in cony not, in the absence of authority formity with instructions received rred by the directors, cancel its from those who have the right to conof trust given as security for trol its operations. Directors cannot, y loaned - certainly not, unless in justice to those who deal with the lebt secured is paid. As the bank, shut their eyes to what is going tive officer of the bank, he trans- on around them. It is their duty to ts business under the order and use ordinary diligence in ascertaining vision of the board of directors. the condition of its business, and to their arm in the management exercise reasonable control and super-While vision of its officers. They have somepropositions are recognized in thing more to do than, from time to ljudged cases as sound, it is clear time, to elect the officers of the bank, L banking corporation may be and to make declarations of dividends. sented by its cashier - at least That which they ought, by proper its charter does not otherwise diligence, to have known as to the le -- in transactions outside of general course of business in the bank, dinary duties, without his au- they may be presumed to have known § 130. Indorsement of a draft by cashier and president.— An English corporation, a mortgage company, by its managers in an American city, drew drafts upon its home office in London and applied to a local bank to have them discounted. The latter signified that they would discount the drafts if they were indorsed by another local bank. This was done by the cashier and the president of the latter. Finally, one of these drafts was not paid at the home office of the corporation, and the discounting bank brought its action against the receiver of the other local bank upon the indorsement of the officers of that bank. The United States Circuit ('ourt held that there could be no recovery.1 in any contest between the corpora- tion to that effect, by subsequent ratiof business."

tion and those who are justified by the fication, or by acquiescence in transcircumstances in dealing with its actions of a similar nature, and of officers upon the basis of that course which the directors have knowledge. In other words. I think it must be held ¹ National Bank of Commerce of that banks are liable for the acts of Kansas City r. Atkinson, (1893) 55 their officers, especially executive offi-Fed. Rep. 465. The court thus states cers and general agents, within the the contentions. "The defendant congeneral scope and apparent sphere of tends: First. That [the cashier] had no their duties; but that they are not authority to place the indorsement of liable for the acts of their officers done the [bank] upon those drafts, or either without special authority, in cases of them, and that " " " the presi- which are not within the general scope dent had no authority whatever to and sphere of their duties as such offiplace the indorsement of the [bank] cers. The responsibility of a bank (in upon the first note, which was given the absence of express authority to do after the drafts were protested, or any a particular act) is limited to the acts note representing these drafts. Sec- of its officers and agents, performed in ond. That the indorsement, at most, the discharge of their ordinary duties was a loaning of the bank's credit, or, in the usual course of business and in other words, an accommodation in- within the sphere and scope of such dorsement, which the bank had no duties. Acts within the ordinary power to make." Then the question sphere and scope of their business are was discussed and the law stated as presumed to be by authority and follows: "There is no doubt but what within the knowledge of the directors. the law is that a national bank cannot That there was no express authority loan its credit or become an accommo- given by the board of directors, by dation indorser. On that question the resolution or otherwise, either to * * * decisions are uniform. It is also true the cashier or to * * * the presithat the president of a bank has no dent, to indorse the drafts and notes, power inherent in his office to bind the is conceded. Neither was there any bank by the execution of a note in its formal natification of their action by name, yet the power to do so may be the directors or officers of the bank. conferred upon him by the board of Indeed, none of them had any knowldirectors, either expressly, by resolu- edge whatever of the transactions ex-

§ 140. Power of a treasurer of a savings bank.—The treasurer of a savings bank is not virtute officii clothed with power to borrow money for the institution and to pledge its securities as collateral. The treasurer of a savings bank has no authority, ex officio, to release a debt due the bank, upon payment of a dividend by the debtor.² A vote of a savings bank corporation to sell notes held by it would not confer authority upon its treasurer to hind the bank by indorsing its name on a promissory note held by it, and he has no such authority ex officio.8 A provision in the by-laws of such an institution that the treasurer "shall draw all necessary papers and discharge all obligations of the corporation, and his signature shall be binding on the corporation," has been held to mean the signature of the treasurer to necessary papers and in discharge of obligations to the corporation, and not to authorize him to bind the corporation by such an indorsement on a promissory note.4 The title passes by an assignment of a cept [these two officers]." The court of the bank did not know of their exto these drafts, or either of them." received any benefit from discounts or otherwise on these drafts. The renewal drafts and the notes were not placed upon the books of the [bank]. When the drafts were protested, the [bank] was not notified of the protest. company only received notice of their dishonor. The notes were all indorsed National Bank, 19 Vr. (N. J.) 513. in the office of the [plaintiff bank] by * * * the president [of the bank of Slack, (1850) 6 Cush. 408. which defendant is receiver], and away from the place of business of [this (1879) 127 Mass. 107. bank], and no mention of them was made upon its books. The directors then considered the facts upon the istence, and could not have ascertained question of whether the bank retained their existence from an examination of and enjoyed the proceeds of these the books or accounts of the bank. transactions, and thereby became liable Such a transaction, it seems to me, by reason of its indorsement appear- cannot be said to be in the usual course ing upon those papers. In the course of business, or within the implied of the opinion it is said: "It is shown powers of the president of a bank. by the record beyond all question that My attention is especially called to the the [bank] never received any benefit case of People's Bank v. National whatever, by way of discount or other- Bank, 101 U. S. 181. That was a case wise, out of the transactions in relation upon a guaranty. The papers passed through the bank in the regular course And further on: "The [bank] never of business. The bank received the benefit of the transaction, and the officer of the bank was acting strictly within the scope of his authority as an officer of the bank. The facts in that case are different from the facts in the case at bar, and the decision, in my but, on the contrary, the mortgage judgment, does not aid the plaintiff."

¹ Fifth Ward Savings Bank v. First

² Dedham Savings Institution v.

Bradlee v. Warren Savings Bank,

4 Ibid.

mortgage in the name of a savings bank, executed by its treasurer who has authority to execute it, and his indorsement of the note to a bona fide holder, though he may in his action perpetrate a fraud upon the bank and convert the purchase money to his own use.1

§ 141. Power of officers of mining corporations.—It may be assumed by persons dealing with mining superintendents or general agents in charge of mines, in the absence of notice to the contrary, that their authority covers all the ordinary local business of a mining corporation.3 The purchase of timber for a mining corporation is within the power of its general agent.8 But such a general agent of a mining corporation, unless specially empowered so to do, has no authority to make promissory notes in the corporation's name.4 The secretary of a mining corporation has no authority, by virtue of his office, to make assignment of the promissory notes belonging to the corporation. Such an assignment of notes by a secretary is not a corporate act unless it is shown that the secretary was not only authorized to make the transfer, but to make it in his official capacity.⁵ The superintendent of a mining corporation, instructed by letters and otherwise from the officers of the corporation not to contract any debts. but merely to expend such money as might be furnished him, cannot bind the corporation by a promissory note.6 There is,

1 Whiting v. Wellington, 10 Fed. Hallowell & Augusta Bank v. Hamlin, 14 Mass, 180, Hoyt v. Thompson, 1 ² Adams Mining Co. v. Senter, (1872) Seld 320, Whitwell v. Warner, 20 Vt. 425.

⁶ Carpenter v. Biggs, (1873) 46 Cal. 4 New York Iron Mine v. Negaunce 91 In New York Iron Mine v. Citizens' Bank, 44 Mich. 311; s c., 6 N. ⁵ Blood v. Marcuse, (1869) 38 Cal. W Rep. 823, it was held that there 590. For the same principles upon was no presumption of authority of which this assignment was held to be an agent of the mining corporation to void as not being a corporate act, see draw post-dated bills of exchange on Gashwiler v. Willis, 33 Cal. 11; Marine his principal from his having done so Bank v. Clements, 3 Bosw. 600; John- before without objection, there being son v. Bush, 3 Barb. Ch. 207; Brown v. nothing to show that the party relying Weymouth, 86 Me. 415; Barcus v. Han- on his authority knew the fact, and a nibal, Ralls County & P. P. R. Co., 26 long interval having passed since it Mo. 102; Mt Sterling & Jeffersonville occurred, and the corporation having T. R. Co. v. Looney, 1 Metc. (Ky.) 550; meanwhile become prosperous and be-Walworth County Bank v. Farmers' ing better supplied with ready money; Loan & Trust Co., 14 Wis. 325; and it also appearing that the post-

Rep. 810.

²⁶ Mich. 73.

³ Ibid.

Bank, 39 Mich. 644.

presumably, power in such an agent and manager of a mining corporation power to sell its personal property.1

§ 142. General rules as to the power of a president.— The powers of a president of a corporation over its business and property are strictly the powers of an agent.² A corporation will not be bound by the contract of its president, without proof of his agency.8 The same evidence from which authority to bind would be inferred in other cases, must determine the authority of the president of the corporation to bind it by a contract entered into on its behalf.1 It is necessary to show that an agreement of the president of a corporation is within the scope of his authority to make it evidence. A corporation which, by its charter, can only act through its board of directors, cannot be bound by contracts entered into by its president, without the authorization of the board, except in acts of simple administration, which, of necessity, should be done without authorization. A corporation cannot be bound by a contract made by its president, except it be shown that power to make it was given him by the act of incorporation, or that he was authorized by the corporation to make it, or that there was a subsequent ratification of the contract.7 The power to sell and assign the securities of a corporation without authority from the trustees, is not included in the authority of its treasurer to collect and pay debts.8 Acts of the corporation, or dated bills he had formerly drawn were drawn on time and post-dated only long enough to give the drawer the benefit of the full period of dis count after receiving them, while in this case they were made payable at the agent's private advantage.

¹ Scudder r Anderson, 54 Mich. 122, s. c , 19 N. W. Rep. 775.

² State Bank v. Holcomb, 2 Hals. (N.

³ Fisher v. Gas Co., 1 Pears. (Pa.) C. (Pa.) 190.

⁴Lee v. Pittsburgh Coal & Mining Co., 56 How. Pr. 373; s. c., 75 N. Y.

⁶ Bright r. Metairie Cemetery Association, 83 La Ann. 58.

⁷ Mount Sterling & Jeffersonville Turnpike Road Co. v Looney, (1858) 1 Metc. (Ky) 550.

⁸ Jackson v. Campbell, 5 Wend. 572. sight and post-dated several weeks for In Williams v. Uncompangre Canal Co., (1889) 13 Colo. 469; s. c., 22 Pac. Rep. 806, it was held that where a contract under seal had been executed by the officers of a corporation in their individual names it was competent to aver and prove by parol that the corpora-118; Jackson r. Market Co., 12 W. N. tion, as the real party in interest, adopted, ratified and undertook to carry out the terms of the contract in such a manner as to become bound thereby. Cases as to the lack of a ⁵ Farmers' Bank r. McKee, 2 Pa. St. president's power, unless it be specially conferred by the managing board:

acts of an authorized agent within the scope of his authority. from which the promise may be implied, must be shown to bind a corporation by an implied promise. It is not in the power of the president of a corporation to borrow money in the name of the corporation and pledge its responsibility, without authority conferred by the charter or by-law of the corporation, or a resolution of the directors.2 Under a by-law of a corporation giving the president "the general charge and direction of the business of the company, as well as all matters connected with the interests of the corporation," he has no authority to do an act which, by another by-law of the corporation, is expressly given to a separate A president cannot borrow money on his own note committee.3 and bind the corporation for the loan by falsely representing that he wishes the money for his corporation.4 The president of a corporation, having full personal charge of the business which the corporation was organized to transact, represents the corporation, and, prima facie, has power to do any act which the directors can authorize or ratify.5 Unless authorized by the charter or by-laws of a corporation, its president has no authority to indorse and negotiate notes which are its property. But his authority to do so may be presumed from his uniform practice in such mat-

ance Co., 31 Miss. 116; Walworth 116. County Bank v. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., 14 Wis. 325; Titus r. Cairo, etc., R. R. Co., 37 N. J. Law, 98; Dawes v. North River Insurance Co., 7 Cowen, 462; Mahone v. Manchester, etc., R. R. Corp., 111 Mass. 72; s. c., 15 Am. Rep. 9; Marine Bank v. Clements, 3 Bosw 600; Lyndon Mil-Inst., 63 Vt. 581; s. c., 22 Atl. Rep. 575; 25 Am. St. Rep. 783; Westerfield v. Radde, 7 Daly, 326; Western R. R. First National Bank, 22 Gratt. 51; Rep. 461; 62 N. Y. St. Repr. 445;

Holbrook v. Fauquier, etc., Turn- Brooklyn Gravel Road Co. v. Slaughpike Company, 3 Cranch C. Ct., ter, 83 Ind. 185; First National Bank 425; Wait c. Nashua Armory Assn., v. Kimberlands, 16 W. Va. 555. That (N. H.) 23 Atl. Rep. 77; s. c., 34 Cent. the power of a president in making L. J. 119; 14 Law Rep. Anno. 356; contracts on behalf of a corporation is Mt. Sterling, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. restricted to the authority being con-Looney, 1 Metc. (Ky.) 550; s. c., 71 Am. ferred on him by the corporation, see Dec. 491; Bacon v. Mississippi Insur- Bacon v. Mississippi Ins. Co., 31 Miss.

> ¹ Mount Sterling & Jeffersonville Turnpike Road Co. v. Looney, (1858) 1 Metc. (Ky.) 550.

> ² Life & Fire Insurance Co. r. Mechanics' Fire Ins. Co., 7 Wend, 31.

> 3 Market Co. v. Jackson, 102 Pa. St. 260.

4 Wright's Appeal, (1882) 99 Pa. St. Co. v. Lyndon Literary & Biblical 425; citing Angell & Ames on Corp. §§ 220-297; Martin v. Great Falls Manufacturing Co., 9 N. H. 51.

⁵ Oakes v. Cattaraugus Water Co., Co. v. Bayne, 11 Hun, 166; Hodge v. (1894) 148 N. Y. 480; s. c., 38 N. E.

ters. Under authority given him by the directors of a banking corporation to sell certain stock belonging to it, the president of the bank, where uninstructed to the contrary, would have authority to employ a broker to sell it.2 The acts of clerks of a corporation in making unauthorized purchases for the corporation on credit may be ratified by its president.3 By virtue of his office, a president of a corporation may collect subscriptions to the capital stock.4 In a Missouri case a corporation, a transfer company, was held liable upon promissory notes, given for the purchase of mules for its use, and signed in its name by its president.5

Hastings v. Brooklyn Life Ins. Co., 138 corporation, and did not require a pre-Conover v. Insurance Co., 1 N. Y. 290; directors. Booth v F. & M. N. Bank, 50 N. Y. Rep. 110.

166.

² Sistare v. Best, 16 Hun, 611.

to receive premium notes in advance pany. and negotiate them to raise money for

N. Y. 473; s. c., 34 N. E. Rep. 289; vious resolution of the board of

⁴ East New York, etc., R. R. Co. v. 396; Leslie v. Lorillard, 110 N. Y. 519; Lighthall, 5 Abb. Pr. (N. S.) 458; s. c., s. c., 18 N. E. Rep. 363; Holmes, 36 How. Pr. 481; 6 Robt. 407. In Booth & Haydens v. Willard, 125 N. Y. Georgia Company v. Castleberry, (1871) 75; s. c., 25 N. E. Rep. 1083; Patter- 43 Ga. 187, where the corporation was son v. Robinson, 116 N. Y. 193; s. c., of the same name with a partnership 22 N. E. Rep. 372; Rathbun r. Snow, doing business by the same agent be-123 N. Y. 343; s. c., 25 N. E. Rep. fore the date of the charter, it was 379; New York P. & B. R. R. Co. held that the assumption of a debt due v. Dixon, 114 N. Y. 80; s. c., 21 N. E. by the old partnership with no new consideration was outside of the scope ¹ Marine Bank c. Clements, 6 Bosw. of the charter, and, therefore, outside of the scope of the president's duties, as they were derived from the nature Silva r. Metropolitan Drug Co., 42 of his office, and even a written con-N. Y. Super. Ct. 307. In Brouwer v. tract promising to pay this debt would Harbeck, 1 Duer, 114, an insurance be of doubtful validity unless there company was authorized by its charter was special authority from the com-

⁵ Sparks v. Dispatch Transfer Co., the payment of losses or otherwise in (1891) 104 Mo. 531; s. c., 15 S. W. Rep. the course of its business. The presi- 417; 24 Am. St. Rep. 351; 12 Law Rep. dent of the corporation was empowered Anno. 714; 33 Am. & Eng. Corp. Cas. by its by-laws to sign policies and trans- 378. "The power of [the president] act the ordinary business of the corpo- to bind [the corporation]," said the ration. It was held that the borrowing Supreme Court of that state, "is govof money and hypothecation of these erned by the law of agency. The premium notes for the purpose of pay- principle underlying is the same. ing losses, and afterwards having these whether the principal be a corporation notes discounted by the lender in pay- or an individual. It is now well setment of the loss, was in the transac- tled that when, in the usual course of tion of the ordinary business of the the business of a corporation, an officer

§ 143. Rule as to evidence in such cases.— In the Missouri case just referred to, some of the promissory notes, with which it was sought to charge the corporation, were signed by its president as an individual. The Supreme Court of Missouri held that where such negotiable notes are signed by the president of a corporation in his own name, and nothing appears in the instrument to indicate he was acting as agent of the corporation, extrinsic evidence was inadmissible to show such agency.1 In a late New his authority to represent the corpora- prior to the giving of the notes herein. tion may be implied from the manner and his acts had always been ratified. in which he has been permitted by the The [corporation] was engaged in a directors to transact its business. This transfer business, in which the motive is only the application of the principle power was mules, and it was its writthat usual employment is evidence of ten charter privilege to buy mules and the powers of an agent, and the prin-execute its notes therefor. | The presicipal is held responsible for the acts of dent | had purchased mules for the his agent within the apparent au- [corporation] of the plaintiffs, and on thority conferred on the agent. First this occasion he informed them he was National Bank v. North Missouri, etc., purchasing the mules for which these Webb, 110 U. S. 7; Mining Co. r. apparent Anglo-Californian Bank, 104 U. S. 192 The president of a business corporation is its chief executive officer. He may, (1891) 104 Mo. 551; s. c., 15 S. W. without any special authority from the board of directors, perform all acts of the case at bar, it was said: "[The Co. r. Seminary, 52 Mo. 480. every mule that [the corporation] in that case was as follows: owned from its organization until '$750. after the execution of the notes sued on in this case.

has been allowed to manage its affairs, purchasing agent of the [corporation] ('o., 86 Mo. 125; Washington Mut. two notes were given for the [corpora-Fire Ins. Co. r. Seminary, 52 Mo. 480; tion]. His transaction, under the evi-Kiley v. Forsee, 57 Mo. 390; Martin v. dence, was within both his actual and authority to bind the [corporation],"

¹ Sparks v. Dispatch Transfer Co., The court reviewed a Rep. 417. number of cases from other states susan ordinary nature which, by usage taining this view, and then, as it was or necessity, are incident to his office, claimed that this doctrine had been and may bind the corporation by con-repudiated by the courts of Missouri tracts in matters arising in the usual in certain cases, these latter were course of business. Boone on Corp. reviewed and distinguished as follows: § 144; Stokes v. Pottery Co., 46 N. J. "The leading case relied upon by Law, 237." Applying the principles to respondents is Washington, etc., Ins. president of the company] purchased note which was the basis of the action

'For value received in policy num-He had repeatedly ber 2,969, dated the fourteenth day of signed notes in the name of the corpo- March, 1866, issued by the Washingration, and the corporation had honored ton Mutual Fire Insurance Company his orders and paid his notes so drawn. of St. Louis, I promise to pay said Plaintiffs had thirteen different trans- company (or their secretary for the actions with him as the president and time being) the sum of $750, in such

York case there was a contention that although the corporation might be legally liable for the debt, still the notes in the first instance having been made and discounted for the accommodation of Woodruff (its president), the debt was not contracted in the business for which the corporation was created, and the mort-the directors of said company may, agreeably to their acts of incorporation, require.

'[Signed] DANIEL McCARTHY,

'Per Thomas Burke.'

"This court held that it was competent to explain the ambiguity on the face of the note itself. Speaking for the court, Judge Sherwood said in that case: 'In the present case, the note sued on is signed 'Daniel of what? Just here, under the rules laid down in the above cases, parol and satisfactory explanation. introduction of testimony tending to conceded; that, in this case, Judge Sherwood such a case to resort to extrinsic eviportions and at such time or times as quotes from the decision in Mechanics' Bank of Alexandria r. Bank, 5 Wheaton, 327, in which the Supreme Court of the United States says: 'It is by no means true, as was contended 'President. in argument, that the acts of agents derive their validity from professing on the face of them to have been done in the exercise of their agency.' this were all, it must be conceded that respondents are justified in claiming that this decision is broad enough to permit parol evidence in any case to McCarthy, President.' But president explain who was the principal, not withstanding there is no intimation on the face of the paper that any one evidence steps in and affords a ready but the agent is a party to it. But the The Supreme Court of the United States word 'president,' attached to the name did not put their decision on that of Daniel McCarthy, is an earmark of ground; but, on the contrary, Justice the official capacity in which the note Johnson, who delivered the opinion. was signed - not evidence, it is true, expressly says: 'But the fact that that the note was signed in that this appeared on its face to be a capacity, but a sufficient basis for the private check is by no means to be on the contrary, establish that fact.' The court re- appearance of the corporate name of the sumed: 'Moreover, in that case the institution on the face of the paper at note on its face referred to policy once leads to the belief that it is a cornumber 2,969, which insured the porate, and not an individual, transseminary building and church build- action; to which must be added that ing belonging to St. Mary's Seminary. the cashier is the drawer, and the teller It will be observed, first, that the the payee, and the form of ordinary above note is not negotiable, and, checks deviated from by the substitusecondly, that the ambiguity appears tion of 'to order' for 'to bearer.' The on its face, growing out of the word evidence, therefore, on the face of the 'president,' affixed to McCarthy's bill predominates in favor of its being name. In the case at bar the notes a bank transaction. But it is enough are, by their terms, negotiable, and for the purposes of a defendant to contain nothing but Jackson's name establish that there existed on the face as maker; so that this case is not of the paper circumstances from which authority, because the facts are it might reasonably be inferred that it entirely different.' It is true, however, was either one or the other, and in gage could not, therefore, be enforced for its payment. The court held that the refusal to find that these notes were made and discounted for the accommodation of the president individually, and that the debt was not contracted in the business for which the company was created, was justified by the evidence.1

dence to remove the doubt.' So that s. c., 25 N. E. Rep. 303, affirming 44 appeared. ambiguity lowing note:

'$500. St. Louis, Mo., July 22, 1855.

to pay to the order of Messrs. Smith falcation or discount.

'ISignedl J. H. ALEXANDER.

'Treasurer, Ohio & Miss. R. R. Vo.' "In that case Alexander, having been are those of special agency.

of another.

Manufg. Co., (1890) 122 N. Y. 165; Lincoln v. Iron Co., 103 U. S. 412;

company,"

it seems clear that the Supreme Court Hun, 130. The court said: "The placed its decision upon the fact that, burden of proving that the notes were upon the face of the paper the not given in the business of the cor-That court poration rested upon the defendant. would never have held that there was [The plaintiff], the president of the any ambiguity on the face of the notes bank, testified that he had no knowlsued on [there]. Falk r. Mocbs, 127 edge of the proceeds being used for U. S. 597. In 31 Mo. 193 (Smith v. Woodruff's benefit, and the facts of Alexander), the action was on the fol- the case do not bring it within the rule which puts upon a holder of a promissory note or other corporate obliga-'Ninety days after date I promise tion the burden of proving by direct evidence that it was issued pursuant & Co., $500, for value received, to a vote of the trustees, or for a cornegotiable and payable without de- porate debt, or that the corporation received the consideration, in order to establish a corporate liability. cases where this rule has been held sued on this note, was allowed to show general rule, of course, is that the that he was treasurer of the Ohio rail- agent's authority in all cases must be road, and that he gave the note simply shown to charge the principal with an as agent of said company. Judge act performed by the agent, but in EWING saving: 'A mere addition to many instances this fact may be estabthe name of the party signing the con-lished by presumptive evidence. And tract cannot be regarded as a certain this is so where the corporation, whose indicium that it was made on behalf obligation is in question, is engaged When, however, it is in a business, the nature of which and doubtful from the face of the contract the duties in relation to which dewhether it was intended to operate as volved upon its officers, require or a personal engagement of the party justify the giving of negotiable signing it, or to impose an obligation instruments without being authorized on some third person as principal, thereto by a special vote to that effect. evidence is admissible to show the If the scope of the agent's authority character of the transaction.' So we be proven and it appears that acts like see that Judge Ewing placed his rul- the one in question would, under ing on the doubt appearing on the face ordinary circumstances, be within the of the note whether it was the obliga- authority, a presumption arises that tion of Alexander or the railroad the necessary circumstances did exist and that the act in question was au-¹Martin v. Niagara Falls Paper thorized. Morawetz on Corp. § 616;

§ 144. Power of president as to transfer of assets.— There is no power in a president and general manager of a corporation, as such, to borrow money for the corporation and to assign the assets of the corporation as a security for the loan, but in accordance with the uniform practice of a corporation, its president may transfer the title to a promissory note by an indorsement signed by him as president.2 The presumption that the president of a corporation had power to execute it, is carried with an assignment of a claim owned by the corporation exeand the making of such instruments business and for its benefit." was an incident to the business it carried on. It was a frequent occur- 365. rence in the management of its affairs. The by-laws which required the secre- Merchants' Bank v. McColl, 6 Bosw. 478.

Patterson v. Robinson, 116 N. Y. 193; tary to sign all obligations of the com-F. & M. Bank v. B. & D. Bank, 16 N. pany had never had any force and Y. 125; N. R. Bank c. Aymar, 3 Hill, were unknown to the bank. What It was said in Farmers' Bank v. the bank did know was that Wood-Butchers & Drovers' Bank that the ruff [who made the notes] was presisound rule is that 'when a party dent, general manager and financial dealing with an agent has ascertained agent of the company. He was such that the act of the agent corresponds by the general acquiescence of the in every particular, in regard to which stockholders. He and * * * daughsuch party has or is presumed to have ter owned the stock of the company. any knowledge, with the terms of the For twenty-five years there had been power, he may take the representa- no meeting of the stockholders for the tions of the agent as to any extrinsic election of officers and very few meetfact which rests particularly within ings of the trustees, and Woodruff the knowledge of the agent, and had managed the business as if it was which cannot be ascertained by a his own. He bought its supplies, sold comparison of the power with the act its products and paid its debts. No done.' The court then said: 'The other person was shown to have had a case is analogous to the giving of a voice in the management of its affairs. firm note by one partner for his own Under such circumstances, the giving benefit. When such a note is given of a promissory note in the name of in a transaction unconnected with the the company for money borrowed was partnership business and known to be not only within the apparent scope of so by the person taking it, the other Woodruff's authority, but the long partners are not bound without their period during which, without interconsent, but, prima facie, the firm note ference, he was permitted to manage binds all the partners, and the burden the company's affairs, justified the of proving a want of authority lies inference that it was within his actual upon the firm. Doty v. Bates, 11 authority. Martin v. Webb, 110 U. Johns. 544; Gansevoort v. Williams, S. 7. The bank was, therefore, justi-14 Wend. 133-138.' The nature of the fied in relying upon the presumption business of the paper company justi- that the notes, being made in the name fied the giving of negotiable paper, of the company, were given in its

¹ Hyde r. Larkin, (1880) 35 Mo. App.

² Scott r. Johnson, 5 Bosw. 218;

cuted by its president under its corporate seal, reciting an authority from the board of directors to execute it.1 When the transfer of a note belonging to a corporation has been authorized by a resolution of its board of directors, its president has power to indorse it over.2 As against the parties to a note, the presumption is that the president of a corporation indorsing it over was authorized to do so.3 The president of a corporation may be authorized to indorse its notes by the directors, who with the president by the charter have full power to conduct its affairs.1

§ 145. When a president's act is binding.— A manufacturing corporation of Connecticut, for the purpose of manufacturing a certain class of goods and to prepare for the same, arranged with a New York firm of commission merchants that the latter advance to the corporation, as called for, money to the amount of $100,000, to be secured by a mortgage upon its real property and its personal property to this extent, that the goods manufactured of this kind would be shipped to the firm to be sold on commission and the avails of the sales applied to the settlement of the bond and mortgage. Advances were made to an amount slightly exceeding the amount of the limit; goods were shipped and sold on commission, etc. The president of the corporation, its principal business and financial manager, requested this firm to make advancements to the corporation in addition to those contemplated and secured by mortgages, and verbally agreed that these should he secured by the mortgages, by the products of the mill previously and subsequently consigned to them, and certain shares of stock which the corporation held in pledge. There was advanced upon the agreement a large sum of money in addition to that already advanced. There was no vote either of stockholders or directors authorizing such borrowing or agreement. In an action for foreclosure of the mortgage the Supreme Court of Connecticut held that the firm was entitled to a decree of foreclosure and sustained the right of the firm to apply, as it had done, the proceeds of the sale of products of the corporation to the later

¹ Corbit v. Nicoll, 12 N. Y. Civ. Pro. the Metropolis, 8 Gill. (Md.) 64. As

² Clark v. Titcomb, 42 Barb. 122

³ Elwell v. Dodge, 83 Barb, 836.

⁴ Merrick v. Trustees of the Bank of son v. Hubbell, 17 Ind. 559.

to president's power to draw, accept, and indorse bills of exchange, see

Jones v. Hawkins, 17 Ind. 550, Alliadvances made under this arrangement with the president instead of upon the bond which the mortgage was executed to secure.1

§ 146. Illustrations of the power of a president.—The contracts binding a corporation which the president thereof has authority to make, by virtue merely of his official position, are confined to those relating to matters arising in the ordinary course

Lewis v. Hartford Silk Manufac- at the disposal of its general un-turing Co., (1887) 56 Conn. 25. In its limited financial agent, equally with opinion as to the binding effect upon any other personal property belonging the corporation of the transactions of to it. A corporate vote is not made its president the court said: "No vote necessary to the valid disposition of for stockholders or directors] was nec- this right in personal property because essary to make the acts of [the presi- of the mention of it in a scaled indent) binding upon the corporation, strument. Therefore, if we should Having made him its principal and concede that, as against the plaintiffs, general financial manager and agent, the agreement between them and the with no limitation upon his power, and [corporation] constituted a valuable having notified all persons concerned right in the possession of the latter, of such appointment, the company is nevertheless lits president | had absobound by his act of borrowing for its lute power of disposal of this right benefit and of pledging [the products for its benefit. He could exchange, of the mill] or any other personal sell, pledge or annul it by his indiproperty for repayment. He was vidual action at his discretion. Preclothed with power to borrow money sumably the agreement by the mostfor its necessary and proper uses from gagor to deliver, and by the mortgagee any person who would lend; to sell to receive the products of the mill], [their products] and repay; or consign in payment was for the benefit of the [them] with leave to retain the pro- latter, and although it has a place in ceeds; or use any other property for the condition of the mortgage, they that purpose. And as in these matters, were under no obligation to see in it in legal contemplation, he was the cor- any limitation upon the power of the poration, he could bind it as effectu- mortgagor's general financial agent ally as it could bind itself by corpo- thereafter to borrow, if they should be rate vote when taking up money by willing to lend, other and additional an agreement that payment should be sums for its benefit, and make paysecured by the previous mortgage, pro- ment therefor in money, [products of vided (in the interest of other credit- the mill), or any other personal propors) the aggregate should not exceed crty. The purpose of the mortgagee the extreme limit of one hundred was to give satisfactory security for thousand dollars. Of course a cor- the loan of one hundred thousand porate vote was necessary to a valid dollars, not at all to bar itself from mortgage by its financial agent of the borrowing other money if a willing real estate of the [corporation] to the lender could be found. As it is the plaintiffs. But all money or other company's duty always to pay its personal property or rights therein debts, the application of any of its coming into its possession because of personal property or rights in stock at the mortgage security thus given were any time to that use by its accredited of the business of the corporation. And a corporation, for instance, engaged in the business of conveying water through ditches for sale to miners, would not be bound by a contract of its president for a purchase of additional ditch property with a view of extending the operations of the corporation, as this would not be a matter within the ordinary course of the business of the corporation.2 The managing board of a private corporation having conferred, by a resolution of such board, upon the president of the corporation the full power of the corporation in reference to municipal street work, the president of the corporation may contract with a city on behalf of the corporation to improve a street.3 If made the duty of a president of a corporation to generally supervise its entire business, and it be provided that all of the property of the corporation shall be under his control, by a by-law of the corporation, and it appears that for many years its president has acted as its attorney, and looked after its litigation. such facts will be evidence of his authority to employ counsel to look after the interests of the corporation in any pending litigation.4 A corporation may be bound by its president's entering satisfaction of a judgment in its favor, after an assignment to a third person, though the satisfaction piece be not under the seal of the corporation. The president of a manufacturing corporation, who is also its superintendent, clothed with general authority to contract by parol, without the seal of the corporation, for not authorized or ratified by himself."

Blen v. Bear River & Auburn Water & Mining Company, (1862) 20 Cal. (1877) 52 Cal. 270. 602.

² Ibid. In Shaver v. Bear River & 67; s. c., 7 N. E. Rep. 513. Auburn Water & Mining Co., (1858) 10 Cal. 396, the court held that the Bank, 50 N. Y. 896. president of this corporation had auilnancial agent without limitation is thority to bind the corporation for the binding upon it. And whatever valu- purchase of a house to be used as an able property right as against [the office for the corporation and as a pledgor], the [corporation] had in the boarding house for the laborers it emuse and application of his shares, ployed under a resolution of the cor-Istock of another corporation pledged poration vesting him with discretionary to it], that right was at the disposal of power as to "all matters pertaining to [its president] for the benefit of the the prosecution of the projects of the company by sale or pledge, [the company," and if his authority were pledgor's | rights of course not to be doubtful, the acts of the corporation affected by any act of [the president] amounted to a ratification of the contract.

⁸Oakland Paving Company v. Rier,

⁴ Wetherbee v. Fitch, (1886) 117 Ill.

⁵ Booth v. Farmers & Mechanics' making and delivering its manufactured goods, has like authority, unless the power is withdrawn, to authorize the termination and release of such a contract.1 A railway corporation will be bound by a contract made by its president, in its behalf, and within the scope of its chartered powers, to pay fixed sums of money to the proprietors of a railway bridge for the use of the same, where it is made known to the directors and stockholders and not disapproved by them within a reasonable time.2 No proof of the authority of the president of a corporation will be required to establish an assignment made by the corporation, through its president, of a special tax bill.3 The lease of an office is within the usual powers of the president of a corporation, and his declarations, when making such a contract, are evidence of the intended purpose for which it may be leased. A corporation will be bound by the act of its president, after its organization, in receiving a conditional subscription. A corporation will be bound by its president's receiving a promissory note, on settlement against the maker, though made payable to the president or his order by his individual name, if he has been in the habit of acting as its business agent, with the knowledge of the corporation and without objection on its part. It is within the scope of a president's authority, as president, to undertake to bring before the board of directors of a corporation, at a time specified, a demand against the corporation for money borrowed by an agent of the corporation, and the corporation will be bound to consider the demand at the time specified.

¹ Indianapolis Rolling Mills c. 8t Louis, Fort Scott & Wichita Railroad, (1887) 120 U.S. 256, s. c., 7 Sup. Ct. Rep 542

Pittsburgh, Cincinnati & St. Louis Ry Co. c. Keokuk & Hamilton Bridge Co (1889) 131 U. S. 371; s. c., 9 Sup. Ct. Rep. 770.

· Bambrick r Campbell, (1889) 37 Mo. App. 460.

⁴Baltimore & Philadelphia Steamboat Co. v. McCutcheon, 13 Pa. St. 13. Pittsburgh & Connellsville R. R. Co. r Stewart, 41 Pa. St. 54.

Dougherty v. Hunter, 54 Pa. St. point attorneys for looking after liti- making sales of commodities of corgation of corporation, see Reno Water Company r. Leete, 17 Nev. 203; s. c., 30 Pac. Rep. 702; American Insurance Co. c. Oakley, 9 Paige, 496; s. c., 38 Am. Dec 561; Wetherbee r. Fitch, 117 III. 67, S. C., 7 N. E. Rep. 518. As to president's indorsing commercial paper for transfer, see Irwin v. Bailey, 8 Biss, 523; Howland A. Myer, 3 N. Y. 290; Caryl r. McElrath, 3 Sandf. 176; Palmer r. Nassau Bank, 78 Ill. 380. As to power of the president of a bank to contract for the bank, see Case r. Hawkins, 58 Miss. 702.

7 Union Gold Mining Co. v. Rocky 380. As to power of president to ap- Mountain Bank, 1 Colo. 581. As to § 147. Illustrations of his lack of power.—The president of a corporation has no legal power or authority to deplete the coffers of the corporation by instructing the treasurer to refuse to accept subscription money when tendered.1 An authority given by a resolution of the board of directors to a president of a corporation "to make all contracts and draw on the treasurer for all disbursements (countersigned by the secretary) under the direction of the board," does not confer upon the president power to make contracts for, or otherwise bind, the corporation without the "direction of the board" of directors, and his acceptance of a bill drawn upon him as president, without the direction of the board of directors, would not bind the corporation.2 There is no power in the president of a corporation, by virtue of his office, to purchase or sell real property for the corporation at his discretion. Such power can be conferred only by the board of trustees.⁸ A resolution being upon the minutes of a corporation forbidding its president purchasing such goods, the president cannot bind it for goods purchased.4 Where a contract has been entered into by authority of its board of directors, the president of a cor-chants' Bank, 13 Lea, (Tenn.) 234.

¹ Potts v. Wallace, (1892) 146 U.S. 689, 705; s. c., 18 Sup. Ct. Rep. 196, in which the question whether or not a subscriber to the stock had been released from his obligation to pay it for the benefit of the creditors by the action of the president or otherwise. The court followed Bank of the United States v. Dunn, 6 Pet. 51, where it was held that an agreement by the president and cashier that the indorser on a note shall not be liable on his indorse-poration in the usual course of the except in the discharge of their ordibusiness of the corporation, see Horton nary duties. The court, in Potts v. Ice Cream Company v. Merritt, 63 Wallace, supra, further said: "It is Hun, 628; s. c., 17 N. Y. Supp. 718; true that if the acts of the president 43 N. Y. St. Repr. 416. As to the ef- are ratified by the corporation, or the fect of a president's acknowledgment corporation permits a general course of a debt, taking it out of the Statute of conduct or accepts the benefit of his of Limitations, see Morgan r. Mer- act, they will be bound by it. But the general rule is that the president cannot act or contract for the corporation except in the course of his usual duties. And the rule is still stronger against the power of the president to bind the corporation by giving up its securities or releasing claims in its favor."

- ² Lazarus, Use of, v. Shearer, (1841) 2 Ala, 718.
- ⁸ Bliss v. Kawcah Canal & 1rrigation Co., (1884) 65 Cal. 502.
- ⁴ Westerfield v. Radde, 7 Daly, 326. ment does not bind the bank; that it In Smith v. Smith, (1875) 117 Mass, 72, is not the duty of the cashier and it appeared that a corporation held a president to make such contracts, nor mortgage of land assigned to it by the have they the power to bind the bank mortgagee as collateral security for the poration, without the assent of the directors, has no power to modify it. The president of a corporation, as such, has no power to bind the corporation by any act outside his official duty.² The superintendent of a mining corporation has no authority, virtute officii merely, to borrow money on the credit of the corporation.8 And the president of such a corporation has no power, as presicorporation and void.

Hun, 166; s. c., 75 N. Y. 1. For Dowd v. Stephenson, 105 N. C. 467; classes of contracts or agreements in s. c., 10 S. E. Rep. 1101. which a president cannot bind the corporation, see Spyker v. Spence, 8 Ala. Mich. 263; St. Nicholas Insurance Co. Bank v. Bennett, 33 Mich. 520; Leavitt of its president to accept drufts of a v. Connecticut Peat Co., 6 Blatchf. 139," corporation upon the bank, and in the 81 Tex. 306; s. c., 16 S. W. Rep. 1078; sanction of the directors, the bank was McKeag v. Collins, 87 Mo. 164; Olney held not to be liable. v. Chadsey, 7 R. I. 224; Hodge v. First National Bank, 22 Gratt. 51; Brouwer Mt. Bank, 2 Colo. 565.

payment of a note which was also se- v. Appleby, 1 Sandf. 158; Hone v. cured by a mortgage of other land Allen, 1 Sandf. 171, note; Thompson owned by him. By vote afterwards v. McKee, 5 Dak. 172; s. c., 37 N. W. the corporation authorized its presi- Rep. 367; Ellsworth Woolen Manufg. dent and secretary to cancel the prin- Co. r. Faunce, 79 Me. 440; s. c., 10 Atl. cipal mortgage, but, by mistake, the Rep. 250; Ashuelot Manufg. Co. r. president discharged both mortgages Marsh, 1 Cush, 507; Globe Works c. upon the record. There was a provis- Wright, 106 Mass. 207; White r. Westion in the charter of the corporation port Cotton Manufg, Co., 1 Pick, 215; that the president should keep the cor- s. c., 11 Am. Dec. 168; E. Carver Comporate seal, but the only provision in pany r. Manufacturers' Ins. Co., 6 its charter or its by-laws relating to Gray, 214; Markey v. Mutual Benefit the execution of contracts in its behalf Ins. Co., 103 Mass. 78; Merchants' was, that the corporation should be National Bank c. Rawls, 7 Ga. 191; s. bound by all instruments which it c., 50 Am. Dec 394; Asher c. Sutton, should lawfully make, when executed 31 Kans, 286; Reynolds, etc., Constr. Co. in its name and pursuant to its rules, v. Police Jury, 44 La. Ann. 863; s. c., signed and delivered by the presi- 11 So. Rep 236; Potts v. Wallace, 146 dent, secretary, treasurer or other U.S. 689; s. c., 13 Sup. Ct. Rep. 196; officers or persons it should appoint, Bank of United States v. Dunn, 6 Pet. and sealed by its common seal. The 51: Weeks v. Silver Islet Consolidated Supreme Court of Judicature held that Mining Co., 55 N. Y. Super. 1; s. c., the discharge of the collateral mort- 8 N. Y. St. Repr. 110; First National gage was without authority from the Bank r. Lucas, 21 Neb. 280; s. c., 31 N. W. Rep. 805; Foster r. Essex Bank, Western Railroad Co. r. Bayne, 11 17 Mass. 479; s. c., 9 Am. Dec. 168;

² Perry r. Simpson Waterproof Manufacturing Co., 37 Conn. 531. In 333; First National Bank r. Reed, 36 Stallcup v. National Bank of the Republic, (1888) 15 N. Y. St. Repr. 39, in v. Howe, 7 Bosw. 450; First National the absence of proof of the authority Leggett v. New Jersey Manuf. Co., 1 face of evidence that the obligec of the N. J. Eq. 541; s. c., 23 Am. Dec. 728; drafts knew that similar transactions Fitzhugh v. Franco-Texas Land Co., of the president had failed to meet the

³ Union Gold Mining Co. r. Rocky

dent, to undertake, in the corporate name, for the repayment of such an unauthorized loan.1 The Illinois Appellate Court sustained a decree dismissing a bill to compel a corporation to renew a lease of a building belonging to it, because of a lack of power or authority in the president of the association to bind it by an agreement to make or renew a lease of its estate.2

8 148. What would show the authority of a president.— A corporation admitting, at the trial of a case, that the one making the contract which the corporation claimed to be unauthor-

¹ Tbid.

Association, (1890) 35 Ill. App. 465; affirmed in 137 Ill. 497; s. c., 27 N. E. Rep. 530. The court said: "The president of a corporation has not, as matter of law, and merely by reason of his holding said office, power or authority to execute deeds, mortgages or leases of the real estate of the corporation, Hoyt v. Thompson, 19 N. Y. The implied powers of the president of a corporation depend upon the nature of the company's business, and the measure of authority delegated to him by the board of directors. It seems that the president has no greater nowers, by virtue of his office merely, than any other director of the comretary.' Here we find the authority in another state." of the president with reference to executing leases defined, and while it is ² Koch r. National Union Building true that it has been said by the Supreme Court of this state that an act done by the president will be presumed to be legally done and be binding on the body, that rule applies 'in the absence of legislative enactment or provision made in the by-laws.' Smith r. Smith, 62 Ill. 493. The business affairs of corporations are controlled exclusively by their boards of directors, and such board may undoubtedly invest the president with authority to bind the corporation by deed or lease, either by express resolution or by an acquiescence in his assumption of authority in that respect, which would justify persons who dealt with him in the inference that he had such authorpany, except that he is the presiding ity in fact. So if the act is one inciofficer at the meeting of the board. dent to the execution of the trust re-Morawetz on Corporations, § 537, posed in him, such as custom or neces-There is no proof in the record as to sity has imposed upon this office, he what the business of [defendant cor- may perform it without express auporation] is, but it is shown that its thority. Mitchell v. Deeds, 49 III. 416. business, whatever it may be, is car- As we understand Union Mutual Life ried on under certain by-laws, section Ins. Co. r. White, 106 Ill. 67, it simply 9 of which by-laws relates to the duty holds the corporation bound by acts of the president, and, among other which, from the course of its business, things, provides that 'he shall exe- were within apparent power of the cute all bonds, contracts, leases or president and general agent when those other instruments required to be made officers were acting for the corporation or executed by authority of the board in a state where the corporation was for and on behalf of the association, doing business by comity, the home which shall also be signed by the sec- or residence of the corporation being ized was its president and superintendent as well as general manager, the Supreme Court of California held to be sufficient evidence of his authority to make the contract, and it was not necessary, upon the party seeking to enforce it, to show any vote or other corporate act constituting him the agent of the corporation.1

¹ Crowley v. Genesee Mining Com- in accordance with justice or the interder its common seal, has long since derive benefit. banks, and similar corporations in this Boyington, 73 III. 534, where it apaccording to the mode in which they tive manager and principal stock-If this were not done, it would become Court of Illinois held that the contract impossible to dispose of such contracts was binding upon the corporation. with any hope of reaching the truth and justice of the right and duties of "which suffers appearances to exist, the several parties involved. * * * This is merely holding corporations to such rules of action as they see fit to and agents reason to believe that he is adopt for their own guidance and the employed by the company, becomes transaction of their business." Bank liable to such person as his employee, of Middlebury v. Rutland R. R. Co., to pay for the services rendered." 80 Vt. 159. * * * It would not be

pany, (1880) 55 Cal. 278. It was said ests of society to allow corporations to in the opinion: "The common-law rule deny the authority of such agents, or that a corporation has no capacity to to repudiate contracts made by them act or to make a contract, except un- for work and labor from which they So, in Goodwin r. been exploded in this country. Even Union Screw Company, 34 N. H. 378. in England it has been found to be im- where it appeared that the business of practicable, so that the classes of cases manfacturing screws was conducted which constitute exceptions to the under the general management of one rule have become so numerous that the of its directors, who made verbal conexceptions have almost abrogated the tract with the plaintiff to work in the rule. In the United States nothing shop, at manufacturing screws for the more is requisite than to show the au- defendant, the Supreme Court of New thority of the agent to contract. That Hampshire held that where one has authority may be conferred by the cor- the actual charge and management of poration at a regular meeting of the the general business of a corporation. directors, or by their separate assent, with the knowledge of the members or or by any other mode of their doing the directors, this is sufficient evidence such acts. If this were not so," says of authority, and the company will be Mr. Chief Justice REDFIELD, "it bound by his contracts made in their would lead to very great injustice, for behalf, within the apparent scope of it is notorious that the transaction of the business intrusted to him. And in the ordinary business of railways, Wilson Sewing Machine Company o. country, is without any formal meet-peared that an architect had drawn ings or votes of the board. Hence, plans for a building for a corporation there follows a necessity of giving ef- under a verbal contract made with one fect to the acts of such corporations, who was acting as president, execuchoose to allow them to be transacted, holder of the company, the Supreme "A corporation," says the court, and its officers and agents to so act as to give one employed by such officers

§ 149. Question of authority for the jury.—In a case before the New York Court of Appeals, which was an action upon certain promissory notes made payable to a domestic corporation and indersed by its president, it appeared that the corporation had its main office in the city of New York, and while a portion of its business was transacted and most of its purchases and sales were made in other states and countries, its principal business operations were carried on in that city, and the annual meeting of its directors was there held. The person who indorsed these notes was president and treasurer, the general manager of all the corporation's business affairs in that city, and the only officer in attendance at its office there; he paid the current accounts of the company and indorsed checks made payable to its order. The discount of business paper and the use of its money for its purposes, and the account of the same on its cash books were daily and permitted transactions. The corporation had no cash capital, and its working capital was borrowed on the credit of the company, and this borrowing was done principally by the president, and mainly by the use of paper indorsed by him in the name of the corporation. The evidence on the trial tended to show that this was with the knowledge and acquiescence of the directors. The Court of Appeals held that it was error in the lower court to dismiss the complaint; that the evidence required the submission of the question of the authority of the president of the corporation to bind it by indorsements to the jury.1

§ 150. Power of a president as to execution of notes.— The making of promissory notes of a corporation by its president to one who, at his instance and request, may advance money to pay indebtedness of the corporation to save it from a law suit, is within the scope of the business intrusted to him as superintendent and general agent of the corporation.2

Rep. 737.

The court distinguished Hall v. Au- at the time of its execution, dischargburn Turnpike Co., 27 Cal. 255; Davis ing the duties of those respective

¹ Fifth National Bank of Providence, Co., 44 Cal. 106; Wilbur v. Lynde, 49 R. I., v. Navassa Phosphate Company, Cal. 290. In Farmers & Mechanics' (1890) 119 N. Y. 256; s. c., 23 N. E. Bank of Savings v. Colby, (1883) 64 Cal. 352, it was held that a note signed ² Seeley v. San José Independent by one as president of a corporation Mill & Lumber Co., (1881) 59 Cal. 22. and another as secretary pro tem., they,

v. Rock Creek, L. F. & M. Co., 55 Cal. offices, was the note of the corpora-359; San Diego v. S. D. & L. A. R. R. tion, and imposed no personal liability

§ 151. In what cases the authority of a president may not be questioned.—The knowledge of all the members of a board of directors of a corporation, except one, who was absent from the county, the concurrence at the time of those who remained in the county, or their long-continued acquiescence afterward, has been held by the Supreme Court of Judicature of Massachusetts to have made valid, as the act of the corporation, the execution of a mortgage of its personal property, without special authority therefor, by its president, who was general manager of its business.1 In case the president of a corporation, who is its managing officer and makes its contracts, enters into a fraudulent contract on its behalf, the corporation cannot escape liability on the ground that the president conducted the transaction without its knowledge or concurrence.2 The by-laws of a corporation cannot be set up by the corporation as counteracting the authority conferred upon its president by permitting him to hold himself out to the public as its general manager and director of its business.8 A corporation accepting the benefit of work done or materials furnished, upon the order of its president, will be estopped to deny the power of the president to make the contract.4 The authority of a president of a corporation to subscribe for stock in another may be presumed upon the facts that the stock was received by an agent of the corporation he represented and retained by it, and that the stock on several occasions may have been voted by an officer or member of such corporation.5

upon them as individuals. In Nafense to an action on the note, if the ander r. Brown, (1877) 9 Hun, 641. paper was not diverted from its original purpose and went into the hands of App. 54. a bong fide holder and the corporation

v. Cincinnati Safe & Lock Co., 45 Fed. Md. 395, an action to recover for work Rep. 671.

⁸ Marine Bank of Buffalo r. Buttional Spraker Bank c. Treadwell Co., ler Colliery Co., 52 Hun, 612; 23 (1894) 80 Hun, 363, where a promis- N. Y. St. Repr. 318; s. c., 5 N. Y. sory note of a corporation was executed Supp. 201; affirmed in 125 N. Y. 695; by its president, but not signed by its Bank of Attica v. Pottier & Stymus treasurer in accordance with the by- Mfg. Co., 49 Hun, 606; s. c., 1 N. Y. laws of the corporation, the Supreme Supp. 483; 17 N. Y. St. Repr. 327. Court of New York in General Term When a corporation is estopped to deny held that the fact constituted no de- the authority of its president, see Alex-

⁴Brown v. Wright, (1887) 25 Mo.

⁵ Elysville Manufacturing Co. v. received the benefit of the proceeds. Okisko Company, 1 Md. Ch. 392; af-¹ Sherman v. Fitch, (1867) 98 Mass. 59. firmed in 5 Md. 152. In Grape Sugar ² Grand Rapids Safety Deposit Co. Manufacturing Co. v. Small, (1874) 40 done under a contract with the acting

§ 152. Giving a judgment note — New Jersey.— The president of a corporation has no power, in virtue of his office, as president, to execute a bond and warrant of attorney for the entry of a judgment by confession against the corporation.1

the president was authorized by a direct vote or resolution of the corporabeing necessary to enable the corporation to carry on the business for which it was incorporated, and accepted by it without objection, and without any intimation that its acting president was not authorized to make such contract, the jury on the trial might presume that the work was done by the authority of the corporation, or that it was subsequently accepted, and the contract ratified. In the same case it was further held that where, under the contract made with the acting president of the corporation after the certificate of incorporation was signed by the members of the proposed corporation, but before it was recorded, as required to constitute it a body politic under the General Incorporation Law, the work was done for the corporation and accepted after its incorporation was complete, the corporation would be estopped, both at law and in equity, from denying its liability on account of the same. Sec, as to the liability of corporations under similar circumstances, Baltimore City P. Ry. v. Sewell, 35 Md. 251; Edwards v. Grand Junction Ry. Co., 1 Mylne & Cr. 650; Wesley Church v. Moore, 10 Pa. St. 273; Attorney-General v. Corporation of Leicester, 9 Beav. 546; Hughes v. Antietam Manufacturing Co., 34 Md.

president of this manufacturing cor- where he has been held out to the poration, the Court of Appeals held public as possessing authority, see that it was not necessary to prove that Ceeder v. II. M. Loud & Sons Lumber Co., 86 Mich. 541; s. c., 49 N. W. Rep. 575; 24 Am. St. Rep. 134; Sherman tion to make the contract. The work Center Town Co. v. Swigart, 43 Kans. 292; s. c., 23 Pac. Rep. 569; 19 Am. St. Rep. 137; Fitzgerald Constr. Co. v. Fitzgerald, 137 U.S. 98; s.c., 11 Sup. Ct. Rep. 36; Olcott v. Tioga, etc., R. R. Co., 40 Barb. 179; First Nat. Bank v. Kimberlands, 16 W. Va. 555; Fitzhugh v. Franco-Texas Land Co... 81 Tex. 306; s. c., 16 S. W. Rep. 1078; Washington Savings Bank v. Butchers', etc., Bank, 107 Mo. 133; s. c., 17 S. W. Rep. 644; 28 Am. St. Rep. 405; Dougherty v. Hunter, 54 Pa. St. 380; Libby v. Union National Bank. 99 Ill. 622; Neiffer v. Bank of Knoxville, 1 Head, (Tenn.) 162. Estoppel by reason of a presumption that corporation has ratified a contract of its president. West Salem Land Co. v. Montgomery Land Co., 89 Va. 192; s. c., 15 S. E. Rep. 524; Belleville Savings Bank v. Winslow, 85 Fed. Rep. 471; Bagaley v. Pittsburg Iron Co., 146 Pa. St. 478; s. c., 23 Atl. Rep. 837; Shaver v. Bear River, etc., Co., 10 Cal. 396.

¹ Stokes v. Jersey Pottery Co., (1884) 46 N. J. Law, 237. Arguendo, DEPUE. J., for the court said: "The powers of the president of a corporation, rirtute officii, over its business and property are strictly the powers of an agent - powers delegated to him by the directors, who are the managers of the corporation, and the persons in 324; Fister v. La Rue, 15 Barb. 323; whom, as its representatives, the con-Low v. Connecticut & Passumpsic trol of its business and property is Railroad, 46 N. H. 284. As to estop- vested. If the corporation be organpel of a corporation to deny the ized for business purposes, the presiauthority of its president to bind it dent is its chief executive officer. He Court of Errors and Appeals of New Jersey has held that such a judgment did not acquire validity from the fact that the money advanced by the plaintiff was applied for the benefit of the com-"From that fact," it was said, "a debt would arise and may, without any special authority duty or to be within the scope of his from the board of directors, perform employment, cannot be regarded as all acts of an ordinary nature which, the act of the corporation, and is not by usage or necessity, are incident to binding upon it. The authority rehis office, and may bind the corpora- quisite to charge the company must, tion by contracts arising in the usual therefore, be derived from the board course of its business. Boone on Corp. of directors.' 8 Vroom, 98-102. The $ 144. To this extent, the president, other case is Leggett c. New Jersey in virtue of his election as such, be- Banking Co., Saxt, 541. In that case comes the agent of the corporation. the charter of a bank provided that Beyond the powers which usage and the affairs, property and concerns of custom and the necessities and con- the corporation should be managed by venience of business require in the its directors; and the Court of Chanexecutive officer of a corporation, he very held that, although a mortgage has no more control over the corporate executed under the authority of the property and funds than any other board of directors would be valid, a director. As illustrative of the re- mortgage executed by the president stricted powers of a president of a and cashier under the corporate seal, corporation in the management of its without the authority or concurrence business and control over its property, of the board of directors, was not a I will refer only to two cases in our valid instrument. The reasoning on own courts. In Titus v. Cairo & Ful- which the cases cited were decided ton R. R. Co., this court held that a applies to the case now before the power of attorney executed by the court. The plaintiff by his judgment president of a corporation, authoriz- and the execution thereon, has acing a sale of its bonds in the market, quired a lien on all the property of gave the agent no power to sell, and the corporation; and I cannot find in that the president could not execute principle any distinction between a such a power without the authority of mortgage or conveyance of the lands the board of directors. In delivering of a corporation and a judgment upon the opinion of the court, Mr. Justice bond and warrant of attorney upon VAN SYCKEL said: 'In the absence of which the property, real and personal, anything in the act of incorporation of the corporation is taken. Such a bestowing special power upon the transaction is not within the ordinary president, he has, from his mere offl- business of a corporation, which the cial station, no more control over the president, as its executive officer is, in corporate property and funds than virtue of his office, authorized to any other director. The affairs of cor- transact. There are cases in which porate bodies are within the exclusive the powers of an officer of a corporacontrol of their boards of directors, tion, and his authority to act for the from whom authority to dispose of company, are enlarged beyond those their assets must be derived. The act powers which are inherent in his of a president or other officer, unless office. But these are cases in which it is shown to pertain to his official the agency of the officer has arisen an obligation on the part of the corporation to pay the debt in common with its other debts would result; but the plaintiff cannot hold his security which gives him a lieu upon the company's property, unless his security is a valid security thereon, especially when the rights of the other creditors are involved." 1 that a president owned the bulk of the capital stock of a corporation, and that he was the superintendent of its business and its treasurer, as well as the active manager of its affairs, and had been accustomed to borrow money for the use of the corporation, it has been held would not give him power to incumber its property by mortgage or confession of judgment for money borrowed.2

§ 153. The same subject — Illinois. — The Illinois Appellate Court has said, as to the power of a president of a corpora-sumed from their consent and acquiescence in permitting the officer to assume the direction and control of the business of the company. Taylor on Corp. 202, 236-244; Ang. & A. on Corp. §§ 299-302. Thus, when, in the usual course of the business of a corporation, an officer has been allowed in his official capacity to manage its affairs, his authority to represent the corporation may be implied from the manner in which he has been permitted by the directors to transact its business. Martin v. Webb, 110 U.S. 7. These are simply instances of the application of the principle that usual employment is evidence of the powers of an agent, and a responsibility will be laid upon the principal for the acts of his agent within the apparent authority so conferred upon the agent -a doctrine which has come to be applied to corporations in many respects as well as to individuals, and with the same qualifications and limitations." The court then applied these principles to the case at bar, saying: "But the depositions laid hefore the court do not bring the case in hand within the range of the authorities above referred to. The only from the assent of the directors, pre- proof on that subject is that Cook [the president of the company] was the owner of all the capital stock of the company except two shares; that he was president and treasurer and the active manager of the company, using the money of the corporation as he saw fit, and borrowing money for the company so far as its banking business was concerned; that at one time he effected a loan upon mortgage, but that the mortgage was made by the authority of the directors, and that he never undertook to execute in the corporate name papers of the character of the security in question, without the assent of the directors, except in this instance, * * * Incident to the power of Cook to borrow money for the company's use was the nower to secure the debt in the usual way; but the power to contract the debt did not carry with it the power to incumber the company's property by a mortgage or judgment confessed as a security for its repayment."

1 Stokes v. New Jersey Pottery Co., (1884) 46 N. J. Law, 287; citing Hackensack Water Co. v. De Kay, 9 Stew. Eq. 548,

² State Bank v. Holcomb, 7 Halst. 196, tion to confess judgment: "We think it plain, both upon principle and from the authorities, that the president of a corporation has not, as a matter of law, and simply by virtue of his office as president, authority to either confess judgment against such corporation or execute a warrant of attorney empowering another so to do. Such matters form no part of the ordinary business of the company which the president, as its executive officer, is authorized to transact virtute officii. The power in question is not inherent in or incident to the office from either usage or necessity.1

1 Joliet Electric Light & Power Co. of the record of the proceedings of v. Ingalls, (1887) 23 Ill. App. 45; citing such meeting. He had actual and full Stokes v. New Jersey Pottery Co., notice that all that the board of di-(1884) 46 N. J. Law, 287; Thew r. rectors did on that occasion was to ac-Porcelain Mfg. Co., 5 S. C. 415. cept without qualification the written The court, in Joliet Electric Light offer that he himself had made for the Co. s. Ingalls, supra, discussed the sale of the plant of [another electric facts and the law applicable to them light companyl, and on the very terms in the case in these words: "It is one proposed by himself, and also that of the elements of a prima fucie case the only papers the board authorized that it is subject to be rebutted and the president to execute, and himself destroyed by evidence to the contrary. as secretary to affix the seal of the cor-The case of the defendant in error is poration to, were 'the necessary papers not that of a stranger to the corpora- to complete said contract.' What contion dealing with the agents of the tract? Evidently the contract shown corporation and without actual notice by the written proposition of defendof the power and authority given to ant in error to sell the plant for [a such agents by the corporation or its fixed sum], payable as stated therein, directors. It would in many instances 'and secured by notes and mortgage be difficult and even impossible for or other instruments upon all the plant such stranger to ascertain with cer- offered' for sale, and by the resolution tainty and precision what the proceed- of the board accepting the said propoings of the corporate board were. As sition. It would seem the reasonable between such third party and the cor- construction of the transaction must poration the rule sometimes applies necessarily be as shown by the offer that where one of two innocent parties and the simple acceptance thereof must suffer for the unauthorized act without qualification or counter offer, of an agent the loss should follow that the completed contract between [fall on?] him who selected the agent. the parties was, that in respect to Taylor on Private Corporations, § 203. security for the purchase money the Here defendant in error was himself a special terms proposed, i. e., 'notes member of the board of directors of and mortgage upon all the plant,' conthe [corporation], and present at and stituted the contract, and that under participating in its meeting of the the agreement defendant in error could date of this action of the officers], and, have demanded nothing more or other moreover, was secretary of the com- than notes and mortgage, and that a pany, and kept and had the custody tender by plaintiff in error of such

8 154. Where contract of purchase includes giving a judgment note. In a case where a corporation wishing to purchase property for its use, contracted for advances of money for the purpose for which the corporation was to execute its note with a warrant of attorney to have judgment on the same, the Supreme Court of Illinois fully considered the propriety of the judgments upon this particular note, the authority of the officers in the matter and the execution of the notes, and declared the following rules in such case to be that: Where the president of a corporation is authorized to enter into a contract, under which another is to loan the corporation money, and the president is to make and deliver, on its behalf, a note for the money loaned, secured by a warrant of attorney to confess judgment, and such contract is entered into, and the president, in pursuance of its provisions, gives the warrant of attorney, the act will be binding on the corporation, even in the absence of the adoption of any resolution empowering him to give the warrant of attorney.

proposition submitted to the board of hand."

notes and mortgage would have been directors and accepted by them; that in full payment of the contract made defendant in error had ample notice Even if instruments other than 'notes that the authority given by the board and mortgage' could rightfully have of directors to the president of the been asked for under the contract, yet corporation to execute papers and to it is plain they must necessarily have the secretary to affix the corporate seal been instruments which, when given, thereto, was, by the order of said extended to and covered the plant of board, expressly limited to such papers the [other corporation] and no more, as were necessary in order to carry the words 'upon all the plant offered' into effect the contract made, and being words of limitation. It can further, as has been already stated, hardly be successfully contended that there was no inherent power under an executory agreement to give vested in the president, virtute officii, 'notes and mortgage,' payment notes, to give a judgment note that would or notes with warrants of attorney at- bind the company. In the case of tached or incorporated, authorizing Hoyt v. Thompson, 5 N. Y. 320, it confessions of judgment, can be de- was held that a deed formally exemanded. The expression 'notes and cuted under the corporate seal, and mortgage' must be presumed to have bearing upon its face the presumption been understood by the contracting that it was executed by the competent parties in their usual, ordinary and authority from the corporation, was natural sense, and as indicating only void, and not the deed of the corporasimple promissory notes secured by a tion, because it was actually executed mortgage upon property. One condi- by the executive officers without aution, then, is that warrants of attorney thority, and known by the grantee to were not called for or included in have been so executed. The same rule either of the expressions used in the has application to the matter now in

Where a promissory note and warrant of attorney are executed in the name and under the scal of a corporation, it will be presumed that such instruments were properly executed by the authority of the corporation. The common seal of a corporation being affixed to an instrument, and the signatures of the proper officers being proved, the courts will presume that the officers did not exceed their authority; the seal itself is prima facic evidence that it was affixed by proper authority. Where a private corporation allows its managing officer to so conduct himself, in his dealings and transactions on behalf of the company, as to lead the public, or those dealing with him, to reasonably believe him as possessing certain powers, the company will not be allowed to question such apparent power or authority as against one relying in good faith on the same. If an act performed by an agent of the corporation would, under any circumstances, be within the authority delegated to the agent, a person dealing with him on the faith of his apparent powers, and without a notice of facts showing that the act was unauthorized, may hold the principal liable, whether the act was authorized or not. In giving a note and power of attorney to confess thereon by a corporation, with the president as security, all the papers were properly executed, except that the corporate name was not signed to the note. Afterwards the secretary of the company, by the direction of the president, put the name of the company to the note. Such action was held sufficient to cure the defective execution of the note, especially when the power of attorney in terms imposed on the corporation the duty to pay this note.1

(N. J. 1894) 28 Atl. Rep. 384. As to fess judgment for the corporation.

¹ McDonald v. Chisholm, (1890) 131 confession of judgment under a war-Ill. 273; s. c., 23 N. E. Rep. 596. rant signed by a director, the treasurer The power of a president of a corpora- and general manager of a corporation tion to confess judgment for it with- without authority of the board of diout authority from the directors, has rectors or an executive officer, see Jackbeen questioned in Jones v. Avery, 50 son v. Cartwright Lumber Co., 2 Pa. Mich. 326; s. c., 15 N. W. Rep. 494. Dist. Rep. 680. See, on confession of The power to confess judgment for judgment by officer, Adams v. Crossthe corporation has been held not be wood Prg. Co., 27 III. App. 313; in its treasurer. Stevens c. Carp Freeman c. Plaindealer Co., 9 Luz. River Iron Co., 57 Mich. 427; s. c., 24 Leg. Reg. 37; McMurray c. Oil Co., N. W. Rep. 160. As to the authority 38 Mo. 377. In Chamberlin v. Mamof a president of a corporation to con- moth Mining Co., (1854) 20 Mo. 96, it fess judgment against the corporation, was held that the president of a minsee Raub v. Blairstown Creamery Assn., ing corporation might appear and con-

§ 155. What raises a presumption of authority.— The common seal of a corporation being affixed to a deed, as an assignment for the benefit of creditors, and the deed being signed by the officers authorized by the charter to sign it or attest its contracts, raises the presumption that the instrument was executed by the authority of the corporation. Any one assailing it must show its invalidity. When the common seal of a corporation is affixed to an instrument in writing purporting to be executed by it, and the signatures of the proper officers of the corporation are affixed to it and proved, courts will presume that the officers did not exceed their authority, and the seal itself is prima facie evidence that it was affixed by proper authority.2 In the absence of the common seal of a corporation or of proof of facts from which the existence of a resolution of authorization, or of the authority itself may be inferred, the authority of the officers of a corporation to execute a conveyance can only be established by resolution of the managing board, entered in the proper book of the corporation.3

§ 156. Power of officers acting conjointly.—The government and direction of the affairs of a corporation being vested by statute in a board of not less than five, of which a majority "shall form a board and shall be competent to transact the business of the company," such majority, when assembled, though without notice to the others, possess all the powers of the board, as in this case, to authorize a sale of the stock of the corporation.4 There being no charter provision to the contrary, it will be prepresumptions are, we think, applicable authority will be presumed." to corporations. Persons acting pubacts done by the corporation which tion Co., 65 Cal. 502. presuppose the existence of other acts to make them legally operative are ciation v. Bustamente, (1877) 52 Cal. presumptive proofs of the latter." 192. Again, "if officers of the corporation

¹ Thorington v. Gould, (1877) 59 Ala. supposes a delegated authority for the 461. BRICKELL, Ch. J., said: In Bank purpose, and other corporate acts show of United States v. Dandridge, 12 that the corporation must have con-Wheat. 70, it is said, after referring to templated the legal existence of such the presumptions indulged for and authority, the acts of such officers will against natural persons: "The same be deemed rightful, and the delegated

² Southern California Colony Assolicly as officers of the corporation are ciation v. Bustamente, (1877) 52 Cal. to be presumed rightfully in office; 192; Bliss v. Kaweah Canal & Irriga-

³Southern California Colony Asso-

⁴ State ex rel. Page v. Smith, 48 Vt. openly exercise a power which pre- 266.

sumed that the president, secretary and treasurer of a corporation are authorized to make all necessary contracts in transacting the ordinary business of the corporation, within the legitimate scope, objects and purposes of its organization.1 The president and secretary of a corporation are proper officers to agree on its behalf upon an arbitration.2 There being in manufacturing and trading corporations a power to borrow money, as incident to their power to purchase stock and materials, and to give security by pledging the property so purchased, and as corporations can act only by their officers, the treasurer and general agent of a corporation unitedly have power to borrow money for the use of the corporation, give its negotiable note and pledge its personal property for the same, as well as to execute the necessary documents, notwithstanding the by-laws of such corporation give these officers specific powers not including such acts as are above referred to.8 A corporation may bind itself by a note and mortgage, made by its president and secretary and signed by them in their official capacity as such.4 The president and secretary of a manufacturing corporation, even if the powers of general managers be conceded them, though they may bind the corporation to any debt within the scope of its ordinary business, cannot bind it to assuming another and distinct corporation's debts, nor by a promissory note for the payment of such a third party's debt.5 The president and secretary of a corporation are presumed to

¹ Eureka Iron, etc., Works v. Bres- in Verzan v. McGregor, 23 Cal. 339. nahan, 60 Mich. 332; s. c., 27 N. W. 347. Rep. 524.

Company, (1858) 10 Cal. 441; approved fact for the jury.

⁵ Rahm v. King Wrought Iron Fitch v. Constantine Hydraulic Co., Bridge Manufactory of Topeka, (1876) 44 Mich. 74; s. c., 6 N. W. Rep. 91. 16 Kans. 277. In Stark Bank c. U. S.

*Fay v. Noble, (1853) 12 Cush. 1. Pottery Company, (1861) 34 Vt. 144, In Leonard v. Burlington Mutual Loan is was held that the assuming of a debt Association, (1881) 55 Iowa, 594; s. c., of a third person was not within the 8 N. W. Rep. 403, the corporation was ordinary power of the treasurer of a held liable for money had and received corporation, it not being in the usual on account of sums advanced to its course of business, and to bind the corsecretary and manager and by him poration, it would be necessary to show paid into its treasury, notwithstanding some special authority granted him to this officer was at the time a defaulter do so. Further, that the directors of and not authorized to borrow money the corporation had no power to assume such a debt except in case of urgent 4 Rowe v. Table Mountain Water necessity, which was a question of have authority to execute a promissory note in the name of the corporation, and the holder of such a note will not be affected by the fact that such authority did not exist, unless he is shown to have had notice thereof.1

8 157. An illustration on this subject.— The Florida Supreme Court has held that the assignment of a note payable to the order of a corporation, and the mortgage given to secure its payment by the president and secretary of the corporation, was, upon its face, the act of the corporation through their officers, and not their individual acts.2

¹ American Exchange Nat. Bank r, the secretary, to assign it could only be corporation was held to be valid.

corporate name, and is indorsed by an disclosed on the paper as the payee. and who, therefore, is the only person Daniel on Negotiable Instruments, Frye v. Tucker, 24 Ill. 180.

Oregon Pottery Co., (1892) 55 Fed. questioned by plea. See, also, Good-Rep. 265. Sec. also, Merchants' Bank rich v. Reynolds, Wilder & Co., 31 v. State Bank, 10 Wall. 644; Crowley Ill. 491. Northampton Bank v. Pepoon, v. Mining Co., 55 Cal. 273. In Fur- 11 Mass. 288, decides the same where niss r. Gilchrist, 1 Sandf. 53, the trans- the indorsement was in blank, by an fer of a note transferable by delivery authorized attorney signing his name by the president and secretary of a and styling himself attorney. Folger v. Chase, 18 Pick. 68, was a case where ² Lay v. Austin, (1889) 25 Fla 933; a note was indorsed by the payee to a s. c., 7 So. Rep. 143. The court de-bank, and its cashier indersed it as clared the following rules established follows: 'P. H. Folger, Cashier,' and by the authorities which governed it was objected that the latter indorsethem in their conclusions: "Where a ment was not made in the name of the note is payable to a corporation by its corporation; but, said the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, we think the authorized agent or official with the indorsement by the cashier, in his ofaffix of his official position, it will be ficial capacity, sufficiently shows that regarded that he acts for his principal the indorsement was made in behalf of the bank, and if that is not sufficient the plaintiffs have the right now to competent to transfer the legal title, prefix the name of the corporation. Nicholas v. Oliver, 36 N. H. 218, de-§ 416; Randolph on Commercial Pa-cides that the indorsement, W. Earle, per, § 145. An indersement by an of- A. Secy., made on a promissory note ficer of a corporation is prima facie the payable to an insurance company, is act of the company. Randolph, § 368; to be considered the indorsement of In the company, if nothing further ap-McIntire v. Preston, 5 Gilman, 48, pear to indicate that it is intended as a note payable to a corporation was the indorsement of some other party. assigned thus: 'Without recourse. In Russell v. Folsom, 72 Me. 486, the Joel Scott, Secy., and it was held indorsement by the treasurer of the that when properly filled out, as the payee corporation signing his name plaintiff might do on the trial, it was and an abbreviation of his office was sufficient to pass the legal title to the held to transfer the legal title, and in note, and that the authority of Scott, Farrar v. Gilman, 19 Me. 440, the in-

§ 158. Another illustration — one holding several offices. -The by-laws of a Michigan manufacturing corporation provided that one person might hold the offices of president, treasurer and general superintendent, and vested in the president the general supervision of the property and affairs of the corporation, and in the treasurer the custody of its funds and valuable papers, with power to collect and pay out all moneys and sign all acceptances and notes in its behalf, while the superintendent was given general supervision and management of its affairs, subject to the president and board of directors, with power to make all contracts in its behalf, except when otherwise provided by the by-laws. The same person held the three offices for five years, and managed and controlled the affairs of the corporation, if not without advice, certainly without objection, on the part of the stockholders or directors. He finally assigned to a bank to secure existing indebtedness and that which should be thereafter incurred, one hundred and fifty thousand dollars of good and collectible accounts. then existing or thereafter acquired, to be held by the bank as collateral security for existing and future indebtedness of the corporation. The corporation afterwards making an assignment for the benefit of its creditors, the bank filed a bill to enforce the agreement. The Supreme Court of Michigan held that the agreement was one which the president, treasurer and superintendent had the power to make and that it was enforceable in equity.1

Bank v. Clements, 31 N. Y. 33."

z. George T. Smith Middlings Purifier Co., (1890) 84 Mich. 364; s. c., 47 N. W. Rep. 502. Champlin, Ch. J., dis contract was too uncertain and indefinite to be specifically enforced. Argu- was conferred. Bank r. Comegys, 12 of the three positions, it was said by to make the security in question is not dorsement by the cashier of the bank nation to the board, yet when, as in was adjudged to be prima facie evi- this case, the stockholders, being the dence of a legal transfer of a negotiable owners, have seen fit to vest certain note. See, also, Chase r. Hathorn, 61 extraordinary powers of management Mc. 505; Dunn r. Weston, 71 Me. 270; in the president, and certain other pow-Elwell v. Dodge, 33 Barb. 336; Marine ers in the treasurer and superintendent, and the directors, with full knowledge 1 Preston National Bank of Detroit of this, elect a man to till all those offices, and thereafter put no restraint upon his management, the board must he held to have consented to his exersented solely upon the ground that the cising all the power reasonably included in the language by which it endo, as to the authority of this holder Ala. 772. The right of the directors CAHILL, J., for the court: "Conced- disputed, yet their authority is given ing that the president must exercise in language no broader than that which his powers of management in subordi- defines the duties of the president. If § 150. Note executed by a secretary.— In an action against a corporation on a promissory note, signed by one whom the evidence tended to show was the secretary of the corporation and impressed with a stamp which appeared to have been used as the

it he said that the stockholders could sition to or in restraint of a course of not thus usurp the powers of the board business they have themselves perand confer them on the president it mitted, if not established. It is an ordimay be said that the right of the di- nary occurrence for manufacturing or rectors to delegate certain of their trading concerns, whose products powers of management to the officers have sometimes to be carried to await is undoubted, and if the consent of the a favorable market, to draw against board was needed to fully invest the such products for the money needed president with the power given to him to carry them; and, if requested, some in the by-laws that consent has been form of security upon such products given in this case. The question of is given. If this be permissible shall [the president's] power is largely one the right to give security exist only so of intention on the part of the stock- long as the goods are in stock, or may holders and directors. As bearing they be sold on credit and the accounts upon this question of intention, the due for such sales be substituted with fact that no corporate meetings were the consent of the creditor? If not, held for five years after the by-laws then trade is hampered, the debtor is were adopted is an important circum- put into the hands of the creditor, and stance. It is claimed that the neglect the latter cannot release him if he to hold corporate meetings can have would without risk. The right of Mr. no bearing on this case, because it is Smith, as president and treasurer, to not shown that complainant knew of borrow money for the legitimate needs this fact or was influenced by it, and of the business and to give the comwe are referred to the case of New pany's paper is not contested. The York Iron Mine v. Negaunee Bank, 39 duty to pay is involved in the power Mich, at page 655, where some lan- to incur debts. In the case of this corguage of Mr. Justice Cooley to that poration its power to pay its debts deeffect is found. In that case the only pended on the profitable sale of its question was whether the bank had products and the collection of the been influenced to rely upon Wet- money due on such sales. If it could more's apparent authority, which did not otherwise dispose of its products not in fact exist, to make the paper in it could turn them out to its creditors question. The question is different in payment of, or as security for, such here. It is not one of apparent power debts. If its goods were sold on credit, to do an act conceded to be fraudulent these credits stood as the representaand void unless the corporation was es- tives of the goods, and the same use topped by its conduct to allege the could legitimately be made of them. fraud, but it is a question of actual This is not like giving security upon power in Mr. Smith, as the president, all the corporate property, the enforcetreasurer and manager of this corpora- ment of which may involve the corpotion, to perform an act entirely legal rate existence. The giving of the seand proper if authorized. The inten- curity or its enforcement did not nection to confer such power may be evi- essarily interfere with the prosecution denced by their failure to act in oppo- of the corporate business. It was given seal of the company, there being evidence that the plaintiff had advanced to the corporation the amount for which the note was given, the Supreme Court of New York, in General Term, held that a finding that the corporation had executed the note in consideration of money loaned to it would not be disturbed.1

§ 160. Power of superintendents, etc.—A corporation will be bound by a contract made by its superintendent and manager

Mich. 606; Joy v. Plank Road Co., 11 the president, as contracts Bank v. Michigan Barge Co., 52 Mich. Bank v. Bank, 48 N. J. L. 527; s. c., 7 Atl. Rep. 818; Fay v. Noble, 12 Cush. 1, as to the powers of agents of corpo-"They are not altogether free from conflict, although if the exact point necessary to be decided in each case be kept in mind, and the language used be given no broader meaning than the facts of the particular case require, the conflict will be found more apparent than real."

for the court, said: "To obtain money incorporated partnership."

upon property and credits already de- in this manner, to meet its financial voted in equity and good conscience necessities, was strictly within its to the payment of its creditors, of authority as a corporation, and it was whom the bank was one. The effect equally within its power, after having of it was simply to give complainant obtained it, to execute and deliver the priority of lien." The court referred note which was the subject of the to the following cases to which it was action for payment of the amount. It cited, to wit: Kimball r. Cleveland, 4 is true that it was not subscribed by Mich. 155; Peninsular Bank v. Han- authorized to be made by article 7 of mer, 14 Mich. 208; Adams Mining Co. the by-laws; but while the president v. Senter, 26 Mich. 73; New York did not subscribe the note, his conduct Iron Mine v. Negaunee Bank, 39 Mich. authenticating its subscription, in the 644; Star Line v. Van Vliet, 48 Mich. name of the company, was equal to 364; New York Iron Mine v. Citizens' what was in this manner provided for, Bank, 44 Mich. 357; Eureka Iron & inasmuch as he directed the note to be Steel Works v. Bresnahan, 60 Mich. made by the secretary. These per-332; Dwight v. Lumber Co., 67 Mich. sons were vested with the apparent 507; Delta Lumber Co. v. Williams, authority for conducting and carrying 73 Mich. 86; Genesee Co. Savings on the business of the company, And even though they may have omitted 438; Kendall v. Bishop, 76 Mich, 634; literally to comply with the by-laws, Stokes v. Pottery Co., 46 N. J. L. 237; as to the form of the contract for the payment of the money, the company itself cannot be shielded from liability on account of that omission of its conrations in such matters. They said: trolling officers. The case in all its features differs from that of Bank r. Church, 39 Hun, 498, where the note was neither sanctioned by the corporation, nor given by the officers conjointly required to act in the transaction of its business. The present note was the act of the officers. conjointly, of a business corporation ¹ Jansen v. Otto Steitz New York empowered to borrow money and pro-Glass Letter Co., (1888) 40 Hun, 606; vide for its payment, substantially the s. c., 1 N. Y. Supp. 605. DANIELS, J., same as that might be done by an un-relating to the ordinary concerns of its business. It may be shown by the testimony of any one who knows the fact that one is the general manager of a corporation.² A corporation which has authorized its agents to sign "all notes and business paper," will be liable on accommodation notes given by him in the name of the corporation to a bona fide holder, taking them in good faith, for value before maturity, notwithstanding any want of authority of the agent to execute them for the purposes for which they were given.3 The business manager of a manufacturing corporation cannot be assumed, as a matter of law, to have implied authority to agree, in behalf of the corporation, to pay for medical attendance, however small the sum, on one whom he has reasonable ground to believe to have been injured by the fault of the corporation. An engineer employed by a railroad corpora-

635; s. c., 38 N. W. Rep. 606.

1 N. Y. St. Repr. 299, the evidence fairs, its managing officer. that the agent of a corporation signing a promissory note as "manager," Citing Farmers' Bank of Bucks County v. McKec, 2 Pa. St. 318.

494.

road, see Fitzgerald & Mallory Con- r. Renshaw, 49 Ill. 425.

¹ Whitaker v. Kilroy, (1888) 70 Mich. struction Co. v. Fitzgerald, (1890) 187 U. S. 98; s. c , 11 Sup. Ct. Rep. 36. ² Corning v. Walker, 14 N. Y. Wkly. Cases as to the power of a president Dig. 314. In Negley v. Counting of a corporation growing out of his Room Company, (City Ct. N. Y. 1886) being, in the management of its af-Joshua Hendy Machine Works, 86 Cal. 390; s. c., 25 Pac. Rep. 14; Lan-"had mostly the entire charge of the caster County v. Cheraw & C. R. R. business," has been held sufficient to Co., 28 S. C. 134; s. c., 5 S. E. Rep. show that his act in executing the 338, Kenton Insurance Co. v. Bownote was within the scope of the gen-man, 84 Ky, 430; s. c., 1 S. W. Rep. cial powers conferred upon him, and 717, Marlatt v. Levee Steam Cotton incidental to, and necessary for, the Press Co., 10 La. 583; s. c., 29 Am. conduct of the corporation's business. Dec. 468; Topeka Primary Assn. r. Martin, 39 Kans. 750; s. c., 18 Pac. Ren. 941; Bambrick v. Campbell, 37 ⁸Bird v. Daggett, (1867) 97 Mass. Mo. App. 460, Grafius v. Land Company, 3 Phil. 447; Ceeder v. H. M. ⁴Swazey v. Union Manufacturing Loud & Sons Lumber Co., 86 Mich. Co., 42 Conn. 559. As to the power 541; s. c, 49 N. W. Rep. 575; 24 of an officer of a corporation author- Am. St. Rep. 134; Chicago, etc., R. ized to draw checks and drafts, and R. Co. v. Coleman, 18 Ill. 297; s. c., charged with the general management 68 Am. Dec. 544; Steamboat Company of the business of the corporation, in v. McCutcheon, 13 Pa. St. 13; Smith the absence of contrary instructions v. Smith, 62 III. 493; Richmond, etc., by the board of directors to bind the R. R. Co. v. Snead, 19 Gratt, 354; s. corporation by notes given for moneys c., 100 Am. Dec. 670; Dougherty v. used to pay off indebtedness of the Hunter, 54 Pa. St. 880; Moser v. corporation, which was a railroad cor- Kreigh, 49 Ill. 86; Chicago, etc., R. poration, in the construction of its R. Co. r. Boone Co., 44 Ill. 247; Voris tion, by virtue of his position, has no power to bind the corporation by his contracts.1 To bind the corporation special authority to the engineer must be shown.2 The secretary of a corporation has no authority to give a memorandum of indebtedness of the corporation, and such a memorandum would not be negotiable.3 The unauthorized execution of a promissory note by the secretary of a corporation for money borrowed, may be ratified by the board of directors of the corporation authorized by its by-laws to borrow money and execute securities therefor, and the corporation be bound by such ratification.1 It is in the power of the supervising agent of a corporation, made by its charter its executive officer, having the care and management of its business under the direction of the general board of directors, to accept a draft for the corporation where there is no restriction upon the general nowers conferred upon him.5

§ 161. A manager's power.—In a case where one as manager of a corporation, to which position he had been duly appointed, negotiated a loan with another, and gave the latter his note for the amount payable to the order of the corporation. which note was indorsed by him as such manager, and as collateral security for its payment he delivered with the note mortgage bonds of the corporation, the New York Court of Appeals said the evidence "was sufficient to permit the court to submit, as it did to the jury, the question whether the debt, to recover which this action was brought, was that of the company." The court below was requested to charge that before a verdict could be found for the plaintiff the jury must be satisfied by affirmative proof that the manager was authorized to indorse the name of the company on the note by prior resolution of the executive committee or by the board of directors or by ratification, by resolution or some equivalent act of such committee or bond. The court held that there was no error in the charge, which substantially was that the jury, to reach such result, must find either

⁵ Hascall v. Life Association of America, 5 Hun, 151. As to the power of a superintendent of a corpo-² Sears v. Trustees Illinois Wesleyan ration operating in a foreign country, see Rathbun v. Snow, (1890) 128 N. Y.

¹ Gardner r. B. & M. R. R. Co., 70 Me. 181.

⁹ Ibid.

University, (1862) 28 III, 183.

⁴ Nebraska & K. Farm Loan Co. v. 343. Bell, 58 Fed. Rep. 326; s. c., 7 C. C. A. 253.

prior authority or subsequent ratification, and that it could be evidenced by general course of business as well as by resolution.1

8 162. Manager of a foreign incorporation.—Certain notes were signed by the president of a construction company, an Iowa corporation, and certain others by an auditor of the corporation, payable to the order of certain banks, and indorsed by one who was appointed a manager for the construction company in its work of constructing railways in Nebraska. Upon these notes the latter realized money through the banks and used it in payment of hills of the construction company for labor, etc., on their work of construction. When the notes became due this manager in Nebraska arranged or paid off the notes as indorser, and they were assigned over to him. He brought action upon them against the company in the Nebraska courts, and the foreign corporation defendant had the cases removed to the federal courts. When the case came before the Supreme Court of the United States, in the opinion rendered, Fuller, Ch. J., for the court, said of the evidence, that it "tended to show that Mallory [the president of the construction company] was authorized to build the line of [several railroad companies], being a distance in the aggregate of about six hundred miles of railroad, and which cost some seven millions of dollars; that he had full charge of the location and construction of the road; that he was authorized to draw checks and drafts, and all these notes and drafts were made, accepted or authorized by him; that the directors not only did not give contrary instructions in the first instance, but knew of the giving of the notes and drafts, and did not disaffirm the action of the president, and that the proceeds were used for the payment of construction liabilities of the company in every instance, either directly or in taking up paper, the proceeds of which had been so used." The argument before the court was of the club, acting under a resolution house committee.

¹ Huntington v. Attrill, (1890) 118 of the board of management, con-N. Y. 865; s. c., 28 N. E. Rep. 544. tracted to lease the club house to In Deller v. Staten Island Athletic plaintiff, who agreed to maintain a Club, (1890) 56 Hun, 647; s. c., 9 N. restaurant for the exclusive use of the Y. Supp. 876, it was held that where members and their guests, subject to the board of management of a corpo- the approval of the house committee, ration like defendant was authorized plaintiff might recover for refreshby the by-laws to make necessary con-ments furnished to guests of the club tracts and regulations, and the officers at the request of members of the that there could be no recovery on the notes and drafts in question, because it was said they were made by the president or auditor of the company without the knowledge or consent of the board of directors; and, further, that the notes in the first two causes of action named were paid by the plaintiff when he was under no obligation to pay, and then and in that respect was a mere volunteer. The Supreme Court of the United States held that the instructions to the jury in this case were justified by the evidence.1

¹ Fitzgerald & Mallory Construction certain instructions which limited his Co. v. Fitzgerald, (1890) 137 U. S. 98; authority in the premises." The court s. c., 11 Sup. Ct. Rep. 36. The also instructed the jury: "As to the instructions of the United States Cir- promissory notes which were indorsed cuit Court in this case to the jury by the plaintiff, and upon which he were as follows: "That if they found was held as indorsee, if the jury found from the evidence that the presi- from the evidence that said notes were dent was given entire management in executed in good faith for the presibuilding the railroad, and in the in-dent of the construction company, and curring of liabilities and paying of that the proceeds, or the proceeds of debts incurred therein, he might ap- the notes and drafts of which the notes point other agents, such as a cashier in question were renewals, were reand auditor, for the purpose of making coived by and used for the benefit of the calculations on pay-rolls and on the construction company, and you contracts for building the road, and further find that the plaintiff is not the might empower any one of such holder and owner of said notes, you agents who made such calculations will find for the plaintiff in the full upon the pay-rolls of the amount due sum of the notes, with interest" And to those who did the work by contract further: "And although there may be or otherwise, to draw any checks or a provision in the by-laws of said conbills or sight drafts necessary to pay struction company requiring certain the same, and 'if it becomes necessary formalities in the execution of a promfor the benefit of said company to exe- issory note or draft, yet that does not cute promissory notes or to draw sight necessarily make such formalities esdrafts, the said president would have sential to the ratification of the conample authority to do the same, and tract; but if you find from this evimight likewise empower the cashier, dence that said notes were given for or the party whose duty it was to the purpose of paying off debts that ascertain the amounts due to contract- were due by said construction comors, materialmen and persons working pany, and that the directors of said upon the construction or building of construction company had full knowlsaid railroad by the construction com- edge of the same and assented to this pany, to draw drafts or checks, or transaction, to the signing and execueven make promissory notes, and that tion of the notes, you will find that the same, if done for the company or said acts of the president have been for its use and benefit, would be bind- fully confirmed, and you will find for ing upon the said company, unless the the plaintiff the full amount of said president received from the directors notes, with interest, provided you find

§ 163. Authority of a manager.—One, a physician, managing a medicine company, a corporation organized under the laws of New Jersey, who had been intrusted with the management so far as the collection of debts due to it and payment of debts due by it, had placed in a bank for collection certain checks payable to the order of the corporation, indorsed in the name of the corporation by himself. The total amount of the collections were paid to him by the bank, and it appeared that a part of the sum he failed to pay over to the corporation or on its account. The corporation brought action against the bank for this balance, denying the authority of this person to indorse, etc., the paper they objected to it. prosecution of which the indebtedness poration."

the plaintiff was the owner of the arose, would not change the binding same, and is now the lawful holder of character of the obligation. Twin-Lick them." It was said by the Supreme Oil Co. v. Marbury, 91 U. S. 587; Court on the merits of the case: "If the Gardner v. Butler, 30 N. J. Eq. 702, moneys were used to pay off indebted, 721; Harts v. Brown, 77 III. 226; ness of the company arising in the con- Again, there was evidence to the effect struction of the road, and for work done that [the plaintiff] indorsed the notes under proper authority, the transac- at the request of the president. Inastions were in pursuance of the author- much as the defendant was answerable ized purposes of the corporation, and for the indebtedness which the money occurred in its legitimate business, received upon the notes went to pay, The execution of the paper could not if in order to obtain that money [the be held to be in excess of the powers plaintiff was called on to indorse the given, and it was clearly the duty of notes, and compelled to protect his inthe directors to give contrary instruc- dorsement, he could not be treated as tions if they wished to withdraw the a volunteer. There would be no elegeneral management from its presi- ment in such a transaction of the voldent, and to disaffirm the action of untary payment by one of another's their agents promptly and at will, if debt. So, if [the plaintiff] was the Indianapolis manager of the work under the presi-Rolling Mill v. St. Louis, etc., R. R. dent, and the money was used to pay Co., 120 U.S. 256; Cresswell r. Lana- off the sub-contractor, materialmen han, 101 U. S. 347. The company and hands, then, upon the refusal of was liable upon the original indebted- the company to repay, [the plaintiff] ness, and its change of form in order had the right to take up the notes and to relieve the pressure of the creditors have them assigned to him; and was by the direction, with the partici- whether he was the owner and holder pation, and the request of, the presi- of the notes was left to the determinadent. We perceive no want of power tion of the jury. By the first section and no omission of essential formali- of the by-laws, the officers of the comties in what was done. Another mere pany were declared to be 'a' president, fact that [the plaintiff] was a stock- vice-president, secretary and treasurer, holder in and a promoter and director and such other officers as may be of the company, and, with the presi- deemed necessary to carry out the dent, the manager of the work in the object of the articles of this incorbelonging to the company, and claiming that such authority was only in its treasurer. The trial court refused the request of the bank on the trial to instruct "that if the jury shall find that by the consent of the [corporation this person] had conducted the plaintiff's business, had paid bills, sold goods, received and paid out moneys for the [corporation], and was in fact ostensibly in charge of the business, then [he] had apparent authority to indorse the drafts in question and receive the money in question, and it was immaterial whether or not he had actual authority." The Supreme Court of New York, in General Term, held that this refusal to instruct, as requested, was error, for, said they: "Corporations can act only through their officers and agents, and, if a person has been instructed by the officers to carry on the business, the acts of that person must be deemed to be binding upon the corporation in all cases where the parties dealing with him have not notice or knowledge of his want of actual authority."1

Bank of Rochester, (1891) 59 Hun, 561; the election of directors, vote when s. c., 14 N. Y. Supp. 16. But the absent by giving a written proxy to court considered another point a more some other person. This is also true radical reason for reversing this judg- of the statutes of New Jersey, put in ment, to wit: It appeared that the evidence, but there is no law in New treasurer had been given a proxy by Jersey that permits a director to vote the other stockholders to represent by proxy at board meetings. The genthem in the meeting to be held in New eral rule there, as in this state, and Jersey to organize the corporation and universally, is that it requires a quoto vote for them. This he did, organ- rum of directors or managers as trusizing the company, electing himself tees of a corporation to transact busiand the persons he represented as a ness, and that, in the absence of a board of directors, he only being pres- statute making a different number ent, and afterwards, in a meeting of such quorum, a majority of the whole its board of directors represented by board is required. The principal himself alone, elected officers, includ-claim, therefore, made by the plaintiff, ing himself as treasurer. It was said that it had a legally elected treasas to the law applicable to this state of urer, who alone could transact busi facts: "We know of no principle ap-ness of the corporation of this characplicable to the discharge of corporate ter, cannot be maintained. The proxy functions, by which directors or trus- or power of attorney, put in evidence, tees of the corporation can vote at the did not give (its holder) the right to meeting of the board of directors or vote in the name of the directors who trustees by proxy. Under the act of should be chosen at the stockholders' this state (Chapter 40, Laws of 1848) meeting, and if it had, it would have for the organization of companies for been utterly void. It was not known, manufacturing, mining, mechanical or indeed, who the directors would be.

¹ Craig Medicine Co. r. Merchants' at the meeting of the stockholders for chemical purposes, stockholders may, Under the power of attorney [he] had

$ 164. What is not within the duties of a cashier of a corporation.— The Michigan Supreme Court has declared in a case before it that compromising claims, settling unliquidated damages, and releasing debts due to the corporation, are acts which do not come within the ordinary duties of a cashier, bookkeeper, or corresponding clerk.1

of a legally authorized treasurer, any to be the usual conduct of the business, ex-debtor. ing of commercial paper."

the right to elect other persons than their duties, yet no testimony in the those whom he did in fact designate as case was introduced to show what the directors. In the absence, therefore, duties of the cashier were defined In banking institutions the person in the position of [the person authority of a cashier has become here | who had general management of pretty well defined by common usage. the business, or any director, as [the He is considered the executive officer one who signed for him] is shown to through whom and by whom the be, had the power to indorse the cor- whole moneyed operations of the bank poration's name for the purpose of in paying or receiving debts, or discollecting commercial paper made pay- charging or transferring securities, are able to its order. The [bank], having to be conducted. Ang. & A. Corp. acted in perfect good faith, has turned § 299. But his authority does not exits collections over to the proper per- tend so far as to justify him in alter son representing the corporation, ing the nature of the debt, or chang-There being no treasurer by election ing the relation of the bank from that of the directors, and none in fact by of a creditor to that of an agent of its And an agreement by the cept the person acting for the [corpo- president and cashier of a bank, that ration] in this instance, it follows that an indorser shall not be liable on his the manager or any director of the cor- indorsements, is not binding on the poration could, in the absence of a bank. Bank r. Dunn, 6 Pet. 51; Bank positive statute, sign the corporation v. Jones, 8 Pet. 16. In the absence of name for the purposes of the collect- anything in the charter or by-laws of the corporation known as the 'Delta Delta Lumber Co. v. Williams, Lumber Company' defining the duties (1888) 78 Mich. 86; s. c., 40 N. W. of the cashier of such corporation, and Rep. 940. Argueudo, the court said: in the absence of any showing as to "The statute authorizing the forma- the usage of this company, or of tion of corporations for manufacturing manufacturing corporations in this purposes enacts that the stock, prop- state, by which the duties of a cashier erty, affairs and business of every may be inferred, we cannot ascribe to such corporation shall be managed by him greater powers as an agent of the its board of directors. The board corporation than would pertain to the shall choose one of their number to be agent of a banking corporation. He president, one to be vice-president, may be considered the executive officer and also a secretary and treasurer. of the financial operations of the cor-The office of cashier is not one that is poration; and whether he would, in named in the act, and although such an emergency, be considered as authorcorporations are authorized to elect, in ized to sell and convert the personal such manner as they may determine, property of the corporation into all necessary officers, and to prescribe money to meet its obligations, need

§ 165. Auditing board of a corporation.—In the absence of any proof of authority conferred upon an auditing board of a manufacturing corporation of New York, beyond the usual functions of such a board to allow or reject claims, such an auditing board, it has been held, had no authority to rescind a contract which it was claimed in the action against the corporation had been made with a licensor by its president representing the corporation, the licensee of a patented article used in its business, or determine the future action of the corporation, but that such authority was in the trustees of the corporation.1

§ 166. Power of a treasurer generally.—Title will pass by a sale made by the treasurer of a corporation, without special authority, where he has been in the habit of transacting such business with the knowledge and sanction of the managing board of the corporation.2 The authority of a treasurer of a corporation to bind it by the acceptance of a draft, may be inferred from the knowledge and acquiescence of the directors.3 An attorney may be employed by the treasurer of a corporation without any special authorization of the board of directors.4 A treasurer of a corporation must have special authority, it not being within the general power and province of such officer, to issue written admissions, which would bind the corporation, of the amount due upon a disputed claim for salary of other agents of similar grade; the power to fix such amounts belongs regularly to the board of directors.5 The treasurer of a manufacturing corporation has no authority to release a claim for a loss under a policy of insurance obtained by him in behalf of the corporation.6 A treasurer of a corporation is not authorized to pay a claim of his own against the corporation where it has not been approved and its payment that he would have no authority, as N. Y. 217. such cashier or general financial agent, to give away the property of the cor- 271. poration or change its relation with its debtor by releasing a debt due to it, without express authorization. Bank v. Dunn, 6 Pet, 51; Kirk v. Bell, 12 Eng. Law & Eq. 389; Hoyt v. Thomp- Co. v. McAlister, 36 Mich. 327. son, 5 N. Y. 320."

not now be determined, as certain it is ling & Reaping Machine Co., (1993) 140

² Phillips v. Campbell, 43 N. Y.

³ Partridge v. Badger, 25 Barb. 146. 4 Turner r. Chillicothe & Des Moines R. R. Co., (1873) 51 Mo. 501.

⁵ Kalamazoo Novelty Manufacturing

⁶ E. Carver Co. v. Manufacturers' ¹ Skinner v. Walter A. Wood Mow- Insurance Co., (1856) 6 Gray, 214.

authorized by the corporation.1 On a debt being paid to the treasurer of a corporation he has no power to assign the security without direction from the board of directors.2 A vote of the directors of a corporation authorizing its treasurer to hire money on such terms and conditions as he may think most conducive to the interests of the corporation to meet certain of the acceptances by him of the drafts of the corporation upon him, carries with it authority to indorse drafts drawn by himself to accomplish the object. Mere lapse of time will not destroy the official character of the last secretary of a corporation so as to prevent his releasing a mortgage given to the corporation.4 In a case where the authority of a treasurer of a corporation to sell material or products of the same was questioned, and one of the by-laws of the corporation was put in evidence providing that the treasurer "should discharge the duties usually and customarily pertaining to" this officer and other testimony that witness was familiar with the duties of cordage and other manufacturing corporations at the place where the contract was executed and where this particular corporation was located, and that they were accustomed to buy and sell merchandise and to sign and accept contracts such as was made in this case, it was held by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals that the authority of the treasurer to bind the corporation by this contract was one for the jury.5

§ 167. Power of a treasurer as to transfer of a note.—In the absence of evidence of authority, the title to a note will not pass by the indorsement of the treasurer of a corporation in his official capacity.6 A treasurer of a corporation being intrusted by it to take notes, an indorsement by him will bind the corpora-

¹ Peterborough Railroad c. Wood, 61 a statue to be used as an advertise-N. H. 418.

⁸ Belknap v. Davis, 19 Me. 455.

brother, the president of the company, (1893) 112 N. C. 751. nearly the entire capital, had power to 6 Knight v. Lang, 4 E. D. Smith. bind the corporation by a contract for 381; s. c., 2 Abb. Pr. 227.

ment of its business; that the concur-² Ballou v. Campbell, 5 Wend. 572. rence in such case of the whole or of the majority of the board of directors 4 Kimball v. Goodburn, 32 Mich. 10. was not essential. As to the power of ⁵ National Cordage Co. v. Pearson a treasurer of a corporation, see Colum Cordage Co., 55 Fed. Rep. 812; s. c., bia Bank v. Gospel Tabernacle Church, 5 C. C. A. 276. In Ellis v. Howe (1889) 57 N. Y. Super. Ct. 149. As to Machine Co., 9 Daly, 78, it was the power of a treasurer of a lumber, held that the treasurer of the sewing ranch and mining company, see Rummachine company, owning with his bough v. Southern Improvement Co., tion, his authority to indorse them being implied from his being treasurer and being intrusted with the securities, and that they are made payable to the treasurer, or to him as treasurer. In case the directors of a corporation by vote authorize its treasurer to indorse notes of the corporation to a third person, or such treasurer be suffered to draw and accept drafts, to indorse notes payable to the corporation, and to do other similar acts whereby he is held out to the public as having the general authority implied from his official name and character, an indorsement of a note made in pursuance of such express or implied authority would pass a valid title to the indorsee.2

§ 168. Power of a treasurer as to execution of a note.— A treasurer of a corporation may be given authority by a corporation by parol to execute a promissory note in its name. Where a treasurer of a corporation has been authorized to give the note of a corporation in payment of a corporate debt, he may do so after the lapse of several years, provided the debt is not barred by the Statute of Limitations.4 The authority to execute a note of a corporation in an officer of the same may exist under a by-law of the corporation, or be based upon its custom in such matters. If its custom is to permit its treasurer to execute its promissory notes, the corporation will be bound by a note executed by such treasurer, especially where it receives the benefit of the money loaned upon the notes.⁵ The board of directors of a is that the authority is not presumed Lester v. Webb, (1861) 1 Allen, 31. from the mere fact that the person as-3 Odd Fellows v. First National Bank sumed the right to give a note in the of Sturgis, 42 Mich. 461; s. c., 4 N. name of the corporation. A corporation is an artificial person, which must ⁴ Hayward v. Pilgrim Society, (1838) act within certain limits. It differs from a natural person. If an individ-Foster v. Ohio-Colorado Reduction ual gives his note, it is not necessary to prove anything in the way of authority, but a corporation must act by jury in these words: "Upon the first way of agents, and the authority of question, as to whether this is the note the agent who acts for it is not preof the defendant corporation, that is sumed. It may, however, be shown, to be determined upon the question either by showing an express authority, whether the person who executed the as, for example, a resolution of the note on behalf of the corporation, board of trustees authorizing a certain * * * the treasurer of the company, party to execute a note on behalf of was authorized to execute such an in- the corporation, or by a provision of strument. The law upon this subject the constitution or by-laws of the cor-

¹ Perkins v. Bradley, 24 Vt. 66.

W. Rep. 158.

²¹ Pick, 270.

[&]amp; Mining Co., (1883) 17 Fed. Rep. 130. McCrary, J., in this case charged the construction company authorized the officers of the company to execute a note for nine thousand dollars and a chattel mortgage upon the rolling stock of the company to secure the payment of the same. The officers executed the note and mortgage and stipulated therein for attorney's fees in case of suit for the collection of the same. In a suit to foreclose the mortgage, a District Court of Iowa refused to allow attorney's fees. Upon an appeal, the Supreme Court said as to this matter: "This was an explicit direction to execute a note for nine thousand dollars and interest. The company did not, by any official action. and no more. authorize the execution of a note in any amount exceeding said sum in any event. We think the court correctly held that the measure of liability was nine thousand dollars and interest." 1 is not within the ordinary powers of the treasurer of a corporation, acting as its financial agent, to give the note of the corporation for the debt of a third person; neither is it within the ordinary powers of the directors of a corporation, unless there is an urgent necessity to do so to subserve the interests of the corporation.2

§ 169. Authority of a treasurer to borrow money by means of sterling contracts.—In a federal court case the action was assumpsit for breach of contract by a railroad company in not placing in the hands of the drawers of a foreign bill of exchange money to meet it when matured. The company's is not claimed that there is anything enter into." of this kind here. It may also be urer to execute its promissory notes, and if he was in the habit of doing so, with the knowledge of the trustees, or of the corporation - which means, of course, the trustees - they had, by recognizing that custom and acting Vt. 144. upon it, themselves become bound by poration authorizing a certain officer it, and, especially, if they received the to execute promissory notes. It might benefits of transactions of this sort, be shown in that way, but I believe it which they permitted the treasurer to treasurer had borrowed money by the purchase of a foreign bill of exchange and entered into the contract signing the name of the corporation by himself "Treasurer." The question in the case was whether he had authority to bind the corporation in this The insistment of the plaintiff was that such authority was to be found in the by-laws of the corporation. Colf. J. in his opinion, recites the by-law's provision that the treasurer "shall collect and receive all assessments, incomes and moneys that may be due to the corporation, and disburse the same as the board of directors may order; he shall surrender notes and other promissory papers on payment thereof, and discharge such mortgages as may have been given securing the same; he shall keep a regular set of books, containing the accounts of the corporation, and of all its funds that may pass through his hands; and shall lay before the directors monthly a written statement of all notes. drafts, promises, contracts made, signed, indorsed or surrendered by him, an abstract of all moneys received and paid by him, and a statement of all property bought or sold, and of such other matters as the directors may deem important." He then said: "The fact that this by-law directs the treasurer to lay before the directors monthly a written statement of all notes, drafts, promises and contracts signed or indorsed by him does not, I think, confer upon him the authority to do these acts without their direction or approval. To confer such broad and general powers on the treasurer of a corporation is certainly unusual. The court should not hold that such authority is vested in a treasurer by implication from the language of a by-law, but the by-law should expressly give such authority, if it was intended to be so conferred."

¹ Hardin v. Construction Co., 78 shown by the course of dealings of the Iowa, 729; s. c., 43 N. W. Rep. 543. corporation and by facts and circum- See, also, Pacific R. M. v. Dayton, stances which are sufficient, in the S. & G. R. Ry. Co., 5 Fed. Rep. 852; judgment of the jury, to show that s. c., 7 Sawy. 61; Schallard v. Eel the party who executed the note had River Steam Navigation Co., (1886) 70 the authority. If it was the custom Cal. 144; s c., 11 Pac Rep. 590. For of this corporation to permit the treas- a case showing under what circumstances the signing of a note by the treasurer of a corporation was unauthorized, see Medberry v. Short, 15 N. Y. Wkly, Dig. 227.

² Stark Bank v. U. S. Pottery Co., 34

and that they had never known of the bankers this way of borrowing money

¹Page v. Fall River, W. & P. R. loan of money on such contracts. On Co., (1887) 31 Fed Rep. 257, 258, 259. the other hand, the plaintiff introduced The defendant called several officers evidence that at the time of this transof different railroads, who testified action the borrowing of money by that, in their experience, they never means of sterling contracts similar to knew railroads to borrow money upon the one now in controversy was a such contracts as this; also two presi-usual and ordinary way of borrowing dents and one cashier of Boston banks money in Boston among houses havwere called, who testified, in sub- ing foreign capital to loan, by persons stance, that to their knowledge such not importers or requiring to use contracts were not an ordinary and money abroad. Upon this the court usual method of borrowing money, said: "It may be true that to ordinary $ 170. Power of a treasurer to indorse in name of corporation a note for accommodation.—It has been held in one of the courts of New York that a negotiable note indorsed in the name of a manufacturing corporation by its treasurer for the

The inference 503. loan should take. mode adopted

was unusual or unknown, but to though applied to a new subject-matbankers having foreign funds it seems ter. Merchants' Bank v. State Bank. 10 to have been a common mode. To Wall. 601 'It is not necessary in order bankers like these plaintiffs there to constitute a general agent, that he would be nothing unusual or cal- should have done an act the same in culated to excite suspicion for any one specie with that in question. If he desiring a loan to apply to them, and has usually done things of the same for them to make it in such form as general character and effect, and with was most convenient to them at the the assent of his principals, that is There is no proof that [the enough.'" COWEN, J., in Commercial treasurer] suggested the form the Bank of Erie v. Norton, 1 Hill, 501. The right to recover in this rather would be that he applied to the case rested mainly on the ground of plaintiffs, and they suggested the an implied authority on the part of the The fact that it was treasurer to make this contract, benot customary for railroads to borrow cause the corporation held him out to money in this way was not sufficient the world as its general fiscal agent to put the plaintiffs upon their guard. authorized to negotiate loans, borrow or to excite suspicion of irregularity. money, make notes and manage its The plaintiffs were lenders of foreign whole financial business. The court money in the Boston market. They said: "The legal principle relied upon were applied to by one who was a by the plaintiff is well stated in Lester customary borrower of home capital r. Webb, 1 Allen, 34: 'The rule is from other parties, and whose notes well settled that if a corporation perwere bought by institutions not only mit the treasurer to act as their genin this state, but out of it. Why eral fiscal agent, and hold him out to should they not loan their funds, the public as having the general auunder these circumstances, in a man-thority implied from his official name ner not unusual with them and and character, and by their silence bankers of their class? If the de- and acquiescence suffer him to draw fendant had desired to restrict its and accept drafts, and to indorse notes treasurer to borrowing money from payable to the corporation, they are [one certain bank] or through [certain bound by his acts done within the parties] or to the form of borrowing scope of such implied authority.' by promissory notes, it could have See, also, Merchants' Bank r. State done so by formal and proper action Bank, 10 Wall. 604; Mining Co. v. on the part of the directors. In the Anglo-Californian Bank, 104 U. S. 192." absence of any such restriction the Upon the facts in this particular case defendant must be held liable. When the court then considered the questhe authority of the agent is left to be tions, whether the directors by their inferred by the public from powers course of conduct, held the treasurer usually exercised by the agent, it is out to the public as the fiscal agent of enough if the transaction in question the corporation, having authority to involves the same general powers make and indorse notes for the coraccommodation of the maker could not be enforced against the corporation where the note did not concern any business of the corporation and there was no by-law or resolution authorizing the treasurer to indorse negotiable paper or any proof of a recognized course of business by which the treasurer was held out as possessing such power, or any evidence that the corporation had ratified the act or derived any benefit from it though the note was in the hands of a hong fide holder.1

§ 171. Power of a treasurer to indorse note of another corporation.— A trading corporation sought in an action to recover of a former treasurer the amount of money it had been compelled to pay on account of an indorsement in its name made upon a note of another corporation, contending that the indorsement was an act ultra vires the trading corporation. appeared that the defendant at the time of indorsing the note in question, and for five years prior thereto, was the treasurer and general manager of the plaintiff. As such general manager he was allowed to exercise his discretion in managing plaintiff's busi-During all the years that he was plaintiff's manager the treasurer" (the corporation receiving ity, assumed to act as agent." no benefit from the note, and the pro-

poration, and, if so, whether there was cooks never reaching its treasury), anything so unusual in this trans- said McADAM, Ch. J., "under these action as to have put the plaintiffs on circumstances, was not a corporate their inquiry. Col.T., J., said: "I act." Wahlig r. Manufacturing Co., have no doubt that the directors by (N. Y City Ct. Gen. T., 1890) 5 N. Y. allowing [the treasurer] for several Supp. 420; Mather r. Trust Co., (N. years and for a large amount to sign Y. City Ct. Spl. Term, 1890) 7 N. Y. notes for the corporation, most of Supp. 213; Westerfield r. Radde, 7 which were sold to different banks in Daly 326; s. c., 55 How. Pr. 369. the state and some out of it - some of "[This] treasurer had no power to the directors going so far in recogni- lend the credit of the corporation. If tion of [his] authority as to indorse the indorsement was not a corporate the notes - conferred upon him, so act, the fact that the plaintiff was a far as the public is concerned, an bona fide holder cannot even under implied power to borrow money, Mechanics', etc., Assn. v. New York, which the corporation cannot now dis- etc., Lead Co., 35 N. Y. 505, make it pute. As to the nature of this trans- a corporate charge. In such a case action, I am unable to conclude that the remedy would seem to be against it was of such an extraordinary char- the treasurer who acted without coracter as to relieve the defendant." porate sanction, (Green's Brice Ultra 'Wahlig r. Standard Pump Mfg. Vires, 634) upon the theory that, where Co., (N. Y. City Ct. Spl. Term, 1890) the act does not bind the principal, it 9 N. Y. Supp. 739. "The act of the binds the person who, without authorplaintiff's board of directors left the direction and management of the business to his judgment and habitually held no meetings except an annual meeting. The plaintiff was organized as a corporation under the laws of Connecticut for the purpose of manufacturing and dealing in certain classes of goods, and to exercise such mercantile powers as might be convenient and necessary for the prosecution of its particular business. It had been the practice of the plaintiff to extend financial assistance to parties with whom it had business relations. The whole management of its business was, in fact, intrusted to this treasurer. He made a contract with a carbon manufacturing company upon behalf of his corporation by the terms of which the latter was to receive and sell the greater part of the carbon manufactured by the former company upon certain terms, etc. For the purpose of increasing its manufacture of carbon, the carbon company applied to the treasurer, as representing the trading corporation, for assistance, and made its promissory note for $10,000, payable to the order of the corporation, which note the treasurer in the corporation's name indorsed and procured to be discounted, and handed over the proceeds to the carbon manufacturing company. The Supreme Court held adversely to the claim of the corporation that this note was an accommodation indorsement by its treasurer, and, therefore, ultra vires.1

¹ Holmes, Booth & Haydens v. Wil- raised here, therefore, is whether a lard, (1889) 53 Hun, 629; 5 N. Y. loan of money by a corporation is

Supp. 610. VAN BRUNT, P. J., for the ultra vires. We have not been recourt, said: "The transaction as it ferred to any authority or principle. took place between the carbon com- under which such a transaction can be pany and the defendant, representing held ultra vires of a corporation, parthe plaintiff, was simply a loan of ticularly a trading corporation which money. The carbon company gave has the right to exercise such mercanits note, payable to the order of the tile powers as may be convenient and plaintiff, and the plaintiff loaned the necessary for the successful transacmoney upon the note. How it got the tion of its business, which clearly money was immaterial, whether by gives it the authority to extend merhaving the note discounted upon its cantile facilities to the persons dealing own credit, or otherwise, does not alter with it if in its judgment it thinks it the relations of the parties. It was a for the benefit of its business so to do. loan made between the plaintiff and The transaction, therefore, between the carbon company, by and through the plaintiff and the carbon company its treasurer, and there is nothing in was in no respect ultra vires. As to the case going to show that there was the power of the treasurer of the corany accommodation indorsement, or poration to use its credit and money in anything of that sort. The question such a way, it was said: "It is suffi-

§ 172. When a corporation will be bound by a note executed by its treasurer.—In a case where a bank discounted a note for a private corporation "in the usual course of its business without notice of any defect or infirmity," and its good faith was not questioned, the Supreme Court of Massachusetts held that if the note was signed by an officer authorized generally to give notes in its behalf the corporation would be liable, although the agent in signing this particular note exceeded his authority or the powers of the corporation.1

directors to give the manager direcexercised the authority, and it was not customary to bring it before the board of directors. In other words, the whole details of the management of liable, because of his action, in con- he has continued the practice." ducting the business in precisely the same way in which it had heretofore v. Citizens' Gas Light Co. of Quincy, cient to say that the evidence shows sons with whom the plaintiff had conclusively that it had been the prac- dealings. If corporations choose to tice of this corporation to lend money place the whole of the management of and extend financial assistance to par- their business for the purpose of exties with whom it had business rela- pedition in the hands of a single inditions. It is true that it is claimed that vidual, and give him a general authorthe only evidence of any such course ity to act as under the circumstances is that the defendant during his ad- may seem best to him, unless absorute ministration often gave financial assist- fraud is shown on his part, there ance to customers by him, but that seems to be no ground upon which a such acts were not reported to the right of recovery can be had against board of directors. But the evidence him for any such acts. Certainly a fails to establish this proposition. It mere mistake in judgment does not is true that the subsequent treasurer render him liable. Trading corporasays that such accommodations were tions are necessarily managed in a not extended to any but the customers more informal way than those of a by him, but there is no evidence but different character. They are volun that it had been the practice prior to tary copartnerships, having a right of this time to give financial assistance survivorship, not dissolved by reason to others than customers strictly of the death of any one of the parties speaking, in the shape of extending in interest, and a director or officer or their paper as is claimed to have been manager, with whom is intrusted all only done by [the last treasurer]. And the business of the corporation, can it appears without contradiction that exercise all the powers which the it was not customary for the board of board of directors could exercise under the same circumstances in the general tions in these matters; that he always management of the corporation business. Hoyt v. Thompson, 19 N. Y. Even if we concede that the 209. corporation had no power to lend its money, yet, when it is found that it the corporation were, as above stated, had been in the habit of so doing, and committed to the general manager, that it had been the course of business Under this state of things, it is difficult of the corporation, certainly an officer to see how the defendant can be held cannot be held liable simply because ¹ Merchants' Nat. Bank of Gardiner been done, and extending aid to per- (1893) 159 Mass. 505; s. c., 34 N. E.

§ 173. When a corporation is bound by acts of treasurer. - In a recent case before it the Supreme Court of New York, in General Term, has held that where the treasurer of a business corporation was also permitted to become and act as its sole financial manager, the corporation would be chargeable, irrespective of the question of authority, in fact, with liability for acts done by him within the apparent scope of the authority conferred

Rep. 1083, citing Monument Nat. Bank holders or directors of a corporation, the corporation, they are bound by his acts done within the scope of such im-Cush, 1; Williams v. Chency, 3 Gray, 215; Con ver v. Insurance Co., 1 N. Y. notes in suit. derived, not from any

c. Globe Works, 101 Mass. 57. Bar- do not touch the question whether au-KER, J., for the majority of the court, thority is to be implied as matter of said, arguendo: "It is not necessary law from the name and nature of the that the authority of an officer or agent office itself. In the present case the to sign notes in behalf of a corporation jury were instructed that the treasurer should appear in the by-laws, or of such a corporation as the defendant should have been expressly given by company has, by virtue of his office, a vote of the directors or of the stock- authority to sign a note which shall holders. In Lester r. Webb, 1 Allen, bind the corporation, and the defend-34, it was said: 'The rule is well set- ant contends that this instruction was tled that if a corporation permit their incorrect. The incidental powers of treasurer to act as their general fiscal some officers or agents have become so agent and hold him out to the public well known and defined, and have been as having the general authority im- so frequently recognized by courts of plied from his official name and char-justice, that certain powers are implied acter, and by their silence and acqui- as matters of law in favor of third perescence suffer him to draw and accept sons who deal with them on the asdrafts and to indorse notes payable to sumption that they possess these powers, unless such persons are informed to the contrary. The officers and plied authority. Fay v. Noble, 12 agents usually mentioned in this category are auctioneers, brokers, factors, cashiers of banks and masters of ships. 290. On the facts found at the trial See Merchants' Bank v. State Bank, 10 the plaintiff might well claim, if the Wall. 604; Case v. Bank. 100 U. S. 446. jury believed the evidence, that the Treasurers of towns or cities in this treasurer had authority to indorse the commonwealth are well-known officers, and their powers are very limited. express direction, but from the course They are in general to receive, keep of conduct and dealing of the treas- and pay out money on the warrant of urer with the knowledge and implied the proper officers of the towns and assent of the directors of the corpora-cities. Treasurers of business corpotion." Sec, also, McNeil v. Chamber of rations usually have much more ex-Commerce, 154 Mass. 285; s. c., 28 N. tensive powers, and the decisions of E. Rep. 245; Mining Co. v. Anglo- this court hold that the treasurer of a Californian Bank, 104 U. S. 192. "But," manufacturing and trading corporasaid the Massachusetts com't. "cases tion is clothed, by virtue of his office, where the actual authority of an officer with power to act for the corporation is inferred from a course of business in making, accepting, indorsing, issuknown to and permitted by the stock- ing and negotiating promissory notes upon him by the corporation. In this case, for instance, the treasurer of a water works company had been permitted, through the omission of its other officers to direct its financial management or supervise his acts, to become and act as its sole financial manager, and had made and negotiated some fifty promissory notes in its name during a period extending over about a year and a The court held that the company was liable to a bona fide holder for value of a promissory note executed in its name by such treasurer, which matured while he was still treasurer, and the proceeds of which, so far as received by him, had been applied to the use of the corporation, although the note was not specially authorized.1 innocent holder for value, who has turbing 101 Mass. 57; Corcoran r. Cattle Co., all, of the cases in which this rule has N. E. Rep. 920)." been stated as law have some special and bills of exchange, and that such cial institutions. It could not now be negotiable paper in the hands of an abrogated or unsettled without discommercial taken it without notice of any want of There are, however, many corporaauthority on the part of the treasurer, tions which transact more or less busiis binding on the corporation, although ness to which the rule has been held with reference to the corporation it is not to apply. Thus, it does not apply accommodation paper. Narragansett to a college (Webber v. College, 23 Bank v. Atlantic Silk Co., 3 Met. 282: Pick. 302); nor to a parish (Packard v. Bates r. Iron Co., 7 Met. 224; Fay v. Society, 10 Met. 427); nor to a monu-Noble, 12 Cush. 1; Lester r. Webb, 1 ment association (Torrey v. Dustin Allen, 84; Bank r. Winchester, 8 Allen, Monument Association, 5 Allen, 827); 109; Bird r. Daggett, 97 Mass. 494; nor to a municipality (Bank v. Win-Monument Nat. Bank v. Globe Works, chester, 8 Allen, 109; nor to a savings bank (Tappan v. Bank, 127 Mass. 107); 151 Mass 74; s. c., 23 N. E. Rep. 727. nor to a horse railroad company (Craft While it is possible that most, if not v. Railroad Co., 150 Mass, 207; s. c., 22

¹ Perry v. Council Bluffs Water circumstances from which the treas- Works Co., (1893) 67 Hun, 456; s. c., urer's authority could be inferred, and 22 N. Y. Supp. 151. The court apthat the court was influenced in the de- proved the findings and the reasoning cisions by the well-known fact that in and conclusions of the referee in this many of the manufacturing corpora- case, O'BRIEN, J., speaking for the tions of this commonwealth the treas- court, referring to them thus: "He urer not only has the custody of the finds that during the period from some money, but is the general financial time in the month of October, 1885, to manager, and often the general busi- February 27, 1887, Harry Allen, as ness manager of the corporation, the treasurer of the defendant corporation. rule itself has been frequently and made and issued in the name of the broadly stated in our decisions and is defendant, and to which the name of well known both to the officers of the defendant was signed by himself manufacturing and trading corpora- as treasurer thereof, some forty or fifty tions and to those of banks and finan- promissory notes, to the order of and

§ 174. When a corporation will not be bound by the act of its treasurer.—In a case before the Supreme Court of New York the corporation provided for all its obligations by the issue of bonds. Parties, among whom was its treasurer, became possessed of these bonds by agreeing to pay the debts of the com-To discharge the personal liability thus incurred, the treasurer discounted notes of the company made by him without and money

indorsed 'Allen & Stead,' which were the name of his firm, of which the obtained president was a member. A review of thereon; that the reason for the mak- the evidence supporting these findings ing of such promissory notes to the will sustain the referee and justify his order of Allen & Stead was that they conclusion that Allen was practically were acting as the financial agents of the corporation, and that the case is the defendant, and it was to give ad- brought within the principle laid down ditional credit to such notes, the credit in Fifth National Bank v. Navassa of the corporation itself being poor, Phosphate Company, 119 N. Y. 256. and, although the by-laws of the de- because he was not only the treasurer fendant required the countersigning of the defendant, but, as said in that by the president, none of these notes so case, 'he was consciously invested by issued was so countersigned; that the the company with the broad general note in suit was, in form, similar to power inseparable from the position these others; that during all this pe- in which it placed him as the sole manriod, with the exception of one in May, ager of its affairs at its principal place 1886, no meetings of the board of di- of business.' Acting, therefore, within rectors were held, and at the one meet- the apparent scope of the authority ing no business was transacted other conferred upon him by the corporathan the re-election of officers of the tion, the latter is charged with liabildefendant; that Allen, though he ity, irrespective of the question of ausought to consult and advise with the thority in fact." This particular note president of the corporation, was re- had been placed as collateral security ferred to the latter's law partner, who with a certain party who loaned a cerwas also a director in the corporation; tain amount upon it, under an agreethat none of the officers or directors ment that it was to be paid within a used or exercised any official supervis- few days, with interest, at the rate of ion over Allen or his acts and transac- five dollars a day until such time as tions as treasurer, except the director the loan was paid. The court limited who was the president's law partner, the measure of damages in the recovery and who, it would appear, was not to the amount loaned by this person. only consulted with respect to the with legal interest from the date of his making of the promissory notes, and loan. It was said in the opinion: the obtaining of money thereon, but "Taking the facts here, we think that concurred in the very beginning with this note was not valid as a legal oblithe making of such promissory notes; gation in the hands of the payee negothat further, he not only advised the tiating it, or in the hands of Bradford, making and issuing of such notes from who delivered it to the plaintiff as coltime to time, but personally indersed lateral security for a loan made by him. a large number of them, and one with but that when transferred to the plainits authority or knowledge, or that of its officers. It was sought to hold the corporation liable in an action by the bank which discounted them upon the ground that the treasurer was a financial officer of the corporation, and, therefore, held apparent authority to indorse the notes, so far as bona fide purchasers were concerned, and upon another ground that the previous conduct of the treasurer had been such in issuing the notes that the corporation must be held to have authorized the making and indorsement of the notes in suit. It was held by the court that the treasurer of a corporation engaged in the business of operating water works did not have, by virtue of his office, any implied authority to borrow money and give the corporation's note therefor.1

tiff it became in his hands a legal dence was that he still had them. As under such circumstances, would pre- after he received the money. Bradford, of five dollars a day."

obligation against the defendant, but to the money, it went into his indionly to the extent of what was ad- vidual bank account, and he refused vanced upon the faith thereof. We to say that he paid any debt of the think the principle of the cases, which, company out of that bank account vent a profit being made out of the would not even say that he kept the transaction, is applicable, and that, money for the payment of what the while the plaintiff is entitled to protec- company owed him, although he tried tion to the extent of the moneys ad- to produce that impression. There was vanced, and legal interest from the date no evidence, however, that the comof the loan, he cannot recover either pany owed him anything, except his the face value of the note, with inter- general stateemnt that they owed him est thereon, nor the amount loaned, something, but what the something with interest at the rate agreed upon by was he did not attempt to say. Of course, as treasurer of the company, First Nat. Bank of Middletown v. he could not issue its notes and sell Council Bluffs City Water Works Co., them, and pocket the proceeds, under (1890) 56 Hun, 412; s c, 9 N. Y. the pretense that the company owed Supp. 859. In support of their con- him money, without showing some tention the counsel of the bank cited authority outside of himself for such Bank of Batavia r. New York, L. E. a transaction, and without establish-& W. R. R. Co., 106 N. Y. 195; s. c., ing, in the most satisfactory manner, 13 N. E. Rep. 433, and Bank of Au- that the company was indebted to him burn v. Putnam, 1 Abb. Dec. 80. for the amount which he so obtained. PRATT, J., upon the question whether The referee found that the proceeds the facts of the case brought it within of some of the previous notes made by the rules of the cases cited, said: [the treasurer] were applied 'to at "There was no evidence that any least some extent,' to the payment of part of the proceeds of the notes sued the debts and obligations of the deon came to the use of the company. fendant. This fact would tend to es-The bonds and money which [the tablish the company's liability for the treasurer] received for these notes be notes sued on, under the theory that retained. As to the bonds, the evi- they were responsible in thus having

§ 175. Another illustration of such a case.—In a Massachusetts case it appeared that a stockholder, who was the treasurer of a street railway corporation, wrote to a customer that he could lend the proceeds of bonds sold by him for her to the corporation, and she told him that she would so lend a part of the proceeds to it, and left the amount in his hands, receiving from him a note for the amount made in the corporation's name by him alone as treasurer. She was ignorant of and made no inquiries as to the by-laws of the corporation, which provided that he could sign notes only as the directors might require, which notes, to bind the corporation, were to be countersigned by the president, but acted in good faith, believing that the treasurer of the corporation also acted honestly and had authority to make the loan and to give a note for the same binding upon the corporation. The treasurer had no such authority in terms, and, being a defaulter, used the loan to cover up his defalcation by paying debts of the corporation. The Supreme Court of Judicature held that his customer in the stock brokerage business could not recover against the corporation either upon the note or for money had and received.1

§ 176. When contracts of a chief engineer will bind a railroad corporation.—It appeared in a Michigan case that certain individuals organized a railroad corporation for the purpose of constructing a line of railroad. Two of these individuals entered company had knowledge of the fact notes in the name of the principal." that [the treasurer] had so applied the 1 Craft v. South Boston Railroad held out [the treasurer] as their agent him to do so. The finding with reto make their notes. But in order to gard to the application of the proceeds create such an agency by representa- of the notes, therefore, does not go for tion or estoppel, it is essential that the enough to establish a liability in this principal shall have knowledge of the case. The fact that an agent has, in assumption by the agent of the pow- one or more instances, made notes and ers he has exercised. In order to cre- applied the proceeds in part payment ate a liability in this case, therefore, of his principal's debts, without his it was necessary to go a step further knowledge, creates no liability on his in the findings, and to find that the part for his subsequently making proceeds of these notes. There not Co., (1889) 150 Mass. 207; s. c., 22 N. only is no such finding, but the referee E. Rep. 920. Upon the first point it has expressly found that the directors was said: "Whatever may be true of had no knowledge that [he] had as- trading corporations there is nothing sumed to make the notes of the com- in the nature of the business of a pany, and that they never authorized horse railroad corporation, or of the into an agreement, by which the third interested party was to construct the road, to be paid in bonds and stock. This latter was the principal promoter of this railroad enterprise. The work was to be done under the supervision of a chief engineer. work for building the road was let to a sub-contractor. plaintiff in this action had furnished supplies for this work to the sub-contractor. Failing to be paid, this action against the company resulted. In it the plaintiff claimed that the goods were delivered upon orders given by the company's agent, and upon its credit. The principal question in the case arose upon the authority of the agent to bind the company. The Supreme Court of Michigan held that the question of the authority of the agent was one of fact properly submitted to the jury, and reviewed the evidence and affirmed the judgment against the company. They said of the testimony: "[It] brings the case within any one of several well-established rules. If the company relinquished to [this contractor] the matter of construction of this road, and [he] knew that [its chief engineer] was contracting these obligations in the name and upon the credit of the company, [the contractor] must be deemed to have adopted them. His knowledge was the company's knowledge, and the company is liable. If the officers of the company were advised that [the chief engineer had incurred the indebtedness to plaintiff in the name and upon the credit of the company, and with that knowledge did not protest, but, on the contrary, corresponded directly with the plaintiffs and raid that account, plaintiffs were justified duties of a treasurer of such a corpo-debts of the company, which the a defaulter, and the money was used Hadley, 128 Mass. 503." to cover up his defalcation by paying ration, which implies that the treas- money of the company, if he had not urer, by virtue of his office, has au- embezzled it, would have been used to thority to borrow money for the com- pay. The only reasonable inference pany and to give its notes therefor. is that [the treasurer's] primary pur-It does not appear that the company pose in using the money in this way in any way held out [their treasurer] was to escape detection and to benefit to the public or to the plaintiff as hav himself. Whether it was a benefit to ing any such authority, or that treas- the company that he was able to ob urers of horse railroad corporations tain and use money for this purpose is customarily have or exercise any such necessarily uncertain. The money authority." Upon the second it was was not borrowed bona fide for the use said: "No objection on the part of of the company. See Railroad Nathe [corporation] ought to be implied tional Bank v. Lowell, 109 Mass. 214; in this case, because [its treasurer] was Agawam National Bank r. South in relying upon that action as an assurance of [the chief engineer's] authority, and extending further credit, and defendant is estopped from the denying the authority of [its chief engineer). If [the latter], in the exercise of the authority given to him by the contract, in view of [the sub-contractor's] inability, was prosecuting the work for and on behalf of the company, and incurred this indebtedness in such prosecution of the work, the plaintiffs were entitled to recover. If [the chief engineer] was entering into contracts for the work upon the road, employing men and purchasing supplies in the name of the company and upon its credit, and the officers of the company knew of the fact, or had been advised of instances of like conduct and remained silent, the company cannot now be heard to say that such person so acting was without authority." In another action against this railroad company for supplies furnished to the sub-contractor in the construction of its road, the same court held that upon the evidence the principles of the last case were established, and that the railroad company was properly found liable, not only upon the verbal arrangement made by the chief engineer with the plaintiff through its managing officer, but also upon a written guaranty of the sub-contractor's orders for supplies made by the engineer.2 They further held in this case that the third of the then parties organizing this railroad company, with whom the two entered into the agreement for the construction of the railroad, who was its president, could bind the corporation for supplies used in the construction, though not acting by any corporate authority. This president was at the same time president of the supply company which brought this action. It was contended that from this fact, and his powers being limited in the contract with his associates for the construction of the road, which provided that "no indebtedness shall be incurred and no expenditures made without the free consent and co-operation of all the parties to the agreement," his knowledge of this limitation was the knowledge of the plaintiff, and, therefore, the

s. c., 56 N. W. Rep. 842. The court 90 N. Y. 648. referred in its discussion to the followroad Co., 27 N. Y. 546, 558; Ceeder r. Mich. 14; s. c., 59 N. W. Rep. 646. H. M. Loud & Sons Lumber Co., 86

¹ Hirschmann v. Iron Range & Huron Mich. 541; Whitaker v. Kilroy, 70 Bay R. R. Co., (1893) 97 Mich. 384; Mich. 635, 638; Beattle r. Railroad Co.,

⁹ Michigan Slate Co. v. Iron Range ing cases as in point: Olcott r. Rail- & Huron Bay R. R. Co., (1894) 101

latter was estopped from the recovery. The court held adversely to this contention.1

$ 177. Ratification by corporation of agent's acts—general rules .- If a trading corporation take and hold the benefit derived from a contract made for it by an agent not duly authorized, it thereby makes the contract its own by ratification or adoption and will thereby be estopped from disputing its liability thereon.³ A corporation will be held liable for materials furnished for its use and benefit by the order of one not expressly authorized to give such order, where its officers have knowledge of the order and do not object to it.8 Ratification of an unauthorized act of an agent of a corporation will be inferred from failure on the part of the corporation to promptly disavow it upon knowledge of the act being brought to it.4 The ratification of an unauthorized act of an agent of a corporation is equivalent to a previous authority, and such ratification need not be by any formal vote or resolution of the corporation, or be authenticated by the corporate seal.⁵ A ratification of an act of an officer of a corporation in making a contract may be implied by the acts of the corporation as well as expressed by its vote. The acts and assent of corporations may be shown and inferred from facts and circumstances.6 Before a corporation can be said to have ratified

s. c., 10 S. W. Rep. 865; Kitchen r 1 Parsons' Sel. Cas. in Equity, 250. Railway Co., 69 Mo. 224; Fitzsimmons v. Express Co., 40 Ga. 330. See, R. R. Co., (1881) 12 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. as to contract made by one styled en- 384. gineer of the railroad corporation, Wilson v. Kings County Elevated R. (1881) 75 Mo. 178. R. Co., (1889) 114 N. Y. 487.

⁹ Pixley v. Western Pacific R. R. Co., 468; s. c., 10 S. W. Rep. 187. (1867) 38 Cal. 183; Gas Company r.

¹ Ibid. The court said: "A party San Francisco, 16 Cal. 265; Fraylor v. may act in the double relation of agent Sonora Mining Co., 17 Cal. 594; Rosfor both parties." Adams Mining Co. r. borough r. Shasta River Canal Co., 22 Senter, 26 Mich. 73, Colwell r. Keystone Cal 556, Allen v. Citizens' Steam Iron Co., 36 Mich. 51; U. S. Rolling Navigation Co., 22 ('al. 28; United Stock Co. v. Atlantic & G. W. R. Co., 34 States r. Dandridge, 12 Wheat, 70; Ohio St. 450; Mayor, etc., v. Inman, Olcott v. Tioga R. R Co., 27 N. Y. 57 Ga. 370; Manufacturers' Sav. Bank 558; Hoyt r. Thompson, 19 N. Y. 215; v. Big Muddy Iron Co., 97 Mo. 38; Bank of Kentucky r. Schuylkill Bank, Beattie r. Delaware, Lack, & West.

⁴ First National Bank v. Fricke, ⁵Campbell v. Pope, (1888) 96 Mo.

Louisville, New Albany & Chicago San Francisco, 9 Cal. 458; Argenti r. Ry. Co. r. Carson, (1894) 151 Ill. 444;

an unauthorized contract of its agent by receiving the consideration of the contract, there must be proof that the corporation. through its proper officer, knew the terms of the contract and received the money on that account.1 A contract having been made by an agent of a corporation out of the usual course of business of the corporation, and his receiving money as a consideration of the contract and paying it to the corporation, the retention of the money by the latter will not constitute an adoption of the contract, unless it appears that the corporation knew on what account the money was paid and what were the terms of the contract.2

6 Bosw. 181; Hoyt v. Shelden, 8 Bosw. Pr. (N. S.) 254; s. c., 32 How. Pr. 335. contracts of officers or agents. Ma-Mobile & M. Ry. Co. v. Gilmer, 85 Campbell v. Pope, 96 Mo. 468; s. c., 10 S. W. Rep. 187; Hamilton v. Bates, there was no ratification of an agreement of the president that the corporation should assume the debts of a person); Frank v. Hicks, (Wyo. 1894) 35 Pac. Rep. 475; Bibb v. Hall, (Ala. 1894) 14 So. Rep. 98; Nebraska & S. W. Rep. 70. K. Farm Loan Co. v. Bell, 58 Fed. Rep. 326; s. c., 7 C. U. A. 253; West Salem Land Co. v. Land Co., 89 Va.

¹ Hyde v. Larkin, (1889) 35 Mo. App. 365. As to corporations receiving the benefit of a contract made by its agents or officers being considered as ratifying it, see Jourdan v. Long Island R.

Farmers & Citizens' Bank v. Sherman, mont, 60 N. Y. 96; Bonniner v. S. S. Co., 81 N. Y. 468; Castle v. Lewis, 267; Houghton v. Dodge, 5 Bosw. 326; (1879) 78 N. Y. 131, affirming 13 Hun, Madison Avenue Baptist Church v. 298; Kickland v. Menasha Wooden Baptist Church in Oliver St., 2 Abb. Ware Co., 68 Wis. 34; Paxton Cattle Co. v. First Nat. Bank, 21 Neb. 621; What amounts to a ratification of the Holmes v. Kansas City Board of Trade. 81 Mo. 187; Pauling v. London Ry. rine Bank v. Butler Colliery Co., 52 Co., 8 Exch. 867; Beverley v. Lincoln Hun, 612; s. c., 5 N. Y. Supp. 291; Gas Co., 6 Ad. & El. 829; Tuskaloosa, etc., Co. r. Perry, 85 Ala. 158; Mel-Ala. 422; s. c., 5 So. Rep. 138; ledge v. Boston Iron Co., 5 Cush. 158, 175; Smith v. Martin Anti-Fire Car Heater Co., 64 Hun, 639; s. (Cal. 1894) 35 Pac. Rep. 304 (holding c., 19 N. Y. Supp. 285; Brower r. Brooklyn Trust Co., 21 N. Y. Supp. 324: Tryon v. White & Corbin Co., 62 Conn. 161; s. c., 25 Atl. Rep. 712; Weatherford, M. W. & N. W. R. Co. v. Granger, (Tex. Civ. App. 1894) 22

² Pennsylvania, Del. & Maryland Steam Navigation Co. r. Dandridge, 8 G. & J. (Md.) 248. As to estoppel to deny authority of officers and ratification of their acts on the part of a corporation, see Tuskaloosa Cotton Seed Oil Co. v. Perry, 85 Ala. 158; B. C., 4 So. Rep. 635; Morrell v. Long Island R. Co., (N. Y. City Ct. Sol. T.) 1 N. Y. Supp. R. Co., 115 N. Y. 380; s. c., 22 N. E. 65; Fitch v. Lewiston Steam Mill Co., Rep. 158; Scott v. W., etc., R. R. Co., 80 Me. 34; s. c., 12 Atl. Rep. 732; Metro-86 N. Y. 200; Wild v. New York, etc., politan T. & T. Co. v. Domestic T. & M. Co., 59 N. Y. 644; Decker v. G., T. Co., 44 N. J. Eq. 568; s. c., 14 Atl. etc., Co., 61 Hun, 516; Hoag v. La- Rep. 907; Alabama Great So. R. R.

§ 178. Modes of ratification.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the eighth circuit held that the board of directors of this corporation upon the promissory note of which this action was brought by the receiver of the bank which loaned the corporation money on the note, who were authorized by its by-laws to borrow money and execute securities therefor, might ratify the unauthorized execution of the promissory note by the secretary of the corporation, and thus the corporation would be bound.1 In a case where the foreman of a mining corporation, with the knowledge and acquiescence of the officers of the corporation — but without any special request — advanced money to pay the debts of the corporation, and the corporation, with full knowledge of all the facts, acquiesced in the acts of its officers and agents in their dealings with the foreman, the Supreme Court of Nevada held that such knowledge and acquiescence amounted to a ratification of the acts of the foreman and rendered the corporation liable to him for the money so advanced.2

Co. v. South & North Alabama R. R. Co. v. Troy & Lansingburgh R. R. 281: s. c., 19 Pac. Rep. 617: Corn Ex-Trust Co., 78 Hun, 400; s. c., 29 N. Y. Supp. 158; Thomas v. City Nat. Bank, (Neb. 1894) 58 N. W. Rep. 943; Mover v. East Shore Terminal Co., (1893) 41 S. C. 300; s. c., 19 S. E. Rep. 651: Nortou v. Alabama National Bank, (Ala. 1894) 14 So. Rep. 872; Martin v. Santa Cruz Water Storage been a ratification); Currie v. Bowman, (1894) 25 Or. 364; s. c., 35 Pac. Rep. 848 (ratification of execution of a mortson v. Smith, 21 Conn. 632; Hewitt r.

Co., 84 Ala. 570; s. c., 3 So. Rep. Co., (1872) 7 Lans. 240. What does 286; Hoosac Mining & Milling Co. r. not: Harrington v. First Nat. Bank of Donat, 10 Col. 529; s. c., 16 Pac. Rep. Chittenango, (1873) 1 T. & C. 361. In 157; Second Nat. Bank v. Pottier & Liebfritz v. Dubuque Street Railway Stymus Mfg. Co., 56 N. Y. Super. Ct. Co., (1878) 48 Iowa, 709, the managing 216; s. c., 2 N. Y. Supp. 644; Getty director of a corporation having v. C. R. Barnes Milling ('o., 40 Kans. knowledge that an agent of the company had borrowed money and apchange Bank v. American Dock & plied it to the payment of corporate indebtedness, the corporation was held liable for the sum borrowed.

¹ Nebraska & Kansas Farm Loan Co. r. Bell, (1893) 58 Fed. Rep. 326; citing Allis r. Jones, 45 Fed. Rep. 148; Indianapolis Rolling Mill Co. v. St. Louis, Ft. S. & W. Ry. Co., 120 U. S. 256; s. c., 7 Sup. Ct. Rep. 542; Co., (Ariz. 1894) 36 Pac. Rep. 36 Pittsburgh, C. & St. L. Ry. Co. r. (where there was held to have not Keokuk & II. Bridge Co., 131 U. S. 378; s. c., 9 Sup. Ct. Rep. 770.

² Martin r. Victor Mill & Mining Co., (1885) 19 Nev. 180; s. c., 8 Pac. gage); Church v. Sterling, 16 Conn. 398; Rep. 161. A ratification of an agent's Howe v. Keeler, 27 Conn. 554; John- use of the corporation's funds for "special purposes" by a resolution of Wheeler, 22 Conn. 564; Hyde r. Lar- the directors, held not to be void, as kin, 35 Mo. App. 305; Union Bridge constituting a fraud upon the stock-

§ 179. Illustration of ratification of contract of agent.— In a late California case it appeared that a corporation, by resolution of its directors, authorized its president to execute a mortgage to secure a loan at a rate of interest and for a length of time specified. The mortgage executed by him was for a shorter period than authorized, and provided that the interest should be paid monthly; that a failure to pay interest when due rendered the principal due and that the mortgagees should recover attorney's fees in case of foreclosure. In an action to foreclose this mortgage the assignee of the corporation appointed after the suit was begun, being made a party, defended upon the ground inter alia that the execution of the mortgage on terms which were a departure from the terms named in the resolution of the directors was in excess of the authority of the president and not binding upon the corporation. The facts that the president of the corporation included in the note and mortgage terms and conditions which the corporation had power to authorize, but which it did not authorize him to insert; that the corporation received the consideration of $17,000 from the plaintiffs and applied the money to its uses, including the payment of a prior mortgage upon its property and the extinguishment of the lien thereof; that the holders. Clark v. American Coal Co., s. c., 33 Pac. Rep. 728; Willis v. St. (1892) 86 Iowa, 436. As to contracts Paul Sanitation Co., (1893) 53 Minn. being made valid by ratification by a 370; s. c., 55 N. W. Rep. 550; corporation, see Dubuque College v. Augusta, T. & G. R. Co. v. Kittel, 52 Dubuque, 13 Iowa, 555-560; Beach on Fed. Rep. 63; s. c., 2 C. C. A. 615; Priv. Corp. § 195; Oregon Ry. v. 2 U. S. App. 409; Hitchings v. St. Oregon Ry. & Nav. Co., 28 Fed. Rep. Louis, N. O. & O. Canal & Transp. 505; Greenleaf v. Norfolk Southern Co., 68 Hun, 83; s. c., 22 N. Y. Ry., 91 N. C. 33; First Nat. Bank v. Supp. 719; Tingley v. Bellingham Fricke, 75 Mo. 178; Kelsey v. National Bay Boom Co., 5 Wash. St. 644; s. Bank, 69 Pa. St. 426; Eureka Co. v. c., 32 Pac. Rep. 787; Goldbeck v. Bailey Co., 11 Wall. 488, 491; Gold Min- Bauk, 147 Pa. St. 267; Haines v. ing Co. v. National Bank, 96 U. S. 640, Detrick, 75 Md. 256; Smith v. Martin 644; Pacific Rolling Mill Co. v. Day- Anti-Fire Car Heater Co., 64 IIun, 639; ton Ry., 7 Sawy. 61, 67; Walworth Co. s. c., 19 N. Y. Supp. 285; Seymour v. Bank v. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., 16 Association, 64 Hun, 632; McComb v. Wis. 629; Connett v. City of Chicago, Association, 134 N. Y. 598; Shaver v. 114 Ill. 288; Wood v. Whelen, 98 Ill. Hardin, 82 Iowa, 378; Hayden v. 153. Ratification generally: Nims v. Wheeler & Tappan Co., 66 Hun, 629; Mt. Hermon Boys' School, 160 Mass. s. c., 20 N. Y. Supp. 902; Seal v. 177; s. c., 35 N. E. Rep. 776; People Puget Sound Loan & Imvest. Co., 5 r. Eel River & E. R. Co., 98 Cal. 665; Wash. St. 422; s. c., 32 Pac. Rep. 214.

corporation, by its representations, declarations and acts, through its directors, intentionally led the plaintiffs to believe, and they did believe, the president of the corporation was authorized to execute the note and mortgage for one year, with interest payable monthly; that the corporation, with full knowledge of the terms and conditions of the note and mortgage, received and used the consideration of $17,000, and paid the interest thereon monthly as the same became due for about four months, were held sufficient to constitute a ratification of the acts of the president of the corporation and sufficient to support the invocation of an estoppel in pais.¹

§ 180. What does not amount to a ratification.— A treasurer of a Massachusetts savings institution for the corporation became a party to an assignment for the benefit of creditors, and thereby undertook to release one of the promisors on a joint and several note belonging to the institution. The by-laws of the corporation, concerning the duties of the treasurer or as ex officio secretary, after enumerating several particulars, provided generally that "he shall perform and discharge all such other duties, in addition to the above, as are usually required of the treasurer and secretary of similar institutions." There was no record of any vote of the institution to release any claim against any person, or to cancel, or discharge, or receive payment, partial or in full, of any debt of any person whatever. The binding effect of this action of the treasurer upon the corporation being for the consideration of the Supreme Court, it was held that the treasurer of an incorporated institution for savings had no authority, as such, and without being specially authorized thereunto, to execute a release in the name of the corporation. Further, they held that the facts that payments of dividends were subsequently made to the treasurer's successor in office, and indorsed on the note of the one making the assignment, and entered in the books of the institution, as so much received of the assignees of the promisor, and the treasurer's account and cash, including the sum so received, and the notes of the institution, including the note in question, were subsequently examined by a committee and certified as correct, were not acts which amounted to a ratification of the release.1 It appeared, in an action upon a written contract executed in the name of a corporation by its president. that there was no vote, either of the corporation or of the directors, giving the president authority to execute the contract: that under the by-laws, the directors might confer upon him such authority; that there were five directors, of whom the president was one, and there was evidence that one director, besides the president, knew of this contract, but there was no direct evidence that the other three directors had any knowledge of it. jury were instructed that if "the corporation, represented by its entire board of officers, knew of and ratified the contract, it would be as binding as if the corporation had authorized it by express vote," with this addendum: "But all directors of a corporation are presumed to know what it is their duty to know. what they are able to know, and what they undertook to know when they accepted the responsibility of directors, and a jury have a right to suppose that the directors of a corporation have a knowledge of its concerns. In the absence of direct and positive evidence of the knowledge of the directors, jurors have a right to assume that they are doing what they were appointed to do, and that they know what they are appointed to know." The Supreme Court of Massachusetts held such instruction to be erroneous.2

¹ Gribble v. Columbus Brewing Co., (1893) 100 Cal. 67; s. c., 34 Pac. Rep. 527.

Slack, (1850) 6 Cush. 408.

leged principal is a corporation, a rati-necessary to find that the directors

¹ Dedham Institution for Savings r. fication may be shown by proving that the officers who had the power to ² Murray v. Nelson Lumber Com- authorize the act knew of it, and pany, (1887) 143 Mass. 250; s. c., 9 N. adopted it as a valid act of the corpo-E. Rep. 634. Morron, Ch. J., speak- ration, although no formal vote is ing for the court, said: "It is a well- passed by them. Sherman v. Fitch, settled rule that a ratification by a 98 Mass. 59; Lyndeborough Glass Co. principal of the unauthorized acts of v. Massachusetts Glass Co., 111 Mass. an agent, in order to be effectual, must 315; Kelley v. Newburyport Horse be made with a knowledge on the Railroad, 141 Mass. 496. In the case part of the principal of all the mate- at bar, therefore, it was incumbent rial facts. And the burden is upon upon the plaintiff to show that the the party who relies upon a ratifica- directors, or at least a majority of tion to prove that the principal, hav- them, knew of the contract and its ing such knowledge, acquiesced in terms, and that, with such knowledge. and adopted the acts of the agent. It they acquiesced in and adopted it. is not enough for him to show that the But the instructions given by the principal might have known the facts court gave to the jury a different by the use of diligence. Combs v. test. Under them, the jury would Scott, 12 Allen, 498. Where the al- naturally understand that it was not knew of the contract, and that it 57 N. W. Rep. 233; Willard v. Denisc, would be sufficient if, in their judg- 50 N. J. Eq. 482. Estoppel of corpoment, the directors, by the use of dili- ration to deny authority of its officers gence, might have known it. The and agents. Dallas v. Columbia Iron instructions are even broader than this, & Steel Co., 158 Pa. St. 446; s. c.. 27 as they told the jury that the directors Atl. Rep. 1055; St. Louis & S. F. R. were presumed to know what they Co. v. Kirkpatrick, 52 Kans. 104; s. c., were able to know, and that the jury 34 Pac. Rep. 400; Duggan v. Pacific had the right to suppose that the Boom Co., 6 Wash, 593; s. c., 34 Pac. directors of a corporation had a knowl- Rep. 157; Merchants' Nat. Bank v. edge of its concerns." Knowledge of Citizens' Gaslight Co., 159 Mass. 505: officer imputable to the corporation. s. c., 34 N. E. Rep. 1083; Jourdan v. Anderson v. Kinley, (Iowa, 1894) 58 Long Island R. Co., 115 N. Y. 380; s. N. W. Rep. 909; Merchants' Nat. c., 22 N. E. Rep. 153; Beach v. Miller, Bank v. Tracy, 77 Hun, 443; s. c., 29 130 Ill. 162; s. c., 22 N. E. Rep. 464; N. Y. Supp. 77; Huron Printing & Brown v. Wright, 25 Mo. App. 54. Bindery Co. v. Kittleson, (S. D. 1894)

CHAPTER V.

FRAUDULENT ACTS OF OFFICERS.

- § 181. General rules.
 - 182. General rules continued.
 - 183. Breaches of trust.
 - 184. Officers interested in contracts with a corporation.
 - 185. Directors of an insolvent corporation preferring themselves to other creditors.
 - 186. Directors contracting with a syndicate composed of themselves — when such a contract cannot be rescinded.
 - 187. Directors issuing shares of stock to themselves.
 - 188. Officers profiting by their relation to the corporation.
 - 189. Repudiating or avoiding such contracts.
 - 190. Rules as to such contracts.
 - 191. Circumstances under which the directors cannot avail themselves of the defense of the invalidity of the contract.
 - 192. Purchase by officers of debts due by, or property of, corporation.
 - 193. Purchase and sale of property of corporations by officers.
 - 194. Illustrations of a sale of property to corporation which was not fraudulent.
 - 195. When a transfer of property of corporation will be upheld.
 - Officers voting themselves salaries or compensation.
 - 197. Interest upon exorbitant salary voted officer recoverable.
 - 198. Contracts between corporations having the same directors in part.

- § 199. Issue of worthless, or overissue of, stock.
 - 200. False representations of officers — deceit.
 - A leading English decision on this subject.
 - 202. The rule adhered to in England.
 - 208. Officers conspiring to wreck a corporation.
 - 204. President conspiring against a corporation — terms on which the corporation could rescind the contract made by him.
 - 205. Promoters of corporations accountable for profits.
 - 206. Promoters obtaining stock of corporation for nothing,
 - 207. Jurisdiction of equity courts as to breaches of trust, etc.
 - 208. When a court of equity is not open to the complaints of stockholders.
 - 209. Remedy in equity.
 - 210. Malfeasance of the president of a corporation—a stockholder's remedy.
 - When a demand upon a directory to bring suit is not required.
 - 212. When a stockholder may bring an action.
 - 213. Dissolution of a corporation by a scheme of stockholders and a sale of the property to themselves.
 - 214. The rights of the minority in such a case.
 - 215. Principles applied to this particular case.
 - 216. When a fraudulent assignment of a mortgage by the treas-bind it.

§ 217. When a corporation may recover money fraudulently paid out by its treasurer.

218. When a corporation must respond for damages resulting from a fraudulent issue of its urer of a corporation will | § 219. The same subject - a Massachusetts decision.

> 220. The same subject — a Pennsylvania decision.

> 221. When a corporation may not respond for damages.

> 222. A Massachusetts decision on this subject.

§ 181. General rules.— Directors of a corporation will be held responsible to the stockholders for losses from fraud, embezzlement, willful misconduct, breach of trust and for gross inattention or negligence, as a result of which fraud has been perpetrated by agents, officers or co-directors.1 It is now well settled that directors and managers of corporations are equally within the rule which guards and restrains the dealings and transactions between trustee and cestui que trust and agent and his principal, such directors or managers being in fact trustees and agents of the bodies represented by them.2 Bank directors are not mere agents, like cashiers, tellers and clerks. It is the duty of the hoard to exercise a general supervision over the affairs of the bank and to direct and control the action of its subordinate officers in all important transactions. * * * They invite the public to deal with the corporation, and when any one accepts the invitation he has the right to expect reasonable diligence and good faith at their hands, and if they fail in either, they violate a duty they owe not only to the stockholders but to the creditors and patrons of the corporation.3 The directors of a banking or other corporation are, in the management of its affairs, only trustees for its creditors and stockholders, and are bound to administer its affairs according to the terms of its charter and in good faith. If they fail in either respect they are liable to the party in interest who is injured by it for a breach of trust and may be made to account with him in a court of chancery.4 The character of directors as Parish, 42 Md. 598; Cumberland Coal Rep. 679. & Iron Co. v. Sherman, 30 Barb. 553; 38 N. J. Law, 505; Gardner v. Butler, kuhler, 19 Kans. 60.

¹ Spering's Appeal, (1872) 71 Pa. etc., Railway Co., 69 Mo. 224; Chouteau v. Allen, 70 Mo. 290; Hubbard v. ² Cumberland Coal & Iron Co. v. N. Y., etc., Investment Co., 14 Fed.

⁸ United Society v. Underwood, 9 Stewart v. Lehigh Valley Railroad Co., Bush, 609. See, also, Bank v. Wulfe-

³⁰ N. J. Eq. 702; Kitchen v. St. Louis, 4 Bank v. St. John, 25 Ala. 566.

agents of a corporation for the management of its affairs for the benefit of its stockholders and creditors forbids the exercise of their powers for their own personal ends against the interest of the corporation. Their position is one of great trust, and to engage in any matter for their personal advantage inconsistent with it would be to violate their duty and to commit a fraud upon the company. They cannot, as agents or trustees, enter into or authorize contracts on behalf of those for whom they are appointed to act and then personally participate in the benefits. Hence all arrangements by directors of a corporation to secure an undue advantage to themselves at its expense, by the formation of a new corporation as an auxiliary to the original one, with an understanding that they, or some of them, should take stock in it, and then that valuable contracts should be given to it, in the profits of which they, as stockholders in the new corporation, are to share, are so many unlawful devices to enrich themselves to the detriment of the stockholders and creditors of the original corporation, and will be condemned whenever properly brought before courts for consideration.² A director of a corporation is a trustee of the corporation, and is under the disability which attaches to all trustees in dealing with trust property and in transacting the business pertaining to the trust. He cannot act as trustee and for himself at the same time, and will not be permitted to make a profit to himself in his dealings with the corporation. It is against public policy to allow persons occupying fiduciary relations to be placed in such positions as that there will be constant danger of a betrayal of trust by the vigorous operation of selfish motives.3

¹ Wardell v. Railroad Co., (1880) 103 505; Gardner v. Butler, 30 N. J. Eq. U. S. 651.

326; Flint & Pere Marquette Railway ors and the restrictions upon their Wall, 299.

Lehigh Valley R. R. Co., 35 N. J. Law, imperatively demand he shall manage

702; Foster v. Oxford, W. & W. Rv. ² Ibid.; citing Great Luxembourg Co., 14 Eng. Law & Eq. 306; Aber-Railway Co. o. Magnay, 25 Beav 586; deen Ry. Co. v. Blakic, 1 MacQueen Benson r. Heathorn, 1 Y. & Cal. C. C. H. L. 461. As to the duties of direct-Co. v. Dewey, 14 Mich. 477; European action in matters of the corporation & North American Railway Co. r. growing out of their trust relation in Poor, 59 Me. 277; Drury A. Cross, 7 Bird Coal & Iron Co. v. Humes, (1893) 157 Pa. St. 278; s. c., 27 Atl. Rep. ³ Barnes v. Brown, (1880) 80 N. Y. 750; 33 W. N. C. 174, Mr. Justice 527; citing Risley r. Indianapolis, B. DEAN said: "A director is a trustee & W. R. R. Co., 62 N. Y. 240; Butts for the entire body of stockholders. v. Wood, 37 N. Y. 317; Stewart r. and both good morals and good law

§ 182. General rules continued.—A director of a corporation cannot become a contractor with the corporation nor can he have any personal or pecuniary interest in a contract between the cor-directors of this road were evidently fits of it." acting in two inconsistent capacities.

all the business affairs of the company As directors they were bound to watch with a view to promote, not his own and protect the interests of the road interests, but the common interests, and obtain the rolling stock upon the and he cannot directly or indirectly most advantageous terms. As holders derive any personal profit and advan- of the car trust certificates, or repretage by reason of his position distinct sentatives of such holders, it was to from his co-shareholders. 1 Potter on their interest to lease the same at the Corp. § 330; Moraw. on Corp. 517, best possible rate and to make sure 518. And by assuming the office he that as directors this rolling stock undertakes to give his best judgment should never become their property in the interests of the corporation in except at the highest price. In other all matters in which he acts for it un- words, they were both buyers and selitrammeled by any hostile interest in ers or lessors and lessees of the same himself or others. There is an inherent property," and their action was conobligation as his part that he will in demned by the court upon authority no manner use his position to advance of the cases of Wardell v. Railroad his own interest as an individual as Co., 103 U. S. 651, Gilman, etc., Raildistinguished from that of the corpo- road Co. r. Kelly, 77 Ill. 426; Whelpration. Cumberland Coal & Iron Co. r. dale v. Cookson, 1 Ves. Sr. 9; Drury Parish, 42 Md. 598; Hill v. Frazier, 22 v. Cross, 7 Wall 299; York Buildings Pa. St. 320. And all secret profits de- Co. v. Mackenzie, 3 Paton (Scotch) App. rived by him in any dealings in regard Cas. 378; People v. Overyssel Townto the corporate enterprise must be ship Board, 11 Mich. 222, and others. accounted for to the corporation, even The competency of the mortgagee to though the transaction in which they impeach this transaction was queswere made advantaged the corporationed in McGourkey v. Toledo & Ohio tion of which he was director. Par- Central Ry. Co., supra. Upon this ker v. Nickerson, 112 Mass. 195," question it was said: "A contract of Fiduciary relation of directors to this kind is clearly voidable at the elecshareholders discussed, and English tion of the corporation, and when such and American decisions on the sub- corporation is represented by the directject examined. 26 Can. Law J. 66. ors against whom the imputation is In McGourkey v. Toledo & Ohio made, and the scheme was in reality di-Central Ry. Co., (1892) 146 U. S. 536, rected against the mortgagees, and had a case involving the right of the pur- for its very object the impairment of chasers of railway property under a their security by the withdrawal of foreclosure sale to certain rolling the property purchased from the lien stock which was claimed to be the of their mortgage, it would be maniproperty of those representing a festly unjust to deny their compe-"contract," the Supreme Court of the tency to impeach the transaction. United States, speaking through Mr. The principle itself would be of no Justice Brown, thus refers to the acts value if the very party whose rights of the directors in the matter: "The were sacrificed were denied the beneporation and a third person.1 A board of directors who have made a barter of the assets of the corporation for personal gain cannot, by an act purporting to be an acceptance for the corporation of an equivalent for the assets, conclude the stockholders or their representatives from showing that no equivalent was actually received.2 Officers of a corporation have the custody and charge of its property, and occupy the relation of trustees of the stockholders. They have no right to enter into or participate in a combination as, in this case, with a holder of a few bonds secured by a mortgage of the property of the corporation, a railroad company, who had obtained a judgment upon his bonds in a state court and entered into an agreement with certain officers to have a sale of the property in an obscure place unknown to others interested and buy in the property, the object of which combination is to divest the corporation of its property and obtain it for themselves at a sacrifice, or at the lowest price possible. To seek their own profit at the expense of the corporation, its stockholders, or even its bondholders, is forbidden by their relation to the corporation.3 It being the duty of a director of a corporation to know its financial condition, he cannot avail himself of any dereliction of such duty to secure a personal advantage over other creditors of the corporation.4 Directors acting honestly for what they esteem the best interests of the corporation. and not willfully perverting their powers, but only misjudging them, will not be held to account for money expended in such case.5 The directors of a corporation created for the sale of lands may reject offers for the lands, this being within their discretion, and though imprudently done, if there be no fraud, they will not be liable for any loss resulting therefrom.6 Where expenditures may be made by directors of a corporation in carrying out its prime object, even if such expenditures be ultra vires, stockholders knowing of them and not objecting until long after their completion, cannot compel the directors of the corporation

¹ Port v. Russell, 36 Ind. 60.

³ Jackson v. Ludeling (1874) 21 Wall. 616, ordering the setting aside and can- 2 Atl. Rep. 852. celing as fraudulent and void the sale and purchase of the property by 370. these conspirators and holding them to account for all moneys and profits re-² Guild v. Parker. 43 N. J. Law, ceived by them out of the property or its use.

⁴ Clay v. Towle, 78 Me. 86; s. c.,

⁵ Watts' Appeal, (1875) 78 Pa. St.

⁶ Ibid.

to account for the moneys expended. When the act of directors of a corporation complained of is to be followed by large expenditure of money a stockholder should not only make his protest within a reasonable time, but should follow it up by active preventive measures. Six years', for instance, omission to proceed will effectually har a stockholder's right to an action against directors for the misuse of corporate property.2 A court of equity will set aside the sale of corporate property sold for much less than its value, on a sale by trustees of a corporate mortgage, if shown that one of the trustees had accepted a bribe. A contract in the name of a corporation, by its board of directors, is not void, if otherwise unassailable, simply because some of the directors constituting a minority may use their position with the effect, or even for the purpose, of advancing their personal interests to the injury of the corporation they assume to represent.4 The courts will refuse to enforce an agreement between a director of a corporation and a third party whereby the director agrees to use his vote and influence to the disadvantage of the corporation.5 Directors of a corporation, as they are managing the funds as trustees of the stockholders, have no right to use or appropriate the funds of their cestui que trust to themselves. They have no power to waste, destroy, give away or misapply it, and, therefore, where there is no salary provided for their services they are not authorized to vote one to themselves or to any one of their number.6 A court of equity will scrutinize with vigorous and jealous observation any attempt of directors of a corporation to make a pledge of its assets in favor of themselves.7 and officers of a corporation from their position of trust, which requires that they act in the utmost good faith, will not be allowed to deal with corporate funds and property for their private gain.8 The application of the corporate assets of an insolvent corpora-

¹ Ibid.

² Ibid.

³ White Mountains Railroad N. II. 50.

⁴ Jesup v. Illinois Central R. Co., (1890) 43 Fed. Rep. 483.

⁵ Attaway v. Third National Bank, (1887) 93 Mo. 485; s. c., 5 S. W. Rep. 16.

⁶ Holder v. La Fayette, Bloomington & Mississippi Ry. Co., (1873) 71 Ill. 106; Gridley v. La Fayette, Bloom-White Mountains (N. H.) Railroad, 50 ington & Mississippi Ry. Co., (1878) 71 III. 200.

⁷ Chouteau v. Allen, (1879) 70 Mo.

^{*} Ward v. Davidson, (1886) 89 Mo. 445.

tion to debts due the officers, to the exclusion of other creditors, by such officers will not be permitted. A trustee of a corporation can make no agreement for the appropriation of the property of the corporation, authorized by his own vote, that will be valid against the corporation. And where an action is brought against a trustee to compel him to account to the corporation for its property thus appropriated, he cannot defend on the ground that he was a creditor of the corporation and voted as one of its trustees to transfer the property of the corporation to himself as a creditor to pay the debt of the corporation due to him, and then, at a subsequent meeting of the board, by his own vote, carried a resolution to ratify such disposition of the property.² In a case where the controlling directors of two corporations were the same persons it was held that a preferential mortgage given by one to the other, as security for payments and liabilities resulting from an acceptance of drafts by the latter for the accommodation of the former, was invalid because it operated to protect the officers of the accepting company against personal liability for their maladministration in accepting paper for accommodation.8 A corporation having been officially declared insolvent by its directors, and they having determined to wind up its affairs with a view of paying its debts, the directors cannot deliver the assets

¹ McNeill v. Lacey, (1890) 33 all. officer to loan money to a corporation and taken aid notes to be used in build- (1890) 135 Ill. 655; s. c., 26 N. E. Rep. ing obligations, the court held that an in which the transactions of the corpoother directors.

1026.

Fed. Rep. 231. As to the right of an to acts by directors where their inter-

App. 310. In Hart v. Brockway, 57 and take a mortgage to secure the Mich. 189; s. c., 23 N. W. Rep. 725, loan upon the same terms and in the where the directors of a railway cor- same manner as other persons, see poration had collected subscriptions Mullanphy Savings Bank v. Schott ing the road and in discharging exist- 640, affirming 34 Ill. App. 500. Cases individual director could not apply ration with its directors were held to such funds as he had collected to the be valid. Hannerty v. Standard payment of his own personal share of Theater Co., (1891) 109 Mo. 297; s. c., any obligation made jointly with the 19 S. W. Rep. 82; In re Pyle Works. (1891) 1 Ch. 173. What class of con-⁹ Gildersleeve v. Lester, (1893) tracts made by directors with each 68 Hun, 532; s. c., 22 N. Y. Supp. other are voidable. Mallory v. Mallory-Wheeler Co., (1891) 61 Conn. 131; s. c., ³ Hutchinson v. Sutton Manufactur- 23 Atl. Rep. 708. An illustration of a ing Co., (1893) 57 Fed. Rep. 998. See, case in which a director cannot sell to also, Lippincott v. Carriage Co., 25 himself. Green v. Hugo, (1891) 81 Fed. Rep. 577; Howe v. Tool Co., 44 Tex. 452; s. c., 17 S. W. Rep. 79. As of the corporation to one of the board in payment of his debt, to the exclusion of its other creditors.1

$ 183. Breaches of trust.—Should directors pay over the funds of a corporation in their hands or in its treasury to an individual upon a pretended claim which they know, or must be presumed to know, is wholly unfounded in law, they will be guilty of a breach of trust.2 Directors of a bank are personally responsible for damages resulting to the bank from their acts or neglect.3 The measure of damages in an action against them would be the extent of the injury.4 Officers of a bank are the agents of the corporation, and will be held liable for the abuse of their trust wherever the agents of an individual will be. Directors are

r. Mining Co, 37 Vt. 608.

Williams v. Jackson County Patrons of Husbandry, (1886) 23 Mo App 132.

² Butts v. Wood, (1862) 38 Barb, 181. In this case one who was secretary and treasurer of the corporation, as well as the poard of directors for compensation for his services as secretary, and be paid by the vote of the three di York, in General Term, speaking through Johnson, J., said: "The in duty bound to pronounce this disposition of the funds of the company, thus made, fraudulent and void as against the other stockholders. It is a allowed to stand."

³ Percy v. Millaudon, 3 La. 568.

4 Ibid. In Ilion Bank r. Carver, est is adverse to the corporation, see $15,000, for $17,250, to an irresponsi-Waite v. Mining Co, 36 Vt 18, Waite ble person, and with the connivance of his son, who was the cashier of the bank, this irresponsible pretended purchaser of stock hypothecated the stock for a loan of the largest amount named above, and received bills of the bank for the same. It was charged in the action that this was a conspiracy beone its directors, presented a claim to tween these parties by which the bank was to be crippled and the president to realize for his stock from the bank the claim was allowed and ordered to more than its real value. It was held that whether the transaction was rectors present, himself being one of treated as a willful violation of the them, his father another, and a relative duty which the president and cashier the third. The Supreme Court of New owed to the bank, growing out of their official relations to it, or as a direct conspiracy to cripple and defraud it, transaction challenges the most jealous the parties concerned in it were liable and severe scrutiny, even if there was to the bank for the damages which it legal color for the claim. But as there had sustained in consequence of their was in fact no legal claim the court is acts. Further, that in such a case no luches on the part of the bank, short of the Statute of Limitations, would constitute a defense to the action.

⁵ Austin r. Daniels, (1847) 4 Denio, clear abuse of trust, and should not be 299. In this case the officers of the bank purchased state stocks to carry on a private undertaking in which they were engaged, and signed a con-(1857) 31 Barb. 230, it appeared that a tract obliging the bank to pay for the director of the bank, its president, pre- stock, and then took money from the tended to sell his stock, amounting to bank to fulfill their engagement. They authorized to manage and conduct the business of a corporation. to audit and pay its debts and make such contracts as are within the ordinary scope and business of the corporation. They are not, however, authorized to vote away the funds of the stockholders upon claims known by them to be fictitious or unfounded, for such would be a breach of their trust. They have not the power, as directors, to mortgage or consolidate the corporation with any other corporation, or compel stockholders to surrender up the stock owned by them, or to accept stock in another corporation. This power exists only in the stockholders.1 Directors of a corporation knowingly issuing bonds of the corporation falsely purporting to be "first mortgage bonds," and placing them in the hands of an agent who sold them to a purchaser who was ignorant of the fact that they were not first mortgage bonds, have been held liable to the purchaser of the bonds who suffered by the deception of the indorsement upon the bonds that they were "first mortgage bonds." It is beyond doubt that the directors of a banking or other corporation are, in the management of its affairs, only trustees for its creditors and stockholders, and are bound to administer its affairs according to the terms of its charter and in good faith. If they fail in either respect they are liable to the party in interest who is injured by it for a breach of trust, and may be made to account with him in a court of chan-bank for the money so taken. The 42. money, it appeared further, was taken v. Depeyster, 1 Edw. 513.

¹Kelsey v. Sargent, (1886) 40 Hun, were held liable to the receiver of the 150; citing Blatchford v. Ross, 54 Barb.

² Clark r. Edgar, (1884) 84 Mo. 106, for this purpose by the cashier with affirming s. c , 12 Mo. App. 345. In the assent of the president, the finan- Bartholomew v. Bentley, (1852) 1 Ohic cial officer of the bank. It was further St. 37, the Supreme Court of Ohio, in held that this assent of the president which a verdict had been rendered in did not protect the cashier, as it ap- the Supreme Court on circuit in favor peared that he was a party to the pri- of a holder of bills of a bank against vate enterprise in which the money its managing officers under the statute was to be used. As to the liability of of that state, allowing a recovery the directors of a moneyed institution against unauthorized bankers, and the for improperly obtaining and dispos- case reserved to the Supreme Court on ing of the funds or property of the a motion for a new trial, the court corporation, see Franklin Fire Insur- denied the motion, holding that the ance Co. r. Jenkins, 3 Wend. 130. As fraud upon the charter, and the comto the degree of diligence required bination to defraud the public would from directors of a corporation in the prevent those participating in it from case of its corporate affairs, see Scott claiming any protection under its provisions to escape private responsibility.

cery.1 Should a bank allow its stockholders to withdraw its funds to the amount of their subscriptions, and to use them without security, in their private business, such conduct will be a fraud on its creditors which would render its directors liable in equity for the amount so withdrawn, and each agent who participated in the fraud individually responsible for the amount traced to his hands and all profits made from its use.2 It was further held in this case that the surrender to the bank's agent of its notes, and the acceptance from him of his draft on a third person, was but the substitution of one security for another, and did not extinguish the original liability on the notes, unless the draft was drawn in good faith and accepted as an absolute payment and discharge of the notes; and even if it was through the fraud of the agent accepted as an absolute payment, the fraud would prevent it from so operating.3 Directors of a moneyed corporation who release shareholders from the payment in full of their shares. would be guilty of a breach of trust.4

§ 184. Officers interested in contracts with a corporation.

-Under the general authority giving to the president and cashier of a bank entire control of all financial matters of the bank, unrestricted by the by-laws or rules of the board of directors or stockholders, the Supreme Court of Minnesota has held they could not bind the bank by any contract to which they, or either of them, were parties.⁵ A contract made between a

Corp. of Leicester, 7 Beav. 176.

Powers & Co., (1854) 25 Ala. 566.

3 Ibid.

¹ Bank of St. Marys v. St. John, own private business, in payment for Powers & Co., (1854) 25 Ala. 566, cit- a purchase made for his own benefit ing Attorney-General v. Aspinall, 2 A general authority to transact the Myl. & Cr. 625; Attorney-General r. business and manage the finances of Kell, 2 Beav. 575; Attorney-General c. the bank would not authorize such a use of its property. Nor do we see ² Bank of St. Marys v. St. John, that the case of defendant is in any way aided by trying to make out of it a satisfaction of the note by sub-4 Walton v Hake, (1881) 9 Mo. App. stituting for it the promise of [the president] to the cashier that he would ⁵ Rhodes, Assignee, r. Webb, (1877) pay to the bank the amount of the 24 Minn. 292. GILFILLAN, Ch. J., note; for general authority in the said: "The transaction [in this case], president and cashier to make conbriefly stated, was an attempt by the tracts on behalf of the bank would be president to use the property of the subject to the rule of law that an bank, this note, [upon which the agent or trustee cannot bind his prinassignee's suit was brought], in his cipal, or cestui que trust, by a contract corporation and one of its directors to the pecuniary advantage of that director, if made at a meeting of the board of directors when he is present and takes part in the proceedings, is void.1 Directors of a railway corporation, to whom it has been confided made by him on behalf of his prin- resolutions relating to this prefcipal, or cestui que trust, with himself. erence, was held not to be liable General authority in these officers to personally, to the judgment creditor. their own notes. Such authority to rectors with the corporation 25 N. Y. 293. confided to them."

make discounts would not authorize Cases bearing more or less upon the them to bind the bank by discounting non-enforceability of contracts of dithe president of a bank to certify v. Port Henry Iron Co., 12 Barb. 27, checks drawn on it does not extend to Buffalo, etc., R. R. Co. v. Lampson, checks drawn by himself. [Citing] 47 Barb. 533, Morrison v. Ogdensburg Claffin v. Farmers & Citizens' Bank. & L. C. R. Co., 52 Barb. 173; Alford This restraint upon v. Miller, 32 Conn. 543; Coons v. Tonie, agents, and those occupying fiduciary 9 Fed. Rep. 532; Stout v. Yaeger, 13 positions, is essential to secure Fed, Rep. 802; Gray r. New York & absolutely fair dealing and adequate Virginia S. Co., 3 Hun, 388; Mayor of protection to those whose interests are Grifflin r. Inman, 57 Ga. 370; Bestor r. In Adams r. Wathen, 60 Ill. 138; Harts r. Brown, Kehlor Milling Co., (1888) 36 Fed. 77 Ill. 226; Paine v. Lake Erie & L. R. Rep. 212, a preference was granted by Co., 31 Ind. 283; First National Bank the directors of the corporation known v. Gifford, 47 Iowa, 575; Cumberland to be insolvent to the estate of one Coal & Iron Co. v. Parish, 42 Md. 598; who was a director and its president, Redmond v. Dickerson, 9 N. J. Eq. 515; deceased. The board at the time con- Gardner v. Butler, 30 N. J. Eq. 702; sisted of three persons; two of whom Claffin v. Farmers', etc., Bank, 25 N. were brothers of deceased, and one of Y. 293; U. S. Rolling Stock Co. v. Atthem his agent voting his stock at lantic & Great Western R. Co., 34 corporation meetings. One of the Ohio St. 450; McAleer v. McMurray, 58 brothers was a creditor of the estate Pa. St. 126; West St. Louis Sav. Bank preferred. It was held that the pref- v. Shawnee County Bank, 95 U. S. erence under the circumstances was 557; Cook v. Berlin Woolen M. Co., 43 illegal, and that an unsecured judg- Wis. 433. In Hubbard v. New York, ment creditor of the corporation was N. E. & W. Investment Co., (1882) 14 entitled to recover of the two directors Fed. Rep. 675, 676, Nelson, D. J., who were brothers of the deceased, said: "A director of a corporation is who had voted for the preference, not absolutely prohibited by law from such percentage of his debt as he entering into a contract with the corwould have received if the sum poration through his co-directors. wrongfully paid by way of preference Whether such a contract is binding had been divided pro rata among all upon the corporation must depend the unsecured creditors; but the other upon its terms and the circumstances director, not being present at any under which it was made. Owing to of the meetings of the directors, the peculiar relation which the directand not voting for any of the ors owe to the corporation, being to purchase the right of way for its road, will not be allowed to expend the funds of the corporation in expensive erections upon land necessary for the purpose, and at the same time to purchase or hire the land in their individual right and avail themselves of the title thus acquired to make extortionate demands of the corporation for the use of the land, and in default of submission to such demands, to destroy the erections they may have made as agents for and at the expense of the corporation. That some of the directors and stockholders of a corporation who, as such, voted for a resolution authorizing the execution of mortgages of its property to secure certain debts may have been guarantors and indorsers upon most of them will not invalidate the mortgages.2 It appeared in a case in the federal courts that the strictly trustees, and their position be- settled rules forbade their [the directing in every sense fiduciary, their con- ors] acquiring for themselves the proptracts with the corporation should be crty which it was their duty to acquire scanned, if not with suspicion, at least for the company, and which was necwith the most scrupulous care. The essary for its purposes Such a dealvalidity of such a contract must, there- ing would be equally objectionable as fore, depend upon the nature and purchasing from the company land terms of the contract itself, and the which it was their duty to sell on its circumstances under which it is made. behalf. In respect to this last class of The motives of the parties are not dealings directors of corporations stand necessarily material, but the effect of upon the same footing as ordinary the provisions of the contract must be trustees. Citing Aberdeen Railway Co. especially regarded, and if they are v. Blakie, 1 MacQueen, 461; Hoffman pernicious and tend to work a fraud Coal Co.r. ('umberland Coal & Iron Co., on the rights of the corporation and 16 Md. 456; Cumberland Coal & Iron Co. stockholders, in such case the directors r. Sherman, 30 Barb. 553. It is a rule must be regarded as having no au- of equity of universal application that thority to enter into it." Applying no person can be permitted to purthese rules to the case in hand, the chase an interest in property when he court held a contract made by a di- has a duty to perform in relation to rector with the corporation, granting such property which is inconsistent to him enormous commissions without with the character of a purchaser." regard to the debts or other liabilities [Citing] Ringo ?. Binns, 10 Pet. 269; of the corporation, to affect injuriously Van Epps v. Van Epps, 9 Paige, 238; the rights of the stockholders and to Torrey v. Bank of Orleans, 9 Paige, give this director a right, without re- 649; s. c., on appeal, 7 Hill, 260; Cargard to the rights of the creditors or ter v. Palmer, 1 Dru. & Walsh, 792; the liabilities of the corporation, to be York Buildings Co. n. Mackenzie, 8 unreasonable and beyond the powers Bro. P. C. 42; Gardner v. Ogden, 22 of his co-directors to make with him. N. Y. 327; Anderson r. Lemon, 8 N.

¹ Atlanta Hill Mining Co.v. Andrews, Butts v. Wood, 37 N. Y. 317; Kelsey (1887) 55 N. Y. Super. Ct. 93; citing v. Sargent, 40 Hun, 150.

¹ Blake c. Buffalo Creek R. R. Co., Y. 236. (1874) 56 N. Y. 485. RAPALLO, J., ² Brown v. Grand Rapids Parlor

speaking for the court, said: "Well- Furniture Co., 58 Fed. Rep. 286; s. c., directors of a manufacturing corporation and one other stockholder conceived the idea that more extensive works for their business should be erected. When submitted the proposition failed to receive the approval of the majority of the stockholders. Thereupon these parties, with their own funds, erected such buildings for the purpose of carrying on the same business. The corporation, through its meetings, afterwards determined to purchase this property of these directors and their associate. The latter sold it at a profit to the corporation, but not for an unconscionable price. The directors had refrained from voting in the meeting of stockholders which determined to purchase until it was ascertained by them that a majority of the stock represented favored the purchase. After a lapse of two years a stockholder sought to make these directors account for the profits they had made to the corporation. It was held in the United States Circuit Court for the western district of Pennsylvania that neither the stockholder nor the corporation was entitled to such relief, there having been shown no fraud, nor other conduct contrary to their duty growing out of their fiduciary character on the part of these directors in the transaction.1 It appeared in another case in the federal court that one, acting as agent for the promoters who subsequently organized a corporation and became its original stockholders, made a contract with another corporation for a safety vault for the use of the corporation the promoters of which he represented. It was to be furnished for $7,250 cash; the agent induced them to give him a contract specifying the consideration to be $13,000, and also upon the statement a false credit of $5,750 as paid by him; for this latter sum he received from the company he represented shares of its stock at par value. which was issued to him in consideration of his supposed payment of that amount. In this action the corporation contracting with the agent was held liable to the company he represented for 7 C. C. A. 225, following Bank of Co. v. Kittel, 52 Fed. Rep. 63; s. c., 2 Montreal v. J. E. Potts Salt & Lumber U. S. App. 409; 2 C. C. A. 615. construction contract made with the Fed. Rep. 86; s. c., 6 C. C. A. 260, corporation, see Augusta, T. & G. R.

Co., 90 Mich. 845; s. c., 51 N. W. Rep. Barr v. Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., 512. That a contract is not made void (1892) 51 Fed. Rep. 33; affirmed by the by the simple fact that the president United States Circuit Court of Apof a railroad corporation, unknown to peals for the third circuit in Barr v. the other directors, has an interest in a Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., (1898) 57 the amount which he had thus fraudulently obtained from it. The court also held that the fact that the agent was also a stockholder in the plaintiff corporation did not affect its right to recover for the fraud perpetrated; and further, that where the fraudulent contract was made by defendant's president, who was its managing officer, and made its contracts, the defendant could not escape liability on the ground that this transaction was conducted by the president without its knowledge or concurrence.1

§ 185. Directors of an insolvent corporation preferring themselves to other creditors.—The majority of the directors of a manufacturing corporation organized under the laws of Illinois, with knowledge of its insolvency, paid off certain debts of the corporation, for which they were liable as guarantors, and took a judgment note of the corporation therefor, due one day after date, without grace, under which judgment was confessed in favor of such directors, and all the property of the company was levied on by execution issued on that judgment. The Supreme Court of Illinois held that the acts of the directors in attempting to secure themselves at the expense of other creditors were fraudulent and void, and were properly set aside at the instance of such other creditors.2 The directors of an embar-

45 Fed. Rep. 671.

¹ Grand Rapids Safety Deposit Co. ing the solvency of the corporation, v. Cincinnati Safe & Lock Co., (1891) the directors are the agents or trustees of the stockholders, and owe no duties ² Roseboom v. Whittaker, (1890) 132 or obligations to others, but that the Ill. 81. BATLEY, J., for the court, in instant the corporation becomes insolsupport of this holding, said: "There vent, their relations and duties become can be no doubt of the propriety of so materially changed. The assets of the much of the decree as declares the corporation then become a trust fund judgment by confession to be fraudu- for the payment of its creditors, and lent and void as against the creditors the directors can no longer deal with of the corporation, and orders it to be them for their own advantage, or in vacated. This precise question was such way as to gain priority for themfully and claborately discussed by this selves over other creditors. They are court in Beach v. Miller, 130 Ill. 162, then within the scope of that wise and and the rule there laid down must be equitable rule adopted by courts of held to control the present case. We equity for the protection of centui que there held that, so long as a corpora- trustent or beneficiaries, which protion remains solvent, its directors may, hibits trustees and persons standing in with the knowledge of the stockhold- similar fiduciary relations to exercise ers, deal with the corporation, loan it their powers or manage or appropriate money, take security or buy property the property of which they have conof it. the same as a stranger; that, dur- trol for their own profit or emolument, rassed corporation, holding claims against it which they wished to protect, had the notes of the corporation payable to themselves drawn and antedated, and had them discounted by a bank. They then caused to be executed a deed of trust conveying all the assets of the corporation as security for these notes, among others. It was held in the United States Circuit Court for the western district of Missouri, in a proceeding by unsecured creditors to set it aside, that, being a security for debts upon which the directors were themselves liable as indorsers, it was, in effect, a preference to themselves, and fraudulent and void.1 or, as it is sometimes expressed, shall v. Marbury, 91 U. S. 587. In Graham v. trust."

sas City Varnish Co., (1891) 45 Fed. benefit of its stockholders and cred-Rep. 7. Philips, J., after referring iters. A court of equity, at the into the apparent insolvency of the cor- stance of the proper parties, will then poration, said: "When a corporation, take those trust funds, which, in other in its business affairs, is thus in articula circumstances, are as much the absomortis, whatever may yet be main- lute property of the corporation as tained on divided opinions as to its any man's property is his. The most right to dispose of its property so as recent discussion of this question is to to give a preference to some general be found in the very able opinion of creditor, the law is too well settled, at Judge Woods, in Howe r. Tool Co., 44 least in this jurisdiction, to admit of Fed. Rep. 231. I cannot better exextended discussion that its directors press the strength of the reason why a cannot make a disposition of the assets director should not be permitted to so as to secure themselves, directly or prefer himself, under circumstances indirectly, a preference over general like those under review, than by quotcreditors. This is the rule of the Mis- ing his language: 'A sound public souri courts. Williams r. Jones, 23 policy and a sense of common fairness not take advantage of their situation Railroad Co., 102 U.S. 161, Mr. Justo obtain any personal benefit to them-tice BRADLEY said: 'When a corporaselves at the expense of the cestui que tion becomes insolvent, it is so financially dead that its property may be 1 Consolidated Tank Line Co. r. Kan-administered as a trust fund for the Mo. App. 132; Mill Co. r. Kampe, 38 forbid that the directors or managing Mo. App. 229; Roan c. Winn, 93 Mo. agents of a business corporation, when 503; s. c., 4 S. W. Rep. 736. It is not disaster has befallen or threatens the too much to say that it is the estab- enterprise, shall be permitted to conlished doctrine of the federal courts, vert their powers of management and It is strongly maintained by Judge their intimate, or, it may be, exclusive, Thayer in the eastern district of this knowledge of the corporate affairs into state. White, etc., Manufacturing Co. means of self-protection, to the harm v. Pettes Importing ('o., 30 Fed. Rep. of other creditors. They ought not to 865; Adams v. Milling Co., 35 Fed. Rep. be competitors in a contest of which 433. See, also, Lippincott v. Carriage they must be the judges. The neces-Co., 25 Fed. Rep. 577; Koehler v. Iron sity for this limitation upon the right Co., 2 Black, 715-721; Railroad Co. v. to give preferences among creditors, Howard,7 Wall. 892; Twin-Lick Oil Co. when asserted by a corporation, may prises and interests, I think, will comences are fairly given is an impractica ordinary cases, no means of discover presumption to the contrary should in every case be conclusive. Concedethat it is a question of proof, and that a preference in favor of a director will be deemed valid if fairly given, and it may as well be declared to be a part of the law of corporations that, in cases of insolvency, debts to directors, and liabilities in which they have a special interest, may first be discharged That will be the practical effect, and the examples will multiply of indi-'When we consider the rapid develop- Fed. Rep. 435.''" not have been perceived in earlier ment of corporations as instrumentalitimes, but the growing importance and ties of the commercial and business variety of modern corporate enter- world, in the last few years, with the corresponding necessity of adapting pel its recognition and adoption, legal principles to the new and vary-Whether or not such prefering exigencies of this business, it is no solid objection to such a principle that ble inquiry, because there can be, in it is modern, for the occasion for it could not sooner have arisen.' It was ing the truth, and consequently the insisted on behalf of the banks that. although the deed of trust might be voidable as against the directors, yet the banks were to be regarded as bond fide purchasers. To this it was said: 'But are the banks such purchasers? In the first place, they parted with nothing on the faith of the deed. They loaned the money, as their evidence shows, on the indorsement of the directors. They never asked for this deed. They did not know of its existence until after it was executed vidual enterprises prosecuted under and recorded. They may be accorded the guise of corporate organizations the presumption of the law in their for the purpose, not only of escaping favor that where such a deed is for the ordinary risks of business done in their benefit, they are presumed to acthe owner's name, which may be legiti- cept its provisions. But it is apparent mate enough, but of enabling the pro- on the face of the deed, and from the moters and managers, when failure facts known to the banks, that the comes, to appropriate the remains of deed inured to the benefit of the dithe wreck by declaring themselves rectors as indorsers of the notes held favored creditors. Besides, in consist- by the banks. The banks could not, ency with that equality which equity therefore, take without being privy to loves, such favors involve too many the wrong attempted by the directors. possibilities of dishonesty and success- If the law were otherwise, the rule ful fraud to be tolerated in an enlight- could be of no avail which seeks to ened system of jurisprudence.' The prevent such directors from prefersame thought was in the mind of Mr. ring debts in the payment of which Justice Miller, in Sawyer v. Hoag, they have a personal interest,' as de-17 Wall. 620, when he observed: clared in Adams v. Milling Co., 85 became the directors of the new corporation, and they arranged a plan by which the construction of the road was to be done by a syndicate composed of themselves, and when completed a contract of lease of this connecting road, which had $1,000,000 of bonds issued upon it and $500,000 of shares of stock, the lessee company guaranteeing interest of seven per cent upon the bonds and dividends of seven per cent upon the shares of stock, as a The main corporation, the lessee, going rental for the road. through insolvency, the hands of a receiver, and finally into a new corporation, it having been sold to a purchasing committee, and reorganized, continued to use the property leased. At the suggestion of the receiver the shares of the stock of the lessor company were purchased by the successors of the lessee company to such an amount as would give them control of the company, as a means of reducing the rental of this desirable and indispensable The successors then suspended the payment of the guaranteed dividend upon the shares. This resulted in the bringing of this action by the few individual holders of the stock against the company then using the property under the lease to enforce a specific performance of the contract of guarantee of The one question as to the liability of the successor of the lessee company remaining, in the opinion of the court, was whether the taint of original fraud in the procurement of the lease operated to prevent the enforcement of the obligations of that instrument. In discussing the question, Gray, J., delivering the opinion, said: "That the contract of lease was voidable and quite indefensible because of the immoral conduct of the directors, who abused their trust in procuring its execution, I quite concede. The proofs could lead to no other finding than that the lease and the rental guarantee were the work of a combination or syndicate composed of members from the boards of directors of the two companies, who caused the same to be made by the [lessee company] for purposes of their own individual gain and in fraud of that company's rights. The identity of certain of the directors of each company when the lease was made, the interest of four of these common directors in the contract for the construction of the [lessor company's] road, and in the stock and bonds to be guaranteed, as a condition of the leasing of the road, stamped the whole transaction as a fraud upon the [lessee company], and brought it under the condemnation of the rule which forbids those who fill fiduciary positions from making use of them to benefit their personal interests." 1 But while holding this contract of lease by the lessee railroad corporation and a guaranty of interest on bonds and dividends upon stock to be tainted with fraud by reason of the original transaction and voidable at the option of the lessee corporation, the Court of Appeals held that by acquiescence and use of the property for so long a time the complainant, successor to the original lessee, had so far ratified the contract that it could not ask of a court of equity to rescind it.2

§ 186. Directors contracting with a syndicate composed of themselves - when such a contract cannot be rescinded. - One of the late cases before the New York Court of Appeals presents as facts that a railroad corporation of that state, through its directors, recognizing the importance of a connection by rail with another point, promoted the building of a street line of railway to accomplish this purpose. The directors of this road

§ 187. Directors issuing shares of stock to themselves.— A Kansas corporation, an agricultural society, had been organized with a capital stock of $5,000, divided into 1,000 shares of $5 each, and 590 shares of said stock were subscribed, but no notice was ever given and published where books of subscription would be open. The corporation continued in existence seven years, and became possessed of valuable real estate, and afterwards sold the same. After this sale, the officers and directors of the corporation, without the knowledge or consent of the other stockholders, issued to themselves the remaining stock at par value, and then declared a dividend upon the entire stock issued of $25 per share. In an action by a stockholder to enjoin these officers and directors from paying out such dividend and to cancel the stock issued to themselves, the Kansas Supreme Court held that the action of the officers and directors was without authority and in fraud of the rights of the other stockholders and a plain breach of duty upon the part of such officers.'

26 N E. Rep. 145.

² Ibid.

long as there are shares to be taken; sold, and the proceeds [of the sale]

¹ Barr v. New York, L. E. & W. R. that the corporation has no power to R. Co., (1891) 125 N. Y. 263, 274, s. c., prescribe the character or qualification of its stockholders; that the policy of the law, as declared by express terms ⁸ Arkansas Valley Agricultural So- of the statute, is to make corporations ciety v. Eichholtz, (1891) 45 Kans. 164. open to all persons alike to become The directors claimed before the court members and stockholders, etc. The that the taking of stock in a corpora- Supreme Court said: "This rule, as tion stood upon a different footing applied to the directors or officers of a than ordinary contracts of corpora- corporation, cannot be upheld. The tions in prosecuting the business en- principle of public policy forbids terprises for which they are organized; transactions of this kind. It appears that any person has a right to sub- from the evidence that the property scribe for stock in any corporation, so owned by this corporation had been § 188. Officers profiting by their relation to the corporation.— The directors of a corporation cannot speculate with the funds or credit of the corporation and appropriate to themselves the profits of the speculation; neither can they make sales, as purchasers for the corporation, and take advantage of their position as directors, and either directly or indirectly speculate upon the corporation. I Holding the fiduciary relation they do to the stockholders of the corporation, its directors and managers cannot be permitted to acquire interests adverse to such relation.2 Thus, a director contracting with certain parties for the construction of a railroad for the corporation he represents, cannot receive or time of the sale belonged to the then affairs of a corporation for their perstockholders, and the directors and sonal and private advantage, and this officers had no right to subscribe for rule, we think, applies to the disposithe remaining stock at par, and enrich tion of unsubscribed stock, as well as themselves to the detriment and loss to other contracts. The character and of the other shareholders. The direct- relation of directors and officers of ors cannot lawfully benefit or favor a corporation require of them the any particular shareholder or class highest and most scrupulous good of shareholders. possessed by them is a power and poration and the stockholders." Hale discretion in the directors, who are r. Bridge Co., 8 Kans. 466, and author trustees for the benefit of all the ities there cited; Ryan v. L. A. & N shareholders alike, which is to be W. Ry. Co., 21 Kana. 365; Hentig i exercised for the benefit of all of them. Sweet, 33 Kans 244. As to what 1 Waterman on Corp. 620; Harris r. directors may do, see Holder v. La N. D. Rld. Co., 20 Beav. 384. The Fayette R R Co., 71 Ill. 106; Rollins effort on the part of the directors and r. Clay, 33 Me. 132, Abbott v. Ameriofficers of a society to obtain the un- can Hard Rubber Co., 33 Barb. 578; subscribed stock at par, when they Bedford R. Co. r Bowser, 48 Pa. St. knew that each share of the stock 29; Taylor r. Miami Export Co., 5 already issued was worth eighteen Ohio, 162, 19 Cent. Law J. 305-310; times its face value, was clearly a 18 Cent. Law J. 130; Union Mut. of such association. The officers and 587. directors of a corporation are trustees of the stockholders, and in securing J. Eq. 507. As to president and di to themselves an advantage not com- rectors not being allowed to speculate mon to all the stockholders, they com- in claims against the corporation, see mit a plain breach of duty. Koehler McDonald v. Haughton, (1874) 70 N. C. v. Iron Co., 2 Black, 715; Shorb v. 393.

held by its officers. The assets at the not permit directors to manage the Every authority faith in their transactions for the corfraud upon the rights of the other Life Ins. Co. r Frenr Stone Mfg. Co., stockholders, and a flagrant violation 97 Ill. 537; Burke r. Smith, 16 Wall. of their duties as directors and officers 390; Penobscot R. Co. v. Dunn, 39 Me.

¹ Redmond v. Dickerson, (1853) 9 N.

Beaudry, 56 Cal. 446; 1 Morawetz ⁹ European & North American Ry Private Corp. § 518. The law does Co. r. Poor, 59 Me. 277.

retain any part of the profits arising from the contract for his personal use and benefit. Where directors of a ferry company, in their individual names bought a steamboat, and then, as directors, purchased it of themselves for the corporation at a large advance on its cost and value, the transaction was held to be a fraudulent one; it was held, also, that the profits made by the directors inured to the benefit of the corporation, and that the latter could recover the profits from them, with interest.2 The rule generally is that one acting in a representative or fiduciary capacity is not allowed so to deal with the subject-matter of his agency or trust as to benefit himself privately, and an agent or trustee who thus makes a profit out of his agency or trusteeship must account for the same to his principal or cestui que trust; and it may be conceded that the rule applies, as a principle of public policy, without regard to the actual fairness of the transaction, or the merits of the services rendered, or the price paid, in case of a sale or purchase.3 Where it was represented by promoters of a mining corporation, who afterwards became its trustees, that it would take the proceeds of the whole of its capital stock to purchase certain mining properties, and the trustee, to whom the whole stock was turned over for the purpose, actually purchased it with the payments made for certain shares of stock, less than half the issue, and appropriated the rest of the shares of stock to himself and others, without actually paying any money, and concealed the facts from the stockholders who had paid for their shares, it was held that for the company, was not precluded ² Parker v. Nickerson, (1873) 112 from making such contracts in his own name, but, having done so, he ³ Bristol r. Scranton, (1893) 57 Fed. using all the facilities afforded by the Rep. 70, 78; citing Sugden v. Cross- company in performing them, would land, 3 Smale & G. 192; McKay's Case, not be allowed to make profit out of 2 Ch. Div. 5; Pearson's Case, 3 such use, but would be held to account Ch. Div. 807; Parker v. McKenna, to the company for all that he received L. R., 10 Ch. App. 96; Iron Works for the services performed by it. For Co. v. Grave, 12 Ch. Div. 738, 746; an illustration of what will not be held Railway Co. v. Blakie, 1 Macq. 461; a fraudulent sale to a corporation, Wardell v. Railroad Co., 108 U. S. where parties purchasing property at 651, 658. In Keckuk Northern Line a low figure before the organization Packet Co. v. Davidson, 95 Mo. 467; of a corporation sold it at a much s. c., 8 S. W. Rep. 545, it was held larger figure to the corporation, but that the president of the packet com- there was some evidence of fraud or pany, after having endeavored to ob- deception, see Stewart v. St. Louis, Fort tain contracts for carrying the mails Scott & W. R. Co., 41 Fed. Rep. 736.

¹ Ibid.

this defendant occupied a fiduciary relation to the corporation and the subscribers, and could not, nor could his associates, who were also familiar with the facts, make, through concealment from the subscribers, any profit from the transaction, and they should be held accountable for the stock which they had retained, or its proceeds.1 The law will not permit, for instance, one in whose person are vested the offices of vice-president and treasurer of a corporation with the management and control of the corporation

¹ Brewster v. Hatch, (Sp. Term Sup. property of a corporation executed to Ct. 1881) 10 Abb. N. C. 400; citing its president, who was also a director, Co. v. Sherman, 30 Barb. 553; Bag- see Burley v. Marsh, (1881) 11 Neb. 291. nall v. Carlton, L. R., 6 Ch. Div. 371; As to officers and stockholders con-St. 202. its treasurer.

Blake v. Buffalo Creek R. R. Co., 56 by his vote and that of another of the N. Y. 485; Cumberland Coal & Iron three directors, will be held fraudulent, Erlanger v. New Sombrero Phosphate tracting with corporation, see Charter Co., L. R., 3 App. Cas. 1218; Simons Gas-Engine Co. v. Charter, 47 Ill. Oil & Mining Co., 61 Pa. App. 36; Central Trust Co. v. Bridges. In East New York & 57 Fed. Rep. 753; s. c., 6 C. C. A. 539; Jamaica R. R. Co. v. Elmore, (1875) 5 Barr v. Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., 57 Hun, 214, it appeared that the corpo- Fed. Rep. 86; s. c., 6 C. C. A. 260; ration had subscribers for seventy-two Foster v. Belcher's Sugar Refining Co., shares of its stock, who had agreed to 118 Mo. 288; s. c., 24 S. W. Rep. 63; pay par value for it. All the shares Wile & Brickner Co. r. Rochester & within its power to issue having been K. F. Land Co., 4 Misc. Rep. 570; s. already issued, the treasurer and presi- c., 25 N. Y. Supp. 794; Milbank v. dent purchased the number of shares Welch, 74 Hun, 497; s. c., 26 N. Y. at a price far below par, and trans- Supp. 705. As to directors dealing ferred them to those subscribers on the with themselves or acting in matters cornoration's books, charging the cor- where they are interested, see Coleman poration par value for them. In an v. Second Avenue R R. Co., 38 N. Y. action against the treasurer to recover 201; Blatchford r. Ross, 5 Abb. Pr. the profits he made in the transaction, (N. S.) 434; s. c., 37 How. Pr. 110; 54 it was held that the treasurer could Barb, 42; Ogden c, Murray, 39 N. Y. not, by charging over the stock at its 202; Bliss r. Matteson, 45 N. Y. 22. par value, make the corporation his As to various rules governing condebtor, and thus extinguish his lia- tracts in which directors have an interbility for moneys received by him or est, see Duncomb v. New York, Housa-For an illustration of tonic & Northern R. R. Co., 84 N. Y. when a purchase by one trustee, and, 190; Western R. R. Co. v. Bayne, 11 at the same time treasurer, of a corpo-Hun, 166; Barnes r. Brown, 80 N. Y. ration in his own behalf will inure to 527. As to a contract with a corporathe benefit of the corporation, see tion entered into at a special meeting Einsphar et al., Trustees First Ger- of directors being void because of man Lutheran Zion Church of Adams absent directors not having notice, see Co. v. Wagner, (1882) 12 Neb. 458. As Hill v. Rich Hill Coal Min, Co., (Mo. to when and the droumstances under 1894) 24 S. W. Rep. 223; Minneapolis. which a mortgage of the personal Times Co. v. Nimocks, 53 Minn. 381.

also allowed him, to so manage the affairs of the corporation as to result to his own pecuniary advantage. And in case such an officer speculate in the funds of the corporation, or buy claims against it at a discount, he will be required to account to the creditors or stockholders of the corporation for any profit that results from such transactions.1 The contract made by a director of a corporation to secure a personal advantage to himself will be director's part.

¹ Thomas v. Sweet, (1887) 37 Kans. the first named, or acted in concert with 183; s. c., 14 Pac. Rep. 545. For a him in any matters in which he was strong opinion on the subject of the interested. He had from time to time duties of officers to the corporation, see aided with money the corporation Ryan v. L., A. & N. W. Ry. Co., 21 upon call. Finally he had had action Kans. 365. In Powell v. Willamette taken by the board of trustees, by Valley R. R. ('o., (1887) 15 Or. 393; which he had himself paid a debt out s. c., 15 Pac. Rep. 663, where the at- of the corporation's funds which he torney, who was also a director in an held against the firm which it sucinsolvent corporation, had been em- ceeded. The Supreme Court of New ployed by third parties to buy up the York held that he should account to claims of creditors of the corporation the receiver of the corporation for this with a view to its reorganization, it money received for this debt of the was held that his relation to the com- firm, together with interest upon it, pany required of him the utmost good and also for all excess of interest over faith towards the creditors of the and above legal interest which, through company in his dealings with them in the action of himself and other trusthe matter, but where they had re- tees, he had received upon moneys adceived all that their claims were worth, vanced to the corporation, as also the the fact that he had not informed profits he had received in certain transthem of the contemplated reorganiza- actions and "ventures" in which he tion would not constitute a fraud upon had advanced the money and arranged the creditors upon this attorney and for a division of the profits between In Smith v. Los himself and the corporation, upon the Angeles Immigration & Land Co- ground that he had no right to share. operative Assn., (1889) 78 Cal. 289; s. in the profits of the business which bec., 20 Pac. Rep. 677, a resolution of a longed exclusively to the corporation quorum of four directors, authorizing itself. An illustration of when the renewal of notes of the corporation in profits of a director must inure to the favor of two of the four directors, was benefit of the corporation: Paducah held to be void and of no effect. In Land, Coal & Iron Co. v. Hays, (Ky. Rudd v. Robinson, (1889) 54 Hun, 339; 1893) 24 S. W. Rep. 237. As to the s. c., 7 N. Y. Supp. 535, the corpora- effect of laches of a stockholder in tion had been formed under the laws complaining of a profit made by a diof New York, and succeeded to the rector in connection with a sale of the business of a firm. One holding a stock of a corporation, and an illustraclaim against this firm was a trustee tion of what a director might do for of the corporation, and with two others which he would not be held accountof the board constituted a majority, able, see Keeney v. Converse, (1894) 99 These two, it was shown, represented Mich. 316; s. c., 58 N. W. Rep. 325.

held to be void or to inure to the advantage of the corporation.1 An agreement made by a majority of the directors of a corporation among themselves, privately and unofficially, that they should be paid a percentage upon all the money raised upon the credit of a bond of indemnity, signed by them, against the future indebtedness of the corporation, has been held not to be binding upon the corporation.2 Directors or other officers of a corporation contracting with another for work and material, paying an excessive price for the same, and reserving to themselves a discount or commission, will be held to an accountability to the corporation for what they have profited.3 Where directors own all accounting to the corporation or stock-directors' action.

¹ Sargent v. Kansas Midland R. R. an insolvent milling company leased Rep. 1063.

22 Conn. 335.

Co., (1891) 48 Kans. 672; s. c., 29 Pac. the corporate property to themselves and operated the plant at a profit. ² Butler v. Cornwall Iron Co, (1853) The Supreme Court held that the directors were liable to account to the ³ Perry n. Tuskaloosa Cotton Seed creditors of the corporation for the Oil Mill Co, (1890) 93 Ala. 364; s. c., profits under the lease. In McClure 9 So. Rep. 217. In Farmers & Mer. v. Levy, (1894) 79 Hun, 235; s. c., 29 chants' Bank of Los Angeles v. N. Y. Supp. 352, it appeared that one Downey, (1879) 53 Cal. 466, where a who had secured his election as presidirector of the bank who had taken dent of a life insurance association from the borrowers a note running to and secured a board of directors subthe bank for the principal sum loaned, servient to his will, had gained at a rate of interest therein stipulated, possession of certain notes of the but at the same time, and as part of association which he had full knowlthe same transaction, made an agree- edge could not be paid out of the rement with the borrowers that they serve fund of the association. He had should permit him to participate with this board order the payment of the them in the profits of a purchase and notes by drawing all the funds the sale of certain lands, it was held that association had in bank properly behe could not be permitted to retain longing to the reserve fund in his for himself the profits thus contracted favor. The Supreme Court of New for, but must surrender those profits to York in General Term held that the the bank for the benefit of all the stock-receiver of the association was entiholders. As to a city treasurer making tled to recover from him the profit on public funds, see City of Chi-money thus wrongfully misapprocago v. Gage, 95 III. 593. As to officers priated through his and other willing That a president holders or creditors of the corporation and vice-president of a railroad comfor profits growing out of transactions pany who had arranged to use certain in behalf of the corporation in which bonds of the company secured by they are interested, see Ward v. David- mortgages for their own private use son, (1890) 89 Mo. 445; s. c., 1 S. W. instead of improving the railroad Rep. 846. In Hutchinson v. Bidwell, property, has been held to be such a (1893) 24 Or. 219; s. c., 33 Pac. Rep. fraud on the mortgage trustee and 560, it appeared that the directors of the bondholders as would enable a court of equity, at the suit of one of 47 Hun, 235; Thomas v. Railway Co., Y. Supp. 601. of the reorganization, see Symmes more & Ohio R. R. Co., 35 Fed. Rep. Rep. 375; s. c., 6 C. C. A. 400. That brook, 40 La. Ann. 53; s. c., 3 So. Rep. directors in a private corporation have 351; Wasatch Min. Co. r. Jennings, individual benefit, see Hoffman v. tion for his own profit, see Schetter r. Kelly, 77 Ill. 426, 434; Hoyle r. Platts- 25. Railroad Co. r. Durant, 95 U. S. 576; 235.

the stock of a corporation they are not within the rule prohibiting persons in a tiduciary relation from contracting for their own advantage in the name of their cestui que trust.1

the bondholders, to compel them to 1 McCrary, 392. That they are not appropriate the proceeds of the bonds absolutely void: Bundy a Jackson, 24 thus unlawfully diverted to the pur- Fed. Rep. 628; Bank r. Patterson, 7 pose specified in the mortgage. Bel- Cranch, 299; Canal Bridge v. Gordon, 1 den v. Burke, 72 Hun, 51; s. c., 25 N. Pick. 296; Harts v. Brown, 77 Hl. 226. It was held in Pa- What may make them valid: 1 Beach ducah Land, Coal & Iron Co. v. Mul- on Priv. Corp. 402; Battelle v. Northholland, (Ky. 1894) 24 S. W. Rep. 624, western Cement Co., 37 Minn. 89; that stock which was returned to Pneumatic Gas Co. v. Berry, 113 U.S. directors purchasing land for the cor- 322; Knowles c. Duffy, 40 Hun, 485; poration to be used for their own per- Santa Cruz ('o. v. Spreckles, 65 Cal. sonal benefit, should be surrendered 193; Hill v. Nisbet, 100 Ind. 341; for cancellation unless in the hands of Richardson v. Green, 133 U.S. 30; bonn fide purchasers for value. For a Union Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. White, case holding that the acts of the presi- 106 Ill. 68; Smith r. Smith, 63 Ill. dent and trustees of a corporation in a 493; Addison r. Lewis, 75 Va. 701; reorganization, of the same, were not Stratton r. Allen, 16 N. J. Eq. 229. fraudulent, although a large personal As to the effect of directors or other profit accrued therefrom to the presi- officers of corporation being interested dent who was the principal promoter in contracts, see County Court r. Baltir. Union Trust Co., 60 Fed. Rep. 830. 161; Holt v. Bennett, 146 Mass. 436; McCracken v. Robison, 57 Fed. s. c., 16 N. E. Rep. 5; Hancock v. Holno right, under any circumstances, to 5 Utah, 385; s. c., 16 Pac. Rep. 399. As use their official position for their own to a director dealing with the corpora-Reichert, (1893) 147 Ill. 274; Gilman, Southern Oregon Improvement Co., Clinton & Springfield R. R. Co. r. (1889) 19 Or. 192; s. c., 24 Pac. Rep. As to a president and trustee burg & Montreal R. R. Co., 54 N. Y. joining in voting himself compensa-314; Oliver v. Piatt, 3 How. 333; tion for services, see Copeland v. John-Speidel v. Henrici, 120 U. S. 377, 386; son Manufacturing Co., (1890) 47 Hun, Transactions by officers with Van Epps v. Van Epps, 9 Paige, 211. corporations: Raymond v. San Gabriel Contracts of corporations made with Val. Land & Water Co., 53 Fed. Rep. officers. President, etc., v. Ry. Co., 44 883; Langan r. Francklyn, 29 Abb. Cal. 106; Pickett v. School District, N. C. 102; s. c., 20 N. Y. Supp. 404; 25 Wis. 552: Cumberland Coal Co. v. Miner r. Belle Isle Ice Co., 93 Mich. Sherman, 30 Barb. 553; Port r. Rus- 97; s. c., 53 N. W. Rep. 218; Beers r. sell, 36 Ind. 64; Railway Co. v. Poor, New York Life Ins. Co., 66 Hun, 75; 59 Me. 277; Gardner v. Butler, 30 N. J. s. c., 20 N. Y. Supp. 788; Main Jellico Eq. 702; Davis v. Mining Co., 55 Cal. Mountain Coal Co. v. Lotspeich, (Ky. 359; Copeland n. Manufacturing Co., 1894) 20 S. W. Rep. 377; Prince

§ 189. Repudiating or avoiding contracts made by officers with themselves. - A contract made by a director of a corporation with himself may be repudiated by the corporation at the instance of the stockholders.1 If the directors of a corporation exceed their authority or are recreant to their trust, the corporation may repudiate their fraudulent contracts.2 Contracts made by the directors of a corporation with one of their number are voidable at the election of the corporation, without reference to the question whether or not they are beneficial to the corporation.3 This doctrine may be applied where the contract is made by nominal directors who are in fact the mere instruments of the other contracting party, and act under his directions and as he wishes, in pursuance of a scheme planned by him by which they were placed in office, and a contract thus made would be voidable at the election of the corporation without proof of unfairness or fraud. In order to defeat a contract entered into by its directors or in its behalf, in which one or more of them had a private interest, a corporation is not bound to show that the influence of the director or directors having the private interest determined the board's action.3

ham r. Mackintosh, 7 Utah, 35.

² Metropolitan Elevated Ry. Co. r. 212.

Sup. Ct. 1887) 18 Abb. N. C. 381.

Manufg. Co. v. Prince's Metallic Paint inquiry, in an action by the trustee in ('o., 20 N. Y. Supp. 462; Hannerty c. his private capacity to enforce the Theater Co., 109 Mo. 297; Societe des contract in the making of which he Mines D'Argent et Fonderies de Bing-participated. The value of the rule of equity, to which we have adverted, Gardner r. Butler, 30 N. J. Ed. lies to a great extent in its stubborn-702; Guild c. Parker, 43 N. J. Law, ness and inflexibility. Its rigidity gives it one of its chief uses as a preventive or discouraging influence, be-Manhattan Ry. Co., (Spl. Term cause it weakens the temptation to Sup. Ct. 1884) 14 Abb. N. C. 103, dishonesty or unfair dealing on the part of trustees, by vitiating, without ²Central Trust Co. r. N. Y. City & attempt at discrimination, all trans-Northern R. R. Co., (Spl. Term actions in which they assume the dual character of principal and representative. This rule has been declared and Munson v. Syracuse. Geneva & enforced in a great variety of cases. Corning R. R. Co., (1880) 103 N. Y. but in none perhaps with more vigor 58; s. c., 8 N. E. Rep. 355, affirming and completeness, but upon principle 29 Hun, 76; S. C., 16 N. Y. Wkly. and authority, than in the leading case Dig. 212. Andrews, J., said: "The of Davoue v. Fanning, 2 Johns. Ch. law cannot accurately measure the 251, 252. But the case of Aberdeen influence of a trustee with his as-Railway Company v. Blakie & sociates, nor will it enter into the Others, 2 Eq. 1281, decided by the

§ 190. Rules as to such contracts.—The relation as a director and officer to a corporation does not preclude him from entering into contracts with it, making loans to it and taking its bonds as collateral security; but courts of equity regard such personal transactions of a party in either of these positions not, perhaps, with distrust, but with a large measure of watchful care, and unless satisfied by the proof that the transaction was entered into in good faith, with a view to the benefit of the company, as well as of its creditors, and not solely with a view to his own supply of chairs. cally the performance of the contract, apparent." nable grounds the general rule and its 505.

House of Lords, is in many of its application to the particular case." features similar to the present one. VAN BRUNT, J., in Metropolitan In that case it appeared that the plain- Elevated Ry. Co. v. Manhattan Ry. tiffs were a manufacturing firm, and Co., (Spl. Term Sup. Ct. 1884) 14 that one of them was also a manager Abb. N. C. 103, 272, said: "The unof the Aberdeen Railway Company, doubted rule of law in this state is, the defendant, and the chairman of the that every contract entered into by a board. At a meeting of the managers, director with his corporation may be they by resolution authorized their avoided by the corporation within a engineer to contract for iron chairs reasonable time, irrespective of the needed by the company. The agent merits of the contract itself. * " " contracted with the plaintiffs' firm. I can see no difference in principle be-It did not appear that the member of tween the case of a director contractthe firm, who was also a manager and ing with his corporation and that of the chairman of the company, inter-directors of one corporation contractmeddled with the dealing on either ing with themselves as directors of side, further than that it may be another corporation. The evils to be assumed he was at the meeting which avoided are the same, the temptations authorized the engineer to procure a to a breach of trust are the same, the The plaintiffs want of independent action exists, brought their suit to enforce specifi- and the divided allegiance is just as As to rules governing or in the alternative to recover dam- where directors act in their own interages for its non-performance. After a est, see March v. Eastern Railroad, decision in their favor in the lower 43 N. II. 515; Fisher v. Concord court, the company appealed to the Railroad, 50 N. II. 200; Richards r. House of Lords, where the ruling was New Hampshire Ins. Co., 43 N. H. unanimously reversed on the ground 263; Ashuelot Railroad v. Elliott, 57 that the contract was condemned by N. H. 397. As to the acts of school the rules of equity, as having been trustees, so far as they should be made between the company of which beneficial to themselves, being void, one of the plaintiffs was a manager see Rhodes r. McDonald, 2 Cushman, and a private firm of which he was a (Miss.) 418. As to contracts between member. The opinions of Lord Chan- a director and a corporation, being CRANWORTH and of Lord voidable only, see Stewart v. Lehigh Brougham vindicate upon impreg- Valley R. R. Co., (1876) 38 N. J. Law, benefit, they refuse to lend their aid to its enforcement. In this case, plaintiff's testator loaned to a railway corporation $100,000 upon its notes, and received from it 1,250 shares of paid-up stock as a bonus, and 200 mortgage bonds of the corporation, and the practical control of its board of directors. After this, he demanded of this board 100 more bonds, as further collateral, and they agreed to it. Subsequently, this board allowed him to have 300 more bonds, as collateral security for further advances of money, but he made no such further advances of money to the corporation. These 400 bonds he obtained at a time when he was acting as, and claiming to be, the treasurer of the corporation. After the corporation became insolvent he claimed to hold these 400 bonds, individually, as collateral for The Supreme Court of the United States held that, as between him and the creditors of the railway corporation, he could not under the circumstances, hold them as collateral for his debt.² Promoters of a corporation, not representing it in any relation of agency, have no authority to enter into preliminary contracts binding the corporation, when it shall come into exist-

S. 30; s. c., 10 Sup. Ct. Rep. 280.

Justice LAMAR said: "We do not But even if there could be any doubt deny that cases may arise in which, if on this point, Richardson, himself, by everything were admitted to be fairly his own act, has removed it. done, with the knowledge and acqui- waived and abandoned all claim to escence of the company, such a per- any lien, as a pledgee, by his volunsonal possession as that which Rich- tary surrender and delivery of the ardson obtained, although not such an bonds to the sheriff of the county of actual delivery as the board had in- New York, as the property of the tended and directed, might be consid- company, to be sold under execution. cred as equivalent to a legal delivery. If the 400 bonds were not delivered to But under the special circumstances Richardson, as we think the court beof this case, in view of the unfair low correctly held, it follows that the means employed by Richardson to unissued bonds were not subject to have the entire body of the company's attachment or to execution as valid tody, and the clandestine manner in chase at the sheriff's sale vested in him the transactions, we do not think that 559.

¹ Mr. Justice Lamar, in Richard- he can be regarded as standing in the son's Executor o. Green, (1890) 133 U. position of a legal and equitable pledgee, or that he ever acquired, as ² Ibid. Speaking for the court, Mr. such pledgee, a lien on the 400 bonds. bonds transferred from the custody of and binding obligations against the Ferry [the treasurer] into his own cus- company, and that Richardson's purwhich he took out the 400 bonds from no title or ownership to them." See, that body, not only without notice of as to the title of Richardson to these the fact to the company, but with an bonds, and their sale under execution. implied, if not an expressed, denial of Sickles v. Richardson, (1881) 28 Hun. ence, and if the sanction of the corporation to such a contract is obtained by the act or co-operation of a director who has a private interest, the corporation may resist an action for specific performance, at least, in a case where it has not accepted the consideration, or taken the benefit of the contract.1

§ 191. Circumstances under which the directors cannot avail themselves of the defense of the invalidity of the contract.- It appeared in an action in the federal court upon a contract, that a railroad company, a corporation in form only, by its president, entered into a construction contract. whereby the contractors agreed to complete the superstructure of the road, furnish materials and equip it by a certain date, and in payment therefor certificates for a fixed amount of its full paid-up stock and the same amount of first mortgage bonds were to be delivered to them. Contemporaneously with the making of this contract, and on the same day, the contractors agreed with one acting on behalf of certain directors who were the actual stockholders, that if the contract were complied with by the company, they would pay to him one-half of the net profits realized from determine, upon a consideration of its 22 Pac. Rep. 665.

¹ Munson v. Syracuse, Geneva & advantages or disadvantages, whether Corning R. R. Co., (1886) 103 N. Y. a contract made under such circum-58; s. c., 8 N. E. Rep. 355, affirming stances shall stand or fall." As to 29 Hun, 76; s. c., 16 N. Y. Wkly. contracts of officers dealing with Dig. 212. Andrews, J., referring to themselves being voidable at the opthis director, said: "He stood in the tion of the corporation, see Meeker v. attitude of selling as owner and pur- Winthrop Iron Co., 17 Fed. Rep. 48. chasing as trustee. The law permits In Pneumatic Gas Co. v. Berry, (1885) no one to act in such inconsistent rela- 113 U. S. 322; s. c., 5 Sup. Ct. Rep. tions. It does not stop to inquire 525, a release by the corporation to whether the contract or transaction one of its directors of all claims, equiwas fair or unfair. It stops the in-table or otherwise, arising out of quiry when the relation is disclosed, transactions under a contract between and sets aside the transaction or re- the corporation and the director, made fuses to enforce it, at the instance of in excess of its corporate powers, was the party whom the fiduciary under- held to be valid, if made in good took to represent, without undertak- faith, and without fraud or concealing to deal with the question of ment. As to contracts in which the abstract justice in the particular case. interest of directors are adverse to the It prevents frauds by making them, corporation being voidable, at the opas far as may be, impossible, knowing tion of the corporation or, upon its that real motives often elude the most refusal, by a minority of stockholders, searching inquiry, and it leaves, see Graves v. Mono Lake Hydraulic neither to judge nor jury, the right to Mining Co., (1890) 81 Cal. 303; s. c., the contract, out of the stocks and bonds. The road was completed and it was agreed between the parties that the share of the directors in the net profits should be fixed at $150,000, for which the contractors were to give these notes. The latter paid $50,000 on this substituted contract, and this action was to recover of them the balance. Shirman, C. J., for the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, refers to the defense made in these words: "The defense made, as a matter of law, was the invalidity of the contracts [original and substituted], because by the original contracts four directors had secretly provided for one-half of the profits which should arise out of the construction of the road, and it was claimed there could be no recovery, because the contract being void, no action could be maintained upon it or upon its successor." It was held that the principle which denounces the action of directors of a corporation who, professing to be its agents, and to be contracting in its behalf, secretly agree for a private and personal benefit to themselves, or agree to sell their official influence for personal gain, was not available as a defense by the directors in this particular case.1 have ordinarily marked contracts Lick Oil Co. v. Marbury, 91 U. S. 587,

¹ Robison r. McCracken, (1892) 52 by courts. The corporation which en-Fed. Rep. 726. SHIPMAN, C. J., said: tered into the construction contract "The decisions of the courts of the was one in form only, and the agree-United States have been most strenu- ment for construction and division of ous in demanding that the directors of the profits was, in fact, made by all corporations shall act disinterestedly the stockholders, if Mason [another of in contracts which they make in be- the original subscribers] was not a half of the corporation for which they stockholder. But, assuming the existact, and in setting aside tainted con- ence of Mason's character as a stocktracts between a director or an agent holder, and that an exorbitant contract and a third person for the sale of offl- of the entire body of stockholders for cial influence. Wardell v. Railroad their own pecuniary benefit can be Co., 103 U. S. 651; Thomas v. Rail- seasonably attached [attacked ?] by road Co., 109 U. S. 522; s. c., 3 Sup. existing creditors, it is well settled Ct. Rep. 315; Woodstock Iron Co. v. that, as a general rule, contracts of a Richmond & Danville Extension Co., corporation, which which were made 129 U. S. 643; s. c., 9 Sup. Ct. Rep. by directors who obtained a personal 402; West v. Camden, 135 U.S. 507; pecuniary benefit thereby, are not, on s. c., 10 Sup. Ct. Rep. 838; Providence that account alone, void, but are void-Tool Co. v. Norris, 2 Wall. 45." The able at the election of the parties who present case was there distinguished are affected by the fraud. This is from those just cited: "It is manifest clearly announced in Barnes v. Brown, that the facts in this case are of a dif- 80 N. Y. 527; Barr v. Railroad Co., 125 ferent character from those which N.Y. 263; s. c., 26 N.E.Rep. 145; Twinwhich are the subject of just rebuke and Thomas v. Railroad Co., 109 U. S.

§ 192. Purchase by officers of debts due by, or property of, corporations. - A director may trade with, borrow from or loan money to a corporation on the same terms and in like manner as other persons. In loaning money to the corporation, however, he must act fairly and be free from all fraud and oppression; and in so doing must act for the interest of the corporation and impose no unfair or unreasonable terms. Directors may purchase the bonds issued by a corporation or other of its indebtedness in whatever form it exists. And if such bonds or indebtedness is secured by a trust deed, for instance, they have a right to proceed, if necessary, to sell the property for the satisfaction of such indebtedness as any other person.2 If the corporation has money or property which can be converted into money with which to redeem its property from a judicial sale or from the lien of the trust deed, a purchase of the bonds or other indebtedness by directors, as a means of acquiring through a sale the property of the corporation, would be in bad faith, and a

the latter case it is said, in substance, ceived and sold the entire stock and that those for whom the agent was bonds of the company and have the acting have the option to avoid such a fruits of the contract, a part of which contract, but until they exercise their they have paid, and the residue of option, and reasonably show that it is which they refuse to pay, upon the their purpose not to submit to the act ground that the contract was illegal in of the agent, the contract is in exist- its relations to the corporation. Cases Mason, the remaining stockholder at nothing to do with the controversies defendants is this: They made a voidable contract with the plaintiff, which has not been avoided. The contract

522; s. c., 3 Sup. Ct. Rep. 315. In is an executed one; the defendants reence, and is not a nullity. In this case, may arise where a court will have the time, has not dissented, but desires in regard to the proceeds of a business to enjoy the contract. The corpora- of an inherently corrupt and wicked tion has never dissented. [The con-character, but this is not one of them. tractors] to whom the whole stock The weakness of the defendants' posiwas issued, made both contracts, paid tion is clearly disclosed in McBlair r. $50,000 upon the [substituted] con- Gibbes, 17 How 232; Brooks v. Martract, the last payment being nine tin, 2 Wall. '70; Planters' Bank v. months after its date. Neither cred- Union Bank, 16 Wall. 483, and Railitors nor the present stockholders have road Co. v. Durant, 95 U. S. 579. In ever dissented. The case clearly falls the latter case the court said: 'The within the general rule which has appellee cannot claim adversely to been cited. It contains no circum- those for whom he acquired and holds stances which create an exception, and the property. The rights of others, if make the contract one which is abso- such rights exist, do not concern him. The condition of the He cannot vicariously assert them." ¹ Harts v. Brown, (1875) 77 Ill. 226.

² Ibid.

purchase by them of the property under such circumstances would not be sustained.1 And if a sale were necessary by reason of a lack of means on the part of the corporation to relieve the property from the liens and prevent a sale of property beyond the amount necessary to pay the debts secured by the trust deed, though made with the assent and by direction of the directors. and they purchase it, the sale in this respect would be void, as it would be a sale to that extent in which the directors would be the vendors, and they could not purchase of themselves.2 A trustee of a corporation may purchase with his own funds a judgment which has been recovered against the corporation for less than the amount due thereon, and in case he assigns it to a third person, the assignee may enforce the judgment against the corporation for the full amount due upon it.8 In case a director or trus-

¹ Ibid.

2 Ibid.

Co., (1884) 33 Hun, 377. The Supreme Transactions of this character between Court of New York in General Term an officer of the company and the comhave said upon this subject: "That a pany itself are of frequent occurrence, trustee of a corporation organized and have received the approval and under the general laws of this state sanction of the courts as appropriate acts in a fiduciary character, is not a and not inconsistent with the duty subject of doubt, as he is intrusted which a trustee owes to the stockwith power and authority to be exer- holders and creditors of the company. cised in the interest of the stockhold. [Citing] Duncomb v. N. Y., H. & N. ers and creditors of the company. In R. R. Co., 84 N. Y. 190; Twin-Lick dealing with its property and in the Oil Co. o. Marbury, 91 U. S. 588. So management of its affairs he is subject also a trustee or director may, with his to the obligations and disabilities inci- own money, purchase for himself of a dent to that relation, and he must so third person a valid and subsisting act as not to permit himself or his own outstanding debt owing by the comprivate interests to interfere or com- pany and secure a perfect title thereto. pete with his duty to the company. Such a transaction is not even a ground [Citing] Hoyle v. Plattsburgh & Mon- for entertaining the suspicion that it is treal R. R. Co., 54 N. Y. 314; Cum- in violation of any duty which he owes berland Coal Co. r. Sherman, 30 Barb. the corporation, and there is no pre-553; Twin-Lick Oil Co. v. Marbury, sumption of law against its fairness. 91 U. S. 588. It is not, however, If the obligation is valid the owner company. By fair dealing and in the legitimate business of the company he ⁸ Inglehart v. Thousand Island Hotel may become one of its creditors. deemed to be inconsistent with the may sell and transfer it to any one duties which a trustee owes a com- who is willing to become a purchaser, pany to loan and advance to it moneys and he thereby secures an unquestionto be used in transacting its legitimate able title. [Citing] cases supru; Clark business and to meet its financial r.Flint & Pere Marquette R.Co., 5 Hun. wants and receive security therefor by 556. The other question to be conmortgage or pledge of the assets of the sidered in this connection is, will the tee of a corporation seek the enforcement of a judgment against it owned by himself by a sale of the property or assets of the corporation, it would be incumbent upon him to act with the greatest fairness and publicity and to do everything reasonable within his power to secure the highest price for the property sold; and if he should be guilty of any improper conduct by which he secures to himself the property of the corporation for less than its fair market value, the sate may be set aside on the application of any of the parties interested.1 One of the appellate courts of Missouri reversed a judgment in the court below, and held that the president of a corporation who had voluntarily purchased a small debt against the corporation should be enjoined from levying an execution for the payment of a balance on the claim where he had already taken valuable property of the corporation in part payment of it.

force a collection of the debt thus acactually paid for the debt or obligation? I am unable to discover any good reason why he should not be perfull amount, nor can I find any decision limiting the trustee to the sum actually paid. In these times a large proportion of the mercantile, comothers, and it has never been questioned but that a director in a cor-

Co., (1884) 32 Hun, 377.

fiduciary position held by the presi- Missouri affirmed the judgment of the dent of a corporation does not admit court below awarding out of the assets trustee or director be permitted to en- of his speculating in either its assets orits indebtedness, for his own benefit, quired for its entire amount, or shall at the expense of the corporation, he be limited to the sum which he He is a trustee, and as such can never be permitted to create such a relation between himself and the trust propperty as will make his own interest mitted to enforce judgment for the necessarily and effectually antagonistic to that of his beneficiary. In Covington & Lexington Railroad Co. v. Bowler, 9 Bush (Ky.), 468, a director had purchased at a judicial sale the railmercial and manufacturing business road belonging to his corporation. It of the country is carried on by cor- was held, upon the principle just porations, and many of them issue, in stated, that the corporation had a right large amounts, securities in the form to have its road surrendered to it upon of negotiable instruments, payable in placing the director in statu quo. the future, which are purchased and * * * In McAllen v. Woodcock, a held as investments by capitalists and suit in ejectment, 60 Mo. 174, it was held that where, under execution against a corporation, its land was purporation of this character might pur- chased by one who was a stockholder chase the same of a third person at a and treasurer of the company, the purdiscount, and collect from the com- chase must be regarded as having been pany the entire sum secured thereby." made for the benefit of the association, ¹ Inglehart p. Thousand Island Hotel and that the title thus acquired could not be considered as hostile thereto." ² Brewster v. Stratman, (1877) 4 Mo. In Lingle v. National Insurance Co., App. 41. LEWIS, P. J., said: "The 45 Mo. 109, the Supreme Court of § 193. Purchase and sale of property of corporation by officers.—Where a sale of the property of a corporation to raise money to pay its debts may become necessary on account of the mismanagement of its affairs by the directors, and those directors for that purpose sell it to one of their number, the sale may be set aside. For a sale and purchase under such circumstances to stand, it must be shown that there was a necessity for the sale and that the property of the corporation was bought by the directors in open market at a fair price and without any undueadvantage, in good faith and without the slightest unfairness.2 A director of an insolvent corporation, buying its property at a sale under execution to which he is not a party, will be liable to the corporation for the value of the property less what he may have paid for it.3 In case directors of a corporation divert its property from the payment of its debts, by which diversion creditors may be deprived of the opportunity to enforce their debts the injured creditors may have relief through a court of equity.4 Should such a diversion of the corporate property charged to be injurious to the creditors be a sale of such property to one of the directors taking part in the transaction as buyer and seller, the directors must establish both the good faith of the transactions and that the sale was for the full value of the property. If these a judgment which he had purchased its officer. But, in a case like this, against the corporation, the amount the creditors whose rights are imhe actually paid. The court said: paired should be permitted to make "At the time [appellant] purchased the objection." As to the incompethe judgment he was president of the tency of a director in a corporation to company and acting for the company. become the purchaser of a portion of The company's interest and his, in its property, who has actively particithe transaction, were identical, and pated in all measures pending the would be detrimental to the company and the other stockholders, and would ner, (1892) 44 La. Ann. 22; s. c., 10 lead to fraud, injustice and wrong. Public policy and morality alike forbid that such a proceeding should be cases no person would have a right to complain of the transaction but the J. Eq. 635; s. c., 7 Atl. Rep. 514.

of the company to its president, upon company who suffered by the acts of could not be separated. Whatever completion of the arrangements for its advantage he gained inured to its sale, with full knowledge of all the cirbenefit. To permit the chief managing cumstances attending their progress, officer of a company in such a man- see Hoffman Steam Coal Co. v. Cumner to speculate for his private gain berland Coal & Iron Co., 16 Md. 456.

¹ Crescent City Brewing Co. v. Flan-So. Rep. 384.

2 Tbid.

² Tobin Canning Co. v. Fraser, (1891) sanctioned. It is true that in ordinary 81 Tex. 407; s. c., 17 S. W. Rep. 25. ⁴ Wilkinson v. Bauerle, (1887), 41 N.

facts be not established the directors taking part in the sale will be held answerable to the creditors for their losses by the diversion of the corporate property.1 Where a railroad company had become insolvent and discontinued its operations, and a director of the company had purchased certain railroad ties from the contractor furnishing them to the company, it was attempted to enforce an execution in favor of creditors of the corporation upon this property. Andrews, J., for the New York Court of Appeals, said: "Assuming that the plaintiff was disabled by the rule in equity from purchasing the ties on his own account or from holding them as against the company, nevertheless the legal title was vested in him by the purchase, and the property could not be taken from his possession under an execution against the corpora-* * * The purchase by a trustee of trust property is voidable, not void. The company could only claim the benefit of the purchase by the plaintiff on reinbursing the sum expended by him in obtaining the title."2 A director, for instance, purchasing the lands of a corporation for one-tenth of their value. there would be raised against him a presumption of fraud, and he would be required to show affirmatively that the transaction was a perfectly fair one.3 The Civil Code of California, section 2228, requires the highest good faith from a trustee towards his beneficiary, and section 2230 prohibits the trustee from taking part in any transaction adverse to the beneficiary. Under these sections the Supreme Court of that state has held a secretary of a corporation, at the same time its general manager, to whom all its affairs were intrusted, to have been guilty of a fraud upon the corporation in secretly purchasing its property in his own name when sold under execution or at tax sales.4 A director may loan money to the corporation, take a mortgage to himself securing the loan, and upon foreclosure of the mortgage may purchase the property and obtain title to the property mortgaged.⁵ A director

Preston v. Loughran, (1890) 58 ² Cornell v. Clark, (1887) 104 N. Y. Hun, 210; s. c., 12 N. Y. Supp. 313. As to a purchase by a director of the ³ Woodroof v. Howes, (1891), 88 Cal. property of a corporation at a foreclosure mortgage sale being valid, see Saltmarsh v. Spaulding, (1888) 147 Mass. 224; s. c., 17 N. E. Rep. 316.

¹ Ibid.

^{451;} s. c., 10 N. E. Rep. 888.

^{184;} s. c., 26 Pac. Rep. 111.

⁴ San Francisco Water Co. v. Pattee, (1890) 86 Cal. 623; s. c., 25 Pac. Rep. 185.

of a corporation cannot, for instance, take possession of corporate property and set up his individual possession to the exclusion of the corporation of which he is an equitable trustee.1 directors of "a going concern," though the corporation be insolvent, will not be held liable, as for a breach of trust, for making a bona fide advantageous sale out and out of the corporate assets, all of which assets may have been attached, to one of the attaching creditors on condition that he would cancel his own debt and discharge the debts of other attaching creditors, especially where the directors have no means with which to control the attachment suits, and the transfer be advised by counsel.2

§ 194. Illustrations of a sale of property to corporation which was not fraudulent. - The corporation, upon the notes of which this action was brought in the federal court of the district of Kansas, in its answer denied the authority of the president and secretary of the company to execute or issue such notes, and further claimed that the notes were fraudulently and wrongfully issued through the collusion of the officers and directors of the company, and without any consideration whatever therefor. The facts were that two of the directors had, previously to the organization of the company, purchased a roadbed for a very small sum of money. They afterwards caused the defendant company to be organized, and, while in the relation of directors with others of the newly organized company, contracted with the other directors to sell the roadbed to the company for $200,000 eash or bonds and $3,600,000 of the capital stock. The sale was formally ratified at a meeting of the directors and entered on the records of the company; and afterwards the stockholders unanimously approved the purchase. At the time of the sale there were no stockholders, and the stock issued was all that had been subscribed. The company had no property except its charter and the roadbed, and the notes [which were issued instead of bonds] and stock issued to [the vendors] had no marketable value.

App. 558.

v. Henry B. Pettes Importing Co., purposes for which it was created, (1887), 30 Fed. Rep. 864. That direct- see Abbot v. American Hard Rubber ors have no power to sell the entire Co., 33 Barb. 578.

¹ Hoffman v. Reichert, (1889), 31 Ill. movable property of a corporation used in its corporate business and dis-*White, Potter & Paige Mfg. ('o. able the corporation from fulfilling the

It was held that the sale was not fraudulent. In a Kansas case it was attempted to make certain persons, directors of a railroad corporation, account for the profits made by them in selling to it a roadbed which they had purchased before the organization of the railroad corporation for a small sum for a much larger sum than they had paid. The Supreme Court ruled that the owners of

1 Stewart v. St. Louis, Ft. S. & W. good faith " Hotel Co. v. Wade, 97 R. Co., (1887) 41 Fed. Rep. 736. U. S. 13; 1 Mor. Priv. Corp. §§ 292, FOSTER, J., discussed the actions of 521, 545; Van Cott v. Van Brunt, 82 these directors in the premises as tol- N. Y. 535; Simons r. Oil Co., 61 Pa. lows: "There is no doubt but the di- St. 202; Oil Co. v. Densmore, 64 Pa. rectors [the vendors], and perhaps St. 43; Rice's Appeal, 79 Pa. St. [another director], while directors of 168, Parker v. Nickerson, 137 Mass. the company, used their influence to 487 The judge then discussed the consummate this sale from themselves particular facts of this case in these as individuals to the company; and it words: "It does not appear in this is altogether probable they had that case that there was any deception or object in view when they bought the fraud practiced by the parties The roadbed from [the vendor to them]. property was open to inspection, and But the question still remains, were the approximate cost of constructing it they guilty of fraud, deception or any was easily obtainable. Its value to the other breach of good faith in their company for the purpose desired was fiduciary relations as directors? At not difficult to ascertain. I find no evithe time they bought the property dence of any representations as to its the defendant company had not value or cost, or purchase price, made been organized, and at that time, by the parties selling; but there is of course, they could not have held record evidence that the board of any fiduciary relations to stockholders directors several months after the or any one else. When the sale to the sale, and with full knowledge of the company was made they did hold a transaction, formally approved and position of trust, and were bound, in ratifled it, and not only that, but their official action, to faithfully and subsequently, at a meeting of all honestly execute their duties, and not the stockholders, the transaction to make a deal where their personal was again ratified. Now, who were interest should be served at the ex- defrauded or deceived? All parties pense of the company they represented. —directors and stockholders — as-Wardell v. Railroad Co., 103 U. S. sented to it, and surely subsequent 651; Ryan v. Railroad Co., 21 Kans. purchasers of the stock, or the cor-365; Koehler v. Iron Co., 2 Black, 715; poration itself, cannot now object 1 Moraw, Priv. Corp. § 517; Michaud r. to it. 1 Moraw, Priv. Corp. 290. It is Girod, 4 How. 513. But it does not true the vendors got a very large adfollow that the directors are prohibited vance on the price they paid, but that under all circumstances from dealing is not alone the test by which the bona with a member or members of the fides of the transaction is to be tried. board as individuals. But there must 1 Moraw. Priv. Corp. 293. To them as have been a fair open deal. It must individuals the property was of little have been free from fraud or col- or no value. To the railroad company lusion, and characterized by entire it could be made worth the price paid a graded roadbed could sell to a railroad corporation, the officers, directors and stockholders of which were composed of these owners, and receive in payment therefor shares in its capital stock at a time when those selling the roadbed owned and controlled the corporation, and are the absolute owners of all the stock issued by it, and where the terms of sale and the issue of the stock are matters of record on the corporation's books, and where the transaction occurs months before any other or additional stock is issued by the corporation.1 This rule was based upon the fact that at the time of the purchase of this roadbed by the vendors of it to the corporation the corporation really had no corporate existence, and that there could not have existed any fiduciary relations between them before that time, because there was no corporation in existence to create them.2

§ 195. When a transfer of property of corporation will be upheld.—These facts are disclosed in a New York case. A manufacturing corporation was organized for the purpose of manufacturing carpets by machinery covered by certain letters patent, and issuing licenses for the use of the invention; its capital stock was $40,000, which was issued to the defendants, the owners of the letters patent, as the consideration for the assignment by them of the letters patent to the corporation. The actual value of the patent was much more than the sum specified, and the transfer was made without regard to its value, as a convenient mode of holding title, and for the exclusive benefit of the owners, who, as sole stockholders and trustees of the corporation. carried on the business of issuing licenses to use the inven-

for it; and the vendors bent every were deceived by misrepresentations getting money or any other value for purchase." the property depended very largely ¹ St. Louis, Ft Scott & Witchita R. on the result. As before remarked, R. Co. v Tiernan, (1837) 37 Kans. 606; parties having stock afterwards in the s. c., 15 Pac. Rep. 544. company cannot complain of the purstock in the company unless they vol- case. untarily chose to do so; and, if they energy to make the property useful to of the officers, their cause of action the company, and to make the enter- rests on that deception, and not in an prise successful, for their chances of attack on the original contract of

² Ibid. There is a very full discuschase. The records of the company sion of the questions relating to proshow the transaction. It was not kept moters of corporations, their rights. a secret. There was no compelling duties and liabilities, as viewed in any person or municipality to take English and American courts, in this

tion and collecting royalties. Subsequently, concluding to go into the business of manufacturing, the defendants, as trustees, transferred back to themselves the letters patent, they surrendering the stock issued to themselves as above stated. The stock of the corporation was increased to $600,000, all of which was issued to defendants, they paying first $250,000 in cash, and for the residue granting to the corporation a license to manufacture under the patent, on payment of a specified royalty. It was found by the trial court that this transaction was in good faith and with no intent to defraud any future holder of the stock, and that $350,000 of stocks was not an inadequate consideration for Defendants thereafter assigned to plaintiff and the license. another $100,000 of the stock, as the consideration of their assignment to the corporation of certain other letters patent. These assignees were informed of all the facts relating to the retransfer to defendants and the consideration for the issuing to them of the increased stock. Stock was also sold to another person who had knowledge of the facts. Plaintiff was elected a trustee. corporation erected manufactories and carried on the business for a time, which resulted in a loss. Defendants and another, comprising a majority of the board of trustees, as such, adopted a resolution to sell the stock on hand, lease the manufactories, and to secure defendants for advances made by them by mortgage on the property of the corporation which was executed with the assent of two-thirds in interest of the stockholders. Defendants were the only creditors of the corporation, and the trial court found that the resolution above referred to was adopted in good faith, without intent to injure, and that it did not affect plaintiff, and was for the best interests of the corporation and its stockholders. The mortgage was thereafter foreclosed and the property bought in by one of the defendants. Plaintiff brought his action as trustee of the corporation to set aside the transfers of its property, which he alleged had been made or authorized by the defendant trustees as such to themselves individually, and for an accounting. The Court of Appeals of New York, upon the facts stated above, held that the complaint was properly dismissed.1

¹ Skinner r. Smith, (1892) 184 N. Y. and for their benefit, or a transfer of 240, affirming 56 Hun, 437. The court its property by the authority of the said: "A contract entered into by a trustees to themselves, may be set corporation by the authority or direction of its trustees, with themselves interest, or the private interest of any

§ 196. Officers voting themselves salaries or compensation.—The vote of a director for his own salary is manifestly illegal. An agreement of directors to pay themselves a stipulated sum for services in the employment of a corporation is void.2 The salary of the president of a corporation having been fixed by its directors, as they have a right to do, and accepting the office under their action, he cannot, by his vote as a director, increase his salary. Where the superintendent of a corporation is also a director, his compensation must be fixed by corporate action, a record of which should be made upon the books of the corporation.4 Should directors, who are not entitled to compensation for their services as directors by the provisions of the charter of the corporation or by its by-laws, or some custom or usage allowing such compensation, make such allowance to themselves for past services and issue bonds or orders for such allowances, their acts will be void and of no effect.5 Salaries voted by its board of directors to one or more of their number, who are present and participating in the action, are not binding upon a corporation.6 Where private business corporation, with or Morawetz Corp., §§ 413 et seq. 1004. to its trustees, in good faith, in case no public or private interest is harmed 39 Mo. App. 460. thereby. Such contracts are not void, but voidable, at the election of those 430. who are affected by the fraud. Twin-Lick Oil Co. v. Marbury, 91 U. S. 587- 445. 589; Thomas v. Brownville, etc., R. R. Co., 100 U. S. 522-524; Risley v. Inturing Co., (1889) 36 Mo. App. 333. dianapolis, B. & W. R. R. Co., 62 N. Y. 240; Barnes v. Brown, 80 N. Y. Branegan, (1872) 40 Ind. 361. 527-536; Munson v. S., G. & C. R. R.

shareholder or creditor, even though for the purpose of protecting sharethe contract or transfer was executed holders from further loss, does not ad in good faith by the trustees. Dun- mit, we think, of doubt. Treadwell comb v. N. Y., H. & N. R. R. Co., 84 v. Salisbury Mfg. Co., 7 Gray, 395." N. Y. 190. But this rule is not broad Hancock v. Holbrook, 9 Fed. Rep. 353: enough to condemn as void on the Boston & P. R. R. Co. v. N. Y. & N. ground of public policy all contracts E. R. R. Co., 13 R I 263, Buford v. and transfers executed by a purely Keokuk L. Packet Co., 69 Mo. 611;

¹Davis Mill Co. v. Bennett, (1889)

² Guild v. Parker, 43 N. J. Law,

³ Ward v. Davidson, (1886) 89 Mo.

Besch v. West. Carriage Manufac-

⁵ Maux Ferry Gravel Road Co. v.

⁶ Kelsey r. Sargent, (1886) 40 Hun, Co., 103 N. Y. 58-73; Barr v. N. Y., 150. In Copeland v. Johnson Manu-L. E. & W. R. R. Co., 125 N. Y. 263- facturing Co., (1888) 47 Hun, 235, the 277." The court, in the opinion in this contracts made between one who was case, concluded with this statement: president and one of the trustees of "The right of a manufacturing cor- the corporation, and two of the other poration to discontinue its operations four trustees of the corporation, for when they have become unprofitable, the payment to him of fixed coma board of directors had assigned to one of their number the performance of the duties of treasurer of the corporation, and no salary had been fixed for such office by the board, the Illinois Supreme Court assumed that the board chose to regard his services in that capacity as a part of his duty as director, and held that he could not recover an allowance made by them to him for such services.1 The directors of a corporation occupying a fiduciary relation to it, should they vote themselves an excessive compensation for services in disposing of its stock, such an act would be an actual, not merely a constructive fraud.2 In a case where the treasurer of a corporation had appropriated corporate funds to his own use as for a salary, and the court found the amount was excessive, the money was held to have been obtained by fraud and the treasurer liable for interest on the sum that he had thus appropriated.⁸ In a case before the Supreme Court of New pensation for the performance of R Co., 27 Vt. 435, Butts v. Wood, 37 he illegal. 201.

"[These directors] are managing a 111 63. fund as trustees for the stockholders; and they have no right to use or Int 268; Farcira v. Riter, (Pa) 38 Log. apropriate the funds of their cestuis que Int. 450. trust to themselves. They have no Wayne Pike Co. r. Hammons, power to waste, destroy, give away or (1891) 129 Ind. 368; s. c., 27 N. E services rendered by him for the cor- N. Y 317, Merrick v Peru Coal Co., poration, being dependent for their 61 Ill. 472, Rockford, Rock Island & validity upon his vote, together with St. Louis R. R. Co. v. Sage, 65 Ill. that of the two directors, were held to 328; Cheeney v. LaFayette, Blooming-See, also, Coleman v. ton & Western Ry. Co, 68 III. 570; Second Avenue R. R. Co., 38 N. Y. American Central R. R. Co v. Miles, 52 Ill. 174; Gridley v. LaFayette, B. ¹ Holder v. LaFayette, Blooming- & M Ry. Co., 71 Ill. 200, LaFayette, ton & Mississippi Ry. Co, (1873) 71 B & M. Ry Co. r Cheeney, 87 Ill. Ill. 106. It was said by the court: 416, Illinois Linea Co. c. Hough, 91

² Freeman v. Stine, (Pa.) 35 Leg

misapply it, and when they were Rep. 487. In Emporium Real Estate elected by the shareholders, no pro- & Manufacturing Co. v. Emric, (1870) vision having been made for their 51 Ill. 345, it was held that the presicompensation, the stockholders had dent of the corporation, who, claiming a right to suppose they were acting that the corporation was indebted to under the common-law rule, that, as him for his salary as president and for trustees, they could not claim pay- services as attorney at law, had ment for their services." See Kirk- caused the secretary of the corporapatrick v. Penrose Ferry Bridge Co., tion to assign to him certain certifi-49 Pa. St. 121; Loan Association v. cates of purchase of land held by the Stonemetz, 29 Pa. St. 534; New York corporation, and in their possession as & N. H. R. Co. r. Ketchum, 27 officers, should surrender these certifi-Conn. 170; Henry v. Rutland & B. R. cates to the corporation. It was said York these facts were shown: That the corporation had been managed by the owners of the stock in harmony and at a small salary until the president of the corporation wanted a part of the plaintiff's stock; to compel the sale a threat was made to raise the salaries of the officers. A subsequent raise of the salaries fol-Again there was the same refusal to sell, another similar threat, and this was followed by an extremely large increase, and this was followed by a threat that there must be another increase accompanied by an averment that there was no limit to the raise except the will of the trustees. The court held that the action of the trustees in the matter of raising the salaries of its officers was a spoliation of the corporation for an unworthy purpose, and trustees would not be permitted to act in such a manner with the corporation's funds. A majority of the directors, there being three, and all stockholders of a corporation, having combined, so managed the business of the corporation as to divert all the profits of the enterprise from their legitimate destination, and to appropriate them to their own use, as by voting to themselves extraordinary salaries, the chancellor held that as they had in part executed their plan, and the circumstances rendered any change in the personnel of the management impracticable, a proper case had arisen for the intervention of the court to make a division of the assets. He also held that such a by the court: "The claim of the appearing that he dissented to this president had not been allowed by the action, could be recovered of him by ble rights to control them, except for 1894) 36 Pac. Rep. 36. the benefit of the company." In 1 Ziegler r. Hoagland, (1889) 52 salary for certain services, and it not Murray, 39 N. Y. 202.

board of directors or by a committee the receiver of the corporation on the appointed by them. In effect, the general ground of equity controlling president audited his own demand, the actions of directors or officers of a and then seized upon property for its corporation as holding a fiduciary payment. This can never be per-position in connection with voting or mitted to the officers of corporations. granting anything to their personal The toleration of such practice would advantage. As to the action of three be destructive of the rights of of five directors of a corporation in creditors and of stockholders. The voting a salary to one of the three as assets would be at the mercy of the secretary being void, see Martin v. officers, who have no legal or equita- Santa Cruz Water Storage Co., (Ariz.

Ashley v. Kinnan, (Sup. Court, Spl. Hun, 385; s. c., 5 N. Y. Supp. 305, Term, 1888) 2 N. Y. Supp. 574, it was affirming the judgment restraining held that the amount received by an such conduct on the part of the officer presiding over the board of trustees, citing to the point Butts v. trustees, when the board voted him a Wood, 37 N. Y. 317; Ogden v.

trustee, having committed a breach of trust by deliberately extracting and appropriating to his own use a portion of the trust fund, could not cure the breach and demand the further custody of the fund by simply restoring it.¹

§ 107. Interest upon exorbitant salary voted officer recoverable.—There was a contention in an Indiana case that the damages assessed by the court were too large. It was based upon the fact that the court allowed interest on the amount, or a portion of the amount, appropriated or used by the appellants. The argument was that the money received by the treasurer belonged to him and that he had the right to use it so long as he furnished the amount due when called upon to do so. The Supreme Court said of this: "The argument is based upon false premises. The treasurer of a private corporation does not bear that relation to the funds which come into his hands susrained by a public officer. A public officer, when called upon to account for moneys which come into his hands, as such, cannot excuse himself on the ground that the funds have been stolen, or lestroyed without his fault, because, by legal fiction, the money s supposed to belong to him, and he must bear the loss. iction is thought to be necessary for the safety of the public funds. But it is not so with the treasurer, or agent, of a private corporation. If the funds in his hands are lost, or destroyed, without his fault, the loss is the loss of the principal and not the oss of the treasurer or agent. Mowbray v. Antrim, 123 Ind. 24. A large portion of funds involved in this suit was allowed to the secretary and treasurer, as salary, and presumably he used the sum so allowed him. The court found that such salary was exorbitant and unreasonable and required the appellants to account for all the funds used in that way over and above a easonable compensation for the services of the secretary and reasurer. If these funds were so used, we know of no good eason why those who used them should not account for the nterest. We do not think the court erred in charging the appellants with interest on the funds which came into their lands, and which were used by the secretary and treasurer in his private business, under the guise of an exorbitant salary."2

¹¹ Fougeray v. Cord, (1892) 50 N. J. ¹ Wayne Pike Company v. Ham-Eq. 185; s. c., 24 Atl. Rep. 499. mons, (1891) 129 Ind. 366, 378, 379.

§ 108. Contracts between corporations having the same directors in part. Where the managers of a railroad corporation, acting in its interests, buy a controlling interest in the stock of a connecting railroad for the purpose of making with themselves as controlling managers of the connecting road contracts more favorable to the former, and accomplish their purpose, the question whether the contracts are fair and just is immaterial in a stockholder's injunction suit to restrain the execution of the contracts. A construction company contracted with a railway poration, (1888) 62 N. H. 537. It ration shall be capable of being a relations are likely to bring him in est.

¹ Pearson v. Concord Railroad Corterested in any contract with a corpowas said by the court, in the opinion: director thereof, and if any director "A director of a railroad corporation, shall directly or indirectly be concerned though not technically a trustee, stands in any contract with the corporation, in a fiduciary relation to the corpora- his office shall become vacant. The tion, and is under the disability of a office becomes vacant, although in a trustee. Practically, the directors are suit at law between the parties upon trustees, and the stockholders are the such a contract the contract is not held cestuis que trust. Like all other per- void. Foster v. Railway Co., 13 C. B. sons where this relation exists, he 200. Such contracts are voidable in cannot, as buyer for his corporation, equity at the suit of a stockholder. buy of himself against the objection of We have no such statute; but reason his cestui que trust, nor as seller for the and common sense, and all the analocorporation become the purchaser, nor, gies of the law, forbid that a person being its agent and trustee, contract should act in a position of trust when with himself or secure to himself ad-self-interest conflicts with duty. The vantages not common to other stock- consciences of men in such positions holders, because such contracts and will not stand the strain of self-inter-We approve the remarks of conflict with his duty and self-interest, Weich, J., in Goodin v. Canal Co., 18 and tempt him to be unfaithful to the Ohio St. 169: 'A director whose persuperior obligations he has assumed. sonal interests are adverse to those of [Citing] Pierce on Railroads, 36; Mo- the corporation has no right to be or raw. on Corp., § 215; Ang. & Ames on act as a director. As soon as he finds Corp. § 233, note a, § 312; Butts v. that he has personal interests which are Wood, 37 N. Y. 317; Hoyle v. Rail- in conflict with those of the company. road, 54 N. Y. 315, 328; Blake r. he ought to resign. No matter if a Railroad, 56 N. Y. 485, 490; Barnes v. majority of the stockholders as well as Brown, 80 N. Y. 527, 535; Duncomb himself have personal interests in conv. Railroad, 84 N. Y. 190, 198; Robin- flict with those of the company. He son v. Smith, 3 Paige, 222, 232, Koch- does not represent them as persons, or ler v. Iron Company, 2 Black, 715, 721; represent their personal interest. He Bliss v. Matteson, 45 N. Y. 22; 1 Per. represents them as stockholders, and Tr. § 207; Booth v. Robinson, 55 Md. their interests as such.' Rolling Stock 419, 486, 440. * * * In England Co. v. Railroad, 34 Ohio St. 465, was a parliament has declared by statute (8 stockholders' bill for an injunction. & 9 Vict. chap. 16) that no person in- The plaintiff's board of five directors corporation for the construction of a portion of its road, the payment to be made in the mortgage bonds of the latter. Two of the directors of the railway corporation were also parties in the construction contract. The other parties in the construction contract agreed to assume the subscriptions of all the individual directors of the railway corporation to the capital stock of that holders. Sec. also, Wardens of St. were elected."

were members of the defendant's board James r. Rector, etc., Church of the of thirteen. The bill was dismissed Redeemer, 45 Barb. 356; Kitchen v. because not seasonably brought; and Railroad 69 Mo. 224; Railroad r. Kelly, the remarks of the court, to the effect 77 Ill. 426; Kochler r. Black, etc., that the agreements ought to be set Iron Co., 2 Black, 720; Moraw. on Corp. aside was valid because executed by a 245, and cases; 1 Perry on Tr. § 207, majority of the board without the in- and cases; Pierce on Railroads, 36terested directors, would seem to be 40, and cases; Green Brice Ultra Vir. dicta. Ashhurst's Appeal, 60 Pa. St. 477, note (a) and cases. Stockholders 291, and Watts' Appeal, 78 Pa. St. 370. and creditors are entitled not only to the are sometimes cited to the point that vote of a director in the board but to contracts or sales, made by a board of his influence and argument in discusdirectors with or to some of their sion. Ogden v. Murray, 39 N. Y. 202, number, may be sustained in equity, 207; Railway Co. v. Blakie, 1 Macq. and the remarks of the court are to the (II. L. Cas) 461, where the court said: point that such contracts and sales 'It was Mr. Blakie's duty to give his may be upheld if their perfect fair- co-directors, and through them to the ness is shown. These cases were stock- company, the full benefit of all the holders' bills to set aside sales of prop- knowledge and skill which he could erty, upon the ground of a violation of bring to bear on the subject.' In fiduciary duty. Relief was denied upon Barnes v. Brown, 80 N. Y. 527, 586, the ground that the applications came the court said: 'If he [plaintiff] had too late. Flagg v. Railway Co, 20 Blatch. attempted to perform the contract 142; s. c., 21 Am. Law Reg. 775, de- while he was director, the stockholders cides that where an agreement is made could probably have intervened by by the directors relinquishing the right some suit in equity adapted to the to a guaranty of dividends to a corpo- nature of the case to nullify the conration by another corporation, the exe- tract as to him, or to restrain him as cution of the agreement will not be to the performance thereof, or to comenjoined at the suit of a stockholder, pel him to elect to resign his office of because three of the directors voting director, or to give up the contract.' were also stockholders in the guaranter. Our conclusion upon this part of the corporation, it appearing that, without case is, that the directors of the Concounting their votes, a majority of the cord could not make the contracts with directors voted for the measure. In the upper companies, nor settle the Butts v. Wood, 38 Barb. 181; s. c., [on claims of those companies against the appeal] 37 N. Y. 317, the action of the Concord. For the transaction of that majority of two in a board of three, part of the business of their office they passing upon the claim of a third di- were disabled by the understanding rector, who also voted, was set aside on which, the purpose for which, and at the instance of one of the stock- the interest in and by which, they corporation (which was worthless) and relieve the directors from all liability under it. This contract the Supreme Court of the United States held not to be enforceable in equity when resisted by stockholders in the railway corporation; and the bonds issued under it to the construction company were held to be voidable at the election of the parties affected by the fraud, while in the hands of parties who took them from the construction company, not in the ordinary course of business, but under circumstances which threw doubt upon their being holders for value or without notice.1 The stockholders had been allowed to come into the suit for foreclosure of the mortgage and filed their cross-bill. The court said: "In this condition of the case they are amenable to the rule that they who seek equity must do equity. It is just that they should pay a fair price for what they have received; that this mortgage, given for the construction of the road, though excessive by reason of the fraud in the contract, should stand for the reasonable value of what the company actually received in the way of construction. To permit these intervenors to defeat the mortgage on any other ground would be unjust, and would make the court the instrument of this injustice." In a leading Missouri case, where a railroad corporation was not in financial condition to complete its road in all its branches, which was essential to its proving profitable, an association of capitalists was formed, the object of which, as expressed in its articles, was the purchase of the bonds of the corporation, and ultimately, if found profitable to do so, the purchase of the road itself, provided the association could obtain control of the company. The bonds of the corporation were subsequently purchased of it, and the association allowed to name a majority of the directors. It was insisted that this transaction was fraudulent by reason of the

Rep. 315. The court said: "In the precise analogy to this. present case the stockholders of the The conduct of these directors is utterly Co., 58 Fed. Rep. 653.

¹Thomas, Trustee, v. Brownville, indefensible." Referring to Wardell Fort Kearney & Pacific R. R. Co., v. Union Pacific R. R. Co., 108 U. S. (1888) 109 U. S. 522; s. c., 3 Sup. Ct. 651, and same case in 4 Dill. 330, as in control of the corporation being surrendered to the association, and because the latter looked to the ultimate acquisition of the road. These facts were held not to establish fraud. It was also insisted in this case that the transaction was fraudulent because. at the time of its consummation, three of the thirteen directors of the railroad corporation were members of the association purchasing. The court held that this, if a fact, would not make the sale void.2 The fact that shortly after the contract for purchase of bonds, etc., was proposed to the railroad corporation, and before its acceptance, several of the directors became members of the association was held to render the contract, when made, voidable only, and not absolutely void.3 It was further held in this faith in either of these stipulations [as 91 U.S. 587. them to buy."

² Thomas, Trustee, v. Brownville, corporation, whose officers accepted Fort Kearney & Pacific R. R. Co., those benefits at the hands of the par- (1883) 109 U.S. 522; s. c., 3 Sup. Ct. ties with whom they were, in the name Rep. 815. As to the effect of a railway of the corporation, making a contract corporation and a construction comfor over a million of dollars, do de- pany having mainly the same officers, nounce and repudiate that contract, see Davidson v. Mexican National R.

& Northern Ry. Co., (1878) 69 Mo. election of the party whose interest

¹Kitchen v. St. Louis, Kansas City 224; citing, as authority, Buell v. & Northern Ry. Co, (1878) 69 Mo. Buckingham, 16 Iowa, 284; Hartridge 224. The court said: "There is noth. v Rockwell, R. M. Charlton's Rep. ing inconsistent with the utmost good 260; Twin-Lick Oil Co. v. Marbury, to purchase of the road or securing con- 3 Kitchen v. St. Louis, Kansas City trol of it]. The last might well have & Northern Ry. Co., (1878) 69 Mo. been insisted on because the purchase 224. The court said, arguendo, leadof the bonds, if made, involved and ing up to the conclusion stated in the would require millions of money, text: "Viewing the transaction as and the only security which could be one under which the Missouri Railrelied upon to save harmless those who road Company was to receive sufficient furnished it, would be a faithful and money to complete the road, as therein honest application of it to the comple-stipulated, and pay the interest on the tion and equipment of the road, first mortgage bonds and save the road Hence, there was a propriety in the from sale, we have the highest authordemand of these capitalists that they ity for saying that it was not void, as should have a controlling voice in the is contended by plaintiffs. In the case directory in order that the money fur of the Twin-Lick Oil Co. v. Marbury. nished might be thus applied and re- 91 U.S. 588, which is a recently and sult in giving them ample security for thoroughly considered case, the court, their investment in the bonds. So, in after recognizing to the fullest extent regard to the first stipulation, 'to buy that a director of a corporation occuthe road ultimately, if deemed profit- pying a fiduciary relation in his dealable to do so,' it may be said that there ings with the subject-matter of his was nothing illegal or fraudulent in trust or agency, and with the bene that alone, as we cannot presume and ficiary whose property is confided to infer from it, that if they should pur- his care, is viewed with jealousy, and chase they would purchase it in any that his acts may be set aside on other than a lawful manner and under slight grounds, declares 'that the gencircumstances which would authorize eral doctrine in regard to contracts of this class is not that they are absolutely ² Kitchen v. St. Louis, Kansas City void, but that they are voidable on the case that the stockholders in meeting, having had this proposition made to them for the purchase of the bonds and obtaining control of the road, etc., submitted to them and making no objections, it was too late, after the lapse of five years, for them to impeach the transaction. The mere fact that the president of a railroad company, unknown to the other directors, is interested in a construction contract let by the company would not make the contract void if it be otherwise free from fraud.2

§ 199. Issue of worthless, or overissue of, stock.— Directors issuing spurious, worthless stock would perpetrate a wrong upon the corporation and its stockholders, and a fraud upon every one who might take it as fully paid-up stock, relying upon the appearances and deceived thereby. In case an attempted organization by failure to comply with the statute for organizing corporations of its kind does not become a corporation de jure, and cannot legally issue stock, the issue of stock by it will not alone make the directors liable for a fraudulent conspiracy to issue worthless stock.4 Neither can an intent to deceive on the part of the directors be inferred from such issue of worthless stock, and the fact that the nominal is largely in excess of the actual capital.5 One who had purchased shares of stock of a corporation, the managing officers of which, president, vice-president and director and treasurer, had made an overissue of stock for a large amount claiming under it. While it is true the strongest terms, announced in that a director of a corporation is Judge Ryland's opinion in the case bound by all those rules of conscien- of The City & County of St. Louis v. tious fairness which courts of equity Alexander, 23 Mo. 528, and the auhave imposed as guides for dealing in thorities cited, upon which the opinion such cases, it cannot be maintained is based." that any rule forbids one director among several from loaning money to & Northern Ry. Co., (1878) 69 Mo. 224. the corporation when the money is needed and the transaction is open and Co. r. Kittel, (1892) 52 Fed. Rep. 63. otherwise free from blame. * : Y No adjudged case has gone so far as 527, 534; citing Mechanics' Bank v. this. Such a doctrine, while it would New York & New Haven R. R. Co., afford but little protection to the corporation against actual fraud, would deprive it of the aid of those most Shotwell v. Mali, 38 Barb. 445. interested in giving aid and best qualified to judge of the necessity of that 645. aid and the extent to which it might has been so represented by the party be given.' The same doctrine was, in

¹ Kitchen v. St. Louis, Kansas City ² Augusta, Tallahassee & Gulf R.

· Barnes v. Brown, (1880) 80 N. Y. 13 N. Y. 599; Bruff v. Mali, 36 N. Y. 200; Morgan v. Skiddy, 62 N. Y. 319;

⁴ Nelson v. Luling, (1875) 62 N. Y.

5 Ibid.

and converted the proceeds to their own use, was held to have stated a good cause of action in his complaint against those officers in alleging the above facts, and the further allegation that by the overissue of stock the genuine stock, including that held by himself, was rendered valueless and became unsalable. Officers of a corporation issuing false certificates of stock authenticated by them as genuine and placed by them on the market with fraudulent intent, are liable to every holder into whose hands they may come by fair purchase.2 In a Vermont case, where the treasurer of the corporation had fraudulently overissued stock of the corporation and sold the same for money, it was held that the corporation might recover in general assumpsit from him the money he had received for such stock, where the spurious stock had become so intermingled with the genuine as to be indistinguishable and the corporation had been compelled to and had treated it as genuine.3 Further, that, although the stock, when issued, may have been absolutely void, and the issuing of it by the treasurer a crime, the treasurer could not allege the illegality of his act as a reason why he should not pay over the money.1

¹ Cazeaux v. Mali, (1857) 25 Barb 578; s. c., as Mead r. Mali, 15 How. Pr 347. See, also, Wells r. Jewett, 11 How. Pr. 242; Bell r. Mali, 11 How Pr. 254.

² Bruff v. Mali, (1867) 36 N. Y. 200, Seiser v. Mali, 6 Abb. Pr. 270, note; a case illustrating under what circumstances the purchasers of stock endanremedy in equity against the fraudu s. c., 2 C. C. A. 629.

769.

*Ibid. In Wright's Appeal, (1882) 99 Pa. St. 425, the president of a railway corporation, it appeared, induced a stockholder in the corporation to surrender to him her shares of stock, together with blank powers of attorney to transfer the same, by means of Shotwell v. Mali, 38 Barb. 445. For false representations that they were needed to aid the corporation. He gave to her his individual due bill. gered thereby would not have a transferred the stock and embezzled the proceeds. Subsequently, by comlently acting directors, see Morrison bination with other officers, he frauduv. Globe Panorama Co., 28 Fed. Rep. lently issued stock in excess of the 817. Fraudulent issue of stock: Clark charter limit, and of this overissue of v. American Coal (to., (Iowa, 1894) 53 stock he awarded to the use from N. W. Rep. 291; Citizens' Nat. Bank whence he had secured the shares of Cincinnati v. Cincinnati, N. O. & T. which he transferred a number of R. Ry. Co., 29 Wkly. Law Bull. 15; shares equal to the number of her Brown v. Duluth, M. & N. Ry. Co., voted shares. In an equity proceed-53 Fed. Rep. 889; Florida Land & ing by her to determine her rights and Imp. Co. r. Merrill, 52 Fed. Rep. 77: the corporation's growing out of this transaction, the Supreme Court of ³ Rutland Railroad Co. v. Haven, Pennsylvania held that she must bear (1889) 62 Vt. 39; s. c., 19 Atl. Rep. the loss resulting from the embezzlement by the president of the funds re-

§ 200. False representations of officers — deceit. The directors of a corporation are personally liable to persons who may sustain loss in consequence of false representations made by the directors to them or to the public at large, such representations being fraudulently and designedly made, or ignorantly made, concerning facts susceptible of knowledge, and of which it is the official duty of the directors to obtain correct information. A stockholder in this Texas case had been induced by the representations of these directors to deposit money with the company, which was then insolvent, and these directors had accepted the deposits and applied them to the payment of a debt for which they were sureties. The court held that the directors were estopped in this action to charge them personally to set up as a defense their want of authority to receive the deposits.2 It was further held that the fact that the plaintiff was a stockholder and had access to the books of the concern, and the means of knowing its true condition would not, of itself, prevent a recovery against the directors.' Persons representing to the publie that a corporation had been regularly organized, in circulars signed by them as regularly elected officers, and prematurely issuing stock certificates, one purchasing such certificates will be entitled to recover damages for his injury, the result of such purchase, irrespective of any intent on their part to defraud him in particular.4 In an action against the directors of an insurance

W. N. C. (Pa.) 228.

S. W. Rep. 742.

*Kinkler v. Junica, (1892) 84 Tex. 116; s. c., 19 S. W. Rep. 859.

*Ibid. The court said: "A stocksulting from a sale of her valid shares, holder in a corporation has as much and that the shares he issued to her right to protection against the frauduin excess of the charter limit were lent acts of the trustees or directors as invalid and valueless. The ground any one else, if, indeed, he has not was that, under the facts of the case, more right, although on account of the president was acting as her agent his access to the books, he may be and not as agent for the corporation. held to greater care in his dealings For another case involving the fraudu- with the corporation." As to what lent issue of stock by this president of would be proper instructions to the this railroad corporation, see Mount jury in an action of deceit to charge a Holly Paper Co.'s Appeal, (1882) 12 president of a corporation with the debt of the corporation by reason of ¹ Kinkler v. Junica, (1892) 84 Tex. his representations to a creditor as to 116; s. c., 19 S. W. Rep. 859, adhering the solvency of the corporation, see to Seale v. Baker, 70 Tex. 286; s. c., 7 King v. Davis, (1891) 61 Hun, 627; s. c., 16 N. Y. Supp. 427.

> ⁴Fenn v. Curtis, (1881) 23 Hun, 384.

corporation for damages incurred by one who had been induced by a statement made by its officers as to its assets, to insure his property, and had met with a loss, which, by reason of the utter insolvency of the corporation, he was unable to make good out of the corporation, based upon the misfeasance of the directors in fraudulently permitting such statement to be made, one of the defendants denied his participation in the fraud, and all knowledge that certain bonds belonging to him were represented in the official published statement as property of the company. The Supreme Court of Connecticut held that evidence was admissible on the part of the plaintiff to show that the president and another director of the corporation had, shortly before the publication of the statement, solicited the director denying his liability to make some arrangement by which the bonds could be represented to be the property of the corporation; also, that a receipt given by him to the corporation, acknowledging that the bonds were the property of the corporation, and were held by him subject to its order, was admissible; further, that his acts after the plaintiff had taken his policy, not in themselves independent, but connected with and growing out of the previous fraudulent purpose, were admissible to show his knowledge of, and participation in, the fraud.1 The United States Supreme Court affirmed the sustaining of a demurrer to a bill filed by bondholders against the president of a railroad corporation and others, to make him liable to them on allegations of fraudulent representations on his part as to the length of the road, a mortgage on which was to be a part of the security for the payment of the bonds, and for fraudulently allowing a misapplication of the moneys realized upon the sale of the bonds to them, etc. They held that the allegation in the bill that the president received money from the sale of the bonds, but not averring that the bondholders had obtained judgment against the corporation upon their bonds, and that execution issued on the judgment against the corporation had been returned nulla bonu, showed nothing entitling the bondholders to relief in equity as a creditor of the corporation; further, that the president of such a corporation held no fiduciary relation to the bondholders of the corporation which required him, as their trustee or agent, to see to the proper application of the moneys received by the corporation from the sale of the bonds, or to account to the bondholders for any surplus from the proceeds of their bonds after constructing the works for which they were issued; that his fiduciary relations and duties in these respects were to the corporation and its stockholders, and not to the creditors of the corporation; that the representations made in the circular issued under his name were the representations of the corporation, and in no respect his personal representations. The president of a manufacturing corporation writing to induce one to purchase, and pay in cash for it $10,000, value of its stock at par, offered a position for her son, and represented to her by letter that the corporation was in a flourishing condition, and that there had been paid a dividend of seven per cent upon the stock, as she reasonably understood the letter, nine months before, when in fact it was paid one year before that date. This was three months before the close of a fiscal year, and when that period of time was reached, she expected a dividend, but was informed that the condition of the corporation was such that the managers had deemed it best to withhold declaring a dividend. This president, it afterwards, in her action by bill in equity, developed, had sold certain recipes and good will, etc., for manufacturing the articles which they manufactured, which were utterly worthless, and for which he had been paid largely out of the money she paid in for stock purchased under the inducements he had held out to her, and upon his representations. Her bill was filed against the corporation and the president for recovery, account, etc., to have the assets of the corporation, in so far as they would be available to her claim, for the amount of money she had, in the mode proposed to her, contributed to the corporation, and for general relief for the deficiency against the president on account of his fraudulent representations and wrongdoings in the management of the corporation's finances in his own interest by which she was damaged. It was contended, before the Supreme Court of the United States, that the court had no jurisdiction in equity, as against him. The court sustained its jurisdiction on the various grounds of equity as shown in the allegations of the bill, and the . findings as to the facts, and affirmed the decree in her favor for the deficiency against the president of the corporation individually.1 An officer of a corporation making false statements with reference to the financial status of the corporation, and thereby inducing an exchange of property by another, for such stock, would be liable to the latter in a personal action for the damages caused to him by the transaction.2 This would be true even if the false statement be made by the officers in a statement as to the resources and liabilities of the corporation, required by statute, if such statement is relied upon in purchasing the stock.8 Where several persons engage in business jointly, and, to facilitate such business, use a corporate name and issue stock, and, in the promotion of the scheme, false representations are made by those holding themselves out as promoters and managers of the business, as to the material facts of inducement and as to matters peculiarly within the knowledge of all the associates or their agents, all those engaged in the promotion of the business, as associates of those making the false representations, are liable to those who, relying upon such representations, purchase stock to their cost and injury.4

¹ Salmon v. Richardson, (1862) 30 Conn. 360.

¹ Van Weel r. Winston, (1885) 115 U S. 228; s. c., 6 Sup. Ct. Rep. 22.

79; s. c., 12 Sup. Ct Rep. 340. Mr. mour, 4 C. B. (N. S.) 873. Justice Blatchford, referring especially to the statement as to the prior his benefit, and the remainder, he tesand ordinary expenses of the company. salary for some time longer."

² Newbery v. Garland, (1860) 31 v. Erlanger, 4 Cent. L. J. 510.

¹ Tyler v. Savage, (1892) 143 U. S. Barb. 121 See, also, Bagshaw v Sey-

³ Morse v. Swits, 19 How. Pr. 275. ⁷ Hornblower v. Crandall, (1879) 7 declaration of a dividend, in his letter Mo. App. 220, aftermed in Hornblower to complainant, said: "This suppres- v. Crandall, (1883) 78 Mo 581. It was sion of a material fact [the date when said in Hornblower v Crandall, 7 Mo. the dividend was actually declared | App. 220, 233: "The doctrine by which Tyler [the president] was bound which the defendants are here made in good faith to disclose, was equiva- liable is a well settled doctrine. Perlent to a false representation. Stewart sons investing in stock, under circumv. Wyoming Ranche Co, 128 U.S. stances like the present, have a night 383, 388. The effect of the fraud com- to confide in those who hold themselves mitted by Tyler inured directly to his out as the promoters and managers of personal advantage. Not only was he, a business which they are carrying on, as a large stockholder and salaried so far as concerns representations made officer, benefited by the plaintiff's pay- by such promoters, or under their aument into the treasury of the company thority, as to material facts of induceof the $10,000, but, as already shown, ment poculiarly within the knowledge $6,200 of that sum went directly to of the associates or their agents." Citing Cross v. Sackett, 2 Bosw. 617; tifies, went to the purchase of material Cazeaux v. Mali, 25 Barb. 583; Simons v. Vulcan, etc., Co., 61 Pa. St. 202; The latter amount enabled the com- Morgan v. Skiddy, 62 N. Y. 319; Milpany to continue paying to Tyler his ler v. Barber, 66 N. Y. 558; Bradley v. Poole, 98 Mass. 169. New, etc., Co.

§ 201. A leading English decision on this subject.—In a comparatively late English case, an action of deceit brought by a shareholder against the directors of a tramway company, based upon statements in a prospectus which they issued, which induced him to purchase his shares, it appeared that the company was incorporated with the right to move their carriages by animal power, and, with the consent of the board of trade of the city, by steam power. It was stated in the prospectus that the company had the right to use steam power instead of horses. On the faith of this statement the plaintiff purchased his shares. The board of trade afterwards refused their consent to the use of steam power and the company was wound up. The justice before whom the action was first tried gave a decision upon the case made before him in favor of the directors. This decision was reversed by the Court of Appeal. Upon appeal to the House of Lords, the Court of Appeal's decision was reversed and the trial justice's decision restored. The decision of the House of Lords was that the directors were not liable, inasmuch as their statement in the prospectus as to the use of steam power was made by them in the honest belief that it was true. The main opinion in the case was by Lord HERSCHELL, whose discussion, treatment of and conclusions from all the leading English cases upon actions of deceit were accepted by the others in their opinions. These conclusions were thus summarized and stated by Lord Herschell: "First. In order to sustain an action of deceit there must be proof of fraud and nothing short of that will suffice. Secondly. Fraud is proved when it is shown that a false representation has been made knowingly or without belief in its truth, or recklessly carcless whether it be true or false. Although I have treated the second and third as distinct cases, I think the third is but an instance of the second, for one who makes a statement under such circumstances can have no real belief in the truth of what he states. To prevent a false statement being fraudulent there must, I think, always be an honest belief in its truth. And this probably covers the whole ground, for one who knowingly alleges that which is false has obviously no such honest belief. Thirdly. If fraud be proved, the motive of the person guilty of it is immaterial. It matters not that there was no intention to cheat or injure the person to whom the statement was made. * * * In my opinion, making a false statement through want of care falls far short of, and is a very different thing from, fraud, and the same may be said of a false representation honestly believed, though on insufficient grounds. * * * I am unable to hold that anything less than fraud will render directors or any other persons liable in an action of deceit."1

¹See Peek v. Derry, 37 Ch. Div. 541.

§ 202. The rule adhered to in England.—In a later English case it appeared that one who was the principal partner in a trading firm concurred in steps for turning the partnership into a company with limited liability. His name appeared on the prospectus as managing director of the new company, with a note that he would not join the board till after the transfer of the

that which was false. I have arrived cannot be justly so designated." with some reluctance at the corclu-

¹ Derry v. Peck, (1889), 14 App. Cas. sion to which I have felt myself com-337. Lord Herschell took occasion pelled, for I think those who put to say further: "At the same time I before the public a prospectus to indesire to say distinctly that when a duce them to embark their money in a false statement has been made the commercial enterprise ought to be questions whether there were reason- vigilant to see that it contains such able grounds for believing it, and what representations only as are in strict were the means of knowledge in the accordance with fact, and I should be possession of the person making it, very unwilling to give any counteare most weighty matters for consid-nance to the contrary idea. I think eration. The ground upon which an there is much to be said for the view alleged belief was founded is a most that this moral duty ought to some important test of its reality. I can extent to be converted into a legal conceive many cases where the fact obligation, and that the want of reathat an alleged belief was destitute of sonable care to see that statements all reasonable foundation would suf- made under such circumstances are fice of itself to convince the court true should be made an actionable that it was not really entertained, and wrong. But this is not a matter for that the representation was a fraudu- fit discussion on the present occasion. lent one. So, too, although means of If it is to be done the legislature must knowledge are, as was pointed out by intervene and expressly give a right Lord BLACKBURN in Brownlie v. of action in respect of such a depar-Campbell, (5 App. Cas. at page 952), ture from duty. It ought not, I a very different thing from knowl- think, to be done by straining the law, edge, if I thought that a person and holding that to be fraudulent making a false statement had shut his which the tribunal feels cannot propeyes to the facts, or purposely ab- erly be so described. I think mischief stained from inquiring into them, I is likely to result from blurring the should hold that honest belief was ab- distinction between carelessness and sent, and that he was just as fraudu- fraud and equally holding a man lent as if he had knowingly stated fraudulent whether his acts can or business of the company had been completed. He did not issue the prospectus, but furnished materials for it; saw it in draft, though not in its final shape, and made alterations in it. It was held by the Court of Appeal that, under the circumstances, he was liable to the same extent as if he had been the person issuing the prospectus. The prospectus contained a statement that the business had paid seventeen per cent upon the capital employed in it. This statement, it appeared, might be true if "capital employed" did not include the business premises, or only included their value subject to mortgages upon them, but was grossly untrue if the whole value of the business premises was taken as part of the capital. This action was brought by one who had taken shares on the faith of the prospectus for damages for misrepresentations. The Court of Appeal held that, in order to make a person liable for damages for misrepresentation, it was not enough that the statement should be untrue, and made without any reasonable ground for believing it to be true, but it must be made dishonestly; that the onus of proving dishonesty lay on the plaintiff; that if the party making the statement believed, however unreasonably, that it was true, he was not liable. And as the plaintiff in this case had not shown that the statement was made dishonestly, the Court of Appeal reversed the judgment and dismissed the action.1

$ 203. Officers conspiring to wreck a corporation.—The power given to a president of a corporation to borrow money will not embrace the power to buy stock in the corporation, or

Jones v. Garcia Del Rio, 1 Tur. & Williams v. Wood, 14 Wend 126.

¹ Glasier v. Rolls, (1889) 42 Ch. Div Russ, 297; Blain v. Agar, 1 Sim. 37; 436, following Derry v. Peek, 14 App. Gerhard v. Baley, 20 Eng. Law & Eq. Cas. 337. As to the liability of cor- Rep. 130; Colman v. Riches, 29 Eng. poration and officers making them for Law & Eq Rep. 323, Hichens v. Condamages resulting to individuals from greve, 4 Russ 562; Walburn v. Infalse statements of such officers in gilby, 1 Mylne & K. 61; Foss v. Harprospectuses or otherwise, see Moffat bottle, 2 Hare, 461; Pasley v. Freev. Winslow, 7 Paige, 124; National man, 3 Term Rep. 51; Shrewsbury v. Exchange Co. v. Drew, 32 Eng. Law Blount, 2 Scott's N. R 588; Gallager & Eq. Rep. 1, 14; Pontife v. Bignold, v. Brunel, 6 Cowen, 346; Allen v. Ad-8 Man. & Gr. 63; Bagshaw v. Sey-dington, 7 Wend 9, Bailey v. Mayor, mour, 98 Eng. Com. Law Rep. 873; etc., 3 Hill, 531; City of Buffalo v. Johnson v. Goslett, 3 C. B (N. S.) Holloway, 3 Schl. 493; Culver v. Avery, 569; Colt v. Woolaston, 2 P. Wms. 7 Wend 384; Upton v. Vail, 6 Johns. 154; Green v. Barrett, 1 Sim. 45; 181; Barney v. Dewey, 13 Johns. 224;

other corporate stocks or such articles as the corporation may need in its business. Upon this construction of such a power given to a president of a corporation in an Illinois case where it appeared that the president of a private corporation, who held a controlling share of the stock, was given the power to borrow money, sold, as the agent of his wife, her stock to the company, and gave her judgment notes payable on demand, for such stock, upon which notes judgment was confessed in favor of the wife, under which judgment all the corporate property was sold, and the proof showed that the president, in the transaction, was seeking to break down the corporation, and transfer its property fraudulently to his wife, and there being proof of a conspiracy on the part of the president and secretary to wreck the corporation, the Supreme Court held that the sales of the corporate property under the judgments conferred were properly set aside on the bill of stockholders and creditors filed for that purpose.1

§ 204. President conspiring against corporation — terms on which the corporation could rescind the contract made by him.— A corporation sought to recover from defendant the money which had, as alleged, been paid out of its funds by its president, in carrying out a conspiracy between defendant, a holder of its stock, for such stock at par value when it was only worth seventy-five per cent of its par value, and the corporation itself was offering unsubscribed shares of its capital stock at eighty per cent of its par value, on the ground of fraud, etc., the corporation itself at the time being financially embarrassed and its then president acting under threats from the defendant of exposure of his having embezzled funds of the corporation. The Supreme Court of California held that the court below properly sustained a demurrer to the complaint of the corporation upon the ground that it did not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action.2

1 J. W. Butler Paper Co. v Jeffery, rescission of the contract of sale; and to effect this it was incumbent upon [the ² Bank of San Luis Obispo v. corporation to act with reasonable dili-Wickersham, (1893) 99 Cal. 655; s. gence and return or offer to return to dec., 84 Pac. Rep. 444. The court said, fendants the stock received from them arguendo: "The [corporation] is not under the contract. It cannot be perentitled to any relief because of the mitted to retain the shares of stock alleged fraud practiced upon it in the thus received by it, and at the same sale of the stock without a complete time recover from defendants the § 205. Promoters of corporations accountable for profits.

^{(1894) 151} Ill. 588.

-The cases settle that it is incumbent upon a promoter of a corporation, if he wish to sell property of his own to it, to make full and fair disclosure of his interest and position with respect to the property, and to furnish the corporation with a board of directors capable of forming a competent and impartial judgment as to the wisdom of the purchase, and the price to be paid; and, if he do not, he will not be allowed to retain any profit he may money paid to them as the purchase stock. Cook Stock & S. §§ 282, 314; price of such stock. This would be 1 Moraw. Priv. Corp. § 114; State v. contrary to justice, and can receive no Smith, 48 Vt. 266; Williams v. countenance in a court of equity. Munufg. Co., 3 Md. Ch. 451; Railway There is no averment in the complaint Frog Co. v. Haven, 101 Mass, 398. of any offer on the part of [the cor- The contract of sale was ultra vires, poration) to return the stock pur- and resulted in an illegal withdrawal chased and [it] apparently rested of [the corporation's] capital actually satisfied with the contract for more paid in, but the stock was not actually than fifteen years. Counsel for [the extinguished, and so long as there corporation do not dispute the gene-remained that number of shares of its ral proposition that, to entitle one to capital stock unsold the [cornoration] rescind a contract, he must restore to could at any time have issued a new the other party every thing of value certificate therefor, and tendered the received from him under such con- same to the defendants which would tract; but it is claimed by them that in legal effect have been a tender of the stock was extinguished by the the same shares sold by them to [the sale, and, therefore, cannot be legally corporation]." In Coal Co. v. Lotsreturned, and that all defendant peich, (Ky.) 20 S. W. Rep. 378, the Wickersham can justly claim is to re-president of the coal company entered ceive in the statement of the accounts into a contract with one of the stockdemanded in the complaint a credit holders to deliver to him a quantity of for the value of such stock at the time coal, the pay therefor to be applied on We do not agree with the payment of the individual incounsel on this point. The shares of debtedness of the president to the stock were not extinguished by the stockholder. The stockholder brought sale in such sense that they could not an action to enforce the contract and be raissued by [the corporation] to any asked to be permitted to apply the one subsequently subscribing for price of the coal on the debt. The shares of its capital stock. [The cor- Kentucky Court of Appeals, in passporation's] purchase did not reduce ing upon the question, said: "The the number of shares which [it] was pleadings do not present the question authorized to issue by its articles of of fraud by way of defense, but, incorporation. The only effect of the nevertheless, in construing a contract transaction was to reduce the amount made between officers of a corporaof the subscribed capital stock leaving tion, by which a corporate liability is the [corporation] free to again issue attempted to be created to the one the same number of shares to any one officer or the other, that construction desiring to subscribe for its capital should be placed on terms most favor-have made out of the corporation in such a sale. It appeared in a case reserved from the Superior Court for the adjudication by the Supreme Court of Errors for Connecticut, that the promoter of a corporation had secretly agreed with a patentee to form this corporation to buy his patent, the patentee to pay the promoter half of the price paid for the patents. The promoter induced subscriptions to the stock of the corporation by stating that he was subscribing on equal terms with the rest, and being elected a director, voted for the resolution to buy the patents. The Supreme Court held that the corporation might recover of him (the promoter) his secret profits, and that it was not obliged to rescind the purchase, and so destroy its own reason for being. The secret contract between the promoter and the owner of the patents was held by the court to be void as against public policy.2 to the other."

¹ Plaquemines Tropical Fruit Co. v. Buck, (N. J. Eq. 1893) 27 Atl. Rep.

² Yale Gas Stove Co. v. Wilcox, (1894) 64 Conn. 101; s. c., 29 Atl. Rep. cases to which the defendant's counsel had cited it, and then discussed the relations of promoters to the corporations which they helped to form, as ing how, and when, and in what shape, follows: "A 'promoter' has been desummed up in a single word, a number of business operations familiar to the commercial world by which a com-351, 352. That such persons occupy a the company, they provide it with an able to the corporation; and particu-fiduciary relation toward the company larly when the great weight of the or corporation whose organization they evidence, and in fact all of it, shows seek to promote is well settled by the that corporate property was being decisions of both [America and Eng held, by reason of this contract, to land]. Lord Corron prefers to call pay an individual debt of one director them "trustees." Bagnall v. Carlton, 6 Ch. Div. 385. Sir George Jessel. M. R., in a case (Phosphate Co. v. Erlanger, 5 Ch. Div, 73) said: "Promoters 1004, in which the chancellor reviews stand in a fiduciary relation to that the cases and discusses the subject at company which is their creature." In Erlanger v. Phosphate Co., L. R., 3 App. Cas. 1218, the lord chancellor said of promoters: "They stand, in my 303. The court reviewed a number of opinion, undoubtedly in a fiduciary position. They have in their hands the creation and molding of the company. They have the power of defin and under what supervision, it shall fined to be a person who organizes a start into existence, and begin to act corporation It is said to be not a as a trading corporation. If they are legal, but a business term, 'usefully doing all this in order that the company may, as soon as it starts into life, become, through its managing directors, the purchasers of the property of pany is generally brought into exist- themselves (the promoters) it is, in my ence." Bowen, J., in Printing Co. v. opinion, incumbent upon the pro-Green, 28 Wkly. Rep. (Q. B. Div. 1880) moters to take care that, in forming § 206. Promoters obtaining stock of corporation for nothing.—In a case in the federal court it appeared that two individuals, as promoters of a projected corporation, entered into an agreement with the owners of certain patents and this proposed corporation, by which a certain number of shares were to executive; that is to say, with a board former. Foss v. Harbottle, 2 Hare, emphatic language, declaring that, among themselves, £15,000. required, in its exercise, the utmost 32 Pac. Rep. 600.

of directors, who shall both be aware 461, 468; McElhenny's Appeal, 61 Pa. that the property which they are asked St. 188, Simons v. Vulcan Oil & Mining to buy is the property of the pro- Co., 61 Pa. St. 202; Densmore Oil Co. rmoters, and who shall be competent Densmore, 64 Pa. St. 43; Pittsburg and impartial judges as to whether the Mining Co. v. Spooner, 74 Wis. 307, 5. purchase ought or ought not to be c., 42 N. W. Rep. 259; South Joplin made. I do not say that the owner of Land Co. v. Case, 104 Mo. 572; s. c., property may not promote and form a 16 S. W. Rep. 390; In re British joint-stock company and then sell his Scamless Paper Box Co., 17 Ch. Div. property to it; but I do say that if he 467; Sewage Co. v. Hartmont, 5 Ch. does, he is bound to take care that he Div. 394. In the last case the distincsell it to the company through the tive feature was that the vendors paid medium of a board of directors who the commission to the trustees, who can and do exercise an independent received the property on behalf of the and intelligent judgment on the trans- company. They were compelled to action, and who are not left under the pay it to the company. In Hichens v. belief that the property belongs, not Congreve, 1 Russ & M. 150 (on apto the promoter, but to some other per- peal, 4 Russ. 562), three promoters 'son." Continuing, "Lord O'HAGAN, induced their company to buy a referring to the same subject, ex- mine for £25,000, of which they pressed a similar opinion in even more received from the vendor, and divided while an original purchase might be they were compelled to account legitimate, and not less so because the for to the company. Similar cases object of the purchaser was to sell it are Beck v. Kantorowicz, 3 Kay & J. again, and to sell it by forming a com- 230; Printing Co. v. Green, 28 Wkly. pany which might afford them a profit Rep. (Q. B. Div. 1880) 351; Mining on the transaction, yet 'the privilege Co. v. Grant, 11 Ch. Div. 918; Bagnall given them for promoting such a com- v. Carlton, 6 Ch. Div. 385; Kent v. pany for such an object involved ob- Brickmaking Co., 17 Law T. (N. S.) jections of a very serious kind. It 77; Water Co. v. Flash, 97 Cal. 610; s.c., Sec, also, Mallory good faith, the completest truthful- r. Mallory-Wheeler Co., 61 Conn. 135; ness and a careful regard to the pro- s. c., 23 Atl. Rep. 708, and the recent tection of the future stockholders." English case: In re North Australian The test, therefore, of the validity of Territory Co., Archer's Case, (1892) 1 such transactions is that it must, in all Ch. 322. See, also, Ore Co. v. Bird, its parts, be open and fair, so that the 33 Ch. Div. 85; Gover's Case, 1 Ch. promoters shall not, in fact, substan- Div. 182; Atwool v. Merryweather, tially act both as vendors and vendoes, 37 L. J. Ch. 35; Sewage Co. p. and in the latter capacity approve a Hartmont, 5 Ch. Div. 895; Pittstransaction suggested by them in the burg Mining Co. v. Spooner, 74 Wis.

be issued to these owners for the patents. They then offered the public an option to take stock in the corporation, disclosing the purchase of the patents, and that a portion of the stock was to be issued to the former owners in part payment, but not that they were to have stock on different terms or conditions. were elected president and treasurer of the corporation as was further agreed between them and the owners of the patents. They succeeded in placing a large amount of the stock at seven dollars per share, obtaining their own stock for nothing. In this action against them it was held that they occupied a fiduciary relation to the other shareholders, and were liable to account in one of several modes for the benefit of the shareholders. As to the measure of damages, the court said: "I think the company had a right to elect, (1) whether they would have the shares transferred back to them; or (2) if the shares had been sold, that these defendants should turn over the entire profit made by the sale; or (3) that the company may say, 'Although you have derived no profit by selling the shares, yet you deprived us of placing them with other persons, and you must, therefore, pay us the sum we have lost by reason of our being deprived of the right of placing these shares with other persons." 2 age over other stockholders without a Y. 403. full and fair disclosure of the trans-

307; s. c., 42 N. W. Rep. 259; 24 any fraudulent intent, or that the price Am. & Eng. Corp. Cas. 1; In re paid for the patents was fair and rea-Cape Breton Co, 26 Ch. Div. 221; sonable, cannot retrieve these defends. c., on appeal, 29 Ch. Div. 795; Lady- ants. The law forbids them, from well Mining Co. v. Brookes, 34 Ch. Div. their position, to secretly derive any 398; s. c., on appeal, 35 Ch. Div. 400. benefit over other stockholders, and 1 Chandler, Receiver, v. Bacon, (1887) makes them accountable to the com-30 Fed. Rep. 538; Browne v. National pany for any profit so derived." Citing Color Printing Co., ibid. Colt, J., Bagnall v. Carlton, 6 Ch. Div. 371; said: "The defendants could not law- Whaley, etc., Co. v. Green, 5 Q. B. fully [take their shares of stock with- Div. 109; Sombrero Phosphate Co. n. out consideration, while other stock- Erlanger, 5 Ch. Div. 73; Emma Silholders paid seven dollars per share]. ver Mining Co. v. Grant, 11 Ch. Div. As promoters of the new company, 918; Densmore Oil Co. v. Densmore, they occupied a fiduciary relation 64 Pa. St. 48; McElhenny's Appeal, 61 towards it similar to that of agent to Pa. St. 188; Simons v. Vulcan Oil, etc., a principal, and they had no right in Co., 61 Pa. St. 202; Emery n. Parrott, these negotiations to derive any advant- 107 Mass. 95; Getty v. Devlin, 54 N.

² Chandler, Receiver, r. Bacon, (1887) actions, and any secret profits so made 30 Fed. Rep. 638; Browne v. National they must refund to the company. Color Printing Co., ibid.; citing Carl-That this may have been done without ing's Case, 1 Ch. Div. 115, 126, 127;

§ 207. Jurisdiction of equity courts as to breaches of trust, etc .- The United States Supreme Court long since accepted as settled law, both in England and the United States, that courts of equity in both countries have a jurisdiction over corporations, at the instance of one or more of the stockholders, to apply preventive remedies by injunction, to restrain those who administer them from doing acts which would amount to a violation of charters, or to prevent any misapplication of their capitals in profits, which might result in lessening the dividends of stockholders or the value of their shares, as either may be protected by the franchises of a corporation, if the acts intended to be done create whatever the law denominated a breach of trust. And the jurisdiction extends to inquire into and to enjoin, as the case may require that to be done, any proceedings by individuals, in whatever character they may profess to act, if franchise, or the denial of a right growing out of it, is involved, for which there is not an adequate remedy at law.1 In a case where the directors recognized their duty to resist the collection of a state tax upon the corporation (a bank), their refusal to do so was held to be an act contrary to the obligation which the charter imposed upon them to protect what they conscientiously believed to be the franchise of the bank, and was a breach of trust; that it amounted to an illegal application of the profits due to the stockholders of the bank, into which a court of equity will inquire to prevent its being made.2 Officers and directors of a corporation, being trustees of the stockholders, in securing to themselves an advantage not common to all the stockholders, as, for instance, executing a mortgage to themselves, to secure indebtedness of the corporation to themselves, would be guilty of an unauthorized act, plainly a McKay's Case, 2 Ch. De Ruvigne's Case, 5 Ch. Div. 306; 600. Nant-y-glo, etc., Co. v. Grave, 12 Ch. 57 Fed. Rep. 287; Burbank v. Dennis, Corp. (4th ed.) 424. (Cal. 1894) 35 Pac. Rep. 444; Cornell v. Corbin, 64 Cal. 197; s. c., 80 Pac. Rep. 331. 629, Ex-Mission Land & Water Co. v.

Div. 1; Flash, 97 Cal. 610; s. c., 32 Pac. Rep.

¹ Dodge v. Woolsey, (1855) 18 How. Div. 788. Contracts with promoters, 331; citing Cunliffe v. Manchester & see Bash v. Culver Gold Mining Co., 7 Bolton Canal Co., 2 Russ. & Mylne Wash. 122; s. c., 34 Pac. Rep. 462; Ch. 480, n.; Ware v. Grand Junction Weatherford, M. W. & N. W. R. Co. Water Co., 2 Russ. & Mylne, 470v. Granger, (Tex. Civ. App.) 23 S. W. Bagshaw v. Eastern Union Railway Rep. 425; Winters v. Hub Mining Co., Co., 7 Hare Ch. 114; Ang. & Ames on ² Dodge v. Woolsey, (1855) 18 How.

breach of trust, for which a stockholder would be entitled to a remedy in a court of chancery.1 Contracts made by the directors of a railroad corporation for the construction of the road, for running cars of another corporation upon its road, for mining its coal lands and purchasing the coal so mined, which allow exorbitant prices for work done and material furnished, that are advantageous to the other contracting parties and injurious to the railroad corporation, in which the directors, or a controlling majority of them, are interested adversely to the corporation, in short, contracts made with themselves, are frauds such as courts of equity will relieve against in a proper case.2 For such acts the remedy would be as follows: Parties who make such contracts and receive the pecuniary benefit of them can at law be made responsible in damages, or held in equity to compensation for the loss suffered. In a proper suit such contracts may be adjudged void, and then an accounting ordered, on the basis of a fair compensation for what may have been done in the way of construction, building, opening mines, furnishing coal, etc., and what had been received for such work and materials. But this can be done only in an action brought by bonu fide stockholders who may have taken no part in and had no interest in the fraudulent contracts, in case the corporation be disabled to complain.8 The directors of a joint-stock corporation, who willfully abuse their trust or misapply the funds of the company, by which a loss is sustained, are personally liable as trustees to make good that loss; and they are also liable if they suffer the corporate funds to be lost or wasted by gross negligence and inattention to the duties of their trust.1 And a court of equity has jurisdiction to entertain a suit to enforce the proper remedy in such a case. If the corporation, or the then present directors of the corporations and the parties who have made themselves answerable for the loss, refuse to bring such a suit, then an action will lie in the name of a stockholder in his own behalf or in behalf of all. The chancellor

¹ Koehler v. Black River Falls Iron Co , (1862) 2 Black, 715, citing Ang. road Co., (1878) 98 U. S. 569, 609, 610. & Ames on Corp. (ed. 1861) § 312; The Charitable Corporation v. Sutton, Midland Ry. Co. v. Hudson, 19 Eng. L. & E. 361.

² United States r. Union Pacific Rail-3 Ibid.

⁴ Robinson v. Smith, (1832) 3 Paige, 2 Atk. 404; Robinson v. Smith, 3 222, a case involving the loss of corpo-Paige, 220; Hodges v. New England rate funds by a speculation in stocks Screw Co., 1 R. I. 312; York & North of other corporations by the directors. 5 Ibid.

held in this case that independent of the Revised Statutes of New York the Court of Chancery had jurisdiction, so far as the rights of the individual corporators were concerned, to call the directors to account, and to order them to make suits of action for losses arising from a fraudulent breach of trust.1 And in such suits the corporation is a necessary party.2 Directors, like any other trustees, may be restrained from the performance of unauthorized acts, or to rescind and cancel them when performed. And the stockholders, occupying the relation of cestuis que trust, may invoke the aid of equity to thus protect their interests.8 Officers of a corporation may be compelled by a court of equity to account for any breach of trust, but the jurisdiction for this purpose is over the officers personally. Where directors of a corporation have so mismanaged its affairs as to be fraudulent, a bill may be maintained against them personally by a stockholder. The stockholder may, in such case, interpose for the protection of the corporation.⁵ In a stockholder's action brought by himself on behalf of a corporation against its officers for misapplication and misappropriation of its funds and charging a violation of trust on their part, the right of action in the corporation must be alleged, just as if the action had been brought by the corporation. And he cannot join in the action causes of action accruing to Sackett, 16 How, Pr. 63.

Paige, 607.

(1877) 86 III. 220.

4 Neall v. Hill, 16 Cal. 145.

⁵ Watts' Appeal, (1875) 78 Pa. St. 370. In Bank of St. Marys v. St. of trust and fraud, the bill, as in this John, Powers & Co., (1854) 25 Ala. case, secks a discovery and account, it 566, 609, an action to enforce the lia- will embrace nearly every ground on bility of directors of a bank for un- which the original jurisdiction of the faithful management of its affairs, the Chancery Court is said to rest. In Supreme Court of Alabama, as to there such case it is immaterial whether a being no equity in the bill, speaking court of law can afford to the comthrough Ligon, J., said: "It may be plainant partial or full relief, in the remarked that strict trusts are admit-matter complained of; it cannot hinder ted to be open at all times to the ex- the aggrieved party from resorting to amination of a court of equity, and an a court of equity for redress."

¹ Ibid See, also, Scott v. Depeyster, unfaithful trustee has been constantly 1 Edw. Ch. 513; Cumberland Coal Co. brought before it, and made both to v. Sherman, 30 Barb. 553; Cross c. discover the fund belonging to the trust and to account for its manage-² Robinson v. Smith, (1832) 3 Paige, ment and misapplication. If fraud in 222. Cunningham r Pell, (1836) 5 the management of the fund is charged in the bill, by one interested in the ³ Chetlain v. Republic Life Ins. Co., trust estate, and who has been injured in consequence of such fraud, there is no doubt of the jurisdiction of the court. If, superadded to the matters himself personally with causes of action belonging to the corporation.1

$ 208. When a court of equity is not open to the complaints of stockholders.- A company was organized upon property, and not cash, as its capital, bonds and stock being issued to the organizers and owners of the land, their respective holdings being in proportion to their rights in the property. stockholders, and the holders of the bonds as well, filed a bill in equity complaining of the management of the company's affairs by its officers. The court held that stockholders, after voting for and approving of an appropriation of corporate funds to a purpose fairly within the scope of the corporate powers, will not, in the absence of fraud, be heard to complain thereof in a court of equity. Neither can they proceed in chancery to protect their equitable rights, unless the corporation has been dissolved, or has itself been prevented from proceeding by the misconduct of its officers.2 Goff, Circuit Judge, in his opinion, states the complaints of these stockholders and declares as to the rights of stockholders as follows: "As stockholders the complainants are interested in the proper management of the company; in the payment of all its liabilities; in the sale of its real estate, and the distribution of its assets. They charge that the funds of the company have been wasted, and its assets misappropriated and diverted to purposes wholly foreign to those for which it was organized, to their loss and injury. I do not find that these charges are sustained. The appropriations, donations and subscriptions to stock by the company to the various purposes and enterprises set forth in the bill were all made with the assent of the stockholders, including complainants, most of whom voted for them, as they were in the line of the enterprise in which the company was engaged, and to which the stockholders were committed. It was simply an effort to carry out the object had in view when the company was organized, for which the one-fourth portion of the income received from the sale of lots was set apart, as was provided in the charter and nominated in the bond. I find that the stocks and bonds held and owned by defendant, issued by other corporations, were purchased and secured with the one-fourth part so received, and not with trust funds to which the bondholders were entitled. The directors of the defendant seem to have advised fully with its stockholders, and consulted with its bondholders, more so than is usually done; and, as the evidence discloses, they were always governed by the advice received. It is true that a number of the enterprises that were assisted with the funds of the company have not as yet developed into remunerative investments by demonstrating their dividend-earning capacities. Still the evidence shows that the officers honestly endeavored in these instances to enhance the interest of the company, and that, in their efforts, they had the approval of the stockholders and the commendation of the present complainants. It is clearly shown that complainants were not only aware of the proceedings had at the meetings of the stockholders and directors, when the expenditures complained of were authorized, but that they gave them their cordial support." Upon this statement of the facts the court held that the bill of the complainants was not maintainable.1

"Stockholders of a corporation that has which they shall be managed, as well been managed without fraud will not as the mode of voting the stock and be permitted after they, for reasons of the manner of electing the officers their own, have become dissatisfied thereof; and, if these provisions have with the plan of organization, or the been fairly complied with, then there is management thereof, to force the no ground for the interference of a abandonment of the business, and court of equity at the complaint of a compel the majority of the stockhold- dissatisfied minority shareholder. If he ers to submit to the will of the minor- disapproves of the management that ity by the decree of a court of equity. has been conducted without fraud, and If they had this power it would fre- under the requirements of the law, his quently be exercised to the detriment only remedy is to elect new officers in of the corporation, the very existence favor of another policy by appealing to of which might be thus destroyed, or the stockholders, or, failing in that, to the value of its stock seriously im- sell his stock and retire. Certainly, paired. Rival companies might make the equity courts of the country will it to the interest of this minority so to not undertake to manage it for him, act, or the stock of a corporation might nor will they, under such circumbe purchased with such object in stances, take jurisdiction for the purview, and the result would be that the pose of closing up the affairs of the security relied upon by those invest- corporation. Such power is never ing in corporate property would be exercised in the absence of a statute seriously impaired. The charters giving the jurisdiction, and I find no under which corporations are organ- such enactment applicable to this case.

Arguendo, it was said: they are created, provide the way in ized, and the laws by virtue of which In the absence of such legislation the

§ 209. Remedy in equity. — A stockholder may bring a suit in equity where a president of a corporation which has been steadily earning profits has received the same and not accounted for them, and the directors are under his influence and control and mere instruments to do his bidding, and have surrendered the entire control of the affairs of the corporation to him, for such relief account for the improper use of funds, 754. porate bodies for the purpose of re- regularly appointed agents. v. Bank of Niagara, 1 Hopk. Ch. 354; of their equitable rights.

business matters of a corporation can court of chancery has no peculiar only be controlled, or its charter jurisdiction over corporations to re privileges taken from it, by the proper strain them in the exercise of their and usual proceedings in such cases powers, or control their action, or preprovided in the courts of law, vent them from violating their charter Chancellor Kent," said the court, in cases where there is no fraud or "in a leading case on this subject, breach of trust alleged as the foundasaid: 'I admit that the persons who tion of the claim for equitable relief. from time to time exercise the cor- Their rights and duties are regulated porate powers may, in their character and governed by the common law. of trustees, be accountable to this which, in most cases, furnishes ample court for a fraudulent breach of trust, remedies for any excess or abuse of corand to this plain and ordinary head of porate powers and privileges, which equity the jurisdiction of this court may injuriously affect either public or over corporations ought to be con- private rights. It is only when there fined.' Attorney-General v. Utica Ins. is no plain and adequate remedy at Co., 2 Johns, Ch. 371. 'It cannot be law, and a case is presented which concealed,' said the chancellor in Bay- entitles a party to equitable relief, less v. Orne, 1 Freem. Ch. (Miss.) 173, under some general head of chancery 'that to decree the prayer of complain- jurisdiction, that a bill in equity can ant's bill would be to decree a dissolu- be maintained against a corporation tion of the corporation. In this respect And this rule is applicable to stockholdit differs materially from bills which ers as well as to other persons." See have frequently been entertained by Ang. & A. Corp. § 312; Grant on Corp. courts of equity at the instance of 71, 271; Mozley v. Alston, 1 Phil. Ch. stockholders against the directors of a 790; Hodges v Screw Co., 1 R. 1. corporate company to compel them to 350; Baker v. Railroad Co., 34 La. Ann. The circuit judge resumed: or to restrain them from violating their "The rule is also well established that trust. That a court of equity, as such, a corporation claiming redress for has not jurisdiction or power over cor- wrongs must proceed through its straining their operations, or winding only when the company has been disup their concerns, is, I think, well solved, or is prevented from proceedsettled by various authorities'" See ing by the misconduct of its officers, on this subject Verplanck v. Insurance that the stockholders may themselves Co., 1 Edw. Ch. 84; Attorney-General proceed in chancery for the protection Neall v. Hill, 16 Cal. 145. In Tread- directors refuse to act, or are themwell n. Salisbury Manufg. Co., 7 Gray, selves guilty of a wrong that the ma-393, it is said: "Indeed, it is too well jority of the stockholders refuse to settled to admit of question that a correct, equity will interfere at the

as he may be entitled to.1 And in addition to these facts, should it appear that a number of the directors, especially if including a relative of the president, are not bona fide stockholders, but made such merely by a voluntary transfer of stock to them by him to qualify them as directors, it may not be alleged that the directors have been requested to bring suit and refused.2 One having a claim for a loss against a mutual insurance corporation is entitled to bring his bill in equity against the directors of such a corporation who, having funds belonging to it in their hands to pay the claim, have neglected and refused to pay it, and fraudulently applied the funds to other purposes.3 The managers of a saving fund are liable in equity as trustees for the proper management of the fund.1 The proper remedy for the defrauded depositors of a saving fund is a bill in equity against the directors of such an institution; and these directors, although ignorant of the fact of a fraud in its organization, will be liable to the depositors for the proper care and management of the deposits intrusted to its safe-keeping.⁵ The directors of a saving fund will be held liable to the depositors for maladministration of their office, and suits may be brought by the depositors.6 But directors who did suit of a stockholder. Moraw. Priv. Hotchkiss, 25 Conn. 171; Wright v. v. Oakland, 104 U.S. 450, 460; Foss v. Harbottle, 2 Hare, 493. In this case the complainants allege that they control a majority of the shares of stock of the defendant. If that is so they 155. will have no trouble in calling a stock holders' meeting of the company and therein so voting their stock as to correct the wrongs of which they now complain, and fully protect their interests in the future."

Works, (1875) 52 Ind. 296.

Peabody v. Flint, 6 Allen, 52; Sears v. sonal liability of the president, treas-

Corp. §§ 239, 381, 386; Moore v. Oroville Gold, Silver & Copper Min-Schoppert, 22 W. Va. 282, 291; Hawes ing Co., 40 Cal. 20; Allen v. Curtis, 26 Conn. 456.

- ³ Lyman v. Bonney, (1869) 101 Mass.
- ⁴ Leffman r, Flunigan, (1863) 5 Phil.
 - ⁵ Ibid.
- ⁶ Maisch v. Saving Fund, (1862), 5 Phil. 30. Sharswood, P. J., in his opinion, said: "We are by no means announcing any new doctrine when we say that the directors of corpora-¹Rogers v. La Fayette Agricultural tions are responsible for gross negligence, as well as fraud, in the man-³ Ibid.; citing March v. Eastern R. R. agement of the interest intrusted to Co., 40 N. H. 548; Robinson r. Smith, them. It has received the indorse-8 Paige, 222; Dodge v. Woolsey, 18 ment of courts of the highest character How. 331; Brewer v. Boston Theatre, for learning. Robinson v. Smith, 3 104 Mass. 378; Hodges r. New Eng. Paige, 222; Scott v. Depeyster, 1 land Screw Co., 1 R. I. 812; Goodin v. Edw. Ch. 513; Allen v. Curtis, 26 Cincinnati, etc., Co., 18 Ohio St. 169; Conn. 456. No one doubts the pernot participate, and never took their seats in the board, and against whom there be no allegation of knowledge of the fraud. need not be held liable. A president of a corporation may be called upon by bill in equity to account for and make restitution of any part of the property of the corporation confided to his care where he has improperly applied it to his own use.3 Where by a contract with its president a corporation may deliver to him. its unissued stock, with power of sale, as security for money loaned the corporation by him, the contract will be enforced if shown to have been made for the benefit of the corporation. and to be just and fair.8 An action by a stockholder to set urer and other officers who are paid their respective responsibility. office or bank should allow their names the company. to go forth to the public in connection with representations of the nature and Fed. Rep. 24. value of the assets which, if the ordihave not the time or inclination to alone preserved its existence." give their personal attention."

¹ Maisch v. Saving Fund, (1862), 5 for their services. Why should there Phil. 30. In Flagler Engraving Maexist any doubt as to directors who chine Co. v. Flagler, (1884) 19 Fed. are also officers? The difference is Rep. 468, it appeared that the organonly in the measure and degree of izers of the joint stock company put It in as a part of the capital stock cerwould be monstrous if a director tain patent rights and by fraudulent could look on and see a cashier or puffing induced others to purchase the treasurer embezzling the funds of a stock at fictitious prices. It was held corporation and not be responsible if that whether the purchasers could set he gave no information, and took no aside the sales or not, they were not measures to prevent it. Equally mon- entitled to gain control of the comstrous would it be to say that the pany and pursue their remedy against directors of a saving fund, insurance the fraudulent directors in the name of

² Combination Trust Co. v. Weed, 2

³ Ibid. In Pneumatic Gas Co. v. nary means of examination and super- Berry, (1885) 113 U.S. 322; s. c., 5 vision had been resorted to, they would Sup. Ct. Rep. 525, where the objechave easily discovered to be false. If tion was made to a contract entered they have such unbounded faith in into with a director of the corporation the faithfulness and integrity of their seven years after its execution and had officers as to trust the whole affairs of been repeatedly ratified, the Supreme the corporation to their management, Court of the United States said: "A without any attention on their part, court of equity does not listen with they must accept the alternative of much satisfaction to the complaints of responsibility for their conduct. It is a company that transactions were illeimportant that the community at large gal which had its approval, which were should know this, and that gentlemen essential to its protection, and other of wealth and respectability should be benefits of which it has fully received. careful how they suffer their names to Complaints that its own directors exbe held forth as the trustees or man- ceeded their authority come with ill agers of institutions to which they grace when the acts complained of Jesup v. Illinois Central R. Co., (1890)

aside a resolution of a board of trustees of a corporation fixing the salaries and compensation to be received by them respectively as secretary, treasurer and vice-president of the corporation, and to compel the restoration of the money paid them, although it is not binding upon the corporation and may at the election of the corporation be set aside, cannot be maintained unless he shows that the corporation ought to exercise its rights to avoid the resolution or contract made by its trustees in which The presumption does not they were personally interested.1 arise in such an action that the trustees acted dishonestly, which must be overcome on their part by affirmative evidence, as it would in case the corporation had sought to set aside the contract.2 A stockholder has a right of action for losses sustained by him by 43 Fed. Rep. 483, it was held that sea- covery against them personally, see sonable resistance could not be predi-Stebbins v. Cowles, (1835) 10 Conn. 399. cated of a case of a merely voidable contract, where the party complaining Hun, 109. had not simply been silent for twenty transaction, and which is, therefore, the office of director implies.

¹ MacNaughton v. Osgood, (1886) 41

² Ibid. As to the rule which would years, but with knowledge of the facts, govern in case the corporation 'tself or with free opportunity to ascertain sought to set aside such a resolution, them, has enjoyed the fruits of the it was said by the court: "The corpocontracts, and treated it as valid. Mr. ration may avoid such a contract with Justice HARLAN said generally: "The its trustees, but cannot do so except rule is a wholesome one that requires upon equitable terms, and must rethe court, in cases of merely voidable store to him what is received from contracts, to withhold relief from those him. Duncomb v. N. Y., H. & N. who, with knowledge of the facts, or R. R. Co, 84 N. Y. 190. Hence the with full opportunity to ascertain the corporation, upon rescinding, ought to facts, unreasonably postpone applica- pay the reasonable value of the servtion for relief. A contract not wholly ices of these officers, rendered in a deinvalid when executed, nor prohibited partment of labor beneficial to it, and by law, as relating to some illegal outside of the duty of direction which voidable only, may become, by the acts Metropolitan Elevated Railway Co. of the parties or by long acquiescence, v. Manhattan Railway Co., 14 Abb. binding upon them, especially where N. C. at pages 258, 259, where the the nature of the property which is case of Jackson v. New York Central the subject of the contract is such that Railroad Co., 2 Sup. Ct. (T. & C.) its value may be affected by its rela- 653; affirmed, 58 N. Y. 623, is comtions to other property of like kind, mented upon, and other cases are cited and by the changing business of the in which the right of a director to recountry." As to the right of one cover for such services is shown to wishing to fix liability upon directors rest solely upon quantum meruit, and of a corporation on account of fraudu- such, we have no doubt, is the law." lent transactions by which he had That it must be a clear case demandbeen endangered to file a bill for dis- ing its interference before a court will reason of the fraudulent acts and a misapplication or waste of the corporate funds and property by an officer of the corporation.1 But before bringing, in his own name, an action against an officer of a corporation to recover damages for a fraudulent misappropriation and conversion by such officer of the corporate carnings and funds, he must first apply to the corporation to bring the action and the latter refuse to bring it. In case the corporation do refuse to bring the action, then the stockholder may bring it in behalf of himself and other stockholders, making the corporation a party defendant, alleging its refusal in his complaint and proving it.2 And an action in his own name, without making the corporation a party defendant, to recover the difference between the actual loss and depreciation will not be authorized by the fact that the wrongful acts of the officer have depreciated the market value of the capital stock held by the stockholder to an extent greater than its share of the actual loss sustained.3 Where the officers and trustees of a corporation alien and transfer the whole property of a corporation to one to enable him to appropriate it to his own use and to render valueless the stock of the corporation to effect a dissolution of the corporation without due process of law, and also to oust one who has been chosen to have the "management of the affairs of" the corporation for a stated time and for the purpose of defrauding its creditors, an action will lie to set aside such alienation as fraudulent.4 such manager would be a proper party to bring such an action under the New York Code of Civil Procedure, sections 1781, 1782, which provide that such an action may be brought by a creditor of the corporation, or by a trustee, director, manager, or land, 104 U.S. 460.

a remedy for losses produced by the C. 224. fraud, culpable neglect of duty or a violation of law, on the part of an 154. officer of the corporation, see Bissell v. Michigan Southern & N. I. R. R. Co., 22 N. Y. 275; Butts v. Wood, 37 N. Y. 317; Cross v. Sackett, 6 Abb. Pr. 247, 265; House v. Cooper, 16 How.

interfere with the management of a Pr. 293; Mead v. Mali, 15 How. Pr. corporation, see Barnes v. Brown, 80 347; Crook v Jewett, 12 How. Pr. 19; N. Y. 527; Chautauqua County Bank Cazcaux v. Mali, 25 Barb. 578; Abbot v Risley, 19 N. Y. 381; Hawes v. Oak- v. Am. H. R. Co., 33 Barb. 578; Howe v. Deuel, 43 Barb. 505; Gardiner v. ¹ Greaves v. Gouge, (1877) 69 N. Pollard, 10 Bosw. 675; Gray v. New Y. 154. As to a stockholder's having York & Virginia St. Ship Co., 5 T. &

² Greaves v. Gouge, (1877) 69 N. Y.

8 Ibid.

⁴Beecher v. Schieffelin, (Spl. Term Sup. Ct. 1883) 4 N. Y. Civ. Pro. Rep.

other officer of the corporation having a general superintendency of its affairs.1 A treasurer of a corporation failing to pay over to it money which he has collected whereby the corporation is compelled to borrow money and to pay a rate of interest greater than six per cent in an action against him for the recovery of that money, would not be liable in equity to pay on the sums he had withheld more than six per cent interest should the bill not seek to recover any profits he had made.2 Where stock of a corporation has been fraudulently issued by one of its officers and transferred to a third person as collateral security for a debt, it is in the power of a court of equity, upon a bill filed for the purpose by a stockholder, to order the certificates of such stock returned and canceled.8 And in such a bill the corporation is not a necessary party.4 A treasurer of a corporation who has sold for its benefit a bond issued by it, in case he is unable or refuses to disclose the exact amount for which he sold it, will be chargeable in equity for at least the full market value of the bond at the time of the sale.5 In this case the treasurer of the corporation had purchased on his own account a quantity of coal, when it was not his duty as treasurer to purchase it, and with no intention of selling it to the corporation. He afterwards sold it to the corporation at its then fair market value, which was more than it cost him. It was held that he was not chargeable in equity for the difference in price between what he paid for it and sold it for to the corporation.6 The Supreme Court of New York, in a case where two of the directors of a corporation acquired title to patents for use in the business in their own name, and transferred them to another corporation, which in turn assigned them to one of these directors as trustee, held that a decree that this director should assign all the interest which he held individually and as trustee in the patents to the receiver appointed in the action, and that both of these directors should account for all the profits they had made in the transactions was proper. An action at law can-

¹ Ibid. As to the rules governing the bringing of suits to compel the Bradw. (Ill.) 100. ministerial officers of a private corporation to account for a breach of official duty or misapplication of cor- Mass, 487. porate funds, see Hyde Park Gas Co.

⁸ Campbell c. Morgan, (1879) 4

⁴ Ibid.

⁵ Parker v. Nickerson, (1884) 137

⁶ Ibid.

v. Kerber (1879) 5 Bradw. (III.) 132. Averill v. Barber, (1889) 53 Hun, ⁹ Parker v. Nickerson, (1884) 137 636; s. c., 6 N. Y. Supp. 255. Mass. 487.

not be maintained by a stockholder of a corporation against the officers and directors of the corporation to recover damages for willful waste of the assets, by reason of which the value of his shares of stock may have been decreased, and he may have become liable to an assessment upon his shares. His remedy lies in a court of equity.1 It should appear very clearly that the loss of a stockholder in a diminution of the value of his stock was occasioned by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of directors to charge the officers of a corporation with such loss which he may allege had been caused by their mismanagement.2 While accountable in equity as trustees, in case the officers of a Hirsh v. Jones, (1893) 56 Fed. Rep. "The general rule of law is, that an 341; Conway v. Halsey, 44 N. J. Law, 462.

137. McCormick, Circuit Judge, said: action at law must be brought by the "The authorities are uniform in sup- person having the title or right to the port of the proposition that where the damages which are sought to be recause of action affects all the interests covered for the injury. Hence the of the corporation, as such, the cor- Woodbury Bunk should have brought poration is the proper party to sue, this suit. It is its property which has and on its refusal to sue, or falling been misappropriated and lost, and the under the control of those liable to the damages to be recovered belong to it suit, and thus not to be trusted to to be sure — in trust for billholders, bring and conduct the action, the in-depositors and other creditors, if any jured stockholder has his remedy in there be, and finally for the stockequity, and must seek it in that juris- holders, but for all of them and not diction." Citing Kendig v. Dean, 97 for some of them exclusively. The U. S. 423; Dewing v. Perdicaries, 96 U. bank then must sue. It may compro-S. 193; Dodge v. Woolsey, 18 How. mise and settle or release the defendants on terms mutually satisfactory, which the stockholders cannot do, and, ² Neall v. Hill, 16 Cal. 145. As to should they do it, it would be no barto the rule with reference to an action by a suit afterwards brought by the bank, a stockholder of a corporation against In this respect the defendants are the directors for a misapplication of liable to the bank as any other agents funds of the corporation, see Cogswell or persons would be for robbing or dev. Bull, (1870) 39 Cal. 320; Parrott v. frauding it or in any way injuring the Byers, 40 Cal. 614. In Allen v. Cur- corporate property. * * * Besides tis, (1857) 26 Conn. 456, an action on the directors of the bank are the agents the case brought by a stockholder of a of the bank. The bank is the only bank against the directors of the same principal, and there is no such trust for mismanagement and willful neglect for or relation to a stockholder as has on their part of the affairs of the bank been claimed by the plaintiff. The which caused insolvency of the bank entire duty of the directors growing and a loss to him in the value of his out of their agency is owed to the stock, the case being referred to the bank, which, under the charter, is the Supreme Court of Connecticut on a sole representative of the stockholders demurrer, the court sustained the de- and the legal protector and defender murrer, and in their opinion said: of their property. Nor is any other corporation have gone out of office, the remedy against them for an appropriation of corporate funds to their own use is at law and not in equity unless discovery is sought.1

3 210. Malfeasance of the president of a corporation — a stockholder's remedy.- In a federal court a stockholder's bill in equity charged that the president of the corporation had taken possession and control of the moneys of the corporation, depositing them in bank in his own name, in defiance of the express provision of the by-laws, and drawing them out on his own check, in his own discretion, for his own purposes; that especially he had in his own hands the sum of $25,660, money of the corporation, which he had converted to his own use, and for which he failed and refused to account; that by this action, and the further misuse of the corporation's funds by lending them in his own name, this stockholder had failed to receive his proper share of the funds of the company in the shape of a dividend on his stock; that all his efforts to ascertain the truth about this misuse of funds by the president, on examination of the books, or in calling the president to an account therefor, had been baffled and defeated by the direct and active effort of the president himself, aided by the other officers, going so far as to receive and put a motion for investigation made at a stockholders' meeting, and that there was a definite purpose so to use the affairs of the company as to depress the stock so as to compel this stockholder to sell out at a loss. There was a general demurrer to the bill. The United States Circuit Court overruled the demurrer and sustained the bill.2 protector or defender necessary until the bank shall neglect its duty in re- 36 Mich. 210. fusing to call the directors to account; Me. 306.

Bay City Bridge Co. A. Van Etten,

² Ranger v. Champion Cotton-Press in which event, upon a case properly Co., (1892) 52 Fed. Rep. 611. Simonstated and with proper parties before ton, J., said, referring to the demurrer the court, a court of equity may grant and its admissions: "Here we have relief according to the existing ex- the admission that a complaining igency." Citing Smith v. Hurd, 12 stockholder in a trading corporation Met. 871; Bishop v. Houghton, 1 E. has been defrauded and deprived of D. Smith, 566; Ang. & Ames on Corp. his share of its property applicable to $ 312; Hodsdon v. Copeland, 16 Me. dividends, by the action of the presi-314; Hersey v. Veazie, 24 Me. 9. See, dent in misusing for his own purposes also, Ruby v. Abyssinian Society, 15 the moneys of the company. That every effort made by him to ascertain § 211. When a demand upon directors to bring suit is not required.—Certain stockholders of an Indiana corporation brought an action against the corporation and the officers of the same charging a conspiracy between the latter, they controlling a majority of the stock, by which in electing and continuing cer-

"Does the bill make out prima facie a greatly abused.

the facts connected with this charge power, or an interference with vested have been thwaited by the positive rights. Another class of cases is where and distinct refusal, at the hands of the rights and interests of a corporathe president, made at an annual tion as a whole are threatened by the meeting of the stockholders, to give action of a third party, an outsider, any information or explanation what- and the corporate authorities, through ever. This admission is made. It is inadvertence, negligence or willfuldenied that a court of equity can give ness, will not move in their defense." any relief. Strong, indeed, must be In such cases, following Dodge v. the formal or technical difficulties Woolsey, supra, the courts of the which will forbid this court from, at United States lent a ready ear to the least, hearing such a complaint." The complaint of stockholders who interbill and the rights of the stockholder fered in behalf of the corporate rights. are then discussed in these words: But this indulgence of the courts was Many cases were case for equitable relief? There can brought in the United States courts in be no doubt that in a proper showing which the jurisdiction was secured by this court will come to the aid of a collusion between a non-resident minority of stockholders. Dodge r stockholder and the corporation which Woolsey, 18 How, 381. The doctrine itself could not come into this court is well stated in Waterman on Corpo- This abuse was rebuked in Hawes v. rations (page 578, § 319); 'A court of Oakland, 104 U. S. 450. The evil was equity will enjoin, on behalf of the cured by the passage of the ninetystockholders, any improper alienation fourth equity rule, consequent on this or disposition of the property, other case. This rule, by its terms, is made than for corporate purposes, and will applicable to "every bill brought by restrain the commission of acts which one or more stockholders in a corporaare contrary to law, and tend to the de- tion against the corporation and other struction of the franchises, as well the parties, founded on rights which may improper management of the business properly be asserted by the corporaof the corporation, or a wrongful di-tion." Hawes v. Oakland (page 454) version of its funds, and in such case shows that these words, "other parequity may grant relief at the suit of ties," means "an outsider." But this a single stockholder." The court re- case, and the rule consequent upon it, sumed: "There are three classes of do not apply to cases in which there is cases in which stockholders may com- a real contest between the stockholder A minority may object to the and his corporation. Leo v. Railway business policy pursued by the major- Co., 17 Fed. Rep. 273. Hawes v. Oakity, as tending to injure, perhaps de- land draws the distinction broadly and stroy, their interests. In such cases clearly: "That the vast and increasthe court will seldom or never inter- ing proportion of the active business fere. The majority must govern, un- of modern life is done by corporations, less there be a palpable abuse of should call into exercise the beneficent tain ones of them as officers they were enabled to, and did, misappropriate and waste the funds of the corporation, by a system of paying exorbitant and unreasonable salaries to each other as officers and thus disabled the corporation to declare dividends, there being many different allegations of wrongdoing on their part in the complaint. The Supreme Court sustained the overruling of the demurrers to each of the allegations in the yond this."

powers and flexible methods of courts because they were applicable to divi of equity is neither to be wondered at dends; that the president misuses his nor regretted, and this is specially powers, and conducts the business of true of controversies growing out of the corporation to his own purposes, the relations between the stockholder that he controls and uses, in his own and the corporation of which he is a private banking account, and for his member. The exercise of this power own private purposes, all the funds of in protecting the stockholder against the company, against the express prothe frauds of the governing body of visions of the by-laws, and that in directors or trustees, and in prevent- this he is sustained by the officers of ing their exercise, in the name of the the company, who aided him in a per corporation, of powers which are out- emptory refusal even to consider a side of their charters or articles of at- motion of inquiry on this subject, sociation, has been frequent, and is made at a general meeting of stock most beneficial, and is undisputed. holders. He charges that his own * * * The case before us goes be personal rights are intringed and for After stating that case this he seeks his remedy and the principle of Dodge v. Wool- rights are similar to those of the other sey, in both of which the action of an stockholders, he makes them parties outsider was the gravamen of the com- to his suit, as parties in interest, so plaint, the court adds (page 454); that they may take sides as they are "This is a very different affair from a "dvised, and, at least, may be present controversy between the shareholder at the division of the common propof a corporation and the corporation crty, and see that he gets his just itself, or its managing directors or share and no more. His prayer is trustees, or the other shareholders who that the money unlawfully converted may be violating his rights, or destroy- be returned, and out of it a dividend ing the property in which he has an be declared, and that he get his interest." Simonton, J., then refers dividend. This is a suit within the to the case before him: "The bill in corporation, concerning no one but this case does not complain of any the stockholders and the company, business policy on the part of the cor- seeking rights, claimed as a stock poration or of the other stockholders, holder, against the company and other nor does it charge supineness, or neg- stockhoklers. The complainant could lect or collusion with any attack on not work out his case through the corporate rights, interests or privi- corporation." The court then stated leges, by an outsider. The complain- the particular facts as to who hold the ant charges that the president has stock and are officers, and said: "Unconverted to his own use moneys of der these circumstances, it would be the company in which, as a stock- absurd to require the complainant to holder, complainant has an interest, ask these gentlemen to institute, in complaint, holding that each one of them stated a cause of action against the defendants. One of the main contentions of the defendants was that there should have been a demand upon them to bring the action and an allegation in the complaint that it had The court held this was particularly a case in which such a demand upon the directors was not required.1

the name of the corporation, a suit is not required. This occurs when the Co. v. Farmers' L. & T. Co., 12 Fed Rep. 752; Heath v. Railway Co., 8 Blatchf. 347."

mons, (1891) 129 Ind. 368. Arguendo. is necessary, we do not think this case belongs to that class. In this case something more than a mere accounting is sought, namely, the appointment of a receiver to take charge of the cormanagement of the affairs of the corconstitute a majority of the directors.

against [the president] involving the corporate management is under the grave charges of this suit. Tazewell control of the guilty parties. No request need then be made or alleged, since the guilty parties would not comply with the request; and even if they Wayne Pike Company v. Ham-did the court would not allow them to conduct the suit against themselves.' it was said: "Conceding that the cases The author cites many authorities are numerous in which such demand which fully support the text. Mr. Waterman, in his work on Corporations, vol. 1, page 467, says: 'The corporation may call its officers to account if they willfully abuse their trust or misapply the funds of the porate property. The parties out of company; and if it refuses to sue, or whose hands it is proposed to take the is still under the control of those who must be made defendants in the suit, poration, and who are called upon to the stockholders who are the real paraccount for a misappropriation and ties in interest may file a bill in their conversion of the corporation assets, own names, making the corporation a party defendant, or part of them may It would not be reasonable to require file a bill in behalf of themselves and those who are charged with a conver- all others standing in the same relasion of the assets to bring suit in the tion. Where a majority of the stock name of the corporation against them- of a corporation is held by one family, selves, and to furnish the proof to who vote away the corporation profits sustain the charge, and at the same for salaries, a court of equity will time ask the court to take the prop- remedy the fraud. Cook Stock & erty from their charge on account of Stockholders, section 567. In the case their misconduct. Such a suit would of Carter v. Ford, etc., Co., 85 Ind. be a farce, and it would be beyond 180, it was held that where the corporeason to refuse the appellees relief ration was in the hands of its enemies because they did not demand that such the stockholders might maintain an a proceeding be had before they com- action, which, if successful, would menced their suit. Cook on Stocks & inure to the benefit of the corporation.' Stockholders, section 741, in treating See, also, Rogers v. La Fayette, etc.. this subject, says: 'There are occa- Works, 52 Ind. 296. 'The officers of sions when the allegation that the a corporation are its agents, and they stockholder has requested the directors are governed by the rules of law apto bring suit, and they have refused, plicable to other agents, as between may be omitted since the request itself themselves and their principal, in so

§ 212. When a stockholder may bring an action.—It appearing in a case that a stockholder had written to the president of a corporation to take action against certain directors for breaches of their trust, and he replied that he had resigned the presidency two years before this time, and further that the directors complained of were the active managers of the business, and there being no evidence that any successor to the president had been elected in the meantime, the Supreme Court of New York held that the stockholder could properly bring an action in his own name against these directors.1 An action for an accounting and an injunction in the name of a corporation may be authorized and maintained by the president of a corporation who is also a trustee, without the authority of the board of trustees, or against far as such rules relate to honesty and 646; Dannmeyer c. Coleman, 11 Fed. fair dealing in the management of the Rep. 97; City of Detroit c. Dean, 106 affairs of their principal. They can U S. 537; s. c., 1 Sup. Ct. Rep. 560; no more use the business of their prin- Rathbone r. Parkersburg Gas Co., 31 cipal for their own private gain than W. Va. 798; s. c., 8 S. E. Rep. 570; strict rule of accountability as the Cameron, 120 III. 447; s. c., 11 N. E. agent of a private person. Port v. Russell, 36 Ind. 60; Aberdeen Railway v. Girod, 4 How. 502; Cumberland, etc., Co. v. Sherman, 30 Barb, 553. for the purposes alleged in the comof the common design. By the act of conspiring together the conspirators

v. Irvinc, 70 Cal. 221; 11 Pac. Rep. 19 N. W. Rep. 212.

any other agent, and should they do Alexander v. Searcy, 81 Ca. 536; s. c., so they should be held to the same 8 S. E. Rep. 630; City of Chicago r. Rep. 899; Dunphy A. Traveller Newspaper Association, 146 Mass. 495; s. Co. v. Blakie, 1 Macq. 461; Michoud C., 16 N. E. Rep. 426; Allen r. Wilson, 28 Fed. Rep. 677; Slattery v. St. Louis & N. O. Transportation Co., 91 Mo. If the appellants conspired together 217; s. c., 4 S. W. Rep. 79; Taylor c. Holmes, 127 U.S. 489; S. C., 8 Sup. plaint, each became liable for any act Ct. Rep. 1192; Dimpfel v. Ohio & M. done by any of the three in furtherance Railway Co., 110 U.S. 209; s. c., 3 Sup. Ct. Rep. 573; McHenry v. Railroad Co., 22 Fed. Rep. 130; Foote v. assumed to themselves the attribute of Mining Co., 17 Fed. Rep. 46; Bill r. individuality so far as regards the Telegraph Co., 16 Fed. Rep. 14; City proscution of the common design, thus of Quincy v. Steel, 120 U. S. 241; s. rendering what was said or done by c., 7 Sup. Ct. Rep. 520; Byers v. any one in furtherance of the design, Rollins, 13 Colo. 22; s. c., 21 Pac. the act of all. [Citing authorities.]'" Rep. 894; Poole v. Association, 30 Fed. Averill v. Barber, (1889) 53 Hun, Rep. 513; Wilcox v. Bickel, 11 Neb. 636; s. c., 6 N. Y. Supp. 255. As to 154; s. c., 8 N. W. Rep. 436; Davis v. the general rule in such cases, see Gemmell, 70 Md. 856; s. c., 17 Atl. Doud v. Wisconsin P. & S. Railway Rep. 259; Hazeltine v. Belfast & M. Co., 65 Wis. 108; s. c., 25 N. W. Rep. L. Railroad Co., 79 Me. 411; s. c., 10 588; Boyd v. Sims, 3 Pickle (Tenn.), Atl. Rep. 328; Oliphant v. Woodburn 771; s. c., 11 S. W. Rep. 948; Bacon C. & Mining Co., 63 Iowa, 332; s. c., its express direction where a majority of the trustees may have wrongfully converted corporate funds and threaten to convert other of the funds, especially where the neglect of the board of trustees to sue, and its resolution to discontinue a suit already commenced, are simply acts in furtherance of the unlawful design of the majority of the trustees.1 Where the assignee in

N. Y. Supp. 648. into equity for the redress of the governing body, to redress the grievother stockholders and many acts of 378. In Hawes v. Oakland, 104 U. S. that the corporation

¹ Recamier Manufg. Co. v. Seymour, said: 'In the government of corpora. (Com. Pl. New York City, 1889) 5 tions much must be left to the judg-In Merchants & ment and discretion of the directory, Planters' Line v. Waganer, (1882) 71 and much must be credited to the Ala. 581, a stockholder's action against fallibility of human judgment. If it the corporation and certain directors be supposed an unwise course is being based upon alleged mismanagement, pursued, or that the interests of the etc., STONE, J., asks: "Have the com- corporation are suffering, or likely to plainants averred sufficient facts to suffer though the inefficiency or faithauthorize them, representing, as they lessness of an official an appeal should do, a minority of the stock, to come first be made to the directory or wrongs they complain of while the ance. Failing there, in ordinary cases, corporate powers are still in exercise?" the next redress will be found in the and answers as follows: "Very true, power of the ballot, which usually the present bill charges that three, a comes into exercise at short intervals.' majority of the directors, have com- We quoted approvingly the case of bined and formed a ring for their own Greaves v. Gouge, 69 N. Y. 154, and private profit, at the expense of the Brewer v. Boston Theatre, 104 Mass. wrongdoing are charged against those 450, Justice Miller, in delivering three directors. No act is charged that the opinion of the court, stated that a is ultra vires, and there is no averment stockholder could appeal to the courts effects are for relief, 'when the board of directimperiled by the insolvency of the ors or a majority of them, are acting parties. Neither is there averment in for their own interest, in a manner the bill that any request has been destructive of the corporation itself, made known, soliciting the use of the or of the rights of the other sharecorporate name in bringing suit holders.' That is precisely what is against the alleged offenders. Nor is averred in this case. 'But,' Justice it shown that any attempt has been MILLER adds, 'in addition to the made to obtain a meeting of the stock- existence of grievances which call for holders. In Tuscaloosa Manufactur- this kind of relief, it is equally iming Co. v. Cox, 68 Ala. 71, the ques- portant that before the shareholder is tions presented arose on bill filed by permitted in his own name to institute a minority of stockholders. True, the and conduct a litigation which usually abuses charged in that case were less belongs to the corporation, he should flagrant than those complained of in show to the satisfaction of the court this; but the difference is in degree, that he has exhausted all the means In that case we ruled within his reach, to obtain, within the that complainants had shown no corporation itself, the redress of his ground for equitable relief. We grievances, or action in conformity to insolvency of a corporation refuses to sue, a stockholder may sue to enforce a claim of the corporation against its managing officer for diversion of funds. At the same time it has been held that a stockholder, seeking to enforce rights of the corporation against its managing officer for diversion of funds arising from an unauthorized "swapping" of checks, who, alleging that, being a director, he protested in writing against such acts when first apprised of them, but that they were nevertheless continued for two years, showed facts convicting himself of laches, by failing to aver that he was ignorant of such continuance. A stockholder of a construction company which had constructed a railroad which became connected with and was controlled by another corporation, a railroad company, the latter assuming by contract the liabilities of the company absorbed by it to the construction company, brought his action as a stockholder of the latter against the construction company and the railroad company which had to obtain action by the stockholders gomery Light Co., (Ala.) 15 So. to require it.' The principles com- Ry. Co., 56 Fed. Rep. 900; Sage v. mend themselves to our approval by Culver, 71 Hun, 42; s. c., 24 N. Y. the strongest of considerations. open hostility. Pratt v. Jewett, 9 s. c., 59 N. W. Rep. 889. Gray, 84." As to actions against 1 Streight n. Junk, (1898) 59 Fed. ministerial officers of a corporation for Rep. 321.

his wishes. He must make an earnest, breaches of trust and misapproprianot a simulated, effort with the manag- tion of funds, see Hyde Park Gas Co. r. ing body of the corporation, to induce Kerber, 5 Bradw. (Ill.) 132. As to what remedial action on their part, and this is required and what not required of must be made apparent to the court. stockholders before they can in titute If time permits, or has permitted, he suits for mismanagement, etc., on the must show, if he fails with the direct- part of directors and officers, for the ors, that he has made an honest effort redress of grievances, see Bell r. Montas a body, in the matter of which he Rep. 569; McCrory v. Chambers, 48 complains; and he must show a case, Ill. App. 415; George v. Central R. R. if this is not done, where it could & Bkg. Co. of Georgia, (Ala.) 14 So. not be done, or it was not reasonable Rep. 752; Earle v. Scattle, L. S. & E. A Supp. 514; Putnam c. Ruch, 51 Fed. corporation, to attain the highest suc- Rep. 216; Putnam r. Ruch. 56 Fed. cess, should, like a family, dwell to- Rep. 416; Atchison, T. & S. F. R. gether in unity. And when disputes Co. v. Comrs., 51 Kans. 617; Eaton arise between members of this body v. Robinson, (R. I.) 27 Atl. Rep. 595; politic, or law-created household, they Pondir v. New York, L. E. & W. R. should, if possible, be adjusted among Co., 72 Hun, 384; s. c., 25 N. Y. Supp. themselves. It should be a strong 560; 31 Abb. N. C. 29; Whitney v. case to justify a resort to personal Fairbanks, 54 Fed. Rep. 985; Fitzlitigation, which almost invariably gerald v. Fitzgerald & Mallory Conleads to personal alienation if not struction Co. et al., (1894) 41 Neb. 874;

also, by purchase of the stock of the construction company, and electing so great a number of its directors, obtained full control of its management, charging great wrongs perpetrated on the part of the railroad company acting through its directors and management so as to create liabilities to the construction company growing out of their wrongdoing for which this action was brought to secure such equitable decree against the railroad company in favor of the construction company, its co-defendant, as would inure to the benefit of the complainant and others holding judgments and claims against the construction company. Nebraska Supreme Court held that the action was maintainable.1 Two receivers of this construction company had been appointed. it appeared in the petition in this case, one in a court of general jurisdiction in two different states. It was insisted upon the part of defendants that as this appeared the receivers were indispensable parties to the suit. But the court held to the contrary.2 There was also a contention in this case, it being found by the court that this stockholder and one other representing one-fifth interest in the whole of the shares of the corporation, having acquiesced in these particular acts of the directors of the railroad corporation, the corporation itself was estopped from recovery. The court below found in accordance with this contention. The Supreme Court of Nebraska, however, held this finding of the court below to be erroneous. The position of the latter as to the law involved upon this point is thus stated in the syllabus by the court: The acquiescence of a stockholder will not preclude a recovery in an action brought by him in a proper case for the benefit of such corporation in respect of wrongs committed by the managing officers of said corporation against it for the benefit of another corporation in which they were also officers. In such case, while the stockholder is nominally the plaintiff, he is only nominally so; the action is in reality between the corporations joined as defendants -- the one as the party wronged, the other as the party which profited by the wrong.8 The corporation, a railroad company,

1 Fitzgerald r. Fitzgerald & Mallory in the wrong found by the court, was greatly impaired, should preclude the right of the construction company Arguendo, it was said by to relief as against such wrong. The Construction Co. et al., (1894) 41 Neb. whereby its ability to pay its debts 374; s. c., 59 N. W. Rep. 889.

² Ibid.

Ibid. the court: "It is difficult to conceive trial court found that, aside from the why the acquiescence of stockholders acquiescence of [the two stockholders], one of the defendants in this case, was held liable civilly for the damages occasioned by the torts of its oflicers, its directors, to the construction company, its co-defendant, those torts being the result of the acts of those directors of the railroad company while acting in its interest in the management of the financial settlements based upon the contracts between the two on behalf of the construction company, which management the railroad company dominated.1 of the wrong by the other four-tifths any officer, agent or servant to acof the construction company's stock, count, or discharge them from any mere acquiescence of the other fifth? join in a power of attorney to any 7 Sup. Ct. Rep. 520, it was said that a any real or per-onal estate, any se control individual 'The individual members of a corpo- co defendant.]" ration, whether they should all join or there had been the active commission erty or concerns of the bank, or cals Of what greater avail should be the liability. Should all the stockholders In Quincy v. Steel, 120 U.S. 244; s. c., one, he could not take possession of suit brought by a stockholder for the curicy or choice in action, could not benefit of the corporation was in fact collect a debt or discharge a claim or a suit for the corporation itself. That release damages arising from any deacquiescence of stockholders fault, simply because they are not the merely as such could be held to imply legal owners of the property, and more than by an affirmative act such damage done to such property is not stockholder, as such, could perform, any injury to them. Their rights and can scarcely be seriously argued. In their powers are limited and well dethe brief of the defendants is found fined.' If all the stockholders, by the following quotation from the lan- joining in a power of attorney for that guage of Field, J., in Humphreys v. purpose, could not release damage McKissock, 140 U. S. 311, 312; s. c., arising from any default, upon what 11 Sup. Ct. Rep. 779: 'The property principle could such release be inferred of a corporation is not subject to the from the mere acquiescence in such members, release by one-fifth in amount of the whether acting separately or jointly, stockholders? Most manifestly such They can neither incumber nor trans- an anomaly cannot be telerated, much fer that property, nor authorize others less enforced, by judicial tribunals. In to do so. The corporation, the artifl- argument it is tenaciously contended, cial being created, holds the property, however, that the long acquiescence and alone can mortgage or transfer it, of the construction company effected and the corporation acts only through the same result. There was no findits officers, subject to the conditions ing of such acquiescence by the court. prescribed by law.' In this brief it is Indeed, there could not be, consistalso stated that Justice FIELD, in the ently with the finding that the concase cited, approved the language of struction company was dominated in Chief Justice SHAW in Smith n. Hurd, all things by the officers of the Mis-12 Met. (Mass.) 385, where he says: souri Pacific Railway Company [its

¹ Fitzgerald v. Fitzgerald & Mallory each act severally, have no right or Construction Co. et al., (1894) 41 Neb. power to intermeddle with the prop- 874; s. c., 59 N. W. Rep. 889. It was

§ 213. Dissolution of a corporation by a scheme of a majority of stockholders and a sale of the property to themselves .- In a bill filed by a minority of stockholders of a corporation against the representatives of a majority of stockholders for an accounting as to the disposal of the property of the corporation to a new corporation formed by this majority of stockholders, the case disclosed therein was thus stated by WAL-LACE, J., of the United States Circuit Court: "A majority of the stockholders of a corporation resolve to avail themselves of their power as a quorum to sacrifice the interests of the minority insisted that the acts of these directors R. Co., 28 N. J. Law. 369, it was were not imputable to the railroad well said that, if the corporation has company itself. This contention was itself no hands with which to strike, disposed of by the Supreme Court of it may employ the hands of others, and Nebraska in the following words: it is now perfectly well settled, con-"The following apt language is em- trary to the ancient authorities, that a ployed by HARLAN, J., in the opinion corporation is liable civiliter for all of the Supreme Court of the United torts committed by its servants or States in Railway Co. v. Harris, 123 agents by authority of the corpora-U. S. on page 607; 7 Sup. Ct. Rep. tion, express or implied. The result 1286: 'In Railroad Co. r. Quigley, 21 of the modern cases is that a corporallow, 202, this court held that a rail-tion is liable ciriliter for torts comroad corporation was responsible for mitted by its agents or servants prethe publication by them of a libel in cisely as a natural person, and that it which the capacity and skill of a is liable as a natural person for the mechanic and builder of depots, acts of agents done by its authority, bridges, station houses and other struc- express or implied, though there be tures for railroad companies were neither a written appointment under falsely and maliciously disparaged and seal nor a vote of the corporation conundervalued. The publication in that stituting the agency or authorizing the case consisted in the preservation in act. See, also, Salt Lake City v. Holpermanent form of a book for distribu- lister, 118 U. S. 256, 260; s. c., 6 Sup. tion among the persons belonging to Ct. Rep. 1055; Steamboat Co. v. the corporation, of a report made by Brockett, 121 U.S. 637; s. c., 7 Sup. a committee of the company's board Ct. Rep. 1039; Bank v. Graham, 100 of directors in relation to the adminis- U. S. 699-702.' In Booth v. Bank, 50 tration and dealings of the plaintiff as N. Y. on page 400 et seq., is found the a superintendent of the road. The following language: 'When an officer court, under a full review of the au- does an act which is within the genthorities, held it to be the result of the eral scope of his powers, although cases that for acts done by the agents of circumstances may exist which render a corporation, either in contractu or in the particular act a violation of his delicte, in the course of its business duty, the corporation is nevertheless and of their employment, the corpora- bound by his acts as to persons dealtion is responsible as an individual is ing in ignorance of those circumresponsible under similar circum- stances, and is responsible to innocent stances. In State v. Morris & Essex third parties who have sustained damstockholders for their own profit, by destroying the corporation and selling its property and franchises to themselves at half their This scheme they have carried out, and now retain real value. They have thrust out the complainants, the minority, its fruits. from their position as stockholders, terminating their relations with the corporation as such, and have deprived them from realizing what would belong to them upon a fair disposition and division of the corporate property." The court then discusses those acts and the powers of the majority and the rights of the minority of the stockholders, as follows: "It is to be observed that the liability of a corporation for the con- was required Farmers & Mechanics' Bank v. Butch-N. Y. 309,' In Hussey r. King, (N. C.) 3 S. E. Rep. on page 926, DAVIS, J., delivering the opinion of the court, said: 'It was long thought that, as a to utter slander, or hand with which to write libels or commit batteries, or mind to suggest malicious prosecutions or other wrongs -- as it was an artificial person and could speak and act only through the agency of others ages occasioned by such acts. And the company, or that the act omitted to be performed. sequences of acts of its officers come Whether it was wise to depart from within the scope of their general this rule, that excepted corporations powers, and is not affected by the fact from liability for the acts of its agents that the act which the officers have as- in cases where the character of the act sumed to do is one which the corpora- depended upon motives or intent, seems tion itself could not rightfully do. A no longer an open question. The old corporation may do wrong through its idea, that because a corporation had agent as well as a private individual. no soul, it could not commit torts, or Railroad Co. v. Schuyler, 34 N. Y. 30; be the subject of punishment for tortious acts, may now be regarded as obers & Drovers' Bank, 16 N. Y. 125; solete. The rights, the powers and Bissell v. Railroad Co., 22 N. Y. 258; the duties of corporate bodies have Bank of Genesee v. Patchin Bank, 13 been so enlarged in modern times, and these artificial persons have become so numerous, and enter so largely into the every-day transactions of life. that it has become the policy of the corporation has no mouth with which law to subject them, so far as practicable, to the same civil liability for wrongful acts as attach to rational persons, and its liability is not restricted to acts committed within the scope of granted powers, but the corporation may be liable for an action - it was not, therefore, liable for any for false imprisonment, malicious prosetorts except such as resulted from cution and libel. Pierce on Railroads, some act of commission or omission 213.' In Miller v. Railrond Co., 8 Neb. of its agents or servants while acting 219, it was said that a corporation is within the scope of granted powers, liable the same as a natural person for or wrongfully omitting and negrect- the tortious acts of its servants and ing some duty imposed by its charter agents in the course of their employor by law; and, consequently, it was ment, but to make a corporation liable necessary to allege that the act for such acts they must be connected committed was done while acting with the transaction of the business within the scope and power of the for which the company was incorpo-proceedings of the defendants were not outside of the charter or articles of association of the corporation, but, on the contrary, were carefully pursued according to the form of the organic law. They had a right to dissolve the corporation and dispose of its property and distribute the proceeds. The minority cannot be heard to complain of this, because the laws of Oregon permitted it and because it is an implied condition of the association of stockholders in a corporation that the majority shall have power to bind the whole body as to all transactions within the scope of the corporate powers. 1 Nor does it matter, in legal contemplation, that the majority were actuated by dishonorable or even corrupt motives, so long as their acts were legitimate. In equity, as at law, a fraudulent intent is not the subject of judicial cognizance unless accompanied by a wrongful act.2 In other words, if the majority had the right to wind up the corporation at their election, and they availed themselves of it in the mode which was permitted by the organic law of the corporation, neither a court of law or equity can entertain an inquiry as to the motives which influenced them. The power to do this was undoubted." "But," the court said, "the right of the majority to sell the property to themselves at their own valuation is a very different matter; it cannot be implied from the contract of association, and will not be tolerated by a court of equity. As is said by Mellish, L. J., in [case cited below]: 'Although it may be quite true that the shareholders of a company may vote as they please and for the purpose of their own interests, yet the majority cannot sell the assets of the company and keep the consideration, but must allow the minority to have their share of any consideration which may come to them.' If the majority sell the assets to themselves they must account for their fair value. They cannot bind the minority by fixing their own price upon the assets. A majority have no right to exercise the control over the corporate management which legitimately rated, for the officers themselves are the one who has created the power the mere agents of the corporation, and selected the persons to enforce it and their powers are necessarily must sustain the loss." limited within the scope of the purposes of the corporation. The stock- R. Co., 87 Mass. (5 Allen) 250; Bill v. holders, however, by electing officers, Western Union Tel. Co., 16 Fed. Rep. assume the risk of the faithful or un- 19. faithful management of the corporation, and cases may arise where, if one of two innocent persons has to suffer. Works, L. R., 9 Ch. App. Cas. 350, 354.

1 Citing Durfee v. Old Colony & F.

2 Citing Clarke v. White, 12 Pet. 178. Menier v. Hooper's Telegraph belongs to them for the purpose of appropriating the corporate property or its avails to themselves, or to any of the shareholders, to the exclusion or prejudice of the others. In [case cited below], the property of a company was transferred to two shareholders in lieu of their shares, and the company was thereby practically put an end to, and the debts were thrown on the remaining shareholders. This was sanctioned by a majority of the shareholders at a general meeting, but it was held that the majority could not bind the minority in such a transaction, and it was set aside."

§ 214. The rights of the minority in such a case.— The same judge, in the same court, in the same case, upon its second hearing, thus states the position and insistment of the defendants: "They have adjusted their own interests on the basis of a consolidation of the two corporations and a continuance of their business as a joint venture; but they now insist that the interests of the minority stockholders, who have not been permitted to participate with them, shall be adjusted on the basis of a dissolution and a cessation of the business which they originally associated together to conduct. More than this, the defendants insist that the value of the assets, for the purpose of determining the interests of the minority, is fixed by the appraisal of persons selected by the defendants themselves, in whose selection the minority had no voice; and they have assumed to deny all recognition to those of the minority who will not consent to surrender their stock and accept a final dividend upon the basis of this appraisal." He then continues the discussion: "Plainly, the defendants have assumed to exercise a power belonging to the majority in order to secure personal profit for themselves without regard to the interests of the minority. They repudiate the suggestion of fraud, and plant themselves upon their rights as a majority to control the corporate interests according to their dis-They err if they suppose that a court of equity will tolerate a discretion which does not consult the interests of the minority. It cannot be denied that minority stockholders are bound hand and foot to the majority in all matters of legitimate administration of the corporate affairs; and the courts are powerless to redress many forms of oppression practiced upon the minority under the guise of legal sanction which fall short of actual fraud. This is a consequence of the implied contract of association by which it is agreed in advance that a majority shall bind the whole body as to all transactions within the scope of the corporate powers. But it is also of the essence of the contract that the corporate powers shall only be exercised to accomplish the objects for which they were called into existence, and that the majority shall not control those powers to pervert or destroy the original purposes of the corporations. It is for this reason that the majority cannot consolidate the corporation with another corporation and impose responsibilities and hazards upon the minority not contemplated by the original enterprise, unless express statutory authority for this purpose is conferred upon the majority. It is no more repugnant to the purposes of the association to permit the majority to merge and consolidate the corporation with another corporation than it is to permit them to dissolve it or abandon the enterprise for which it is created, where no reasons of expediency require this to be done. A dissolution under such circumstances is an abuse of the powers delegated to the majority. It is no less a wrong because accomplished by the agency of legal forms. In the language of Blackburn, J., in² [case cited below]: 'As the shareholders are, in substance, partners in a trading corporation, the management of which is intrusted to the body corporate, a trust is, by implication, created in favor of the shareholders that the corporation will manage the corporate affairs. and apply the corporate funds for the purpose of carrying out the original speculation.' When a number of stockholders combine to constitute themselves a majority in order to control the corporation as they see fit, they become, for all practical purposes, the corporation itself, and assume the trust relation occupied by the corporation towards its stockholders. Although stockholders are not partners, nor strictly tenants in common, they are the beneficial joint owners of the corporate property, having an interest and power of legal control in exact proportion to their respective amounts of The corporation itself holds its property as a trust fund for the stockholders who have a joint interest in all its property and effects, and the relation between it and its several members is, for all practical purposes, that of trustee and cestui que trust.1 When several persons have a common interest in property, equity will not allow one to appropriate it exclusively to himself or to impair its value to the others. Community of interest involves mutual obligation. Persons occupying this relation towards each other are under no obligation to make the property or fund productive of the most that can be obtained from it for all who are interested in it; and those who seek to make a profit out of it, at the expense of those whose rights in it are the same as their own, are unfaithful to the relation they have assumed, and are guilty at least of constructive fraud." 2

¹Citing Brewer v. Boston Theatre, ²Gregory v. Patchett, 38 Beav. 104 Mass. 378, 895; Preston v. Grand 595.

Collier Dock Co., 11 Sim. 327; Hodg-kinson v. National Live Stock Ins. Co., (1884) 20 Fed. Rep. 577, 580. 26 Beav. 478; Atwool v. Merryweather, L. R., 5 Eq. 464, note.

¹ Citing Livingston v. Lynch, 4 v. Clay, 33 Me. 182; Clinch v. Finan-Johns. Ch. 573; Hutton v. Scarborough cial Corporation, 4 Ch. App. 117; Cliff Co., 2 Drew. & S. 514; Brewer v. Clearwater v. Meredith, 1 Wall. 25. Boston Theatre, 104 Mass. 378; Kean ² Taylor v. Chichester Ry. Co., L. v. Johnson, 9 N. J. Eq. 401; Rollins R., 2 Exch. 879.

§ 215. Principles applied to this particular case.—Applying the principles as to the acts of fiduciaries with reference to the property intrusted to them, established in such cases as [those cited below] to the case in hand, WALLACE, J., said: Although the minority of stockholders cannot complain merely because the majority have dissolved the corporation and sold its property, they may justly complain because the majority, while occupying a fiduciary relation towards the minority, have exercised their powers in a way to buy the property for themselves, and exclude the minority from a fair participation in the fruits of the sale. In the language of Mellish, L. J., in Menier v. Hooper's Telegraph Works, 9 Ch. App. Cas. 350, 354: 'The majority cannot sell the assets of the company and keep the consideration, but must allow the minority to have their share of any consideration which may come to them.' The minority stockholders are, therefore, entitled to demand their fair share in the transaction, and to be placed upon terms of equality with the majority. It may be that

Peabody v. Flint, 6 Allen, 52, 56; Co., 29 Vt. 550.

^{(1886) 27} Fed. Rep. 625; citing Jack- Plattsburgh & M. R. Co., 54 N. Y. 315. son v. Ludeling, 21 Wall. 616, 622, Story Eq. § 323.

³Greenlaw v. King, 3 Beav. 49, 63; Hardy v. Metropolitan Land Co., L. Gibson v. Jeyes, 6 Ves 278; Torrey v. R., 7 Ch. 427; Stevens v. Rutland R Bank of Orleans, 9 Paige, 663; Michoud v. Girod, 4 How, 555; Gardner ² Ervin v. Oregon Ry. & Nav. Co., v. Ogden, 22 N. Y. 327; and Hoyle v.

the property of the old company was not worth more than the sum fixed by the appraisers, estimating its value with a view of the winding up of the corporation; but for several months the property had been used by the defendants in a joint venture with the other property of the new corporation, and its value, at the time of the sale, should be estimated at what the property was worth as then situated. This results from the rule of equity which entitles those whose property has been misapplied by an agent or fiduciary to follow it into any form in which it has been converted, and impress it with a trust whenever its identity can be traced, or, at their election, to recover the value of the property in any form into which it has been transmuted. Story Eq. $$ 1261, 1262. If it was worth much more as a constituent of the new corporation than it would have been worth otherwise, the minority stockholders are entitled to the benefit of the increase. The majority of the stockholders are not to be permitted to segregate it from the conditions in which they have placed it, for the purpose of fixing its value to the minority. For this reason the estimate made by the appraisers is not controlling, even if it is of any value in determining the price for which the defendants should account. This is so, not only because the appraisers were the agents of those who were at the same time negotiating as the purchasers and the sellers of the property, but also because they adopted a basis of valuation which will not be sanctioned by a court of equity." 1

§ 216. When a fraudulent assignment of a mortgage by the treasurer of a corporation will bind it.—In a case where it appeared that the treasurer of a savings bank, clothed with authority to do so, executed an assignment of a mortgage in the name of the bank in due form, and indorsed the note secured by it to a bona fide purchaser, it was held in the United States Circuit Court for the district of Massachusetts that the title passed, notwithstanding the treasurer perpetrated a fraud upon the bank, and converted to his own use the purchase money. It was further held that the corporation was estopped to prove, as against bona fide purchasers, either irregularity or fraud upon the part of its officers when acting within their authority.2

Ervin v. Oregon Ry. & Nav. Co, of this case was denied in 28 Fed. Rep 833.

² Whiting r. Wellington, (1882) 10 (1886) 27 Fed. Rep. 625. A rehearing Fed Rep. 810 Lowell, Circuit Judge, referring to a certificate of the treasurer given to the purchaser, that

8 217. When a corporation may recover money fraudulently paid out by its treasurer .- Two manufacturing corporations of Massachusetts had a common treasurer. Money was loaned by one to the other when needed, and the loans were effected by the check of one payable to the order of the other drawn by the common treasurer. This treasurer had by a series of records of the corporation, said: "The tain terms and conditions are held esestoppel arises from the certificate. topped to prove, as against bona fide * * In a recent case in England purchasers, either irregularity or fraud a statute declared that, unless certain on the part of their own officers in isthings were done, no shares of a joint- suing the bonds, especially if they constock company should be issued except tain upon their face a certificate that for cash, and all which should be is- the terms of the law have been comsued otherwise should be subject to plied with. assessment. Shares were issued as depend upon the negotiable character fide purchaser. The company and its a question of notice. Comrs. v. Asa certain note was found upon the having power to issue bonds upon cer-These decisions do not 'paid up,' and were bought by a bona of the bonds, excepting when there is liquidator were held estopped to prove pinwall, 21 How. 539; Moran v. Comrs. that the statute had not been followed. of Miami, 2 Black, 722; Rogers v. Bur-In re British, etc., Co., 7 Ch. D. 533; lington, 3 Wall. 654; Grand Chute v. s. c. nom, Burkinshaw v. Nicolls, 3 Winegar, 15 Wall. 355; Comrs. v. App. Cas. 1004. In that case (page January, 94 U. S. 202; San Antonio v. 1026) a very able judge says that the Mehaffy, 96 U.S. 312; County of doctrine of estoppel in pais is a most Warren v. Marcy, 97 U. S. 96. So, if equitable doctrine, and one without a cashier has authority to certify a which the law of the country could not check, the bank is estopped to say that be satisfactorily administered. 'When his authority is false in fact. Mera person makes to another the repre- chants' Bank v. State Bank, 10 Wall. sentation, 'I take upon myself to say 604. If a company has issued a certifisuch and such things do exist, and you cate of shares, it is estopped to prove may act upon the basis that they do against one who has bought the shares exist,' and the other man does really in good faith, or even one who has act upon that basis, it seems to me it paid one call or assessment to a third is the very essence of justice that, be-person on the strength of the certifitween those two parties, their rights cate, that it was issued improvidently. should be regulated, not by the real In re Bahia, etc., Co., L. R., 3 Q. B. state of the facts, but by that conven- 584; Hart v. Frontino, etc., Co., L. R., tional state of facts which the two par- 5 Exch. 111. Where the president, ties agree to make the basis of their who was also transfer agent of a railaction; and that is, I apprehend, what road company, issued an immense is meant by estoppel in pais or homo- amount of false and fraudulent certifilogation.' This doctrine has been af- cates of shares, beyond, the whole firmed by the Supreme Court in a large capital, the company, after 'a decade class of cases where the facts are of litigation,' was held bound to inmuch more open to public observation demnify the honest purchasers. New than are the notes of a private corpo- York & New Haven R. R. Co. v. ration, in which counties and towns Schuyler, 34 N. Y. 30."

embezzlements from the corporations created a deficit in their funds. He had concealed this deficit by at certain times drawing checks in the name of one corporation, payable to the order of the other, and placing it with the funds of the latter. When his embezzlements were discovered these fraudulently drawn checks were about equally divided between the corporations. There was an action for accounting brought by one against the other claiming a large balance in the mutual account. The defendant corporation pleaded as a set-off the amount of its funds received by the plaintiff through these fraudulent checks, and the plaintiff contended that the transfers of checks from one company to the other were, in fact and law, payments by the treasurer to an innocent creditor without notice, and, therefore, could not be reclaimed; that the losses must be borne as they stood at the time of the discovery of the frauds. The Supreme Court of Judicature held that the corporation using the money was affected with the knowledge of its treasurer and the transaction did not amount to a payment of the deficit, and that the other corporation was not guilty of such negligence as to preclude it from recovering back the money.1

¹ Atlantic Cotton Mills r. Indian case for two reasons: In the first place, Orchard Mills, (1888) 147 Mass. 268. under the circumstances disclosed in C. Alten, J., speaking for the court the auditor's report, the plaintiff cansaid: "The ground on which the not be considered as an innocent credplaintiff asserts a right to retain the iter, that is, a creditor without notice, money is, that [its treasurer] had and, moreover, the transaction did not embezzled its funds, as well as the amount to payment. It is true that funds of the defendant, to a large no officer of the plaintiff besides [its amount, and that it is entitled to apply treasurer) knew of the fraudulent the money thus received from him to origin of these checks; but in the very reduce his indebtedness for such em- transaction of receiving them, the bezzlements, and treat the same as a plaintiff was represented by [him] and payment pro tanto; that from the by him alone, and is bound by his nature of the transaction the law knowledge. It is the same as if the stamps it as a payment, and that thus plaintiff's directors had received the the plaintiff is a holder of the funds checks, knowing what he knew. For for a valuable consideration. There the purpose of accepting the checks, is no doubt that a thief may use stolen [he] stood in the place of the plaintiff, money or stolen negotiable securities and was the plaintiff. It is quite imbefore their maturity, to pay his debts, material, in reference to this question, and in such case an innocent creditor in what manner or by what officer of may retain the payment. But this the corporation the funds were redoctrine is inapplicable to the present ceived. The important consideration

8 218. When a corporation must respond for damages resulting from a fraudulent issue of its stock.-One who was the secretary, treasurer and transfer agent of a domestic corporation, a street railroad company of the city of New York, and, as such secretary, kept and had in his custody the books of the corporation relating to the issue and transfer of stock, filled out a blank certificate taken from the company's certificate book, forged the name of its president thereto, signed his own name as treasurer, then countersigned it and impressed thereon the corporate seal. The by-laws of the corporation required that "all is how the plaintiff became possessed merous adjudged cases. The leading of the money, and it is apparent that case in this commonwealth is Atlantic it was through the act of no other Bank v. Merchants' Bank, 10 Gray. person than of [the treasurer] himself. 532, where there was the semblance of It is not as if he had stolen the money, an accounting between the guilty and then called the directors of the agent and other officers of the bank plaintiff corporation together and in- which received the money, but it was formed them of his indebtedness and held that there was no real accounting of his desire to make a payment on and the general principle was held to account, and had then paid over to beapplicable. That case was followed them the money as money coming by Skinner v. Merchants' Bank, 4 from himself, and they had received Allen, 290, where the facts were simi it without knowledge or suspicion that lar." After reviewing and citing many it had been stolen, and given him cases, it is further on in the opinion credit for it as part payment. There said: "We have preferred to put the was no transaction, whatever, between decision of this point upon the broad [the treasurer] and the plaintiff, in re- ground that, if the treasurer of a corspect to the transfer of this money, in poration is a defaulter, and his defalcawhich the plaintiff was represented tion is as yet unknown and unsuseither in whole or in part by any other pected, and he steals money from a person than by [him], and, therefore, third person and places it with the even though the transfer to the plain- funds of the corporation in order to tiff had been made in bank bills or in conceal and make good his defalcation, gold coin (which it was not), the plain- and the corporation uses the money as tiff must be deemed to have had its own, no other officer knowing any of knowledge of the true ownership, be- the facts, the corporation does not cause in receiving the funds it acted thereby acquire a good title to the solely through [his] agency. It must money, as against the true owner, but be deemed to have known what he the latter may maintain an action knew, and it cannot retain the benefits against the corporation to recover back of his acts, without accepting the con- the same. But it is also apparent that sequences of his knowledge. The in the present case the decision might from his act than if it did the thing fraudulent transfers were made by itself, knowing what he knew. Such checks of the defendant, payable to is the doctrine either expressly de- the order of the plaintiff, and these clared or necessarily involved in nu- checks before being available must certificates shall be issued and signed by the president and treasurer and countersigned by the transfer agent." The certificate upon its face was perfect and regular in every respect, and showed a partner of the secretary and treasurer to be the owner of the shares of stock stated therein. The in testimonium clause recited that the corporation had caused the certificate to be signed by its president and countersigned by its treasurer and transfer agent, and sealed with its corporate seal. The partner of this officer of the corporation procured of a bank a loan upon his note secured by a pledge of the certificate. Before acting upon the applica-necessarily have been indorsed by the clear that the transfer cannot be conplaintiff, acting by some officer au-sidered as a payment by [him] to the thorized to indorse checks payable to plaintiff, because it was not so underits order. If these checks, therefore, stood. Nobody on the part of the were taken by the plaintiff in payment plaintiff called [the treasurer] to any of indebtedness of [the treasurer] they account, or knew that he was accountcarried notice upon their face that ing or that he was indebted to the they were checks of the defendant, plaintiff, or that these funds had come not payable to [his] order but to the into the plaintiff's possession or that order of the plaintiff. Now, assuming they had come from [the treasurer]. that [his] transaction had been con- Nobody but [he] could possibly have ducted with some other officers of the intended that the transaction should plaintiff, who represented that corpo- amount to a payment, and his intenration, it is impossible to suppose that tion, if entertained, was ineffectual they could have accepted these checks because of his fraud. It is not necesin extinguishment of a known in sary to deny or doubt that [he] might debtedness of [the treasurer] without secretly transfer to the treasury of the being put upon inquiry as to how he corporation money or property of his came by the defendant's checks to so own, and thus, if the same should be large an amount, made payable to the kept, extinguish an indebtedness arisplaintiff, which he could apply upon ing from a former embezzlement. his private account. National Bank There would be nothing fraudulent in of North America v. Bungs, 106 Mass. the act of such a transfer; and the cor-441. 445." After commenting upon poration, being lawfully in possession various cases cited by the plaintiff's of the money or property, might propcounsel the discussion of this point orly keep it. But where he undertook closes with this: "Thus far the discus- in this manner to make a payment by sion has proceeded upon the assump- secretly transferring the property of a tion that even if the transfer of the third person the act cannot take effect defendant's property to the plaintiff as a payment, because it was not re were intended as a payment on account ceived as such by any person acting in of [the treasurer's] indebtedness to the behalf of the plaintiff. There was not plaintiff, yet the plaintiff would not be even the semblance of an accounting. entitled to hold the same on the ground And under these circumstances if the that it would be chargeable with [his] plaintiff would adopt the intention to knowledge of the source from which make it a payment it must also adopt the money came. But it is equally the fraud. It cannot adopt so much tion for a loan the bank sent a clerk with the certificate to the office of the corporation, who showed it to the secretary, who was in charge of the office, who, in response to inquiries, stated that the certificate was genuine and all right, and that the applicant for the loan was a stockholder, and, relying thereon, the bank discounted the note. The bank afterwards was compelled to sell the certificate held as collateral to a bonu fide purchaser, and when he presented it to the proper officers of the corporation for a transfer the corporation refused to recognize the certificate as valid evidence of title to the shares of stock stated therein. The bank upon this being brought to its knowledge, refunded the purchase money, and had the purchaser reassign the certificate to the bank, and brought its action against the corporation for damages incurred by its refusal to recognize the certificate, its right of recovery being based upon the corporation's liability on account of the fraud of its officer. The New York Court of Appeals declared these general rules, that where a certificate of stock contained apparently all the essentials of genuineness a bonu fide holder thereof was entitled to recognition as a stockholder, if a new certificate could be issued to him, or to indemnity, if this could not be done; that the fact that an official signature to the certificate had been forged did not extinguish this right where the forgery had been done by, or at the instance of, an officer of the corporation intrusted with the custody of its stock books, and held out by the company as the source of information on that subject; that while certificates of stock in railroad and other business corporations do not possess in full the qualities of commercial paper, when the transfer indorsed thereon is signed in blank by the stockholder named therein, they become in effect, so far as the public is concerned, the same as if they had been issued to bearer. It appeared in a

- plaintiff cannot obtain greater rights rest upon a narrower ground.

Allen, 290."

Ferry R. R. Co., (1893) 187 N. Y. the comprehensive statement of Story of [the treasurer's] act as was benefi- 231; s. c., 33 N. E. Rep. 378, affirmcial and reject the rest. As Lord ing judgment in favor of the bank. KENVON said in Smith v. Hodson, 4 Referring to the ruling of the court T. R. 211, it cannot blow hot and cold. that the corporation, in this case, This ground also is fully covered by was liable on account of the acts of the decisions in Atlantic Bank v. Merits officer, the court, speaking through chants' Bank, 10 Gray, 532, 547-553, MAYNARD, J., said: "This result foland in Skinner v. Merchants' Bank, 4 lows from the application of the fundamental rules which determine the ¹ Fifth Avenue Bank of New York obligations of a principal for the acts v. Forty-second Street & Grand Street of its agent. They are embraced in

New York case that the by-laws of the corporation required certificates of stock to be issued under the corporate scal and signed by the president and treasurer. The treasurer, upon the faith and pledge as collateral of spurious certificates of its stock, drawn up and executed in the form and manner prescribed by the by-laws (the signature of the president having been negligently affixed), purporting on their face to be of stock owned by the treasurer, in his work on Agency (9th ed. § 452), depended. It was a certificate apjustify, or participate in, or, indeed, its officers of the general powers con that the principal is to be 'held liable parently made in the course of his to third persons in a civil suit for the employment, as the agent of the comfrauds, deceits, concealments, misrep- pany, and within the scope of the resentations, torts, negligences and general authority conferred upon him. other malfeasances, or misfeasances and the [corporation] is under an imand omissions of duty of his agent in plied obligation to make indemnity to the course of his employment, although the plaintiff for the loss sustained by the principal did not authorize, or the negligent or wrongful exercise by know of such misconduct, or even if ferred upon them Griswold v. Haven, he forbade the acts or disapproved of 25 N. Y. 599; New York & New Haven them. In all such cases the rule applies R. R. Co. v. Schuyler, 34 N. Y. 30; respondent superior, and is founded Titus v. G. W. Turnpike Co., 61 N. Y. upon public policy and convenience, 237; Bank of Batavia v. New York, for in no other way could there be any L. E. & W. R. R. Co., 106 N. Y. 199." safety to third persons in their dealings, It was said further in this opinion: either directly with the principal, or "The learned counsel for the defendindirectly with him through the instru- ant seeks to distinguish this case from mentality of agents. In every such the authorities cited, because the signacase the principal holds out his agent ture of the president to the certificate as competent and fit to be trusted, and was not genuine; but we cannot see thereby, in effect, he warrants his how the forgery of the name of the fidelity and good conduct in all mat- president can relieve the defendant ters within the scope of his agency.' from liability for the fraudulent acts It is true that the secretary and trans- of its secretary, treasurer and transfer fer agent had no authority to issue a agent. They were officers to whom it certificate of stock except upon the had intru-ted the authority to make surrender and cancellation of a previ- the final declaration as to the validity ously existing valid certificate, and the of the shares of stock it might issue, signature of the president and treasurer and where their acts, in the apparent first obtained to the certificate to be exercise of this power, are accompanied issued; but these were facts necessarily with all the indicia of genuineness, it and peculiarily within the knowledge is essential to the public welfare that of the secretary, and the issue of the the principal should be responsible to certificate in due form was a repre- all persons who receive the certificates sentation by the secretary and transfer in good faith and for a valuable conagent that these conditions had been sideration and in the ordinary course complied with, and that the facts ex- of business whether the indicia are isted upon which his rights to act true or not. 2 Beach on Pr. Corp.

obtained a loan of one acting in good faith and in ignorance of the fraud. The Court of Appeals held that there was nothing upon the face of the certificate to notify the lender of any defect in the title of the treasurer to these shares, and that the corporation was liable to him for the damages.1

§ 219. The same subject — Massachusetts decisions.— Several cases have been adjudicated by the Supreme Court of Judicature of Massachusetts, growing out of the fraudulent transactions of a treasurer of a railroad corporation of that state-The facts were that he was supplied by the president with blank certificates of its stock, signed by the president. The treasurer was also a stockbroker. In this latter capacity he told a customer on one occasion, that he had purchased snares of this stock for her as ordered, and she paid him for it. On another occasion he ordered certain brokers to sell shares of the stock for him, and they did so, and received payment for it. He owned no stock, and held none as agent or otherwise, and the whole amount of the capital stock had already been issued. In each case he fraudulently made a fictitious transfer of stock on the books of the corporation, in one case from himself as agent to his customer, and in the other from himself as agent to the brokers, and by means of a blank power of attorney furnished by the brokers and delivered to him, made a further transfer as their attorney to their customers. He then filled out blank certificates of the shares in the usual form under the corporate seal, and delivered

Philip & Colonial Gold Mining Co, formation upon the subject." 18 Q. B. Div. 108. The rule is, ¹Titus v. President, etc., Great we think, correctly stated in Beach on Western Turnpike Road, (1876) 61 N. tain apparently all the essentials of by the Court of Appeals. genuineness, a bona fide holder thereof

790; North River Bank v. Aymar, 3 has a claim to recognition as a stock-Hill, 262; Jarvis v. Manhattan Beach holder, if such stock can be legally is-Co., 53 Hun, 362; Tome v. Parkers- sued, or to indemnity if this cannot be burg Branch, 30 Md. 36; Baltimore, done. The fact of forgery does not etc., R. R. Co. v. Wilkens, 44 Md. 11, 28; extinguish his right when it has been Western M. R. Co. v. Franklin Bank, perpetrated by or at the instance of an 60 Md. 36; Com. v. Bank, 137 Mass. officer placed in authority by the cor-481; Holden v. Phelps, 141 Mass. 456; poration and intrusted with the cus-Manhattan Beach Co. v. Harned, tody of its stock books and held out 27 Fed. Rep. 486; Shaw v. Port by the company as the source of in-

Private Corporations (Vol. 2, § 488, p. Y. 287. Claffin v. Farmers & Citizens' 791): 'When certificates of stock con- Bank, 25 N. Y. 298, was distinguished them to the purchasers, each of whom received dividends regularly until the fraud was discovered, after which the corporation refused to recognize the certificates as valid, or to allow a transfer of the stock. The purchasers and the brokers acted in good faith, and the brokers acted according to the general custom of brokers. The treasurer had made nearly all the transfers on the books of the corporation as attorney under like powers; and it was not the custom of brokers to take transfers of certificates to themselves when ordered to sell stocks. The court upon these agreed facts held that the plaintiffs were entitled to damages from the company, as the company could issue no more stock, and the measure of the damages was the market value of the shares at the time the corporation first refused to recognize the certificates as valid.1

fers of stock made by the treasurer." been fraudulently issued." Moores v.

¹ Allen r. South Boston Railroad Co., tional Bank v. Field, 126 Mass. 345; (1889) 150 Mass. 200; Craft v. South Bos- Pratt v. Taunton Copper Manuf. Co. ton Railroad Co., (1889) 150 Mass. 200. 123 Mass. 110; New York & New Haven "The agreed facts in both cases," said Railroad r. Schuyler, 34 N. Y. 30, 64; FIELD, J., speaking for the court. Titus v. Great Western Turnpike Road, "show gross carelessness on the part of 61 N. Y. 237, 245; Holbrook v. New the president in signing certificates in Jersey Zinc Co., 57 N. Y. 616; Shaw blank, and negligence on the part of the r. Port Philip Mining (o., 13 Q. B. D. directors in not examining the books 108. Of the contention on behalf of and discovering the fictitious trans- the corporation, it is said: "But he contends that the plaintiffs were negli-Then, as to the admissions on the part gent in accepting the new certificates of the defendant, it is said: "The without taking pains to ascertain counsel for the defendant does not whether old certificates of a corredeny that if these certificates of stock sponding number of shares had been had been sold and duly assigned by surrendered, and a transfer made upon the plaintiffs for value to one who had the books of the company. Each no knowledge that they had been certificate of stock in the defendant's fraudulently issued, the defendant company, as the plaintiff knew, dewould be liable in damages to the pur- clared that the shares are 'transferchaser. He admits the general rule able by an assignment in the books of that a corporation is estopped to deny said company upon a surrender of this the validity of certificates issued in certificate. When a transfer shall be proper form under its scal, and duly made in the books of the company, signed by the officers authorized to and this certificate surrendered, a new issue certificates, if they are held by one will be issued.' See Pub. Sts. persons who took them for value with- Mass. chap. 113, § 13. The contention out knowledge or notice that they had is, that one object of this provision was the protection of the corporation Citizens' National Bank, 111 U.S. 156; against the frauds of its officers in Boston & Albany Railroad v. Richard- issuing false certificates, and that if son, 135 Mass. 473; Machinists' Na the plaintiffs in these cases had re-

§ 220. The same subject—a Pennsylvania decision.— A president of a corporation having fraudulently issued false certificates of stock of the corporation, properly signed and sealed, in excess of the amount authorized by law, a Court of

of it, or a power of attorney to assign they issue a new certificate. of stock, if intended as a protection certificate. of its officers, is insufficient. transfer to be made on the books of apparently genuine, is that the certifi- Boston cates are statements by the corpora-Richardson, 185 Mass. 473.

quired that a certificate of shares be transferred in accordance with its bydelivered to them with an assignment laws and in accordance with law, before it, [the treasurer] could not have com- transfer, which must be made on the mitted these frauds." The court said books of the company, must be made to this: "We do not see why [the by the owner of the old certificate, or treasurer], having been intrusted with by his attorney for him. The surblank certificates signed by the presi- render of the old certificate must be dent, might not have issued certifi- made by him or his attorney. There cates to himself, and then assigned is no provision that it shall be made them when the stock was sold, and on by the purchaser, as the assignce of the surrender of the old certificates the attorney of the seller. If the selhave issued new certificates. Perhaps for undertakes with the purchaser to the chances of detection would have make the surrender and the transfer been slightly greater if he had pro- on the books of the company, the only ceeded in this way. But certainly thing left for the purchaser to do is to this provision regulating the transfer call upon the corporation for the new We see no good reason to the corporation against the frauds for holding that there is a duty on the The part of the purchaser towards the corprimary purpose of it undoubtedly poration, to see to it that the seller of was to prescribe the manner in which stock surrenders his certificate and such intangible property as shares of transfers it on the books of the corstock should be transferred from one poration. That is the duty of the corperson to another, and it required the poration towards both the seller and the purchaser before it issues a new certifithe company that the company might cate. If the purchaser exhibits to the know who its stockholders were, and corporation a forged assignment of it required the surrender of the old stock or a forged power of attorney to certificate before the new one was is- assign it, and thus obtains a new certifisued, that there might not be two or cate, which he sells, he is liable to the more certificates outstanding for the corporation, not because it is his duty same shares of stock. The ground on to attend to the transfer of stock, but which a corporation is held liable to a because he has impliedly represented bona fide purchaser for value of false the forged signature to be the genuine certificates of its stock issued under its signature of a stockholder, whereby seal, signed by the proper officers, and he has deceived the corporation. & Albany tion of facts which it is its duty to the passage of the statute of 1884, know, and which cannot well be chapter 229, if not since, the transfer known to the purchaser. It is the duty of stock was usually attended to by of the proper officer of the corpora- brokers, if the stock was bought and tion to ascertain that its stock has been sold through brokers. Many shares Common Pleas of Pennsylvania held that bona fide purchasers of such stock were entitled to relief against the corporation which could not gainsay its own certificates. They held further that the measure of damages in such a case would be the market value such business.

of stock represented by a single cer- the fact that [the treasurer], who tificate were often sold in parcels to committed the fraud upon the defend many different persons, and the seller ant, was, also, her agent in the transmade but one surrender, with powers action. If he be regarded as acting of attorney to transfer the parcels to in two capacities, and as having comthe different purchasers. A purchaser mitted the fraud in his capacity as of stock violated no duty to the corno- treasurer, he yet, as her agent, knew ration when he trusted to the seller to of and participated in it. Is this make the assignment and the surrender knowledge to be imputed to her in deof the old certificate. The utmost that termining her rights against the can reasonably be contended is that defendant? The general rule is that the fact that a certificate was not ex- notice to an agent, while acting for hibited and delivered with a power of his principal, of facts affecting the attorney to the purchaser, was a cir- character of the transaction, is concumstance to be considered upon the structive notice to the principal. Suit question whether the purchaser acted v. Woodhall, 113 Mass. 391; National in good faith and with due care." The Security Bank v. Cushman, 121 Mass. court then, in detail, states the facts 490; Nartwell v. North, 144 Mass. attending the purchase and transfer 188; The Distilled Spirits, 11 Wall. of shares through the brokers, and 856. There is an exception to this said: "On these facts, we think it rule, when the agent is engaged in clear that [this plaintiff] exercised due committing an independent fraudulent care in obtaining a transfer of the act on his own account, and the facts stock, and that [the treasurer] in mak- to be imputed relate to this fraudulent ing the transfer was not his agent, but act. It is sometimes said that it canthe agent of [the broker selling it], or not be presumed that an agent will the undisclosed principal. In issuing communicate to his principal acts of the new certificate he was the agent fraud which he has committed on his of the defendant, and as the plaintiff own account in transacting the busicannot now be put in statu quo, the ness of his principal, and that the docdefendant must bear the loss." Of trine of imputed knowledge rests upon the second case, it was said: "The a presumption that an agent will complaintiff received from [the treasurer], municate to his principal whatever he as broker, a certificate, in her name, knows concerning the business he is of the stock which he said he engaged in transacting as agent. It had bought for her, and there is may be doubted whether the rule and nothing to show that this was not the the exception rest on any such reasons. usual way in which brokers transacted It has been suggested that the true Apparently [she] reason for the exception is that an inacted as a purchaser, though a broker dependent fraud committed by an usually acted, and we see no want of agent on his own account is beyond due care on her part." They then re- the scope of his employment, and, fer to a question in her case: "An- therefore, knowledge of it, as matter other question arises in her case from of law, cannot be imputed to the prinof the stock at the date of a demand by the holders for a transfer, or, if no demand were made, at the date of filing the bills: and, where specific performance was impossible, a pecuniary equivalent might be awarded.1

established. fraud."

cipal, and the principal cannot be held corporation and the signatures of the responsible for it. On this view, such proper officers, acquires an equitable a fraud bears some analogy to a tort title, and may require the corporation willfully committed by a servant for to transfer the stock to him or respond his own purposes, and not as a means in damages for the default. It is not of performing the business intrusted a sufficient answer to such a demand to him by his master. Whatever the that the certificate was fraudulently isreason may be, the exception is well sued, because corporations are, not less Kennedy v. Green, 3 than natural persons, answerable for Myl. & K. 699; Espin c. Pemberton, the conduct of their agents in the busi-3 De G. & J. 547; Rolland v. Hart, L. ness intrusted to their care. Nor is it R., 6 Ch., 678; In re European Bank, necessarily conclusive against such a L. R., 5 Ch. 358; Cave r. Cave, 15 Ch. purchaser that the party from whom D. 689; Kettlewell r. Watson, 21 Ch. he bought was cognizant of, or par-D. 685, 707; Innerarity r. Merchants' ticipated in, the fraud. If a certificate National Bank, 139 Mass. 332; Dilla- of stock is not a negotiable instrument, way v. Butler, 135 Mass. 479; Atlantic it is a written declaration that the Cotton Mills v. Indian Orchard Mills, holder has a definite share in the 147 Mass. 268; Howe r Newmarch, capital or profits of the concern, which, 12 Allen, 49. The case of Craft r. though delivered to him, is intended South Boston R. R. Co. I seems to me for circulation and virtually addressed to fall within this exception. Al- to all the world, and third persons though the fraudulent act of [the who are misled by such an instrument treasurer) may not have been com- may justly require that the loss shall mitted with the intention of cheating fall on the corporation and not on the plaintiff, yet that was its legal them. New York & New Hayen R. effect, and it was a fraudulent act R. Co. r. Schuyler, 34 N. Y. 30, 52, 80; committed by him for his own benefit, Bank of Kentucky v. Schuylkill Bank, the actual effect of which would have 1 Parsons' Eq. 180; In re Bahia & San been wholly to avoid the transaction Francisco R. R. Co., L. R., 3 Q. B. if the plaintiff had known of it. The 595. 4 3 3" The defendants anpresent cases we think fall within the swered that, however sound the arguprinciple that where one of two inno- ment might be under other circum cent persons must suffer a loss from stances, it was inapplicable here, bethe fraud of a third, the loss must be cause the railway company was limited borne by him whose negligence en- by its charter to ten thousand shares. abled the third person to commit When that number was reached the power was exhausted, and any subse-¹Willis r. Philadelphia & Darby R. quent proceedings under it merely R. Co., (Pa. 1878) 6 W. N. C. 461. The void. The barrier thus set was incourt said: "It is well settled that one superable, and could not have been who, as a purchaser or lender, gives surmounted by a vote of the directors value on the faith of a certificate of or stockholders, or by both conjoined. stock, authenticated by the seal of the To hold that the president and treas-

§ 221. When a corporation may not respond for damages for fraudulent issue of stock.— The officer of a corporation in a New York case obtained certain certificates of stock of a corporation, which had been signed by a former president of the corporation in blank, and left with the other then officers urer could, by a fraudulent and un- cogency of this reasoning should not take notice of the limited nature of the 30, 68. The case in hand apparently power and ascertain whether it had belongs to the latter category. plain that the legislature did not in- company could not create new stock. tend to impose a rule contrary to the it might properly give a certificate to ordinary course of business, and which a purchaser as evidence that he had would have enhanced the market acquired a title regularly deduced on value of the stock. Although the the books, and the legal, as well as the company could not issue a larger natural, presumption in every such number of shares than that prescribed case is that the power has been exby its charter, it might well give a croised for a legitimate end, and not new certificate to a purchaser in lieu in a way to render it invalid. N. Y. of that surrendered by the vendor, & N. H. R. R. Co. v. Schuyler, 34 N. and repeat the act as often as the occa- Y. 30, 63. 'Acts of corporations,' son required. conceded during the argument, but it v. Schuylkill Bank, 1 Pars. 252, was at the same time strenuously 'which presuppose the existence of urged that, to render such a substitu- other acts to make them legally opertion valid, the pre-existing certificate ative, are presumptive proof of the must be given up as other stock duly latter. In short, the acts of artificial transferred on the corporate books, persons afford the same presumptions If this method was observed the public as the acts of natural persons. Each and stockholders would be safe, and a afford presumptions, from acts done, departure from it involved an excess of what preceded. A vote of a corof power which rendered the trans- poration may be presumed from other action void, not only between the acts, though there is no proof of such original parties, but as it regarded vote on the corporate records. * * *

authorized overissue, bind the com- render us unmindful of a considerapany to that which the company was tion by which it is controlled. That powerless to perform, was to hold that which a corporation is not authorized an agent might acquire a power to do under any circumstances, or through fraud which the principal did which is absolutely forbidden by its not possess and could not have con- charter, is so entirely void that nothing ferred. The court said: "This argu- short of an act of assembly can render ment might be unanswerable if the it valid, but that which it may do for power to give certificates was identical certain purposes and not for others, or with the power to create stock, or if a on the happening of a particular event, certificate could not legitimately be is not necessarily within this rule, and issued to any one who claimed under may take effect although the prea derivative title, because it would requisites were not fulfilled. N. Y. & then be incumbent on third persons to N. H. R. R. Co. v. Schuyler, 34 N. Y. been strictly pursued. It is, however, have seen that although the railway This was virtually says Judge King in Bank of Kentucky purchasers claiming under them. The The source from which these printo be used in case a stockholder desired to transfer his stock in the president's absence. He filled out the blanks in one of these certificates, inserting his own name as stockholder, forging the name of one who was the treasurer of the corporation when the president signed them, and si ned his own name as transfer agent, which position he occupied at that date, and dating the transaction to make it conform to the date when the president's signature was affixed. When he did this he was president of the company. He used the false certificate of stock by pledging it as a collateral security for a loan made to him personally. In an action by the holder of this certificate against the corporation for damages, by reason of his fraud, the New York Court of Appeals held that there could be no recovery.1

ciples have been drawn is the judg- the corporation shall transfer the prima facie evidence of a title, and 80, 83." that a purchaser must examine the ment of Justice Story in The Bank v. stock, or, if unable to do so in conse-Dandridge, 12 Wheat. 64.' This cita- quence of an obstacle which cannot be tion would seem to be a conclusive removed, give an equivalent for that answer to the argument that the pro- which is withheld. N. Y. & N. H. duction of a certificate of stock is not R. R. Co. v. Schuyler, 34 N. Y. 30,

¹ Manhattan Life Insurance Co. v. records of the corporation and ascer- Forty-second Street & Grand Street tain from them whether the vendor Ferry R. R. Co., (1893) 139 N. Y. 146; has the right which the certificate s. c., 34 N. E. Rep. 776. This opinion avers. Such an investigation is abso- was rendered by MAYNARD, J., lutely superfluous where the officers who said: "The rule which imposes of the corporation have done their a liability upon the principal for the duty, and will generally be unavailing unauthorized acts of his agent, is when they are engaged in the per- founded upon public policy, and is petration of a fraud. N. Y. & N. H. well defined. It is limited to cases R. R. Co. v. Schuyler, 34 N. Y. 30, where there was an apparent au-71. It is no doubt true, as the counsel thority to do the act in question; and for the defense contend, that the it appeared to have been done in the formal mode of deducing title to stock course of his employment as agent is by a transfer regularly made in some and was within the scope of his genbook kept for the purpose by the cor- eral powers. None of these grounds poration or its duly constituted of liability have been shown here. agents. But although a certificate of The agency did not exist in 1888, stock is not the title, it is an authorita- which was necessary in order to detive declaration that such a title exists, prive the principal of the right to diswhich may operate as an equitable claim responsibility for the unauthorestoppel in favor of third persons who ized act. With respect to the creation part with value in the belief that it is of certificates bearing date in 1881, he true. The legal title does not pass to was as destitute of authority as if he the purchaser, but he acquires an had been a stranger to the corporation. equitable right, and may insist that He not only could not issue them, but § 222. Massachusetts decisions on this subject.— In a case in Massachusetts it appeared that the treasurer of a railroad corporation had for a private debt placed fraudulently issued stock with his creditor as security in the creditor's name and the creditor had afterwards used it as a collateral himself for a loan, but upon payment of his loan it was reassigned to him. The court held to this effect: That if an officer of a corporation having the

he could take no part in their issue, gated power to [him] to do a single any general authority conferred upon poration |. never created. inquiry to be made at the office of the * * * certificate was genuine.

or do any act required by law, or by lawful act in the issue of the certifithe by-laws, essential to give them cate in the form in which it was prevalidity. When he issued such a cer- sented to the plaintiff. There was no tificate in his own name, he was not negligent or wrongful use by him of apparently acting within the scope of any authority derived from the [cor-It was a willful and him by the corporation. The defend- criminal act, perpetrated for private ant cannot justly be held liable for gain and not connected with the the misuse of a power which it exercise of any official authority or This case has no semblance of authority which he feature in common with the Fifth possessed as the [corporation's] agent. Avenue Bank against the same de- The plaintiff insists that there is fendant, 137 N. Y. 231. There [this another ground upon which a reofficer], at a time when he was covery is permissible. When [this treasurer and transfer agent, and in- officer made the loan and pledged the vested with authority in both capaci- forged certificate, he represented to ties to sign, countersign and seal valid the plaintiff that it was a genuine certificates of stock, forged the name certificate of the stock of the corporaof the president to a certificate and tion; and as he was then its president issued it to a confederate, who and chief administrative officer, the negotiated a loan upon it at the bank, claim is made that the [corporation] which, before receiving it, caused is bound by his representations. [This officer], when he defendant, and was informed that the negotiated the loan, was not engaged [He] was in the transaction of the [corporation's] there acting within the scope of his business, or in the discharge of any apparent authority, and whether the duty imposed upon him by the fcorcertificate had been actually signed poration]. The declarations of an by the president and was issued in agent are only admissible against his the regular course of the administra- principal when made as a part of a tion of the affairs of the company, transaction undertaken in behalf of were facts peculiarly within his his principal, or in the performance of knowledge, and the countersigning the duties of his agency. First Nat. and issue of the certificate in due Bk. of Lyons v. Ocean Nat. Bk., form was a representation by him that 60 N. Y. 278. Or, as is sometimes these conditions had been complied stated, the representations of the with, and that the facts existed, upon agent, when not expressly authorized which his right to act depended. by the principal, must, in order to Here there was a total lack of dele- bind him, be within the scope of his power, either alone or with others, to issue certificates of stock. fraudulently issues as security for his private debt a certificate to his creditor in the latter's name, such creditor cannot rely upon the certificate and recover damages from the corporation upon its refusal to recognize it as valid, although he has no knowledge of the fraud: but if upon taking it he fails to investigate the title to the stock he is affected with notice of whatever he might have discovered upon making proper inquiry.1 certificate. private and R. Co., 150 Mass. 406.

agency, which is but another form of ciple from Moores v. Citizens' National expressing the same proposition. N. Bank, 111 U. S. 156. In that case Mr. Y. Life Ins. Co. v. Beebe, 7 N. Y. 364. Justice Bradley dissented, and the But, without determining what are decision has been the subject of some the duties of the officers of a corpora-criticism. Lowell Transfer of Stock, tion, when called upon to respond to $112, note 2. The ground of that dethe inquiries of intending purchasers of cision as stated in the opinion is as folthe stock, there is a sufficient reason lows: The plaintiff 'having distinct why the plaintiff cannot avail himself notice that the surrender and transfer of the representations of [this officer] of a former certificate were prereqin regard to the genuineness of this visites to the lawful issue of a new They were made in a one, and having accepted a certificate personal transaction, that she owned stock without taking undertaken for his individual benefit any steps to assure herself that the and so understood by the plaintiff. legal prerequisites to the validity of The plaintiff knew that [this officer], her certificate which were to be fulin the negotiation of the loan, was not filled by the former owner and not by acting as the officer or agent of the the bank had been complied with, she [corporation], or in its behalf, and that does not, as against the bank, stand in his personal interest in the transaction the position of one who receives a cermight lead him to betray his prin- tificate of stock from the proper offi-It is an old doctrine, from cers without notice of any facts imwhich there has never been any de- pairing its validity.' Upon a review parture, that an agent cannot bind his of the authorities in the opinion it is principal even in matters touching his said: 'This review of the cases shows agency, where he is known to be act- that there is no precedent for holding ing for himself, or to have an adverse that the plaintiff, having dealt with interest." See, also, Stone v. Hayes, 3 the cashier individually and lent money Denio, 575; Bentley n. Columbia Ins. to him for his private use, and received Co., 17 N. Y. 428; Claffin v. Farmers from him a certificate in her own & Citizens' Bank, 25 N. Y. 293; Wil- name, which stated that shares were son v. M. E. R. Co., 120 N. Y. 145; transferable only on the books of the Moores v. Citizens' Nat. Bank, 111 U. bank and on surrendered former cer-S. 156; Farrington v. South Boston R. tificates, and no certificate having been surrendered by him or by her, and ¹ Farrington v. South Boston Rail- there being no evidence of the bank road Company, (1890) 150 Mass. 406. having ratified or received any benefit Arguendo, it was said: "The present from the transaction, can recover from case cannot be distinguished in prin- the bank the value of the certificate

These facts appear in another Massachusetts case. The by-laws of a corporation provided that "each stockholder shall be entitled to a certificate of his stock under the seal of the corporation and signed by its president and treasurer." The president had no authority to issue certificates of stock. He had access to the stock book and issued to certain parties certificates of shares of the corporation, signed by himself, and forged the signature of the delivered to her by its cashier.' present case the president of the railcertificates with the treasurer. At the trial of that case in the United States Circuit Court a verdict was directed for the defendant on the ground that the plaintiff having had knowledge of the fact that Moores, upon whom she relied to have the stock transferred to her, was acting for himself as well as in his capacity of cashier — that is, acting for the bank upon one side and for himself on the other in reference to the matter of issuing this certificate she is not, in the judgment of this court, an innocent holder of the stock. Moores r. Citizens' National Bank, 15 Fed. Rep. 141." The Massachusetts Supreme Court resumed: "We have decided in Allen v. South Boston Railroad Co., 150 Mass. 200, 204, that a purchaser of stock owes no positive duty to the corporation to see to it that the seller surrenders the old certhe stock on the books of the company. but that it is the duty of the corpora-

In stock should be signed only by the that case the president of the bank had treasurer, and if he were charged with left blank certificates of stock signed the duty of attending to the transfer by him with the cashier, as in the of stock and the issuing of certificates, any person lending money to him for road company had left similar blank his private use and taking in his own name a certificate of the company's stock as collateral security, could reasonably be required to investigate the title of the treasurer to the certificate delivered, because in issuing such a certificate the treasurer would have a personal interest adverse to that of the corporation. An agent cannot properly act for his principal and himself when their interests are adverse, and any person dealing with an agent in a matter affecting his principal and knowing that the interests of the agent are adverse to those of his principal. ought to be held to the duty of ascertaining that the acts of the agent are authorized by his principal. difficulty in the present case is that these considerations are only partially applicable to it. It is on account of the danger that one officer may abuse his power to issue stock certificates that tificate and makes an assignment of the by-laws of corporations usually require the certificates to be signed by at least two officers of the corporation. tion which requires these things to be If one of these neglects his duty or done to see that they are done before delegates the performance of it to the a new certificate is issued to the pur- other, the safeguard intended by this chaser. The plaintiff, in the case at requirement of the by-law becomes bar, knew that he was dealing with ineffectual, and if one of these officers the treasurer of the defendant in his in issuing a stock certificate has a perpersonal capacity as a borrower of sonal interest adverse to that of the money. If the by-laws of the com- corporation, a person dealing with him pany had provided that certificates of and knowing this may well be required

The holders of these certificates sought treasurer to the same. by action to hold the corporation responsible for these spurious certificates of stock, contending that the corporation was bound to make the certificates good, or was responsible for their being bad. on the ground that, in view of his previous known misconduct. the corporation was negligent in permitting its president to remain in that official position, and to have control of its certificate book and seal, and that the cases fall within the principle that, where one of two innocent persons must suffer a loss for the fraud of a third, the loss must be borne by the one whose negligence enabled the third person to commit the fraud. The Supreme Court of Judicature of that state held that the corporation was not liable for the acts of its president in issuing these certificates.1

to take notice that the rights of the too remote to be properly chargeable corporation are not protected in the upon those who were thus careless in transaction to the full extent intended reposing the confidence. by the by-laws."

Co., (1891) 154 Mass. 172; s. c., 28 N. England r. Governor etc., of Bank E. Rep. 142. ALLEN, J., said: "In of England, 21 Q. B. D. 160, 176; the absence of any previous miscon- Swan v. North British Australasian duct on [the president's part], it could Co., 2 II, & C. 175, 189. See, also, hardly be maintained that there was Vagliano v. Bank of England, 22 Q. any negligence on the part of the cor- B. D. 103, 117; s. c., on appeal, 23 Q. poration in keeping its seal and book B. D. 243, 255, 263. The plaintiffs rely of certificates of shares where the much on Shaw v. Port Philip & Colopresident could have access to them, nial Gold Mining Co., 13 Q. B. D. 108. so as to be able to remove blank cer- which in many of its general features tificates from the end of the book and much resembles the present case, but impress the corporate scal upon them. with certain differences. In that case We are not aware that it is customary the secretary of the defendant comfor corporations in this country to keep pany issued a certificate of shares, their seals or books of certificates in with the name of a director forged by such a way that access can only be had himself. The person to whom it was to them when two or more officers are issued bought shares on the market, present. The chief safeguard in respect through a broker, who received a to the certificates is the necessity of two transfer signed by the secretary, acsignatures. And, accordingly, when companied by what purported and in one who has had confidence reposed in all respects appeared to be a regularly him has availed himself of his oppor- issued certificate of those shares. tunity to commit a fraud upon others These were deposited at the comby means of forgery, it has usually pany's office, with the request for the been held in England that the loss was issue of a new certificate, in the usual not a natural or probable result of the way. The new certificate was issued confidence thus imposed, even though in the usual form by the secretary.

Ireland v. Evans' Charities, 5 H. L. Hill v. C. F. Jewett Publishing Cas. 389; Mayor etc., of Staple of it showed carelessness, and that it was but the signature of a director, which requisite and prescribed penalties, and case before us. that the company had made it the and Jewett, the president."

was required, was forged. It was a duty of the secretary to procure the part of the regular and authorized preparation, execution and signature duty of the secretary to receive and of certificates with the prescribed penexamine transfers and certificates of alties, and thereupon to issue them to shares, to have transfers registered, to the person entitled to receive them. procure the preparation, execution The principal facts upon which the and signature of certificates with all decision turned are wanting in the The president of thereupon to issue them to the persons the defendant corporation was not the entitled to receive them. Moreover, proper officer to issue certificates, and the company, after the issue of the the certificates which the plaintiff recertificate, paid a dividend thereon, by ceived did not come from the office of check signed by the secretary and two the defendant in the regular course of directors. The decision of the case, business, but they were received by which was not heard before the Court the plaintiffs under private and perof Appeal, was placed on the ground sonal transactions between themselves

CHAPTER VI.

PERSONAL LIABILITY OF OFFICERS.

- § 228. Directors' liability general rules.
 - 224. Liability of other officers general rules.
- 225. Rules as to liability of officers for diversion of property of corporation.
- 226. Liability of officers arising from manner of execution of commercial paper.
- Liability of officers arising from indorsement of commercial paper.
- 228. Liability of officers of savings banks.
- 229. Liability of a treasurer of a corporation for payment of orders on forged indorsements.
- 280. Liability on contract made before complete organization of the corporation.
- 281. Rule as to recovery in such a case.
- 282. County treasurer liable upon his receipts to collector for money.
- 233. County treasurer liable as bailee of county funds.
- 284. County treasurer paying court orders on forged instruments.
- 235. Arbitration as to liability of a treasurer of a township.
- 286. Liability under special provisions of charter or statute.
- 237. Liability under provisions of charter — Pennsylvania.
- 288. Statutory liability California statutes.

- liability general | § 289. Statutory liability Colorado statutes.
 - 240. Statutory liability Iowa statutes.
 - Statutory liability Massachusetts statutes.
 - 242. Statutory liability Minnesota statutes.
 - 243. Statutory liability Missouri statutes.
 - 244. Statute of New York liability for failure to file annual report.
 - 245. Actions to enforce this liability.
 - 246. What are, and what are not, "debts" for which liability under this statute may arise.
 - 247. A United States Supreme Court decision on this subject.
 - 248. Statute of New York liability for creation of debts in excess of capital stock.
 - 249. Liability for incurring indebtedness in excess of capital stock — Illinois statute.
 - 250. United States Supreme Court decision on a similar statute—the proper action in such a case.
 - 251. New York statute—liability for false statement in certificate, etc., filed.
 - 252. Illustrations.
 - 253. Statutory liability Rhode Island statutes.
 - 254. Statutory liability various states.
 - 255. Liability of directors or officers under an English statute.
- §223. Directors' liability general rules. Whether directors of a corporation are to be regarded as its agents or its elements, impartial justice and public policy require that as all natural persons are, so they should be held responsible to third persons for the malfeasance by them in fact committed or commanded.1 Directors or officers of a corporation acting beyond their power, whereby loss inures to the corporation, or disposing of its property, or paying away its money without authority, will be required to make good the loss out of their private estates.2 But they are not liable, in the absence of fraud or intentional breach of trust, for negligence, mistakes of judgment and bad management in making investments on doubtful or insufficient security. Where they have not profited personally by bad management or appropriated any of the property of the corporation to their own use, courts of equity treat them with indulgence.8 The directors of a corporation, as trustees of its shareholders, are liable for all losses caused by their willful failure to exercise the care and attention to the affairs of the corporation which would prevent a misappropriation of the trust or corporate funds.4 But directors and officers of a company will not be held personally liable to its creditors on the ground that they have mismanaged its business and contracted an indebtedness in excess of the limit prescribed in its charter, unless they are made liable by the provisions of the charter or some general statute regulating such cor-And it would make no difference that the credit be extended in reliance upon the business character and financial responsibility of the directors and officers.⁵ If directors of a corthe company was utterly insolvent, and after his loss he could recover nothing from the company, were held not to be saved from personal liability that they were acting officially.

² Joint-Stock Discount Co. v. Brown, L. R., 8 Eq. 381; Fliteroft's Case, L. R., 21 Ch. Div. 519; Franklin Ins. ('o. v. Jenkins, 3 Wend. 130.

¹ Rule declared in Salmon v. Rich- Spering's Appeal, 71 Pa. St. 11; Citiardson, (1862) 30 Conn. 360, 374, in zens' B. L. & S. Association v. Coriell, which case the directors of an insur- 34 N. J. Eq. 383, 892; Swentzel v. ance company who had fraudulently Penn. Bank, (1891) 147 Pa. St. 140; permitted false statements to be offi- s. c., 28 Atl. Rep. 413; In re Forest of cially made by the president and Dean Coal Mining Co., L. R., 10 Ch. secretary of the company, as to its Div. 450; Ackerman r. Halsey, 37 N. assets and condition, which induced a J. Eq. 363; Hun o. Cary, 82 N. Y. 65; person to insure in the company when In re Denham & Co, L. R., 25 Ch. Div. 752; Watts' Appeal, 78 Pa. St. 391. Liability of directors for acts ultra vires discussed, and decisions showing the current of authority in for the injury by reason of the fact England on the subject reviewed, 34 Solic. J. 503.

⁴ Lewis v. St. Albans Iron & Steel Works, 50 Vt. 477.

Frost Manufacturing Co. v. Foster, (1889) 76 Iowa, 535; s. c., 41 N. W. ³ Briggs r. Spaulding, 141 U. S. 13c; Rep. 212. That directors are not re-poration are guilty of gross negligence and inattention to the duties of their trust, they will be personally liable if they suffer the corporate funds or property to be wasted or lost by reason of such negligence and inattention.1 The care and diligence required of directors in the discharge of their duties as such, must be determined in each case in view of all the circumstances.2 The directors of a corporation in whom its constitution reposes an enlarged discretion in the management of its business, are responsible to its stockholders only for good faith and reasonable diligence; a mere error of judgment on their part in compromising a debt due to the corporation, would not entitle a stockholder to relief against the directors in equity.3 The directors of a manufacturing corporation have no authority to divert the corporate property by issuing accommodation paper, or otherwise loaning its money or credit without consideration.4 And where officers of such a corporation accept accommodation paper in the name of the corporation, they will be held personally responsible to it for payments made or liabilities incurred in consequence of such acceptance on their part in its behalf.⁵ A board of directors, in carrying out the vote of the required majority of the board, directing a total cessation of the business of the corporation and a liquidation of its affairs, would be acting within the sphere of its lawful authority and would not be held liable for any loss occurring to the minority from the step they had taken in carrying out lieved from liability by the fact that they act gratuitously in that capacity, (1889) 42 Minn. 196; s. c., 44 N. W. see Donaldson v. Haldane, 7 Cl. & Rep. 56. Fin. 771; Thorne v. Deas, 4 Johns. 84, 118, 115, ¹ Horn Silver Mining Co. v. Ryan, Myl. 470. (1889) 42 Minn. 196; s. c., 44 N. W. Rep. 56. See, also, Brinkerhoff v. Bost- ing Co., (1893) 57 Fed. Rep. 998. wick, 88 N. Y. 52.

9 Horn Silver Mining Co v. Ryan,

Smith v. Prattville Manufg. Co., 96, 97; Charitable Corporation v. Sut- (1857) 29 Ala. 503; citing Angell & ton, 2 Atk. 405; Litchfield v. White, 3 Ames on Corp. §§ 312-314; Robinson Sandf. 551; Spering's Appeal, 71 Pa. v. Smith, 3 Paige, 222; Forbes v. Whit-St. 11, 21; Giblin v. McMullen, L. R., 2 lock, 3 Edw. Ch. 446; Bushwick, etc., Privy Council Cas. 318, 337; First Turnpike Co. v. Ebbetts, 8 Edw. Ch. Nat. Bank v. Ocean Bank, 60 N. Y. 353; Van Cortlandt v. Underhill, 17 295; Grill v. S. C. Co., L. R., 1 C. P. Johns. 405; Dodge v. Woolsey, 18 612; Beal v. R. R. Co., 3 Hurlst. & How. 331; Godbold v. Branch Bank Colt. 341, Nolton v. R. R. Co., 15 N. at Mobile, 11 Ala. 191; Mozley v. Als-Y. 444; Wilson v. Brett, 11 Mees. & W. ton, 1 Phil. Ch. 790; Ware v. Grand Junction Water Works Co., 2 Russ. &

4 Hutchinson v. Sutton Manufacturb Ibid.

the vote of the majority. An action against directors of a corporation for misfeasance or culpable negligence in the discharge of their official duty, may be in form legal or equitable according to the circumstances of the particular case. The proper plaintiff in such a case is the corporation.2 The complaint in such a case need not negative knowledge of, or acquiescence on the part of the stockholders in the negligence or misconduct of the direct-Where directors waste or misappropriate the funds, or convert assets of the corporation in violation of their trust, or lose them in speculations, a recovery at law may be had against the defaulting directors, while a suit in equity might also be maintained for an accounting, at the election of the corporation.4 The directors of a corporation which has purchased the franchises and property of another corporation under an agreement that its debts would be paid, misapplying the assets of the latter, and leaving its debts unpaid, will be held individually responsible to the creditors of that corporation to the extent of the assets received and misapplied. Directors of a life insurance company who had transferred its entire stock and assets to another in which its policyholders reinsured their risks, which transaction resulted in great loss to policyholders and creditors of the company, have been held liable to the receiver of the company to the full extent of the damage caused by such misapplication and waste of the company's funds. And the fact that these directors carried out

¹ Trisconi v. Winship, (1890) 43 La. Ann. 45; s. c., 9 So. Rep. 29 In Minn. 14; s. c., 35 N. W. Rep. 565. Buily. Receiver, v. Burgess, (1891) 48 N. J. Eq. 411; s. c , 22 Atl. Rep. 783, a director of a corporation who was appointed as agent to secure a plant of another corporation for its use, and furnished a sum of money for the purpose, was held to account to the receiver of the corporation for the amount not expended by him as well moval of incumbrances upon the propwith the funds in his hands,

(1889) 42 Minn. 196; s. c., 44 N. W. was not due and payable. Rep. 56

8 Ibid. See Rolseth v. Smith, 38

4 Franklin Fire Ins. Co. v. Jenkins, 3 Wend. 130; Robinson v. Smith, 3 Paige, 222.

⁵ National Bank of Jefferson v. Texas Investment Co. (Lim.), (1889) 74 to remove incumbrances from it, and Tex. 421, s c., 12 S. W. Rep. 101. In Holt v. Bennett, (1888) 146 Mass. 437; s. c , 16 N. E. Rep. 5, it was held that payments made by a corporation intending in good faith to go on and as interest on various sums of money develop valuable patents owned by it, which he could have applied to the re- to its directors of money borrowed from them in the ordinary course of crty, but negligently delayed doing so business, were not recoverable from such directors by a creditor of the ² Horn Silver Mining Co. v. Ryan, corporation whose debt at the time the transactions under the advice of able and experienced counsel was held not to relieve them from their liability; nor did the action of the policyholders in reinsuring their risks in the other company to which the assets were transferred, and receiving, by order of court, dividends upon their policies from the assets of this company, amount to a ratification of the illegal transactions of the directors so as to preclude them or a receiver of the company from maintaining an action against the directors for their misconduct in the matter 1

§ 224. Liability of other officers - general rules. - The officers of a corporation are not liable personally, at common law. on a promissory note of the corporation, made by them as such officers, in which the promise to pay is made by the corporation, and not by the officers personally.2 If any personal liability exists against officers of a corporation who have executed a note binding the corporation by its terms, and not themselves personally, and the contract is made without authority, and the corporation cannot be holden responsible on the contract, the liability results from the wrong done by the officers in undertaking to act without authority.3 When a corporation has in fact no authority to contract debts, a contract of a debt upon its supposed credit by its officers would impose a personal liability upon them. One, a director, vice-president and general foreman of a corporation, who signed the name of the corporation to an agreement to contribute to the expenses of a suit at law, without informing the other parties of his want of authority to do so, thus giving them to understand that the corporation was interested, was held by the Michigan Supreme Court liable to contribute the share of the expenses otherwise chargeable to the corporation.5 The president of a cor-

¹ Pierson v. Cronk, (Sup. Ct. N. Y. cent v. Chapman, 10 G. & J. (Md.) 282, Spl. Term, 1890) 26 Abb. N. C. 25; the Maryland Court of Appeals held that there could be imposed no per-² Hall v. Crandall, (1866) 29 Cal. 567. sonal responsibility upon the members See, also, Blanchard v. Kaull, (1872) of the vestry of a church by proceed-44 Cal. 440; Lander v. Custro, 43 Cal. ings as vestrymen pledging the corporate funds to persons who might per-3 Hall v. Crandall, (1866) 29 Cul. 567. form work for it, which the vestry Drake v. Flewellen, 38 Ala. 106; then thought adequate if the funds should prove to be merely nominal and 5 Solomon v. Penoyar, (1891) 89 Mich. inadequate; further, that their subse-11; s. c., 50 N. W. Rep. 644. In Vin-quently manifesting an impression that

s. c., 13 N. Y. Supp. 845.

^{497.}

Harwood v. Humes, 9 Ala. 659.

poration may be held individually liable on an implied warranty of his authority where he executes a written guaranty in the name of the corporation without authority.1 The president of a corporation would not make himself personally liable to a stockholder by a promise upon his transferring the stock he owned to him, that when the corporation was wound up the stockholder should receive the proportion of the proceeds to which he would be entitled.2 An officer of a corporation, in an action against him to recover moneys wrongfully retained by him belonging to the corporation, cannot defend on the ground that the receipt of such moneys by the corporation was for work or business illegal or ultra vires the powers of the corporation, or that its charter was fraudulently obtained and the election of its officers illegal.3 The president of a bank has been held chargeable with constructive notice of the management of its affairs by the cashier and other subordinate officers; and where the bank was doing business without legal organization he could not escape the responsibility resulting from such notice by showing that he supposed himself the president of a legally constituted bank, if he had contributed the influence of his reputation to give undeserved credit to a spurious corporation. The liability of an ostensible president of a spurious bank, in a depositor's suit for damages, is direct and original, and he will be held responsible in damages to the same extent as the bank, if legally constituted, would have been liable.⁵ In a Wisconsin case, seeking to charge certain officers of a corporation individually for negligence in the conduct of its affairs, it appeared that these officers, president, secretary and treasurer, who had been intrusted with the management by the directors, who held no meetings and gave no attention to their duties, had conducted the affairs of the corporation in good faith, though negligently and in the exercise of powers belonging solely to the board of directors. The Supreme Court held that these officers could not be charged as ex officio members of the board they had assumed a personal responsibility, without an act to fix the liability, could not vary the interpretation of the instrument nor entitle the pledgers to a recovery upon a claim and otherwise well founded.

9 Thompson Y. Supp. 317.

1 Haacke of the instrument nor entitle the pledgers to a recovery upon a claim and otherwise well founded.

9 Thompson Y. Supp. 317.

1 Haacke of the instrument nor entitle the pledgers to a recovery upon a claim and otherwise well founded.

¹ Nelligan v. Campbell, (1893) 65 Hun, 622; s. c., 20 N. Y. Supp. 284.

⁹ Thompson r. Stanley, (1893) 20 N. S. Supp. 317.

³ Haacke r. Knights of Liberty Social & Literary Club, (1892), 76 Md. 429; s. c., 25 Atl. Rep. 422.

⁴ Hauser v. Tate, (1881) 85 N. C. 81.

⁵ Ibid.

of directors, and that neither of them was liable for the negligence or unauthorized acts of the others in which he did not par-The court also ruled upon some questions of evidence in such a case as follows: That mere proof of failure to collect certain moneys due to the corporation was not proof that such moneys were lost; also, that in respect to losses alleged to have been sustained because of insufficient payments to the corporation on certain accounts, a report of the secretary was not competent evidence against the president and treasurer to charge them with such losses or to show that no more was paid to him than he reported.² A corporation obligating itself to aid another in its enterprise, and placing funds in the hands of its treasurer for the purpose of meeting the obligation, cannot hold him liable for the funds where he has expended them in the interest of the other corporation and this expenditure has been assented to by resolution of the corporation's board of directors entered in the records

& Loan Association v. Childs, (1892) Franklin Ins. Co. v. Jenkins, 3 Wend clared the rules as to liability of property of the corporation is one of officers to the corporation for dam- the corporation, or, if within the power ages caused by neglect or unauthor- of the corporation, is not within the ized acts rests upon the common-law power or authority of the particular rule, which renders every agent liable officer or officers. Where the ground of who violates his authority, or neglects liability is for nonfeasance, negligence his duty to the damage of his princi- or misjudgment in respect to matters pal. It seems to be now universally within the scope of the proper powers agreed that, no matter whether the act of the officer, he will be held responsiis prohibited by the charter or by-laws, ble only for a failure to bring to the disthe liability is on the ground of viola- charge of his duties such degree of tion of authority or neglect of duty. attention, care, skill and judgment as v. Spaulding, 141 U. S. 146. There the discharge of such duties or emits property or pay away its money case and the usages of business." without authority, they will be re-Off. Corp. 875; Joint-Stock Discount 600. Co. v. Brown, L. R., 8 Eq. 881; Flit-

¹ North Hudson Mutual Building croft's Case, L. R., 21 Ch. Div. 519; 82 Wis, 460; s. c., 52 N, W. Rep. 600. 130. * * * This is the rule where The Wisconsin Supreme Court de- the disposition made of money or officers in these words: "The liability either not within the lawful power of Thomp. Liab. Off. Corp. 357; Briggs are ordinarily used and practiced in can be no doubt that if the directors ployments; the degree of care, skill or officers of a company do acts clearly and judgment depending upon the beyond their power, whereby loss subject to which it is to be applied, ensues to the company, or dispose of the particular circumstances of the

² North Hudson Mutual Building quired to make good the loss out of & Loan Association v. Childs, (1892) their private estates. Thomp. Liab. 82 Wis. 460; s. c., 52 N. W. Rep.

of the corporation. The treasurer of a railroad corporation gave a bond to the corporation, conditioned that he should "faithfully discharge the duties of the office, and well and correctly behave therein." The Supreme Court of North Carolina held, in an action against him and his sureties on this bond, that the bond did not bind him to keep the money of the corporation safely against all hazards; that it only bound him to an honest, diligent and competently skillful effort to keep the money. The treasurer having deposited the money of the corporation to his credit as treasurer in a banking house, at the time in good standing and credit, and considered by the community a safe place of deposit for money, the treasurer and his sureties were held not to be liable for its loss by the sudden and unexpected failure of the banking house.² An action of contract by the corporation against a person to whom the treasurer of the corporation has, without authority, loaned to that person, thus misappropriating its funds, will not be held such a ratification of the treasurer's act as will relieve him from liability to the corporation.8 It appeared also in this case that in the action brought against the borrower of its funds from its treasurer the corporation attached personal property of the borrower, a manufacturing corporation, of an uncertain value; that a mortgagee duly notified the officer that he claimed the attached property under a mortgage; that a receiver of the corporation appointed in New Jersey, where it was incorporated, offered to pay the plaintiff, in settlement of the suit, almost fifty per cent of its claim; that the plaintiff notified its treasurer and the sureties on the treasurer's bond of this offer, and offered to permit him, upon paying the amount due the plaintiff, to assume the control of the suit, and to assign to him its cause The treasurer declined this proposition and the plaintiff made a compromise with the borrower of its funds through

¹ Bay View Homestead Assn. v. Williams, (1875) 50 Cal. 353.

Lathene, 75 N. C. 505.

³ Goodyear Dental Vulcanite Co. v. Caduc, (1887) 144 Mass. 85; s. c., 10 ² Atlantic & North Carolina R. R. N. E. Rep. 483. The court said: "Te Co. v. Cowles, (1873) 69 N. C. 59. That hold that bringing a suit under such the rule does not apply to public offi- circumstances not only ratifies the cers or officers of public corporations, loan, so far as the borrower is conthe same court has held in Comrs., etc., cerned, but condones the offense of v. Clarke, 78 N. C. 255; Havens v. the agent and relieves him from all liability, would be carrying the doctrine the receiver, and gave a release reserving to itself its rights against The court held that this compromise, under the the treasurer. facts stated, did not release the treasurer from his liability to the corporation for misappropriation of its funds.1

§ 225. Rules as to liability of officers for diversion of property of corporation.—The New Jersey Court of Errors and Appeals has declared the following rules as to the liability of directors who have diverted the property of the corporation, and the principles upon which they are founded. Referring first to the change of legislation in that state repealing the "act to prevent frauds by incorporated companies," MAGIE, J., said: "But in my judgment the change in legislation has not deprived creditors of incorporated companies of all rights in respect to the property out of which their debts must be paid, if at all. As between creditors and stockholders, the corporate property has always been held to be a fund for the payment of debts, to which creditors have a right in preference to stockholders. 2 Story's Eq. Juris. § 1252. So the assets of a corporation cannot be divided among its stockholders, nor diverted to uses not contemplated by its charter, for the benefit of stockholders to the detriment of creditors. Nat. Trust Co. v. Miller, 6 Stew. Eq. 155; Guild v. Parker, 14 Vr. 430. Nor can directors, by fictitions credits, or by accepting overvalued property in payment for stock subscriptions, deprive creditors of the fund out of which their debts should be paid. Wetherbee v. Baker, 8 Stew. Eq. 501. These doctrines do not at all depend, as I conceive, on the existence of a corporation bankrupt law, or other like legislation. nor on the prohibitions of the statutes respecting transactions in fraud of creditors, but rather on principles inherent in the nature of corporations as to artificial persons whose creditors can only enforce their debts by a resort to the property the corporation has acquired. So, upon like principles, I apprehend that the property of an incorporated company is devoted to the payment sonable and uniust extent."

of implied ratification to an unrea- where the corporation has not qualified itself to do business in that state upon ¹ Goodyear Dental Vulcanite Co. v contracts made on behalf of that cor-

Caduc, (1887) 144 Mass 85; s. c., 10 poration, see Lasher v. Stimson, N. E Rep. 483. As to the personal (1892) 145 Pa. St. 30; s. c., 23 Atl. liability of an agent representing a Rep 552, 29 W. N. C. (Pa.) 404. foreign corporation in Pennsylvania, of the creditors thereof, at least to this extent, that it may not be diverted to other purposes. The corporation and its officers owe to their creditors this duty, not to divert the corporate property from the general purpose of paying the creditors. While they may dispose of the corporate property, and even prefer one creditor to another, they may neither give away the corporate property by a direct gift, nor by sale at less than its full and fair value. to the detriment of creditors. A violation of this duty will entitle the creditors who suffer thereby to relief. If the diversion of the corporate property from the payment of debts is effected by a mere gift, it is not necessary to discuss what relief could be afforded to creditors. If the diversion is effected under the guise of a sale, and the sale is not objectionable, as being made with intent to defraud creditors, then it is plain that relief cannot be afforded to creditors by setting aside the sale, for that, as we have seen, is not now prohibited. But, in such a case, it is equally plain that the directors who have effected such a diversion of corporate property from the payment of debts, have violated a duty, and will be personally liable to make up to creditors what has, by their acts, been thus diverted. When such diversion is charged to have been produced by a sale of corporate property to a stranger, the complaining creditors could obtain relief only by clear proof that by the fault of the directors, and in violation of their duty, the sale was made for less than the full and fair value of the property. But when directors make sale of corporate property to one of their number, who takes part in the transaction, as both buyer and seller, and creditors are thereby deprived of the opportunity to enforce their debts, then it results from the relation above mentioned as existing between them and the creditors: that it devolves on the directors to show that the transaction was made in good faith, and that the sale produced the full value of the property. If they fail to show these facts, creditors are entitled to compel them to account for the full value of the property. The fact that by reason of the sale it has been rendered difficult to determine the real value of the property sold, will not alter the measure of the directors' liability. If there is a conflict of evidence respecting value, the fact that by the act of one of the parties, the determination of the question has been rendered difficult or impossible, may be considered, but it cannot enlarge the liability of the directors, which is only for so much as has been lost to the creditors by their misconduct. In an action by a receiver of an insolvent Illinois corporation against its directors to recover misappropriated moneys of the corporation. the Supreme Court of that state has held that if the directors of an incorporated company apply the funds of the corporation to the discharge of their own indebtedness, or wrongfully pay an outgoing president a salary for past services not agreed to be paid until after their performance, they will be liable to the creditors of the company for the amount of the funds thus misapplied. was also held that where a president of an incorporated company performs services as such, without any by-law or resolution providing compensation for his services, and afterwards accepts a salary voted to him for past services, he will be liable to refund the same in favor of creditors of the company.2 The court further held, in this case, that the Statute of Limitations was no bar to a recovery, by the receiver of the insolvent corporation, from the directors, of the sums of money misappropriated by them.3

(1886) 41 N. J. Eq. 566.

court that the law will not imply a der which they acted," promise, on the part of a private corices were rendered.

Wilkinson v. Bauerle. (1886) 41 N. ington & Mississippi Rv. Co., 71 Ill. J. Eq. 635, 645, 646, in which the 106; Gridley v. La Fayette, Bloomingprinciples of the text were applied to ton & Mississippi Ry. Co., 71 Ill. 200; the case before the court. See, also, Illinois Linen Co. v. Hough, 91 Ill. 63. on this subject, Dodd v. Wilkinson, The rule is analogous to that governing trustees generally, who, at com-² Ellis v. Ward, (1890) 137 III. 509. mon law, were not entitled to compen-The court said, upon this last point: sation, except as there was warrant "The doctrine is well settled in this therefor in the contract or statute un-

³ Ellis v. Ward, (1890) 187 III. 509. poration, to pay its officers for the In this connection, it was said: "It is performance of their usual duties. a principle of general application, and In order that such officers may legally recognized by this court, that the demand and recover for such services, assets of a corporation are, in equity, or the corporation legally make all a trust fund (St. Louis & Sandoval awards and payment therefor, it Coal & Mining Co. v. Sandoval Coal & must appear that a by-law or resolu- Mining Co., 116 Ill. 170), and that the tion has been adopted, authorizing and directors of a corporation are trustees. fixing such allowance before the serv- and have no power or right to use or American Cen- appropriate the funds of the corporatral Ry. Co. v. Miles, 52 Ill. 174; Mer- tion, their cestui que trust, to themrick v. Peru Coal. Co., 61 Ill. 472; selves, or to waste, destroy, give Rockford, Rock Island & St. Louis away, or misapply them. Ilolder v. Railroad Co. v. Sage, 65 Ill. 328; La Fayette, Bloomington & Mississippi Cheeney v. Le Fayette, Bloomington Ry. Co., 71 Ill. 106; Cheeney v. La & Mississippi Ry. Co., 68 Ill. 570; 87 Fayette, Bloomington & Mississippi III. 446; Holder v. La Fayette, Bloom- Ry. Co., 68 III. 570; 1 Morawetz on

§ 226. Liability of officers arising from manner of execution of commercial paper.—In a case before the Appellate Court of Illinois the note sued on was subscribed by the defendants with the affix to one signature "Pres.," to the other "Sec.," and below the signatures "Salem Coal and Mining Co." They specially pleaded that the note was the note of the coal and mining company. It was held by the court that the fact that the note was signed by defendants as officers of a corporation, and the name of the corporation attached, did not release them from individual liability, in the absence of evidence that they were officers, and that the note was intended as the note of the corporation only. In a case before the Minnesota Supreme Court, the note given to the plaintiff was signed by the defendant with the affix "Pres." to his signature. Its defense was that he was the president of a certain "club," a corporation organized under the laws of that state, and that he made the contract for articles for that club and gave this note for it. The Supreme Court held that where defendant undertook to overcome the plaintiff's prima facie case by testimony tending to show that the notes were executed by him in behalf and as the act of a corporation of which he was is equally well settled that no lapse of lation established by law between time is a bar to a direct or express directors and the corporation. 2 Pomtrust as between the trustee and croy's Eq. § 6; Id. §§ 1088-1090, 1094. cestui que trust. Chicago & Eastern And see, also, as respects stockholders, Illinois Railroad Co. r. Hay, 119 Ill. Hightower v. Thornton, 8 Ga. 486; 493; Wood on Limitation of Actions, Payne v. Bullard, 23 Miss. 88; Curry § 200, and cases cited in note. If the v. Woodward, 53 Ala 371." trust assumed by the directors of a the same legal principles are appli- v. Keith, 102 Ill. 634.

Private Corpor. $5 516, 517. And it cable, and such appears to be the re-

¹ Williams v. Miami Powder Co, corporation in respect of the corporate (1890) 36 Ill. App. 107. The court said: property under their control, is to be "The absence of all evidence on these regarded as a direct trust, as contra-questions renders it necessary to con-. distinguished from simply an implied strue these notes according to the face trust, then it is apparent, under the of the notes, and in doing so the recrule announced, the statute presents ords 'Pres.' and 'Secy.' are to be reno bar to this proceeding by the re- garded as descriptiona persona merely. ceiver of the corporation. Ordinarily, They must be held according to their an express trust is created by a deed contract." Citing Hypes v. Griffin, or will, but there are many fiduciary Admr., etc., 89 Ill. 184; Stobie v. Dills, relations established by law, and 62 Ill. 482; Bickford v. First Nat. Bank regulated by settled legal rules and of Chicago, 42 Ill. 238; Trustees of principles, where all the elements of Schools v. Rautenberg, 88 Ill. 219; an express trust exist, and to which Powers r. Briggs, 79 Ill. 498; Scanlan president, and for its debt, and that this was well known and understood by the pavee of the notes, to sustain the defense he should have gone further, and shown that not only the debt was one which the corporation had the power to incur, but that the corporation authorized it to be incurred. Where in a negotiable

Boutell, (1890) 45 Minn. 21; s. c., 47 ually. The Supreme Court of Illinois N. W. Rep. 261. The court said; "It said of this writing: "[It] is not disis well settled in this court that when tinctly the note of [defendant]. A persuch a word as 'agent' or 'trustee,' sonal note by him, in proper form, which may be descriptive of the per- would have used the personal pronoun son, or may be descriptive of the char- 'I' instead of the name of the corpoacter in which the signer contracts, is ration, and would have been signed affixed to the name of the party enter- without the description 'Gen. Supt.' ing into a contract, it is prima facie Neither is it by its terms the note of descriptive only, and that it may be a corporation. As such it should have shown by extrinsic evidence that the been signed with the name of the corattached word was understood by all poration by its president, secretary or interested as determining the character other officers authorized to execute it, in which the person using it contracted. or, as in Scanlan v. Keith, 102 III, 634, Pratt v. Beaupre, 13 Minn. 187, 189; by the proper officers designating Bingham v. Stewart, 14 Minn. 153, 214; themselves officers of the corporation Deering v. Thom, 29 Minn. 120; s. c., for which they assumed to act, or, as 12 N. W. Rep. 350; Peterson v. Ho- in Newmarket Savings Bank v. Gillet, man, 44 Minn. 166; s. c., 46 N. W. 100 Ill. 254, using the corporate name Rep. 303. In the earlier of these cases, both in the body of the note and in the where the words 'Agents Steamer signatures to it. But if it be conceded Flora,' had been affixed to the defendants' signatures to a shipping contract, it was also settled that where a party seeks to change the prima facie character of the contract on the ground of on its face to be the obligation of the agency, it is incumbent upon him to society, rather than of [defendant], prove the fact of the agency. To es- certainly it could not even then be contablish that he acted in a representa- tended that it was conclusively so. It tive capacity he must first show the is well understood that if the agent, existence of the capacity. If he as- either of a corporation or an individsumes to act as an agent he must prove ual, makes a contract which he has no his authority to do so, or his liability authority to make, he binds himself upon the contract is necessarily of a personally according to the terms of Johnson, (1893) 147 Ill. 520, an action § 303. in these words: "On or before, etc., s. c., 13 Am. Dec. 556: 'It is perfectly

² Brunswick-Balke Collender Co. v. tendent," against the signer individthat, prima facie, a general superintendent of a corporation has authority to make promissory notes in its name. and this instrument be held to appear personal character." In Frankland v. the contract. Angell & Ames on Corp. It was said by SUTHERwas brought upon a note which was LAND, J., in Mott v. Hicks, 1 Cow. 513. the Western Seamen's Friend Society well settled that if a person undertake agrees to pay or order the sum of to contract, as agent, for an individual * * * with interest, etc., [signed] or corporation, and contracts in a man-[defendant's name] general superin- ner which is not legally binding upon promissory note, given for the debt of a corporation, the language of the promise does not disclose the corporate obligation, and the signatures to it are in the names of individuals who were in fact officers of the corporation, a bona fiele holder, without notice of the circumstances of its making, is entitled to hold it as the personal undertaking of its signers, although they have affixed to their names the titles of their respective offices, as this will be regarded as descriptive of the persons and not of the character of the liability.1

sible (citing authorities). tract, can exonerate himself from per- r. Grubbs' Admr., 6 J. J. Marsh. 31: has undertaken to act. It is not for c. Rice, 4 Col. 90; Magill c. Hinsdale. ing it a question of fact which had 102 Ill. 634, been properly referred to the jury, and the latter, upon what the court deemed Clark, (1893) 139 N. Y. 307; s. c., 34 N. the strength of the testimony, having E. Rep. 908. In this case the note sued determined adversely to the defend- on, given for the debt of the corporaant, held their conclusion not subject to tion, was written on a blank having review. As to such notes being prima printed on its margin the name of the facie the personal notes of the signers, corporation. No reference to the corposee McNeil v. Shober & Carqueville ration was made in the body of the note, Lithographing Co., (1893) 144 Ill. 238; which read: "We promise to pay." It Sturdivant v. Hull, 59 Me. 172; Tucker was signed by the president of the cor-Manuf. Co. v. Fairbanks, 98 Mass. 101; poration in his individual name, with Savage r. Rix, 9 N. H. 263; Bank r. "Prest." written after, and in the same Hooper, 5 Gray, 567; Trustees r. manner by its treasurer, with "Treas." Rautenberg, 88 Ill. 219; Powers n, added to his signature. The note was Briggs, 79 Ill. 493; Stobie v. Dills, 62 discounted by the bank for the payee Ill. 483; Fiske c. Eldridge. 12 Gray, before maturity. The New York 474; Seaver c. Coburn, 10 Cush. 324. Court of Appeals held that an action As to the admissibility of parol evi- against the signers individually was dence in such cases to show whose note maintainable; that the appearance in it was, see La Salle National Bank r. print upon the margin of the name of Tolu Rock & Rye Co., 14 Ill. App. 141; the corporation was not a fact carry-Mechanics' Bank v. Bank of Columbia, ing any presumption that the note was, 5 Wheat. 326; Baldwin v. Bank of New- or was intended to be, the note of the bury, 1 Wall, 234; Brockway v. Allen, company; that it was competent for his principal, he is personally respon- 693; Haile v. Peirce, 82 Md. 327; Rich-And the mond R. Co. v. Snead, 19 Gratt, 354; agent, when sued upon such a con- Lazarus r Shearer, 2 Ala. 718, Owings sonal liability only by showing his McClellan r. Reynolds, 49 Mo. 312: authority to bind those for whom he Hardy e Pilcher, 57 Miss, 118; Hager the plaintiff to show that he had not 6 Conn. 464; Mann r. Chandler, 9 Mass. authority. The defendant must show 335; Neill c. Spencer, 5 Ill App. 473; affirmatively that he had.' This rule Western Union v. Smith, 75 Ill. 496; is quoted with approval in Wheeler v. Bowles v. Lambert, 54 Ill. 231. Stookey Reed, 36 Ill. 91." They then consider. v. Hughes, 18 Ill. 55; Scanlan v. Keith,

¹ Casco National Bank of Portland c. 17 Wend. 40: Kean r. Davis, 21 N. J. L. the officers to obligate themselves per-

8 227. Liability of officers arising from indorsement of commercial paper.—A promissory note executed by a corporation, the name of which was subscribed to the note and those of the president and secretary attached, and the names of its directors indersed upon the back of it, designating themselves as sonally, and apparently they did so by distinguish the case from Taft v. the language of the note. The court Brewster, supra, and made it evident said: "This must be regarded as the that no personal engagement was long and well-settled rule. Byles on entered into or intended. Much stress Bills, §§ 36, 37, 71; Pentz v. Stanton, was placed in that case upon the proof 10 Wend. 271; Tuft r. Brewster, 9 that the plaintiff was intimately ac-Johns. 384; Hills v. Bannister, 8 Cow. quainted with the transaction out of 31; Moss v. Livingston, 4 N. Y. 208; which arose the giving of the corpo-De Witt v. Walton, 9 N. Y. 571; Bot- rate obligation. In the case of Bank tomley r. Fisher, 1 Hurlst. & Colt. 211. of Genesco v. Patchin Bank, 19 N. Y. It is founded on the general principle 312, referred to by the appellant's that in a contract every material thing counsel, the action was against the demust be definitely expressed, and not fendant to hold it as the indorser of a left to conjecture. Unless the lan- bill of exchange, drawn to the order guage creates, or fairly implies, the of 'S. B. Stokes, Cas.,' and indorsed undertaking of the corporation, if its in the same words. The plaintiff bank purpose is equivocal, the obligation is was advised, at the time of discountthat of its apparent makers. It was ing the bill, by the president of the said in Briggs r. Partridge, 64 N. Y. Patchin Bank, that Stokes was its 357, 363, that persons taking nego- cashier, and that he had been directed tiable instruments are presumed to to send it in for discount, and Stokes take them on the credit of the parties forwarded it in an official way to the whose names appear upon them, and plaintiff. It was held that the Patchin a person not a party cannot be charged Bank was liable, because the agency upon proof that the ostensible party of the cashier in the matter was comsigned or indersed as his agent. It municated to the knowledge of the may be perfectly true, if there is proof plaintiff as well as apparent. Incithat the holder of negotiable paper dentally, it was said that the same was aware, when he received it, of the strictness is not required in the execufacts and circumstances connected tion of commercial paper as between with its making, and knew that it was banks; that is, in other respects, beintended and delivered as a corporate tween individuals. In the absence of obligation only, that the persons sign- competent evidence showing or charging it in this manner could not be held ing knowledge in the holder of negoindividually liable. Such knowledge tiable paper as to the character of the might be imputable from the language obligation, the established rule must of the paper, in connection with other be regarded to be that it is the agreecircumstances, as in the case of Mott ment of its ostensible maker and not v. Hicks, 1 Cow. 513, where the note of some other party, neither disclosed read, 'the president and directors by the language nor in the manner of promise to pay,' and was subscribed execution." To obviate the effect of by the defendant as 'president.' The this rule, the appellant in this case court held that that was sufficient to proved that one, a director of the cor"board of directors," was the cause of action in a Kansas case. The lower court refused any evidence as to the circumstances under which the names of the directors were indorsed upon the note, and they were held bound as guarantors of the note of the The Supreme Court held that as between the origi-dent of the bank, who represented it facts. The court held that if the

poration, the payee company, was also in all the transactions, was engaged in a director in the plaintiff bank at the a fraudulent scheme of conversion. time when the note was discounted. It was said in the latter case that the and it was argued that the knowledge knowledge of the president, as an inchargeable to him as director of the dividual or as an executor, was not former company was imputable to the imputable to the bank merely because paintiff. To this argument the Court he was the president, but because of Appeals said: "But that fact is in- when it acted through him as presisufficient to charge the plaintiff with dent, in any transaction where that knowledge of the character of the ob- knowledge was material and applicaligation. He in no sense represented ble, it acted through an agent. The or acted for the bank in the transac- rule may be stated, generally, to be tion, and whatever his knowledge re- that where a director or an officer has specting the note, it will not be imput- knowledge of material facts respecting able to the bank. National Bank r. a proposed transaction, which his re-Norton, 1 Hill, 572, 579; Mayor, etc., lations to it, as representing the bank, a Tenth National Bank, 111 N. Y. 446, have given him, then, as it becomes 457; Farmers', etc., Bank v. Payne, 25 his official duty to communicate that Conn. 444. He was but one of the knowledge to the bank, he will be preplaintiff's directors, who could only sumed to have done so, and his knowlact as a board. National Bank v. Nor-edge will then be imputed to the ton, supra. If he knew the fact that bank." See, also, Mcrchants' Nathese were not individual, but corpo- tional Bank of Gardner v. Clark. (1893) rate, notes, we cannot presume that he 139 N. Y. 314 (an action upon similar communicated that knowledge to the notes to those in the case above, made board. An officer's knowledge, de- by the same parties defendant). In rived as an individual, and not while Bremen Saving Bank v. Branchacting officially for the bank, cannot Crookes Saw Company. (1891) 104 Mo. operate to the prejudice of the latter. 425, the defendant corporation was Bank of U.S. v. Davis, 2 Hill, 451. sued on a note purporting to be signed The knowledge with which the bank by it as maker and one B. as indorser. as his principal would be deemed It defended in its answer on the ground chargeable so as to affect it would be that it was a manufacturing and busiwhere, as one of the board of directors ness corporation; that its name was and participating in the discount of used by B., the then president of the the paper, he had acted affirmatively, corporation, for his own accommodaor fraudulently, with respect to it, as tion, and for the purpose of satisfying in the case of Bank r. Davis, supra, his prior individual debt; that the note by a fraudulent perversion of the bills was so executed without any considfrom the object for which drawn; or eration moving to the defendant, and as in Holden v. New York & Erie that the plaintiff, when it accepted the Bank, 72 N. Y. 286, where the presincte, had knowledge of the foregoing nal parties or any subsequent holder of this note accepting the same as collateral with full notice of all the facts and circumstances connected with the execution and delivery thereof, extrinsic evidence was admissible to show not only that the president and secretary executed the instrument in their official capacity as officers of the corporation, but also that the directors signed the note on the back thereof solely as officers of the corporation and to bind the corporation only. In a Georgia case the promissory note on which the action was brought was signed by one as "ag't" payable to another, "pres't," and indersed by the latter "president [name of corporation]." The action was brought by the indorsee, a bank, against the indorser individually and the corporation. In addition to the statutory form of such actions in that state, it was alleged that the maker was the agent and the indorser the president of the corporation, and that the money borrowed from the bank, and for which the note was given, was received and used by the corporation, and it undertook and promised to pay the bank. The effect of the statute of Georgia, that "where the agency is known, and this credit is plaintiff was induced by defendant's of which the note was payable, as ford v. Spencer, 92 Mo. 498, Fitzger- tion to bind the corporation, but not ald v. Barker, 96 Mo. 661; Mechanics' the officers individually. The court Banking Assn. v N. Y., etc., White said: "If the parties who wrote their Bank v. German-American Mut. W directors had signed their names upon ware Co., 2 Mo. App. 299.

Kans. 91. It was claimed in the case apply when such signatures are upon that the cashier of this bank, the the back of the instrument before assignee of the note, who was also a delivery," director of the corporation to the order conduct under the circumstances to sured these directors that the only way believe in good faith that the defend- to make a corporation note was for the ant had assumed to pay the debt, officers and directors of the corporathough it did not in fact assume to tion to sign their names and affix their pay it, defendant was liable. Citing official positions thereto, and that the Deere v. Marsden, 88 Mo. 512, Craw-note was thus signed under his direc-Lead Co., 35 N. Y. 505; National Park names upon the back of the note as & S. Co., 116 N. Y. 202; National the face thereof, they could have Bank of Republic v. Young, (N. J.) 7 shown by extrinsic evidence that they Atl. Rep. 488; Holmes, Booth & Hay- were acting for the corporation only, dens v. Willard, 24 N. Y St. Repr. and we perceive no reason why, as be-260; Second National Bank v. Pottier tween the original parties or any sub-& Stymus Mfg. Co., 18 N. Y. St. Repr. sequent holder of the note accepting 954; Supervisors v. Schenck, 5 Wall. the same as collateral, with full notice 784: La Fayette Savings Bank r. Stone- of all the facts and circumstances connected with the execution and deliv-¹ Kline v. Bank of Tescott, (1892) 50 ery thereof, the same rule will not not expressly given to the agent, he is not personally responsible upon the contract. The question to whom the credit is given is a question of fact to be decided by the jury under the circumstances of each case," was considered. The Supreme Court held that the suit against the payce individually was demurrable, the liability sought to be enforced being that of the corporation and not of its president individually; that the declaration showing on its face that the agency of the president was known, and that credit was extended to the principal, there being no allegation that credit was expressly extended to the agent; there was no issue which required submission to the jury. It was argued to the court that the statute had no application to the law-merchant and promissory notes the offspring of that law, and that the payee having been designated as "Pres't" merely when made the payee by the face of the note, was responsible individually, because he could not by the indorsement explain what that term "Pres't" meant; and when he turned over the note to the bank by his indorsement and gave them the control of the paper and title to sue it, he could not then limit his liability and indorse only as president. Of this contention the court said: "We cannot see the logic of any such conclusion, nor do we think that any such point has ever been adjudicated, even under the laws governing commercial paper unaffected by statute, as it is here, by the allegation that [the payce] and [maker] had power to contract for the corporation, and did so, and borrowed the money for the corporation that used it." It was also held that outside of the statute prior to indorsing the note payable to the order of the payee no liability arose against him; and when he indorsed it, the terms of such indorsement determined the contract between the indorser and indorsee, and the indorser could limit his liability by the terms thereof.1

§ 228. Liability of officers of savings banks.—In a case where the trustees of a savings bank, the business of which had been a losing one from the start, its deposits not large and its expenses exceeding its income, doing business in hired rooms, purchased real estate for a large sum out of the funds in its care

¹ Bank of the University v. Hamil- Veneer Mfg. Co., 4 N. Y. Supp. 385; ton, (1886) 78 Ga. 312. Cases as to in- Sheridan Electric Light Co. v. Chatdorsement of paper by officers: Mid- ham National Bank, 52 Hun, 575; s. dlesex County Bank v. Hirsch Bros. c., 5 N. Y. Supp. 529.

and agreed to erect a building thereon at a further large cost, before the completion of the same the bank became hopelessly insolvent and passed into the hands of a receiver. The receiver brought his action against the trustees for damages on account of an improper investment of its funds on their part in the matter above stated. The New York Court of Appeals, considering the relation between these trustees and the bank to be that of agents and principals, and between them and the depositors as similar to that of trustee and cestui que trust, held, that in transcending the limits placed upon their power in the charter of the bank and causing damage to the bank or its depositors, they would be personally liable for the damages. They affirmed the judgment against the trustees in the lower courts and dismissed the appeal.1 As agents of the bank such trustees are

N. Y. 65, affirming 59 How, Pr. 426. is bound to exercise ordinary skill and The contention in this case on the part judgment, he cannot set up that he of the defense involved the extent of did not possess them. When damage

¹ Hun, Receiver, v. Cary, (1880) 82 ordinary skill and judgment. As he the care to be exercised by such trus- is caused by his want of judgment he tees of the funds and the uses to which cannot excuse himself by alleging his they devoted them. EARL, J., speak- gross ignorance. One who voluntaing for the court, after referring to the rily takes the position of director, and following cases: Scott v. De Peyster, invites confidence in that relation, un-1 Edw. Ch. 513; Spering's Appeal, 71 dertakes, like a mandatory, with those Pa. St. 11; Hodges v New England whom he represents or for whom he Screw Co., 1 R. I. 312; s. c. in 3 R. acts, that he possesses at least ordinary I. 1; The Liquidators of Western Bank knowledge and skill, and that he will v. Baird, 11 Sess. Cas. (3d series) bring them to bear in the discharge of 112 (Scotch); The Charitable Corpora- his duties. Story on Bailments, § 182. tion v Sutton, 2 Atk, 405, and Litch-Such is the rule applicable to public field v. White, 3 Sandf. 545, said: "In officers, professional men and to me-Spering's Appeal Judge Sharswood chanics, and such is the rule which said that directors 'are not liable for must be applicable to every person mistakes of judgment, even though who undertakes to act for another in a they may be so gross as to appear to situation or employment requiring us absurd and ridiculous, provided skill and knowledge, and it matters they were honest, and provided they not that the service is to be rendered are fairly within the scope of the gratuitously. These defendants volunpowers and discretion confided to the tarily took the position of trustees of managing body.' As I understand the bank. They invited depositors to this language I cannot assent to it as confide to them their savings, and to properly defining to any extent the intrust the safe keeping and managenature of a director's responsibility, ment of them to their skill and pru-Like a mandatory, to whom he has dence. They undertook not only that been likened, he is bound not only to they would discharge their duties with exercise proper care and diligence, but proper care, but that they would exer-

responsible to it for misfeasance or nonfeasance causing damage to the bank, upon the same principle that any agent is for like cause responsible to his principal. The Chancery Court of New Jersey has held the treasurer of a savings bank, at the same time one of its managers, who had assigned to the bank a bond and mortgage owned by him on land not worth double the mortgage as required by the bank's charter, and without submitting the investment to the finance committee for approval, as required by its by-laws, personally liable for the loss sustained on the bond and mortgage. Further, that the fact that the manager did not object or repudiate the transaction for six years was no defense whether his breach of duty was known or not known by the other managers.2

cise the ordinary skill and judgment theless, in violation of his duty and delicate trust."

R. Co. v. McPherson, 35 Mo. 13. As to the bank in this transaction. He to the liability of trustees to restore was a trustee, and, as such, bound to the money illegally invested by them, protect the interests of his cestwis que see Adair v. Brimmer, 74 N. Y. 553; trust. London v. Birmingham R. R. Co., 5 strict adherence to the provisions of De Gex & Smales, 414.

34 N. J. Eq. 398. It was said by the He would not have been at liberty to chancellor: "The defendant willfully disregard them if the application had disregarded the regulations made by come from a stranger. On what printhe board of managers for the security ciple can be be justified in disregard of the depositors, by which it was, in ing them in his own dealings with the effect, provided that no investment bank? Had a stranger sought to obtain should be made unless approved by from the bank the money for the bond the finance committee, and that all and mortgage, it would have been the applications for investment of the duty of the defendant, if the matter funds should be made to them alone. came to his knowledge in time, to With full knowledge that the invest- object to it, and if his objection had ment not only had not been duly been unheeded it would have then been authorized, but was one forbidden by incumbent on him to do what he could the charter, he, with the concurrence to prevent the illegal transaction. of the president, indeed, but, never- Crane o. Hearn, 11 C. E. Green (N. J.), requisite for the discharge of their trust, as it was in violation of the duty and trust of the president, took from ¹ Hun v. Cary, (1880) 82 N. Y. 65. the funds of the bank, by check drawn That they may be treated as agents of by himself as treasurer, the amount of the bank, see In re German Mining the bond and mortgage on the assign-Co., 27 Eng. Law & Eq. 158; Belknap ment of these instruments to the bank. v. Davis, 19 Me. 455; Bedford R. Nor can he shelter himself under the R. Co. v. Bowser, 48 Pa. St. 29; suggestion that though he was a mana-Butts v. Wood, 38 Barb. 181; Austin ger and officer, he is to be regarded as v. Daniels, 4 Denio, 299; O. & N. R. standing in the relation of a stranger That obligation involved a the charter and the regulations of the ² Williams, Receiver, v. Riley, (1881) bank designed for their protection.

§ 220. Liability of a treasurer of a corporation for pavment of orders on forged indorsements.— Certain orders upon the treasurer of a building association, a Pennsylvania corporation, signed by the president and attested by the secretary, to certain payees, were paid by the treasurer to the secretary, the latter having forged indorsements of the payee upon the same. association brought its action upon the bond of the treasurer to hold him liable for these improper payments, as they contended. The Supreme Court of the state held that the treasurer should have had judgment in his favor.1

now. He has been guilty of a misappli- ders drawn upon the treasurer for cation, at least, of the funds of the bank, appropriations made by the board, the and where there has been a waste or secretary to keep accurate minutes, to misapplication of the funds of a cor- attest all orders drawn on treasurer poration by an officer or agent of the for appropriations made by the board, corporation suit may be brought in the treasurer to pay all orders drawn equity, in the name of the company, or misapplication or breach of trust. Citizens' Loan Association r. Lyon, 29 N. J. Eq. 110; s. c., affd. on appeal, 30 N. J. Eq. 782. Here the misapplication was by one who was not only an officer of the institution but a trustce also. Stockton v. Mechanics & Labor. Sav. Bank, 32 N. J. Eq. 163; Hannon v. Williams, 34 N. J. Eq. 255. And he is bound to indemnify his cestuis que trust, and the receiver may indemnity."

Grath, (1893) 154 Pa. St. 296. The charged, as the bailee of Saltmarsh, tice, fully presented the facts and the tuitous act, from which he was to reby-laws regulating the conduct and coive no benefit, and the benefit was acts of officers, and fully discussed the solely to accrue to the bailor, in which law applicable to such a case, as fol- case the bailee is only liable for gross lows: "The ground of liability was negligence, dolo proximus, a practice negligence in making these payments, equal to a fraud.' This rule thus although made upon orders signed by stated is repeated in Scott v. Bank of the president and secretary, who also Chester Valley, 72 Pa. St. 471; Bank attested the signatures of the payees. of Carlisle v. Graham, 79 Pa. St. 117. The money was either paid in cash to His designation as treasurer did not the secretary, or by cheques payable change the character of the bailment. to his order. Under the by-laws the As provided in the by-laws the money

378. Manifestly he is without excuse president was required to sign all oron him by order of the board, if signed to compel him to account for such waste by the president and attested by the secretary. The orders upon which these payments were made were in the usual form, and signed by the president and attested by the secretary. The [treasurer] having no reason to suspect or doubt the integrity of either the president or the secretary, and acting in good faith, paid them. As the | treasurer | served without compensation for his services he became a gratuitous bailee, and as such is to be maintain suit against him to obtain the held liable for gross negligence only. In Tompkins v. Saltmarsh, 14 Serg. & ¹ Hibernia Building Assn. v. Mc. R. 275, it was said: 'Tompkins is opinion rendered by Thompson, Jus- on an undertaking to perform a gra-

$ 230. Liability on a contract made before complete organization of the corporation.- In an Ohio case it appeared that individuals who had undertaken to have an association known as the "Wool Growers' Exchange" incorporated under the laws of Ohio obtained a certificate of incorporation, and before the requirement of the law as to the subscription to the stock of a certain percentage of the capital stock before doing business had was deposited with him to be paid out fully perform the duties in regard to when required upon orders drawn in the bailment that the law required the manner as stated. A treasurer or him to perform. It is, however, cona director may become a gratuitous tended that as the bond provides that bailee, and his official position and he shall discharge all the duties now designation will not in any degree required or may hereafter be required change his liability as such bailee. In of him as treasurer by the constitu-Swentzel v. Bank, 147 Pa. St. 153, it tion, charter, by-laws, rules and reguwas held that directors who are gra- lations of said association, and as the tuitous mandatories were only liable board passed a resolution that all for fraud or such gross neglect that applications for withdrawals of stock amounts to fraud. In this case the must be approved by the board of [treasurer] had no office or place in directors at regular or special meetwhich, as treasurer, he transacted the ings of the association before payments business of the association. When are made, the [treasurer] was guilty of orders were to be paid he testifies he negligence, without examining the would get notice from the secretary to minutes and without satisfying himcome down and see him; that he had self that the board had acted upon the some that he wanted paid, and that he withdrawals for which the orders in would go to the secretary's store and question purported to have been would there pay them to him. The drawn. It is established by the proofs [association's] business was managed that no entries were made upon the principally by its secretary, who came minutes for of? application of [for?] in contact directly with its members. withdrawals after 1884. In point of In view of the by-law and the modes fact the secretary, after this date, kept of payment, it is very clear that he no record in the minutes of any withwas a gratuitous bailee, and is to be drawals. The duty of the president held only to that diligence required as is to preside at all meetings of the such. It is true he gave a bond as re- board and to sign all orders for approquired by the by-law for the faithful priations authorized by the board; performance of his duties, but that did that of the secretary is to keep accunot change the duty east upon him by rate minutes of all meetings of the law as a bailee. The condition of the board, the accounts of the association, bond was that he should perform and and to attest all orders on the treasurer discharge the duties of the office, and for appropriations of the board. These shall keep a just and true account of orders in question were signed by the the moneys received, and shall pay to president and were attested by the his successor the moneys received, and secretary in the usual form. The shall account for the moneys so re- president was and is still regarded asceived. The condition of the bond, an upright man; the secretary was therefore, was that he should faith- also at this time so regarded; the assobeen complied with, had a meeting of stockholders and were elected directors and officers of the association. They then entered into a contract for the purchase of wool, and for an unpaid balance gave a note through the officers of the association. The holder of the note brought action upon the note as the foundation of the suit against these directors as personally liable on the contract under the facts disclosed in the case. The Supreme Court of Ohio held them liable personally on the contract. The ciation trusted both of them implicitly, court discussed quite at length the liaand had no reason or cause to doubt bility of agents under such circumthem. If it treated them thus, it was stances, and then said: "While, how natural that the [treasurer] should in ever, the authorities generally agree no manner suspect or doubt them, that a person who, without having in These orders, therefore, came to him fact authority to make a contract as with the certificate of the presiding agent, yet does so under the bona tide officer, whose duty it was to preside belief that such authority is vested in at all meetings, and with the attesta- him, is nevertheless personally respontion of the secretary, whose duty it sible to those who contract with him was to keep all records of the meet- in ignorance of his want of authority, ings. If the [treasurer] had gone to a diversity of opinion is found in the the secretary he would doubtless have cases in regard to the exact nature of been assured that the board had acted the liability, and the character of the upon these withdrawals, and having action by which it may be enforced. been so advised he would have been In Jenkins r. Hutchinson, 13 Ad. & E. justified in paying them. It can be 746, it is intimated by ERLE, J., that scarcely said to be want of ordinary an action of decit would lie in such diligence to have paid these orders cases, notwithstanding the good faith under these circumstances and with of the agent, and some authorities may these signatures. They were, in fact, be found to that effect. Another class as express an authorization as if he of cases hold that the liability is upon had seen these officers officially. It the contract; but, it is believed, that was said in Swenzel v. Penn. Bank, whether the agent is so liable, depends supra: 'Nor do we think the directors upon the intention of the parties as were bound to regard the statements submitted to them as false, and the president, cashier and clerks as thieves. They had nothing to arouse suspicion. All of these gentlemen stood high. his action, and that of the president in 264a. Still another class of cases essigning and sending to him the orders tablish the rule, which we are inclined in question,"

St. 525; s. c., 26 N. E. Rep. 110. The upon his implied promise that he pos-discovered from the contract itself: and on this question the form of the agreement and the mode of signature may be quite conclusive. The rule on this subject, as stated in Story on They were the trusted agents of the Agency, is that an agent cannot be corporation.' The [treasurer] was not sued on the very instrument itself, as guilty of negligence in trusting the a contracting party, unless there be secretary and in putting full faith in apt words to charge him. Section to adopt, that in cases like the one we ¹Trust Co. v. Floyd, (1890) 47 Ohio are considering, the agent is liable Supreme Court of Kansas affirmed a judgment against alleged directors of an athletic association upon a contract for goods furnished, holding them individually liable on the ground that the corporation had not been fully organized under the law. They said upon the subject generally: "The rule is well established this kind is founded on fraud, and that that case. laration in such an action. They are facts stated in the petition, the law, sesses the authority he assumes to long since the bills in plaintiff's hands have. Smith's Leading Cases, vol. 2, were issued. " * * It is thought pt. 1, 408 (8th ed.), and cases there that the averment of a fraudulent decited; Lewis v. Nicholson, 83 Eng. C. sign should have been made in positive L. 512. In White v. Madison, 26 N. terms as to each specific act relied Y. 117, in a learned opinion, it is held upon to sustain the action.' Under that the liability of the agent in such the practice then in force, pleadings cases rests upon the ground that he were subject to demurrer, unless they warrantshis authority, and not that the were appropriate in their form and contract is to be deemed his own. allegations to the particular action Bartholomew v. Bentley, 15 Ohio, 659, pursued; and we do not understand it is referred to as establishing both that to be there decided that no other action the liability of the agent in cases of could be maintained on the facts of A different action was the petition should charge a fraudulent maintained in Medill c. Collier, 16 intent in direct terms. That was an Ohio St. 599, which, so far as the action in case for deceit under the ground upon the liability of the bank practice which prevailed before the directors was placed, is not greatly adoption of the Code of Civil Proced- dissimilar to the case before us. Under ure. The questions arising upon the our present system of pleading, it is demurrer related to the form of the not important what was formerly the remedy, and the sufficiency of the dec- most appropriate remedy. Upon the stated by BIRCHARD, J., to be: 'First. we think, implied a promise on the Can a special action on the case for part of the defendants, that in making fraud, which has resulted in damage the contract with the plaintiff, they of the plaintiffs, be maintained in a had authority to bind the corporation case like this upon sufficient declara- they assumed to represent; and if they tion? Second. Is this declaration good had not, they are answerable for the upon demurrer?' The court answers consequences. That they were withthe first question in the affirmative, out such authority seems clear. Upon and, in speaking of the declaration, the lack of authority upon the part of says: 'The objection taken by counsel the directors, it was then said: 'It was is a want of certainty. The action is held by this court in Bartholomew r. founded on a fraudulent combination, Bentley, 1 Ohio St. 37, that while and for holding out false colors at the mere irregularities in organizing a commencement of the banking opera- corporation would not subject the tions, and at various subsequent officers to private liability, to protect periods. The only direct charge of a them from such liability, the provisions fraudulent intention is in the with- of the act of incorporation must be drawal of the funds, and this, for substantially pursued. By our stataught that appears, may have been utes, under which the proceedings that a corporation must have a full and complete organization and existence as an entity, and in accordance with the law to which it owes its origin, before it can assume its franchise or enter into any kind of a contract or transact any business; and whatever be the mode prescribed by the act of incorporation, a substantial compliance with all the provisions of the law under which it is created is required before the corporation can be said to have such an existence as will entitle it to do business.1 And it is conceded in this case that nothing was done to perfect the organization after the charter was filed. A corporation cannot act without officers and agents, and it is powerless to do anything until its incorporators or promoters give it the means whereby it can act. The words "organize" or "organization" have a wellunderstood meaning; and as we construe them they mean the election of officers, providing for the subscription and payment of the capital stock, the adoption of by-laws and such other steps as are necessary to endow the legal entity with the capacity to corporation referred to in the petition, poration de facto, and estopped to deny the corporate powers, business and its liability to the plaintiff. If it were, property of corporations formed for it is not readily perceived how this profit must be exercised, conducted would aid the defendants. Until there and controlled by a board of directors, were stock subscriptions to an amount all of whom must be stockholders; the warranting the organization, the subarticles of association must state the scribers could not be compelled to pay amount of the capital stock, and beyond the sum required at the time the number of shares into which it is of the subscription; nor would the divided; and at least ten per cent of statutory liability attach, unless there that amount must be subscribed be- were some ground of estoppel, not apfore directors can be chosen. So that pearing in the case. The implied the subscription of the necessary undertaking of the defendants was amount of the capital stock to author- that they represented a corporation ize the election of directors is not only with the capital stock required by law; a matter of substance, but is essential while the one to which they insist the to the organization of the corporation, plaintiff shall be compelled to resort and necessary to the transaction of was, if a de fueto corporation, so only the law requires shall be provided be- ity; and if the doctrine of estoppel fore the corporation enters upon its could be brought to the aid of the business for the protection of those plaintiff against it, the defendants are liability of the stock subscribers is an that remedy to relieve them from the additional security. In the effort to form liability they have incurred," the corporation in question, neither of 1 Citing 4 Am. & Eng. Encycl. of these securities was provided. Counsel Law, 197, and authorities cited there.

were taken for the formation of the contend that it is, nevertheless, a corbusiness by it. It is the security which in name, without substance or capacwho may deal with it. The statutory not in a position to require a resort to transact the legitimate business for which it was created. In this sense the corporation was not fully organized. While it had an existence, the organization was never completed so that the corporation could do business. In the case of Hart v. Salisbury, 55 Mo. 310, which was an action brought upon a note purporting to have been executed by the directors of an agricultural association, the suit was brought against the directors upon the ground that the association was not incorporated at the time the note was given, and that the directors were, therefore, individually liable. It appeared that the association was not fully incorporated when the note was executed. The law required the charter to be filed with the recorder of the county where the corporation was located, and also in the office of the secretary of state. The charter was only filed with the recorder. The court held that the officers of the corporation had no power to issue the note, and that a note issued and signed by them would bind them personally and not the corporation. The court said, in speaking of the attempted organization of that corporation: It had organized under section 2, chapter 69, General Statutes of 1885, page 367, by signing and acknowledging and recording in the recorder's office of the proper county the articles of the association. This step being taken, it was an organized corporation, not for the transaction of business, but for the purpose of taking the next and last step to complete its authority to transact business and give date to its legal existence. Until the officers took this final and necessary step by depositing and filing in the office of the secretary of state a copy of the articles of association as they stood recorded in the county, this corporation had no power to issue the note As it had no power to issue this note, the defendants are undoubtedly liable." "If a corporation be illegally formed, its members or stockholders are liable as partners for its acts or contracts; and directors, officers or agents acting and contracting in its name render themselves personally liable." Beach Priv. Corp. § 16; Marshall v. Harris, 55 Iowa, 182; Kaiser v. Savings Bank, 56 Iowa, 104; Coleman v. Coleman, 78 Ind. 344. Kansas court resumed: "While in this case the charter was filed with the secretary of state, the corporation had no officer outside of the directors named for the first year. No portion of the capital stock had been subscribed and no books opened, as required by section 1173 of the General Statutes of 1889. In fact nothing had been done to complete the preliminary business of organizing the corporation. We do not understand that a corporation can proceed to the transaction of business without any portion of its capital stock being subscribed or paid. It may have been the English rule, but in the United States it is otherwise. Boone Corp. § 113. The corporation has no means or capacity to act until some portion of the capital stock named in the charter has been subscribed and paid. Some states have by a legislative rule made directors of certain corporations jointly and severally liable for all debts of the corporation until the whole amount of the capital stock has been paid in. Rev. Stat. of Wis. 1878, § 1901."

§ 231. Rule as to recovery in such a case.— The measure of damages in such a case was one of the questions in this Ohio case. Referring to the theory upon which, as it appeared, the case was tried, that if the defendants were liable at all, the amount which the plaintiff was entitled to recover was the balance due on the contract, the Supreme Court of Ohio said: "This was not necessarily the measure of recovery. As we have already seen, the action in such cases is not founded on the contract made for the supposed principal, but as the implied promise of the agent that he had authority to bind the principal; and the damages which may be recovered for its breach is the loss sustained by the plaintiff by reason of his not having the valid contract which the agent undertook that he should have. The damages may sometimes exceed the amount due on the contract made in the name of the principal, for it is held they may include the costs and expenses of an unsuccessful action against the principal to enforce the contract. White v. Madison, 26 N. Y. 117: Simons v. Patchett, 7 E. & B. 568; Collen v. Wright, 7 E. & B. 301; 2 Smith's Leading Cases, 410. In Morawetz on Corporations it is said that the measure of damages in an action against directors or officers of a corporation, who induce a person to deal with it before the capital indicated in its charter has in fact been provided, is the loss sustained 'by reason of the difference between the capital which he has received and that which he was entitled to Under this rule, we think, the plaintiff might properly recover the balance remaining unpaid and the purchase price of the wool sold. Prima facie, that is the amount of the plaintiff's loss, and it does not exceed the amount of the capital which the corporation was required by law to have before it could be represented by the directors, and which the defendants, by assuming to act for it, undertook that it did have. It is true the petition alleges that the corporation is insolvent with an indebtedness exceeding ten per cent of the capital stock; but whether the claims of other creditors stand upon a like footing with that of the plaintiff, or will be enforced against the defendants, does not appear. Besides, if the proper stock subscriptions had been obtained, the corporation might not have become insolvent, or, before it did, the plaintiff's claim might have been paid or secured. If, in such case, the plaintiff could recover no more than a sum equal to the proportion of the capital which should have been provided that his claim bears to the whole indebtedness contracted in the corporate name, it would be necessary to take an account of the assets and liabilities to determine the amount of the recovery. That rule, applied to this case, would require that the defendants be charged with an amount equal to the necessary stock subscriptions, and the statutory liability of the subscribers, and that all the creditors be brought in to have their claims adjusted, before the amount of the verdict could be arrived at."

¹ Walton v. Oliver, (1892) 49 Kans. 107, 112, 113, 114; s. c., 30 Pac Rep. 172.

§ 232. County treasurer liable upon his receipts to collector for money.—A county auditor in California made a settlement with a collector of license taxes of the county, determined the amount due the county from this collector and certified the same to the county treasurer. The county treasurer gave a receipt for the amount to the collector, and the collector, upon presenting it to the county auditor, received his discharge, and the auditor charged the same to the treasurer. The latter, also, debited himself to that amount in his account with the county. When he went out of office there was a deficiency of a certain amount, and an action was brought upon his bond by the county to recover the deficiency. The defense made by the treasurer and his sureties was that, in reality, the sum of money due from the collector was not paid in full to him, and that the collector was the one indebted to the county. The Supreme Court of ¹Trust Company v. Floyd, (1890) 47 Ohio St. 525, 542, 543; s. c., 26 N. E. Rep. 110.

California held that, assuming the facts to be as contended by the treasurer and his sureties, they did not constitute a defense to the action.1

§ 233. County treasurer liable as bailee of county funds.— In a Colorado case the governing authorities of a county sought, claiming a shortage in the accounts of a county treasurer, deceased, to follow the funds as trust funds in his estate as held by his representatives and to have a preference over other creditors of the estate. The Supreme Court in its opinion first considered the question of the relationship held by a county treasurer to the funds coming into his hands by virtue of his office,

(Cal. 1893) 34 Pac. Rep. 1082. The and he ought not now to be permitted to court said: "Section 115 of the County exonerate himself from liability to the Government Act (St. 1891, p. 823) re- county by showing that these statequires the county auditor to settle the ments were false, and that, instead of accounts of all persons holding moneys requiring [the collector] to pay the payable into the county treasury, and money into the treasury, he had taken to certify the amount to the treasurer; his individual promise to pay it at a and provides that, upon the presenta- subsequent date. By delivering to the tion and filing of the treasurer's re- auditor his receipt for the moneys ceipt therefor, he shall give to such which [the collector] had collected, persons a discharge, and charge the he had authorized the auditor to enter treasurer with the amount received by upon his books a discharge of [the him. In Butte Co. v. Morgan, 76 Cal. collector's] liability, and is thereby 1; s. c., 18 Pac. Rep. 115, it was held estopped from questioning the correctthat the auditor is not required to go ness of his receipt. If he chose to to the treasurer and ask him whether permit [the collector] to retain this the amount has been actually paid, money upon his promise to subseor, in other words, whether the receipt quently pay it to him, to that extent states the truth. He is authorized to he failed to perform his official duty accept the receipt as sufficient evidence in requiring the money to be paid into of the fact of payment. presents many points similar to the having become himself, rather than present one, and must be regarded as the county, the creditor of [the colcontrolling. Section 80 of the County lector]. If any loss occurred by rea-Government Act requires the treasurer son of [the collector's] subsequent to settle his accounts with the auditor failure to pay his check, it should be on the first Monday of each month, borne by [the treasurer], rather than and, for the purpose of making such by the county, since the loss had been settlement, to make a statement under made possible by reason of [the coloath of the amount of money received lector's] violation of his official duty. prior to the period of such settlement, and his sureties are liable to the county the sources whence the same was de- equally with him for such misapprorived, and the amount remaining on priation or loss of the money." hand. These settlements and state-

1 San Luis Obispo County v. Pettit, ments were made by [this treasurer], This case the treasury, and must be regarded as the contention by the county authorities being that the relation was that of bailee of the funds, and that of the representatives of the estate that the relation of debtor and creditor existed between him and the county. The court said: "Without determining where the weight of authority lies on this question, as there is much conflict between the adjudged cases, we think that, under the provisions of the statute relating to a county treasurer, the money collected and received by him belongs to the county, and that he holds a fiduciary relationship thereto that constitutes him a bailee, with express and extraordinary liability. The bond he is required to give before entering upon the duties of his office is conditioned that he 'shall faithfully and promptly perform the duties of said office * * * pay, according to law, all moneys which shall come to his hands as treasurer, and shall render a just and true account thereof, whenever required by said board of commissioners or by any provision of law, and shall deliver over to his successor in office, or to any other person authorized by law to receive the same, all moneys, books, papers, and other things appertaining thereto or belonging to his office.' Mills' Ann. St. § 886. Section 890 of Mills' Annotated Statutes provides: 'It shall be the duty of the county treasurer to receive all moneys belonging to the county from whatever source they may be derived. * * * All moneys received by him for the use of the county shall be paid out by him only on the orders of the board of commissioners, according to law, except where special provision for the payment thereof is or shall be otherwise made by law.' It is further provided in section 901 of Mills' Annotated Statutes: 'Upon the resignation or removal from office of any county treasurer all the books and papers belonging to his office shall be delivered to his successor in office, upon the oath of such preceding treasurer, or, in case of his death, upon oath of his executors or administrators, etc.' The Supreme Court of Indiana having announced the doctrine in several cases that a township trustee, in common with a county treasurer, was not a mere bailee, but the owner of the money that came into his hands by virtue of his office, that court distinguished and limited such ownership in Rowley v. Fair, 104 Ind. 189; s. c., 3 N. E. Rep. 860, as follows: 'But the title of a township trustee in the money for which he is held accountable is only recognized to the extent that is necessary for the better preservation of the various funds which the money represents, and is, in fact, a legal title only in a technical and very limited sense. The equitable title to, and the beneficiary interest in, such money is in the township, and in that view the money for which the trustee is liable upon his bond really belongs to the township.' It follows that, if the money received by the treasurer by virtue of his office belongs to the county, it constitutes a trust fund, which, if diverted and misappropriated, may be recovered in an action upon his bond. or the county may, if it elect, treat it as a trust fund, and follow it wherever it can be traced."1

§ 234. County treasurer paying court orders on forged indorsements.—It appeared in a Minnesota case that a deputy clerk of the District Court issued false and fraudulent certificates, in which he certified that certain named persons had served as jurors in said court, and were each entitled to a stated sum of money payable to their order as compensation. He obtained the written order of the county auditor on each, directing the county treasurer to pay the same. He forged the names of the respective payees on the back of each certificate, presented the same to the treasurer, and the latter paid over to him the amounts called for out of the county funds, without attempting to satisfy himself of the genuineness of the indorsements upon the backs of the instruments. The Supreme Court held that the treasurer was liable to the county for the sums so paid out.2

Pac. Rep. 87.

Ramsey Co. v. Nelson, (1892) 51 Minn. conclusion of the court was expressly 79. Arguendo, the court said: "The placed upon the fact that in good distinction between a case arising on faith the county treasurer had paid these facts and * * * Sweet v. these obligations precisely as he was County Commissioners of Carver authorized and directed to do, to the County, 16 Minn. 106, is obvious, person who presented them, the bearer There the county orders or warrants thereof. But the cases are not analohad been issued and accepted, made gous, for, giving to defendant the benpayable to a certain named person or efit of all that is possible, namely, to bearer. They were transferable by that together the certificates as issued simple delivery, and, in terms, the and the indersements thereon as made

¹ McClure v. Board of Comrs. of La pay to the bearer. This he did with-Plata County, (Colo. 1893) 34 Pac. out knowledge of any defect in the Rep. 763; citing Sauer v. Town of title of the bearer, and it was held, Nevadaville, 14 Colo. 54; s. c., 23 such payment being in good faith every way, that the county was ex-² Board of County Commissioners of onerated from further liability. The treasurer was expressly authorized to by the county auditor amounted to

§ 235. Arbitration as to liability of a treasurer of a township.—The treasurer of a township having used the moneys of the public corporation there was a submission of the question of the extent of his liability upon his bond to arbitration, and a settlement made upon the basis of the award, the bondsmen released and in part settlement of the matter notes given to the township. In an action upon one of these notes the treasurer intervened, and the insistment on his behalf was that the arbitration could not be sustained because the corporation's powers were only such as were given by statute, and no express power was given to submit to arbitration. To this the Supreme Court of orders or warrants upon the county the signatures which he found intreasury, the prominent and stubborn dorsed upon the backs of the instrufact remains that the amounts said to ments purporting to be those of the be due thereon were not to be paid to payees therein named. He failed so a bearer of the instruments, but to the to do, and this of itself is sufficient to order of the several persons named sustain the charge of negligence in the therein as payees. As in the case just performance of his official duty. As referred to, the authority to pay was was said by the learned trial judge, express and distinct, but instead of had defendant observed the rule of directing that such payment should law which governs in commercial be to whomsoever might present the transactions of the same nature, he orders or warrants, the direction was would have detected the forgeries at that payment should be made to the the outset, and there could have been order of a person designated by name. no great loss to the county or to him-And at this time it may be well to self. His disregard of this rule was state that it does not appear in the negligence, undoubtedly, and it was complaint, as appellant's counsel seem the immediate and proximate cause to assume, that fictitious or nonexistent of the loss to the county, for which persons were named as pavees in these defendant must be held responsible, certificates. It is of no importance, unless the fact that the certificates probably, but from the language of were fraudulently issued by the depthe pleading the presumption is other- uty of another county officer for wise. Payments were not made to whose malfeasance such officer was the persons named as payees, or to also responsible to the county can be their order, in accordance with the allowed to excuse and relieve him. terms of the certificates, but were The instruments in question were cermade to * * * the very person tificates of indebtedness for jurors' who as deputy clerk had the oppor- services falsely stated to have been tunity and had fraudulently issued the rendered by the payces therein named, same, solely upon the false and forged and on whose order payment was to indorsements of the names of the be made. At most, they were the payers. Common prudence ought to orders of one officer of a municipal have suggested to [the treasurer] that corporation upon another officer for before making such payments it was the paying out of municipal funds. incumbent upon him to ascertain and Although negotiable in form, they satisfy himself of the genuineness of were not commercial paper in any Iowa said: "A corporation has, however, not only such powers as are expressly conferred, but such others as are reasonably incident to the exercise of those expressly conferred. The intervenor's theory is that the plaintiff [the corporation] should be confined to its remedy by action. But the power which it is conceded that the plaintiff has to maintain an action does not appear to be expressly conferred. The plaintiff has express power to make settlement with its treasurer, and must be deemed, by implication, to have power to enforce, by action, both settlement and payment, if necessary. But an arbitration of differ-ulently issued could not relieve the fictitious and nonexistent, we do not defendant treasurer from the obliga- quite understand the assertion of tion which rested upon him to see to counsel that no payees were named, it that he paid the same to the persons and, therefore, the instruments were to whom payment was directed. Had payable to bearer, or the pertinency he done this in good faith, we are un- of the authorities collated by counsel able to see why his duty would not to the effect that, where a payce's name have been performed, and in his is left blank in a bill or note when the failure to pay as directed lies the same issued, such bill or note is in claim that he was negligent. Had the legal effect payable to bearer, and certificates been regularly issued pay- until the payee is actually named the ment upon forged indorsements would paper will circulate as though made not have excused the defendant treas- payable to bearer in terms. We have urer, nor could it have relieved the already stated that from the averments county from a just indebtedness for of the complaint the presumption is jurors' services. The liability of the that the payces named were not ficti county treasurer for the funds in- tious or nonexistent, but in any event trusted to his care cannot be allowed the weight of authority is that the to depend upon the fidelity of some rule cited by counsel applies only to other county officer, but is with him paper put into circulation by a maker alone, and to be determined by his with knowledge that the name of the county to require of him that he Shipman v. Bank of New York, 126 account for the public funds be N. Y. 318; s. c., 27 N. E. Rep 371. it may also look elsewhere for relief the issuance of county orders or warin case of loss. For the bad conduct rants. There is absolutely nothing in tion of services, and fraudulently, the 19 Wall. 468.

sense. That they were in act fraud- payees must necessarily have been Nor can the right of the payee does not represent a real person. limited or controlled by the fact that The rule can have no application to of the deputy in fraudulently issuing the appellant's position that the the certificates the county may have a county is estopped from saving that right of action against his principal, the payers named were fictitious and the clerk of the court; but it is not con- the indorsements forged. The wrongfined to that action; it is not obliged ful acts of the officers of a municipal to look to him alone. Unless it be corporation cannot create an estoppel upon the theory that as these certifi- against the corporation, the taxpayers. cates were issued without the rendi- or the people." ("iting Mayor v. Ray, ences is just as legitimate a mode of settlement as by action. Courts, indeed, are disposed to encourage settlements by arbitration. Zook v. Spray, 38 Iowa, 273. We may add that such settlements seem to be peculiarly appropriate where arbitrators, possessing more or less of an expert character, can be called into requisition. We presume that the intervenor could not deny that private corporations may submit to arbitration. But, in our opinion, the power may properly enough be exercised by public corporations also. It was held in Dix v. Town of Dummerston, 19 Vt. 262, that selectmen, having power to audit and allow claims, might submit to a reference. As having some bearing upon the same question, see, also, Inhabitants of Boston v. Brazer, 11 Mass. 447; Brady v. Mayor of Brooklyn, 1 Barb. 584."1

§ 236. Liability under special provisions of charter or statute. Where the charter of a corporation makes every director personally liable for the debts of the corporation during his administration to an amount not to exceed a fixed sum, an action in equity may be maintained by a creditor against the directors as it would prevent a multiplicity of suits, and the liability of all the parties interested could be determined in the one suit. In such case the corporation would not be a necessary party defendant when the suit is first brought, nor would it be necessary to make all the creditors parties plaintiff.2 And it

¹ District Township of Walnut v. their entire claims, while others less

Rankin, (1886) 70 Iowa, 65, 66, 67. prompt would not receive anything.

Bauer v. Platt, (1893) 72 Hun, 326; If the directors should find that the s. c., 25 N. Y. Supp. 426. PARKER, amount of their statutory liability J., speaking for the court said: "The would not equal the deficiency of the purpose of the provision [of the company to its creditors some or all charter] was not only to insure vigil- of them might arrange for a prefance on the part of the directors, but erence of creditors by answering, to further assure to the creditors of the or demurring in some cases, while company payment of their claims, suffering default in others. By such It has for its object the protection of methods, which even the vigilant all creditors, not a portion of them. prosecutor could not overcome, some That result might not be effectuated creditors might be paid in full while if each creditor should be compelled others would receive little or nothing. to resort to an action at law. The As the statute was intended for the liability of each director does not ex- benefit of all creditors, and all of ceed five thousand dollars. If then, them, as well as some of them, must each director should suffer judgment be presumed to have trusted in part to go against him by default, the to the protection assured them by its creditors first suing might recover provisions, it is no more than just would be of advantage to the directors to bring them all into court on the equity side, as they cannot be decreed to pay more individually than the liability named in the charter and assured by them when they became directors. Besides, such a suit is adapted for their protection in such cases from the possibility of vexatious litigation. If the amount due creditors equals or exceeds the aggregate of the statutory liability of the directors, the judgment decreeing that each make payment of the sum for which he is liable will relieve him from the annoyance and expense of further litigation; on the other hand, if it should prove to be less, the judgment will provide for a ratable payment, and, in addition to the other litigation which would otherwise be threatened, possibly an action for contribution may be avoided.1 The trustees, directors or managers of any society or corporation organized under the provisions of this New York statute,2 by a section of that statute are made "jointly and severally liable for all debts due from said society or corporation contracted while they are trustees, provided said debts are payable one year from the time they shall have been contracted, and provided a suit for the collection of the same shall be brought within one year after the debt shall become due and payable." In an action brought against a trustee of a club which was organized under this statute for the recovery of the amount of a promissory note of the club payable at four months from date, it was held by the Court of Common Pleas of the city of New York, in General Term, that a judgment against the corporation was not requisite; also that a judgment against one trustee upon his several liability would not discharge or affect the liability of another trustee.8 The Supreme Court of New York, in General Term, has sustained the constitutionality of this statute. And they have also held that the creditor under it seeking to charge the trustees need not exhaust his remedy against the corporation before suing the trustees, and in the fund which an enforcement of applicable and controlling in this case. the liability of the directors will produce." The court referred to Board (1893) 72 Hun, 326; s. c., 25 N. Y. of Supervisors v. Deyoc, 77 N. Y. 219; Supp. 426. Weeks v. Love, 50 N. Y. 568, which followed Bank of Poughkeepsie v. Ibbotson, 24 Wend. 478; and Garrison Rep. 77; s. c., 26 N. Y. Supp. 20. * Howe, 17 N. Y. 458; also to Pfohl that each creditor should share ratably r. Simpson, 74 N. Y. 137, as directly PARKER, J. in Bauer v. Platt.

²N. Y. Laws, 1875, chap. 267. ³ Strauss v. Trotter, (1893) 6 Misc.

the action may be maintained against any or all of the trustees.1 They also held that, to create a liability on the part of the trustees of this club (the action being upon promissory notes of the club). they must have been directors of the corporation at the time of the creation of the indebtedness, and that the fact that they were trustees of the club at the time of the giving of the notes, if they were given for a past indebtedness, was not sufficient to charge them with liability.2 A prior recovery of a judgment against a corporation is not essential to the maintenance of an action to enforce the personal liability of a director where, under the charter of the corporation, every director is made personally liable in an action at law for the corporate debts. And other creditors and directors need not be joined as parties in such actions.3 The Supreme Court of New York, in General Term, has held that the obtaining of a judgment against a corporation by a creditor, who at the same time was a stockholder and trustee, with the cooperation of the board of the associate trustees, the corporation being insolvent, was a violation of the statute of New York which prohibits the assigning or disposing of its property by any corporation's officers, for the payment of a debt, or from making any transfer in contemplation of insolvency; also that a sale of the property under such a judgment was void as to other judgment creditors.4 But should there not appear an intent to defraud creditors, except as derived from the statute, and this judgment creditor purchase the property at the sale under his judgment, and afterwards satisfy a given mortgage upon it, besides other outstanding indebtedness of the corporation, the lien of the other judgment creditors would be subject to such mortgage and indebtedness.⁵ A provision in a charter of a corporation that, "If the indebtedness of said company shall at any time exceed the capital stock paid in the directors assenting thereto shall be individually liable to the creditors for said excess," has been held by the Tennessee Supreme Court to impose an individual liability upon them for such specific debts only as were con-

^{258;} s. c., 29 N. Y. Supp. 410.

² Ibid.

Pl. N. Y. 1893) 2 Misc. Rep. 394; s. c., 21 N. Y. Supp. 948; Merritt v.

¹ Metzger v. Carr, (1894) 79 Hun, Goodrich, (Ct. Com. Pl 1893) 2 Misc. Rep. 578; 21 N. Y. Supp. 949.

⁴King v. Union Iron Co., (1891) 58 ² State Bank v. Andrews, (Ct. Com. Hun, 601; s. c., 11 N. Y. Supp. 608. 5 Ibid.

tracted with their assent in excess of the paid-up capital and remain unpaid after the corporate assets are exhausted.1

§ 237. Liability under provisions of charter - Pennsylvania.—The charter of a Pennsylvania corporation provided that if the directors failed to make an annual statement of the nature and character of the property of the association, or if they made a false statement, they should be liable for the debts of the corporation. The directors made no statement for three years. They then published a statement, in lumping items only, on the face of which the company was solvent. As a matter of fact the company was insolvent at the time, and two days afterwards a receiver was appointed. In an action against the directors, they filed an affidavit of defense in which they averred that they had made the statement with ordinary care and prudence, and in the belief that the association was solvent. This affidavit of defense was held by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania to be insufficient to prevent judgment, as the delay in making the statement and its defective character brought the directors within the personal liability clause of the charter.2 been waived: 1049.

616; s. c., 28 Atl. Rep. 233; 33 W. N. poration.' It represented the associa-C. 462. The court said: "It is quite tion as solvent, when in fact it was not clear that their belief that the corpora- able to pay more than ten per cent of tion was solvent was no excuse for its liabilities. It may be true that the their failure to make an earlier state- directors believed the corporation was ment, and that 'ordinary care and pru- solvent, and that the assets were as dence' in making it when they did valuable as represented, but it is very cannot relieve them from the liability evident that their belief was not warincurred by their delay. They were ranted by the facts nor consistent with chargeable with knowledge of the con- the knowledge of its affairs which the dition of the association, and they law imputes to them." ought to have made a true and intelli-

¹ Allison r. Coal Company, (1888) 3 gible statement of it in conformity Pickie, (Tenn.) 60; s. c., 9 S. W. with the act of assembly. It was a Rep. 226. A case illustrating the cir- duty the association owed to the pubcumstances under which a by-law of a lic, and the default of their predecescorporation making the director liable sors should have hastened their perfor creating an indebtedness exceed formance of it. But they neglected to ing the amount of the subscribed make any statement for three months, capital stock would be held to have and until the association was about to Underhill v. Santa pass into the hands of a receiver, and Barbara Land, Building & Imp. Co., when they did make one it was defec-(1891) 93 Cal. 300; s. c., 23 Pac. Rep. tive. It did not set forth with reasonable particularity the 'nature and ² Githers v. Clarke, (1893) 158 Pa. St. character of the property of the cor-

§ 238. Statutory liability — California statutes.—To make directors of a corporation personally liable under the provision of the Civil Code of California that "the directors of corporations create debts beyond the subscribed capital stock "," and then affixes a liability upon them for its violation to the full amount of the debt contracted, it must appear that the corporation must have been indebted at the same time in an aggregate amount exceeding the amount of the capital stock. This statute has been held a penal one and subject to a strict construction against the liability. Under that construction the prohibited debts have been held to be ordinary subsisting debts in excess of the capital stock, and not the aggregate of the debts of the company created during its entire corporate existence. prohibition applies to debts in excess of all the subscribed capital stock, whether it has all been paid in or only part of it, and regardless of the disposition which may have been made of it. A purchase of mines for the full amount of the capital stock, to be paid for in the stock of the corporation, a portion of which only is paid in, does not make all debts thereafter created in excess of the subscribed capital stock. The subscribed capital stock of a corporation is the fund upon which the transactions of the corporation are to be made, and is a guaranty to creditors that all obligations to that amount will be met; but it cannot be considered as a debt of the corporation, whether paid in or not, in estimating the amount of indebtedness beyond which the directors of the corporation may make themselves personally liable. Debts to be thus considered are only those created by voluntary act of the directors. The directors of a mining corporation are not rendered liable for the penalty imposed by the statute of California requiring the directors of such corporations, on the first Monday of each and every month, to post in the office of the corporation a verified balance sheet for the previous month, and providing that upon their failure so to do they shall be liable in an action by any stockholder in the penal sum of $1,000 for each failure to comply with its requirements. It would seem that under the provisions of the statute the stockholder or stockholders might, at their election, proceed against the directors for a single delinquency, or might forhear to do so until more than one dereliction of duty on the part of their trustees had occurred, but in neither event could more than one penalty be recovered. The statute of California requiring the directors and officers of mining corporations to make and post an account or balance sheet on the first Monday of each month has been held to be mandatory, and the officers and directors of such corporations must be presumed to know at all times the condition of the business and property under their control, and in the absence of a showing of impossibility to have made and posted the account as required, they cannot avail themselves of any presumption that their duty has been performed. Nor can they relieve themselves from liability to a stockholder for liquidated damages under the statute by showing that the account was posted after the time required by law and the day before the commencement of the action.2

¹ Moore v. Lent, (1889) 81 Cal. 502; s. c., 22 Pac. Rep. 875.

§ 230. Statutory liability - Colorado statutes. - The directors of a corporation, coming into office after an indebtedness has been created against it, and after the previous board's default in failing to file, as required by the statutes of Colorado, a report showing the amount of the corporate indebtedness, will not be held liable under the general statute which provides "that all the directors or trustees of the company shall be jointly and severally liable for all the debts of the company that shall be contracted during the year next preceding the time when such report should have been made and filed, and until such report shall A complaint against directors of a corporation to enforce their liability under the statutes of Colorado which makes directors and trustees of corporations "liable for all the debts of the company that shall be contracted during the year next preceding the time when such report should by this section have been made and filed and until such report shall be made," referring to the annual report of the amount of its capital and the proportion actually paid in, etc., must aver the contract of indebtedness, the default of the corporation and the directorship of the defendants, and as of such dates to show the liability of the defendants under the statute.4

¹ Loveland v. Garner, (1887) 71 Cal. ton v. Otis, 21 N. Y. 261; Quarry Co. 541; s. c., 12 Pac, Rep. 616.

^{*} Schenck v. Bandmann, (1889) 81 Cal. 281; s. c., 22 Pac. Rep. 654.

s. c., 22 Pac. Rep. 488; citing Bough- rado statutes imposing liability upon

v. Bliss, 27 N. Y. 299.

⁴ Anfenger v. Anzeiger Pub. Co., (1866) 9 Colo. 377; s c., 12 Pac. Rep. ⁸ Austin v. Berlin, (1889) 13 Colo. 198; 400. As to construction of the Colo

§ 240. Statutory liability — Iowa statutes.— It must appear, in order to render officers of a corporation liable under the statutes of Iowa for diversion of funds or paying dividends so as to leave insufficient funds to meet liabilities, that the entire property of the corporation is not sufficient to pay its indebtedness.1 The word "liability" in this statute means existing indebtedness, the payment of which can be enforced. It does not include corporate liability for payments of capital stock, the liability being remote and contingent.2 There being sufficient assets in the possession of a corporation to pay all its debts at the time a dividend is declared, the payment of a dividend will not be held illegal on a diversion of funds to objects other than those authorized.3 The statutory provision in Iowa that intentional fraud in failing to comply substantially with the articles of incorporation, or in deceiving the public, that any person who has sustained in jury from such fraud may recover damages against those guilty of participating in the fraudulent act, only applies to officers or others guilty of intentional fraud. Hence, in an action to recover from individual officers of a corporation the amount of a judgment against the corporation on the ground that such officers, have rendered themselves liable by fraud, they will be relieved from liability by a proof of the absence of intentional fraud and diversion of assets to their own use.4 In an action for damages under this statute, the particular respect in which there was a failure to comply with the articles of incorporation resulting in damages to the complainant, or the particular act of deception, must be specified.5 Under the statute of Iowa making the directors of a railroad company receiving taxes in aid thereof liable to any of its stockholders in double the amount of the par value of his stock in the event of their voting to bond or mortgage the road to exceed certain fixed amounts per mile, the Supreme Court of Iowa held that no liability on the part of the directors arose where such an incumbrance was voted prior to the voting of the tax, and the mortgage was executed and recorded before the tax in aid of the railroad was collected and paid to the company.6 officers of corporations for failure to make certain annual reports, and for signing a false report knowing it to be false, see Matthews v. Patterson, (1891) 16 Colo 215, s. c., 26 Pac. Rep. 812. ¹ Miller v. Bradish, 69 Iowa, 278. Iowa, 388.

- 2 Ibid. 8 Ibid.
- 4 Hoffman v. Dickey, 54 Iowa, 135. ⁵ White v. Hosford, 37 lowa, 566.
- 6 Walker v. Birchard, (1891) 82

§ 241. Statutory liability — Massachusetts statutes.— The statute of Massachusetts makes the officers of a corporation jointly and severally liable for the debts of the corporation in case there are false statements in the certificate of the condition of the corporation which they are required by law to make at certain stated times.1 A tax is a debt within the meaning of that statute.2 The directors and officers signing a certificate of the condition of the corporation, knowing it to be false, are liable for the debts of the corporation then existing, as well as for debts incurred thereafter. But under this Massachusetts statute directors cannot be made liable for the debts of a corporation, unless the certificate required by law be willfully false.4 Debts due from a corporation to one of the directors are debts within the meaning of the Massachusetts statute making the president and directors of a corporation liable to the extent of the excess of its debts over its capital.5 On a bill brought to enforce this liability by a judgment creditor, the plaintiffs may prove, not only their judgment debt, but a further sum due them on simple contract." Where the debts of the corporation exceed the capital a director of the corporation, who is also a creditor, cannot share with other creditors, who are not directors, in the amount which he, or he

148 Mass. 226, s c., 19 N. E Rep. out

It was said by the court "And no doubt one important reason, but is general in its terms, and properhaps the principal reason, for the vides that the officers who knowingly statutory provisions is to enable per- make the false certificate 'shall be sons who may have occasion to deal jointly and severally liable for its debts with corporations to ascertain their and contracts.' Pub St. Mass , chap. condition, and their title to credit, so 106, § 60. The construction of this that a person whose debt already language includes existing debts and exists at the time of the filing of the contracts, and we find nothing elsefalse statements contained therein, been misled into giving credit to the corporation, and may not in any way be injured thereby. But in imposing the penalty of liability for its debts and contracts, the statute is not limited to such debts and contracts as were created in favor of norsons who

1 Pub St. Mass chap 106, $$ 54, had examined and been misled by the false certificate, as it should be if the · Felker v. Standard Yarn Co., (1889) idea of the defendant were followed It is not even limited to debts and contracts which come into existance after the filing of the certificate, certificate certainly has not, by any where sufficient to show that the legislature meant otherwise" and other directors, may be compelled to pay towards the debts of the corporation in consequence of such excess under this statute.1 The statute of Massachusetts making officers of corporations jointly and severally liable for the debts thereof, when they exceed the capital, "to the extent of such excess existing at the time of the commencement of the suit against the corporation upon the judgment in which the suit in equity to enforce such liability is brought," has had the consideration of the federal court for the district of Vermont, and the court construed the statute and held the liability under it, before suit brought to fix it, not to be a debt, nor any fixed obligation to pay, but only that from which, by the prescribed course, an obligation to pay might be raised.2

⁴ Felker n. Standard Yarn Co., (1889) 150 Mass. 264, s. c., 22 N. E. Rep.

Thacher r. King, (1892) 156 Mass. 490; s. c., 31 N. E. Rep. 648.

6 Ibid.

§ 242. Statutory liability — Minnesota statutes.— There is a statute in Minnesota to this effect: "If any corporation organized and established under the authority of this act shall violate any of its provisions, and shall thereby become insolvent, the directors ordering or assenting to such violation, shall be jointly and severally liable in an action founded on this statute for all debts contracted after such violation as aforesaid."8 Supreme Court of Minnesota held that the ultra vires acts of the directors of the corporation in the case before them in executing accommodation paper in the name of the corporation, and in lending the funds of the corporation to others, constituted a only as created, and can be enforced v. Sprague, 48 Vt. 502." only as provided by such statutes 8 Laws Minn. 1873, chap. 11, § 23 ¹ Ibid.; citing Potter v. Stevens purpose. Pollard v. Bailey, 20 Wall. Machine Co., 127 Mass. 592, Thayer 520, Fourth National Bank v Franckv. Union Tool Co., 4 Gray, 75, 79, lyn, 120 U. S. 747; s c., 7 Sup. Ct. Merchants' Bank v. Stevenson, 10 Rep. 757. Such a liability under a Gray, 232, Cambridge Water Works statute like this, before suit brought v. Somerville Dyeing & Bleaching Co, to fix it, is not a debt, nor any fixed 4 Allen, 239, Merchants' Bank v obligation to pay, but is only that Stevenson, 5 Allen, 398, 401, 402, and from which, by the prescribed course, 7 Allen, 489; First National Bank v. an obligation to pay may be raised. Hingham Manufg. Co., 127 Mass. 563. Ripley v. Sampson, 10 Pick. 371, ² Knower v. Haines, (1887) 31 Fed. Bangs v. Lincoln, 10 Gray, 600 This Rep. 513. WHEFLER, J., said: "No is different from cases where the law liability of officers or stockholders of a raises the liability from the acts of the corporation exists at common law, but officers or stockholders and leaves it only by statutes of the sovereignty to be enforced by the appropriate creating it. When so created, it exists remedy. Windham Provident Inst.

when they make provision for that (Gen. Sts. Minn. 1878, chap. 34, § 142.)

violation of the statute "by the corporation" within its meaning. As to the "assent" required to make a director liable, they held that to constitute "assent" there must be something more than mere negligence on the part of a director in not knowing what, in the exercise of proper care, he ought to have known. must be some willful or intentional violation of duty - assenting to it, knowing that the act is being or about to be done. But if, with such knowledge, he neither objects to nor opposes it when his duty requires, and when he has the opportunity of doing so, this would be "assent." Further, if a series of acts or a continuous course of conduct on the part of the directors, in violation of the statute, finally producing the insolvency of the corporation, is begun before the debt of a creditor is contracted, the debt is one contracted "after such violation," although the series of acts or course of conduct is not completed or the insolvency of the corporation consummated until afterwards.¹ These rules were declared as to actions to enforce this liability under the statute. to wit: A creditor of the corporation may sue one or more of the directors to enforce the liability without joining all the creditors to whom they are liable, or all the directors subject to the liability. His right of action is neither taken away nor suspended by the fact that the affairs of the corporation may have been placed in the hands of a receiver. Nor is it necessary that the creditor sue the corporation and obtain judgment against it before suing the directors. The corporation, if necessary, may be joined as co-defendant with the directors, and the creditor may establish his claim against the corporation in the same action.2

§ 243. Statutory liability — Missouri statutes.— The Supreme Court of Missouri has held that under the statute of that state making directors of corporations, where they have allowed the debts of the corporation to exceed the amount of capital stock paid in, jointly and severally liable to the extent of such excess for all debts of the corporation then existing, and for

Minn. 84; s. c., 42 N. W. Rep. 926. the following cases which are of differ- Fischer, 30 Minn. 173; s. c., 14 N. W. ent kinds to enforce liability of stock- Rep. 799; Bassett v. St. Albans Hotel holders and officers: Dodge v. Min- Co., 47 Vt. 818; Hornor v. Henning. nesota Plastic Slate Roofing Co., 16 93 U. S. 228. Minn. 368; Merchants' National Bank

¹ Patterson v. Stewart, (1889) 41 v. Bailey Manufacturing Co., 34 Minn. 223; s. c., 25 N. W. Rep. 639; Allen v. ⁹ Ibid. The court commented upon Walsh, 25 Minn 543; Johnson v.

all that should be contracted so long as they continued in office, etc., were liable in an action to recover a debt contracted under such circumstances, notwithstanding one of the firm owning the debt was a stockholder in the corporation. The debts for which directors of a corporation will be held liable under this Missouri statute are the debts voluntarily incurred by the directors.² A judgment against a corporation for damages for a loss of a steamboat, for instance, through the negligence of the agents and servants of the corporation would not be one of the debts contemplated by the statute.3

§ 244. Statute or New York — liability for failure to file annual report.—Under the statutes of New York, making the directors of certain corporations liable for the debts of the corporation in case they fail to file with the secretary of state the

The court distinguished Kritzer r. ties as really held debts against the holder in a corporate company sued imposed upon him, could not make the directors to recover back an amount himself the creditor of the corporawhich he had been compelled to pay tion. His claim was in no sense a law made him liable to the extent of it was not covered by the provisions of double the amount of stock in the a statute made for a different purpose company. Its entire assets having altogether. This [claim in suit here] been exhausted, he was compelled to seems to have been a debt contracted that suit upon the ground that the defendants cannot be affected by the bers, an action could be maintained alike." against them. Such liability, however, exists independent of this statute. ing Cable v. McCune, 26 Mo. 371. It is clear that the point decided in Cable v. Gaty, 34 Mo. 573, affirm-

¹ Anderson r Blattau, 43 Mo. 42, tended for the protection of such par-Woodson, 19 Mo. 327, in these words: company. The stockholder, by dis-"That was a case where a stock- charging an obligation which the law to the creditors of the company. The debt due by the company, and hence pay the creditor of the company the by the company in the prosecution of amount which he sought to recover in its business, and the liability of the debts of the corporation had been fact that one of the plaintiffs was a suffered to accumulate to an amount stockholder. Certainly the interests of in excess of the capital stock actually his copartner ought not to suffer on paid in. But the court said this account of his relation to the corporastatute was given for the protection of tion. The objection differs in no creditors and not the individual mem- essential particular from any other bers of the company. It is true that incurred by the company; and if it for any improper management of the was due and owing to the stockholder affairs of the company, by which a alone, we can see no good reason for liability might be incurred on the part depriving him of the protection inof the directors to the individual mem- tended to be given to all creditors that case was that the statute was in- ing Cable v. McCune, 26 Mo. 371.

² Cable v. Gaty, 34 Mo. 573, affirm-

390

annual report required as to the amount of its capital stock and the proportion actually paid in, the amount, and, in general terms, the nature of its existing assets and debts, and the names of its then stockholders, and the dividends, if any, declared since the last report,1 the directors become liable for all the debts of the corporation during the term of directorship if they fail to make and file the report. So long as the default lasts, the other essentials existing, there is no distinction between directors in office at the time of default and those subsequently elected. An incoming director, having the power to protect himself from liability by filing a report, his failure to do so imposes a liability for debts contracted during his term.2 Where there is proof in such a case that there was a corporation which assumed to act and carry on business, having a general manager, directors and by-laws, the directors against whom the action is brought cannot defend on the ground that there was no legally organized corporation.8 Operating as a penalty, a recovery cannot be had of the trustees for failure to file a report under such statutes, in case the statute be repealed, expressly or by implication, before the trial of the case.4 Creditors residing in other states than New York have the same rights as resident creditors to enforce the liability of the trustees for failing to make the required annual report under this statute.⁵ In a case where the number of trustees of a manufacturing corporation organized under the laws of New York had been practically reduced to nine from twelve, and the annual report required to be filed had been signed by six of the trustees. it was claimed that the trustees had become liable for the debts of the corporation as a penalty for not filing the report, inasmuch as the report filed had not been signed by a majority of twelve trustees. The New York Court of Appeals held that the law had ¹ Laws N. Y. 1875, chap 611, § 18. 202; Cumeron v. Scaman, 69 N. Y. 396, note. 402; Boughton v. Otis, 21 N. Y. 261; Chandler v. Hoag, 2 Hun, 613; affirmed Risher, (1888) 50 Hun, 147. in 63 N. Y. 624.

^{*}Buck v. Barker, (Buffalo Super. 101. Ct. Spl. Term, 1887) 5 N. Y. St. Repr.

^{826,} citing Buffalo & Allegany Rail-² Buck r. Barker, (Buffalo Super. road v. Cary, 26 N. Y. 75, Aspinwall Ct. Spl. Term, 1887) 5 N. Y. St. Repr. v. Sacchi, 57 N. Y. 331-338; Meriden 826; citing Jones v. Barlow, 62 N. Y. Tool Co. v. Morgan, 1 Abb. N. C. 125, ⁴ Victory Webb Printing Co. v. Garrison v. Howe, 17 N. Y. 464, 465; Beecher, (1881) 26 Hun, 48; affirmed Quarry Co. v. Bliss, 27 N. Y. 297-800; in 97 N. Y 651, followed in Carr v.

⁵ Sears v. Waters, (1887) 44 Hun, been complied with in filing this report; that the proceedings of the board, in the matter of reducing the number of members, concurred in by all having an interest in the corporation, effected a practical reduction, and constituted the nine thereafter elected a de jure as well as a de facto board. Further, that it seemed that the question of the legality of the change in the constituency of the board could only be raised in a direct proceeding by one whose interests were affected. And the trustees as constituted having complied with the letter and spirit of the law, in filing the report, it was not competent in this action against them to enforce a liability for non-compliance with the statute for plaintiff to show that some of the acting trustees were not elected or for some reason were disqualified from acting, or to claim that, by reason of a non-performance or an irregularity in the performance of some prior duty enjoined upon the stockholders, the board as constituted had no authority to perform the general duties required of them as agents of the corporation. In a case before the New York Court of Appeals it appeared that an annual report was properly made out and signed by the trustees of the corporation in the time required by the statute, but by inadvertence or mistake of the secretary was not filed in time. Within a month afterwards there was an application made to the Supreme Court for leave to file it and an order of the court that it be filed nunc pro tune. The Court of Appeals held that this order of the court did not of itself relieve the trustees sued from liability; that the duty to file the report was imposed by statute upon the corporation, and over it the court had no jurisdiction. The application was an act by the trustees in supposed furtherance of their duty and was an indication of good faith in respect to the proper disposition of the report, being an effort to do that which the corporation had not done.2 Under the construction of this section of the statute, in Cameron v. Seaman, where it was held that the limitation of twenty days applied only to the act of making, and did not apply to the act of filing or publishing; that, as to those acts, the section was directory, but as the object of the act was to insure a speedy and public disclosure of the contents of the report, it was said that the law, in the absence of an express pro-

Wallace & Sons v. Walsh, (1890)
 Butler v. Smalley, (1886) 101 N. Y.
 N. Y. 26; s. c., 25 N. E. Rep. 71.
 69 N. Y. 396.

vision on the subject, implies that both filing and publication should be within a reasonable time after the twenty days, and that this requirement exacted prompt performance and diligent action on the part of the trustees, the Court of Appeals held that in this case the referee erred in refusing to find that whether the filing of the report was within a reasonable time after the expiration of the twenty days would depend upon the circumstances; also, that he erred in finding that there was neither prompt performance nor diligent action on the part of the company with respect to the filing of the report. Where the certificate of incorporation was signed by seven trustees and acknowledged by nine, the provision of the statute which requires an annual report to absolve the trustees from personal liability for the debts of the corporation to be signed by a majority of the trustees would not be satisfied by an annual report signed by two trustees, where it is not shown by an official record that neither one of the trustees had resigned." A manufacturing corporation which has never commenced business, and where, before the time prescribed for making the report required under the statute has elapsed, the object for which the corporation was formed becomes impossible of accomplishment by it, and it is neither able nor intends at any time to prosecute

¹ Butler r. Smalley, (1886), 101 N. Y. 71, rovg. 49 N. Y Super Ct. 492. How. Pr. 204. In Whitney r. Cam-DANFORTH, J., said: "To prepare a mann, (1892) 60 N. Y. Super. Ct. 391; report for filing and publication, to s. c , 18 N. Y. Supp. 200; affirmed place it in good faith in the hands of in Whitney v. Cammann, (1893) 137 N. the secretary for deposit in the clerk's Y. 342; s. c., 33 N. E. Rep. 305, the office and in the office of a newspaper, court referred to Cameron v. Seaman, is at least equal in significance to a 69 N. Y. 396, and Butler r. Smalley, delivery of a report to a mail agent 101 N. Y. 72, s. c., 4 N. E. Rep. 104, for transmission to those places. In and held that while these cases held the one case as in the other the com- that substantial instead of literal company avails itself of the usual methods pliance with the requirement as to the of performing its duty, and in the ab-filing of the annual report, as where sence of anything to show the want of the report was filed within a few days specithereto on its part, a trustee, when ure to comply with the statute for a reasonable time, having regard to the statute. nature and circumstances of the performance."

² Westerfield v. Radde, (1884) 67 good faith and active diligence in re- after the prescribed time, yet the failno time is fixed by statute within which year clearly brought the trustees in an act shall be performed, should not this case within the mischief of the be subjected to a penalty, provided the statute and subjected them personthing required is actually done at a ally to the liability imposed by the

its business, is not required to make such a report, and no liability under the statute attaches to the trustees for failure to make it.1 The statutes of New York making the trustees of manufacturing corporations liable for the debt of the corporation for failure to tile an annual report, it has been held that the liability does not depend upon the fact that defendant was a trustee when the debt was incurred, but upon his having been a trustee when the default in filing the report occurred. So where one may have resigned after the incurring of the debt, but before the default complained of, he would not be held liable.2 A report made by the trustees of a manufacturing corporation, as required by the statute, stating the amount of the capital, and that all of it had "been paid in in eash, patent rights, merchandise, machinery accounts, etc., necessary to the business and for which stock to the amount of the value thereof has been issued by the company," has been held by the Court of Appeals to be a sufficient compliance with the requirement of the act; further, that it is not necessary, in the annual report required to be filed by the trustees under this statute, to specify therein how much of the capital stock was paid in in cash and what amount in property.8

§ 245. Actions to enforce this liability.— Under this statute the action may be brought against such of the trustees as the plaintiff may select; and if there are three or more such trustees, for instance, and the action be brought against two, the nonjoinder of the others would not constitute a defense. In case a defendant in such an action be a trustee whose election is not legally valid, where, as matter of fact, he was in form elected a trustee by those who had the right to elect one, if there was a vacancy to be filled, and thereafter acted as trustee, and while acting as such there was a failure to make and file the report required by the statute, the court held him liable on any such default between the time of his election and his resignation; also

¹ Kirkland v. Kille, (1885) 99 N. Y. 390.

^{379.} As to this statute being a penal Bonnell v. Griswold, 80 N. Y. 128, statute, see Merchants' Bank v. Bliss, 35 135; Brackett v. Griswold, 108 N. Y. N. Y. 412; Garrison v. Howe, 17 N. Y. 458; Adams r. Mills, 60 N. Y. 536, 553; McHarg v. Eastman, 35 How. Pr. Super. (t. 169; s. c., 1 How. Pr. (N.S.) 205; s. c., 7 Robt. 137.

³ Whitaker r. Masterton, (1887) 106 N. Y. 277, holding the action against ² Bruce r. Platt, (1880) 80 N. Y. the trustees not maintainable. Citing that he was not exempted from liability by reason of his not being a stockholder.1 In an action under this statute brought against several trustees to enforce their liability for failure to make the annual report as required for a debt of the corporation. where there is a failure to serve one or more of the defendants the case may proceed against those served, as the action is upon a joint and several liability and for a penalty, and not upon the contract.2 This statute is penal, and not to be extended by construction. In an action to enforce a liability created by it, nothing can be presumed against the trustees sought to be charged, but every fact necessary to establish their liability must be affirmatively proved.8 The failure to file a report making the trustees jointly and severally liable for all the debts of the corporation, the fact that the corporation may be indebted to a trustee would not be a defense to the action.4 In an action against the trustees of a corporation to charge them with an indebtedness of the corporation, and on the trial there be proved the original indebtedness, and that it had been reduced to judgment, and the execution upon the judgment returned unsatisfied, the trustees would not be concluded in any respect by the judgment against the corporation, they being neither parties nor privies to the action, and should be allowed to prove any defense arising subsequent to the accruing of the debt.5

⁴ Halstead r Dodge, (1884) 51 N. Y. 170; citing Strong v. Sproul, 4 Daly,

175.

1 Ibid.

² Geisenheimer v. Dodge, (1884) 1 Rep. 257. How. Pr. (N. S.) 264.

⁸Bruce v. Platt, (1880) 80 N. Y. 381; N. Y. Super Ct. 404. See, also, Miller v. White, 50 N. Y 137; Whitney Rorke v. Thomas, 56 N. Y. 565; Jones to not being necessary to obtain a ingopinion of Daniels, J., in Tyng judgment against the corporation be- v. Clarke, 9 Hun, 274; Esmond v. Bul-Easton, (1898) 74 Hun, 329; s. c., 26 404; Whitney Arms Co. v. Barlow, 63 actions against trustees for failing to corporation prior to suit to enforce file annual report under the New York personal liability of directors not being Schwind, (N. Y. Sup. Ct. Spl. Term, Pl. N. Y., 1894) 6 Misc. Rep. 77; s. c., 1898) 5 Misc. Rep. 205; Straus v. Sage, 26 N. Y. Supp. 20.

326; Quigley v. Walter, 2 Sweeny, (N. Y. Com. Pl. Spl. Term, 1893) 5 Misc. Rep. 255; Smith r. Sage, (N. Y. Super. Ct. Spl. Term, 1893) 5 Misc.

⁴Morey v. Ford, (1884) 32 Hun. 446. ⁵ Kraft v. Coykendall, (1884) 34 Hun. followed in Tovey v. Culver, (1887) 54 285, citing Miller v. White, 50 N. Y. 137; Stephens v. Fox, 83 N. Y. 317; Arms Co. v. Barlow, 63 N. Y. 62. As v. Barlow, 62 N. Y. 202-205. Dissentfore action against trustee, see Green r. lard, 16 Hun, 67; affirmed in 79 N. Y. N. Y. Supp. 558. As to pleading in N. Y. 62. As to judgment against statute, see Wilson Manufacturing Co. necessary, see Strauss v. Trotter, (Com.

§ 246. What are and what are not "debts" for which liability under this statute may arise.— An unliquidated claim, arising out of a breach of contract of employment at the time of the failure of a manufacturing corporation to file the annual report required by the New York statute, is a debt within the meaning of the statute imposing a personal liability upon the trustees for all "debts" of a corporation which fails to file an annual report. And in such an action, upon such a claim, the recovery of the holder of the claim will be limited to the amount of damages he may have recovered from the corporation.2 The holder of bonds issued by a manufacturing corporation, having knowledge that such bonds were diverted from the purpose for which they were intended and authorized, cannot enforce the liability of trustees for the amount of his bonds as a "debt" within the meaning of this statute. A judgment for costs, recovered against the corporation in an action for trespass brought by it, is such a "debt" within the meaning of the statute as the trustees of the corporation will be liable for in case they fail to file the required report.4 It seems, however, that in such a case it would be open to the trustees sued to show that the recovery of 21 Pick. 417, 454, 455.

s. c., 26 N. Y. Supp. 553.

revg. 43 Hun, 377. EARL, J., said: check upon extravagance and misman-"This judgment clearly was one of agement of its affairs by its trustees, the debts which the company was by constantly keeping before them the bound to include among its 'existing reminder that at least once a year the debts' in the report which it was re- affairs of the company are to be exreport to state the amount of all of its readily obtained by assessors for the is the clear meaning of the section that lic officials who might have occasion to if such report be not made the trustees supervise the conduct of the corporawhich the company was thus bound purpose whatever; and, therefore, to the costs in the action was either collusive or fraudulent. The debt created by the judgment would be proven by the production of the judgment, which would be at least prima facie evidence of its existence.1 There was a contention in this case before the New York Court of Appeals that the words in the clause of the statute. "and for all that shall be contracted for before such report shall be made," limited the meaning of the words, "debts of the company then existing," in the clause preceding it, to such debts of a corporation as are voluntarily contracted. The court held adversely to this contention, and said: "The word 'contracted' here means the same as 'incurred,' and includes every debt for which the corporation becomes bound. There is no apparent reason for any discrimination as to the kind of debts, and we do not think any was intended."2 Causes of action for breaches of contract, and causes incidentally arising or resulting from such breaches on the part of the corporation, are not "debts" within the meaning of those statutes making trustees liable for debts of corporations for not filing the required annual report.3 Where a trustee of a corporation owes a debt against it, and assigns it to another absolutely for value, the assignce of such debt, on a default in making and filing a report under the New York statute, subsequently occurring, may proceed against the trustees to recover the debt on their statutory personal liability, notwithstanding the assignor of the debt to him may have continued to be a trustee up to the time of the default.4 Where the existence of a corporation, by the terms of its certificate, ends, and there is not at that time a debt in favor of another against it, there can be no liability of directors for not filing an annual report, as required, specified to make the report."

¹ Green v. Easton, (1893) 74 Hun, 329; to report. It may be inferred that it s. c., 26 N. Y. Supp. 553; citing New was the purpose of the lawmakers to Jersey Ins. Co. v. Meeker, 37 N. J. require this report to be made, pub-Law, 300, 301; Frazer v. Tunis, 1 Bin. lished and filed for the information, 254-262; Mill Dam Foundry v. Hovey, benefit and protection of existing creditors of the company not only, but ² Green v. Easton, (1893) 74 Hun, 829; of all persons who might thereafter enter into contract relations with it. It 3 Kirkland v. Kille, (1885) 99 N. Y. may also have been the purpose of the lawmakers to require the report from ⁴ Allen v. Clark, (1888) 108 N. Y. 269, every manufacturing corporation as a quired to make, file and publish within posed to the public view. It may also twenty days after the 1st day of Janu- be supposed that the reports were reary, 1886. The section requires the quired so that information might be existing debts of every nature, and it purpose of taxation, and by other pubshall be personally liable for all debts tion, or to proceed against it for any

¹ Allen v. Clark, (1888) 108 N. Y. pendently of the judgment." 269. The court distinguished Miller v. White, 50 N. Y. 137, where the judg- 269, 275. ment was upon a debt antecedently exnor mima facie evidence of the debt, Arms Co. v. Barlow, 68 N. Y. 34. and that it was the duty of the plaintiff to prove and establish his debt in- 373.

make sure of the accomplishment of dependently of the judgment, by saythese important purposes, the trustees ing: "The reason upon which that are made personally liable for all the decision is based can have no applicadebts of the company, in case of the tion to a case like this, where there was failure of the company within the time no liability on the part of the company to pay the costs antecedently or inde-

² Allen v. Clark, (1888) 108 N. Y.

² Victory Webb Printing Co. r. isting, in which case it was held that Beecher, (1881) 26 Hun, 48; citing Ovithe judgment was neither conclusive att v. Hughes, 41 Barb. 541; Whitney for what may, at a later date, by the terms of the contract with the corporation, become a debt under that contract.1 Under the provision of the statute of New York that, for failure to file the annual report of the capital and indebtedness of any corporation, as therein prescribed, the trustees snall be liable for all debts of the corporation then existing, or contracted before such report he filed, the trustees cannot be subjected for an alleged liability of the corporation accruing on an accommodation indorsement, which the corporation, under its charter, had no authority to make and was not bound by.2 Trustees of a corporation, organized for manufacturing purposes under the statutes of New York, cannot be subjected to an alleged liability of the corporation accruing on an accommodation indorsement which, under its charter, it had no authority to make, and which, consequently, did not bind it.3 Where the annual report required to be filed under the New York statute before January twentieth has been filed before the maturing of a note which has been indersed by a corporation for the accommodation of the maker, there will be no liability of the trustees growing out of the accommodation indorsement for the failure to file the report. This being a conditional liability, it was never incurred, and created no liability before it matured.4 contract obligation to pay a singer employed for a specified time by the corporation at a specified salary, is a "debt" of the corporation from the time the contract goes into effect, within the meaning of this statute, for which a director may become liable.5

⁴Cornell v. Roach, (1886) 101 N. Y.

§ 247. A United States Supreme Court decision on this subject.— There was an attempt in an action which came before the Supreme Court of the United States to recover of the trustees of a corporation the amount of a judgment against the corporation under the provisions of the statute of the state of New York,

¹ Gold r. Clyne, (1890) 58 Hun, 419; c., 12 N. Y. Supp. 531; affirmed in (1890) 43 Fed. Rep. 226. Gold v. Clyne, (1892) 134 N. Y. 262; s. c., 31 N. E. Rep. 980. For another ildebt under which the trustees could 746. not be held liable, see Sherman v. Slayback, (1890) 58 Hun, 255; s. c., 12 N. Supp. 807. Y. Supp. 201. Also, Chapman v. Comstock, (1890) 58 Hun, 325; s. c., 11 N. Y. Supp. 920.

² National Park Bank v. Remsen,

³ Ibid.

⁴ Witherow v. Slayback, (1895) 11 lustration of circumstances as to the Misc. Rep. 526; s. c., 32 N. Y. Supp.

^b Brandt v. Godwin, (1889) 3 N. Y.

whereby trustees of corporations formed for manufacturing, mining, mechanical or chemical purposes are made liable for debts of the corporation on failure to file the reports of capital and of debts required by that section of the statute. The Supreme Court held that the provision of the statute under which the liability of the trustees, it was claimed, existed on account of a failure to file such a report, was penal in its character, and that it must be construed with strictness as against those sought to be subjected to its liabilities; and, upon this rule of construction, the judgment roll was not competent evidence to establish a debt due from the corporation to the plaintiff; further, it was held that a claim in tort against a corporation found under that statute, as amended, was not a debt of the corporation for which the trustees might become liable under the provisions of the statute above stated.1

1 Chase r. Curtis, (1885) 113 U.S. 452; against the defendants, but that every s. c., 5 Sup. Ct. Rep. 554. Mr. Jus- fact necessary to establish their liatice Matthews, in the opinion, speak-bility must be affirmatively proved." ing for the court, said: "It is the Citing Garrison r. Howe, 17 N. Y. 458; well-settled rule of decision, estab- Miller v. White, 50 N. Y. 137; Whitlished by the Court of Appeals of New ney Arms Co. v. Barlow, 63 N. Y. 62. York in numerous cases, that this sec- This rule of construction in reference tion of the statute, to enforce which to this and similar statutory provisions the present action was brought, is penal has been heretofore adopted and apin its character and must be construed plied by this court. Steam Engine with strictness as against those sought Co. v. Hubbard, 101 U.S. 188; Flash to be subjected to its liabilities." Mer- v. Conn, 100 U. S. 371. In the case chants' Bank v. Bliss, 25 N. Y. 412; last mentioned, this court, following Wiles v. Suydam, 64 N. Y. 173; East- the Court of Appeals of New York in erly r. Barber, 65 N. Y. 252; Knox r. the case of Wiles r. Suydam, 64 N. Y. Baldwin, 80 N. Y. 610; Vccder v. Ba- 173, showed the distinction between the ker, 83 N. Y. 156; Pier v. George, 86 liability of stockholders for the debts N. Y. 613; Stokes v. Stickney, 96 N. of the corporation, under a section of Y. 323. In the case last cited the ac- the same act, making them severally tion authorized by it was held to be individually liable for the debts and ex delicto, and that it did not survive contracts of the company to an amount as against the personal representative equal to the amount of stock held by of a trustee sought to be charged. In them respectively, until the whole Bruce v. Platt, 80 N. Y. 379, it was amount of the capital stock fixed and said: "It is settled by repeated decis- limited by the company had been paid ions applicable to this case that the in, and the liability imposed upon the statute in question (Laws N. Y. 1848, trustees by the section now under dischap. 40, § 12) is penul and not to be cussion. It was held that the former extended by construction; that in an was a liability ex contractu, enforceable action to enforce a liability thereby beyond the jurisdiction of the state.

created, nothing can be presumed and that the statute should be con-

§ 248. Statute of New York — liability for creation of debts in excess of capital stock.— Under the New York statute making the trustees of manufacturing corporations who assent to the creation of an indebtedness exceeding the amount of the capital stock personally liable for the excess, the liability statutes of that description. on which the judgment was founded, against the defendants. evidence of the judgment roll. This against the trustees. Judge Peckham, delivering its provisions. of the company, if the report be not made, no matter by whose default. power to have it made, yet if the president, or a sufficient number of his cotrustees to constitute a majority declined to sign it, or if the president and secretary declined to verify it by oath, the faithful trustee seems to be absolutely liable as well as those who strued liberally in furtherance of the refuse to do their duty." It was acremedy; that the latter was for the cordingly held "that, as against these enforcement of a penalty, and subject defendants, the judgment did not to all rules applicable to actions upon legally exist, as they were neither par-The ties nor privies to it. * * * 'It is distinction is illustrated and enforced not a judgment as to those defendants: in Hastings v. Drew, 76 N. Y. 9, and no action could be maintained thereon Stephens v. Fox, 83 N. Y. 313. The against them, * * * nor is the present question involved here was judgment prima facie evidence of the decided by the Court of Appeals of debt as against the defendants." New York in the case of Miller c. This doctrine was repeated and reaf-White, 50 N. Y. 137. In that case the firmed by the same court in Whitney complaint set forth the recovery of a Arms Co. r. Barlow, 63 N. Y. 62-72. judgment against the company, but not. In that case the court said. "The debt the original cause of action against it must be proved by evidence competent The defendant moved for a dismissal upon which the debt is founded must on this ground, which was refused, be proved. The naked admissions of and judgment was rendered in favor the corporation or judgment against of the plaintiff on the production in the corporation are not evidence They are res was held to be erroneous on the ground inter alies acta; but, when facts are that the judgment was not competent proved which establish the existence as evidence of any debt due from the of a debt against the corporation, the corporation, and that no action could liability of the trustees for the debt be maintained thereon against the trus- follows upon the proof of the other tees under this section of the act. facts upon which the liability is made the by statute to depend," The case of unanimous opinion of the court, said: Miller v. White, 50 N. Y. 137, has "It will be perceived that this is a never been overruled nor questioned highly penal act, extremely rigorous in by the New York Court of Appeals. It is absolute that the On the contrary, it has been repeatedly trustees shall be liable for all the debts and expressly cited and approved, and either followed or distinguished from the case under decision in the follow-If one of the trustees did all in his ing cases: Rorke v. Thomas, 56 N. Y. 559-565; Hastings v. Drew, 76 N. Y. 9-15; Stephens v. Fox, 83 N. Y. 313-317; Knox v. Baldwin, 80 N. Y. 610-613; Bruce r. Platt, 80 N. Y. 379-

¹Laws N. Y. 1848, chap. 40, § 28.

is one of contract and not of penal liability.1 And the trusteeassenting to the creation of indebtedness exceeding the capital stock will be personally and individually liable for such excess to the creditors of the corporation to whom such excess may be owing.2 In a case before the Supreme Court of New York the thereby, under the statute, pledges by payment to him." his liability. The statute says to the assenting trustee, 'you may contract a rehearing, Patterson r. Robinson, as many debts as you choose to be- (1885) 36 Hun, 622. The court discome liable for.' It was insisted that guished Hornor v. Henning, 93 U. S. the language of section 13 of the act 228; Merchants' Bank of Newbury port was similar to that of section 23, and, v. Stevenson, 10 Gray, 232; Anderson as the liability under the former was, v. Speers, 21 Hun, 568. In Patterson corporation insolvent, it was said: Story v. Furman, 25 N. Y. 223, and

¹ Patterson v. Robinson, (1885) 37 venture for gain by making the assent-Hun. 841. LANDON, J., for the court ing trustee a partner with the comsaid: "The assenting trustee, know- pany in the risk of loss, or, more acing that the indebtedness of the com- curately, in liability to such creditor. pany has reached at least an amount And, if this view be correct, the equal to the capital stock, concurs creditor for the excess cannot be dewith the company in contracting fur- prived of his recourse to the assenting ther indebtedness. He knows that the trustee by any decrease in the aggrestatute, in case he assents, makes him gate indebtedness of the company, or also liable. He gives his consent and otherwise than by his own consent, or

² Ibid.; affirming, and reaffirming on by settled law, a penal one, the same v. Robinson, (1885) 36 Hun, 623, the must be true under the latter." Refer- court reasoned well to this conclusion, ring to section 13, which makes trus- and cited as in harmony with their tees liable for declaring dividends, the views Wiles v. Suydam, 64 N. Y. 173; payment of which would make the Corning v. McCullogh, 1 N. Y. 47; "The section seeks to deter the Veeder v. Mudgett, 95 N. Y. 295. In trustee from despoiling the company Patterson v. Robinson, (1885) 37 Hun, to the profit of the stockholder and to 341, they said of their argument in the the ruin of the creditors. Such a case supra: "We saw that this excess wrong has no connection with the con- of indebtedness was due by the contracting of the debt, but imperils its tract of the company, and, without repayment and the liability affixed upon gard to the statute, indeed wholly inthe offending trustee may well be dependent of the statute, to the called a penalty. There is no such creditors to whom the contract of the flagitiousness in the act of assenting to company made it due. We feel that an excess of indebtedness over the no statute could deprive such creditor amount of the capital stock. It may of his contract engagement with the be wise and right; at any rate the in- company. Such being the contract tent may be honest. Why affix a relation between the company and nenalty upon performance of a good such creditor, we thought that when act? Such is not the policy of the the statute stepped in and added to law. It may lead to reckless specula- the contract liability of the company tion, but speculation is no offense, and for such excess of indebtedness the the statute prudently tempers the personal and individual liability of the question was whether or not a director of a corporation organized under the statute1 was liable for a debt of the corporation. Section 18 of that statute requires the filing of an annual report stating the amount of capital, the proportion actually paid in, etc., and provides that the report shall be signed "by the president and a majority of the directors, and shall be verified by oath of the president or secretary of such corporation and filed in the office of the secretary of state; and, if such corporation shall fail so to do, all the directors thereof shall be jointly and severally liable for all the debts of the corporation then existing, and for all that shall be contracted before such report shall be made." Section 21 declares that "if any certificate or report made, or public notice given, by an officer of any such corporation shall be false in any material representation, all the officers who have signed the same shall be jointly and severally liable for all the debts of the corporation contracted while they are officers thereof." A majority of the court held that a director was an "officer" within the meaning of this last section, and would be liable under it where he had signed a report which was false in a material representation.2 A trustee not assenting to the creation of an indebtedness in excess of the capital stock of a corporation, his subsequent failure to dissent, when informed of the fact, would not be equivalent to the assent required by this statute.3 In a case before the Supreme Court of New York, where it was not shown that either of two of the trustees of the corporation during the time in which there was incurred an indebtedness in excess of the capital stock of the corporation, ever attended any of the meetings of the trustees, or were consulted with reference the assenting trustees for such excess mitted to the company." of indebtedness should be diverted from the creditors to whom the company owed such excess, and be devoted 209; s. c., 1 N. Y. Supp. 614. to, or conferred upon, or shared among the creditors to whom the company did not owe it. And we had the more trustees assenting thereto, it added it confidence in this construction, beto the liability of the company where cause of our opinion that section 23, that liability was placed, namely, to unlike some other sections of the act, the creditors to whom the company did not impose this personal liability was liable for it. We saw no language as a penalty for wrong done or duty in the statute at variance with such a omitted, but as the terms upon which construction, certainly none which such excess of indebtedness might, seemed to imply that the liability of with safety to the creditors, be per-

¹ Laws N. Y. 1875, chap. 611.

² Torbett v. Eaton, (1888) 49 Hun,

³ Patterson v. Robinson, (1885) 86 Hun, 622.

to the management of its business, or participated in its affairs, except to sign its annual reports, and then only upon their faith in the assertions of a co-trustee that they were correct, the court held that no such assent on their part was shown as was required to make them liable under the statute.1 All the directors who are liable must be made parties to an action brought by a creditor of a corporation to enforce the individual liability imposed by the statute of New York upon the directors of a corporation by whom an indebtedness exceeding the amount of its capital stock is created, such liability being joint and not several.2 In determining the amount of the liabilities of a corporation, to ascertain whether or not they exceed the amount of the capital stock, a judgment recovered against the corporation by one of its directors for money advanced by him to it, which judgment may have been subsequently assigned by him to a third person, cannot be treated as one of such liabilities.8

§ 249. Liability for incurring indebtedness in excess or capital stock — Illinois statute. In an action against directors of a corporation by the holder of notes of the corporation which had been issued under their directorate, based upon their liability for incurring such indebtedness in excess of the limit, as contended, imposed by the following section of the statute of Illinois, to wit: "If the indebtedness of any stock corporation shall exceed the amount of its capital stock, the directors and officers of such corporation assenting thereto shall be personally and individually liable for such excess to the creditors of such corporation," upon the question whether the facts stated in the bill brought the cause of action within the bar of the Statute of Limitations, the contention of the directors was that their liability, if any existed, was for a statutory penalty. The Supreme Court of Illinois held that the liability was not for a statutory penalty, and that the Statute of Limitations was not a bar to a recovery stated cause of action against directors c., 15 N. Y. Supp. 278. under the statute of New York (Laws N. Y. 1875, chap. 611, § 22), which Hun, 365. imposes a personal liability for an any time exceed the amount of its Knox r. Baldwin, 80 N. Y. 610. capital stock, see Loveland r. Doran

¹ Ibid. As to what is a properly & Wright Co., (1891) 61 Hun, 619; s.

² McClave r. Thompson, (1885) 36

³ Ibid.; citing following: Robinson excess of indebtedness, in case the in- v. Thompson, 20 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. debtedness of the corporation shall at 557; Easterly v. Barber, 65 N. Y. 255;

by the creditors of these directors.1 The same court, in a comparatively recent case have construed this statute, and said: "The liability is created only where the indebtedness of the corporation exceeds the amount of the capital stock, and is imposed only upon the directors and officers assenting to such excess of indebtedness. This plainly means assenting to its creation. Manifestly, a recognition of the indebtedness by the directors after it has been so contracted as to become binding upon the corporation, should not Woolverton v. Taylor, (1890) 132 debts beyond the amount of its capital stock. Neither is it, under all circumstances, bad management in a corpoamount of its capital stock. Its assets may be of such value as to give it credit, and warrant the incurring of liabilities far beyond that amount. While statutes in some states, by different forms of language, limit the right of such officers to contract indebtedness beyond prescribed limits, in others no restriction whatever has been enacted, and in many of those in which a limit is prescribed the indebtedness which may be contracted is not limited by the amount of capital stock, but may equal twice or three times that amount. If, therefore, such enactments are to be understood as indicating that it is deemed unwise to allow corporations to incur liabilities beyond a prescribed limit, it must be admitted that the sentiment is by no means harmonious as to where the limit should be placed. These statutes do not, therefore, indicate, as contended by counsel

Ill. 197. Arguendo, it was said: "In stock. [The quoted section] of our the absence of statutory prohibition it statute does not prohibit the contractis not unlawful for the officers of a ing of indebtedness in excess of capital corporation to contract debts in excess stock; neither does it in terms inflict a of its capital stock. Unless restricted penalty for so doing. Therefore, a by statute, corporations, as individ- prohibition cannot be implied, and to uals, may contract debts to the full say, as counsel insist should be done, extent of their credit, without refer- that the assenting is made unlawful by ence to the amount of their capital the infliction of a penalty, is to assume the very question controverted. While it is true that statutes of other states ration to contract debts in excess of the making officers of corporations individually liable for contracting debts beyond a prescribed limit have been held to be penal, the language of those statutes will be found materially different from ours, and so far as we have been able to ascertain expressly prohibit the incurring of liabilities beyond certain limits fixed. In Hornor et al. v. Henning et al., 93 U.S. 228, the Supreme Court of the United States, in passing upon an act of congress regulating corporations in the District of Columbia the language of which is almost identical with that of our statute, it was held that the act was not penal, for reasons which we think unanswerable. We followed that decision in Low v. Buchanan, 94 Ill. 76, in holding that the liability created by four statute] could only be enforced in chancery, and this is, in effect, deciding that the action is not for the recovery of a penalty. 'It is a universal for appellees, that legislatures have rule in equity never to enforce either a considered it bad management in the penalty or a forfeiture.' 2 Story's Eq. affairs of a corporation to contract Jur. § 1319; Queenan v. Palmer, 117 have the effect of charging them with this statutory liability. After the indebtedness has been created by such agents and in such manner as to constitute it a valid obligation of the corporation, it becomes the duty of the directors to recognize its validity, and, so far as in their power, provide for its payment. Such assent of [directors] could only be given by some affirmative voluntary act on their part, or at least some active participation or co-operation in the particular transaction out of which that indebtedness arose." In a case where it was sought to enforce the directors and the creditors of the actions to a period of six months." corporation; but that is evidently not lar in many respects to that of sure-ness. It is not shown that they per

Ill. 619. In Morawetz on Corporations may be founded on sound principles of (Vol. 2, § 908) it is said: 'It is not justice and expediency.' In Neal r. always quite clear what the courts Briggs, 12 Ga. 104, it is directly held mean to express by saying that stat- that a provision in the charter of a utes of this character are penal, and corporation prohibiting the contracting that they impose upon the directors a of debts in excess of three times the penal liability. The liability of direct- amount of the capital stock paid in is ors under such a statute is undoubtedly not penal within the statute of that not the result of a contract between state limiting the bringing of penal

¹ Lewis v. Montgomery, (1893) 145 what the courts mean to express. The Ill. 30; s. c., 33 N. E. Rep. 880. The liability of directors to creditors for a court, in its opinion, recites the facts tort, or a misapplication of corporate as to meetings of the board, the incurfunds, or a breach of trust, does not ring of certain debts, etc., summing arise out of contract; yet the courts up with a statement that they found would certainly not call this a penul no evidence except that furnished by liability, or refuse to enforce it because the record of the proceedings of the it arose under the laws of a foreign board, which tended "to charge the state. Nor is the liability of the direct-directors, with the exception of lone ors under these statutes penal, in the who managed the business], with any sense in which the word penal is used direct or personal agency in the incurin common law. It is not a penalty or ring or contracting of the corporate infine imposed by the state for the in- debteduess. Except so far as they acted fraction of public law The liability officially at the meetings of the board of the directors is, both in form and they are not shown to have personally substance, a private obligation, sind-taken any part in the corporate busities. It is imposed by the legislature sonally entered into any contracts. partly for the purpose of inducing the made any purchases, transacted any directors to do their prescribed duties, business or in any way interfered with and partly for the purpose of securing the corporate dealings. The evidence the company's creditors from losses is clear that [this managing director]. caused by those who have control over during all the time the corporation was the company's funds. The statutes doing business, was in fact its general imposing this liability establish a new financial manager, and had complete rule of private right, a rule which, al- and unquestioned control of its busithough unknown to the common law, ness affairs. Purchases and sales were the statutory liability of directors and officers of a manufacturing corporation for the excess of indebtedness incurred beyond the capital stock of the corporation, it was held by the Supreme Court of Illinois that advances by a factor to a manufacturing corporation of a part of the invoice price of goods, under a contract that the former is to reimburse himself from the proceeds of the goods when sold, did not create any substantial liability or made and indebtedness incurred by application to them of the maxim him at his discretion. The directors, respondent superior, and to make his having full confidence in him, and acts and assent the acts and assent of recognizing the preponderating influ- the directors. This position is clearly ence to which the ownership of three- untenable. The directors, though the fourths of the stock of the corporation governing body of the corporation, are seemed to entitle him, allowed him to only its officers and agents, and any manage the business substantially as subordinate agent appointed by them he pleased, and failed to keep them- or acting by virtue of their sufferance selves informed as to the financial situ- or recognition, does not thereby beation. That in all this they were come their agent but the agent of the grossly recreant to their legal duties as corporation. His acts are the acts of directors and officers of the corpora- the corporation so as to make it liable tion goes without saying. But whether for debts or obligations incurred by they thereby incurred the statutory him on its behalf, but they are not the liability for the debts of the corpora- acts of the directors unless commanded tion in excess of the amount of the or authorized by them. The fact that capital stock presents quite another the directors might have interfered to question. The provisions of the stat- prevent [this manager] from running ute are as follows: 'If the indebted- the corporation in debt beyond the ness of any stock corporation shall amount of its capital stock, or that exceed the amount of its capital stock they failed in other respects to perform the directors and officers of such cor- their appropriate functions, may be poration assenting thereto shall be per- charged against them as negligence. sonally and individually liable for such but it fails to establish their assent to excess to the creditors of such corpo- the indebtedness thus contracted. In ration.' It should be observed that the Woolverton v. Taylor, 132 Ill. 197, the statutory liability is not predicated statute sought to be invoked here was upon the negligence of the directors or under consideration, and we there held officers in the discharge of their official that while the liability imposed is not duties, but upon the fact of their hav- penal but contractual, it is like that of ing 'assented' to the indebtedness a surety, and, therefore, stricti juris. which constitutes the excess over the This being the case, the statute should amount of the capital stock. The con- receive a construction in consonance tention of the complainants seems to with the nature of the obligation imbe that as the board of directors is the posed. The words employed should governing body of the corporation, be interpreted according to their plain their constituting [one of their num- and obvious meaning, and should not ber] its general financial agent, either be extended by construction so as to by appointment or by sufferance, made embrace cases not clearly within the him their agent so as to warrant an terms of the statute. The liability is indebtedness against the corporation while the goods are in the hands of the factor and before their order, within the meaning of the statute of Illinois relating to such liability of directors and officers of corporations; also, that the fixing of the salary of the superintendent of the corporation and that of the secretary, in the absence of other proof, was not sufficient to show that any corporate debt was thereby incurred, as it would be presumed that such salaries were paid as they accrued. Further, it was held that to show the incurring of an indebtedness of a corporation in excess of its capital stock, it was not sufficient to show that various expenditures were ordered or authorized by the board of directors, when, so far as it appeared, such expenditures may have been met at the time by cash payments. It must be shown that such expenditures resulted in indebtedness, or formed part of the indebtedness in excess of the capital stock.1

§ 250. United States Supreme Court decision on a similar statute — the proper action in such a case. — An action at law was brought by a creditor of a savings bank in the District of Columbia against the trustees of the bank upon a liability as alleged incurred by a violation of the following section of the act of congress under which it was organized, to wit: "If the indebtedness of any company organized under this act shall at any time exceed the amount of its capital stock, the trustees of such company assenting thereto shall be personally and individually liable for such excess to the creditors of the company." The Supreme Court of the United States affirmed the sustaining of a demurrer by the lower court to this action, holding that an action at law could not be sustained by one creditor among many for the liability thus created, or for any part of it, but that the remedy is in equity.2

ation. Manifestly, a recognition of the its payment." indebtedness by the directors after it has been so contracted as to become III. 30. binding upon the corporation, should 2 Hornor v. Henning, (1876) 93 U.S.

created only where the indebtedness of the indebtedness has been created by the corporation exceeds the amount of such agents, and in such manner as to the capital stock, and is imposed only constitute it a valid obligation of the upon the directors and officers assent- corporation, it becomes the duty of the ing to such excess of indebtedness. directors to recognize its validity, and, This plainly means assenting to its cre- so far as is in their power, provide for not have the effect of charging them 228. Mr. Justice Miller, speaking with this statutory liability. After for the court, said: "We are of opinion

¹ Lewis v. Montgomery, (1893) 145

§ 251. New York statute — liability for false statements in certificates, etc., filed .- It is entirely immaterial whether the creditor of the corporation relies upon the certificate filed by the officers or not. As long as the trustee knows the certificate to be false, and the debt is thereafter contracted while he is an officer of the company, it comes within the provisions of the statute making the trustees liable on account of the false statement in the certificate.1 The plaintiff in such actions must establish that the certificate filed was in point of fact false, and that the trustees signed it with knowledge of its falsity.2 Renewal notes given after the filing by the officers of a corporation of a false certificate that all of its capital stock had been paid in for a debt contracted by the corporation before the filing of the certificate is a "debt" within the meaning of the statute making directors and officers liable for the debts of the corporation.3 A director cannot defend an action to make him liable for signing an annual report false in any material particular upon the ground that he was also a creditor of the corporation. The constitutionality of debts. The remedy for this violation foundation of the statute." of duty as trustees is in its nature appropriate to a court of chancery. 284; s. c., 19 N. Y. Supp. 149. The powers and instrumentalities of that court enable it to ascertain the excess of the indebtedness over the

that the fair and reasonable construc number and names of the creditors. tion of the act is that the trustees who the amount of their several debts, to assent to an increase of the indebted- determine the sum to be recovered of ness of the corporation beyond its the trustees and apportioned among capital stock are to be held guilty of a the creditors in a manner which the violation of their trust; that congress trial by jury and the rigid rules of intended that so far as this excess of common-law proceedings render imindebtedness over capital stock was possible. This course avoids the innecessary, they should make good the justice of many suits against defend-. debts of the creditors who had been ants for the same liability, and the the sufferers by their breach of trust; greater injustice of permitting one that this liability constitutes a fund creditor to absorb all or a very unfor the benefit of all the creditors who equal portion of the sum for which are entitled to share in it, in propor- the trustees are liable, and it adjusts tion to the amount of their debts, so the rights of all concerned on the far as it may be necessary to pay their equitable principles which lie at the

- ¹ Ferguson r. Gill, (1892) 64 Hun,
 - 2 Ibid.
 - 3 Ibid.
- 4 Richards v. Crocker, (N. Y. City capital stock, the amount of this Court, Spl. T. 1887) 19 Abb. N. C. which each trustee may have assented 73. Judge RAPALLO in Pier v. Hanto, and the extent to which the funds more, 86 N. Y. 101, says of the purof the corporation may be resorted to pose of this statute: "The purpose for the payment of the debts; also the for which the annual reports are rethe New York statute has been sustained by the Court of Appeals.¹ In actions against directors under this statute it is not necessary to show knowledge on the part of the officer at the time of signing; proof that the writing is untrue "in any material representation" would be sufficient.2 The rule governing the action of a jury in such a case is that they are not required to give the defendants the benefit of any reasonable doubt in the lie may be correctly informed of the "false in any material representation," financial condition and resources of has said: "The construction . . . their companies in order that they may should, if possible, be in harmony judge of the credit to which they are with its object and purpose as thus entitled." In Walton r Godwin, 58 defined. That will be accomplished Hun, 91, Mr. Justice Daniels used by confining the liability to cases this language. "The report has evi- where credit may possibly have been dently been required as information to given to the corporation upon the faith the public concerning the financial of the report. In other words, to debts condition and responsibility of the contracted after it is filed. This gives corporation. This information is in- force also to the word 'representatended as a security to persons dealing tions' as used in the section. That with the company. And whatever section does not read false in any would materially affect their judg- material 'statement' or material 'fact,' ment in their dealings should be re- but false-in any material 'representagarded as a material representation in tion.' Representation implies an obthe report itself. But if a report ject addressed. Representations to proves to be untruthful in representa- whom, then? Plainly to any one who tions which would have no effect contemplates trusting the company whatever upon the judgment or con- thereafter. And this view is reinduct of persons dealing with the cor forced by the fact that the false repporation, such representations could resentation which creates liability is not be consistently held to be material. not limited by the section to a certifi-And it must be by this criterion that cate or report, but may be embodied in the question of the liability of the per- any millie notice given by the officers sons signing the report should be de- of the company. Shall it be said then termined, for if it contains untruthful that for any negligent or inadvertent statements and those statements approblication the officers of the compear to be so entirely unimportant pany are to be mulcted, not only for that they would not affect, in the least the possible consequences of such degree, the credit of the company or publication, but for debts contracted the conduct of persons dealing with it, before it was thought of?" The rethen they cannot legally be held to be versal of the judgment against the material misrepresentations" After directors on this case negatives this quoting the above in Torbett c. Godwin, (1891) 62 Hun, 407, 411, 8 (., 17 N. Y. Supp. 46; 27 Abb. N. C. 444, N. Y. 365; s. c., 23 N. E. Rep. 544. BARRETT, J., as to the construction to be given to the section imposing lia-quired to be published is that the pub-bility upon officers for certificates, etc., query.

¹ Huntington n. Attrill. (1890) 118

sense applicable to criminals. They may be governed in reaching a satisfactory result by the fair preponderance of evidence.1 The false representation alleged in this case was that the directors had represented in their report that the whole capital stock, $700,000, had been paid in. The whole stock was issued to one individual, one of the defendants here, for a tract of land upon the seashore. It became necessary, therefore, in the progress of the case for the jury to consider what was the "fair value" of this property when considered in connection with the provision of the statute which prohibits the issuing of stock of a corporation organized under it except for "property actually received for the use and legitimate purpose of said corporation at its fair value." "Fair value" in this connection the Court of Appeals of New York held to be that which the property had at the time of sale; that it was not dependent upon the subsequent success or failure of the investment, further than that result may have been legitimately within evidential contemplation at the time of the sale in view of the uses for which it may have had available advantages within itself.² As bearing upon the real value of this property for which the stock was issued to so large an amount it was held not to have been error to allow the plaintiff to prove on the question of value that the land purchased, with extensive improvements thereon, was afterwards sold at judicial sale for $175,000. In an action of another creditor against these same defendants upon their liability under the statute for having made a false statement in their certificate which they had filed, the Court of Appeals sustained the action of the trial judge in refusing to accept a verdict of the jury for an amount less than the whole amount of his debt and directing a verdict for the latter amount on the ground that having found that the plaintiff was entitled to a recovery, that being a matter of fact for the jury, the measure of damages was the amount of the debt and this he was entitled Where the liability of a trustee or director under the statute for making a false certificate has reference to an overvaluation of property taken by the corporation from its stockholders, the statute would not be violated in respect to the issuing of stock in payment for property unless such persons in bad faith

¹ Ibid.

² Ibid.

³ Ibid.

⁴ Hatch r. Attrill, (1890) 118 N. Y. 388; s. c., 28 N. E. Rep. 549.

put a fictitious value upon their property for the purpose of evad-If done, and the trustee ing the statute and defrauding others. The rule that to sustain an knew of it, he would be liable.1 action for fraud founded upon representations made by one charged with fraud, it must be made to appear that he believed, or had reason to believe, at the time he made them, that the representations were false, or that, without knowledge, he assumed or intended to convey the impression that he had actual knowledge of their truth, and that the injured party relied upon them to his injury, is applicable to the case of representations made by a director of a corporation, in the form of published state ments and reports, as to its financial condition. Knowledge of all the affairs of the corporation cannot be imputed to him for the purpose of charging him with fraud.2 In a case brought by one who alleged that he had been led to loan a large sum of money to a corporation by the false and fraudulent representations of its trustees as to its capital stock having been paid in, etc., in a report, there was a judgment against all the trustees. On the appeal it was held by the court that the facts that the name of one of these defendants was published as a trustee of the corporation and that a certificate of stock was issued to him were not sufficient to authorize a verdict against him for the fraud perpetrated by other trustees and agents of the corporation.3 The mere fact of being a director and stockholder is not sufficient per se to hold one so situated liable for the frauds and misrepresentations of the active managers of a corporation. the agents of the corporation, not of the directors, as individuals. and have no power to bind the latter by their statements. knowledge and participation in the act claimed to be fraudulent must be brought home to the person charged. It is only where a director lends his name and influence to promote a fraud upon the community, or is guilty of some violation of law or other mismanagement that he is personally liable.4

§ 252. Illustrations.—A statement in such a report that certain persons are stockholders in the corporation, and that the

Yan Vleet v. Jones, (1894) 75 Hun, Arthur v. Griswold, (1874) 55 N.
 s. c., 26 N. Y. Supp. 1086.
 Y. 400.

² Wakeman v. Dalley, (1872) 51 N. ⁴ Ibid.

Y. 27; s. c., 10 Am. Rep. 551, affirming 44 Barb. 498.

amount of their stock has been already paid, when in fact such persons are not stockholders at all, would be "false in a material representation." 1 That defendant signed such report in good faith under the advice of counsel, and that he believed the statement made in it to be true would be no defense against his statutory liability under this statute.2 It appeared in a New York case that one who was named in the annual report made by the corporation under the requirements of the statute as one of the stockholders was not and never had been the owner of stock in the corporation; that a certificate for ten shares of stock, amounting to the sum of $1,000, had been sent to him, which he had refused to accept and had returned, and that this amount, as well as an additional sum of $1,000, for which there was no foundation whatever, was included in the amount of the capital stock of the corporation stated in the report to have been paid in. other stock paid in was stated at $148,600. The Supreme Court in General Term held that, in view of the fact that the jury might have found that $146,600 of the capital stock of the corporation had been paid in, this error to the extent only of $2,000 did not make the report "false in any material representation." In a case before the New York Court of Appeals, brought by a creditor against a trustee of a corporation to enforce the liability of the latter under the New York statutes for making a statement in the annual report that the capital stock of $2,000,000 had been paid up in full, on the ground that the statement was false to the knowledge of the signers, it appeared that the stock of the corporation was issued to one, in payment for certain iron mining property, then undeveloped, which property he had purchased of a corporation of which the trustee sued was a stockholder, and the latter received from him $10,000 of the stock of the new corporation to enable him to act as trustee. The vendor of the property sold to the corporation surrendered to the new corporation 1,000 shares of the stock, which was pledged, with

¹ Brandt v. Godwin, (City Court N. upon the transactions or dealings of for that reason these statements could not be assumed to be, as they appear ³ Walton v. Godwin, (1890) 58 Hun, to have been in the charge of the court, 87; s. c., 12 N. Y. Supp. 486. Dan- materially false statements rendering Y., Spl. Term, 1889) 3 N. Y. Supp. creditors with the corporation 807.

IELS, J., said: "This slight discrep- the officers who signed the report ancy or difference in so large an liable for its debts." amount would have no effect whatever

$70,000 of the bonds of the corporation, to secure a loan of $35,000, and gave 500 shares of the stock as a commission to the officer who negotiated the loan. The property which was sold by this vendor to the new corporation for $1,000,000 of the stock of the new corporation and $200,000 of its bonds, and the consideration for which was expressed in his deed to the new corpotion as $600,000, proved to be worth not over $60,000. trustee sued had knowledge, it was shown, of all these facts. Court of Appeals held that the facts justified a finding that this trustee signed the report in bad faith, knowing it to be false.1 In an action against trustees of a manufacturing corporation to enforce the liability imposed by the statutes of New York2 for making a false report, where the falsity alleged was solely in the statement that the capital stock had been paid in full, without stating that all or a portion of it was paid for in property as required by a later statute,3 the New York Court of Appeals declared this rule to be applicable, to wit: To charge the officer with the severe penalty imposed for signing a false report, knowing it to be false, some fact or circumstance must be shown indicating that it was made in bad faith, willfully, or for some fraudulent purpose, and not ignorantly or inadvertently, and this is a question of fact which must be passed upon before the liability can be adjudged. Finon, J., further said: "But the necessity of such proof of a willful and fraudulent purpose we confined to a case where the sole falsity of the report originated in our construction of its import, as meaning a payment in cash, although not so stated in express terms, and where, as a consequence, it was possible for the officer to have signed what we construe to be a falsehood, but what, as he understood it, might have been a truth. In such case it is just to require that some evidence of had faith, something indicating a consciousness of falsehood instead of belief of truth should be given. In other words, the penalty follows an actual and not a constructive falsehood; one known and understood to be such and possibly believed to be otherwise." 5 The trustees of a manufacturing corporation

¹ Blake v. Griswold, (1886) 103 N. Y. 429. The court distinguished Lake Y. 122; rule declared in Pier v. Han Superior Iron Co. v. Drexel, (1892) 90 more, 80 N. Y. 128. N. Y. 87.

⁹ N. Y. Laws 1848, chap 40, § 15.

⁴ N. Y. Laws 1853, chap 383.

⁴ Bonnell v. Griswold, (1882) 89 N.

⁵ Ibid., in which it was held that where the stock of the corporation was actually paid in in cash, the mere would not incur the liability imposed upon them by the statutes of New York 1 for signing an annual report "false in any material representation," simply by omitting from the aggregate indebtedness of the corporation certain liabilities of the corporation, although they may have known of it at the time the report was made.2 The liability of a director of a corporation formed under the New York statute⁸ by reason of making a false report abates on the death of the original creditor of the corporation, and cannot be revived in favor of or prosecuted by his personal representatives.4 The Maryland Court of Appeals, two justices, however, dissenting, has held that the lia bility imposed upon directors or officers by the New York statute on account of false statements in reports, etc., required of them as to any material representation was a penalty and not enforceable in the state of Marviand; and that if a judgment had been obtained in New York under the statute, no action could be maintained on the judgment in the state of Maryland." The officers of a corporation organized in pursuance of a plan of a syndicate for whom property had been purchased for $150,000, with a view to sell the same to this corporation, certified that stock of the value of $1,500,000 had been issued to the amount of the value of the property purchased of the syndicate for the purpose of the corporation. These officers were held liable to persons who had advanced money to the corporation under the statute of New York, which provides that "if any certificate or report made, or public notice given, by the officers of any such company, in pursuance of the provisions of this act, shall be false in any material representation, all the officers who shall have signed the same, knowing it to be false, shall be jointly and severally liable for all the debts of the company contracted while they are stockholders or officers thereof." The statement in the fact that the corporation bought out assets of an old company at their fair statement in the report that the stock 103 N. Y. 425. had been paid for in property. See, also, Wickens v. Foster, (1885) 22 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 426.

1 N. Y. Laws 1848, chap. 40, § 15.

³ Laws N. Y. 1875, chap. 611

4 Boyle v. Thurber, (1888) 50 Hun, value did not call for or authorize a 259; following Brackett v. Griswold.

⁵ Attrill v. Huntington, (1889) 70 Md. 191; s. c., 16 Atl. Rep. 651; citing, in support of the holding, Flash r. Conn, 109 U. S. 376; Wisconsin r. ⁸ Butler v. Smalley, (1885) 101 N. Y. Pelican Insurance Co., 127 U. S. 290.

^{71.}

certificate as to the stock was held to be a false one within the letter and the spirit of the statute.1

§ 253. Statutory liability — Rhode Island statutes.— The statutes of Rhode Island providing that if certain certificates are not filed, certain officers of corporations shall be liable for "all debts of the company contracted," has been construed by the Supreme Court of that state, and they have held that the words "debts contracted" did not include torts of the corporation, nor indements against the corporation founded on such torts.2 So, all the other statutes which provide that, if the debts of a corporation exceed its paid-in capital, the directors under whom the excess occurs shall be liable jointly and severally to the extent of the excess, "for all the debts of the company then existing, and for all that shall be contracted as long as they shall respectively continue in office," and until the excess shall disappear, have also been construed, and the directors held not to be liable for torts of the corporation committed pending the excess, nor for judgments against the corporation founded on such torts.3

§ 254. Statutory liability — various states.— The statutes of Indiana provided, as to such corporations as the one involved

¹ Chittenden v. Thannhauser, (1891) the second it was held that the phrase 47 Fed. Rep. 410.

Leighton v. Campbell, (1890) 17 R. I. Story, in giving this construction, re-51; s. c., 20 Atl. Rep. 14. The court lied somewhat on the authority of Mill said: "The plaintiff cites in support Dam Foundery v. Hovey, but still more of this contention Mill Dam Foundery on his view that the provision imposr. Hovey, 21 Pick, 417, 455, and Carver ing the liability was to be regarded as v. Braintree Manufacturing Company, remedial, and was, therefore, to be 2 Story, 482. These cases relate to liberally construed, in fact virtually the liabilities of corporations under a conceding that, in any other view, the Massachusetts statute subjecting them construction would be too broad. In to individual liability for the 'debts Child r. Boston & Fairhaven Iron and contracts' of the corporation, or Works, 187 Mass. 516. the court say, for the 'debts contracted' by it, in criticism of Carver v. Braintree and not to the liability of officers of Manufacturing Company: 'There are corporations under other provisions, no cases decided by the courts of the In the first case it was held that the commonwealth in which a stockholder phrase covered a claim for unliqui- has been held liable for a tort of the dated damages arising excontractu. In corporation, and other decisions of Mr.

'debts contracted,' being broadly con ² Pub. St. R. I. 1882, chap. 155, §§ 2, strued, covered a liability incurred by the infringement of a patent, or, in ³ Pub. St. R. I. 1989, chap. 155, § 15; other words, a liability for tort. Judge in a case before the Supreme Court of that state, as follows: "The capital stock, as fixed by such company, shall be paid into the treasury thereof within eighteen months from the incorporation of the same." "If any company organized and established under the authority of this act, and of the act to which this is supplementary, shall violate any of the provisions thereof, and shall thereby become insolvent, the directors ordering or assenting to such violation shall jointly and severally be liable in an action founded on said acts, for all debts contracted after such violation as aforesaid." It was ruled in the case that if the directors, or any number of them, refused to enforce, on behalf of the company, the duty of the company to collect the stock. such refusal was an assent on their part to a violation of the company's duty, and it was immaterial whether the plaintiff sued all or a majority of the directors. A protest, not in writing, by a director of a gravel road company, before the board against the contracting of debts in excess of its solvent stock, will absolve liquidated claims for damages arising Y. 277, 280, upon some points. haven Iron Works, [137 Mass. 516]." s. c., 33 N. E. Rep. 1126. As to the contention that the claim had Justice Story stand unsupported by been reduced to judgment, and thus any direct authority, either before or become a debt of the corporation, it since.' There are cases of other states was said: "The New York cases, under in which it has been held that the statutory provisions similar to ours, words 'debts contracted' do not sub- hold that, in that state, the trustees of ject the corporators to liability for the corporations are liable, if at all, only torts of the corporation. Heacock c. on the original claim, and that a judg-Sherman, 14 Wend, 58: Bohn v. Brown, ment against the corporation thereon 33 Mich. 257; Cable r. McCune, 26 has no effect as against them. Miller Mo. 371. In the case at bar, however, r. White, 50 N. Y. 137; Whitney the question relates not to the cor- Arms Co. v. Barlow, 63 N. Y 62; Esporators, but to officers, under pro- mond v. Bullard, 16 Hun, 65. It has visions relating to them exclusively as been held in other states that the resuch, imposing duties on them, and duction of a claim for damages against making them liable in case they reject a corporation arising ex delicto to a or refuse to perform them. These pro- judgment does not change its charvisions, as contradistinguished from acter as against the delinquent officers, the provisions in regard to corpora- so as to charge them thereon as for a tions, are deemed to be penal, and for debt contracted by the corporation. that reason to be strictly construed. Cable v. Gaty, 34 Mo 573; Bohn v. Chase v. Curtis, 113 U. S. 452. We do Brown, 33 Mich. 257; so, also, by the not think that any court would hold Supreme Court of the United States, that the words 'debts contracted,' if Chase r. Curtis, 113 U. S. 452;" citing, strictly construed, would cover un- also, Whitaker v. Masterton, 106 N.

Child r. Boston & Fair- 1 Clow r. Brown, (1892) 134 Ind. 287;

him from liability on account of such contracting of debt. In an action to enforce such a liability of directors, it must be averred and proved that the directors against whom the action is brought contracted the debt, and that the debt, when contracted, exceeded the solvent stock of the company.2 The failure of a majority of the directors of a corporation to file the reports, as required by the law of Michigan, will be presumed intentional, and will render each director liable for the debts of the corporation under the statute which renders the directors of corporations liable if they "intentionally neglect or refuse to comply" with its provisions.8 The Montana Supreme Court has held that the statute of that state imposing an individual liability upon the trustees of a corporation for not filing the annual report of the corporation's condition required by the statute could not be construed so as to excuse the trustees from liability for debts contracted prior to a default in the matter of filing the report. Therefore, they held that the facts stated in defense to an action to enforce such statutory liability that before the time for filing such annual report the corporation was insolvent and had entirely abandoned its business; that all the property of the corporation belonged to one of its trustees, having been delivered to him in satisfaction of an indebtedness, and that for a period of two months no officer or trustee had exercised any corporate act or function, and that there was no intention to resume the business of the corporation. did not dissolve the corporation and constituted no defense to the action.4 Officers of a corporation certifying that the capital

¹ Schofield r. Henderson, (1879) 67 future period; something which might

As to the construction of the statute of a failure to perform a duty or keep referred to, see Breitung v. Lindauer, an engagement. A right to a divi-37 Mich. 217. As to what are "debts" dend from the profits of a corporation within the meaning of this statute, the is no debt until the dividend is de-Supreme Court of Michigan has said, clared. Until that time, the dividend in Lockhart v. Van Alstyne, 31 Mich. is as something that may possibly come 76, 78: "Liabilities of a company into existence, but the obligation on which may give cause of action against the part of the corporation to declare it and result in judgments are not it cannot be treated as the dividend within the statute unless they consti- itself." tute present debts. A debt is that which one person is bound to pay s. c., 24 Pac. Rep. 18. another, either presently or at some be the subject of a suit as a debt, and Aimen v. Hardin, (1877) 60 Ind. 119. not something to which the party may ⁸ Van Etten v. Eaton, 19 Mich. 187. be entitled as damages in consequence

4 Gans v. Switzer, (1890) 9 Mont. 408;

stock of the company is paid in, when in fact it is paid in property of an uncertain value, will be liable under the New Jersey statute making them liable for the debts of the corporation in case they falsely certify that the capital stock has been paid in.1 The statute of Vermont making the directors of a private corporation liable for all "debts contracted" before the publication of its articles of association, has been held not to embrace all contracts entered into by the corporation before such publication, but only "debts" so contracted; it would not embrace damages for the non-performance of a special contract.2 The assenting by a director of a corporation to the execution of new notes for former notes held by the corporation, where the original indebtedness was not increased thereby, it being only the substitution of one set of notes for the other, it has been held did not fall within the statute of Vermont which prohibited the contracting of debts to an amount greater than three-fourths of the capital stock paid in, and making any director assenting thereto liable for the excess to the creditors of the corporation.³ A statute of Vermont (R. L. Vt. § 3279) provides that in case debts are contracted by a corporation for voluntary association before compliance with the provisions of the preceding section (3278), the president and directors shall be personally liable for such debts. The Supreme Court of that state said: "It is clear that the conditions precedent to the creation of a liability under that section are, first, the existence of a corporation, recognized as such by the laws of this state; second, the contracting of a debt by such corporation, and, third, a failure to comply with the provisions of section 3278 before the contraction of such debt." They held that where articles of association, under chapter 153, Revised Laws of Vermont, are signed upon the understanding that they shall not take effect until the happening of a certain contingency, they do not become effective, and no corporation exists until that contingency happens; in such case a director, who is guilty of no act or omission by which the party extending the credit is misled, would not be liable; but where the defendant represented to the plaintiff that such corporation had been legally organized, and that he was a director, he was held to be estopped from making this defense

¹ Waters v. Quimby, 3 Dutch. (N. J.) 198; affirmed in 4 Dutch. 533.

² Cady v. Sanford, 53 Vt. 682.

n 4 Dutch. 533. National Bank v. Paige, 58 Vt. 452.

and to be liable under the statute.1 "Debts contracted" for which negligent officers of corporations, under Connecticut statntes, may be held liable, must be debts of the corporation in favor of some one who gave it credit.3 The Code of Virginia makes those of the directors of a corporation, who declare a dividend of net profits, when the corporation is insolvent, who concur in the act in their individual capacity, jointly and severally liable to the creditors of the corporation for the amount of the capital stock so divided. In an action to enforce the personal liability under this statute, the question of the insolvency of the corporation when the dividend may have been declared is a question of fact, and the insolvency of the corporation must be established by proof to justify a recovery from the directors individually.3 The United States Supreme Court has held that the remedy in the courts of the United States to enforce the personal liability of directors for permitting the corporation to contract debts in excess of the capital stock, under the statutes of a state, is by bill in equity.4

§ 255. Liability of directors or officers under an English statute.— An English statute provided that if it appears, in the ¹Corey v. Morrill, (1889) 61 Vt. 598; amount of the capital stock actually s. c., 17 Atl. Rep. 840.

Gen. St. Conn. 314, § 3.

Co., (1886) 82 Va. 346.

302, s. c., 5 Sup. Ct. Rep. 497, a case result from enforcing the liability. brought under the statute of South Otherwise, the facts which constitute Carolina. It was said by the court: the basis of liability might be deter-"The conditions of the personal lia- mined differently by juries in several bility of the directors of the corpora- actions, by which some creditors might tion, expressed in the statute, are that obtain satisfaction and others be dethere shall be debts of the corporation feated. The evident intention of the in excess of the capital stock actually provision is that the liability shall be paid in, to which the directors sought for the common benefit of all entitled to be charged shall have assented, and to enforce it according to their interest this liability is for the entire excess or apportionment, which, in case there both to the creditors and to the corpo- cannot be a satisfaction for all, can ration. To ascertain the existence of only be made in a single proceeding to the liability in a given case requires an which all interested can be made parthe corporate indebtedness, and of the Hornor v. Henning, 93 U. S. 228.

paid in; facts which the directors, upon ² Armstrong v. Cowles, 44 Conn. 48; whom the liability is imposed, have a right to have determined, once for all, ³ Slaymaker's Admr. v. Jaffray & in a proceeding which shall conclude all who have an adverse interest, and 4 Stone v. Chisolm, (1885) 113 U.S. a right to participate in the benefit to account to be taken of the amount of ties." Adhering to and reassirming course of winding up any company, "that any past director, manager, official or other liquidator, or any officer of such company, has misapplied or retained in his own hands, or become liable or accountable for any moneys of the company, or been guilty of any misfeasance or breach of trust in relation to the company, the court may * * * examine into the conduct of such director, manager or other officer, and compel him to repay any moneys so misapplied or retained, or for which he has become liable or accountable, together with interest, after such rate as the court thinks just, or to contribute such sums of money to the assets of the company by way of compensation in respect of such misapplication, retainer, misfeasance or breach of trust as the court thinks just." This statute has been construed by the Court of Appeal with this result: The remedy afforded by this statute is only for the recovery of damages for losses incurred. The misfeasance to which it is directed is not restricted to acts of commission, but extends to all breaches of trust in relation to a company, through which loss is incurred. Misfeasance is not to be imputed to a diffector unless he has dishonestly acted or abstained from acting in conflict with his plain duty, and the burden of proof lies on the party making the charge, but in considering the question of the director's liability, there must be imputed to him a special knowledge of the business which he has undertaken. of Appeal held that directors were liable for losses occasioned through acts done by them as directors in matters which are ultra vires the company, and that their liability was not dependent upon any question of honesty of intention. In a very recent case involving the liability of directors of a company under this statute or a later one replacing it, the directors were held liable to repay an amount of money which they had invested, of the company's, in shares of a building securities company, which investment was ultra vires on the part of the company they represented. It appeared, also, in this case that two of the directors were not present at the meeting when the investment was ordered, but they were present at the next meeting at which the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. One of them was in the chair and signed the minutes. He was, also, in the chair at the next general meeting of the company, and then referred to this investment, and, speaking in behalf of the directors, said: "We carefully considered the matter and deemed it advisable to exercise our right of subscription, and have no reason to regret our decision." The Court of Appeal held that although the presence of these two directors at the meeting at which the minutes of the previous meeting were confirmed was not sufficient, in itself, to make either of them liable for the ultra vires investment, yet the one presiding had, by his action as chairman at that meeting, and by his statement at the general meeting of the company, shown that he took an active part in the investment and would be held responsible for it. It was held that as to one ultra vires investment these directors, being considered in these matters of liability, by the courts, in the light of trustees. were entitled to the benefit of the English Statute of Limitations with reference to trustees.2 A director in this English case held shares of a company not fully paid up, and his directors' fees were unpaid. On a day when the company's balance at its bankers was two pounds, eleven pence, he gave to the company a cheque for seventy pounds, the amount remaining unpaid on his shares, and received at the same time from the company a cheque for a like amount, on account of his fees, signed by himself and another director. Within three months there were proceedings for winding up the company. The Court of Appeal held that the payment to the director was a preference which, by the terms of the statute, should be deemed to be fraudulent, and that all the directors who concurred in making the payments were guilty of a misfeasance, and that they should be ordered, jointly and severally, to repay the amounts.3 In another case of a winding up of an English company, it appeared that two persons who were working a quarry in partnership, one of them owning an adjoining quarry and having an option of a lease of a third, wishing to form a company for working them, called in two other persons for the purpose, and the four entered into an agreement with a trustee for the intended company to sell to the company the quarries, to be paid partly in cash and partly in paid-up shares, the two who were called in to receive 120 shares The company was formed. One of the latter two persons

¹ In re The Liverpool Household Stores Association (Limited), (1890) 59 L. J. R. (N. S.) Ch. Div. 616.

¹ In re Lands Allotment Co.. Law ² In re Washington Diamond Mining Rep. (1894), 1 Ch. 616. Co., Law Rep. (1898), 3 Ch. 95. ³ Ibid.

was one of the first directors. The agreement between the four and the trustee of the company was confirmed and these two received their paid-up shares. It developed, upon the winding up of the company, that these parties called in had no interest in the property sold to the company, except their interest as lessees of the third quarry, which lease was of even date with the agreement to sell to this company, and the director of the company admitted that he had no interest in this latter, until that day, and had nothing to do with fixing the price. The articles of the company provided that the agreement for sale should not be impeached on the ground of the directors, or any of them, being vendors or promoters of the company, nor should they be accountable for benefits secured to them. The trial justice held that this director was liable to contribute to the assets of the company a sum equal to the nominal amount of the shares issued to him and to the other party, on the ground of his misfeasance as a director in accepting the shares allotted to himself, and in allowing the shares of the other party to be issued to him. The Court of Appeal held, affirming the decision of the trial justice, that, although if these parties had been bona fide owners of shares in the leased quarry, and had agreed to sell their interests for shares in the company, the transaction could not have been impeached. the insertion of their names as vendors, when they had no real interest in the property sold, was a device for enabling them to get fully paid-up shares for their services in the promotion of the company, and that the issuing of those shares was a misfeasance on the part of the directors, and that, as it was not known to the company that these parties were not really vendors, the clause in the articles was no protection to the director. In another English case it appeared that the directors of a company having power to lend money and to promote other companies, passed a resolution that a cheque for £250 should be drawn in favor of a third party, for a loan to him of that amount, on certain security. cheque was drawn and handed to the solicitor of the company, who gave it to the payce without receiving the security. directors passed a second resolution that a cheque for £1,000 should be drawn in favor of the same party for a loan to him of that amount on security of (inter alia), a contract, the date of which and the names of the parties to which, were left in blank

¹ In re Westmoreland Green & Blue Slate Co., Law Rep. (1893), 2 Ch. 612.

This cheque was, also, drawn and handed to in the resolution. the solicitor of the company, who gave it to the payee without obtaining the security. The directors knew the nature of the contract, and that it related to a company which the payce of the cheque was bringing out, and the existence of which the directors believed to be for the benefit of their own company, and they advanced the £1,000 to assist him in bringing out the new company. The company afterwards sued this party for the amount of the loans, recovered judgment against him, but never realized anything on the judgment. In the winding up proceedings of the company, it becoming insolvent, the liquidator, under the English statutes, sought to charge the directors with the sums loaned. VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, Justice, held that the directors, having exercised judgment and discretion, were not liable for misfeasance or breach of trust in relation to the company. One who was requested by the promoter of a projected company to become a director, agreed to do so upon the terms that, if he should at any time desire to part with the shares which he was to take in order to qualify him as director, the promoter should purchase them from him at the price he should pay for them. The company was subsequently formed and he became a director, took the qualification shares, and paid for them at par out of his own money, and from time to time acted as director, but he never disclosed to his co-directors or to the company, the existence of his agreement with the promoter. He afterwards resigned his office as director, and subsequently to his resignation. the promoter, at his request, paid to him the sum which he paid for the shares, and accepted a transfer of them. At this time the shares were valueless in the market. The English Court of ing what they did they attempted to ment and discretion in this way." perform their duty as directors, then

¹ In re New Mashonaland Explora- such directors are guilty of misfeasance tion Co., Law Rep. (1892), 3 Ch. 577. To use [counsel's] words, if the direct-Referring to the statute, section 10 ors did not bonu fide exercise their dis-(Winding Up) Act, 1890, the justice cretion and judgment as agents of the said: "It has been said that you can- company, that is misfeasance within not bring directors within the section, the meaning of the section. I shall unless they have been guilty of a mis- adopt that construction with the exfeasance in the nature of a breach of ception of the words bona fide, and trust; but, be that as it may, it is plain hold that, in order to make the directors that if directors are guilty of such neg- liable, you must be able to deny that ligence that it cannot be said that in do- they did really exercise their judgAppeal, in a proceeding under the Winding Up Act, to charge him as director, held that, having regard to his position as director of, and, therefore, agent for, the company, whatever benefits or profits accrued to him under the indemnity constituted by his secret agreement with the promoter belonged to the company, and that the retention by him of the proceeds of the indemnity occasioned a loss to the company for which he was accountable, with interest.1

¹In re North Australian Territory to its promoters, under an agreement, not, without the knowledge and conhis agency, beyond his proper remuneration as agent. It is perfectly-settled law that that rule applies, with peculiar stringency, to the directors of joint-stock companies, who are the agents of the company for effecting the sales or the purchases made by the company." FRY, L. J., in his opinion, said: "In Hay's Case [Law Rep., 10] (h. 593], the company agreed to pay a sum of money to the vendors of the property. On one day they were paythe vendors, and one of these cheques was indorsed over to Sir John Hay, and cashed by him. The company, therefore, were making a payment which they were bound to make, and they lost nothing, in one sense, by Sir John Hay receiving that money. The only loss they sustained was by Sir John Hay not accounting for it when he got it. It appears to me there was, Div. 336], the same observation can Ch. Div. 537. be made. The company there issued

Co., Archer's Case, Law Rep. (1892), fully paid-up shares. Some of these 1 Ch. 322. Lindley, Lord Justice, shares were given by one of the proin his opinion quotes from Mel- moters to Sir Edwin Pearson, one of LIBIT, Lord Justice, in Hay's Case, the directors, on his qualification. Law Rep., 10 Ch. 593, 601, these The company, therefore, got all they words: "There is no doubt about the stipulated for, all the shares that they rule of this court, that an agent can- issued and which were in Sir Edwin Pearson's hands, having been, by sent of his principal, be allowed to agreement, issued as fully paid up, make any profit out of the matter of and yet, because he ought not to have taken those fully paid-up shares, but ought to have paid the amount which was not payable by reason of the bargain between the company and the promoters, he was held liable to make good, and treat the shares as if they had not been paid up at all. It might be said in both these cases (in Hay's case the payment was by the vendors, and in Pearson's case the payment was by a promoter), that the company lost nothing by the money in the one ing a sum of £58,000, in part payment case, and the shares in the other, of that purchase money; cheques reaching the hands of the director, were drawn in favor of the agent of but the court said in each case that, because the director was accountable. the company were losers to that ex-* * * On principle, I think the two cases to which I have referred are not distinguishable from the present." As to the liability, under this English statute, of a trustee or manager of a savings bank, to pay an adequate sum towards the assets of the bank by way of compensation for therefore, exactly the same loss in any loss occasioned to the bank by his that case as there is in the present neglect or omission, see In re Cardiff case. Again, in Pearson's Case [5 Ch. Savings Bank, Davies' Case, (1890) 45

CHAPTER VII.

ULTRA VIRES - PUBLIC CORPORATIONS.

- § 256. Issue of negotiable securities. 257. Borrowing money by school districts.
 - 258. Incurring liability in excess of funds in the treasury and amount of tax allowed for one year.
 - 259, incurring a debt without provision by taxation for interest and sinking fund.
 - 260. Employment of an agent to negotiate bonds.
 - 261. Investment of sinking funds.

- § 262. Contract with corporation attorney for legal services.
 - 263. Discount of its warrants by a corporation.
 - 264. Illustrations of ultra vires contracts.
 - 265. Estoppel of a public corporation to deny its liability on an ultra vires contract.
 - 266. Estoppel of a contractor with a public corporation to enforce an ultra vires contract.
 - 267. Injunction of public officialsrules.

§ 256. Issue of negotiable securities.—The officers or official agents of counties, as well as other municipal corporations, without express legislation, have no power to issue commercial paper and thereby impose upon the corporation the duties and liabilities incident to such paper. In a case before the federal court a city had entered into a contract with a firm by which the latter agreed to vest title in the city to certain strips of land, to do certain other things with reference to widening a street, and to secure certain sewer privileges and the relocation of certain tracks of railroads, and the city agreed to pay them for such real estate and their services. In payment of the same the city issued to this firm certain "certificates of indebtedness" and delivered them to the bank to which the firm had contracted to sell them. held in the United States Circuit Court that, in the absence of any special statutory authority, a city had no right to issue such certificates in negotiable form, even in payment for property which it had authority to buy.2

County, 100 Ill. 495.

¹ People ex rel. v. Johnson, 100 Ill. city were discussed by the courts, and 537; People ex rel. v. Kingsbury, 100 the powers thereunder given were de-Ill. 509; People ex rel. v. La Salle clared in the opinion. THAYER, J., said: "[The city] had [the] right [to Bangor Savings Bank v. City of contract with this firm for the acqui-Stillwater, (1891), 46 Fed. Rep. 899. sition of land and privileges, we think, The provisions of the charter of the under power conferred upon the

§ 257. Borrowing money by school districts.—As a general rule a corporation, either public or private, has an implied power to borrow money for objects expressly authorized by the statute by which it was created and endowed with corporate powers and privileges, but if such power is expressly or by agree with them, that the so-called contract power expressly given. further held that no implication arises finances of the city council, city council * * * 'to open, cs- from any equities which may be set tablish, vacate and widen streets, to up by the maker of it, are, in their construct, maintain and extend sew- nature and in their legal effect, esseners, and to condemn and purchase the tially different transactions. Merrill lands necessary to be used for street v. Town of Monticello, 138 U. S. 673; and sewer purposes.' * * * These s. c., 11 Sup. Ct. Rep. 441, 448. Sec, powers were sufficient to authorize the also, Claiborne Co. v. Brooks, 111 U. S. city council to contract with the firm 400, 486; s. c., 4 Sup. Ct. Rep. 489; to purchase the lands in question, and Police Jury r. Britton, 15 Wall. 566; to render the services which they un- Young r. Clarendon Township, 133 dertook to render for and in behalf of U.S. 340; s. c., 10 Sup. Ct. Rep. 107. the city. But it is a different ques- In the present instance it appears that tion whether the city and authority to the so-called 'certificate' or 'bond' pay for such services in the manner remains in the hands of the original proposed; that is to say, by the issue payee, the Bangor Savings Bank; it of certificates of indebtedness, pay- has not been negotiated, and it conable to order and running one, two tains on its face a recital that it was and three years. Plaintiff's attorneys issued in consideration of the perstrenuously insist, and in that we formance by [this firm] of a certain * * * dated December 'certificates of indebtedness' are in 21, 1887,' which is notice to the holder reality negotiable bonds or notes, of the provisions of that contract. which, under the law-merchant, may No question of estoppel or touching be transferred by indorsement from the superior rights of a transferee for hand to hand, so as to cut off equities value can arise in this case. The of defense. In a recent case, which point to be determined is simply contains an elaborate review of previ- whether the city of Stillwater had any ous decisions on the same subject, the authority, under its charter, to issue doctrine was restated that municipal negotiable bonds to [this firm] for the corporations have no power to utter land to be procured and the services commercial paper, unless it is ex- to be rendered, and this question we pressly conferred upon them by law think must be answered in the negaor is clearly implied from some other tive. By [a certain] section * * * It was of its charter 'the committee on that a municipality may make com- upon order of the council, may, from mercial paper and put the same on the time to time, borrow for and in behalf market from the fact that it is ex- of said city such sums of money as pressly authorized to borrow money. may be necessary for temporary pur-'To borrow money,' say the court, poses, and to anticipate the current 'and to give a bond or obligation revenue only.' It is obvious, we therefor which may circulate in the think, that the issue of bonds to [this market as a negotiable security, freed firm], under the circumstances and for implication denied by such statute, then no such power exists. The trustee of a school township, for instance, in Indiana, under the provisions of the school law which, by implication, deny the existence of such a power, cannot negotiate a loan for money and execute a note for its payment.1 But where them negotiable bonds. liability."

ship, (1881) 75 Ind. 868. The court money received from the school reve-

the purpose explained, cannot be sup- said: "Section 7 [of the school law] ported under this clause. Short, tem- provides, inter alia, that the trustee porary loans, in anticipation of, and to shall receive and pay out the special be paid out of the current revenue for school revenue and also the revenue the year, is all that this section con- for tuition appropriated to his towntemplates. Again, by [other] sections ship, and shall pay out the same for * * * the city was authorized to the purposes for which such revenues issue and sell bonds and put the avails were collected and apportioned. Secthereof in the city treasury to create tion 10 in express words places the what is termed a 'permanent improve- trustee in charge of all the educament fund.' Whether the city had tional affairs of the township and emalready issued all the bonds authorized powers him to employ teachers and to create the permanent improvement to build and furnish school houses. fund does not appear, but that is im- These provisions do undoubtedly conmaterial, as, in our view, it could not fer broad and comprehensive powers issue the so-called 'certificates' un- upon township trustees, and were der the sections of the charter last there no restrictive provisions we referred to, its duty having been in should be compelled to hold that, our judgment to pay [the firm] in with this broad grant of express powmoney out of the 'permanent im- ers, there was coupled the incidental provement fund,' as the charter seems one of borrowing money. We think, to contemplate, instead of issuing to however, that there are restrictive The only provisions which, fairly construed, other authority to be found in the city must be held to deny the authority to charter to issue negotiable paper is negotiate bonds. In section 6 it is contained in [a section authorizing] provided that the county auditor, in an issue of bonds to meet other mu-fixing the penalty of the bond of turing bonds of the city when there trustees, 'shall see to their sufficiency was a deficiency in the 'sinking to secure the school revenues which fund;' but it also contains the follow- may come into their hands.' There is ing important prohibition in the con- here a clear implication that the only cluding paragraph of the section, money which a trustee can officially to wit: 'But neither said city council receive is that yielded by the school nor any officer or officers of said city revenues. Money obtained by horshall otherwise, without special author-rowing cannot be said to be school ity of law, have authority to issue any revenue. If an action were brought bonds or create any debt or liability upon the trustee's bond, and the only against said city in excess of the breach shown should be the misanamount of revenue actually levied and propriation of money obtained by applicable to the payment of such borrowing it, it is clear that the action would fail, for the reason that the Wallis v. Johnson School Town- penalty of the bond extends only to money is thus borrowed for a school township district by its trustee, and actually and rightfully expended for the benefit of the school corporation it will be liable for the amount. In a later case the Indiana Supreme Court adhered to the ruling that the trustee of a school corporation has no authority to borrow money and execute promissory notes therefor in the name of the corporation.2

$ 258. Incurring liability in excess of funds in the treasury and amount of tax allowed for one year.— The Minnesota purposes."

of the township."

cases where the school corporation disburse the funds allotted to it."

nues. The sources from which school actually received the property purrevenues are derived are created and chased, that subrogation can take defined by law, and it is from these place. It is well known that subrogasources only that the trustee has a tion arises, not by contract, but by right to secure money for school force of equitable principles, and only in cases where good conscience re-¹ Wallis v. Johnson School Town- quires that it should take place in ship, (1881) 75 Ind. 368. See, also, order to prevent injustice." Upon the Bicknell v. Widner School Township, subject of estoppel, it was said: "It 73 Ind. 501. Where the money bor- is a fundamental principle that a govrowed was actually used in paying for ernmental corporation is not estopped a school house, the township was held by the act of an officer in cases where liable as "for money had and received, the act is beyond the scope of his auwhich was applied to the lawful use thority. Public corporations stand on an essentially different ground from ² Union School Township v. First private ones, and other rules which National Bank of Crawfordsville, (1885) apply to the one class do not apply to 102 Ind. 464; citing in addition to the other in cases where the doctrine the two cases last cited, First National of ultra vires is invoked. Driftwood Bank r. Union School Township, 75 Valley Turnpike Co. v. Board, etc., 72 Ind. 361; Pine Civil Township v. Ind. 236; Cummins v. City of Seymour, Huber Manufacturing Co., 83 Ind. 79 Ind. 491, 497; s. c., 41 Am. Rep. 121; Reeve School Township r. Dod- 618. But the power of a school corson, 98 Ind. 497. Upon this point it poration is much more limited than is said by the court in Union School ordinary public corporations, for there Township v. First National Bank of is no general power to incur debts or Crawfordsville, (1885) 102 Ind. 464, execute evidences of indebtedness, 475: "It is true that we have held and, certainly, no such power exists that where the money received on where the school trustee is provided notes executed in the name of the with money from the school revenues. school corporation goes to pay for The school corporation is, in truth, property received by it, the person one of unusually limited powers, for advancing the money will be subro- the only source from which it can gated to the claim of the person who derive money is the school fund or actually furnished the property, but school revenues, and, strictly speakwe have steadily held that it is only in ing, its only power is to receive and statutes as to counties and their financial management have been construed by the Supreme Court of that state, and they have held that the board of county commissioners has no power to incur liability for the county, which, with the ordinary current yearly expenses and other liabilities payable within a year, will exceed both the amount of funds in the county treasury and the maximum amount which can be assessed as one year's taxes for county purposes according to the tax lists on file when the contract is made under which the liability will be incurred. Nor can the board, in addition to anticipating the above resources, in incurring liability also anticipate uncollected taxes. It has no power to anticipate in a year more than a year's uncollected taxes assessed at the maximum rate. They held further that, under the general laws of that state, a board of county commissioners has no power to issue bonds for the erection of a court house.1 The same court in a recent case held that a contract made by the city council of a leading city of that state for lighting its streets for a term of five years was, under its charter, void, unless the funds on hand and the taxes actually levied when the contract was made were sufficient to cover all the liability incurred by the contract and payable during the five years, and also to cover the current expenses and other existing liabilities of the fiscal year for which such taxes were levied; further, the conditions required to make the contract valid were so exceptional that its validity would not be presumed.3 The United States Circuit Court for ¹ Rogers v. Board of Comrs. of liability matures. To this it may be 6 N. W. Rep. 411.

(Minn. 1894) 59 N. W. Rep. 1098 and Rogers r. Board of Comrs., sections of the charter regulating the the court held that a liability was tract this year, to be performed in performance paid for, until after the in part the year after, and paid for available to pay it. There the county only as performed, is not incurring commissioners were limited in incurliability at the time the contract is ring liability to the maximum amount made, as the tax will be levied before which could be levied in one year the debt is created; that is, before the according to the tax lists then on file.

Le Sueur County, (Minn. 1894) 59 N. answered that a liability is incurred W. Rep. 488. See, also, Johnston v. when the contract is made. The point County of Becker, 27 Minn. 64; s. c., here involved is disposed of in the cases of Johnston v. County of Becker. ⁹Kiichli v. City of Minneapolis, 27 Minn. 64; s. c., 6 N. W. Rep. 411, The court, after reciting the various (Minn. 1894) 59 N. W. Rep. 488, where financial conduct of the city's affairs, incurred when the contract was made. said: "It is urged that making a con- though not to be performed, or the part this year, in part next year, and taxes of subsequent years would be the western district of Missouri has held that the charter provision forbidding the council of a city to appropriate any money in excess of the revenue for the fiscal year actually collected or to bind the city by any contract or act in any liability until a definite sum shall first be appropriated for the liquidation of all liability flowing therefrom, did not apply so as to prevent the council accepting a devise of lands for a public park, subject to an annuity to the widow of the devisor during her life, which annuity was paid by annual appropriation from the general fund, as the council was vested by other provisions of the charter with ample powers to acquire land for this purpose, either by devise, or by actual purchase, to be paid for out of the general funds in annual installments.1

§ 259. Incurring a debt without provision by taxation for interest and sinking fund.— A city in Texas contracted for the building of a bridge, agreeing to pay a certain sum therefor, onchalf on delivery of the material and the remainder on completion and acceptance of the bridge. This contract was held in the United States Circuit Court to create a debt within the constitutional provision that no city shall create any debt unless at the same time provision be made by taxation for payment of interest and creation of a sinking fund. The contract was, therefore, in case no such provision was made for interest and sinking fund, held invalid, notwithstanding payment of the contract price was secured by the proceeds, paid into the city treasury, of bonds issued for that purpose in accordance with the provisions of the charter of the city requiring creation of a fund for payment of interest and as a sinking fund by special tax; also, it was held that a debt created by such contract could not be regarded as a current expense of the city payable out of current revenues. And there could be no recovery upon a contract void as in contravention of the constitutional provisions of the value of the bridge as upon an implied contract.2

Here the limitation is more stringent. liability is incurred."

735.

Berlin Iron Bridge Co. v. City of It limits the city council, in incurring San Antonio, (1894) 62 Fed. Rep. 882. liability, to the amount of the tax Sec City of Corpus Christi v. Woess-'actually levied' at the time the ner, 58 Tex. 462; Biddle v. City of Terrell, 82 Tex. 385; s. c., 18 S. W. Budd v. Budd, (1894) 59 Fed. Rep. Rep. 691; City of Terrell v. Dessaint, 71 Tex. 773; s. c., 9 S. W. Rep. 593;

§ 260. Employment of an agent to negotiate bonds.—In a late California case the action was against a county by one upon a contract with the county board to secure bids for county bonds. The Supreme Court held the employment of this person by the county board for this purpose to be a void act, and that his acts in pursuance of such employment, however beneficial they may have been to the county, created no liability against it.1

Bell v. Live Stock Co., (Tex.) 11 S. W. board of supervisors of said county. Tex. 532.

Rep. 344; City of Bryan v. Page, 51 No sale shall be made of any such bonds except to the highest bidder, ¹ Smith v. County of Los Angeles, after advertising bids for the purchase (1893) 99 Cal. 628; s. c., 34 Pac. Rep. of the same" in the manner pre-439. Upon the power of the county scribed. And subdivision 35 of the board to make this contract, the court same section empowers the board "to in discussing the point states the follow- do and perform all other acts and ing provision of the "County Govern- things required by law not in this act ment Act" of that state: Section 25 enumerated, or which may be necesof the act provides that "the board of sary to the full discharge of the duties supervisors in their respective counties of the legislative authority of the have jurisdiction and power, under county government." Section 6 of such limitations and restrictions as are the same act provides that "all conprescribed by law," to create a bonded tracts, authorizations, allowances, payindebtedness and to issue bonds of the ments and liabilities to pay, made or county, as provided by section 37 of attempted to be made in violation of said act, and subdivision 14 of section 25 this act, shall be absolutely void, and provides that "whenever bonds issued shall never be the foundation or basis under this chapter shall be duly exe- of a claim against the treasury of such cuted * * * they shall be de- county. * * * " And section 36 livered to the county treasurer, and thereof provides that "the board must his receipt taken therefor, and he shall not for any purpose contract debts or stand charged on his official bond liabilities except in pursuance of law." with all bonds delivered to him and The court then said: "It is clear that the proceeds thereof, and he shall sell these provisions of the statute confer the same or exchange them under the no express power upon the board of direction of the board of supervisors, supervisors to make such a con-* * * He shall also keep a record tract as the one sought to be recovered of bonds sold or exchanged by him, on in this action; and unless it can be * * * and shall also report, under implied from subdivision 35 referred outh to the board, at each regular ses- to then it follows that no such power sion, a statement of all bonds sold or exists, and the contract sued on is exchanged by him since the preceding therefore, void, because not made in report, and the date of such sale or pursuance of law. As the [County exchange * * * and the amount Government Act | distinctly enumerof accrued interest received by him ates the acts which the board is reon such sale or exchange, * * * quired to perform with reference to but such bonds shall not be sold or ex- the issuance and disposal of county changed for any indebtedness of the bonds; and, as the employment of a county, except by the approval of the procurer of bids for bonds delivered § 261. Investment of sinking funds.—The Supreme Court of Illinois refused a writ of mandamus to compel the treasurer of a county to invest funds of the county, held as a sinking fund, to pay legally issued bonds of the county, in certain other securities of the county, as directed by a resolution of the board of county commissioners. In the opinion they state that the contention of the petitioner was, that there was an implied power in the board to order such investment, embraced in the provision conferring upon county boards power "to manage the county funds and county business, except as otherwise specially provided." Of this contention, the court said: "This cannot be understood to give to county boards the absolute and unlimited power of management of county funds, where there is the absence of any specific provision of law to the contrary. It hardly means more, we think, than a power to manage the county funds and county business according to law. See Rothrock v. Carr, 55 Ind. 334. We certainly cannot allow to it any such scope as giving a general power to county boards to invest surplus funds in the county treasury in such manner as they shall see fit. So far from there being any provision of law which, in express words, or by necessary implication, authorizes the action taken by the county board in this case, section 39, 'that whenever a tax is levied for the payment of a specific debt, the amount of such tax collected shall be kept as a separate fund in the county treasury, and expended only in the liquidation of such indebtedness,' would seem to prohibit the doing of what has been here attempted. We would not be understood, however, as applying this provision with such strictness as to deny all power of investment what-change of bonds by him is made sub- conferred and defined by law." ject to the approval of the board; in to the treasurer for sale or exchange other words, the bid for the bonds is under the law was not in any way solicited and obtained upon the adnecessary to the full discharge of the vertisement by the treasurer for such legislative authority of the county bid, and the law recognizes no other government, no such implied authority mode of procurement. The treasurer to make such a contract was conferred alone procures the bid, the mode and upon the board as contended for. The manner of such procurement being board of supervisors cannot sell or specifically pointed out by statute. negotiate the sale of its county bonds. The making of the contract in ques-That power is expressly conferred by tion by the board of supervisors was statute on the county treasurer, and is an unwarranted, if not a pragmatical, to be exercised by him under the direc- interference with the power and duties tion of the board, and the sale or ex- of the county treasurer as expressly ever of the moneys of a sinking fund, and compel them to remain in specie in the county treasury, and lie idle and unproductive until required to be applied to the purpose for which they were raised. In Union Pacific Railroad Co. v. The United States, 99 U. S. 700, the court remark: 'The duty of the manager of every sinking fund is to seek some safe investment for the moneys as they accumulate in his hands, so that when required they may be promptly available." The Illinois court then continued: "An investment, for instance, in the public funds of the United States is, all know, so readily convertible into money, that it would be, essentially, the equivalent of money. Such an investment, we are not prepared to say, would be incompatible with the requirement that the money represented by such investment should be kept as a separate fund in the county treasury, and expended only in liquidation of the indebtedness it was raised to pay. But the same cannot be affirmed of county securities, as to their being the representative of money. Constant experience shows that the promises to pay of a county are quite different from being the equivalent of money in hand." 1 A Texas city, having determined by its council, to invest certain sinking funds, in the hands of its treasurer, in bonds of the city of another series, gave certain warrants for the amount to the parties through which it proposed to make the investment against those sinking funds. The treasurer declined to honor them. The city then brought its writ to compel him, by mandamus to pay, as directed, these warrants. He resisted upon various contentions. Among others, was this contention: That, if the city could invest these funds otherwise than in paying off and canceling the bonds themselves, it could not invest them in the purchase of its own outstanding bonds of another series, because a purchase by a debtor of a debt against himself ipso facto works a cancellation thereof. Over this contention the Court of Appeals of that state held that the power to invest in its own bonds of another series existed in the city.2

III. 286, 289, 240.

Civ. App. 1894) 27 S. W. Rep. 789. security alive by having the creditor Arguendo, the court said: "It must be make a transfer to a third party. 1 conceded that [the statement of the Jones' Mortg. 948-946. contention] is a correct statement of Jones' Corp. Bonds & Mortg. 325, the law in its application to ordinary where it is said: 'A company may pur-

¹ Cook County v. McCrea, (1879) 93 by the debtor in the same capacity in which he owes the debt, but even in Elser v. City of Fort Worth, (Tex. such cases, it is very easy to keep the cases in which the purchase is made chase its own bonds as an investment.

§ 262. Contract with corporation attorney for legal services.—The question of whether the commissioners of a county in Pennsylvania were authorized to make a contract with the county solicitor to take proceedings to obtain credit for the county in its accounts with the commonwealth for all unpaid taxes on personal property, for which he was to have as compensation twenty-five per centum upon the amount or amounts which might be credited, received the full consideration of the Supreme Court of that state, and they held that such contract was ultru vires.1 The Supreme Court of Kansas has held a contract made

(for instance, if A., as trustee, should, rule would apply, and we are of opinion that as to those funds set apart for special purposes, both by the law city council, as in this case, the city must be regarded as a trustee pur-and reissue them. If the facts show funds, held by the state; in its own that there was no intention of paying bonds, and by the different counties the bonds, but they were regarded in their own obligations. We believe and reputed by the company as still that it has never been contended that outstanding, they are valid in the a purchase of this kind cancels the hands of a subsequent purchaser, and bonds thus acquired. We do not reare secured by the lien of the mort- gard the opinions in the cases of Bank gage.' But, be this as it may, it will r. Grace, 102 N. Y. 313; s. c., 7 N. E. hardly be contended that if the pur- Rep. 102, and Wilds r. Railroad ('o., chase be made in a different capacity 102 N. Y. 410; s. c., 7 N E. Rep. than that in which the debt is owed 290, as conflicting herewith. Those decisions were controlled entirely by with the trust fund, purchase a debt the statutes and ordinances therein which he owes as an individual), the construed, which were quite dissimilar to the provisions contained in the charter of this city."

¹County of Lancaster v. Fulton. and by the ordinances passed by the (1889) 128 Pa. St. 48. The court, speaking through STERRETT, J., said: "In substance, the defense interposed chasing with the trust fund a debt by the county was, that at the time the which it owes as an individual, and resolution [referring to the contract] that the debt so purchased is not can- was adopted plaintiff below 'was the celed, but is kept alive for all pur- duly elected and qualified solicitor' of poses, and becomes the property of the county, serving under the act of the cestui que trust — the special fund February 18, 1870, at a salary of five -just as the house and lot taken hundred dollars, fixed by that act; and, from a defaulting collector was said for that reason, neither he nor the by our Supreme Court, in the case of county commissioners had any power City of Sherman r. Williams, 84 Tex. or authority to enter into the contract, 421; s. c., 19 S. W. Rep. 606, to be- under which the services were rencome the property of such a fund. dered and on which the claim is We think this view receives striking founded. It is conceded that when illustrations in numerous provisions the contract was made and for a conof our Constitution and laws, author- siderable time thereafter plaintiff beizing the investment of special funds, low was the duly elected and qualisuch as the university and public schoo. fled solicitor of the county.

by the board of county commissioners for the county with attornevs at law, for their services as such, which services the law requires the county attorney to perform, ultra vives and void.1

§ 263. Discount of its warrants by a corporation. — Λ county in North Dakota created from portions of two other the said board in all proceedings in and cannot be enforced.

4th section of the act under which he the office of county solicitor, provid was elected declares: 'The salary of ing for his election and fixing his the officer elected as hereinbefore pro- salary, etc., was to take the power out vided shall be five hundred dollars per of the hands of the county commisannum, payable quarterly; and the sioners and place it beyond their officer so elected shall be the legal reach. But, be that as it may, we adviser of the board of commissioners think the contract was ultru virus and of Lancaster county, and shall repre- void. * * * " Further on, referring sent the said board in all proceedings to the trial judge's charge, it is said: in law or equity wherein the said "In saying, as he correctly did, that county is a party or has any interest.' if the services of plaintiff below 'had He was undoubtedly a public officer been rendered while he was county within the meaning of the Constitu- solicitor, then there could be no tion, article III, $ 13, and article XIV, recovery,' the learned judge rightly $$ 1 and 5, the first of which declares: assumed that the contract in question 'No law shall extend the term of any was unauthorized and illegal. All public officer or increase or diminish such contracts, whether intended to be his salary or emoluments after his so or not, are in effect evasive and election or appointment.' The services subversive of law, contrary to public for which the contract in question policy, and, therefore, void. They undertakes to provide are clearly are no more capable of ratification within the sphere of the duties of the than was the contract in Hunter r. 'solicitor of Lancaster county' as Nolf, 71 Pa. St. 282. Speaking of the defined by the act of February 18, illegal contract under consideration in 1870. He 'shall be the legal adviser that case, Mr. Justice Sharswood said: of the board of commissioners of 'It is undisputed law that such a con-Lancaster county and shall represent tract is illegal as against public policy law or equity wherein said county is there had been an express contract on a party or has any interest.' What entirely different terms than those authority then had either the plaintiff agreed upon before, it ought to be below or the county commissioners to viewed with a considerable degree of enter into a contract to compensate the suspicion as an attempt to evade a former for services within the sphere sound and salutary rule of public of his duties as solicitor of the county? policy.' A case more nearly parallel We are of opinion that they had none; with this in some of its features is that the act of the commissioners in Chester County v. Barber, 97 Pa. St. undertaking to bind the county to pay 455. Barber, one of the plaintiffs the compensation provided for in the below, was attorney for the county of contract was ultra vires. Doubtless Chester, but it did not appear whether the very object of the act in creating he was serving under an annual salary counties, though its board of commissioners, made a contract with one to make a transcript of the records of those two counties so far as they affected the territory embraced in the new county at an agreed price for which he was to be paid in a county warrant for such a sum as, at the prevailing discount of such warrants, would raise the amount which was to be paid him. The validity of these warrants issued by the county was contested in the courts. The Supreme Court held the warrant to be wholly illegal and void from its inception, for the reason that the county commissioners, in the absence of legislative authority, either general or special, to do so, were without power to enter into such an arrangement.1 One of the warrants sued on in this case repretrust estate as compensation to counsel ment, etc." for services in connection therewith.

¹Waters v. Trovillo, (1891) 47 Kans. 197.

fixed by act of assembly or under a his previous engagement as solicitor to special agreement with the commiss- the commissioners.' If it had apsioners. The county commissioners, peared in that case that Barber was however, made a contract with him acting under a salary, fixed by act of and two other attorneys to pay them assembly (as was Mr Fulton in this lifty per cenium of the amount they case), and that his defined duty was recovered from the state for taxes to act as a legal adviser of the comimprovidently paid into the state missioners and represent them in all treasury. Speaking for the court, the proceedings at law or in equity present chief justice said: 'The com- wherein the county had any interest, missioners had no power to bind the it is not likely that any doubt as to his county by such a contract. * * * legal status would have been sug-It was against public policy, and, gested. According to the reasoning therefore, null and void. * * * of the opinion the contract as to him These commissioners were acting in a would have been declared illegal, confiduciary character. They were but trary to public policy, and absolutely trustees of the money when received void. We are, therefore, of opinion for the use of the county. When, that the learned judge erred in holdtherefore, they contracted to give one- ing that plaintiff below might recover half of it to the plaintiffs for their if the commissioners recognized his services they exceeded their power, services after the expiration of his They were giving what did not belong term of office as county solicitor; to them. As well might a trustee that such recognition would be a raticontract to give away one-half of the fication of the original illegal agree-

¹Erskine v. Steele County, (N. D. And, if he may give away one-half, 1894) 60 N. W. Rep. 1050. The holders why not three-fourths, or even a of the warrant cited specially in supgreater proportion? Can it be doubted port of their position the case of that a court of equity would strike Kilvington v. City of Superior, 88 Wis. down such a contract as improvident 222; s. c., 53 N. W. Rep. 487. The and a legal fraud? * * * Whether Supreme Court of North Dakota the plaintiff Barber can recover any- referred to that case in these words: thing will depend upon the terms of "In [that case] the court held that sented entirely the discount of the warrant which was issued to the contractor for transcribing the certain records of the two counties from which this county was created. This warrant the Supreme Court of North Dakota held also to be wholly illegal and void for the reason that the county commissioners were without power to enter into an agreement for such discount.1 or abate nuisances, is sufficient to such discount transactions. commissioners by any law of the such order the warrant issued. any such contract was, in our opinion, from paying the warrant. 827."

"Essentially the same question has county when made by a county the general power conferred upon been frequently presented to courts village trustees to 'appoint a board in other jurisdictions, and the auof health to prevent the deposit of thorities, so far as we have examined unwholesome substances, and prevent them, are unanimous in condemning authorize a contract for the erection Dillon, in his learned treatise upon of a crematory for the consumption of Municipal Corporations (Vol. 1 [4th any matter calculated to affect the ed.], § 503), says: 'Without express health or comfort of the community.' authority from the legislature, a The reason of this holding is plain, municipality cannot discount its war-While the authority to erect a crema- rants for more than the sum actually tory was not expressly conferred by due the claimant, and as to the excess the legislature upon the trustees, such they are void, and the holder will be authority was implied if necessary in treated only as the equitable assignee carrying out the power to abate of the valid, legal claim of the payee.' muisances, etc., which power was In Foster v. Coleman, 10 Cal. 278, a given in clear terms. But we see no claim for services to the amount of analogy in the case cited to the case $1,650 was allowed by the board of at bar. The right to enter into such supervisors. County warrants of the a contract, as that concluded with the county were then at a discount, and [one who did the transcribing] was not worth only forty cents on the dollar. expressly conferred upon the com- The board ordered a warrant to missioners, nor was such authority issue for a sum which, at this prevailnecessary or at all appropriate to the ing discount, would sell for $1,650, execution of any power vested in the the amount due the claimant. Upon territory then existing. In the absence taxpayer of the county brought suit of legislative authority authorizing it and the county treasurer was enjoined clearly ultra vires in character. We. Supreme Court, in the course of its therefore, hold that the warrant was opinion, referring to the order of the wholly void from its inception. It board directing the warrant to issue. was issued without authority of law said: 'The effect of the order was to and upon no legal consideration, create a debt or liability on the part Rasmusson v. County of Clay, 41 Minn. of the county, and this the super-288; s. c., 43 N. W. Rep. 3; Pugh visors were not empowered to do for v. Good, 19 Or. 85; s. c., 23 Pac. Rep. any purpose except as provided by law. Their action was entirely with-¹Erskine v. Steele County, (N. D. out authority, and altogether inde-(1894) 60 N. W. Rep. 1050. Upon this fensible.' The settlement and allowbranch of the case, the court said: ance of an illegal claim against the § 264. Illustrations of ultra vires acts.—Furnishing aid to a gravel road or turnpike company in building or repairing its road at the expense of a county, or entering into contracts with them for the future repairs of a bridge or the approaches of a bridge, being beyond the powers of a county, a board of commissioners of a county have no authority to make contracts for such purposes.1 Without enabling authority a municipal corporation cannot purchase lands and lots at a tax sale. Such a power is not included in a general authority to buy and hold real estate for the convenience of the corporation.² But where a municipal board, has no more conclusive effect road company to aid in the construcresults. of Little Rock, 35 Ark. 75.

power, without affirmative legislation, 384." to make an appropriation from its than such an adjustment would have tion of its road. The court, among if made by private persons. See other things, said: 'The counties are Commissioners v. Keller, 6 Kans. 511. corporations created for the purpose In a recent case clearly in point, the of convenient local municipal govern-Supreme Court of the state of Wash- ment, and possess only such powers as ington, in referring to the act of a are conferred upon them by law. municipality in discounting its own They act by a board of commissioners warrants, uses the following language: whose authority is defined by statute. 'Such a proceeding is manifestly be- One of the powers conferred is to colyoud the scope of legitimate cor- lect taxes levied upon the people and porate power, and a practice of that property within the county. In the character might lead to various disposition of the money thus col-City warrants are evidence lected into the general treasury the of indebtedness, or promises to pay, board has not unlimited discretionary and are payable with interest pre- choice as to the objects upon which it scribed by law: and the corporation shall be expended. It can only be apcannot cast upon the taxpayers any plied to certain specified objects, and further burden in respect thereto, the building of milroads is not one of and the courts have uniformly, as far these objects, or necessary to carry as we are advised, disapproved of any into effect any of the purposes for effort to do so.' Arnott v. City of which such corporations were created.' Spokane, 6 Wash, St. 442; s. c., 33 Pac. In Burnett v. Abbott, 51 Ind. 254, the Rep. 1063. See, also, Clark v. Des- county board made a contract con-Moines, 19 Iowa, 199; Bauer v. Frank- ditionally to pay certain expenses of lin County, 51 Mo. 205; Ehirk v. Pu-boring wells for oil and digging for laski County, 4 Dill. 209: s. c., Fed. minerals. The contract was held void Cas. No. 12,794." See Pugh v. City for want of authority to enter into it. Nor can the board appropriate the Driftwood Valley Turnpike Co. v. funds of the county to the payment Board of Comrs. of Bartholomew of the debts of a county agricultural County, (1880) 72 Ind. 226. The court joint-stock company or to the buildsaid: "In the case of Harney v. ing of school houses. Warren County Indianapolis, etc., R. R. Co., 32 Ind. Agricultural Joint-Stock Co. v. Barr, 244, it was held that a county had no 55 Ind. 30; Rothrock v. Carr, 55 Ind.

² City of Champaign r. Harmon, treasury by way of donation to a rail- (1881) 98 Ill. 491. It was said by the corporation is vested with general authority to purchase real estate for any purpose, a vendor of land to a municipal corporation will not be allowed to avoid his contract by insisting that his deed is void, because the corporation may have exceeded its powers in making such purchase.1 In a case before the Supreme Court of Alabama, an action to enforce a penal bond given by a such power arise, by implication, from any of the ordinary powers conterred powers granted. real estate beyond the corporate limits. municipality."

Mayor, etc., of New York, (1850) 3 N. ton, 90 Ky. 390. Y. 480, the Court of Appeals of court: "Municipal corporations are New York held that it was beyond creatures of the statutes, and can only the power of the corporation to asexercise such powers as are expressly sume the defense of suits brought conferred, or such as arise, by impli- against the county supervisors indication, from general powers granted. vidually for the penalty incurred by In this case the plaintiff corporation is them for neglecting the duty of auditempowered by its charter to buy and ing the salaries of certain judges aphold real property, but that must be pointed under a statute which they asunderstood to be purchases made in sumed to be unconstitutional, and was the ordinary way, and only for corpo- afterwards held to be unconstitutional, rate purposes, and a grant to purchase or to pay the judgments and costs rereal property for particular purposes covered against those supervisors, upon would seem to be a limitation on the the principle that such corporations are powers of such corporations, and creatures of limited powers, especially would exclude, by necessary imphea- upon the subject of the appropriation tion, all purchases for mere specula- of the funds of the people, as settled tion or profit. Power to purchase real in Hodges v. City of Buffalo, 2 Den. estate for speculative purposes is not 110. Ultra vires contracts of municiamong the usual powers bestowed palities. Bourdeaux r. Coquard, 47 on municipal corporations, nor does Ill App 254, Sang r. City of Duluth, (Minn.) 59 N. W. Rep. 878; City of Aberdeen v. Honey, 8 Wash. 251; s. on such corporations. Authority to c., 35 Pac. Rep. 1097; Penley v. City buy and hold real estate is only given of Auburn, 85 Me. 278; s. c., 27 Atl. to them to that extent that may be Rep. 158; East St. Louis Gas Light & necessary to carry into effect corporate Coke Co. v. City of East St. Louis, 47 Under a general Ill. App. 411; Hayward v. Board of grant of power to buy and hold real Trustees of Town of Red Cliff, (Colo.) property, it is understood municipal 36 Pac. Rep. 795; Town of Newport corporations may buy and hold such v. Batesville & B. Ry. Co., 58 Ark. property, within the corporate limits, 270; s. c., 24 S. W. Rep. 427; Lamar as may be necessary for corporate pur- Water & Electric Light Co. v. City of poses, and may even buy and hold Lamar, (Mo.) 26 S. W. Rep. 1025; Griswold v. City of East St. Louis, 47 for the location of cemeteries, pest III. App. 480; Hamilton v. City of houses and other purposes connected Shelbyville, 6 Ind. App. 538; City of with the sanitary condition of the Nashville v. Sutherland, 92 Tenn. 335; State v. City of Bayonne, 55 N. J. ¹ City of Champaign v. Harmon, Law, 268; Hintrager v. Richter, 85 (1881) 98 III. 491. In Halstead v. Iowa, 222, Bateman v. City of Coving-

private corporation to a municipal corporation for the faithful application by the private corporation of bonds of the nunicipal corporation loaned by it, without authority under its charter, to aid in the construction of the works of the private corporation, the bond was held to be invalid and not enforceable by suit; further, that its validity was not affected by the subsequent sale or transfer of the municipal bonds by the private corporation, and that the private corporation contracting with the municipal corporation for the construction of works which the latter had no authority to construct and had received the benefit of the contract, was not estopped when sued by the municipality from setting up its want of authority to make the contract.1

§ 265. Estoppel of a public corporation to deny its liability on an ultra vires contract.— A manufacturing corporation which furnished school furniture to a school district of Kansas brought its action against the district to recover the value of the goods sold and delivered to it. It appeared in the pleadings and record before the Supreme Court, that the court below took the view that the written order set up in the petition, and, also, the written contract made by the board of directors with the agent of the plaintiff for the furniture, were void because unauthor-The Supreme Court, having referred to the findings of the court below that the furniture had been in use by the school district for a period of nearly five and a half years, said: "It may be conceded, for the purpose of this case, that both these written instruments were void, and that no action could be maintained on either or both of them, yet the defendant district, having received and retained the property, which the court finds to have been fairly worth the price stated in the written contract, is which the legislature have withheld. Co. v. Ely, 5 Conn. 560. A proposition so erroneous can scarcely

1 City Council of Montgomery v. need argument to overturn it. See on Wetumpka Plank Road Co, (1857) 31 this point Pennsylvania, Delaware & Ala. 76. The court said: If the [doc- Maryland Steam Nav. Co. n Dantrine contra the text] be established, dridge, 8 Gill & J. 248, 319, 320, and these corporations, no matter how authorities cited; Albert v. Savings limited their powers, may make them- Bank of Baltimore, 1 Md. Ch. Dec. selves omnipotent. They have only 407-413; Smith r. Ala. Life Ins. & to induce persons to contract with Trust ('o, 4 Ala, 558; Hodges v. ('ity them beyond the scope of their powers of Buffalo, 2 Denio, 110; Life & Fire and their very usurpations have the Ins. (o. c. Mechanic Fire Ins. Co., 7 effect of conferring powers on them Wend. 31; New York Firemen Ins.

bound, in common honesty, to pay for it. During all the time this furniture has been in the possession of the defendant district, it is fair to presume that the school house which was furnished with the seats and desks purchased from the plaintiff, was used in the same manner as school houses are ordinarily used. It is fair to presume that school district meetings were therein held annually at the time appointed by law. It is fair to presume that the school district board met there and caused the seats to placed in the building and to be used by the district. The board and the residents of the school district must all have known of the use of this property, and their continued retention and use of it shows a perfect and complete ratification of the purchase made by the district officers." In the case of Sullivan v. School District, 39 Kans. 347, it was held that a contract for the construction of a school house, made by one member of the school district board alone, on behalf of the district, might be ratified and made binding on the whole school district. This case came again before this court, and is reported in 48 Kans. 624, and the court then held that: "A contract for building a school house, void because made only by one member of the school board, may be ratified and made hinding by the action of the school district in completing the building left unfinished by an absconding contractor, by furnishing the same with seats, desks and other necessary school house furniture, by occupying the same for school house purposes, and by insuring the same." A bill was filed by a taxpayer in Iowa against the vendor of land sold to a county for a poor house farm, the county treasurer and supervisors, to which the county was not made a party, to have the contract set aside as being ultra vires, and the treasurer enjoined from paying certain warrants issued for the residue of the purchase money (the county having paid a part of the purchase money and been placed in possession). The Supreme Court held that the bill was not maintainable in a court of equity, because such a decree would be inequitable while the county was allowed to retain the land, and its title could not be disturbed in an action to which it was not a party.2 A corporation which has enjoyed the provisions of a lease from a city, cannot, in an action for rent, claim that neither it nor the city had power to execute the lease. It was insisted in an Indiana case that as a county had received the full benefit of a contract which it was beyond its power to make, it was estopped to set up that it was ultra vires, and to sustain this position counsel relied upon State Board of Agriculture v. Citizens' Street Railway Company, 47 Ind. 407. The Supreme Court said: "That, however, was the case of a private corporation, the street railway company, that sought to avoid its obligation on the ground of want of power to make the contract. There is a broad difference between a private corporation organized for a private purpose, though subserving a public interest, and a public corporation, like a county or city, organized for public purposes only, and whose obligations must be paid from public funds raised for public purposes only. The latter class of corporations may always defend, on the ground that the supposed contract was outside of the authority conferred on it by law.

¹Union School Furniture Company court said: "It appears to us to be r. School District No. 60, in Elk well settled as a rule, with one exceptionty. (1893) 50 Kans. 727, 730, 731. tion, that, where the consideration ²Turner r. Oruzen, (1896) 70 Iowa, received by a corporation under an 202; s. c., 30 N. W. Rep. 483. The ultra vires contract can be restored, a.

court of equity will not relieve the very object of the constitutional procorporation, as against the contract, vision would be defeated." without providing for a restoration of courts should decree repayment, the ing no right to complain of an illegal

¹City of Corpus Christi r. Central the consideration. Pratt r. Short, 53 Wharf & Warehouse Co., (Tex. Civ. How. Pr. 506; Leonard v. City of App. 1894) 27 S. W. Rep. 808. The Canton, 35 Miss. 189; Argenti r. San court said: "There was nothing [in Francisco, 16 Cal. 255, 282; Moore r. this lease contract | immoral or illegal, Mayor, etc., of New York, 73 N. Y. in the sense of an infraction of a posi-238; Lucas County r. Hunt, 5 Ohio tive prohibition of law, in the action Afterwards it was said: of either party. At most, their action "We are aware that there is a class of was in excess of the powers conferred. cases where courts of equity declare a The restrictions upon the powers of contract ultra vires, and grant relief in the city government are imposed by favor of a corporation, without any law for the protection of the inhabitdecree for the restoration of the con- ants of the city and the general public. sideration received by the corporation. By proper proceedings, taken by the This is so where municipal bonds right parties in due time, all such have been issued in excess of the con-transgressions of power may be stitutional limit of indebtedness, and promptly remedied. But, when such the money obtained thereon has been contracts have been allowed to stand expended. Courts of equity decree until fully carried out, it does not lie the cancellation of such bonds, or en- in the mouth of the party who rejoin payment, without decreeing re- ceived their benefits to urge the depayment to the bondholders of the fense of ultra vires." See Bigelow money received by the corporation Estop. 465; 7 Am. & Eng. Encycl. on the bonds. But this results from Law, 20; Beach Priv. Corp. §§ 421the necessity of the case. If the 426, 432, 483. As to a taxpayer hav-

1 Dillon Munic. Corp. § 381, the author, after stating the general doctrine, that the officer of a municipal corporation cannot bind the corporation by any contract which is beyond the scope of its powers, or entirely foreign to the purposes of the corporation, says: 'It results from this doctrine that unauthorized contracts are void, and in actions thereon, the corporation may successfully interpose the plea of ultra vires, setting up as a defense its own want of power under its charter, or constituent statute, to enter into the contract." A county is not estopped as against a warrant issued by one of its officers, from setting up the defense of ultra vires.2 The Kansas Supreme Court has said, upon this matter of estopper of a corporation: "The tendency of the courts and others, at the present time, is to treat corporations, including municipal corporations, with respect to their business transactions, about the same as the courts and others treat individuals, and where a corporation, municipal or otherwise, has received benefits from others, upon contracts ultra vires or void because of some irregularity or want of power in their creation, but not void because made in violation of expression law, or good morals, or public policy, and where the corporation retains such benefits, it must pay for them." 8 Where the act; of a municipal corporation are such as the corporation is prohibited from performing, they will be ultru vires and void, and the corporation and its taxpayers will not be estopped from insisting upon such invalidity even as against parties acquiring rights without knowledge of the fact.4

§ 266. Estoppel of contractor with a public corporation to enforce an ultra vires contract.—In an action by citizens and taxpayers of a town to restrain a contractor from enforcing a judgcontract on the part of a city, such contend that a contract by the board Light Co. v. City of Waco, (Tex. Civ. county, was ultra rires the society App. 1894) 27 S. W. Rep. 675.

¹Driftwood Turnpike Co. r. Board 72 Ind. 226.

1894) 37 N. E. Rep. 782, it was held Greenwood County, 23 Kans. 281. that a county physician could not 4 McPherson v. Foster, 48 Iowa, 48.

contract being voidable only at the with the county medical society, for option of the city, see Waco Water & medical treatment of the poor of the and did not bind its members

⁸ Board of Comrs. of Hamilton of Comrs. of Bartholomew Co., (1880) County r. Webb, (1891) 47 Kans. 101. 105, 106; citing City of Ellsworth r. ⁹ Webster County v. Taylor, 19 Rossiter, (1891) 46 Kans. 237, 242; Iowa, 117. In Woodruff v. Commis- Comrs. of Leavenworth Co. r. Brewer, sioners of Noble County, (Ind. App. 9 Kans 307; Huffmon r. Comrs, of

ment against the town obtained by default and to restrain the town and its officers from paying this contractor anything upon his alleged contract upon which the judgment was rendered, it being alleged in the complaint that the judgment was obtained through the connivance of the officers of the town, it appeared that the town was empowered by its charter to levy special assessments for opening and grading streets upon the real estate in front of, or adjacent to, which such improvements should be made. act provided for the assessing of the costs of such improvements in the first instance upon the property deemed to be benefited thereby; and, further, it was provided in this later act that the town council should "order said improvements to be made by the owners of real estate, or occupants of such real estate, in front of or adjacent to where said improvements are so ordered." There was a further provision that such owners or occupants "shall make or cause to be made said improvements at their own cost and charges," and that in case of their default the council may cause the improvements to be made and assess the expense upon the property. It was not controverted that the statute required that an order should have been made for the adjacent proprietors to make the improvement and opportunity given them to do so before the council could rightfully let a contract for doing it, and it was admitted that this was not done. Whether this contract was ultra vires, and whether the municipality should be heard to interpose that defense to an action by the other party to recover upon the contract after it had been performed, were the points considered by the Minnesota Supreme Court. The court held that the contract was unauthorized, and that, not having been misled by any fact, the contractor was not entitled to recover on such contract.1 The court, after stating the powers of the corporation, and restrictions upon the same, said: "Not only was the party entering into this contract legally chargeable with notice that by the public charter the authority of the council was thus restricted (McDonald v. Mayor, 68 N. Y. 23; Schumm v. Seymour, 24 N. J. Eq. 143), but the allegation in the complaint that the plaintiff warned the defendant that the contract was void before he commenced to perform it, is admitted by the answer. The doctrine of ultra vires has with good reason been applied [:] Newbery v. Fox, (1887) 87 Minn. ing the sustaining of a demurrer to 141; s. c., 38 N. W. Rep. 333, affirm- the answer of defendant.

with greater strictness to municipal bodies than to private corporations, and in general a municipality is not estopped from denying the validity of a contract made by its officers when there has been no authority for making such a contract.1 A different rule of law would, in effect, vastly enlarge the power of public agents to bind a municipality by contract, not only unauthorized but prohibited by the law. It would tend to nullify the limitations and restrictions imposed with respect to the powers of such agents, and to a dangerous extent expose the public to the very evils and abuses which such limitations are designed to prevent. In the case here presented it is not to be denied that the town council had no authority to make this contract; that the charter set forth the conditions which would authorize such a contract to be made: that those prescribed conditions had not been fulfilled. nor did the defendant believe that they had been. The most that appears in his favor is that, without being misled or mistaken as to the fact, but being warned that the contract was void, he nevertheless judged that it was legally valid; and, being also advised by the members of the council, he took the risk of performing it. The contract being thus unauthorized was not effectual as a contract, and the defendant does not appear in a position entitling him to invoke the doctrine of estoppel to aid him in enforcing the claim as though the contract was obligatory upon the town." The Supreme Court of Colorado has held that the provision of the charter of the city involved declaring that neither the city council nor any officer of the city shall make any contract or do any thing binding or imposing upon the city any liability to pay money as upon contract until a definite appropriation shall be made to meet the requirements or consequences of such contract, was mandatory, and the ditch company furnishing the water for the necessary uses of the city could not recover against the city the reasonable price for the use of the water in the absence of such a definite appropriation.2

8 Minn. (172),

Denver, (Colo. 1894) 36 Pac. Rep. 844. Y. 180; McCoy v. Briant, 53 Cal. 247;

¹ Citing Mayor v. Ray, 19 Wall. 468; The court referred to the cases of Brady v. Mayor of New York, 20 N Argenti v. City of San Francisco, 16 Y. 312; Hague v. City of Philadel- Cal. 255; Nelson v. Mayor, 63 N. Y. phia, 48 Pa. St. 527; 1 Dill. Mun. 585, quoting from the opinion of Corp. 457; Nash v. City of St. Paul, Folger, J., in the latter, and cited further, McDonald v. Mayor, 68 N. Y. ² Smith Canal or Ditch Co. v City of 28; Smith v. City of Newburgh, 77 N.

§ 267. Injunction of public officials — rules. — The Supreme Court of Washington has held in a taxpayer's action against the commissioners of a county, that the taxpayer was entitled to an injunction to restrain them from issuing certain bonds as the debt proposed to be increased was beyond the limitation of indebtedness which the corporation was allowed to incur and had not been properly ratified or validated, and, further, the arrangement with a trust company for the sale of the bonds, by which the latter was to be allowed commissions, etc., of a large amount, violated the requirement of law that they should not sell the bonds below par.1

People v. May, 9 Colo. 80; s. c., 10 manner best calculated to accomplish N. E. Rep. 7.

1 Hunt v. Fawcett et al , County Commissioners, (Wash, 1894) 36 Pac. Rep.

Pac. Rep. 641. When one benefited that object. Lawless v. Reese, 4 Bibb. by a contract with a municipality can- 309. The propriety of their election not object that it was ultre vires the and the binding efficiency of their conmunicipality, see City of Buffalo v. tract cannot be questioned collaterally. Balcom, (1892) 134 N. Y. 532; s. c., 32 If their proposed expenditure was an abuse of their powers, any of the corporators have an ample remedy by injunction. See Christopher v. Mayor 318. In Avery v. Job. (Orc. 1894) 36 of New York, 13 Barb. 567, and au-Pac. Rep. 293, the Supreme Court af- thorities cited." For a full discussion firmed the granting of an injunction of the subject of injunctions against in a taxpayer's suit, restraining the public boards of commissioners, etc., mayor, etc., of the city from purchas- see Stevens v. St. Mary's Training ing a plant of a waterworks company School, (1893) 144 Ill. 336. That perfor $28,000, worth only $10,000, and sons dealing with a municipal corpoinadequate and unsuited to the pur- ration through its officers must know pose, though the purchase or crection and are charged with a knowledge of of waterworks was a matter within the their powers in contracting, see Mcdiscretion of the city council. In In- Donald v. Mayor, etc., of New York, tendant & Town Council of Living- 68 N. Y. 23; Cornell v. Guilford, 1 ston v. Pippin, (1858) 31 Ala. 542, an Den. 510; Sutro v. Pettit, 74 Cal. 332; action against the municipality to re- Hodges v Buffalo, 2 Den. 110; Lowell cover the price agreed to be paid for Savings Bank r. Winchester, 8 Allen, the boring of an artesian well, it was 100; Merchants' Bank v. Bergen held that the municipal corporation County, 115 U.S. 384; Wallace v. could not set up the defense that Mayor, etc., of San Jose, 29 Cal. 181; though its corporate authorities and Dorsey County v. Whitehead, 47 Ark. power to contract for the procuring of 205; Barton v. Swepston, 44 Ark. 437; a supply of water on the public square Schumm v. Seymour, 24 N. J. Eq. of the town, they ought to have 143; Alton v. Mulledy, 21 Ili 76; adopted some less expensive means of Cleveland v. State Bank of Ohio, 16 procuring it. The court said: "The Ohio St. 236; Chicago v. Shober, etc., corporate authorities, having the power Co., 6 Bradw. (Ill.) 560; Craycraft v. to procure the supply of water, were Selvage, 10 Bush (Ky.), 708; Perkinthemselves the judges of the mode and son v. St. Louis, 4 Mo. App. 322;

v. Fenwick, 4 Rand. (Va.) 585; Ship- 189.

Clark r. Polk County, 19 Iowa, 248; man v. State, 43 Wis 381; Perry v. Carpenter v. Union, 58 Iowa, 335; Superior City, 26 Wis. 64; State r. Estep v. Keokuk County, 18 Iowa, Hastings, 12 Wis. 596; Nash v. St. 109. Whiteside c. United States, 98 U. Paul, 8 Minn. 172, Donovan v. Mayor, S. 247: Harshman v. Bates County, 92 etc., of New York, 33 N. Y. 291; Ap-U.S. 569; Maupin v. Franklin County. pleby v. Mayor, etc., 15 How. Pr. 428; 67 Mo 327. As to when a municipal Martin v. Mayor, etc., of Brooklyn, 1 corporation is not estopped to set up a Hill, 545; Albany v. Cunliff, 2 N. Y. plea of ultra vires in actions brought 165; Overseers of Norwich v. Overupon contracts entered into by its offi-seers of New Berlin, 18 Johns, 382; cers, see Sioux City v. Weare, 59 Cowen v. West Troy, 43 Barb. 48; Iowa, 95; Stidger v. Redouk, 64 Iowa, Trustees of Paris Township v. Cherry, 465; State v. Haskell, 20 Iowa, 276; 8 Ohio St. 564; Western College of East Oakland v. Skinner, 94 U. S. 255; Medicine v. Cleveland, 12 Ohio St. Post v. Kendall County, 105 U. S. 667; 375; Mitchell v. Rockland, 41 Mc. 363; McClure r. Oxford Township, 94 U. Fluty v. School District, 49 Ark, 94; S 429; Bates County v. Winters, 97 U. Halbut v Forrest City, 34 Ark. 246; S 83; South Ottawa v Perkins, 94 U. Mitchell v Rockland, 45 Me. 496; 8 260, Daviess County v. Dickinson, People v. Baraga Township, 39 Mich. 117 U. S. 657; Burrill v. Boston, 2 554; Taft v. Pittsford, 28 Vt. 286; Cliff. 590; Fox v. New Orleans, 12 La. Haynes v. Covington, 13 Sm. & Marsh Ann. 154; Seibrecht v. New Orleans, (Miss.), 408; Treadway v. Schnauber. 12 La. Ann. 496; Cheeney v. Brook- 1 Dak 236; Neely v. Yorkville, 10 S. field, 60 Mo. 53; McCaslin v. State, 99 C. 141; Bryan v. Page, 51 Tex. 532; Ind. 428; State v. Bevers, 86 N. C. 588; Trustees of Belleview v. Hohn, 82 Ky. Dill v. Wareham, 7 Met. 438; Yancey 1; s. c., 4 Am. & Eng. Corp. Cas. 524; v. Hopkins, 1 Munf. (Va.) 419; Nalle Murphy v. Louisville, 9 Bush (Ky.),

CHAPTER VIII.

ULTRA VIRES - PRIVATE CORPORATIONS.

- § 268. The doctrine of ultra vires as | § 277. Converting common into preexplained by English courts.
 - 269. These rules applied by English courts to special acts of corporations.
 - 270. The doctrine of ultra vircs as explained by United States courts
 - 271. Illustrations of acts not ultravires the corperation.
 - 272. Illustrations of acts ultra vires the corporation.
 - 273. Leasing corporation's property and franchises for a term of years.
 - 274. Loaning funds of a corporation. 275. Investing funds of corporation
 - in stock of others. 276. Directors of an injurance company raising a guaranty capital.

- ferred stock.
 - 278. The effect of laches on the part of complaining stockholders in such cases.
 - 279. Rules declared by courts as to estoppel of corporations to plead ultra vires.
 - 280. When the doctrine of ultra vires is not applicable.
 - 281. Rules declared by courts as to estopnel of parties to contracts with corporations to plead ultra vires.
 - 282. Financial arrangements contrary to public policy - rules governing proceedings on the part of the state, etc.

§ 268. The doctrine of ultra vires as explained by English courts.— Where a corporation is created by an act of parliament for particular purposes, with special powers, "their deed, under their corporate seal, and that regularly affixed, does not bind them, if it appear by the express provisions of the statute creating the corporation, or by necessary or reasonable inference from its enactments, that the deed was ultra mires — that is, that the legislature meant that such a deed should not be made," was stated to be the rule by Baron PARKE. Lord Chancellor CRAN-WORTH has observed in a case that he thought the statement of the rule by Baron PARKE "the more correct way of enumerating the doctrine, though practically it makes very little difference whether we say that the railway company has no authority given to it by its incorporation to enter into contracts as to matters not connected with its corporate duties, or that it is impliedly pro-

¹ South Yorkshire Railway v. Great way v. Stewart, 3 Macq. 382, 415, by Northern Railway, 9 Exch. 55, 84. Lord Wensleydale. See, also, Scottish Northeastern Railhibited from so doing, because by necessary inference the legislature must be considered to have intended that no such contracts should be entered into." Lord St. Leonard has distinctly recognized that "directors cannot act in opposition to the purpose for which their company was incorporated, nor bind their companies by contracts foreign to the purposes for which they were established."2 Lord Chancellor Cranworth has said that the English authorities had "established the proposition that a railway company cannot devote any part of its funds to an object not within the scope of its original constitution, how beneficial soever that object might seem likely to prove;" and, after a review of the cases reported, "it must, therefore, be now considered as a wellsettled doctrine that a company incorporated by act of parliament for a special purpose cannot devote any part of its funds to objects unauthorized by the terms of its incorporation, however desirable such an application may appear to be."s

§ 269. These rules applied by English courts to special acts of corporations.-In an English case the objects of the company registered under the English Joint-Stock Companies Act of 1862 was created were stated in its memorandum of association to be "to make and sell or lend or hire railway carriages and wagons and all kinds of railway plant fittings, machinery and rolling stock; to carry on the business of mechanical engineers and general contractors; to purchase, lease, work and sell mines, minerals, land and buildings; to purchase and sell, as merchants, timber, coal, metals or other materials, and to buy and soll any such materials on commission or as agents." The directors agreed to purchase a concession for making a railway in a foreign country, and afterward (on account of difficulties existing by the law of that country) agreed to assign the concession to an association formed there, which was to supply the materials for the construction of the railway and receive periodical payments from the English company. In an action at law brought by the foreign associates against the English company upon this agreement, it was held in the lower courts, as well as in the House of Lords, to be ultra vires. The House of Lords unanimously held the contract not to be within the scope of the memorandum of association and, therefore, void and incapable of being ratified, and that the action could not be maintained. In an English case it was held that no action could be maintained by one railway company against another upon an agreement made by the latter to take a lease of the railway of the first company and to pay the expenses incurred by that company in the soliciting and promoting of bills in parliament for the extension and improvement of that railway, even if the object and effect of the agreement were to increase the profits of the defendants' railway.2 In a is brought upon a contract not directly not be so." or indirectly to execute any works,

¹ Shrewsbury & Birmingham Railway v. Northwestern Railway, 6 H. L. Hawkes, 5 H. L. Cas. 381.
Cas. 118, 135–187.

⁸ Ibid.

¹ Ashbury Railway Carriage & Iron company in its corporate name upon a Co. v. Riche, L. R., 7 H. L. 653; in the contract under the common seal. No lower courts, L. R., 9 Exch. 224. agreement of sharcholders can make Lord Selborne of the House of that a contract of the corporation Lords said: "The action in this case which the law says cannot and shall

² East Anglian Railways v. Eastern but to find capital for a foreign railway Counties Railway, 11 C. B. 775. It company in exchange for shares and was said by Chief Justice Jervis, in bonds of that company. Such a con-delivering the judgment of himself tract, in my opinion, was not author- and Justices MAULE, WILLIAMS and ized by the memorandum of asso- Talfound: "This act is a public act ciation of the Ashbury Company. All accessible to all and supposed to be your lordships and all the judges in known to all, and the plaintiffs must, the courts below appear to be so far therefore, be presumed to have dealt agreed. But this, in my judgment, is with the defendants with a full really decisive of the whole case, knowledge of their respective rights * * * I think that contracts for whatever those rights may be. It is objects and purposes foreign to or in- clear that the defendants have a limconsistent with the memorandum of ited authority only and are a corporaassociation are ultra vires of the cor- tion only for the purpose of making poration itself. And it seems to me and maintaining the railway sanctioned far more accurate to say that the by the act; and that their funds can inability of such companies to make only be applied for the purposes such contracts rests on an original directed and provided for by the statlimitation and circumscription of ute. Indeed, it is not contended that their powers by the law, and for the a company so constituted can engage purposes of their incorporation, than in new trades not contemplated by that it depends upon some express or their act; but it is said that they may implied prohibition, making acts un- embark in other undertakings, howlawful which otherwise they would ever various, provided the object of have had a legal capacity to do. This the directors be to increase the profits being so, it necessarily follows * * * of their own railway. This, in truth, that where there could be no mandate is the same proposition in another there cannot be any ratification; and form, for if the company cannot carry that the assent of all the shareholders on a trade merely because it was not can make no difference when a contemplated by the act, they cannot stranger to the corporation is suing the embark in other undertakings not case where a railway company, authorized by act of parliament to purchase a branch line and to raise a sum of money for the purpose of constructing that line, applied part of the sum so raised to the construction of its main line, Vice-Chancellor Witt-RAM and Lord Chancellor Cottenham, on appeal, sustained the bill of a shareholder, not only to restrain such application of the rest of the sum, but also for an account of the part already illegally expended.1

§ 270. The doctrine of ultra vires as explained by United States courts. - The Supreme Court of the United States has approved the rules established in the English cases, and held that the purchase of a steamboat to run in connection with a railroad corporation's road and the giving of a note for the same, was a departure from the business of the corporation, and that the officers in the purchase and the execution of the note for the purchase money exceeded their authority.2 Speak-purpose only of making and main- & Deal Railway, 18 Q. B. 618. taining the Eastern Counties Railway; formed; and it is no sufficient answer a proposed branch of the railway. to a shareholder expecting his dividend that the money has been ex- Railroad, 21 How. 441. pended upon undertakings which at sanctioned by the act merely because some remote period may be highly they hope the speculation may ulti- beneficial to the line. The public also mately increase the profits of the has an interest in the proper adminisshareholders. They cannot engage in tration of the powers conferred by the a new trade because they are a cor- act. The comfort and safety of the poration only for the purpose of mak- line may be seriously impaired if the and maintaining the Eastern Counties money supposed to be negossary and Railway. What additional power do destined by parliament for the mainthey acquire from the fact that the tenance of the railway be expended in undertaking may in some way benefit other undertakings not contemplated their line? Whatever may be their when the act was obtained and not object or the prospect of success, expressly sanctioned by the legislathey are still but a corporation for the ture." See, also, Macgregor v. Dover

¹ Bagshaw v Eastern Union Railand if they cannot embark in new way, 7 Hare, 114; s. c., 2 Macn. & trades because they have only a lim- Gord. 389; 2 Hall & Twells, 201. In ited authority, for the same reason Caledonian & Dumbartonshire Railthey can do nothing not authorized by way v. Magistrates of Helensburgh, 2 their act and not within the scope of Macq. 391, the House of Lords held their authority. Every proprietor, that no action would lie against a railwhen he takes shares, has a right to way company on an agreement of its expect that the conditions upon which projectors to advance money to conthe act was obtained will be per- struct a pier and harbor at the end of

² Pearce v. Madison & Indianapolis

ing of the decision in Ashbury Railway Carriage & Iron Co. v. Riche, 7 II. L. 653, as establishing "the broad doctrine that a contract not within the scope of the powers conferred on the corporation cannot be made valid by the assent of every one of the shareholders, nor can it by any partial performance become the foundation of a right of action," Mr. Justice MILLER, of the Supreme Court of the United States, expressed the opinion that that decision "represents the decided preponderance of authority both in this country and in England, and is based upon sound principles." 1 This may be generally stated as settled law with reference to corporations. A corporation has power to do such business only as it is authorized to do, and no other. It is not held out by the government nor by the stockholders as authorized to make contracts which are beyond the purposes and scope of its charter. It is not vested with all the capacities of a natural person, or of an ordinary partnership, but with such only as its charter confers. If it exceeds its chartered powers, not only may the government take away its charter, but those who have subscribed to its stock may avoid any contract made by the corporation in clear excess of its powers. If it makes a contract manifestly beyond the powers conferred by its charter, and, therefore, unlawful, a court of chancery, on the application of a stockholder, will restrain the corporation from carrying out the contract, and a court of common law will sustain no action on the contract against the corporation.2 The Court of Appeals of Maryland

¹ Thomas v. Railroad Co., 101 U. light of a common partnership and as subject to no greater vigilance than ² Davis v. Old Colony R. R. Co., common partnerships are, would, I

^{(1881) 131} Mass. 258. This reference think, be greatly to mistake the funcis made to a leading English case: tions which they perform and the "In the leading case of Colman v. powers which they exercise of inter-Eastern Counties Railway, 10 Beav. 1, ference, not only with the public but the directors of a railway company with the private rights of all individuwere restrained by injunction from als in this realm. We are to look carrying out an agreement by which, upon those powers as given to them for the purpose of increasing its traffic, in consideration of a benefit which, they proposed to guarantee certain notwithstanding all other sacrifices, it profits to, and to secure the capital of, a is to be presumed and hoped, on the steam packet company, to ply between whole, will be obtained by the public. a port near one end of the railway in But it being the interest of the public England and certain foreign ports, and to protect the private rights of all in-Lord LANGDALE, M. R., said: 'To dividuals, and to defend them from all look upon a railway company in the liabilities beyond those necessarily oc-have decided that corporations are not only incapable of making contracts which are forbidden by their charter, but in general they can make none which are not necessary, either directly or indirectly, to effect the objects of their creation, and that the corporation itself may, in an action brought against it upon such contract, deny its power to enter into it.1 In a New York case, involving the issue of preferred stock by a corporation to certain of its stockholders who advanced money for the purposes of the corporation, Folger, J., of the Commission of Appeals, very fully explained this doctrine in words which have been generally approved and accepted as correct by the courts of this country. He said: "In the application of the doctrine of ultra vires, it is to be borne in mind that it has two phases, one where the public is concerned; one where the question is between the corporate body and the stockholders in it, or between it and its stockholders and third parties dealing with it and through it limit the funds of the company for the v. Laing, 12 Beav. 339, 352, 353. encouragement of other transactions. vided the object of their liability is to dridge, 8 Gill & Johns. (Md.) 248. increase the traffic upon the railway casioned by the powers given by the and thereby to increase the profit to several acts, those powers must always the shareholders. There is, however, be carefully looked to, and I am no authority for anything of that kind. clearly of opinion that the powers It has been stated that these things, to which are given by an act of parlia- a small extent, have frequently been ment like that now in question, extend done since the establishment of railno further than is expressly stated in ways, but unless the acts so done can the act, or is necessarily and properly be proved to be in conformity with the required for carrying into effect the powers given by the special acts of undertaking and works which the act 'parliament, under which those acts are has expressly sanctioned. " * done, they furnish no authority what-Ample powers are given for the pur- ever.' And after full consideration of pose of constructing and maintaining the case he summed up his opinion the railway, and for doing all those thus: 'To pledge the funds of this things required for its proper use when company for the purpose of supportmade, but I apprehend that it has no- ing another company engaged in a where been stated that a railway com- hazardous speculation, is a thing pany, as such, has power to enter into which, according to the terms of this all sorts of other transactions. In- act of parliament they have not a deed, it has been very properly admit- right to do.' They have the power to ted that railway companies have no do all such things as are necessary and right to enter into new trades or busi- proper for the purpose of carrying out nesses not pointed out by their acts; the intention of the act of parliament, but it has not been contended that and they have no power of doing anythey have a right to pledge without thing beyond it." See, also, Salomons

¹ Pennsylvania, Delaware & Maryhowever various and extensive, pro- land Steam Navigation Co. v. Dan-

with them. When the public is concerned, to restrain the corporation within the limits of the power given to it by its charter, an assent by the stockholders to the use of unauthorized power by the corporate body will be of no avail. When it is a question of the right of a stockholder to restrain the corporate body within its express or incidental powers, the right of the stockholder may, in many cases, be denied on the ground of his express assent or his intelligent though tacit consent to the corporate action. If there be a departure from statutory direction, which is to be considered merely a breach of trust to be restrained by a stockholder, it is pertinent to consider what has been his conduct in regard thereto. A corporation may do acts which affect the public to its harm, inasmuch as they are per se illegal or are malum prohibitum. Then no assent of stockholders can validate them. It may do acts not thus illegal, though there is want of power to do them, which affect only the interest of the stockholders. They may be made good by the assent of the stockholders, so that strangers to the stockholders dealing in good faith with the corporation will be protected in a reliance upon those acts. The instance put in Bissell v. Mich. So., etc., R. R. Co., 22 N. Y. 269, is illustrative. A bank has no authority from the state to engage in benevolent enterprises, and a subscription, though formally made, for a charitable object, would be out of its powers, but it would not be otherwise an illegal act, yet, if every stockholder did expressly assent to such an application of the corporate funds, though it would still be in one sense ultra vires, no wrong would be done, no public interest harmed, and no stockholder could object or claim that there was an infringement of his rights and have redress or protection. Such an act, though beyond the power given by the charter, unless expressly prohibited, if confirmed by the stockholders, could not be avoided by any of them to the harm of third persons. This arises from the principle that the trust for stockholders is not of a public nature." 1

§ 271. Illustrations of acts not ultra vires the corporation.— In furtherance of its legitimate objects and in the due prosecution of its business, a corporation may loan money and take mortgage security.² If the term for which a corporation is authorized to loan money on mortgage be limited to one year, it may still enforce securities given for a loan of two years, if there is no penalty attached to taking such securities; and it may ratify a loan made without the required vote of its directors.1 A building and loan association having conferred upon it by the statutes of a state expressly the power to loan money to its shareholders, on mortgages of real estate, on such terms and conditions as may be prescribed by the by-laws, a loan to one of its shareholders, though not strictly in conformity to one of its by-laws, or even contravening it, would not be ultra vires.2 Corporations formed under the general law of California, it has been held, have the power to purchase and hold an exclusive franchise or privilege granted by the legislature to an individual and his assigns.3 It does not fol-

¹ Kent v. Quicksilver Mining Co., ² Madison, etc., Plank Road Co. v. (1879) 78 N. Y. 159, 185, 186. Watertown Plank Road Co., 5 Wis. 173,

Dhein, 43 Wis, 420.

Association, (1879) 64 Ala. 501. In controversy was not of that de-Cooper v. Frederick, (1846) 9 Ala. 738, it scription, and that the corporation washeld that a resolution by the direct- had no power to purchase it. The ors of a railroad corporation, that the court overruled the objection, saying: stockholders might relinquish one-half "Whether or not the premises in conof their stock and the payments pre- troversy are necessary for those purviously made accounted for as if made poses, it is not material to inquire; on the stock retained, provided the that is a matter between the governstockholders paid all the calls subse- ment and the corporation, and is no quently made by the directory, was in concern of the defendant." The reathe nature of a contract, entered into son of the rule is obvious. As bebetween the corporation and its mem- tween the parties the purchase is valid bers, and was not on its face illegal and it must be so as to third persons, and improper.

ration was empowered to purchase the state alone can raise."

Germantown F. M. Ins. Co. v. such property as the purposes of the corporation should require, and it ² Kelly v. Mobile Building & Loan was objected that the property in until, by a proper proceeding, a for-³ California State Telegraph Co. v. feiture has been declared. It is well Telegraph Co., (1863), 22 Cal. settled that a cause of forfeiture can-398. A purchase by a corporation in not be inquired into collaterally." the face of a positive prohibition In his concurring opinion Core, would be void; but that is not this Ch. J., said: "As to the capacity case. There was no provision of law of the corporation to purchase, the forbidding the purchase; and, admit- defendant is not the party to obting that the corporation had no ject. If the corporation, in making power to make it, the want of power, the purchase, has acquired property in the absence of an express prohibi- which, under the law of its incorporation, is not sufficient to avoid it as to tion, it had no right to acquire, all third persons. The rule in such cases that can be said is that it has exceeded was laid down by this court in Na- its powers, and may be deprived of toma Water & Mining Co. v. Clarkin, the property by a judgment of for-14 Cal. 544. In that case the corpo- feiture. The question is one which low from the prohibition in a charter of a corporation of dealing in commercial paper that the corporation may not receive and sell notes given for the sale of its lands. A corporation succeeding to the business of an individual in its line of manufactures. tor instance, may accept from the individual whom it succeeded an order accepted by him upon particular terms.3 Though the articles of an incorporated college may not expressly give it power to raise and control funds by taking endowment notes, it may accept and enforce payment of such notes.8 A contract entered into by a railroad corporation before the completion of its line of road, for the transportation of freight after the completion of its line, is not ultra vires, but is binding and enforceable.4 And such a corporation, while retaining the benefit of such a contract which has been fully executed, cannot assert that it had no power to make the contract the consideration for which it had received." A railroad corporation, under the statutes of Indiana, may pay in advance for the use of another railroad thus aiding in its con-It is not beyond the power of a corporation authorized by its charter to purchase "any real estate or other property," etc., to purchase its own stock. In an early Massachusetts case it was held that where a statute of the state prohibited the receiving or negotiating in any way of bills or notes of banks not incorporated in that state, the taking of a note payable in such bills was an act ultra vires a Massachusetts banking institution and the

¹ Buckley v. Briggs, (1860) 30 Mo. ments, with no power to engage in the business of loaning money, might still take from its agent in payment of indebtedness by him to the corporation the note of a third party belonging to dall, 62 Iowa 244.

Bryan, 50 Iowa, 293.

Ry. Co. v. Flanagan, (1887) 113 Ind. Clapp v. Peterson, (1882), 104 Ill. 26. 498.

5 Ibid.

⁶ Aurora & Cincinnati R 452. In Western Organ Co. v. Red- City of Lawrenceburgh, (1877) 56 Ind. dish, 51 Iowa, 55, it was held that the 80. As to the right of a corporation corporation, though organized for the to purchase its own stock and reissue manufacture and sale of musical instru- it, see City Bank v. Bruce, 17 N. Y. 507; C., P. & S. W. R. R. Co. v. Marseilles, 84 Ill. 145, 643; L. S. I. Co. v. Drexel, 90 N. Y. 93; State Bank r. Fox, 3 Blatchf. 434; Otter v. Brevoort P. Co., 50 Barb. 256. As to the power of a corporation to purchase shares of ² Cook Manufacturing Co. v. Ran- its own stock in good faith, and not in fraud of its creditors, see Chicago, ² Simpson Centenary College r. Pekin & So Western R. R. Co. r. President, etc., Town of Marseilles, (1876) Louisville, New Albany & Chicago 84 Ill. 145; on rehearing, 84 1ll. 643;

1 lowa Lumber Co. v. Foster, 49 Iowa, 25.

A manufacturing corporation may take shares note was void.1 of another corporation in payment of a debt.2 An academy being incorporated for the purpose of holding funds to be applied to the concation and moral and religious improvement of youth. its trustees are capable of holding funds in trust for an association the objects of which are similar and to any extent auxiliary to those for which they may have been incorporated.8 A corporation vested with power to take and dispose of the securities of another corporation may guarantee the payment of those securities if it disposes of them to another party in payment of its own debt. So, too, if it buys property subject to a mortgage security bond, it may guarantee the payment of such bonds if the guaranty be taken as payment pro tunto of its debt.4 A corporation created for the purpose of constructing a road, empowered by statute to borrow money to be used in the construction of its road or in paying for materials purchased for its construction and to mortgage its road to secure the payment of the money so borrowed, may mortgage its road to secure the payment of money due a contractor for constructing the same; and it may mortgage any portion of its road as well as the whole of it.5 Such a corporation, the charter of which authorizes it to borrow money "on such terms as might be agreed upon between the parties," may borrow money at a rate of interest beyond that established by the An insurance corporation authorized to invest its general law.6 capital, profits and surplus funds in such securities, and in such manner as it may elect, and required to invest its reinsurance fund among other securities, in "bonds and mortgages on unin-

Mass. 322.

Co., 7 Gray, 393.

¹² Mass. 546.

⁴Ellerman v. Chicago Junction pany, (1891), 49 N. J. Eq. 217. In Ind. 239. Willoughby v. Chicago Junction Railways & Union Stock Yards Company, R. Co. (1860) 14 Ind. 110.

Directors, etc., of (1892) 50 N. J. Eq. 656, the defendant Springfield Bank v. Merrick, (1817) 14 corporation being authorized by charter to issue bonds for proper corporate ² Howe v. Boston Carpet Co, (1860) purposes, and the validity of the con-16 Gray, 493; citing Hodges v. New tract being established, the Court of England Screw Co., 1 R. I. 312, and Chancery declined to interfere to regu-3 R. I. 9; Treadwell v. Salisbury Mfg. late the character of the payments, or of the instruments to be issued there-Phillips Academy v. King (1815), for, as long as the same were not expressly unauthorized.

⁵ Greensburgh, Milford & Hope Railway & Union Stock Yards Com- Turnpike Co. v. McCormick, (1873) 45

⁶ Morrison r. Eaton & Hamilton R.

cumbered real estate," will not commit an act ultra vires by making a loan of money to one, accepting his notes and mortgage to secure them. The charter of a Massachusetts corporation authorized it to purchase and hold "in fee simple or otherwise" real and personal estate to the amount of $50,000, which was increased by subsequent statutes to $600,000. The corporation was also by its charter authorized to appropriate its funds to charitable purposes, and to employ its annual income, among other purposes, "to promote inventions and improvements in the mechanic arts, by granting premiums for said inventions and improvements." There was no direction in the charter or subsequent statutes as to the manner in which the provisions for granting these premiums should be carried out. It was held by the Supreme Court of Judicature that the corporation might purchase land and erect a permanent building thereon in which to hold exhibitions and the meetings of the corporation.2

Co., (1878) 64 Ind. 1.

¹⁸ Daly v. National Life Insurance for carrying out this provision, not inconsistent with any other pro-19 Richardson r. Massachusetts Chari- vision of the charter, and any profit table Mechanic Association, (1881) 131 arising therefrom might properly Mass. 174. It was said by the court: be held by the association and the "For many years the association has income thereof devoted to the purbeen in the habit of holding such ex- poses for which it was incorpohibitions in buildings hired or tempo- rated. In order to do this, a place rarily erected for that purpose. The must be provided for the exhibition, money received from such exhibitions, either by hiring buildings, or by erectover and above the expenses, has been ing temporary or permanent buildings invested in real and personal estate, for the purpose, for the association has and the income therefrom devoted to full power to acquire title to real esthe use of the association as directed tate in fee simple or otherwise, and it by the charter. We cannot say that can undoubtedly hold such real estate the method thus adopted for carrying as is necessary for its use in the exerinto execution this particular provis- cise of the powers conferred upon it." ion of the charter is beyond the power In Seymour v. Spring Forest Cemetery of the corporation. The charter fail- Association. (1892) 64 Hun, 632; s. c., ing to indicate in what manner this 19 N. Y. Supp. 94, the bonds given by power shall be exercised, a wide dis- the association for lands purchased cretion is given to the association; for under the powers granted such associathere are many ways in which it might tions by statute to "purchase such real be executed. An exhibition open to estate as the purposes of the associathe public at a proper charge, at tion may require" were held not to be which mechanics may display their void as ultra vires. See Fuld v. Burr inventions and improvements, and Brewing Co., (Ct. Com. Pl. N. Y. City, compete for premiums and gratuities, 1892) 18 N. Y. Supp. 456, for an would seem to be a reasonable method illustration of what guaranty was

Where a railroad corporation agreed to load steamers chartered by a cotton compress company with cotton on terms named in their contract for shipment, and the compress company had, by the delay of the railroad corporation in delivering the cotton for shipment, to pay a large sum for demurrage and brought its action against the railroad corporation for its recovery, the Court of Appeals of Virginia held that the contract on the part of the railroad corporation was not ultra vires.1 A loan of money upon mortgage security by a corporation organized for the purpose of constructing ditches for the conveyance and sale of water, the California Supreme Court has held, was not necessarily an act exceeding its corporate powers; further, such a contract, if necessary to attain its general objects and made as an incident to the exercise of its granted powers, was valid, and in the absence of proof it would be presumed.2 A corporation, organized under road corporation is not ultra vires, see App. 98.

Shippers' Compress Co., (1887) 83 Va. their works, or it might be very nec-272; s. c., 2 S. E. Rep. 139. The court essary for such a corporation to prosaid: "The contract was incident to cure an additional supply of water. and for the benefit of their business as and a loan of money to another water common carriers, and it was but a company who may be engaged in conpart of a long-established and system- structing ditches which will bring such atic policy of these railroads compos- additional supply, may be the direct ing the air lines to induce and control and necessary means to attain that the transportation of cotton for the object. So, too, it might become necinterior west and southwest over their essary for a corporation engaged in a line for shipment to England from the large enterprise, such as the construcport of New York. It was not a con- tion of large canals, railroads, turntract to buy or sell cotton, but simply pike roads, and the like, to borrow not ultra vires this corporation, and, to deliver a certain number of bales of if so, the plea of ultra vires was cotton, at a specified time, at Norfolk, not available, in which case Schurr for shipment to Liverpool by char v. Investment Co., (Ct. Com. Pl. tered steamers for that purpose. It N. Y. City, 1892) 18 N. Y. Supp. was not contrary to or forbidden by 454, was distinguished. Illustration their charter, and it was for the interof a contract not ultra vires the corpo- ests of commerce and in the line of ration, see United Lines Telegraph their business." Citing additionally, Co. v. Safe Deposit & Trust Co., (1893) as authority, 1 Wood Ry. Law, § 170, 147 U. S. 431; s. c., 13 Sup. Ct. Rep. pp. 474, 479, 480, 523; §§ 179, 182; 396. What class of contract by a rail- Pierce on Railroads, 499-501, 508-510. ⁹ Union Water Co. r. Murphy's Flat Union Pacific Ry, Co. v. Chicago, R. Fluming Co., (1863) 22 Cal. 621, "For I. & P. Ry. Co., (1892) 51 Fed. Rep. instance," said the court, "it might be 309; s. c., 2 C. C. A. 174; 10 U. S. necessary for such a corporation to make advances, in the nature of a loan, ¹ Norfolk & Western R. R. Co. v. to enable a contractor to construct the laws of Illinois, through its stockholders and officers entered into an agreement with other persons owning patents, etc., adapted to its business, by which a new corporation was organized, the former as a part of its agreement transferring to the new one 10,000 of its shares of stock, which had been prop-money on favorable terms and at a low as an incident to the other powers con-rate of interest; it might be necessary ferred by the charter. Farmers' L. & to borrow it upon long time, providing T. Co. v. Clowes, 4 Edw. Ch. 575; a sinking fund for its payment, by s. c., 3 Comst. 470; Farmers' L. & T. setting apart a certain portion of the Co. v. Perry, 3 Sandf. Ch. 339. So. corporate revenues, to be loaned out too, an insurance company was incoron interest, suffering the principal and porated without any special provision interest to accumulate to an amount in relation to the mode of investing its sufficient to repay the borrowed money capital, and it was held that it had the when due. Such is the usual mode of power to invest the whole or any part conducting the business of corpora- of its capital by way of loans on bond tions of that character, and there can and mortgage and to reinvest it in the be no objection to it so long as the same way whenever it should become legitimate business of the corporation necessary or convenient to do so. is not changed into that of a loan com- Mann v. Eckford, 15 Wend 512. pany. So long as the loans are a mere Where a bank was authorized to take incident to the exercise of its legiti- mortgages in security for debts premate powers they are rightful and viously contracted, it was held that if valid. So numerous other cases of a the loan and mortgage were concurlike character might be suggested rent acts it was not a violation of the where loans by a corporation might be restraining clause of the statute. very proper and necessary in con-Silver Lake Bank c. North, 4 Johns. ducting its business operations; and if Ch. 370; Baird v. Bank of Washingall corporations are to be considered as ton, 11 Serg. & R. 411. A plankroad absolutely prohibited, or not permitted, company was not authorized to loan to make any loan of money except in money, but if necessary it can legally the few classes of cases of corporations loan a sum of money to one of its conwhere it is expressly allowed by the tractors to enable him to build a statute, and all such contracts are to portion of its road. Madison, etc., be held void, a result would be pro- Plank Road Co. v. Watertown Plank duced which certainly never was in Road Co., 5 Wis. 173. A corporation tended by the legislature, nor is it was prohibited from dealing in goods, sustained by the rules of law. A cor- wares and merchandise. Held, that a poration had power to insure lives and loan made, secured by a quantity of grant annuities, and it was held that, cotton, which was to be shipped and as it must have funds to apply to sold and the proceeds credited to the those purposes, it might loan its debtor on the loan, was not a violation money, and the loan by it would be of the charter. Bates v. State Bank, presumed to have been made in the 2 Ala. 465. So, too, a sale by a bank ordinary course of its business, and, of a quantity of butter which it had therefore, valid, although it had no taken in settlement of a debt was express power to loan money. The deemed no violation of a similar authority to loan money was upheld clause in its charter. Sacketts Harbor erly set apart for sale for making capital, to be used by the new corporation in the same manuer. In an action against one who had purchased 500 shares of this stock, upon his notes given for the same, his plea was that it was an overissue of the stock of the corporation. This point was ruled against the defendant by the Appellate Court of Missouri, and at the same time the court considered the question whether such an agreement, when ratified by the stockholders of the old company and carried out by delivery of the stock to the new company, was repugnant to the laws of the state of Illinois. The court said: "Our examination of the Illinois decisions has led us to the opinion that this contract or arrangement was not ultra vires under the law of that state. There are numerous cases of the Supreme Court of that state which hold that a corporation may purchase its own stock and violate no duty to its own stockholders. Chetlain v. Ins. Co., 86 Ill. 220; Chicago, etc., Railroad Co. v. President, 84 Ill. 145. In the Chetlain case the court held that if A subscribed for ten shares of the capital stock of a corporation, and, having paid two hundred dollars, was willing to receive a certificate for two shares of one hundred dollars each and cancel his subscription for the ten shares, this could be done, and that the other eight shares would belong to the company, and that it had a right to sell them to whom it pleased. The doctrine of this case would indicate that the agreement to donate the ten thousand shares was invalid, and when ratified by the stockholders of the old company it vested in the new corporation the title to the stock and the company had the right to sell it to whom they pleased. There is no principle of law known to us which would release the defendant from his liability to pay these notes. No question of fraud or misrepresentation is urged; in fact, the record shows that the plan of incorporation, and especially the plan adopted for the sale of the stock, was devised by the defendant himself. was an officer and director of the corporation and took an active part in the management of its business, and he is, therefore, in no position to claim that he was overreached or in any way deceived Bank v. Lewis County Bank, 11 Barb. prohibit a supply of goods to those 218. A glass company, not authorized to sell goods generally, sold goods that the corporation might recover for to one in their service, and it was held them. Chester Glass Co. v. Dewey, that the legislature did not intend to 16 Mass. 102."

in the purchase of the stock or in the execution of the notes." In a Kansas case the Supreme Court held that a contract entered into by a town company incorporated "for the purchase of land, the surveying and platting or town sites and selling town lots and other lands," in which it was agreed that if a certain party would remove a bank, a barn and a restaurant located elsewhere to the town site, the town company would convey to him certain lots in the town and pay him the sum of $1,000, tended directly to enhance the value of the remaining property of the corporation, and was not necessarily ultra vires.2 A contractor for construction of a railroad in Wisconsin was stopped from his work with legitimate objects of the corporation. ² Sherman Center Town Company In Whetstone v. Ottawa University, v. Russell, (1891) 46 Kans. 382; s. c., 13 Kans. 320, the question arose 26 Pac. Rep. 715. Arguendo, the court whether the Ottawa Town Company said, upon the insistment that the con- could donate the properly of the cortract was ultra vires: "The corpora- poration to the Ottawa University for tion may exercise not only the powers the purpose of erecting a school buildexpressly enumerated in its charter, if ing outside of the limits of the town they are authorized by law, but 'may of Ottawa, and more than one-fourth enter into any obligation or contract of a mile outside of the limits of the essential to the exercise of the powers property and the land owned by the expressly enumerated.' Gen. Stat. of town company. Mr. Justice Brewer, 1889, ¶ 1167. The company is not re- who pronounced the judgment of the stricted to the mere purchase and sale of court, remarked that . Town-site comlots, but may doubtless enter into con- panies are neither novel nor rare in tracts which would directly tend to Kan-as. Every county has been the promote the prosperity of the town, home of several, and the manner of and enhance the value of the lots re- their working, and the means emmaining unsold. To this end it may ployed to accomplish their purposes, expend money for the advertising of are familiar to us all. Nor is Kansas the property, the making of improve- peculiar in this respect. Every westments on a part of the same, may con- ern state is full of them. They are tract for the erection of school build- private corporations, organized for ings and other improvements, the di- the purposes of gain. They take real rect and proximate tendency of which estate, lay it off in lots and blocks. will be to attract people to the town streets and alleys, induce people to and make the property of the company settle and purchase, and by the sale of more desirable and salable. The lo- lots make their profits. * * * If cation of [this party] with his bank, by the donation of one lot they can his barn and restaurant at the town of double the value of the remainder, is Sherman Center no doubt tended di- not the one lot used directly to accomrectly and proximately to build up the plish the legitimate object of the cortown and give it prestige in that com- poration? If by donating one hunmunity, thus enhancing the value of dred lots to the county they can secure the company largely in debt to him. He brought action and obtained judgment. Execution had been returned nulla bona. This company had had a benefit of a grant of land. Another company had, through its sole ownership of the stock and by improper practices, managed to have the whole of the property of the indebted company transferred to itself. The United States Supreme Court upheld the suit of representatives of the judgment creditors against this other company to enforce the payment against the transferred property, holding that a sole stockholder in a corporation could not secure the transfer to itself of all the property of the corporation so as to deprive a creditor of the corporation of the payment of his debt.1 It appeared in a Massachusetts case that a mutual benefit order deposited money with a trust company, which trust company became thereafter unable to repay it. The benefit order assigned the fund to another in terms to secure a promissory note given for a loan, the money obtained by the loan being disbursed in the usual course of its business. The Supreme Judicial Court of that state held that, as the effect of the assignment of the fund was to secure the debt, it was not ultra vires even if conceded that the benefit order could not legally make a promissory note. Further, the loan, to secure which the assignment of the fund was given, having been authorized at a meeting of the order and the money obtained used for its benefit, equity would not, at the instance of the receiver of the insolvent trust company, the depositary of the fund, forbid its payment to the assignee out of money in his hands on the ground that the officers executing the assignment had no authority to do so.2

¹ Eggmann v. Blanke, (1890) 40 Mo. the remaining lots and promoting the App. 318.

the corporation has to sell may be en- not ultra vires." hanced in value. And if the lots were hospital or school at a remote place, as U.S. 1. suggested by counsel, there would be no resultant benefit to the corporation Co., (Mass. 1894) 37 N. E. Rep. 757. of enhanced value of its unsold lots.

the county seat and the erection of It seems to us that this must be the county buildings, are they not further- test: If the direct and proximate tening the very purpose of building up a dency of the improvements sought to town? * * * The purpose of se- be obtained by the donation is the curing improvements on the town site building up of the town and the enis not simply that the improvements hanced value of the remaining propbe there, but that thereby the property erty of the corporation, the donation is

- Angle v. Chicago, St. Paul, Minnedonated to secure the erection of a apolis & Omaha Ry. Co., (1894) 151
 - ² Commonwealth v. Suffolk Trust

§ 272. Illustrations of acts ultra vires the corporation.— Λ corporation confined by its charter to one business cannot lawfully engage in enterprises foreign to that business. For instance, a railroad corporation, the purposes of which are strictly confined to the completion and maintaining of a railroad, cannot lawfully engage in banking.1 Neither can a corporation engaged in insuring property.2 While a railroad corporation may adopt any convenient means, proper in themselves, tending directly to the exeention of the powers conferred upon it by its charter, and not amounting to the transaction of any distinct unauthorized business, it cannot engage in such business as banking, manufacturing, speculating in land, or the like, as a means of raising funds to build or operate its road. A provision in the charter of an insurance corporation authorizing it to receive money on deposit, "and to give acknowledgments for deposits in such manner and form as they may deem convenient and necessary to transact such business," has been held not to authorize the corporation to issue certificates of deposit to circulate as money, and with the intent that they shall so circulate.⁵ A railroad corporation, chartered for the specific purpose of constructing a railroad from one point within the state to the state line, and then to connect with a railroad corporation of that other state, with no express power to execute bills and notes, is limited to executing such bills or notes to such as may be necessary or proper in carrying through that undertaking. It cannot execute accommodation paper, or paper to aid any undertaking not contemplated by its charter; and such

1 People v. River Raisin & Lake add to its granted powers by an in-Eric R. R. Co , (1864) 12 Mich. 389.

² Blair r. Perpetual Insurance Co., (1847) 10 Mo. 559

4 Clark v. Farrington, 11 Wis, 300.

4 Waldo r. Chicago, St. Paul & Fond du Lac R. R. Co, 14 Wis. 575.

⁵ Bliss r. Anderson, (1858) 31 Ala. 612. The court said: "The corporation may issue its certificates of deits certificates of deposit as to procure a note thus discounted. for them a circulation as money, it can

genious device, and obtain by subterfuge an authority which legislative caution withheld from it " In Philadelphia Loan Co. v. Towner, (1839) 13 Conn. 249, a provision of the charter of the corporation that "nothing therein contained should be construed to authorize the company to discount notes or exercise any banking privileges," posit in any manner and form which was held to prohibit the taking of a will accomplish its business of a de- note for the sum loaned, and the sepository, but not in such manner and curing of the interest on that sum in form as will accomplish that and advance, for the period of the loan, another business. If it can so fashion and that there could be no recovery on paper, if executed, would be void in the hands of an assignee.1 Neither a railroad corporation organized under the laws of, or chartered in Massachusetts, nor a corporation organized under the statutes of that state for the manufacture and sale of musical instruments, has power to guarantee the payment of expenses of a musical festival; and no action can be maintained upon such a contract of guaranty, though it may be made with the reasonable belief that the holding of such a festival would be of great benefit to the corporations by increasing their proper business.2 Though corporations created for the purpose of carrying on a manufacturing business have implied power to make negotiable paper for use within the scope of their business, they have no power to become parties to bills or notes for the accommodation of others." It is not within the powers of a manufacturing corporation, limited by its charter in the use of mercantile paper to that necessary for the convenient prosecution of its business, to accept paper drawn by third parties for accommodation.4 A contract by which a railroad corporation undertook to grant the exclusive right to construct and maintain a telegraph line along its road to a single telegraph company, has been held in the United States Circuit Court for the district of Washington to be ultra vires and void.5

¹ Smend r. Indianapolis, Pittsburgh pahannock Steam Packet Co., (1850) 1 Md. Ch. 542, the object of the corpora- York v. Young, Receiver of Joseph tion, as stated in its charter, was "for Dixon Crucible Co., (1886) 41 N. J. the purpose of establishing and conducting a line of steamboats and stages or carriages between Baltimore and Fredericksburg, and the several ports and places on the Rappuhannock, and on the rivers and waters of the Chesapeake bay, for the conveyance of passengers and transportation of merchandise and other articles." The High Court of Chancery of Maryland held that it was beyond the power of this corporation to enter into an obligation to aid in an improvement, the purpose of which was to open the Rappahannock river, and render it Fredericksburg.

² Davis v. Old Colony R. R. Co., & Cleveland R. R. Co., (1858) 11 Ind. (1881) 131 Mass, 258; Davis v. Ameri- In Abbott v. Bultimore & Rap- can Organ Co., (1881) 131 Mass. 258. 3 National Bank of Republic of New Eq. 531; s. c., 7 Atl. Rep. 488; citing 1 Dan. Neg. Inst. §§ 382, 386; Green's Brice's Ultra Vires, 255, 272.

4 Webster v. Howe Machine Co., (1886) 54 Conn. 394; s. c., 8 Atl. Rep.

⁵ Pacific Postal Telegraph Cable Co. v. Western Union Telegraph Co.. (1892) 50 Fed. Rep. 493. HANFORD, D. J., gave as a reason for this ruling "that the laws of the territory of Washington in force when the contract] was made, did not authorize a railway corporation to transfer land acquired for railroad purposes by navigable to the basin in or near lease, so as to divest itself of its duties and obligations to the public as to the

The New York Court of Appeals has held that while a corporation organized under the Manufacturing Act of that state has the general power to bind itself by promissory notes and contracts of indorsement made in the usual course of business, it has no power to indorse notes for the accommodation of the maker for a consideration paid. The court, in its opinion, said: "It is well settled that such a power is not incidental to the powers expressly conferred on corporations organized under statutes authorizing the formation of corporations for banking, insuring, manufacturing and like business corporations." 2 A contract by which a street ritory, must necessarily be a highway purpose of taking its place and its aslated by law. There is no statute Y. 269; s. c., 32 N. E. Rep. 54, reauthorizing such a transfer of prop- versing People v. Ballard, 56 Hun, erty in the right of way and control 125. thereof as the plaintiff now claims erty or of the right to control the J. & S. 367. same, could be made whereby the use of such. By the plaintiff's own Oregon Railroad & Navigation Co. v. showing it appears that | the railway Oregonian Co., 130 U. S. 1; s. c., 9 company] was incorporated to do a Sup. Ct. Rep. 409; Van Dresser v. Navigeneral transportation business by rail, gation Co., 48 Fed. Rep. 202; U. S. v. and to be a competitor for interstate Western Union Tel. Co., 50 Fcd. Rep. and international commerce. Its fran- 28. That contracts beyond the power * chise from the state, therefore, made of a corporation to make cannot be it to a certain extent a public agent made binding by a ratification, see endowed with part of the sovereign Brady v. Mayor, etc., of New York, power of the commonwealth, and a (1859) 20 N. Y. 312. Case holding a conrailroad constructed in this state by a tract of sale of the property of a corpocorporation organized under the laws ration to a foreign corporation, organof the state or its predecessor, the ter- ized through its procurement, for the for public use, in and to which the sets and carrying on its business ultra public have rights limited and regu- vires: People v. Ballard, (1892) 134 N.

¹ National Park Bank of New York was made to it by such contract, and, v. German-American Mutual Warewithout express authority conferred housing & Security Co., (1889) 116 by a statute, no transfer of such prop- N Y. 281, reversing Same v. Same, 21

² Citing Central Bank v. Empire rights of the public, or a third party, Stone Dressing Co., 26 Barb. 23; e. g., the Western Union Telegraph Bridgeport City Bank v. Empire Stone Company, could be in any manner Dressing Co., 80 Barb. 421; Farmers abridged." Citing Lakin v. Willamette & Mechanics' Bank v. Empire Stone Valley, etc., R. R. Co., 13 Or. 486; s. Dressing Co., 5 Bosw. 275; Morford v. c., 11 Pac. Rep. 68; Braslin v. Somer- Farmers' Bank of Saratoga, 26 Barb. ville Horse R. R. Co., 145 Mass. 64; 568; Bank of Genesee v. Patchin Bank, s. c., 13 N. E. Rep. 65; Palmer v. 13 N. Y. 309; Æina National Bank v. Railway Co., (Idaho) 16 Pac. Rep. Charter Oak Life Ins. Co., 50 Conn. 553; Railroad Co. v. Brown, 17 Wall. 167; Monument National Bank v. 445; Railroad Co. v. Crane, 113 U. S. Globe Works, 101 Mass. 57; Davis v. 433, 434; s. c., 5 Sup. Ct. Rep. 578; Old Colony R. R. Co., 131 Mass. 258; railway corporation transferred the entire control of its road with all its franchises, receiving in return only a fixed rent paid in the form of a dividend to its stockholders, has been held to be ultra vires and void. A firm of commission merchants and members of the Cotton Exchange of New York received from the cashier of a Texas savings bank and trust corporation, orders to purchase cotton — dealing in futures as it is known — on account of customers of the bank. They made such purchases, and there being a loss in the end, brought their action against the Texas corporation for the amount. The New York Court of Appeals held the transaction to be ultra vires the corporation.2 There (1890) 10 N. Y. Supp. 831.

Allen, 65.

Culver v. Reno Real Estate Co., 91 Pa. 97 Ind. 299. Savings banks are de-St. 367; Hall r. Auburn Turnpike Co., signed to encourage economy and fru-27 Cal. 255. As to a manufacturing gality among persons of small means corporation discounting a note, see and are organized with restrictions and Lawrenceville Cement Co. v. Parker, provisions intended to secure depositors against loss. Speculative con-1 Middlesex R. R. Co. r. Boston & tracts entered into for the sale or nur-Chelsen R. R. Co., (1874) 115 Mass. chase of stock by a savings bank at 347; citing Richardson v. Sibley, 11 the stock board or elsewhere, subject to the hazard and contingency of ² Jemison v. Citizens' Savings Bank gain or loss, are ultra vires, and a perof Jefferson, Texas. (1890) 122 N. Y. version of the powers conferred by its In the opinion it was said: charter. People, etc., v. M. & T. S. "Corporations are artificial creations Inst., 92 N. Y. 7-9; Sistare v. Best, 88 existing by virtue of some statute and N. Y. 527-531. Contracts of corpoorganized for the purposes defined in rations are ultra rires when they intheir charters. A person dealing with volve adventures or undertakings outa corporation is chargeable with notice side and not within the scope or power of its powers and the purposes for given by their charters. The acts which it is formed, and when dealing under which they are organized were with its agents or officers is bound to framed in view of the rights of the know the extent of their power and public and the interest of the stockauthority. A corporation necessarily holders. As artificial creations they carries its charter wherever it goes, for possess only the powers with which that is the law of its existence. It they were endowed. An act may be follows that the plaintiffs must have malum in se or malum prohibitum, or known or are chargeable with knowl- an act may not be immoral or proedge of the corporate powers of the hibited by any statute, and still it may defendant and of the extent to which be in excess of the powers vested in its cashier could bind the corporation, the officers of a corporation, unau-Alexander c. Cauldwell, 83 N. Y. 480; thorized and prejudicial to the stock-Hoyt v. Thompson, 19 N. Y. 207-222; holders. In either case the plea of ultra Relfe v. Rundle, 103 U. S. 222-226; vires should prevail unless it would de-Davis v. Old Colony R. R. Co., 181 feat justice or accomplish a legal Mass. 258-260; Leonard r. A. Ins. Co., wrong." The court then applied the

was a contention in this case that the contract had been exccuted on the part of the plaintiffs, and that the corporation was estopped from setting up the defense of ultra vires. The Court of Appeals held, however, that, under the circumstances of this case, the defense was still available to the corporation.1 for the purpose of receiving on deposit so far as this right was violated by the Co., 131 U.S. 371-389. In the case at principles to the case at bar; "As we transaction in question it was a misaphave seen, the defendant was chartered propriation of the funds and immoral."

'Jemison v. Citizens' Savings Bank or in trust such sums of money as may of Jefferson, Texas, (1890) 122 N. Y. from time to time be offered by trades- 135. The court reviewed leading cases men, merchants, clerks, laborers, serv- pertinent to this question, saying: ants and others. It was authorized "In the case of Whitney Arms Co. v. to loan these moneys according to the Barlow, 63 N. Y. 62, the plaintiff was Constitution and laws of the state and a corporation organized for the purto discount in accordance with bank pose of manufacturing every variety usages, taking such security therefor, of firearms and other implements of either real or personal, as the directors war, and all kinds of machinery may deem sufficient. In addition adapted to the construction thereof. thereto the defendant was given power. It entered into a contract with the to borrow money, buy and sell ex- American Seal Lock Company to change, bullion, bank notes, govern- manufacture and deliver ten thousand ment stocks and other securities. The locks. The locks having been deauthority here given to buy and sell livered, it was held that the contract was exchange, bullion, bank notes, gov- fully executed, and the plea of ultru ernment stocks and other securities vires would not prevail as a defense to an does not embrace or include specula- action brought to recover the contract tive contracts in cotton futures any price." Citing Huntington v. Savings more than it does hay, oats, provisions Bank, 96 U.S. 388; Thomas v. R. or dry goods. The exchange, bullion, R. Co., 101 U. S. 71; Nassau Bank v. bank notes, securities, etc., author- Jones, 95 N. Y. 115; Leslie v. Lorillard, ized are those of fixed value, current 110 N. Y. 519. The court said further: in the market and not subject to the "We do not question the rule thus control of speculators. Whilst the invoked. It has been repeatedly debuying and selling of cotton to be clared in other cases, as, for instance, delivered in the future may not ordi- in Parish v. Wheeler, 22 N. Y. 494, in narily be immoral or prohibited by which it was held that a railroad comany statute, it is not included in the pany having purchased and received a powers given to the defendant by its steamboat, could be compelled to pay charter. The transaction in question for it, although the power to purchase was prejudicial to its stockholders such boat was not included in its charand tended to endanger and destroy ter. But this doctrine has no applicathe safeguards provided for the de-tion to executory contracts which are positors. The stockholders and de- sought to be made the foundation of positors had the right to have their an action, or to contracts that are profunds invested in accordance with the hibited as against public policy or improvisions of the charter and the Con-moral. Nassau Bank v. Jones, supra; stitution and laws of the state, and in P. C. & S. L. R. Co. v. K. & H. B.

In an Iowa case it was held that it was ultra vires a corporation organized under articles of incorporation which defined its business to be "the general freight and transfer business, and such other business as may not be inconsistent therewith," to become surety on a bond given to another corporation.1 The court also held that the contract of suretyship being utterly void there was no estoppel of the corporation to plead ultru vires as to the undertaking.2 kind, or transfer of any title to such Road Co., 5 Wis. 50." property to the defendant. If the have called attention. the defendant."

bar, the transaction, as we have seen, ness. It is a mere accommodation, was not only immoral and in violation and it cannot be assumed that the of the rights of the stockholders and articles gave the officers of defendant depositors, but the defendant had re- any power to jeopardize its capital in ceived nothing by virtue of it. The any such venture," and quotes as folcotton had been purchased by the lows: "It is no part of the ordinary plaintiffs in their own name, they tak- business of commercial corporations, ing title thereto and holding it upon and a fortiori still less, of non-comthe defendant's account. It was pur-mercial corporations, to become surety chased under the rules of the Cotton for others. Under ordinary circum-Exchange of the city of New York, in stances, without positive authority in which the members doing business this behalf in the grant of corporate therein, with other members, act as power, all engagements of this descripprincipals and are liable as such. The tion are ultra vires, whether in the inmost that can be claimed is that they direct form of going on accommodation held the cotton, or the contracts there- bills or otherwise becoming liable for for, subject to the call or order of the the debts of others. Green's Brice defendant. There had been no deliv- Ultra Vires, 252; Madison, etc., Plank. ery of any cotton or property of any Road Co. v. Waterman, etc., Plank

² Lucas v. White Line Transfer Co., steamboat had never been delivered to (1886) 70 Iowa, 541; s. c., 30 N. W. the railroad company so as to transfer Rep. 771. This holding was reached the title thereto, or if the ten thousand by the application of the following locks had never been delivered to the rules, as stated by Rothnock, J., to American Seal Lock Company, very the case: "(1) Every person dealing different questions would have been with a corporation is charged with presented in the cases to which we knowledge of its powers, as set out in We, conse- its recorded articles of incorporation. quently, are of the opinion that under (2) Where a corporation exercises the circumstances of this case, the de- powers not given by its charter, it fense of ultra vires is still available to violates the law of its organization, and may be proceeded against by the Lucas v. White Line Transfer Co, state, through its attorney-general, as (1886) 70 Iowa, 541; s. c., 30 N. W. provided by the statute, and the unani-Rep. 771. The court, through Rorn- mous consent of all the stockholders ROCK, J., said: "The simple act of cannot make illegal acts valid. The giving security for another is out of state has the right to interfere in such the line of the prosecution of any busi- case. (3) Where a third party makes § 273. Leasing corporation's property and franchises for a term of years.— The Indiana Supreme Court has held that a lease of its road by a railway corporation of that state for a long term of years, with the privilege of renewal of the same, to another corporation of the same kind in consideration of the latter with the officers of a corporation an jected to what they termed an ultra illegal contract beyond the powers of vires contract were charged with knowlthe corporation, as shown by its char- edge of and participation in the act ter, such third party cannot recover, they claimed to be illegal and were in because he acts with knowledge that no condition to complain. A corporathe officers have exceeded their power, tion cannot retain benefits derived and between him and another corpora- from an ultra vires contract; and at the tion, or its stockholders, no amount of same time treat the contract as entirely ratification by those authorized to void, unless, perhaps, in cases where make the contract will make it valid. the other party has assisted willfully (4) Where the officers of a corporation in putting it beyond the power of the make a contract with third parties in corporation to return what is received regard to matters apparently within on such contract. (6) Where the cortheir corporate powers, but which, poration has permitted its officers to upon the proof of extrinsic facts (of engage in ultra vires transactions, the which such parties had no notice), lie officers commit a wrong or tortious act beyond their powers, the corporation without the fault of theinjured party, must be held, unless it may avoid lia- the corporation is estopped from takbility by taking timely steps to pre- ing advantage of the ultra vires charvent loss or damage to such third party; acter of the original undertaking." for in such cases the third party is inno- As to the doctrine that charters not cent, and the corporation stockholders expressly or by implication authorizless innocent, for having selected offling an act prohibit it and render such cers not worthy of the trust reposed in act void, see Safford v. Wyckoff, 1 them. (5) This class of cases may be Hill, 11; Leavitt v. Palmer, 3 Comst. illustrated by that where the officers 19; Talmage v. Pell, 3 Seld. 328; of a corporation empowered to build Tracy v. Talmage, 14 N. Y. 162, 179; and operate a certain line of railroad, Bissell v. Michigan So., etc., R. R. Co., purchased iron to be used for another 22 N. Y. 258, 289; Whitney Arms Co. line without the knowledge of the v. Barlow, 63 N. Y. 62, 68; Alexander vendee. So, in case of Humphrey v. v. Cauldwell, 83 N. Y. 480, 485; Nas-Patron's Mercantile Assn., 50 Iowa, sau Bank v. Jones, 95 N. Y. 115, 122; 607, the debts of the corporation New York Firemen Ins. Co. v. Ely, were, hy its articles, limited to 5 Conn. 560, 572; Hood v. New York a certain amount; but the officers & New Haven R. R. Co., 29 Conn. of the association, in dealing with 502; Elmore v. Naugatuck R. R. Co., Humphrey, exceeded that amount 28 Conn. 457; Mutual Savings Bank without his knowledge or means of v. Meriden Agency Co., 24 Conn. 159; knowledge, and the corporation was Naugatuck R. R. Co. v. Waterbury Thompson v. Lambert, 44 Button Co., 24 Conn. 468. Contracts Iowa. 239, belongs to the same class of held ultra rires and void: Twiss v. cases, with the addition that in the Guaranty Life Assn. of Iowa, (1898) last case the stockholders who ob- 87 Iowa, 783; s. c., 55 N. W. Rep. 8, paying the taxes thereon, performing certain contracts theretofore made by the former company and the payment to the former company, or to its use, certain sums of money, was ultra vires, based upon the doctrine that a charter granted to a railway corporation for the purpose of constructing, owning and maintaining a railroad, confers a trust special to the corporation in relation to the purposes of its creation, and hence such a corporation has no power to enter into contracts foreign to those for which it was created, or to delegate its franchises, or to incapacitate itself to discharge its duties to the public by a lease or sale of its road. Agreements of that character, unauthorized by its charter, are inconsistent with the obligations of the corporation to the public, ultra vires and void.1 The court held that the contract for lease articles of incorporation, contracting Co. v. Schram, 6 Wash. 134. 24 Ore. 16; s. c., 32 Pac. Rep. 679; Cal. 678; s. c., 33 Pac. Rep. 772. Welsh v. Ferd Heim Brewing Co., 47 Board of Commissioners of Tippefollowing Lucas r. Transfer Co., 70 Brewing Co., 47 Mo. App. 639; Iowa, 542; s. c., 30 N. W. Rep. 771. United Lines Telegraph Co. r. Roston See on ultra vires Wardner, Bushnell & Safe Deposit & Trust Co., 147 U. S. Glessner Co. v. Jack, 82 Iowa, 435; 431; s. c., 13 Sup. Ct Rep. 396. For il-Carson City Sav. Bank r. Elevator Co., lustrations of contracts which have 90 Mich. 550; Seymour v. Association, been held not to be ultra rires, see 64 Hun, 632; Richelieu Hotel Co. v. Wolf v. Arminus Copper Mine Co., 6 Encampment Co., 140 Ill. 248; s. c., Misc. Rep. 562; s. c., 27 N. Y. Supp. 29 N. E. Rep. 1044, affirming 41 Ill. 642, in which Abbot v. Rubber Co., App. 268; Dewey v. Railway Co., 91 33 Barb. 578, was distinguished; Mich. 351; Heims Brewing Co. r. Ashenbroedel Club v. Finlay, 53 Mo. Flannery, 137 Ill. 309; Buckeye Marble App. 256. As to ultra vires generally. & Freestone Co. v. Harvey, (1892) see Oelbermann v. New York & N. Ry. 92 Tenn. 115; s. c., 20 S W. Rep. 427; Co., 77 Hun. 332; s. c., 29 N. Y. As to a corporation with the usual Supp. 545; Pauly r. Coronado Beach powers, when not prohibited by its Co., 56 Fed. Rep. 428; Denny Hotel for the surrender of its stock, see topped to plead ultra vires. Kennedy Rollins v. Shaver Wagon & Carriage v. California Sav. Bank, (1894) 101 Co., (1890) 80 Iowa, 380; s. c., 45 N. Cal. 495; s. c., 35 Pac. Rep. 1039; W. Rep. 1037. When a plen of ultra Kadish v. Garden ('ity Equitable vires will be held sufficient. Gillespie Loan & Bldg. Assn., 47 Ill. App. 602; v. Davidge Fertilizer Co., 66 Hun, Smith v. White (Tex. Civ. App.) 25 S. 627; s. c., 20 N. Y. Supp. 833. When W. Rep. 800; Head v. Cleburne Bldg. a contract will not be declared ultra & Loan Assn., (Tex. Civ. App.) 25 S. vires. Nashua & Lowell Railroad W. Rep. 810; Cameron c. First Nat. Corp. v. Boston & Lowell R. Corp., Bank, 4 Tex. Civ. App. 309; s. c., 23 (1892) 157 Mass. 268; s. c., 31 N. E. S. W. Rep. 334; Butte Hardware Co. Rep. 1060; Odd Fellows Hall Asso- c. Schwab, (Mont.) 34 Pac. Rep. 24; ciation of Portland v. Hegele, (1893) Magee v. Pacific Improvement Co., 98

Mo. App. 608; Glass v. Ferd Heim canoe Co. v. La Fayette, Muncie &

of this road was made without authority of law; that the board of directors and agents of the corporation had no power to make it; and that it was in violation of the rights of the stockholders and in contravention of public policy. The court said, however: "We do not decide that railroad companies cannot become lessors or lessees of other railroad companies, or make other contracts with other railroad companies, for the purpose of running their lines in conjunction, facilitating commerce, travel and transportation, or for any of the legitimate purposes for which railroad companies are organized. There is much in the legislation of the state favoring this view, and many decisions of this court sustaining the advancing enterprise of the country, but all such contracts must come within the powers of the agency that makes them, and must not violate the rights of stockholders or contravene public policy.² It was contended in this case that the Indiana statute of February 23, 1853, entitled an "act to authorize railroad companies to consolidate, etc.," had removed this disability which these principles of law imposed upon such corporations. The Supreme Court held adversely to the contention.

Ind. 85.

conclusions: 1 Redf. on Railways, 226, rine v. Chesapeake, etc., Co., 9 How. 594, 616, 641, 644, 650; Boston, etc., 172; Bedford R. R. Co. v. Bowser, 48 R. R. Corp. v. Salem, etc., R. R. Co., Pa. St. 29; Pearce v. Madison, etc., R. 2 Gray, 1; Black r. Delaware, etc., R. Co., 21 How. 441; European, etc., Canal Co., 7 C. E. Green (N. J.), 130; Ry. Co. v. Poor, 59 Me. 277; Wright v. Bissell r. Michigan Southern, etc., R. Bundy, 11 Ind. 398; Eaton & Hamilton R. Co., 22 N. Y. 258; Fall River Iron R. R. Co. v. Hunt, 20 Ind. 457; Board of Co., 5 Allen, 221; Great Luxembourg Sparrow v. Evansville, etc., R. R. Co., Beman v. Rufford, 1 Sim. (N. S.) 550; R. R. Co., 7 Ind. 407; Booc v. Junction ton Co., 10 Wall. 676; Colman r. East- 42 Ind. 498. ern Counties Ry. Co., 10 Beav. 1; Eastern Counties Ry. Co., 11 C. B. 85, 115. 775; Richardson v. Sibley, 11 Allen, Bloomington R. R. Co., (1875) 50 Madison, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Watertown, etc., Plank Road Co., 7 Wis. ¹ Ibid.; citing in support of these 59; Eldridge v. Smith, 34 Vt. 484; Per-Works Co. v. Old Colony, etc., R. R. Comrs., etc., v. Reynolds, 44 Ind. 509; Ry. Co. v. Magnay, 25 Beav. 586; 7 Ind. 369; Fisher v. Evansville, etc., Bagshaw r. Eastern Union Ry. Co., 2 R. R. Co., 10 Ind. 93; McCray r. Macn. & G. 389; Bank of Middlebury Junction R. R. Co., 9 Ind. 358; Shelr. Edgerton, 30 Vt. 182; Marsh v. Ful-byville, etc., Turnpike ('o. v. Barnes, ² Board of Commissioners of Tippe-Township of Pine Grove r. Talcott, canoe Co. v. La Fayette, Muncie & 19 Wall. 666; East Anglian Ry. Co. r. Bloomington R. R. Co., (1875) 50 Ind.

*Ibid. The court said: "That act 65; Eidman v. Bowman, 58 Ill. 444; is 'to authorize railroad companies to Stewart's Appeal, 56 Pa. St. 413; consolidate their stock with the stock appeared in a case before the United States Supreme Court that a corporation organized under the laws of Pennsylvania as a manufacturing corporation with a certain capital stock, for twenty years, for "the transportation of passengers in railroad cars constructed and owned by the said company" under certain patents. carried on the business of manufacturing sleeping cars under its patents, and of hiring or letting the cars to railroad companies by written contracts, receiving a revenue from the sale of berths and accommodations to passengers. Seven years afterwards, by special statute, the charter was extended for ninety-nine years, and the corporation was empowered to double its capital stock, and "to enter into contracts with corporations in this or any other state for the leasing or hiring and transfer to them, or any of them, of its railway cars and other personal property." Upon the passage of this statute this corporation entered into a contract with a corporation of another state organized for similar purposes, by which it leased and transferred to the latter all its cars. railroad contracts, patent rights and other personal property, moneys, credits and rights of action, for the term of ninety-nine years, except so far as the contracts and patents shall expire sooner; and covenanted not to "engage in the business of manufacturing, using or hiring sleeping cars" while the contract should remain in force; the lessee engaged to pay all the existing debts

a railroad company 'shall have power and the rights of the stockholders." to make such contracts and agreements of railroad companies in this or in an with any such road constructed in an adjoining state, and to connect their adjoining state, for the transportation roads with the roads of said com- of freight and passengers, or for the use panies,' etc. The title nowhere men- of its said road, as to the board of ditions a lease or a sale. Indeed, the rectors may seem proper.' Even if words 'to connect their roads with the this section could be held to authorize roads of said companies' would seem the transfer of the use of one road to to exclude such a conclusion. To con- another, the words cannot fairly mean nect one road with another does not the transfer of one division of a road fairly mean to lease it or sell it to to the injury of another division of another. Much less can it mean to the same road, thus putting the two authorize the corporation to sever the divisions in direct antagonism, both trunk of its road, transfer the western in their interest and connection. Aldivision, for an unlimited time, to the though the words, 'as to such board of corporation of another state, and sub-directors may seem proper,' express a ordinate its eastern division to the general power, they must be construed western and to a foreign corporation. in reference to the subject-matter to The third section of the act is not which they are applied, and limited strongly relied upon. It enacts that within the powers of the corporation of the lessor corporation and to pay a fixed sum annually, during the term of ninety-nine years, unless the contract was sooner terminated as provided in its terms. The lessor corporation brought this action to recover of the lessee corporation a large sum of money claimed to be due from it on this contract. Supreme Court held the contract to be unlawful and void, because it was ultra vires the corporate powers of the lessor corporation and involved an abandonment of its duty to the public; also, that the suit was not maintainable nor could there be a recovery by the lessor corporation upon the contract even though the lessee had enjoyed the benefits of the contract. In the United States

23 How. 381; Thomas r. Railroad Co, to the public independently of possess-101 U.S. 71; Branch r. Jesup, 106 U.S. ing any rights of eminent domain. 468; Pennsylvania Railroad r. St. Louis, The public nature of that duty was etc., Railroad, 118 U.S. 290; Salt Lake not affected by the fact that it was to City v. Hollister, 118 U. S. 256; Willa- be performed by means of cars conmette, etc., Co. r. Bank of British structed and of patent rights owned Columbia, 119 U.S. 191; Green Bay & by the corporation, and over roads Minnesota Railroad r. Union Steam- owned by others. The plaintiff was boat Co., 107 U. S. 98; Pittsburgh, not a strictly private, but a quasi pubetc., Railway r. Keokuk & Hamilton lie corporation; and it must be so Bridge, 131 U. S. 371; Oregon Rail- treated as regards the validity of any way v. Oregonian Railway, 130 U. S. attempt on its part to absolve itself corporation was on a different footing to the public, the performance of like, it was said: "The plaintiff " * * the remuneration that it was required was not an ordinary manufacturing by law to make to the public in recorporation, such as might, like a part- turn for the grant of its franchise. nership or an individual engaged in Pickard v. Pullman Southern Car Co., manufactures, sell or lease all its prop- 117 U. S. 34; York & Maryland Railerty to another corporation. Ardesco road r. Winans, 17 How. 30, 39; Rail-

¹ Central Transportation Co. v. Pull- defined in its charter, and recognized man's Palace Car ('o., (1891) 189 U. S. and confirmed by the legislature, being 24; s. c., 11 Sup Ct. Rep. 478. Mr. the transportation of passengers, the Justice Gray in the opinion which he plaintiff exercised a public employdelivered for the court quoted from ment, and was charged with the duty and reviewed the following cases: of accommodating the public in the York & Maryland Railroad r. Winans, line of that employment, exactly cor-17 How. 30; Pearce r. Madison & In- responding to the duty which a raildianapolis Railroad, 21 How, 441; road corporation or a steamboat com-Zabriskie v. Cleveland, etc., Railroad, pany as a carrier of passengers owes 1. Upon a contention that the lessor from the performance of those duties from railroad corporations and the which by the corporation itself was Oil Co. r. North American Oil Com- road Co. r. Lockwood, 17 Wall, 357; pany, 66 Pa. St. 375; Treadwell v. Liverpool & Great Western Steam Co. Salisbury Manuf. Co., 7 Gray, 393. v. Phoenix Ins. Co., 129 U. S. 397." But the purpose of its corporation, as After referring to the express pow-

Circuit Court for the northern district of Washington it has been held that a railroad company organized under the laws of that state has no authority to transfer its franchises, except by sale and conveyance or lease made in accordance with the statutes relating to the transfer of titles to such property; and where by a so-called "traffic agreement," the trustees, without the consent of the minority stockholders, in effect, transferred to another railroad company the entire control and management of the property, for practically the legal lifetime of the corporation, such contract was illegal and void. The Supreme Court of New assumption of the plaintiff's debts and loan, power, franchise, aid or assist fendant nearly the whole corporate power which granted it. (1892) 49 Fed. Rep. 412.

ers conferred upon the corporation, it to, or conferred upon said company was said: "Considering the long term by the congress of the United States, of the indenture, the perishable nature by the legislature of any state, or by of the property transferred, the large any corporation, person or persons; sums to be paid quarterly by the de- and said corporation is authorized to fendant by way of compensation, its hold and enjoy such grant, donation, the frank avowal, in the indenture it ance to its own use for the purpose self, of the intention of the two cor- aforesaid." In the opinion rendered porations to prevent competition and in this case it is said: "The statute to create a monopoly, there can be no referred to does not prescribe the doubt that the chief consideration for manner whereby purchases or leases the sums to be paid by the defendant of railways may be consummated, was the plaintiff's covenant not to en- otherwise than by the general progage in the business of manufacturing, visions of the several statutes relating using or hiring sleeping cars; and that to corporations and to conveyances the real purpose of the transaction of property. A railroad corporation was, under the guise of a lease of per- cannot lawfully transfer its franchise sonal property, to transfer to the de- without authority emanating from the franchise of the plaintiff, and to con- unauthorized transfer, made in distinue the plaintiff's existence for the guise, as by a traffic contract, will single purpose of receiving compensa-not, in a judicial proceeding, betion for not performing its duties." treated with greater favor than if the This case has been followed in Hamil- contract expressed plainly the real inton v. Savannah, F. & W. Ry. Co., tention of the parties. On the subject of traffic contracts the text of Green's ¹Earle v. Seattle, Lake Shore & Brice's Ultra Vires (page 427), con-Eastern Ry. ('o., (1893) 56 Fed. Rep. cisely and clearly states the law, as 909. The only authority found in the follows: '('orporations may make all charter of the company which had necessary arrangements for cheaply thus leased the control of the Wash- and expeditiously developing or ington corporation, was where the con- carrying on their particular business: gress of the United States had author- but it is another thing, going beyond ized it "to accept to its own use any this, to enter into contracts, for ingrant, donation, loan, power, franchise, stance, by which the exclusive control aid or assistance which may be granted or the exclusive right of working the York, in General Term, affirmed the denial of a motion to continue an injunction restraining the directors of a corporation from transferring its property, assets and business to another corporation, where it appeared from affidavits of the directors that they did not contemplate such action, but merely the leasing of important rights and functions to the other corporation.1 This was a case where a stockholder of a Minnesota corporation had made complaint, in which he alleged that eight of the nine directors of the company owned or controlled a majority of the shares of stock, and were disposed to lease and transfer the property and effects of the company for the term of twenty-five years to a corporation created under the laws of the state of New Jersey, and, in effect, to transfer its business to that company, for one-half the net profits yielded by it; and that this was in contravention of its charter, and the laws of the state of tinued: "Now, assuming that the tion of the contract rights of individsection of the charter above quoted ual stockholders, and the rule is that does authorize the Northern Pacific a corporation cannot be consolidated Railroad Company to take the benefit with another if the right to do so was of rights and privileges, and exercise not by the law, or the constituting new powers, granted and conferred by instruments, given at the time of its the state of Washington, the question creation, without the unanimous conwhether the contracts and proceedings sent of its stockholders. The law on by which it has gained control of the this subject is thus stated in 2 Mor. Seattle, Lake Shore and Eastern Com- Priv. Corp. § 951: 'A corporation pany's franchise and business are cannot consolidate with another comultra vires or not depends upon pany, even pursuant to legislative whether the requirements of the state authority, except with the consent of laws in this regard have been met. all its shareholders. An unauthorized There has been no sale and convey- consolidation may be prevented by ance, nor lease, of the railroad prop- any dissenting shareholder, or may be erty, in accordance with the laws of treated as ground for severing his conthis state relating to the manner of nection with the company, by a transferring titles to such property. rescission of his subscription." As the parties have not done what the ¹ Small v. Minneapolis statute authorizes to be done, I do Mairix Co., (1890) 10 N. Y. Supp. 456. not think that the deal between them line is handed over to other parties. has any governmental sanction what-All such arrangements, whatever ever. No consolidation has been their form, however disguised, are attempted, and yet the transaction is ultra rires and void. This applies of such resemblance to a consolidation with peculiar force in the case of that the legal principles by which the those bodies which have been created validity of proceedings to effect a for what may be conveniently styled consolidation of corporations may be 'public purposes.''" The court con-applied. This idea leads to considera-

Minnesota, under which it was incorporated. Daniels, J., for the court, said: "If the facts were satisfactorily established, a case for an injunction would be presented; for the directors or trustees do not appear to have been invested with that power, either by its charter or the laws of the state in which it exists; and, in the absence of explicit authority to transfer its property, effects and business to another company, it cannot be presumed to possess that power. At least, the directors or trustees, having only the power to manage and conduct its affairs under the charter, could legally make no such disposition of its property and affairs; for, instead of managing and conducting its business, that would be a destruction of its business, and an abdication of their own powers and authority, which could not take place without violating the law and their own official obligations; and that, even a majority owner of the shares of the company would be entitled by action to restrain and prevent." Referring to the admission in the answer of the directors, that a resolution was adopted by the majority of the board, subject to the approval of the shareholders, to execute a lease to the New Jersey corporation of certain important rights and functions of the Minnesota corporation, and the stated intention to extend the leasehold interests or rights no further than was permitted by the laws of Minnesota, it was said: "And it certainly goes no further in its language or fair implication to this extent, which does not transcend, but limits itself within the bounds of the law; for the exercise of lawful authority for the promotion of the interests and prosperity of the company is intrusted to the use and employment of its board of directors or trustees; and when they may, in good faith, be exercised, a case will not be presented for the interposition of a court of equity by injunction."2

§ 274. Loaning funds of corporation.— The power in a corporation to loan its funds cannot be implied from the power expressly given it to borrow money, or any implied power it has to borrow; and if it has no express power given it to loan its funds, it cannot be implied from the declared purposes and objects for which its charter was granted where it is not created for banking purposes, or to conduct some business usual in banking; and in case the corporation is not created, as may appear from its articles of incorporation, for pecuniary profit, this declaration would exclude the power of loaning its funds.1 And where a corporation has no power to loan its funds, a promissory note and mortgage given as security to the corporation will be void and not enforceable in equity.2 An Alabama corporation was incorporated with a capital of $1,000,000, to be paid in in cash and such other money as it might receive in trust, one-half of which capital it was required to invest in bonds or notes secured by mortgage on land within the state of Alabama, and the remaining half of the capital stock, together with the premiums and profits received by it, and the moneys received in trust, may be invested in stocks, loaned to any city, county or company, or be invested in such real or personal securities as it might deem proper. The Supreme Court of Alabama held that the corporation had no power to lend its credit by making bonds to fall due in future, and exchanging such bonds for the bonds of an individual for the same amount.3 A corporation organized under the laws of California for the purpose of acquiring a certain tract of land, laying it out as a town and selling it in lots, blocks, etc., and acquiring "street railroad or other rights and franchises, telegraph, telephone or other similar franchises, and gas and electric light franchises, over the said property, or any part thereof," subscribed for shares of stock in a manufacturing corporation. Such subscription was held to be ultra vires and void.4 448.

¹ Citing Abbot v. Rubber Co., 33 ² Citing Beveridge v. Railroad Co., Barb. 578, 591. 112 N. Y. 1; s. c., 19 N. E. Rep. 489.

⁹ Ibid.

articles of incorporation, to have the all others not fairly incidental Co., (1848) 13 Ala. 579.

man's Palace Car Co., 139 U. S. 48; subjected to risks which they have

¹ Chambers v. Falkner, (1880) 65 Ala. s. c., 11 Sup. Ct. Rep. 484, in these words: "The charter of a corporation read in the light of any general laws ³ Smith v. Alabama Life Insurance which are applicable, is the measure & Trust Co., (1843) 4 Ala. 558. This of its powers, and the enumeration of same corporation was held, under its those powers implies the exclusion of power to purchase a bill of exchange, contracts made by a corporation bein Gee v. Alabama Life Ins. & Trust youd the scope of those powers are unlawful and void, and no action can Pauly v. Coronado Beach Co., be maintained upon them in the courts; (1893) 56 Fed. Rep. 428. The court and this, upon three distinct grounds: placed its ruling upon the doctrine on The obligation of every one contractthis subject as summed up by the Su- ing with a corporation to take notice preme Court of the United States, in of the legal limits of its powers; the Central Transportation Co. v. Pull- interest of the stockholders not to be $ 275. Investing funds of corporation in stock of others.— In a Maine case it appeared that a savings institution subscribed for $50,000 of the capital stock of a manufacturing corporation. Having no money to pay for it, another corporation paid the money to the manufacturing corporation, took the notes of the savings institution for the amount, and had a certificate of stock issued in its name as collateral security for the payment of the The Supreme Court of Judicature of that state held that upon principle, as well as authority, it was not within the authority of the trustees of a savings institution to invest its funds in the stock of a manufacturing corporation, unless expressly authorized so to do by its charter, or the public laws of the state. They placed their decision against the power of the savings bank to enter into this contract upon the broader ground that it was not competent for the trustees of the savings bank to purchase on credit property of any kind, not needed for immediate use or the investment of existing funds; that such power was not expressly conferred upon it, nor could it be sustained as an incidental power.1 never undertaken; and, above all, the Earle, 13 Pet. 519; Tombigbee R. R. applied to it.

interest of the public, that the corpo- Co r. Kneeland, 4 How. 16; Runyan ration shall not transcend the powers v. Coster's Lessee, 14 Pet. 122; Dartconferred upon it by law." In Riche- mouth College v. Woodward, 4 Wheat. lieu Hotel Company v. International 518, 686; Hood v. New York & N. H. Military Encampment Co., (1892) 140 Railroad, 22 Conn. 1 and 502; Berry. III. 248; s. c., 29 N. E. Rep. 1044, a Receiver, v. Yates, 24 Barb. 199; subscription by this incorporated Mutual Savings Bank v. Meriden hotel company to V., a contemplated Agency Co., 24 Conn. 159; Sumner v. corporation for the purpose of estab- Marcy, 3 Woodb. & Min. 105: Pearce lishing this encampment to draw vis- v. Railroad, 21 How. 441. It was sugitors to the city, etc., was held foreign gested in Franklin Company v. Lewisto the purposes of the hotel company, ton Institution for Savings, supra. and the doctrine of ultra vires must be that it might be convenient in this way to provide in advance for the invest-¹ Franklin Company v. Lewiston In-ment of funds that might afterwards stitution for Savings, (1877) 68 Me. 43. come into the possession of a bank. To The ruling as to the first point was this the court said: "We think the based upon what the court considered creation of debts by corporations or the result of the rules declared in the individuals for no other purpose than following cases bearing upon the to provide a ready way to dispose of powers of corporations, to wit: Beaty v. future acquisitions a proceeding of Lessee of Knowler, 4 Pet. 152; s. c., 1 very questionable convenience; that McLean, 41; Perrine v. Chesapeake & in the great majority of cases it would Delaware Canal Co., 9 How. 172; be likely to prove, as it did in this case. Farnum v. Blackstone Canal Co., 1 very inconvenient. But it is suffi-Sumner, 46; Bank of Augusta v. cient answer to say that the law im-

It was further held in this case that the lender of the money, the corporation plaintiff, having participated in the illegal transaction, could not claim the privileges of a bona fide holder of commercial paper; and that the savings institution, having received no benefit from the transaction, was not estopped to set up the defense of ultra vires. In an action brought by one Ohio corporation, an iron company, against another, a railway company, for goods sold and delivered to the latter, the defense made was that there had been a contract between the two corporations, by the terms of which the iron company was to sell to the railway company goods to a certain amount, and to receive in payment thereof so many shares of stock in the latter. This involved the question of the authority of the iron company to take stock in the railway company. Upon this subject the Supreme Court of Ohio stated the law in that state to be as follows: "We think it well settled as a result of the decisions in this state, as well as elsewhere, that an incorporated company cannot, unless authorized by statute, make a valid subscription to the capital stock of another; that such subscription is ultra vires, and void. Mr. Morawetz, in stating this to be the law, observes: 'The right of forming a corporation is conferred by the incorporation laws only upon persons acting individually, and not upon associations; moreover, it would, under ordinary circumstances, be a violation of the charter of an existing company to subscribe for shares in a new company and assume the resulting liabilities.' Priv. Corp. § 433. There has been no direct decision upon the question by this court, but such has been the universal holding elsewhere.2 These cases all proceed upon the principle that the powers of corporations organized under legislative statutes are such and such only, as those statutes confer, or that may be fairly implied therefrom. This doctrine was clearly announced and applied in Straus v. Eagle Ins. Co., 5 Ohio St. 59, and has been firmly adhered vestment of future funds or future would be unprecedented." The whole duty is performed when they have provided safe tion for Savings, (1887) 68 Me. 43. investments for the funds already coming depositors whose money, after all, Railroad Co. v. Collins. 40 Ga. 582.

poses no duty upon the trustees of may never be committed to their care, savings banks to provide for the in would be a doctrine as startling as it

¹ Franklin Co. v. Lewiston Institu-

² Citing Railroad Co. v. Railroad mitted to their care. To hold that they Co., 31 N. J. Eq. 475; Franklin Co. v. may create debts binding upon exist- Lewiston Savings Inst., 68 Me. 43; to in this court. Railroad Co. v. Hinsdale, 45 Ohio St. 556, 573. No claim is made by the defendant that the iron company had any express statutory authority to use its capital or assets in aid of the construction of a railroad by subscription to its capital stock or otherwise. The only averment as to this, is that it, the iron company, conceived that it would be benefited by the reduction of the price of coal at Cleveland, its place of business, and the market which the construction of the road would afford for its manufactures, and by these considerations was induced to make the subscription. But all this can be of no avail in the face, at least, of the prohibition contained in section 3266 of the Revised Statutes, that, 'No corporation shall employ its stock, means, assets or other property, directly or indirectly, for any other purpose whatever, than to accompaish the legitimate objects of its creation.' There was then, as we think, no authority whatever in the iron company to make a valid subscription to the capital stock of the railway company * * * ."1

§ 276. Directors of an insurance company raising a guaranty capital.—The directors of a mutual life and fire insurance company, a New Jersey corporation, after conducting its business for a while, by resolution determined upon and formulated a plan to raise a guaranty capital to the amount of $150,000, to be used for the payment of losses when other means were exhausted. This was done by obligations for money secured by mortgage from its members. Here we have an action on a bill filed to recover on the defendant's mortgage what had been assessed against him. The answer of defendants set up the facts and circumstances under which the mortgage was given, and insisted that the action and all the proceedings of the directors in raising the guaranty capital were illegal, in violation of the charter of the company and against public policy, and, therefore, the company could not enforce the contract made with any of the contributors to the fund. After expressing that his disposition was to enforce this contract on the part of the contributors. upon the question directly raised, Chancellor WILLIAMSON said: "I cannot see how the contract with the contributors to this guaranty fund can be enforced in a court of law or equity, without repudiating altogether the principle of the common law, which has been but re-enunciated by our statute (Nixon, 135, § 3), that no corporation shall possess or exercise any corporate powers, except such as shall be expressly given in its charter, or which shall be necessary to the exercise of the powers so enumerated and given. Was it within the scope of the powers of this corporation to provide any other capital or fund as the basis of the basis which it was empowered to pursue, than are provided by the charter itself? If it was illegal for them to create such a capital, then a contract which they may have made for its payment cannot be enforced. This corporation was incorporated for the purpose of insuring lives and loss by fire. The charter provides the fund out of which losses are to be paid, and it is this feature in the charter which stamps the character of this corporation, and which makes it what its name imports, and what the legislature intended it should be, a mutual company. The corporators are mutual insurers, and it is the fund which is made up from the premiums which they contribute, and one per cent on the amount for which each one is insured, out of which they are to be indemnified for any losses. They have no right or authority, by their charter, to create any other fund for the purpose. If they do, it is in violation of the principle which is to govern their mode of doing the business for which they were incorporated."1

¹ Railway Co. v. Iron Co., (1888) 46 Ohio St. 44, 49, 50.

¹Trenton Mutual Life & Fire Insur- corporation incur a loss, and not have

ance Co. v. McKelway, (1858) 12 N. J. the available means promptly to Eq. 133, 135, 136. Arguendo, the meet it, it would not be illegal for chancellor further said: "It was ad- them to make a loan to meet the mitted, on the argument, that it was exigency. But they cannot, under not within the scope of the powers of pretense of borrowing money, provide this corporation to create any capital a fund for the purpose of giving other than that for which the charter credit to the company. The question provides. It was attempted to escape is as to the bona fides of the transacthe consequences of such an act by tion. It matters not what you call it, the argument that this was nothing the name does not affect its real charmore than a contract for a loan of acter. Was this a bonu fide loan of money, out of which the corporation money, or a contract for a loan, made might be enabled to meet the losses in the ordinary course of business, that might be incurred. It cannot be and to meet an exigency which would denied but that the corporation might bring such a contract within the comborrow money under some circum- pass of the legitimate powers of the stances, and that a contract bona fule company? Or was it a contract to made for such loan would be illegal provide a capital or fund for the pur-[legal?], and not in contravention of pose of giving a credit and character the charter. For instance, should the to the company which is entirely for-

§ 277. Converting "common" into "preferred" stock.— In a leading New York case, while the Court of Appeals admitted the right of corporations to classify their stock at the outset by issuing some "common" and some "preferred" stock, it was held that it was not, under the circumstances disclosed, in the power of the corporation involved in this case to convert some of its shares into preferred with a view of raising money from its stockholders, as it was not a "borrowing" of money in its proper sense, but an interference with the vested rights of the stockholders as originally constituted. A manufacturing corporation the contract, and, as to the acts of the and cannot be enforced." directors in the matter, said: "They eign to its charter? Can this be called ing a credit upon which to transact a legitimate contract for a loan in the business? In my judgment, they ordinary course of business?" The could not, and any contract entered chancellor then stated the terms of into for such a purpose is unlawful,

¹ Kent c. Quicksilver Mining Co., did not make the contract under a (1879) 78 N. Y. 159. The court, how mistake, intending to make a mere ever, would not declare that a cor loan, and supposing that they were poration could never, rightfully. legitimately exercising a power to do against the dissent of a portion of its That was not their purpose, stockholders, make some of its stock They had a different object in view. "preferred." Folger, J., speaking It is expressed in their bill of com- for the court, said: "The transaction plaint, and recorded several times is not to be looked upon as other than upon their minutes. The bill of com- a preference of one class of stockhold plaint alleges that the directors con- ers to another; as giving to the first cluded to enter into this negotiation class a perpetual, inextinguishable because, in their opinion, it would prior right to a portion of the earnings prove advantageous to the corporators of the company before the other class to provide a guaranty capital as an might have anything therefrom. It additional security for the payment of was none other than the creation of a losses. Here, then, is the admission 'preferred stock.' Then there arises of the company upon the record, that the query whether there was at that this contract was made for an illegal time power in the corporation to dispurpose. The minutes of the corpo-tinguish between the stockholders in ration show more; they show that this it, to form them into two classes, and was a device for the purpose of com- to give to one class rights in the corplying with the laws of the state of porate property, business and earnings New York, which provides that no from which the other was shut out. insurance company shall transact bus- We are not prepared to say that, at the iness in that state unless such company first, the corporation might not have is possessed of an actual capital of lawfully divided the interest in its $150,000. The simple question then capital stock into shares arranged in is presented, could this corporation classes, preferring one class to another lawfully adopt any scheme or device in the right it should have in the by which they could create a capital profits of the business. The charter of $150,000, for the purpose of acquir- gave power to make such by-laws as organized under the laws of New York was organized with a capital stock of 7.500 shares. At a certain time it owed $300,000, and for the purpose of paying it, stockholders representing all the stock, except that mentioned hereafter, and the corporation executed under their hands and seals a contract by which the shareholders agreed to surrender to the corporation without consideration forty per cent of their stock, which

it might deem proper consistent with New York, 5 Cow. 538. So it is said the Constitution and law; and to issue in Grant on Corporations, page 80, in certificates of stock representing the a qualified way. Thereby, and by the value of the property. We know of certificate, as between it and every nothing in the Constitution or the law stockholder, the capital stock of the that inhibits a corporation from begin- company was fixed in amount in the ning its corporate action by classify- number of shares into which it was ing the shares in its capital stock with divisible, and in the peculiar and relapeculiar privileges to one share over tive value of each share. The by-law another, and then offering its stock entered into the compact between the to the public for subscriptions thereto. corporation and every taker of a share; No rights are got until a subscription it was in the nature of a contract beis made. Each subscriber would know tween them. The holding and ownfor what class of stock he put down ing of a share gave a right which could his name, and what rights he got when not be divested without the assent of he thus became a stockholder. There the holder and owner; or unless the need be no deception or mistake; there power so to do had been reserved in would be no trenching upon rights some way. Mech. Bank v. N. Y. & previously acquired; no contract, ex- N. H. R. R. Co., 18 N. Y. 599-627. press or implied, would be broken or Shares of stock are in the nature of impaired. This corporation did other- choses in action, and give the holder a wise. A by-law was duly made which fixed right in the division of the declared the whole value of its prop- profits or earnings of a company so erty and the whole amount of its capi- long as it exists, and of its effects when tal stock and divided the whole of it it is dissolved. That right is as ininto shares equal in amount and violable as is any right in property, directed the issuing of certificates of and can no more be taken away or stock therefor. It is not to be said lessened against the will of the owner that this by-law authorized anything than can any other right unless power but shares equal in value and in right; is reserved in the first instance when it or that the taker of one did not own as enters into the constitution of the right; large an interest in the corporation, its or is properly derived afterwards from capital, affairs and profits to come, as a superior law given. The certificate any other holder of a share. Certifi- of stock is the muniment of the sharecates of stock were issued under this holder's title and evidence of his right. by-law that gave no expression of any- It expresses the contract between the thing different from that. When that corporation and his co-stockholders by-law was adopted it was as much and himself; and that contract cannot, the law of the corporation as if its he being unwilling, be taken away provisions had been a part of the char- from him or changed as to him withter. Presbyterian Church v. City of out his prior dereliction or under the amounted to the sum of the indebtedness, and authorized the corporation to pay upon shares to be issued and sold in the place of those surrendered ten per cent per annum on the face value of the shares for five years or such portion thereof as could be paid out of the annual net profits of the corporation. The following statement was indorsed upon the certificates for the 3,000 shares to be issued in lieu of those surrendered, to wit: "Issued subject to agreement with stockholders, dated May 22, 1885, on file in manifest that any action of a corpora- conceded that it is legitimate to hortion which takes hold of the shares of row money and to secure the repayits capital stock already sold and in ment of it with a compensation for the the hands of lawful owners and divides use of it. But that is when it is done them into two classes, one of which is in such way as to put the burthen thereby given prior right to a receipt upon every share of stock alike, and of a fixed sum from the earnings be- to enable every share of stock to be fore the other may have any receipt relieved therefrom alike, in such way therefrom and is given an equal share as to preserve the equality of right afterwards with the other in what and privilege and value of the shares.

conditions above stated. Now it is sideration therefor. We have already earnings may remain - destroys the and maintain intact the contract equality of the shares, takes away a thereto with the stockholder." The right which originally existed in it court then called attention to the disand materially varies the effect of the tinguishing points in the cases relied certificate of stock. It is said that upon to support the views contra to when a corporation can lawfully buy those of the court as follows: "Citaproperty or get money on loan, any tions are made to us for the converse known assurance may be exacted and of this; but they do not come upgiven which does not fall within the sometimes in their facts, sometimes in prohibition, express or implied, of their declarations - to the necessity of some statute (Curtis v. Leavitt, 15 N. the proposition. Either it is where Y. 9, 66, 67); and that is sought to be the capital is not limited and it is new applied here. But the prohibition to shares that may be issued with a such action as this is found, not in- preference, and where there is express deed in a statute commonly so called, power to borrow on bond and mortbut in the constitutional provision gage (2 Redf. on Rways. chap. 33, which forbids the impairment of sect. 4; Harrison v. Mex. Rw., 12 vested rights save for public purposes Eng. Rep. 793); or the amount of and on due compensation. The right the capital has not been reached and which a stockholder gets on the pur- such stock is issued therefrom (Huzelchase of his share and the issue to him hurst v. Savannah R. R., 43 Gu. 53: of the certificate therefor is such a Totten v. Tison, 54 (4a. 189); or there vested right. It is contended that the was legislative authority (Davis v. power so to do is an incidental and Proprietors, 8 Met. 321; Rutland R. implied power necessary to the use of R. Co. v. Thrall, 35 Vt. 545); or a rethe other powers of the corporation, striction to authorized capital and and is a legitimate means of investing there was unanimous consent of the money and securing the agreed con-stockholders (Prouty v. M. S. & N. I.

the treasurer's office, entitled to first lien on net profits to the amount in such agreement provided. [Signed.] Edw. L. Wood, Treasurer." The shares so issued were sold at par and the debt paid. On the back of the shares surrendered was printed, "Profits assigned." The certificates representing the shares which were not represented in the signature to the agreement above mentioned were at that time, with properly executed power of attorney for assignment and transfer, in the hands of a creditor of the owner of the shares as collateral security for a loan; the loan not being paid at maturity the shares were sold regularly to a purchaser, who brought this action against the company to have issued to him a certificate of shares to the amount named in the certificate so purchased, he having refused what was tendered him by the company, a certificate of shares with the words indorsed thereon of "Profits assigned." The New York Court of Appeals held that the purchaser was entitled to an unconditional certificate for these 100 shares upon the same principle as in the last case cited, that the action of the corporation here was an interference with the vested rights of the non-assenting stockholders.1

§ 278. The effect of laches on the part of complaining stockholders in such cases.—In the leading New York case, where the conversion of common stock into preferred was held to have been ultra vires the corporation, the findings of the court on the trial showed that the by-laws empowering the creation more favorable to defendant than to 100." other subscribers, and it was held that determination of this question was not in this case by him for the court.

R. R., 1 Hun, 663; 43 Ga. 53, supra); necessary for the disposal of the case or there was power to redeem, which (Williston v. M. S. & N. I. R. R. Co., was a transaction in the nature of a 13 Allen, 400); or the issue was authordebt (Westchester, etc., R. R. Co. v. ized by the articles of association (In Jackson, 77 Pa. St. 321); or the opinion re A'D. St. Nav. & Col. Co., 20 L. R. was obiter (Bates v. Androscoggin R. [Eq.] 339) or there was full knowl-R. Co., 49 Me. 491); or it was the case edge on the part of all concerned of a subscription for stock with a con- (Lockhart v. Van Alstyne, 31 Mich. dition for interest until the corpora- 81); or the power in the corporate tion was in operation (Richardson v. body was conceded, and it was denied Vt. & Mass. R. R. Co., 44 Vt. 613); or that it existed in the directors. Mcit was an action on a subscription Laughlin v. D. & W. R R., 8 Mich.

1 Campbell v. American Zylonite Co., defendant could not set up the lack of (1890) 122 N. Y. 455. FOLLETT, Ch. equality (Evansville R. R. Co. v. J., very fully discusses the rights of Evansville, 15 Ind. 395); or a solemn stockholders in the opinion rendered and issue of the preferred stock were authorized at a stockholders' meeting regularly called and held and conducted; that the stock was at once offered for subscription to all of the stockholders: that a circular informing them thereof was issued by authority and distributed to the stockholders; that though all of them did not avail themselves of the chance to take it, it was not because the chance was not known. A large number of them did subscribe, and paid money for the privilege to the corporation, and that money went into the assets and business of the company; certificates for the preferred stock were thereupon issued, and it, as well as the common stock, was dealt in by the public; sales were made of the two kinds openly at the Stock Exchange at prices for the one larger than for the other, and quoted in the daily public prints; and from year to year for four years the annual reports of the directors to the stockholders spoke of the two kinds of stock. There was ample knowledge, or means of knowledge, on the part of all stockholders of the action of the corporation in the creation of the two kinds of stock; of the issue of certificates for the preferred stock; of the entry of that stock into the channels of trade; of the public dealings in it at the especial marts for the sale of such property, and of the continued recognition of its existence and validity by the company and the public. Folger, J., for the Court of Appeals, said: "It is not to be conceived that the owners of the common stock of this corporation did not have actual knowledge that there had been created a stock having ostensibly greater right and value than their own, and that it had gone into the market and was dealt in by the public interested in the validity of it. For the lapse of four years, however, there was no action of the company, or of an individual stockholder, to have a judicial declaration that the company had exceeded its powers in the creation of the stock, and that it was invalid. We think that these facts, most of which are set forth in the findings in two of the cases, warrant the conclusion of law therein, that the stockholders, by acquiescing in the action of the corporation in making the preferred stock, have ratified and assented thereto, and that the same is binding on them by reason of such assent and ratification."1

¹ Kent v. Quicksilver Mining Co., a lease of the franchises, etc., of a (1879) 78 N. Y. 159, 184, 185. As to the railroad corporation to another, see St. effect of laches in seeking to invalidate Louis, Vandalia & Terre Haute R. R.

§ 279. Rules declared by courts as to estoppel of corporations to plead ultra vires.— If a contract by a corporation be not in violation of some public law, or contrary to public policy, Theseems that only the immediate parties to it, as the corporation itself, or the stockholders, who are parties by representation, hold such a legal position in relation to the contract as to entitle them to raise the question of its validity on account of the alleged want of capacity to make; but if the contract be in violation of some public law or against public policy, in such sense as to make it void and of no effect to any intent, any person standing in a relation of interest to the subject-matter of the contract, and to be affected by its operation, might undoubtedly set up and insist on such fatal vice in it, for the purpose of clearing him-elf from the consequences of its being carried into effect. In a fully considered case upon how far a corporation is estopped to set up the invalidity of an ultra vires contract, where fully performed on the part of the plaintiff, and the benefits of it received by the defendant as a defense to an action, the view of the United States Supreme Court thereon has been stated to be as follows: "A contract of a corporation which is ultra vires, in the proper sense, that is to say, outside the object of its creation as defined in the law of its organization, and, therefore, beyond the powers conferred upon it by the legislature, is not voidable only, but wholly void, and of no legal effect. The objection to the contract is not merely that the corporation ought not to have made it, but that it could not make it. The contract cannot be ratified by either party, because it could not have been authorized by either. performance on either side can give the unlawful contract any validity, or be the foundation of any right of action upon it. When a corporation is acting within the general scope of the powers conferred upon it by the legislature the corporation, as well as persons contracting with it, may be estopped to deny that it has complied with the legal formalities which are prerequisites to its existence or to its action, because such requisites might in fact have been complied with. But when the contract is beyond the powers conferred upon it by existing laws, neither the corporation, nor the other party to the contract, can be estopped, by assenting to it, or by acting upon it, to show that it was prohibited by those laws. * * * A contract ultru vires being unlawful and void, not because it is in itself immoral, but because the corporation, by the law of its creation is incapable of making it the courts, while refusing to maintain any action upon the unlawful contract, have always striven to do justice between the parties, so far as could be done consistently with adherence to law, by permitting property or money, parted with on the faith of the unlawful contract, to be recovered back, or compensation to he made for it. In such case, however, the action is not maintained upon the unlawful contract, nor according to its terms; but on an implied contract of the defendant to return, or, failing to do that, to make compensation for, property or money which it has no right to retain. To maintain such an action is not to affirm, but to disaffirm, the unlawful contract. The fraud and the limits of the rule concerning the remedy, in the case of a contract ultra vires, which has been partly performed, and under which property has passed, can hardly be summed up better than they were by Mr. Justice Miller, in a passage already quoted, where he said that the rule 'stands upon the broad ground that the contract itself is void, and that nothing which has been done under it, nor the action of the court, can infuse any vitality into it,' and that 'where the parties have so far acted under such a contract that they cannot be restored to their original condition the court inquires if relief can be given independently of the contract, or whether it will refuse to interfere as the matter stands." 1 The doctrine seems to be settled by the weight of modern authority that a private corporation cannot avail itself of the defense of ultra positors in and lenders to its investment 542. department, by which they were to ¹ Central Transportation Co. v. Pull- be secured by reason of its having had man's Palace Car Co, (1891) 139 U.S. the full benefit of the contract. see 24, 59, 60, 61; s. c., 11 Sup. Ct. Rep. Ward v. Johnson, (1880) 95 III. 215; 478. These remarks of Justice MILLER citing West v. Menard County Agriare in Pennsylvania Railroad v. St. cultural Board, 82 III. 206; Maher v. Louis, etc., Railroad, 118 U. S. 317. As Chicago, 38 Ill. 266; Railway Co. n. to a bank being estopped to interpose McCarthy, 96 U. S. 267; San Antonio the defense of ultra vires to defeat the v. Mehaffy, 96 U.S. 315; Morris R. execution of a trust in favor of its de- R. Co. v. Railroad Co., 20 N. J. Eq.

Co. v. Terre Haute & Indianapolis R. 65 Ill. 453; City of East St. Louis v. R. Co., (1892) 145 U. S. 393, s. c., 12 East St. Louis Gas Light & Coke Co., Sup. Ct. Rep. 953. 98 Ill. 415; Peoria & S. R. R. Co. v. ¹ Vermont & Canada R. R. Co. v. Thompson, 103 Ill. 187; Millard v. St.

Vermont Central R. R. Co., 34 Vt. 2. Francis Xavier Academy, 8 Bradw. As to estoppel to plead ultra vires, see 341; Thomas v. Citizens' Horse Ry.

Chicago Building Society v. Crowell, Co., 104 Ill. 462.

vires where the contract has been, in good faith, fully performed by the other party, and the corporation has had the benefit of the contract and the performance. Though a contract of a corporation may be strictly ultra vires, yet, if not interfered with by the stockholders or the state, and it be not of a class of contracts expressly prohibited, and there be reasonable ground to suppose that the agents of the corporation have acted in good faith. objections raised by the corporation itself or by one having no interest in the question, except for purposes of unjust advantage, will not be listened to by the courts.2 If a contract made by officers of a corporation with third parties apparently within their powers, upon proof of extrinsic facts of which the third party had no notice, was beyond them, the corporation will be held liable unless it take timely steps to prevent loss or damage to the third parties. A corporation will be estopped to take advantage of the ultra vires character of an original undertaking where its officers have been permitted by it to engage in such transactions, and in prosecution of them the officers commit a wrong or tortious act without the fault of the injured party.4 The benefits derived from an ultra vires contract cannot be retained by the corporation and the contract treated as entirely void, unless, perhaps, in cases where the other party to the contract has assisted willfully in putting it beyond the power of the corporation to

55 Ill. 413.

R. Co., 27 Vt. 110; Rutland & Burlingwho may or may not set up the dean act ultra vires on the part of the coring a fraudulent issue of bonds. Under Mich. 337. what circumstances a stockholder cannot object to a plan of reorganization 70 Iowa, 541; s.c., 30 N. W. Rep. 771. of a corporation as ultra vires, see Hollins v. St. Paul, M. & M. R. Co., (1889) 9

¹ Darst v. Gale, (1876) 83 Ill. 136, N. Y. Supp. 909. When an allegation citing Ex parte Chippendale, 4 DeGex, in an answer that the contracts are ul-M & G. 19: Whitney Arms Co. v. Bar- tra vires the corporation is a sufficient low, 63 N. Y. 62; Bradley v. Ballard, defense, see Gillespie v. Davidge Fertilizer Co., (1892) 66 Hun, 627, s. c., 20 ² Noyes v. Rutland & Burlington R. N.Y. Supp. 833. When estoppel to defend on the ground that act was ultra ton R. R. Co. v. Proctor, 29 Vt. 93; vires, see Homestead Bank v. Wood, Sturges v. Knapp, 31 Vt. 62. As to (Ct. Cm. Pl. N. Y. City, 1892) 20 N. Y. Supp. 640, s. c., 1 Misc. Rep. 145. Esfense of ultra vires, see Western Organ toppel of corporations to plead ultra Co. v. Reddish, 51 Iowa, 55. As to es- vires. Carson City Savings Bank v. toppel of a stockholder to complain of Carson City Elevator Co., (1892) 90 Mich. 550; s. c., 51 N. W. Rep. 641; poration or its officers, see Des Moines citing Day v. Buggy Co., 57 Mich. Gus Co. v. West, 50 Iowa, 16, involv- 151; Steel Works v. Bresnahan, 60 return what it received on the contract.1 The Court of Civil Appeals of Texas has held that where the directors of a corporation, authorized by charter to establish and maintain a hotel, purchased competing hotel property and received the benefit of the transaction for two years they would not be heard to allege that the transaction was ultra vires.2 A corporation cannot set up the limit of indebtedness fixed in its charter as a defense, where the consideration of the indebtedness has been received by it.' In like manner it would be estopped from setting up want of authority as a defense as against money advanced to pay indebtedness in excess of the limit of indebtedness fixed in it, charter. It is not beyond the powers of a corporation organized for the purpose of owning ditches for the conveyance and sale of water

⁸ Lucas v. White Line Transfer Co., 4 Ibid.

¹ Thid.

v. Railway Co., 68 Tex. 646; s. c., 5 S. tract ultra vires. W. Rep. 686; Stafford v. Harris, 82 Tex. 178; s. c., 178.W. Rep. 530. As to pri- ation, 50 Iowa, 607. vate corporations, having received the benefits of a contract beyond their ² Steger v. Davis, (Tex. Ct. App. power to make, being estopped to set 1894) 27 S. W. Rep. 1068. The court up that excess of authority to excuse concluded its opinion in these words: them from discharging their part of the "In the case of Publishing Co. v. Hit- contract, see De Groff v. American son, 80 Tex. 218; s. c., 14 S. W. Rep. Linen Thread Co., (1860) 21 N. Y. 124, 843, and 16 S. W. Rep 551, the court Sherman Center Town Company r. says: 'It is a reasonable and 'volun- Fletcher, 46 Kans. 524; Town Co. c. tary rule' in its application to agen- Morris, 43 Kans. 282; s. c., 23 Pac. cies, that where the principal, with Rep. 569; Town Co. r. Swigart, 43 knowledge of the facts, acquiesces in Kans. 292; s. c., 23 Pac. Rep. 569; the acts done under an assumed agency Tootle r. First National Bank of Port he should not be heard subsequently Angeles, (1893) 6 Wash. St. 181; s. c., to impeach them upon the ground that 33 Pac. Rep. 345; Heims Brewing they were done without authority. Co. v. Flannery, (1891) 137 III. 309: Kelsey v. Bank, 69 Pa. St. 430. This Watts-Campbell ('o. o. Yuengling, rule applies to corporations as well as 51 Hun, 302; s. c., 3 N. Y. Supp. to individuals. An express assent, it 869. The right to object to such is said, is not essential on the part of contracts, or raise the question of the stockholders to operate as an ultra vires: Baker r. North Western equitable estoppel upon them. It may Guaranty Loan Co., 36 Minn. 185; inferred from the failure to s. c., 30 N. W. Rep. 464; Starin promptly condemn the unauthorized v. Edson, 113 N. Y. 206; s. c., 19 although not illegalact, and to seek ju- N. E. Rop. 670. In Main v. Casserly. dicial redress. Sheldon, etc., Co. r. (1885) 67 ('al. 127, a corporation which Eickemeyer Hat Blocking Machine had received and retained the consid-Co., 90 N. Y. 607, 614," See, also, eration of a promissory note executed Bond v. Manufacturing Co., 82 Tex. by it was held liable, although the note 309; s. c., 18 S. W. Rep. 691; Russell was executed in pursuance of a con-

³ Humphrey v. Patrons, etc., Associ-

4 Ibid.

to sell and convey all its corporate property, provided the sale be made for corporate or lawful purposes, and strangers taking a conveyance of such property have a right to assume, as against the corporation, that the sale was for a lawful purpose. And if the validity of such a sale be contested by the corporation on the ground that it was made for an unlawful purpose it would devolve upon the corporation to show that the party making the purchase knew of such unlawful purpose.1 Even if unlawful for a corporation to make a sale of all its property to another corporation, and receive in payment therefor the stock of the grantee to be distributed among its own stockholders, if such sale is made, and the contract fully executed, the corporation itself cannot receive back the property sold or set aside the contract on account of its illegality.2

¹ Miners' Ditch Company v. Zeller- second sense, the right of the corporabach, (1869) 37 Cal. 543.

term ultra rires, whether with strict case. The opinions in the cases below propriety or not, is also used in differ- are extracted from freely to show the ent senses. An act is said to be ultru class of circumstances under which the vires when it is not within the scope of plea of ultra vires would not be availthe powers of the corporation to per- able to the corporation, to wit: Bissell form it under any circumstances or for r. Michigan Southern & Northern Inany purpose. An act is also sometimes diana R. R. Cos., 22 N. Y. 262; Mayor said to be ultra vires with reference to of Norwich r. Norfolk Railway Comthe rights of certain parties, when the pany, 30 Eng. L. & Eq. 128; McGregor corporation is not authorized to per- v. Dover & Deal Railway Co., 17 Jur. form it without their consent; or, with 21; s. c ,16 Eng. L. & Eq. 180; Simpreference to some specific purpose, son v. Denison, 10 Hare, 51; Simpson when it is not authorized to perform it v. Denison, 13 Eng. L. & Eq. 359; for that purpose, although fully within Eastern Counties Railway Co. v. the scope of the general powers of the Hawkes, 35 Eng. L. & Eq. 9; Edwards corporation, with the consent of the v. Grand Junction Railway Co., 1 Myl. parties interested, or for some other & Cr. 674; Treadwell v. Salisbury purpose. And the rights of strangers Manufacturing Co., 7 Gray, 393. Esdealing with corporations may vary toppel to plead ultra vires: Pauly r. according as the act is ultra vires in Pauly, (Cal. 1895) 40 Pac. Rep. 29; one or the other of these senses. All Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Toledo, these distinctions must be constantly A. A. & N. M. Ry. Co., (1895) 67 Fed. borne in mind in considering a ques- Rep. 49; Roy & Co. v. Scott, Hartley tion arising out of dealings with a cor- & Co., (Wash. 1805) 39 Pac. Rep. 679 poration. When an act is ultra vires (stockholders estopped); Central Buildin the first sense mentioned it is gen- ing & Loan Association v. Lampson, erally, if not always, void in toto, and (Minn, 1895) 62 N. W. Rep. 544 (our the corporation may avail itself of the receiving the benefit of a loan es-tion to avail itself of the plea will de-² Ibid. SAWYER, Ch. J., said: "The pend upon the circumstances of the plea. But when it is ultra vires in the topped); Bensiek v. Thomas, (1895) 66

§ 280. When the doctrine of ultra vires is not applicable. - In an action against a corporation to recover money lost upon wagering contracts which the plaintiff had entered into through and with an agent of the corporation, the latter objected to a recovery against it on the ground that it was a corporation authorized to do a legitimate business, and that, as it could not lawfully authorize its agents to do an illegitimate business, it could not be bound by his acts in the prosecution of it; that the attempt to confer such authority would be ultra vires, and the attempted ratification of the agent's acts equally so. The Supreme Court of New York, in General Term, through Landon, J., to this contention, said: "The position is untenable. A person, equally with a corporation, has no lawful power to do wrong; but both have the capacity to act, and the capacity to act amiss inheres in the capacity to act at all. Given the power and capacity to do right, the actor may nevertheless do wrong. Unless the actor is wholly irresponsible, he must answer for his wrong action, partly in justice to those injured thereby, and partly as a deterrent to its like repetition by himself and others. If the agents of a railroad corporation take my timber or iron against my consent, and convert it into a bridge, to the use of the corporation, the corporation must either restore my property or pay me for it. Here the defendant corporation has obtained the plaintiff's money. obtained by means of wager contracts. Confessing that it has the money, the defendant practically argues that, because it could not thus obtain it within its lawful powers, it does not really have it. Pretending to disclaim the transactions by which it obtained the money, it practically argues that its pretended disclaimer gives it title to keep the money. But, in truth, it cannot perfect its disclaimer of the transaction without surrendering its fruits; it cannot retain the money without adopting its agent's method of obtaining it; it cannot insist upon a defense so long as it refuses to qualify itself to interpose it. The doctrine of ultra vires is no wise applicable to the case." 1

§ 281. Rules declared by courts as to estoppel of parties to contracts with corporations to plead ultra vires.—One who has received from a corporation the full consideration of his agreement to pay money cannot avail himself of the objection that the contract is ultra vires.1 As corporations are created by public acts of the legislature, and all their powers, duties and obligations are declared and clearly defined by public law, parties dealing with them must take notice of those powers and the limitations upon them at their peril, and will not be allowed to plead ignorance of those powers and limitations in avoidance of the defense of ultra vires.2 The defense that a corporation had no power under its charter to discount notes is not open in an action by the corporation against the maker upon a note discounted by the corporation for him at his instance.3 Where a corporation indorses notes for another, and is compelled to pay them, in the absence of an express prohibition against such indorsements by the corporation, he for whose benefit the indorsement was made cannot invoke the plea of ultra vires as a defense against the enforcement of a chattel mortgage to secure the corporation against its liability upon the notes.4 The defense cannot be made, in an Derkes, (1885) 103 Ind. 520.

Fed. Rep. 104 (corporation estopped); ¹ Peck v. Doran Wright Co. (Lim-Miller v. Washington Southern Ry. ited), (1890) 10 N. Y. Supp. 401. Co., (Wash. 1895) 89 Pac. Rep. 678 (corporation estopped).

Rep. 488, affirming 42 Ill. App. 339.

Co. v. Hauck, (1880) 71 Mo, 465.

1 Chicago & Atlantic Ry. Co. v. ing by the state against the corporation, and not in a collateral proceeding by ² Franklin Company v. Lewiston another, except when the charter of Institution for Savings, (1877) 68 Me. the corporation not only specifics, and, 43; citing Pearce v. Madison & Ind. therefore, limits it to the business in Railroad, 21 How. 441; Andrews v. which it may engage, but, by express Insurance Co., 37 Me. 256. Parties terms, or by a fair implication from its receiving benefit of contract cannot in- terms, invalidates transactions outside sist that contract was ultravires. Shelby of its legitimate corporate business. v Chicago & Eastern Illinois R. R. McIndoe v. St. Louis, 10 Mo. 577; Co., (1892) 143 Ill. 385; s. c., 32 N. E. Chambers v. St. Louis, 29 Mo. 543; Pacific R. R Co. v. Seely, 45 Mo. 212; ³ St. Joseph Fire & Marine Insurance Land v. Coffman, 50 Mo. 243. Since Matthews v. Skinker, supra, was de-4St. Louis Drug Co. v. Robinson, cided announcing a different doctrine, (1881) 10 Mo. App. 587; affirmed in the following cases this court re-St. Louis Drug Co. v. Robinson, (1883) turned to the doctrine of the earlier 81 Mo. 18, in which case the Supreme cases: A. & P. R. R. Co. v. St. Louis, Court said: "Conceding that [the cor- 66 Mo. 228; St. Jos. Fire & M. Ins. poration had no authority to indorse Co. v. Hauck, 71 Mo. 465; Thornton notes for the accommodation of others] v. National Ex. Bank, 71 Mo. 221; it is sufficient on this point to say that Union Nat, Bank v. Hunt, 76 Mo. 439. in a line of decisions of this court un- The judgment of this court in Matbroken, except in the case of Matthews thews v. Skinker, supra, was on apv. Skinker, 62 Mo. 829, it has been peal reversed by the Supreme Court held that the question of ultra vires of the United States, and the doctrine can only be raised in a direct proceed- then announced by that court is in action by a corporation upon a contract made by it with the defendant, that the corporation, in making the contract, has exceeded the power conferred by its charter or the law under which it is formed. The vendor to a corporation having power to purchase real estate, but prohibited by its charter from making purchases for other than a prescribed purpose, having made a deed to the corporation, cannot have the conveyance set aside and his contract rescinded on the ground that the corporation, in taking the conveyance, did so for a purpose other than that prescribed in its charter, and had exceeded its power.2 The question whether, in such a case as this, the corporation has exceeded its powers, is one between the state and the corporation, with which a vendor, as a grantor simply of land to the corporation, has no concern.3 An assignce of railroad stock, who had neither registered his stock nor obtained recognition as a stockholder, it has been held in a federal court, cannot bring suit in behalf of him-repeatedly, declared by this court." individuals. Mo. 408; First National Bank r. Gillilan, (1880) 72 Mo. 77. It has been held in Brown v. Donnell, (1860) 49 Mc. 421, an action against the maker by the indorsee of a note given to an insurance company and by the corporation transferred in payment of bank stock purchased by it, the maker of the note could not controvert the rights of the corporation to purchase the stock.

1 Union Water Co. v. Murphy's Flat Fluming Co., (1863) 22 Cal. 621. It was said by the court: "In numerous harmony with that which before had government for that purpose, and it been uniformly, and has since been cannot be had in a collateral way by Grand Gulf Bank r. See, also, Franklin Ave, Ger, Sav. Archer, 8 Smedes & M. 151, 173; Inst. r. Board of Education, (1882) 75 Wade r. American Colonization So. ciety, 7 Smedes & M. 663; Nevitt v. Bank of Port Gibson, 6 Smedes & M. 513: Chester Glass Co. v. Dewey, 16 Mass. 102: Moss v. Rossie L. M. Co., 5 Hill, 140; The Banks v. Poitiaux, 3 Rand. 142, 146; Vidal v. Girard's Exrs.. 2 How. 191; Fleckner r. U. S. Bank, 8 Wheat, 355; Natoma W. & M. Co. v. Clarkin, 14 Cal. 552.

² Hough r. Cook Land Co., (1874) 73 III. 23.

3 Ibid.; citing Banks v. Poitiaux, 3 Rand. 141; Barrow v. N. & C. T. Co., 9 Humph. 304; Chambers v. St. cases it has been held that a contract Louis, 29 Mo. 576; Attorney-General made by a corporation which is not v. Tudor Ice Co., 104 Mass. 239; Whitauthorized by its charter is not to be man Mining Co. v. Baker, 3 Nev. 391; held void, and that a defendant sued Hayward v. Davidson, 41 Ind. 212. thereon cannot refuse payment; but That the state alone can raise objecthe legislature may inquire into any tion to an ultra vires act, see Alexander violation of the charter, or the govern- v. Tolleston Club of Chicago, (1884) ment may institute suit for that pur- 110 III. 65; Barnes v. Suddard, 117 pose. The investigation must be in Ill. 287; People's Gas, etc., Co. v. a direct proceeding instituted by the Chicago Gas, etc., Co., 20 Bradw. 473.

selí and other stockholders to restrain the action of the officers of the corporation from acts alleged to be ultra vires and illegal.1 Where one buys land without knowledge of an outstanding equity, and his note, given for a portion of the price, secured by vendor's lien, is taken by a corporation to secure a loan, the owner of this outstanding equity cannot, in an action to enforce it, set up that the act of the corporation in taking the note was ultra vires.2 homestead loan association made a loan of money to two of its members for the use of a brewing company, the latter giving its deed of trust to the association to secure the loan. There was no fraud in the loan and nothing to mislead the parties in whose names the loan was made. The Illinois Supreme Court held that as the brewing company could not avoid its deed of trust under the plea of ultra nires, the parties to whom the loan was made were also estopped from availing of the defense, and that the deed of trust might be foreclosed as against them and other creditors of the brewing company having notice of the rights of the loan association.3 It is no defense to a note given by one not a mem-

Venzie, 24 Me. 9.

App.) 25 S. W. Rep. 809.

Brown v. Duluth, M. & N. Ry. other words, the transactions were at Co., (1893) 53 Fed. Rep. 889. See most ultra rires, in the commonly un Heath v. Railway Co., 8 Blatchf. 347, derstood sense of these words, and 392, 410; Ramsey v. Eric Ry. Co., 7 nothing more. As said in Whitney Abb. Pr. (N. S.) 156; Hersey v. Arms Co. v. Barlow, 63 N. Y. 62, cited with approval by this court in Darst v. ² Taylor c. Callaway, (Tex. Civ. Gale, 83 Ill. 141, 'the acts were not App. 1894) 27 S. W. Rep. 934. Sec, immoral in themselves or forbidden by upon the question of estoppel to deny any statute, neither mula in se or mala the power of a corporation to do an prohibita, so as to make the contract net, Bond c. Manufacturing Co., 82 illegal and incapable of being the Tex. 309; s. c., 18 S. W. Rep. 691, foundation of an action. Such a conand authorities there cited, Bank r. tract as the law will not recognize or Matthews, 98 U. S. 621; Smith r. enforce, but applying the maxim eo White, (Tex. (iv. App.) 25 S.W. Rep. facto illicito non oritur actio, leaves the 809; Keys r. Association, (Tex. Civ. parties as it found them.' It is also said in that case: 'When acts of cor-4 Kadish r. Garden City Equitable parations are spoken of as ultra vires Loan & Building Association, (1894) it is not intended that they are unlaw-151 Ill. 531. The court said: "There ful or even such as the corporation is * * * no prohibition in the stat- cannot perform, but merely those ute against corporations becoming which are not within the power conmembers of homestead loan associa- ferred upon the corporation by the act tions for the purpose of borrowing of its creation, and are in violation of money; neither is there any prohibi- the trust reposed in the managing tion therein against loaning money for board by the stockholders, that the other than building purposes. In affairs shall be managed and the funds ber of a building association for money loaned him that the corporation exceeded its powers in loaning the money for which the note was given. In a Michigan case, a manufacturing corporation, outside of the purposes for which it was incorporated, contracted with a party for a stated quantity of a manufactured article at a certain price, and then made a contract with another to manufacture the same and deliver it to him at such a price as left a profit to the corporation. This contract was deemed an ultra vires contract, as being a contract purely for a speculative purpose, and the manufacturer bringing an action against the corporation on a quantum meruit for goods delivered under the contract, the corporation sought to recoup for damages by reason of non-performance of the contract. The Supreme Court held that the plaintiff was not estopped from claiming that the contract was ultra vires.2 The court further held that there being noth-legitimate powers of the corporation." Carson City Sav. Bank v. Elevator Co., 90 Mich. 550; Holmes & Griggs Co. v. Metal Co., 127 N. Y. 252; s. c., 24 Am. St. Rep. 448.

ciation, (1880) 71 Ind. 357.

understood that the contract in its in- performed in part. The defendant applied solely for carrying out the ob- ception was ultra vires. And the ject for which the corporation was power on the part of such a corporacreated. * * * It is now very well tion to enter into contracts of speculasettled that a corporation cannot avail tion being withheld on reasons of pubitself of the defense of ultra vires lie policy for the protection of sharewhen the contract has been in good holders and the general good of the faith performed by the other party, community, the act neither of one and the corporation has had the full party nor of both in entering into it benefit of the performance of the con- can work an estoppel against setting tract. * * * The same rule holds up the invalidity. A rule of law ese converso. If the other party has tablished for the public good cannot had the benefit of the contract fully be thus defeated. A corporation canperformed by the corporation he will not, by the mere act of individuals, be not be heard to object that the contract given a power which the state, for and performance were not within the general reasons, has withheld from it. Pennsylvania, etc., Nav. Co. v. Dan-See Benefit Association v. Blue, 120 Ill. dridge, 8 Gill & J. (Md.) 248, 319. 128; Bradley v. Ballard, 55 Ill. 415; 2 Parties may also be estopped in some Beach on Priv. Corp. § 425 et seq., cases from disputing the validity of a for a full discussion of the subject; corporate contract when it has been fully performed on one side, and when nothing short of enforcement will do justice. To quote the language of Comstock, Ch. J., in Parish r. Wheeler, ¹ Poock v. Lafayette Building Asso- 22 N. Y. 494, 508, 'the executed dealings of corporations must be allowed 2 Day v. Spiral Springs Buggy Co., to stand for and against both the par-(1885) 57 Mich. 146. Cooley, Ch. J., ties when the plainest rules of good said: "[The parties to this contract] faith so require.' But this is not such must, therefore, be supposed to have a case. The contract has only been

ing of an immoral nature in this contract, the plaintiff was entitled to recover the value of her goods delivered on the contract to the corporation upon a quantum meruit.1 If a corporation had no power to purchase a note and mortgage upon which it brings suit that fact should be pleaded as a defense.2 Where one has made a contract with a corporation which is ultra vires, and has received the benefit of it, neither he nor those claiming under him are estopped from setting up the invalidity of the contract in defense of a suit to enforce it.3

§ 282. Financial arrangements contrary to public policy rules governing proceedings on the part of the state, etc.

-In proceedings on the part of the state to dissolve a corporation on account of its illegal or unwarranted acts, the state, as prosecutor, must show on the part of the corporation accused some sin against the law of its being which has produced or tends to produce injury to the public. The transgression must not be merely formal or incidental, but material and serious, and such as to harm and menace the public welfare. When the transgression threatens the welfare of the people, they may summon the passed into the hands of 'the vendee L R, 5 Ch. App. 309. of the corporation and been paid for. Thomson r. Madison Building & so that the defendant will lose nothing Aid Association, (1885) 103 Ind. 279. but the anticipated profits on the rethe case."

ing the principle involved, Whitney spring out of them." Arms Co. v. Barlow, 63 N. Y. 62; has received a portion of the property Thomas v. Railroad Co , 101 U. S. 71, bargained for, and we may justly as- In re Cork & Y. Ry Co., L. R., 4 Ch. sume that what has been received has App. 748, In re National, etc., Society,

³ Chambers v. Falkner, (1880) 65 mainder if the contract is not enforced Ala. 448. In Marion Savings Bank v. in its favor. Those profits it had no Dunkin, 54 Ala. 471, Justice Stone right at any time to count upon, and of the Alabama Supreme Court has in contemplation of law there can be said: "A party dealing with a corno injustice in depriving it of profits poration, in a matter not within the which the law would not permit it to purview of its delegated powers, does bargain for. No valid ground for es- not estop himself from setting up in toppel is, therefore, found to exist in defense the want of authority in the corporation to make the contract * / >. 1 Day v. Spiral Springs Buggy Co., In such case the doctrine of estoppel (1885) 57 Mich. 146. The ruling the cannot be held to apply without clothcourt considered sustained by Pratt v. ing corporations with the ability to in-Short, 79 N. Y. 437; Northwestern crease their powers indefinitely by Union Packet Co. v. Shaw, 37 Wis. sheer usurpation. Such contracts on 655, and Harriman v. Baptist Church, the part of a corporation are ultravires 63 Ga. 186, and cited as cases consider- and void, and no right of action can offender to answer for the abuse of its franchise or the violation of its corporate duty. These are the rules declared by the Court of Appeals of New York when considering the people's case against a corporation organized under the statutes of that state for the formation of manufacturing corporations which had surrendered its stock under an agreement with other similar corporations for the purpose of forming a "trust." By the agreement entered into by the corporation immediately involved in the case with the others concerned, a "board," as it was called, was The signers agreed to transfer all their shares of stock "to the names of the board as trustees, to be held by them and their successors as members of the board strictly as private tenants." This board, it was declared, "shall hold the stock transferred to it with all the rights and powers incident to stockholders in the several corporations." It was also authorized to transfer "to such persons as it may be desired to constitute trustees or directors or other officers of corporations so many of the shares as may be necessary for that purpose." The agreement provided that certificates should be issued by the "board" to the contracting parties in specified proportions in lieu of the capital stock: that each of the parties should maintain a separate organization and carry on and conduct its own business, paving over the profits to the board, "the aggregate or such amount as shall be designated for dividends," to be proportionally distributed by the board to the holders of the certificates. The board was prohibited from taking any action "which shall create liability by it or by its members," but there was a provision that the funds necessary to enable the board to make payments as specified "may be raised by mortgage to be made by the corporations, or any, either or all of them, upon their property." The number and amount of shares to be issued by the board was fixed with a proviso that they "may from time to time be increased or diminished by deeds executed by a majority in value of the certificate holders." Defendant's stock was transferred and certificates issued to its stockholders as provided for. The board elected officers and board of trustees of defendant, having transferred to each of them a share of the stock to enable him to hold the office. effect of this transaction, as far as concerned defendant, was stated by the court to be "to divest it of the essential and vital elements of its franchise by placing them in trust; to accept from the state the gift of corporate rife only to disregard the conditions upon which it was given; to receive its powers and privileges merely to put them in pawn, and to give away to an irresponsible board its entire independence and self-control. When, it had passed into the hands of the trust only a shell of a corporation was left standing, as a seeming obedience to the law, but with its internal structure destroyed or removed. Its stockhorders, retaining their beneficial interest, have separated from it their voting power and so parted with the contract which the charter gave them and the state required them to exercise. has a board of directors nominally and formally in office, but qualified by shares which they do not own, and owing their official life to the board which can end their power at any moment of disobedience. It can make no dividends, whatever may be its net earnings, and must incumber its property at the command of its master and for purposes wholly foreign to its own corporate interests and duties." "In all these respects," said the court, "it has wasted and perverted the privileges conferred by the charter, abused its powers and proved unfaithful to its duties. But graver still is the illegal action substituted for the conduct which the state had a right to expect and require. It has helped to create an anomalous trust, which is, in substance and effect, a partnership of twenty separate corporations. The state permits in many ways an aggregation of capital, but, mindful of the possible dangers to the people overbalancing the benefits, keeps upon it a restraining hand, and maintains over it a prudent supervision where such aggregation depends upon its permission and grows out of its corporate grants. It is a violation of law for corporations to enter into a partnership." Referring later in their opinion to this trust formed by the several corporations, having a capital stock double the value of the fair aggregate value of the rights and franchises of the companies absorbed at the outset and capable of an elastic and irresponsible increase, the court said: "And here, I think, we gain a definite view of the injurious tendencies developed by its organization and operation and of the public interests which are menaced by its action. As corporate grants are always assumed to have been made for the public benefit, and conduct which destroys their normal functions and maims and cripples their separate activity and takes away their free and independent action, must so far disappoint the purpose of their creation as to affect unfavorably the public interest, and that to a much greater extent when beyond their own several aggregations of capital they compact them all into one combination, which stands outside of the hand of the state, which dominates the range of an entire industry and puts upon the market a capital stock, proudly defiant of actual values, and capable of an unlimited expansion." If the business of a corporation is threatened with competition, it is not illegal or immoral if it can persuade its competitor to abandon an enterprise in which both cannot succeed upon the basis of some proper consideration therefor.² In an Ohio case the Supreme Court said: "Where all or a majority of the stockholders comprising a corporation do an act which is designed to affect the property and business of the company, and which, through the control their numbers give them over the selection and conduct of the corporate agencies, does affect the property and business of the company in the same manner as if it had been a formal resolution holding that the corporation had vio- measures for self-protection formance of its corporate duties, tinctly appreciable manner, subjects of enterprise foreign to their 24 Atl. Rep. 32. charters, or if permitted unrestrainedly against which public policy and stat- (1888) 110 N. Y. 519. utes design protection. When, there-

¹ People v. North River Sugar Refining Company, (1890) 121 N. Y. 582.

¹ Ibid.; citing N. Y. & S. C. Co. v. Meredith, 1 Wall. 29; Whittenton F. Bank, 7 Wend. 412; Clearwater v. Mills v. Upton, 10 Gray, 596.

¹ People v. North River Sugar Re- fore, the provisions of agreements in fining Co., (1890), 121 N. Y. 582, restraint of competition tend beyond lated its charter and failed in the per- threaten the public good in a disand in respects so material and im- should not be sustained. The appreportant as to justify a judgment of hension of danger to the public interdissolution. In Leslie v. Lorillard, ests, however, should rest on evident (1888) 110 N. Y. 519, 533, the New grounds, and courts should refrain York Court of Appeals said. "Corpo- from the exercise of their equitable rations are great engines for the pro- powers in interfering with and remotion of the public convenience and straining the conduct of the affairs of for the development of public wealth, individuals or of corporations, unless and so long as they are conducted for their conduct, in some tangible form, the purposes for which organized, threatens the welfare of the public." they are a public benefit; but if all See on this subject Shepaug Voting were to engage without supervision in Trust Cases, (1890) 60 Conn. 558; s. c.,

⁹ Oakes v. Cattaraugus Water Comto control and monopolize the avenues pany, (1894) 143 N. Y. 430; s. c., 38 to that industry in which they are N. E. Rep. 461; 62 N. Y. St. Repr. engaged, they become a public menace, 445. See, also, Leslie v. Lorillard, of its board of directors; and the act so done is ultra vires of the corporation and against public policy, and was done by them in their individual capacity for the purpose of concealing their real purpose and object, the act should be regarded as the act of the corporation, and, to prevent the abuse of corporate power, may be challenged as such by the state in a proceeding in quo warranto." THAYER, J., in the United States Circuit Court for the eastern district of Missouri, refused an injunction to restrain a Missouri corporation from violating an agreement it had entered into not to engage in the business for which it was organized for a period of twenty-five years upon the ground that the agreement was void. He referred to the trust agreement which had been signed by this and other corporations in the same line of business, its various provisions, and held that this corporation exceeded its powers in signing and becoming a party to the trust agreement.2 These are rules declared by the New Jersey Court of Chancery: The corporate acts of directors, if they are within the powers of the corporation, and in furtherance of its purposes are not unlawful or against good morals and are done in good faith and in the exercise of an honest judgment, cannot be questioned by individual stockholders in judicial proceedings. Contracts made by corporations, which appear to be designed to promote their legitimate and profitable operation. will be presumed by the courts, as a general rule, to be within pany, (1892) 49 Ohio St. 137.

other corporations by acquiring their 10 Gray, 596. stock, and with power likewise to ¹State ex rel. v. Standard Oil Com- issue negotiable securities without limit, and to declare dividends thereon. ² In American Preservers' Trust v. In all these respects, I must conclude Taylor Manufg. Co., (1891) 46 Fed. that the defendant corporation, by Rep. 152, it was said by the court: executing the trust agreement, under-"By [signing and becoming a party took to exercise powers to which it to this agreement defendant] united, could lay no reasonable claim by with the other corporations and indi-virtue of the law under which it is viduals who signed the agreement, in organized, and from which all of its creating a partnership or joint-stock powers are derived." Citing People v. concern, and in furtherance of that North River Sugar Refining Co., (1890) enterprise it undertook to appoint 121 N. Y. 582; s. c., 24 N. E. Rep. agents to manage the concern in its 834; Mallory v. Hanaur Oil Works, behalf, and to vest such agents with (1888) 86 Tenn. 598; s. c., 8 S. W. Rep. authority to buy and lease property in 396; State v. Nebraska Distilling Co., all parts of the United States, to (1890) 29 Nob. 700; s. c., 46 N. W. obtain and exercise control over Rep. 155; Whittenton Mills v. Upton, the limits of their power, and if the validity of the contracts be assailed, the assailant will be required to assume the burden of demonstrating their invalidity. Corporations organized under the general law of New Jersey are vested with the powers conferred by the general act, and those contemplated by the certificate, and such incidental powers, with respect of the general and special powers, as are necessary in the sense of convenient, reasonable and proper. While the general act permits incorporation for "any lawful business or purpose whatsoever," and the law gives all necessary powers thereto, it does not recognize as embraced therein powers to do those things which would deprive the corporation of its ability to carry out the objects for which it was formed, or discharge any duties which it might under its charter owe to the public, or which are contrary to the policy of the law.1 The doctrine of ultra vires ought to be reasonably, and not unreasonably, understood and upheld, and whatever may be fairly regarded as incidental to and consequential upon those things which are authorized by the charter of a corporation ought not, unless expressly prohibited, to be held by judicial construction to be ultra vires.² Contracts by a corporation which impose an unreasonable restraint upon the exercise of its business are void. but contracts in reasonable restraint of its business are valid. The test to be applied in determining the reasonableness of the restraint imposed by the contract is to consider whether it is only such as is necessary to afford a fair protection to the interest of the corporation in favor of which it is given, and not so large as to interfere with the interest of the public.8 The Illinois Supreme Court, in the Chicago Gas Trust case, declared these rules as to corporations: Corporations can only exercise such powers as may be conferred by the legislative body creating them, either in express terms or by necessary implication, and the implied powers are presumed to exist to enable such bodies to carry out the express powers granted, and to accomplish the purposes of their (1891) 49 N. J. Eq. 217.

⁹ Ibid.

to engage in the business for a certain Ct. 32.

¹ Ellerman v. Chicago Junction Rail number of years, nor in the place ways & Union Stock Yards Company, where they were located or within 200 miles thereof, was not unreasonable. and not an illegal restraint of trade. *Ibid.; in which case, under the test For illustration of contract between stated in the text, the chancellor held corporations not contrary to public that a covenant by parties selling the policy, see Live Stock Assn. of New plant and business of stock yards, not York v. Levy, (1886) 54 N. Y. Super, creation. An incidental power is one that is directly and immediately appropriate to the execution of the specific powers granted, and not one that has a slight or remote relation to it.2 The court held that the Chicago Gas Trust Company, being a corporation formed under the General Incorporation Law of that state for the purpose of creeting and operating gas works and the manufacture and sale of gas, had no power to purchase and hold or sell shares of stock in other gas companies as incident to the purpose for which it was formed, even though such power was specified in its articles of incorporation. This corporation was incorporated under the general law for two purposes. were expressed in its articles of association in these words: First, for the purpose of erecting and operating gas works for the manufacture and sale of gas in Chicago and other places in this state; and, second, "to purchase and hold or sell the capital stock, or purchase or lease, or operate the property, plant, good will, rights and franchises of any gas works or gas company or companies, or any electric company or companies, in Chicago or elsewhere, etc." It sought to exercise the powers claimed under the second clause only, and for that purpose bought a majority of the shares of all the gas companies in Chicago, being four in number, whereby it might have the control of all the gas companies in the city and thus destroy competition and monopolize the gas business. The Supreme Court held that the corporation so formed was not for a lawful purpose and that all acts done by it toward the accomplishment of such object were illegal and void. A stockholder, in a suit which he is only permitted to prosecute in behalf of the corporation and for its benefit, cannot raise the question whether or not the defendant corporation in the suit could acquire and lawfully exercise all the powers declared in its certificate of incorporation, especially whether it could lawfully own the stock of another corporation. Such a question can only be presented for judicial determination by the attorney-general on behalf of the state.4

Marseilles, 84 Ill. 643; Chicago Gas ton Savings Institution, 68 Me. 43. Light Co. r. People's Gus Light Co., 121 III. 580.

² People ex rel. Peabody v. Chicago 22 N. E. Rep. 798. Gas Trust Co., (1889) 130 Ill. 268; s. c., point Hood v. N. Y. & N. H. R. R. (1892) 50 N. J. Eq. 656.

Citing C., P. & S. W. R. R. Co. v. Co., 22 Conn. 1; Franklin Co. v. Lewis-

³ People ex rel. Peabody v. Chicago Gas Trust Co., (1889) 130 III. 268; S. C.,

⁴ Willoughby v. Chicago Junction 22 N. E. Rep. 798; citing on the last Railways & Union Stock Yards Co.,

CHAPTER IX.

BANKS AND BANKING.

- $ 283. Powers of banks generally
 - 284. The guaranty of commercial paper by a bank.
 - 285. Acts ultra vires a bank.
 - 286. Taking mortgage on and purchase of real estate.
 - 287. Purchasing notes.
 - 288. Purchasing stock of corpora-
 - 289. Increase of capital stock,
 - 290 Loans.
 - 291. Dividends on bank shares.
 - 292. Lien of a bank on moneys and securities of its customers.

- § 293. Lien of a bank on shares of stockholders for their debts to the bank.
 - 294. Interest received by banks.
 - 295. A bank's duty as to securities deposited with it.
 - 296. The rights of a bank as to sccurities pledged to it.
 - 297. Personal guaranty of a bank by stockholders and directors.
 - 298. Misrepresentations by a bank as to solvency of a customer.

§ 283. Powers of banks generally.— A bank, upon which general banking powers have been conferred, may borrow money without any more specific authority.1 A national bank has power to borrow money on negotiable paper, made and indorsed for its accommodation.2 As incident to its power to loan money,

Bank, 80 Mo. 165.

follows: "[They] take the broad borrowing,

¹Ringling v. Kohn, (1878) 6 Mo, App. any direct authority, and a careful 333; Donnell v. Lewis Co. Savings consideration of the nature of banking, together with an examination of ² Bank r. Sullivan, 11 W. N. C. (Pa.) its history, has satisfied me that it can-362. In a leading New York case not be sustained. It is not in harmony (Curtis v. Leavitt, (1857) 15 N. Y. 9, with the present practice or the past 255, 256), SELDEN, J., states the con- history of banks. Banking for profit tention of the receiver's counsel as is based primarily upon the idea of without interest. ground that banking corporations can- various sums which the individuals of not borrow money, or, at least, that a commercial community must necesthey cannot borrow to supply the sarily keep on hand unemployed, to place of capital. They contend that meet any sudden emergency, and reit is the business of banks to lend loaning the money, or the greater part money, not to borrow; that borrowing of it, upon interest. It may be said does not come within the scope of that banks may borrow, that is, receive legitimate banking, and is in its na- deposits without interest, but cannot ture a power which corporations cre- borrow upon interest. This, too, is ated for banking purposes cannot untenable. One of the soundest bankproperly exercise." He then said: ing systems known to the age, viz., "This position is not supported by the Scotch, is sustained to a great exa bank may take as security a crop of cotton, and ship the same to a factor, to be sold to reimburse the loan. A bank, authorized by its charter to deal in bills of exchange and discount notes, made negotiable and payable at the bank, with two or more good and sufficient sureties, may, under this power, undertake to collect bills of exchange in other places.2 Under the National Banking Association Act, the powers which national banks may exercise are limited to those expressly granted and those necessarily incidental.3 They would have no absolute right to retain bonds coming into their possession by purchase, under contracts which they were without legal authority to make.4 National banks may exercise all such incidental powers as may be necessary for discounting and negotiating promissory notes, drafts, bills of exchange, etc., which they are authorized to do.5 It is not beyond the powers of a national bank to purchase a draft Irish and Scotch systems of banking, of the business of banking. tury, exhibited a stability which the but must rest on that branch of the the balances of money in their hands. power." McCulloch's Notes to Smith's Wealth of Nations, 489, title, Money, Edin. ed.; Lawson's Hist. of Banking, 273. Another writer, speaking of the practice of borrowing by the Scotch banks, says: 'This is in fact a part of the Bank, 6 How. (Miss.) 625. proper business of a bank. A banker is a dealer in capital, an intermediate S. 67. party between the borrower and the lender; he borrows of one party and lends to another, and the difference Ripley, (1872) 22 Ohio St. 516. between the terms at which he bor-tent by sums borrowed at a rate of in- rows and those at which he lends is terest below that charged by the banks. the source of his profit.' Gilbert on Edin. Ency. 224, tit. Banks, Lawson's Banking, 52. It can scarcely be said, Hist. of Banking, 419. The commit- in view of these precedents and authoritee appointed by the House of Lords ties, that borrowing money, even to be in England, in 1826, to inquire into the used as capital, is not within the range reported that it was 'proved by evi- position, therefore, that the acts of the dence and by the documents that the banking company in issuing the paper banks of Scotland, whether chartered in question were ultra vires cannot be joint-stock companies or private estab- sustained on the ground that borrowlishments, have, for more than a cening is no part of legitimate banking, committee believe unexampled in the argument which is drawn from the history of banking.' Lawson's Hist. terms of the General Banking Law of Banking, 434. The country bank- itself. It is a question, not of approers of England also allow interest on priate banking, but of corporate

- ¹ Deloach r. Jones, 18 La. 447.
- ²Branch Bank at Montgomery v. Knox, (1840) 1 Ala. 148. As to the power of banks to issue post notes. sce Campbell v. Mississippi Union
- 3 Logan Bank v. Townsend, 139 U. 4 Ibid.
- ⁵Shinkle r. First National Bank of

with a bill of lading attached. The discount of notes by a corporation authorized by statute to invest its capital in notes and to purchase and hold securities in payment of the debts due to it is not ultra vires.2 A banking institution, having power to lend deposits on the public stock of the state or the United States on bond and mortgages, or "upon any other securities which should be deemed, by the board of directors, ample," has been held not to be limited to the securities mentioned, and empowered to discount commercial paper.3 A national bank, having coin in pledge, may sell and assign its special property therein.4 A bank, to save itself from loss, under its general powers, may take an assignment of an account due its debtor.5 A national bank is authorized to buy the checks of individuals or other banks, when payable to bearer or to order.6 A bank may transfer a good title to checks received, as cash, from a depositor, and so credited to his account, in payment of a debt, and the transferee may recover upon them against the drawers. Λ bank, with which an owner of a bond and mortgage had agreed to convert it into money for the benefit of the bank, and upon its assignment for that purpose, had gnaranteed its collection, was held bound by the guaranty, although the bond was not assigned to the bank, and reassigned by it.8 A national bank may take, hold and enforce a chattel mortgage for a previously contracted debt.9 It is within the powers conferred by congress upon national banking associations to receive from its customers United States bonds of one class to be converted into bonds of another class. 10 bank, without an express undertaking on its part, will not be bound, by law, to protect from forfeiture, stock deposited with it as security for a debt, by payment of installments in arrear.11 The Minnesota Supreme Court has held that there is no reason

¹ Union National Bank v. Rowan, 23 S. C. 342.

² Bright v. Banking Co., 3 Penny-packer (Pa.), 478.

³ Detroit Savings Bank v. Truesdail, 38 Mich. 480.

⁴ Merchanis' Bank v. State Bank, 10 Wall. 604.

⁵ Bank of North America v. Tamblyn, (1879) 7 Mo. App. 571.

⁶ Rochester Bank v. Harris, (1871) 108 Mass. 514.

¹ Metropolitan National Bank v. Loyd, (1881) 25 Hun, 101.

⁸ Talman v. Rochester City Bank, (1854) 18 Barb, 123.

Spafford v. First National Bank of Tama City, 37 Iowa, 181.

¹⁰ Leach v. Hale, (1870) 31 lowu, 69.

¹¹ Railroad Bank v. Douglas, 2 Speer (S. C.), 329.

why a national bank may not, for convenience and a proper purpose, hold and own notes and mortgages through the medium of a trustee.¹

§ 284. The guaranty of commercial paper by a bank.— The Supreme Court of Nebraska has lately held that while a national bank may not lend its credit for the accommodation of others, still it may guarantee the payment of commercial paper as incidental to the exercise of its power to buy and sell the same.2 The Nebraska court accepted as the proper statement of the law upon this subject the following declaration by Mr. Justice SWAYNE, speaking for the United States Supreme Court, in a leading case before that court: "The National Bank Act," gives every bank created under it the right to exercise by its board of directors, or duly authorized agents, all such incidental powers as shall be necessary to carry on the business of banking, by discounting and negotiating promissory notes, drafts, bills of exchange and other evidences of debt, by receiving deposits, etc. Nothing in the act explains or qualifies the terms italicized. To hand over with an indorsement and guaranty is one of the commonest modes of transferring the securities named. Undoubtedly a bank might indorse 'waiving demand and notice,' and would be bound accordingly. A guaranty is a less onerous and stringent contract than that created by such an indorsement. We see no reason to doubt that, under the circumstances of this case, it was competent for the defendant to give the guaranty here in question. It is to be presumed the vice-president had rightfully the power he assumed to exercise, and the defendant is estopped to deny it. Where one of two innocent parties must suffer by the wrongful act of a third, he who gave the power to do the wrong must bear the burden of the consequence. The doctrine of ultra vires has no application in cases like this. Merchants' Bank v. State Bank, 10 Wall. 604. All the parties engaged in the transaction, and the privies, were agents of the defendant. If there were any defects of authority on their part, the retention and enjoyment of the proceeds of the transaction by their principal constituted an acquiescence as effectual as would have been the most formal words. These facts conclude the defendant from resisting the demand of the plaintiff. A different result would be a reproach to our jurisprudence."1

¹ First National Bank of Memphis Hastings, (1894) 40 Neb. 501; s. c., 58 v. Kidd, 20 Minn. 284. N. W. Rep. 943.

Thomas v. City National Bank of Rev. St. U. S. § 5186.

§ 285. Acts ultra vires a bank. - A bank discounting a note, knowing the intention of the party offering it to be that the proceeds of the discounting should be applied to the discharge of a particular note held by the bank, cannot apply the proceeds to the discharge of any other note.3 A bank cannot bind itself by an accommodation indorsement.8 National banks have no legal power to guarantee a contract between other persons for the delivery of building materials.1 The power of a national bank to give a guaranty against liability or loss to sureties on paper discounted by it, when the effect of such guaranty would be to make the paper that of one party only, secured by mortgages on real estate, has been questioned in a Michigan case. A national hank cannot act as broker for the sale of state bonds on commission. A national bank has no power to sell railroad bonds for a customer on commission.7 A bank has no authority to become surety on the bond of a public officer.8 A bank will not be justified in refusing to reassign collateral which it holds for the payment of certain notes because the pledgee may be indebted to it upon an entirely distinct cause of action.9 A bank cannot apply the proceeds of a note tendered to it for discount to the National Bank, 101 U. S. 181, in celed to the same amount, which case the facts were that one Pickett made his notes for $50,000, payable to his own order, indorsed them, and delivered them to the 13 N. Y. 309. national bank to be negotiated to the The vice-president of the N. H. 589. national bank, with the knowledge and consent of the president and Mich. 520. cashier, but without any authority from the board of directors, or from a majority of them as individuals, Hagerstown, 42 Md. 581. transmitted the notes to the plaintiff, with a written guaranty signed by (Pa.) 370. himself. The plaintiff's account was debited with $50,000 on account of Rep. 325. the notes. At the same time Pickett's ¹People's Bank v. Manufacturers' paper held by the defendant was can-

- Bank of Alexandria v. Saunders, 2 Cranch Cir. Ct. 183.
- Bank of Genesee v. Patchin Bank.
- 4 Norton v. Derry National Bank, 61
- 5 First National Bank v. Bennett, 33
 - 6 Smith v. Bank, 1 Walk. (Pa.) 318.
 - Weckler v. First National Bank of
- 8 Miners' Bank Estate, 13 W. N. C.
- 9 McIntire v. Blakeley, (Pa.) 12 Atl.

payment of the maker's indorsement on another note without his consent.1 In an action of the owner of a lot which had been assessed by a city for benefits and afterwards sold upon a judgment, and a certificate of sale given to the city, which it assigned to another party, who in turn assigned it to a national bank, against the city and bank to determine their adverse claims, the plaintiff made the point that the bank, being a national bank, had no authority to purchase the certificate. The Supreme Court of Minnesota considered it well settled that no one but the government could raise that question.2 The United States Circuit Court for the eastern district of Washington, in an action upon a note against a national bank as guarantor, has held that United States Revised Statutes, section 5202, providing that national banks shall not contract liabilities in excess of their paid-up capital stock, except upon notes of circulation, accounts for deposits, etc., did not intend that such items of liability should be excluded in determining whether the indebtedness of a bank exceeded its paid-up capital stock at the time it incurred a liability as guarantor. And that in an action against the bank and its receiver on such a note as here sued on, the defendants might avail themselves of the defense that the note was executed in violation of the section of the Revised Statutes above mentioned, as the note being void as to the bank, it was not estopped to set up the defense in question.8

§ 286. Taking mortgage on and purchase of real estate. - A national bank cannot take a mortgage upon real estate as a security for a debt concurrently created, or for future advances.4 It is competent for a national bank to purchase a note in favor of a third party, and thereby acquire incidentally a mortgage on

¹ Parry v. Highley, 8 Pa. Co. Ct. Rep. 584.

(1892) 50 Fed. Rep. 735.

⁴ Kansas Valley National Bank v. Rowell, (1873) 2 Dill. 371. As to the ² Hennessy v. City of St. Paul, (1893) lack of power of a national bank to 54 Minn. 219; s. c., 55 N. W. Rep. loan its money on real estate security, 1123; citing Merchants' National Bank see Matthews v. Skinker, (1876) 62 Mo. Warner v. DeWitt County W. Rep. 819; National Bank v. Mat- National Bank, 4 Bradw. (Ill.) 305; thews, 98 U. S. 621; National Bank v. Winton v. Little, 94 Pa. St. 64, over-Whitney, 103 U. S. 99; Fortier v. New ruling Fowler v. Scully, 72 Pa. St. Orleans Bank, 112 U. S. 451; s. c., 5 456, and Woods v. People's Bank, 83 Pa. St. 57; National Bank v. Matthews, ³ Weber v. Spokane Nat. Bank, 98 U. S. 621; National Bank v. Whitney, 103 U.S. 99; Fortier v. New

v. Hanson, 33 Minn. 40; s. c., 21 N. 329; Sup. Ct. Rep. 234.

land which may have been given to secure it.1 Where several debts due a national bank are consolidated into one, and a new note given, the bank would not be acting ultra vires in taking a mortgage on real estate to secure the consolidated note.2 A national bank extended the time of payment of indebtedness secured by a mortgage on real estate at a usurious rate of interest, and took for it notes and a mortgage, made by the debtor to a third person, the notes being indorsed by the latter. The Supreme Court of Ohio held that the usury only avoided the interest, and that to the extent the debt was valid, the mortgage was on bond fide security, and that the bank, by becoming the owner of the notes, acquired the equity in the mortgage. A mortgage upon real estate given to an officer of a national bank, at the time of a loan by the bank, to secure its payment, being, in effect, the same as if made to the bank, has been held to be void and not enforceable by the courts, under the prohibition in the National Banking Law, of loans of money on real estate security.4 The prohibition in the law against national banks taking security for loans on real estate, does not, however, extend to mortgages made in good faith by way of security for debts previously contracted, and banks may take the assignment of notes, secured by trust deed on real estate, as collateral security for pre-existing debts due the banks.5 A national banking association may avail itself of a security on real estate given to one personally liable on a loan made by the association.6 The Minnesota Supreme Court has association to take, see Ornn v. associations making Kans. 341.

- ¹Oldham v. Bank, 85 N. C. 240. ² Ibid.
- Xenia, (1872) 23 Ohio St. 97.

⁴Fridley v. Bowen, (1877) 87 Ill. ing upon what security such associa- Bradw. (Ill) 611. tions may make current loans, viz.:

Orleans National Bank, 112 U. S. 430. gage shall be taken on real estate ex-For an illustration of a note and mort-cept by way of security for debts gage on real property which it was in previously contracted, must be underthe power of a national banking stood to forbid absolutely such loans Merchants' National Bank, (1876) 16 security afforded by mortgages on real estate." The court cited as sanctioning its views: Fowler v. Scully, 72 Pa, St. 456; First National Bank v. ⁸ Allen v. First National Bank National Bank, 92 U. S. 122; Matthews v. Skinker, 62 Mo. 329.

⁸ Worcester National Bank 151. The court said: "The provision Cheeney, (1878) 87 Ill. 602; Gaar v. [of the National Banking Law] declar- First National Bank of Centralia, 20

First National Bank v. Haire, 86 Upon 'personal security,' and the Iowa, 443. As to a national bank's subsequent inhibition that no mort- right to take title to real estate in dis-hold that, in the absence of affirmative evidence of some contravention of the National Banking Association Act, a national bank might lawfully purchase, hold and convey real estate.1 The New Jersey Supreme Court has held that a national bank empowered by its charter "to provide the real estate" necessary for its immediate accommodation in the transaction of its business, cannot interpose the defense of ultra vires to a contract made by it to secure free entrance of light and air into its banking house.2 Where a national bank discounts a note secured by a deed of trust on real estate, the security passes to the bank and may be enforced by it.3 Speculation in real estate, by national banks, under the pretense of obtaining satisfaction of a previous debt, is forbidden by law. Such a bank, however, may acquire title to real estate, even though incumbered, if it is honestly done, for the purpose of securing a debt due to it. This may be done by taking a conveyance directly or by sale under process of law.1 Thus, where a firm of merchants were indebted to a bank upon drafts drawn upon them and accepted, discounted by the bank, in its regular course of business, to a certain amount, and secured by the transfer of a note of a third party for a larger sum, this note secured by a deed of trust upon real estate subject to other liens, and the third party made a deed of the property to the bank in payment of the sum due from him, the bank agreeing to discharge the other liens upon the same, the transaction was held not to be forbidden by the law regulating such banks." A mortgage upon real property taken by a national banking association as security will not be void. A judgment of onster and dissolution in a proper proceeding is the punishment for taking such a mortgage. Private persons cannot question the validity of the act." A national bank may purchase real charge of indebtedness previously to a mortgage given to a national Rep. 320. bank and assigned to a third party being good, see Lacey r. Central Bank, (1879) 71 Mo. 221. National Bank, 1 Neb. 179. As to foreclosure of a mortgage by a national bank, see Scofield v. State National Bank, 9 Neb. 323.

r. Kidd, 20 Minn. 234.

² Trustees of First Presbyterian contracted to it, see Turner r. First Church in Newark v. National State National Bank, (1881) 78 Ind. 19. As Bank of Newark, (N. J. 1894) 29 Atl.

Thornton v. National Exchange

- ⁴ Mapes v. Scott, (1878) 88 11l. 352. 5 Ibid.
- ⁶ First National Bank v. Elmore, 52 Iowa, 541; Streeter v. First National ¹ First National Bank of Memphis Bank, 53 Iowa, 177. As to the power of a national bank to purchase real estate at a judicial sale to satisfy a judgment and decree rendered in a proceeding to foreclose a mortgage on land on which the bank held a second mortgage lien, and to which forcelosure proceeding it was made a party.1 These banks have authority to hold and convey such real estate as they may purchase at sales under judgments, decrees or mortgages held by them to secure debts due them.2 The title of a national bank to land which was mortgaged to it, and purchased at judgment sale, would not be invalidated as to the mortgaged property, by the fact that at the sale it purchased other property which it may not have been authorized to acquire.3

§ 287. Purchasing notes.—The Court of Appeals of Maryland has held that under the National Banking Association Act a bank formed under it has no authority to use its funds in purchasing notes and can acquire no title to notes by the purchase of them.4 The ruling of the Minnesota Supreme Court on this subject has been that the purchase of promissory notes by a bank authorized simply to discount notes was ultra vires and that the purchase would confer no title.⁵ In a later case this same court held that national banks have no power to deal in promissory notes, as choses in action, for the purpose of private gain and profit alone, and limited their power to acquire title to such notes estate necessary to secure a debt to it, 120 Mass. 158.

¹ Heath v. Second National Bank, (1880) 70 Ind. 106.

² Wherry v. Hale, (1882) 77 Mo. 20. As to a national bank purchasing real estate in satisfaction of a debt due it, see Libby v. Union National Bank, 99

³ Reynolds v. Crawfordsville Bank, 112 U.S. 405. As to a national bank.

Maryland, at Baltimore, (1879) 52 Md.

⁵ Farmers & Mechanics' Bank v. although in excess of the debt, see Baldwin, 23 Minn, 198. The court Upton v. South Reading Bank, (1876) said: "The power to carry on the business of banking by discounting notes, bills and other evidences of debt, is only an authority to loan money thereon, with the right to deduct the legal rate of interest in ad-This right can be fully enjoyed without the possession of the unrestricted power of buying and dealing in such securities as choses in action and personal property. lawfully holding a mortgage on real Though, as argued by plaintiff, the estate, purchasing a prior mortgage bank acquires a title to discount paper, on the same land to protect its inter- and, hence, may, in a certain sense, be est, see Holmes v. Boyd, (1883) 90 Ind. said to have purchased it, yet it is a purchase by discount, which is per-Lazear v. National Union Bank of mitted, and does not involve the exercise of a power of purchase in any other way than by discount."

to discounting them.1 In an Ohio case it was held that the power given to the corporation by a statute of the state of New York "to carry on the business of banking by discounting bills, notes and other evidences of debt," was not a power to buy promissory notes but to loan money upon the paper described, and that a transaction of that character was within the usury laws of that state.2 Under the power given savings institutions to discount negotiable notes in Kansas, they have been held to have the power of purchasing such notes.8 In a comparatively late r. Pierson, 24 Minn, 140.

or drawback made upon its advances ing money." or loans of money upon negotiable

¹First National Bank of Rochester payees, and that it had no authority to make such purchase. Upon this ²Bank v. Baker, 15 Ohio St. 68. In question, the court says: "It does Fleckner v. Bank, 8 Wheat. 338, it not state that the purchase was made appeared that the plaintiff purchased at a usurious rate of discount, but it from another bank a note which had avers that under the act of congress been passed to it through several to provide a national currency, under parties from the original holder. The which the bank was incorporated, it bank was forbidden to deal in any had no authority to purchase the bill. thing, except bills of exchange, gold It seems to be the idea of counsel mak or silver, or take more than six per ing the objection that negotiable cent upon its loans or discounts. It paper, perfect and available in the was claimed by defendant that the hands of the holder, is not the subject purchase of the note was ultra rires, of purchase by a national bank at any but the court held that it was not, and rate of discount. This view we think that such purchase was but a dis- entirely erroneous. We see nothing count. Story, J., speaking for the in the act of congress, nor in reason, court, says: "But in what manner is why a borrower may not obtain the the bank to loan? What is it to dis-discount, by a bank, of one of the excount? Has it not a right to take an isting notes and bills of others, of evidence of debt which arises from which he is the holder, as well as of the loan? If it is to discount, must his own paper, made directly to the there not be some chose in action, or bank. It is true that as between natwritten evidence of a debt, payable at ural persons, the purchase of such a future time, which is to be the sub- paper, when made in good faith, and ject of the discount? Nothing can be not as a disguise for a loan, is not subclearer than that by the language of ject to the usury laws, but it is otherthe commercial world, and the settled wise as to a bank. In the business of practice of banks, a discount by a banking, the purchasing and discountbank means ex ri termini, a deduction ing of paper is only 'a mode of loan-

³ Pape v. Capitol Bank of Topeka, paper or other evidence of debt, pay- (1878) 20 Kans. 440. Brewer, J., able at a future day, which are trans- speaking for the court, said: "The ferred to the bank." In the case of power granted is the naked power of Smith v. Bank, 26 Ohio St. 141, the discounting, and the term 'discountdefense was that the bank (a national ing'includes purchase as well as loan. bank) purchased the paper of the 'To discount' signifies the act of buy-case an action by a bank organized under the laws of New Hampshire, engaged in doing a general banking business, upon a note. the Supreme Court of Missouri sustained the power of the bank under its charter, nothing appearing to the contrary therefrom, to buy outright the notes sued on; at the same time they held that it had no right to purchase them at a greater rate of discount than the rate of interest it might lawfully charge for the loan of that money. In a recent Massachusetts case, an action by a national bank against the indorser of a promissory note, to whose order the note was payable, its right to recover was denied on the ground that it had no title to the note. It was argued that under the statutes of the United States national banks could not buy or sell promissory notes, and that, inasmuch as the bank obtained the note by purchase, it had no right to hold or collect it. Knowlton, J., speaking for the Supreme Court of Judicature, declared the law, as they considered it upon these contentions, as follows: "On the question whether a national bank can buy promissory notes in the market as a natural person can, there is a conflict of authority. Its power to do so, if it has any, is conferred by the United States Revised Statutes, section 1536 (13 burne, 14 Ill. App. 566.

the plaintiff, a corporation created un- Mass. 389. der the laws of the state of Illinois, ing a bill of exchange or promissory could not under its charter so deal in note for a less sum than that which, promissory notes as to become the upon its face, is payable. It is, also, purchaser thereof. But its charter, undeniably clear that the term 'dis- the court says, 'restrains the bank count,' when used in a general sense, generally from dealing or trading is equally applicable to either business except in bills of exchange, gold or or accommodation paper, and is approsilver, or in the sale of goods pledged priately applied, either to loans or for money lent or which shall be the sales by way of discount, when a sum proceed of land.' It will be observed is counted off or taken from the face that the decision in this case is based or amount of the paper at the time altogether upon the restrictions in the money is advanced upon it, plaintiff's charter, which was bewhether that sum is taken for interest force the court, and incorporated in upon a loan, or as the price agreed the bill of exceptions. No such reupon a sale." See, also, Tracy v. Tal- strictions are shown to have been mage, 18 Barb. 462; Bank v. Sher- placed upon plaintiff's powers as a banking institution." That a national ¹ Salmon Falls Bank v. Leyser, (Mo. bank cannot rescind a contract of pur-1893) 22 S. W. Rep. 504. The court chase of a note on the ground that it distinguished Bank v. Simpson, 1 Mo. had no power to purchase and recover 184, in these words: "It is true that it back the money paid for it, see Attleis held by this court in [that case] that borough Bank v. Rogers, (1878) 125

U. S. Sts. at Large, 101), which authorizes national banks to discount and negotiate 'promissory notes, drafts, bills of exchange and other evidences of debt,' etc. It has sometimes been held that the right to discount and negotiate notes, etc., goes no further than to authorize the taking of them in return for a loan of money made on the strength of the promises contained in them.1 By other courts it has been held that the right to 'discount and negotiate' includes the right to buy.2 If we assume, in favor of the defendant, that national banks are not authorized under the law to go into the market and buy promissory notes from those who are selling them only as a commodity, there are several reasons why this defense cannot prevail. In the first place, if such a purchase is ultra vires, it is an ordinary contract; it is not made penal nor expressly forbidden, and the maker or indorser cannot defend on the ground that the bank has obtained no title. The violation of law can be availed of only in proceedings against a national bank in the interest of the public to deprive it of its charter. This has been decided by the Supreme Court of the United States.3 Secondly, the evidence in this case would well warrant, if not require, a finding by the court that the transaction was a discounting of a note for the defendant within the meaning of the statute. The note was in the hands of the indorser's agent, who consulted the indorser about the rate of interest to be allowed before giving the note to the plaintiff. The plaintiff's money was paid to indorser, less the agent's commission. The transaction would have been no different in substance if the defendant, who held the note as indorser, had carried it to the plaintiff's [plaintiff?] bank and had there made in person the contract which he made through the agent. If he had done that the transaction clearly would have been a negotiation of a loan and a discounting of a promissory note.4 Thirdly, it

Md. 78, 124; Farmers & Mechanics' Bank v. Savery, 127 Mass. 75, 77. Bank r. Baldwin, 23 Minn. 198; First 15 Ohio St. 69.

Ohio St. 141; Pape v. Capitol Bank of 143 Mass. 420. Topeka, 20 Kans. 440. See, also, First 514, 516; National Pemberton Bank v. chanics' Bank v. Baldwin, 28 Minn.

¹ Lazear v. National Union Bank, 52 Porter, 125 Mass. 338; Atlas National

³ Citing National Bank v Matthews, National Bank v. Pierson, 24 Minn. 98 U.S. 621, and cases cited; National 140; Niagara County Bank v. Baker, Bank v. Whitney, 103 U. S. 99; Merchants' National Bank v. Hanson, 33 ² Citing Smith v. Exchange Bank, 26 Minn. 40; Slater Woolen Co. v Lamb,

⁴ Citing Lazear v. National Union National Bank v. Harris, 108 Mass. Bank, 52 Md. 124; Farmers & Mehas been held in this commonwealth, in analogy with the above-cited decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States, but on somewhat different grounds, that, even if a national bank does not get the legal title to a promissory note bought in the market, it may maintain a suit as the holder, and the maker and indorsers cannot be relieved from their contracts to pay the amount promised in the writing." ¹

8 288. Purchasing stock of corporations.— A national bank, by way of compromising a claim alleged to be due, and for the purpose of averting an apprehended loss on account of such claim, has the right to acquire stock to be again turned into money, but has no right to purchase or acquire such stock either for speculation or investment.2 Such a bank not being expressly prohibited from becoming a stockholder in another corporation, may take shares in another corporation as collateral security for a loan made by it, or in satisfaction for a loan for which the stock may have been pledged to it as security.3 The United States Supreme Court has also held that stocks of other corporations may be taken by a national bank with a view to sell them at a profit in adjusting and compromising claims growing out of legitimate banking transactions.4 The Nebraska Supreme Court, in a recent case involving the power of a bank to purchase the stock of an insurance corporation through its cashier, has, after a review of leading cases bearing upon the subject of corporations purchasing or acquiring stock in others, summed up the law as follows: "It is doubtless true that the bank could legally take the stock of another corporation as security for a debt previously contracted. Possibly it might make a loan on the strength of the stock as security at the time. On this point the authorities are not in harmony, and as it is not material here we do not decide it. An emergency might arise when a bank's board of directors would be justified in taking stock of another corporation in settlement, or adjustment, or compromise of a doubtful claim or debt.

^{198;} First National Bank v. Pierson, 24 Minn. 140.

¹Prescott National Bank v Butler, (1898) 157 Mass. 548, 549, 550; citing Atlas National Bank v Savery, 127 Mass. 75, 77; National Pemberton Bank v, Porter, 125 Mass. 389.

⁹ First National Bank of Charlotte v. National Exchange Bank of Baltimore, 39 Md. 600, ⁸ Kennedy v. California Savings Bank, (1894) 101 Cal. 495.

⁴ First National Bank v. National Exchange Bank, 92 U. S. 122.

ing in the honest belief that only by so doing could a serious s to the bank be averted. None of these reasons, however, isted in the case at bar, or if they did the record before us does t disclose them. The cashier had no authority to bind the nk by buying the insurance company's stock. The board of ectors had no authority to authorize him to do so; and if the shier bought such stock in behalf of the bank the directors had authority to ratify the purchase and thus bind the bank. * * We conclude, then, that the powers of a directory of a nk in dealing with and in investing the funds of the stockhold-; are limited to the purposes for which the bank was incorrated and the purposes necessarily incidental thereto in the sucssful conduct of its legitimate business." Unless necessary to event loss on a debt previously contracted in good faith, a tional bank can make no valid loan or discount in security of own stock.2 And the placing by one bank of its funds on rmanent deposit with another would be a loan within that prosion of the National Banking Association Act which prohibits ch loans.3 A national bank, purchasing its own stock to proit itself against loss upon a debt, being bound to sell the stock thin six months, may sell on credit and take the purchaser's te, with the stock sold as collateral, to secure it, provided it be ne in good faith.4 Where money has been borrowed of a bank, d the borrower has given as security certificates of his shares of e bank's stock, he would not be entitled to recover, when, on n-payment of this loan, the bank had sold the stock and applied exproceeds to his credit. The opinion of the court, a brief one, adered by Mr. Justice Field, stated the law in such case to be nn. 159; Franklin Co. v. Lewiston Trust Co., 130 III. 268. stitution for Savings, 68 Me. 43; issau Bank v. Jones, 95 N. Y. 115. to the lack of power in one corporan to buy stock of another, see Mil- (1882) 76 Mo. 439. nk v. New York, L. E. & W. R. R. ., 64 How. Pr. 20-29; Franklin Bank 107 U. S. 676. Commercial Bank, 36 Ohio St. 355;

Bank of Commerce v. Hart, (1893) Central R. R. Co. v. Pennsylvania R. Neb. 107, 205, 206. The cases R. Co., 31 N. J. Eq. 475; Sumner v. erred to by the Nebraska court were Marcy, 3 Woodb. & M. 105; Central chanics & Workingmen's Mutual R. R. Co. v. Collins, 40 Ga. 582; Hazelvings Bank & Building Association hurst v. Savannah, G. & N. A. R. R. Meriden Agency Company, 24 Co., 43 Ga. 13; People v. Chicago Gas

- ² Bank v. Lanier, 11 Wall. 369.
- 8 Ibid.
- 4 Union National Bank v. Hunt,
- ⁵ National Bank of Xenia v. Stewart, as follows: "Section 5201 of the Revised Statutes declares that on association shall make any loan or discount on the security of the shares of its own capital stock, nor be the purchaser or holder of any such shares, unless such security or purchase shall be necessary to prevent loss upon a debt previously contracted in good faith; and stock so purchased or acquired shall, within six months from the time of its purchase, be sold or disposed of at public or private sale; or, in default thereof, a receiver may be appointed to close up the business of the association.' While this section. in terms, prohibits a banking association from making a loan upon the security of shares of its own stock, it imposes no penalty either upon the bank or borrower, if a loan upon such security be made. If, therefore, the prohibition can be urged against the validity of the transaction by any one except the government, it can only be done before the contract is executed, while the security is still sub-isting in the hands of the bank. It can then, if at all, be invoked to restrain or defeat the enforcement of the security. When the contract has been executed, the security sold, and the proceeds applied to the payment of the debt, the courts will not interfere with the matter. Both bank and borrower are in such case equally the subjects of legal censure, and they will be left by the courts where they have placed themselves. There is another view of this case. The deceased authorized the bank, in a certain contingency, to sell the shares. Supposing it was unlawful for the bank to take those shares as security for a loan, it was not unlawful to authorize the bank to sell them when the contingency occurred. The shares being sold pursuant to the authority. the proceeds would be in the bank as his property. The administrators, indeed, affirm the validity of that sale by suing for the proceeds. As against the deceased, however, the money loaned was an offset to the proceeding. In either view the administrators cannot recover." 1 The Illinois Supreme Court has held, in a late case, that it was no defense in an action to recover a loan from a national bank that the bank had purchased shares of its stock which were pledged for the loan in violation of the law relating to national banking associations, where the purchase of the stock was consummated before the loan was obtained, and the lender had no knowledge of how the stock was acquired by the bank.¹ A national bank which had received the stock of a savings bank, and still retained it, and had received dividends on the stock, has been held to be estopped from denying its liability for its proportion of the indebtedness of the savings bank contracted during the time of its ownership of stock therein.²

¹ Ibid.

$ 289. Increase of capital stock. — The comptroller of currency is clothed with power to assent to an increase of the capital stock of a national bank less than that originally voted by its directors but equal to the amount actually subscribed and paid for by the stockholders under the original vote.3 The capital of a national banking association having become impaired by reason of past due and suspended claims, should its stockholders, to avoid a threatened assessment by the comptroller of currency upon the stock to make good the deficiency, lawfully reduce the capital stock in an amount equal to the deficiency, a stockholder cannot, in case the suspended claims be subsequently realized upon and carried into the account as assets, compel the bank to distribute a share of the money so realized in proportion to the amount of stock surrendered by him.4 The validity of the proceedings for an increase of the stock of a national bank cannot be questioned by a stockholder who, with the knowledge of its insolvent condition and of all material facts, may have subscribed for increased stock to same amount as his original stock, and amount of proposed increase was afterwards reduced, in an action to annul his subscription and payment.5

§ 290. Loans.— Where a state bank has been organized into a national bank under the national law, and the national bank had taken from the state bank, among the discounted notes, one for a larger amount than the national bank was authorized to loan to a single borrower, the Supreme Court of Ohio held that such note or any note subsequently given in renewal of it was not to be regarded within the meaning of the national act as given for Chemical Nat. Bank of Chicago v.

 4 McCann v. First National Bank,
 City Bank of Portuge, (Ill. 1895) 40 N.
 E. Rep. 328.
 4 McCann v. First National Bank,
 City Bank of Portuge, (Ill. 1895) 40 N.
 E. Rep. 328.
 Delano v. Butler, 118 U. S. 634;

² Kennedy r. ('alifornia Savings Pacific National Bank r. Eaton, 141 Bank, (1894) 101 Cal. 495.

U. S. 227; Thayer r. Butler, 141 U. S.

² Aspinwall v. Butler, 138 U. S. 234; Butler v. Eaton, 141 U S. 240. 595.

money borrowed of the national bank.1 In an action by a national bank for money loaned, the defendant cannot set up as a bar that the loans exceeded in amount one-tenth part of the canital stock of the bank.2 The security taken by a national bank for loans will not be invalidated by the fact that the loans may be in violation of the act of congress which prohibits the lending of more than one-tenth of its paid-up capital to one person.3 Should a bank accept a renewal note from the agent of the principal for an amount greater than is actually due, with fraudulent intent, it will vitiate the whole, and the bank cannot recover upon it. If it be a mistake, the bank may recover the amount actually due. Should the maker of a note conspire with the president or other officer of a bank to defraud it, and on the faith of the note the bank parts with its money, the bank can recover it from the ¹ Allen v. First National Bank, Xe- the benefit of either party to the illegal nia, (1872) 23 Ohio St. 97.

not be brought into the state without and prosperity of the bank." a previous certificate signed by two freeholders. Slaves were brought in without such certificate and sold, and the purchaser was held liable for the purchase money. Mr. Justice WAYNE 495. said that the rule was allowed not for contract, but altogether upon grounds Gold Mining Co. v. National Bank, of public policy. In O'Hare v. The (1877) 96 U. S. 640 Mr. Justice Second National Bank of Titusville, 77 HUNT, speaking for the court, said: Pa. St. 96, the question was made "After obtaining and holding to upon the statute we are considering, its own use the money, can the and it was objected that the bank mining company be allowed to inter- could not recover the amount of the pose the plea that the bank had no loan in excess of the proportion specright to loan the money? In Harris r. ified. The court held that the section Runnels, 12 How, 79, where the de- of the statute referred to was intended fendant sucd upon a note set up the as a rule for the government of the illegality of its consideration, it was bank, and that the loan was not void. held that the whole statute then in See, also, Pangborn v. Westlake, 36 question must be examined to discover Iowa, 546; Vining et al. v. Bricker, 14 whether it intended to prevent courts Ohio St. 331. We do not think that of justice from enforcing contracts in public policy requires, or that congress relation to the act prohibited; and that intended, that an excess of loans bewhen a statute prohibited an act or youd the proportion specified, should annexes a penalty for its commission, enable the borrower to avoid the payit does not follow that the unlawful- ment of the money actually received ness of the act was meant to avoid a by him. This would be to injure the contract made in contravention of it. interest of creditors, stockholders, and A statute provided that slaves should all who have an interest in the safety also, Farmers' Bank v. Burchard, 33 Vt. 346.

³ Stephens v. Bank. 88 Pa. St. 157. 4 Bates v. Short, 3 Pennypacker (Pa), maker.1 Where money is paid on forged paper by discounting or eashing it by a bank, it can be recovered back provided the bank has not materially contributed to the mistake itself, and has given a sufficiently early notice of the mistake to the other party after discovering it.2 In a Vermont case, it appeared that the defendant signed a writing addressed to the person who was the cashier of the bank by name only, saying: "I wish you to discount a note," etc., and guaranteeing its goodness and payment. credit of this guaranty the bank discounted the note. Supreme Court held that an action on the guaranty lay in the name of the bank counting upon a promise to the bank.8

§ 291. Dividends on bank shares.—The board of directors of a bank have discretionary power to declare dividends and the amount of same, and a very strong case must be presented to induce a court to interfere. Where the articles of association of a bank provided that there should be a semi-annual dividend, and vested all the powers and privileges of the members of the association in a board of directors, the Court of Chancery of New York held that it was competent for the board to determine in any year not to declare a dividend, and that a shareholder could not maintain a bill to restrain the collection of the securities he had given the association in consideration of his shares, because they had determined to forego a dividend in that year. dend declared and paid, and credited on a call for payment of the stock subscriptions by a banking association, having nearly a third of its capital locked up in a suspended and uncertain debt, though it was believed there would be no ultimate loss, has been held to be illegal as against the creditors of the association.⁶ It has been held that a dividend declared by a bank could not be made payable in bills of county banks, solvent, but quoted below par in the city of New York.7 A stockholder in a bank is not entitled to interest from the bank, either on ordinary dividends declared

¹ Tagg v. Tennessee National Bank, 351. (1872) 9 Heisk. (Tenn.) 479.

² Third National Bank v. Allen, (1875) 59 Mo. 310.

³ Woodstock Bank r. Downer, 27 24 N. Y. 548.

⁴ State r. Bank of Louisiana, 6 La, 746.

⁵ Ely n. Sprague, (1840) Clarke,

⁶ Sagory v. Dubois, (1846) 3 Sandf. 7 Ehle v. Chittenango Bank, (1862) on his shares or on money due him from a reduction by the bank of its capital stock, for a period during which the bank may be prevented from paying him the same by attachments of his stock in suits pending in court between him and other parties, although the money thus belonging to him may be during such time mingled by the bank with its general assets, the bank being ready and willing to pay over the same but for the attachments, and having on hand all the time a balance of money sufficient for the purpose.1 A national bank in Texas having declared a dividend, providing in its resolution that the cashier should not pay such dividend to the stockholders until the respective indebtedness of each stockholder should first be paid out of his portion of such dividend, and one of its stockholders being indebted as guarantor and otherwise of certain notes held by the bank, his dividend was applied to the payment of the same. He brought his action against the bank for his dividend. The court specially held that the bank could not set off against such dividend the amount of notes guaranteed by such stockholder, where the original makers had not been exhausted, and no effort had been made by the self-protection. were in no more favorable condition benefit."

¹ Mustard v. Union Nat. Bank, (Me. for the owner of them than ordinary 1893) 29 Atl, Rep. 977. Peters, Ch. deposits or dividends. All uncalled-J., said: "The [stockholder] contends for deposits and dividends held by any that the bank, as to these funds, did bank, or at any rate the bulk of them, not stand in the condition of an ordi- become mingled in the moneys and innary debtor, but became a stockholder vestments of the bank, and that is one or trustee for the owner of them; and source of its legitimate business profits. that, having received the profits and * * * The cases in Massachusetts. benefits of the funds, it is liable for in- where this same question has repeatterest on the same. We do not feel edly arisen, are adverse to the plaintiff's satisfied to apply the rule invoked by claim. Oriental Bank r. Tremont the plaintiff. There was no promise Ins. Co., 4 Met. 1; Huntress v. Burof interest in any way, and no disposi- bank, 111 Mass. 213; Smith r. Flaution to withhold the funds, except for ders, 129 Mass. 322. And we do not There was more perceive that our own cases favor the money at all times on hand and unem- claim. In Norris v. Hall, 18 Mc. 332, ployed than the sum due the plaintiff the debt in the trustees' hands was on in readiness for appropriation on the its face running upon interest. Bloddebt. It would be an unheard of gett v. Gardiner, 45 Me. 542, was a claim to charge a bank with a liability similar case. And in Abbott n. Stinchto pay interest on deposits or declared field, 71 Me. 213, the trustee, an attordividends when there is no promise to ney at law, had collected funds for his do so nor any fault on the part of the client, and deposited them in a savings bank. And the funds in question bank upon interest for his client's bank to collect the notes from them, and they were not shown to be insolvent or beyond the jurisdiction of the court; and in case the maker of a note was insolvent and in the penitentiary or nonresident, protest and notice or suit at the first term were not necessary to hold the indorser, but the debts became an original liability of the indorser.1

§ 292. Lien of banks on moneys and securities of its customers.— A bank has a lien on all moneys and securities of a customer coming into its possession in the regular course of business for any balance due it on general account.2 A banker's lien does not extend to all securities happening to be in his hands for any purpose.8 A bank has no general lien on securities deposited with it by a customer as collateral for a particular debt.4 The lien of a bank resting upon the presumption of credit extended on faith of securities in possession or expectancy, will not arise in reference to securities in possession of the bank under circumstances, or where there is a particular mode of dealing, inconsistent with such lien.⁵ By the law merchant a banker has a general lien on all securities deposited with him by a customer for his general

417. The Texas Civil Court of Ap- mark on Bank Dep. §§ 22, 117; Bank r. law involved in the case, said: "A McDonald, 80 Pa. St. 128; Bank v. bank, in its dealings with its custom- Henninger, 105 Pa. St. 496; Bank ers, has a right to pay a debt due to it v. Peck, 127 Mass. 800. Mr. Morse, out of money in the possession of such in his excellent work on Banks and bank to the general credit of such cus- Banking (Vol. 2, § 699e), says: 'But tomers, whether derived from divi- the bank has a lien upon dividends; dends or any other source. Traders' or, more properly, it may set off divi-Nat. Bank of San Antonio v. Cresson, dends accruing upon the shares of a 75 Tex. 298; s. c., 12 S. W. Rep. 819, stockholder against indebtedness of a and authorities there cited; Nashville stockholder to the bank, for the divi-Trust Co. v. Fourth Nat. Bank, (Tenn.) 18 S. W. Rep. 822; Hagar v. Bank, 63 Mc. 509; Morse on Banks, v. Bank, 63 Me. 509." 34: Newmark on Bank Dep. § 22; Id. § 117. There is a general rule, subject to some exceptions, that a bank has a lien on all moneys and Spl. Term, 1877) 54 How. Pr. 513. funds of a depositor in its possession to secure any balance due the bank by such depositor. Bank v. Weems. 69

¹ First Nat. Bank of Texarkana v. Tex. 489; s. c., 6 S. W. Rep. 802; 1 De Morse, (Tex. 1894) 26 S. W. Rep. Morse on Banks, § 324; Id. § 327; Newpeals, upon the general principles of Hughes, 17 Wend. 94; Fegley v. dend is a simple debt owing from the ² In re Tallassee Manufacturing Co., 64 Ala. 567.

³ Petrie v. Myers, (Sup. Ct. N. Y.

4 Grant v. Taylor, 35 N. Y. Super. Ct. 338.

⁵ Reynes r. Dumont, 180 U. S. 354.

balance, unless there be an express contract, or circumstances that show an implied contract inconsistent with such lien, and of this courts will take judicial notice.1 The doctrine of bankers' liens is not the law of Pennsylvania.2 A banker's lien does not extend to trust funds which his debtor, acting as an agent, has deposited in the name of a third person.8 A banker has, upon a security pledged for a specific sum, a lien for that amount only, and he cannot, by reason of a banker's general lien on securities in his hands, extend it to cover other advances, unless by special agreement.4 If there have been for a long time mutual dealings and an account current between two banks, in which they have mutually credited each other with proceeds of all paper remitted for collection when received, and charged all costs of protests, postage, etc., and transmitted their respective accounts regularly from one to the other, and settled them as the accounts of the respective banks; and upon the face of the paper transmitted it has always appeared to be the property of the banks respectively remitted on their own account, and balances have been generally allowed to remain until reduced by proceeds of such bills so transmitted from one to the other, in usual course of business, either of the banks would have a lien upon paper thus transmitted for a general balance of account, no matter who might be the real owner of the paper. Where a bank paid an insolvent depositor's note. which it had indorsed, and which had been duly protested for nonpayment, and was afterwards garnished for deposits in its hands belonging to such depositor, the Texas Civil Court of Appeals held that the bank had the right to retain out of the deposit due the maker sufficient to secure it against loss, and was responsible only for the balance remaining in its hands after the payment by it of the depositor's note for which it had obligated itself by its indorsement. It was held in a case in a federal court that the United States Revised Statutes, section 5242, which invalidates

¹ Wyman v. Colorado National Bank, (1879) 5 Colo. 30; citing Brandao v. Barnett, 3 Man., G. & S. 530. As to banker's lien upon securities belonging to his customers for balances due from them, see Cornwell v. Kinney, 1 Handy (Ohio), 496.

⁹Spring & Axle Co.'s Appeal, 111 Pa. St. 291.

² Falkland v. St. Nicholas National Bank of New York, (1881) 84 N. Y. 145.

⁴Duncan v. Brennan, (1881) 83 N. Y 487.

⁵ Rathbone v. Sanders, (1857) 9 Ind. 217.

⁶ Rosenberg v. First Nat. Bank of Texarkana, (Tex. Civ. App. 1894) 27

all transfers of the notes, bonds or bills of exchange of a national bank, after the commission of an act of insolvency, with a view to the preference of one creditor over another, does not prohibit a bank which has in good faith accepted the draft of a national bank the day before the latter's insolvency, and afterwards paid the same, from applying the proceeds of collections made by it on paper in its hands belonging to the insolvent bank to the payment of the draft since its lien on such collections runs from the date of acceptance.1 The United States Circuit Court for the southern district of New York has held that the same statute did not prevent the retention of a balance standing to the credit of an insolvent national bank with a correspondent bank on the day of its failure, which balance had been pledged for the purpose of securing loans made to the insolvent bank by the correspondent bank.2

§ 293. Lien of a bank on shares of stockholders for their debts to the bank .- The Delaware court has sustained the validity of a by-law made by the directors of a bank that no stockholder should have the right to transfer his stock while indebted to the bank, and such by-law held to give the bank a lien on the stock for the debts of the holder thereof.³ Where a bank issues stock transferable on its face there is no lien upon it

12 S. W. Rep. 819.

Rep. 381.

c., 18 Sup. Ct. Rep. 148

-er-un Comings Dingon 59 Mice 491. stock until all the debts of the stock.

S. W. Rep. 897; citing Burrow v. Conant v. Seneca County Bank, 1 Ohio Zapp, 69 Tex. 474; s. c., 6 S. W. St. 208. As to whether a by-law of a Rep. 783; Traders' Nat. Bank of San bank can create a general lien on the Antonio v. Cresson, 75 Tex. 298; s. c., shares of a stockholder for any debt due the bank from the stockholder, so as to ¹ In re Armstrong, (1890) 41 Fed. affect the creditors of the stockholder, see Nesmith v. Washington Bank, ² Bell v. Hanover National Bank, (1838) 6 Pick. (Mass.) 324. As to a (1893) 57 Fed. Rep. 821; citing Bank v. bank having a lien upon the stock of a Colby, 21 Wall. 613. LACOMBE, stockholder who may have died leav-Circuit Judge, said further: "Neither ing notes due and to become due, pay the subsequent insolvency of the bank able to the bank, for the amount of the nor the appointment of the receiver indebtedness, see Downer v. Zanesville destroyed the lien of defendant, Bank, (1833) Wright (Ohio), 477. As nor its right to dispose of the pledge to the lien, given by its charter, to a to satisfy the debt thus secured." bank on the stock held by the debtor, Scott v. Armstrong, 146 U.S. 499; s. having a priority over a claim of the United States, see Brent v. Bank of ³ McDowell v. Bank of W. & B., 1 Washington, 10 Pet. 596. As to the Harr. (Del.) 27. As to lien on stock effect of a charter or by-laws of a bank for debt of the stockholder, see Bank prohibiting the transfer of shares of its for any debt the stockholders owe the bank.1 A bank may hold a cash dividend as pledged for the debt of its shareholders to the bank.2 A bank has been held not to have a specific lien upon the dividends of one of its stockholders in consequence of its right to prevent the transfer of his stock until his debt to the bank should be paid.8 A bank has no lien on the stock of one indebted to it in preference to other creditors. A lis pendens would give preference to such creditors.4 A bank may waive the privilege given it by its charter of preventing the transfer of its stock by any stockholder whose debt to the bank is actually due, until payment of the debt.⁵ The provision in such articles of incorporation that "no shares shall be transferable unless the shareholder previously discharge all debts due him by the association," has been held to include not only matured debts but also liabilities unmatured. This lien attaches when the bank is asked to transfer the legal title. Where one becomes the owner of stock subject to this provision in the articles of which he has knowledge. and has omitted to give the bank notice of his ownership, thus enabling it to have credit on the faith of the assignor of the stock being a stockholder, he will have no superior equity to that of the bank. A provision in the articles of association of a bank that no shareholder should transfer his shares, or receive a dividend thereon, who should owe the bank a debt then due, unless by consent, etc.; and another giving authority whenever such a debt should be past due to sell the stock and apply the proceeds to pay the debt, have been held to create a lien upon the stock in favor of the bank for the debts of the stockholder. The court also held that the debts of a partnership of which the stockholder was a member, were his debts within the rule.8 In case a bank release for a time its lien given it by its charter, upon the stock of a shareholder for debts due by the latter to the bank, and holder to the bank are paid, see Union Bank v. Laird, 2 Wheat, 390. That a Marsh. (Kv.) 304. bank may waive its right, under the last provision, sec National Bank v. J. (Md.) 306. Watsontown Bank, 105 U.S. 217.

¹ Fitzhugh v. Bank of Shepherds- (1862) 24 N. Y. 283. ville. (1825) 3 Mon. (Ky.) 128.

² Hagar v. Union National Bank, 68

Brent v. Bank of Washington, 2 Cranch Cir. Ct. 517.

⁴ Dana v. Brown, (1829) 1 J. J.

⁵ Hodges v. Planters' Bank, 7 G. &

⁶ Leggett v. Bank of Sing Sing,

⁸ Arnold v. Suffolk Bank, (1857) 27 Barb. 424.

during that interval of time the stock be pledged by its owner for debt to a third party, the rights of the bank will be subordinate to the rights of the pledgee until his debt is paid or the stock released by the pledger. The lien that a bank has upon the stock of its debtor will not be affected by the fact that the debt is barred by the Statute of Limitations.2

§ 294. Interest reserved by banks.—Legal interest, on sums discounted by banks, is that established by their chartesr.3 They can, in no case, take more interest than that fixed by their charters.4 Banking laws limit the right of a bank to take inter-Reserving or taking interest in excess of that limit, makes the transaction usurious, and the general usury law applies to it.5 The taking of interest in advance upon loans made by a bank is within the well-established rules of banking. But after a note given to it has become payable, and in no manner taken up and renewed, a bank cannot lawfully take upon it a rate of interest exceeding the rate allowed by law.6 Where a bank discounts a note payable directly to itself, it will not be usury to take the interest in advance for the time the note has to run, this being the usage of banks.7 Discount means, ex vi termini, a deduction or drawback made upon advances or loans of money upon negotiable paper or other evidences of debt payable at a future time, which are transferred to a bank.9 The rate of interest on loans

- ¹ Bank of America r. McNeil, (1877) 10 Bush (Ky), 56.
- ² Farmers' Bank of Maryland v. Iglehart, 6 Gill (Md.), 55 That a na- Cir. Ct. 513. tional bank cannot create or hold, by lien on its stock to secure the indebtedness of stockholders to it, see Second National Bank of Louisville r. National State Bank of New Jersey, (1874) 10 Bush (Ky.), 375.
- ³ Bank of Louisiana r. Sterling, 2 La 62; (linton County c. Kernan, 10 Rob. (La.) 174.
- 4 Bank of Louisiana r. Stansbury, 8
- ⁵ Rock River Bank v. Sherwood, 10 Wis. 216: Brower v. Haight, 18 Wis. 102,

- * Ticonic Bank r Johnson, 31 Mc. 414.
- ⁷ Union Bank r. Corcoran, 5 Cranch
- ⁸ First National Bank r Sherburne, its articles of association or by-laws, a 14 Bradw. (III.) 566. As to what is a discount, see Fleckner 1, Bank, 8 Wheat. 338; Bank r. Johnson, 104 U. S. 271; Tracy v. Talmage, 18 Barb. 456; Niagara County Bank v. Baker, 15 Ohio St. 68; Pape v. Bank, 20 Kans. 440; Bank v. Sherburne, 14 Ill. App. 560; First Nat. Bank v. National Ex change Bank, 92 U.S. 122. As to interest, see Guthrie v. Reid, 107 Pa. St. 251; Barnet v. Bank, 98 U. S. 555; Nash v. Bank, 68 N. Y. 396; Bank r. Carpen-Wis. 230; Durkee v. City Bank, 13 ter, 52 N. J. Law, 165; s. c., 19 Atl. Rep. 181; Bank r. Stauffer, 1 Fed. Rep. 187; Bank v. Childs, 188 Mass.

or discounts being limited in the charter of a bank, it cannot stipulate for a higher rate in consideration of its forbearance to sue. It is not usurious in a bank to receive interest in advance on notes discounted by it.2 Requiring and taking exchange in New York by a bank upon a note intended to be, and actually paid, in Wisconsin, in addition to ten per cent interest, has been held to be usury.3 The taking of exchange, in addition to ten per cent in discounting a draft, was, however, held to be lawful. if not intended to evade the usury laws.4 A national bank may take the rate of interest allowed to natural persons generally by the law of the state where it is located, and a higher rate where state banks of issue can take it. 5 National banks are subject to the penalty against usury imposed by the federal law and not to that imposed by state law. Usurious interest paid a national bank on renewing a series of notes cannot, in an action by the bank on the last of the notes, be pleaded as a satisfaction of the debt.7 The rule in Vermont is to treat the receiving by a bank of interest upon loans or discounts exceeding the rate prescribed by the laws of that state, as having the effect only to render the contracts void as to the excess of interest taken.8 Interest alleged to be usurious, having been paid to a national bank, the usurious interest cannot afterwards be pleaded as a payment in an action

26 Ohio St. 141; Bank v. Littell, 47 N. J. Law, 238. In N. Y. State Loan & Trust Co. v. Helmer, 77 N. Y. 64, 68, tution, 10 G. & J. (Md.) 299. buying notes or advancing money on notes is distinguished from "discounting." Lester v. Bank of Mo- 157. bile, 7 Ala. 490; Branch Bank at Mobile v. Strother, 15 Ala. 51; Kitchen v. Branch Bank at Mobile, 14 Ala. 233; Branch Bank at Montgomery v. Harrison, 1 Ala. 9. As to interest and Bank, 59 N. II. 310. usury on the part of a bank, and the effect of penalties, see Atlantic State Bank of Brooklyn v. Savery, (1880) 82 N. Y. 291; Nash v. White's Bank of Buffalo, (1877) 68 N. Y. 396.

¹ Exchange Co. v. Boyce, 3 Rob. Bank, 111 U. S. 197. (La.) 307. As to the reservation of interest in the way of discounts exceed- 38 Vt. 621. ing the rate of interest allowed a bank

248; Alves v. Bank, 3 Browne Nat. being a violation of its charter, see Bank Cas. 452; c. f., Smith v. Bank, State v. Boatmen's Savings Institution, (1871) 48 Mo. 189.

² Duncan v. Maryland Savings Insti-

² Durkee v. City Bank, 13 Wis. 216. ⁴ Central Bank v. St. John, 17 Wis.

⁵ Tiffany r. National Bank of Missouri, 18 Wall. 409. Sec. also, National Bank v. Johnson, 104 U. S. 271.

⁶ Barker r. Rochester National Driesbach r. National Bank, 101 U. S. 52; Barnet v. National Bank, 98 U. S. 555. See, also, as to the remedy under the national law being exclusive, Stephens v. Monongahela

8 Bank of Middlebury v. Bingham, by the assignee of the bank.1 The demand and receipt by a national bank of usurious interest from indorsers upon notes discounted by it, the payments of which notes may be guaranteed to the bank by a third party in a written guaranty, will not avoid the contract of guaranty between such third party and the bank.2 In Pennsylvania a national bank cannot take more than six per cent upon the discount of a note, without showing that the state banks of issue are allowed to do so.8 Where a charter of a bank provided "that said corporation shall not take more than at the rate of six per centum on its loans or discounts," a note on which in discounting the bank had reserved a rate of interest greater than six per cent, was held to be void for want of power in the bank to make such a contract.4 National banks are subject only to the penalties prescribed by the United States Banking Association Act for taking usury. Where usurious interest has been previously received by a national bank in the course of renewals of a series of notes, terminating in a note on which an action may be brought, the usurious interest cannot be pleaded by way of set-off or payment. The only remedy open to the party aggrieved is that prescribed by the act of congress-n separate action for double the interest paid by him. A national bank located in Kansas, charging and receiving interest at the rate of eighteen per cent per annum, was held liable under the National Banking Act to pay back twice the amount of interest thus received.7 The person paying such interest having ¹ Childs r, Alexander, 22 S. C. ing penalties for taking usury do not Bank v. Pratt, (1874) 115 Mass. 539; Davis v. Randall, (1874) 115 Mass. (1838) 8 Ohio, 257. 547. As to the provisions of the Naforfeiture for taking usurious interest, the loan and in advance, see Maine Bank v Dearing, 91 U.S. 29. Bank v. Butts, (1812) 9 Mass. 40; Agricultural Bank v. Bissell, (1832) 12 Pick. (Mass.) 586.

² Lazear v. National Union Bank of 185. That the laws of the state impos- Maryland, at Baltimore, (1879) 52 Md.78. Bank r. Gruber, 91 Pa. St. 377; apply to national banks, see Central Bank v. Bletz, 2 Pennypacker (Pa.), 170. 4 Bank of Chillicothe v. Swayne.

⁵ Merchants & Farmers' National tional Banking Act with reference to Bank of Charlotte v. Myers, 74 N. C. 514. As to a state court not having see Central Bank v. Pratt, (1874) 115 jurisdiction of a bill to recover usury Mass. 539; Davis r. Randall, (1874) paid to a national bank, see Hambright 115 Mass. 547. As to the power to v. Cleveland National Bank, (1891) 3 deduct interest from the amount of Lea (Tenn.), 40; Farmers & Mechanics'

6 Oldham v. Bank, 85 N. C. 240.

7 Crocker v. National Bank of Chetopa, (1876) 4 Dill. 358.

gone into bankruptcy, the court held that the right of action for recovery of the penalty imposed by the act of congress passed to his assignee in bankruptcy.1 The amount of the recovery was twice the full amount of interest paid, and was not limited to twice the excess of interest paid over the legal rate.2 The Indiana Supreme Court has held that a note given to a national bank was not void, either as to the maker or surety, from the fact that the bank knowingly reserved and received usurious interest.' They also held that where an illegal rate of interest had been paid in advance, in an action on the debt by a national bank, the illegal interest could not be recouped.4 In Indiana a national bank is entitled to charge and receive interest at the rate of ten per cent. to which may be added current rate of exchange for sight drafts, when bona fide made. In an action by a national bank on an evidence of debt, payable to it or its use, where it has unlawfully received illegal interest, the entire interest that the debt carries with it, or which has been agreed to be paid, will be forfeited, and no recovery can be had for interest unpaid.6 The one who has paid the illegal interest may recover back double the illegal amount of interest he may have paid in an action for debt.7 Where the assignment of error is the admission of certain evidence touching the consideration of a note discounted by a bank, the question whether the bank exceeded its powers by taking more than legal interest cannot be raised on error.8 The Supreme Court of Colorado, in a very recent case, have accepted the con-

Ohio St. 508, distinguished. As to Bank, 1 Stew. (Ala.) 442. interest and usury taken by banks, see Commercial Bank of Manchester r. tur, 20 Ala. 392.

Nolan, 7 How. (Miss.) 508; Grand Gulf r. Archer, 8 Smedes & Marsh. ⁸ Wiley r. Starbuck, (1873) 44 Ind. (Miss.) 151, Chambliss r. Robertson, 1 Cushman (Miss.), 302; Planters' Bank v. Snodgrass, 4 How. (Miss.) 573; Forniquet r. West Feliciana R R Co., 6 How. (Miss.) 116; Killings-⁷ Ibid. In La Dow v. First Nat. worth v Commercial Bank of Rodney, Bank of New London, 51 Ohio St. 9 Smedes & Marsh. (Miss.) 628; Knox 234, it was held that a national bank c. Bank of United States, 4 Cushman located in that state might, since the (Miss.), 655; State r. Commercial Bank repeal of the statutes fixing the rate of Manchester, 4 George (Miss.), 474; of interest for banks of issue, reserve Bailey r. Murphy, Walker (Mich). and charge interest at the rate of 424; Farmers & Traders' Bank r. eight per cent. Shunk v. Bank, 22 Harrison, 57 Mo. 503; Lyon v. State

8 Murrah v. Branch Bank at Deca-

¹ Ibid.

⁹ Ibid.

⁴ Ibid.

⁸ Ibid.

⁴ Ibid.

clusions of the courts of certain states that national banks may charge as high a rate of interest as is allowed to either individuals or banks of issue in the various states of their organization; that in all states where there is a statute fixing a rate of interest, the only limitation upon this right must be found in the statute itself. The restriction contained in the National Banking Act, which forbade national banks to charge more than seven per cent interest only, became operative in the absence of state legislation on the subject. Wherever the state legislature has acted, the general grant of power to banks to charge whatever rate might be reserved by either citizens or banks of issue became operative. Under this construction thay said: "Banks in Colorado are placed on precisely the same footing as individuals. The legislative act on the subject fixed a rate, to wit, eight per cent, and further provided another rate of interest, which is determined by the agreement of the parties. That the legislature has failed to say the rate shall not exceed twelve per cent per annum, or five per cent per month, does not destroy the legal effect of the enactment, nor restrict its operations to other banks or citizens generally, nor make the case one where no rate of interest is named, whereby the federal limitation becomes operative. In common with these other courts, which have reached a similar conclusion, we hold that national banks in Colorado stand on the same footing in the matter of interest that other banks and individuals occupy."1

¹ Rockwell v. Farmers' Nat. Bank tional Banking Act, adjudged this of Longmont, (Colo. 1894) 36 Pac. admissible where a counterclaim was Rep. 905. The argument and reason- a proper method of defense, the quesing of the court, speaking through tion was settled adversely to the claim BISSELL, P. J., so fully explains the by the Supreme Court of the United leading decisions of the courts, fed- States. That court decided that, in eral and state, and is so exhaustive of suits upon notes where illegal interest the whole subject that it is deemed was reserved, a defense based upon worthy of a place in these notes. the reservation of the illegal interest It was said: "In reality the only ques- would simply limit the recovery to the tion involved is as to the right of a principal sum due. Barnet v. Bank, 98 national bank in Colorado to reserve U. S. 555; Driesbach v. Bank, 104 U. and receive, whether by way of loan S. 52. The sole remaining inquiry or discount, a greater rate of interest concerns the recovery of the thirtythan seven per cent. In no event one dollars included in the judgment could the sums paid by way of inter- by way of interest, according to the est, even though illegal, be applied to tenor of the note. The statutes in the reduction of the principal sum Colorado concerning interest have been due on the note. Though some states, in force ever since it was a state. The in the litigations arising on the Na- act has always provided a specific rate

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the third circuit has held that the purchase of accepted drafts by a national bank from the holder without his indorsement at a greater reduction than lawful interest on their face value, was a discounting of those drafts, within the meaning of Revised Statutes United cent, but the act regulating the mat- sented by way of defense to prevent ter has likewise contained a section the recovery of the stipulated interest, permitting parties to stipulate for any and likewise in actions brought to rate of interest and authorizing the recover the penalty of twice the interrecovery of the stipulated interest. est where the rate has been manifestly The National Banking Act, as amended illegal. Nevertheless, it remains true in 1864 (§§ 5197, 5198, U. S. Stats.), that the question as here presented in general provides that such bank- has never reached the Supreme Court ing associations may reserve and of the United States. The case relied receive any rate of interest allowed by on by the appellant, and which at first the law of the state wherein the bank blush would seem to sustain his conis organized. There was some con-tention, is Bank v. Johnson, 101 U.S. trariety of opinion among the state 271. This case went up on writ of courts as to the extent of the power error to the Court of Appeals of the conferred by these two sections and state of New York, and the federal concerning the proper construction of tribunal took jurisdiction because of the clause granting the banks the right the question involved. In support of to charge interest in those states where our position that this case is not decisone rate was prescribed for banks of ive of the present controversy, and in issue and another for persons gen-reality does not touch the principles settled by the Supreme Court of the what that case is, the point at issue, banks may charge either rate at their was a penal action against the bank, pleasure, selecting, if they choose, the brought originally by Johnson in the maximum. Tiffany v. Bank, 18 Wall. Supreme Court of New York to re-

of interest, which is now eight per forms, and the query has been preerally. This matter has likewise been under discussion, it is needful to state United States, which has held that the and other questions determined. This 409. None of these Supreme Court cover twice the interest alleged to decisions, however, touch the matter have been reserved and received by in issue, which is, are national banks the corporation in the business done in states having a statute upon the by the parties. Johnson insisted that subject of interest which fixes a rate, the bank was subject to the penaltics but likewise contains a provision au- and liable to the provisions of the statthorizing parties to stipulate as they ute respecting usury and interest in may choose respecting this matter, the state of New York, which, in genauthorized to contract like other citi- eral, provided that all usurious loans zens living within the sovereignty? should be absolutely void and the This question has not been settled, lender could recover neither principal The statute respecting national banks nor interest. On the other hand, the has been in force for upwards of bank insisted that, according to the thirty years, and considerable litiga- terms of the transaction, it was one tion has arisen on this particular ques- entirely analogous to the discount of tion. The suits have taken various paper by the bank where the note was

States, section 5197, which prohibits national banks from taking interest on any loan or discount made by them at a greater rate than is allowed by the laws of the state where they are situated; also, that the acceptor of drafts so purchased might defend against the recovery of interest thereon by the bank, under banks were entitled to reserve. The query.

made by A. to the order of B., who right of the general government to indorsed and sold it to the bank. It establish the system, delegate the must be remembered that these two power granted and impose restrictions propositions are dependent upon two on the banks organized under it were considerations. That respecting usury fully considered in the case of Bank v. is dependent upon positive statute; Dearing, 91 U.S. 29. It was there that respecting the law of discount is decided that these banks were part of a judicial declaration of the law, and the instruments adopted to aid in the is not a creature of legislative enact- administration of the government in ment. For more than half a century it one of its most important departhas been the law of New York that, in ments. The corollary was that the the matter of discount, banks were not states could exercise no control over amenable to the usury statute. It may them, nor in any wise affect their operseem like a judicial evasion of the law, ations, except in so far as power but in that mercantile community it might be granted by the act itself. has never been changed, the courts This principle compelled the court to holding in a case of that description conclude that the usury laws in New there are two contracts resulting from York, save in the particular referred the facts — the first, an executed con- to, neither controlled nor in any wise tract concluded by the indorsement affected Johnson's right of recovery. and delivery of the paper, whereby It was equally plain and so held by the title passes to the holder; the the court that the law declared in other, an executory agreement be- New York respecting the discount of tween the indorser and the indorsee, paper had neither force nor applicaoperative on the default of the maker. tion to the question at issue. In the Of course the two contracts are some- first place it was not a matter of posiwhat different in their limitations, tive statute respecting the subject of since in the one case the bank recovers interest, but was simply a judicial from the maker the amount of the note determination by the courts of New and the interest, and, in the other, the York that the discount of paper unsum loaned, which is treated as the der the circumstances suggested did consideration of the executory agree- not come within the purview of the Both these questions were usury statute. Since the statutes of resolved by the Court of Appeals in the state could only be resorted the negative, and their conclusion was to for the purpose of ascertainaffirmed by the Supreme Court. It ing what rate of interest national was decided that state statutes respect- banks might charge, manifestly the ing usury were not applicable to the decisions of the appellate courts of national banks, excepting in so far as that state respecting the matter of disthey might be examined to ascertain counts were of no consequence, and what rate of interest the national afforded no possible solution of the There was another equally scope of the Banking Act and the cogent reason, and one possibly more Revised Statutes United States, section 5198, which provides that the taking of an unlawful rate of interest shall be deemed a forfeiture of the entire interest which the "bill or other evidence of debt carries with it," as this provision destroys the interestbearing power of the instrument. Further, where the acceptor discounts on the same identical basis. This of itself would prevent the application of the New York doctrine, and the negative answer to the inquiry nal. These were the only questions in that litigation. It is true that, in the course of the discussion concerning this matter, the court suggested that, when no rate of interest was fixed by only charge seven per cent per annum. There are two reasons why that declaration by the court could not be taken individuals nor banks as decisive of the present inquiry. As demonstrated, the case under consideration did not come up from a state where there was no statute fixing a rate, nor from one where the law fixed the rate, but permitted any rate to be charged which might be agreed upon between the parties. It came from conclusive of the subject. The fed- were actions upon notes reserving ten eral statute itself, in section 5197, in- and twelve per cent interest, where the hibited national banks from reserving general rate was six, though the parties other than the permissible interest, by contract were authorized to charge whether it was done by way of loan at the rate of ten and twelve per cent or by way of discount. The positive per annum. It was conceded that six limitation of the section puts loans and was the general rate fixed by the statute, and that the other was totally dependent upon agreement of the parties; yet, the courts held that the national banks might reserve and regiven by the Court of Appeals was of ceive whatever interest was allowed necessity affirmed by the other tribu- by the law of the state regulating the matter. Wiley v. Starbuck, 41 Ind. 298; Newell v. Bank, 12 Bush, 57; Crocker v. Bank, 1 Thomp. Nat. Bank Cas. 317; s. c., Fed. Cas. No 3,397. It will be observed that in these cases the laws of the state, a bank could the rate was established by the law of the state, and there was a limit put by the same laws, beyond which neither could go. Within the limit, interest might be reserved. The courts, in reaching their conclusion, proceeded upon the hypothesis that, under the National Banking Act, the bank might charge any interest allowed by the laws of the state in which it was organized. even though the rate above six must be a state having one fixed rate of inter- the subject of convention, and, unless est, which, of course, under the fed- the limit were reached, the rate as a eral statute, would be conclusive upon rate would not be stated. This was the rights of a national bank. In the regarded as of no moment in the internext place, it was a statement argu- pretation of the statute. It is very endo, and could only be held to refer plain that if the bank had reserved to a case where the laws of the state nine per cent, while the respective were silent." The court then discussed limits were six and ten, an amount the state cases as follows: "Three of would have been charged in a case the cases presented the question in a where there was no definite legislation somewhat different aspect from the directly authorizing either the indione at bar, but one very illustrative vidual or the bank to charge nine per of this theory of construction. They cent, other than that flowing from the

of such drafts makes a payment to the bank without any direction as to its application, the payment cannot be applied to the forfeited interest, but must be credited on the face value of the drafts.1 The limitation of two years, within which an action, under the provisions of section 5198, Revised Statutes United States, may be commenced for the recovery from a national bank of twice the amount of money paid to it, dates from the actual payment of interest, and not from the bank's reservation of it from the original loan by way of discount.2

been expressly settled against the ap-Tex. 571; Hinds v. Marmolejo, 60 Cal v. Bank, (S D.) 57 N. W. Rep. 499."

legislation which made the matter of principal, or up to the time of enterinterest between two definite limits a ing judgments - there is a locus penisubject of convention. This distinct tentur for the party taking the excess tion does not seem of very much con- ive interest. Any time till then he sequence in the solution of the in- may consider the excessive interest quiry." "If it be true that, in a state paid on account of the loan, and so where interest may be the subject of apply it, and lessen the principal. Up an agreement, the bank may reserve to that time he may make this election. whatever the parties agree upon up to When payment is actually made, and a maximum, then all statutes reserv- if, as in these cases, judgment is ening the right of agreement of parties, tered for the face amount of the notes whether they name a maximum or not, or full amount of the loan, or payment must be equally effectual for the pur- is taken in full without any reduction poses of a grant of power. The defi- by taking out the excessive interest. nite question under consideration has the cause of action is complete. The original loans in these cases were more pellant in three different states. Na- than two years before these actions tional Bank of Jefferson r. Bruhn, 64 were brought, but the payment of one of the Villinger notes was made, and 229; Bank v. Stover, 60 Cal. 387, Guild the judgments on all the Duncan & Bros.' notes were entered, near the Danforth v. National State Bank time of bringing the suits, less than of Elizabeth, (1891) 48 Fed. Rep. 271. two years before. The payment and ² Smith v. First Nat. Bank of Crete, the judgment concluded the transac-(Neb. 1894) 60 N. W. Rep. 866, fol-tion, and determined their character to lowing Bank v. Smith, 36 Neb. 199; be usurious. Till that time it was uns c., 54 N. W. Rep. 254; followed in determined, and the statute did not Lanham v. First Nat. Bank of Crete, begin to run '" In the case of Bank v. (Neb. 1894) 60 N. W. Rep. 1041. The Davis, reported in Fed. Cas. No. court referred to the few cases bearing 10,038, is found the opinion of upon the subject in these words: "In GRESHAM, J., in which he quoted the Duncan v. Bank, 1 Thomp. Nat. Bank section of the National Banking Act Cases, 360; s. c., Fed. Cas. No. 4,135, with which we have to deal. * * * KETCHAM, J., instructed the jury as Having quoted this language, Judge "From the origin of the Gresham commented on it as follows: loan - from the retaining of the first "If a national bank discount a note at discount, through all the renewals, up a usurious rate of interest, paying the to the time of final payment of the borrower the proceeds less the inter-

§ 205. A bank's duty as to securities deposited with it.-The findings of the court in this case were that the owners of certain bonds first placed them for safe-keeping with a firm of bank-Afterwards they repeatedly asked for discounts of their notes by the bankers, offering them the bonds deposited with them as collateral, and the discounts were made. When the notes thus secured were paid the bankers called upon the owners of the bonds to know what they should do with them; they were informed that they were to hold them for the owners as previously. The owners had already written to the bankers that they desired to keep the bonds for an emergency, and also that they wished at times to overdraw their accounts, and that they vision in that part of the section above the amount of interest paid." cess of the lawful rate, but 'the entire 72 Pa. St. 209. interest which the note, bill or other

est, and suit be brought to recover the evidence of debt carries with it, or loan, and the borrower plead the which has been agreed to be paid usary, the bank will recover the face thereon,' must be held and adjudged of the note, less the entire interest to be forfeited. By the latter protaken out, received, or reserved, and vision, if usurious interest 'has been no more. It will thus collect the paid,' twice the amount of interest sum of money it actually paid out, may be recovered back from the asso being punished for receiving inter-ciation 'taking or receiving' it, proest in excess of the legal rate by vided the action therefor be comforfeiting all interest. But if the menced within two years from the note thus discounted be renewed for time the usurious transaction occurred the same amount, the borrower paying And, by construing the whole section usurious interest out of his pocket in together, we are inclined to believe advance, and suit be brought on the that, in case usurious interest has been renewed note, the defendant may re-received at the time of the loan or discoup double the amount of the entire count, there is left to the bank a locus interest actually paid on renewal, or, penitentia. In such case, the bank in an independent action of debt, he may, upon receiving payment of the may recover from the bank double the debt, discharge itself from all liability amount of the entire interest thus to the debtor by giving credit for the paid." In Higley v. First National amount of interest received; otherwise, Bank of Beverly, 26 Ohio St. 75, Mc- the debtor may insist upon a reduc-ILVAINE, J., on page 79 et seq., made tion of his indebtedness to the amount use of the following language, in actually loaned or advanced, or he may reference to that part of the section pay the whole claim, and afterwards. above referred to: "By the first pro- within two years, recover back twice quoted, if the contract or promise to Shinkle v. First National Bank of Rip pay usurious interest be unexecuted, ley, 22 Ohio St. 516, which supports it cannot be enforced, and in such case the above views. Other cases referred the debtor is released from the pay- to are Hall v. Bank, 30 Neb. 103; s. c., ment, not only of the interest in ex- 46 N. W. Rep. 150; Brown v. Bank, would consider the bonds as security for such overdrafts. The court was of opinion from these facts that the bonds were held by the bankers as collateral security to meet any sums which the owners of the bonds might overdraw, and the accounts showed that they did subsequently overdraw in numerous instances. These bonds were originally sold by the bankers to the owners and left with them for safe-keeping. An absconding cashier of the bankers had stolen the bonds, and the owners brought this action to recover the value of the bonds of the bankers. United States Supreme Court held that when bonds, originally deposited with the bankers for safe-keeping, were, by agreement of the bailors and bailees, made a standing security for the payment of loans to be made by the bank to the owners of the bonds. the bailees became bound to give such care to them as a prudent owner would extend to his own property of a similar kind.1

604, affirming the judgment in favor firm was not indebted to the bank subof the plaintiff rendered in Prather r. sequently to July, 1872, when it paid Kean, 29 Fed. Rep. 498. The court its last indebtedness; the bonds, howreferred to the following cases in sup- ever, were not then withdrawn, but port of their judgment, to wit: "In left in the bank under the original * * * Third National Bank v. Boyd, agreement. In August, 1872, the bank 44 Md. 47, it appeared that a firm was entered by burglars and certain of * * * a large customer of [the the bonds were stolen. In an action by bank | [on a certain date] was indebted the senior partner against the bank to to it in about five thousand dollars. recover the value of the bonds stolen Subsequently, the senior member of it was held: 'First, that the contract the firm, pursuant to an agreement be- entered into by the bank was not a tween him and the president of the mere gratuitous bailment. bank, deposited with the bank certain Third, that the original contract of bonds and stocks as collateral security bailment being valid and binding, the for the payment of all obligations of obligation of the bank for the safe cushimself and of the firm then existing tody of the deposit did not cease when or that might be incurred thereafter, the plaintiff's debt had been paid. with the understanding that the right Fourth, that the defendant was responto sell the collaterals in satisfaction of sible if the bonds were stolen in consuch obligations was vested in the of- sequence of its failure to exercise such ficers of the bank. Some of the bonds care and diligence in their custody and were subsequently withdrawn and keeping as at the time banks of comothers deposited in their places. While mon prudence in like situation and these collaterals were with the bank business usually bestowed in the cusing an average of about four thousand belonging to themselves: that the cure

¹ Preston v. Prather, (1891) 137 U.S. three to fifteen thousand dollars. The the firm kept a deposit account, hav- tody and keeping of similar property dollars, and from time to time, as it and diligence ought to have been such needed, obtained on the security of as was properly adapted to the preserthe collaterals discounts ranging from vation and protection of the property,

8 206. The rights of a bank as to securities pledged to it. -In this case it appeared that an agent, in pursuance of his principal's instructions, loaned money on pledges of personal property for which property he took warehousing receipts in his name as "agent." He then pledged these warehousing receipts to a bank to secure his individual debts to the bank, the latter having knowledge of the business relations between this agent and his principal and the operations in which they were engaged. The bank afterwards sold the goods represented by these warehousing receipts and applied the money to the payment of the debts of the agent who had pledged them to it. This action was brought by the owner, the principal of the pledgor, for the recovery of their value from the bank. The United States Circuit Court for the district of Maryland held that the knowledge above referred to, together with the use of the word "agent" on the receipts, was sufficient to put the bank upon inquiry, and it was liable to the principal for the amount realized by it from the sale of the goods.1 The bank contended that the agent having gence have been exercised by a bank in the custody of bonds deposited with of fact exclusively within the province of the jury to decide.' In * 3 5 Cutting v. Marlor, 78 N. Y. 454, it appeared that the defendant, as collateral security for a loan made to him by a bank, delivered to it certain securities, which were taken and converted by the president to his own use. In an left the entire management of its business with the president and assistant. styled manager; that they received the statements of the president without and should have been proportioned to and made no examination of the secu the consequences likely to arise from rities, and exercised no care or diliany imprudence on the part of the de- gence in regard to them, also, that the fendant. Fifth, that the proper meas- president had been in the habit of ab ure of damages was the market value stracting securities and using them in of the bonds at the time they were his private business, most of them be stolen. Whether due care and dili- ing returned when called for; and that the manager, who had knowledge of this habit, did not take any means to it as collateral security, is a question prevent it, nor did he notify the trus tees. It was held that the bank was chargeable with negligence, and that the defendant was entitled to counterclaim the value of the securities; that the bailment was for the material benefit of the parties; that the bailer was bound, for the protection of the property, to exercise ordinary care, and was action by the receiver of the bank to liable for negligence affecting the recover the amount loaned, it was safety of the collaterals, distinguishing found that the trustees of the bank the case from the liability of a gru tuitious bailee, which arises only where there has been gross negligence on his part."

¹ Thurber v. Cecil National Bank. question or examination; that they had (1892) 52 Fed. Rep. 513. See as auno meetings pursuant to the by-laws, thority for this rule National Bank v.

authority to sell and the provisions of certain statutes of Maryland relieved it from liability. The court held that the fact that the agent had authority to sell did not affect the duty of the bank to make inquiry, as authority to sell did not include authority to pledge, nor was the bank excused from liability by the Maryland Factors' Act (Code, art. 2), providing that any person intrusted with storekeeper's certificates or other similar documents showing possession may pledge the goods to anybody who is without notice that such person is not the actual owner, the word "agent" in the receipts and the circumstances charging the bank with notice; nor by article 14 of the Maryland Code, declaring storage receipts to be negotiable instruments in the same manner as bills of lading and promissory notes; for when the fiduciary character of the holder is expressed on the face of a negotiable instrument notice is thereby given to the indorser that the holder prima facie has no right to pledge. In this case the plaintiff's action was for certain coupon railroad mortgage bonds which it was claimed the bank became wrongfully and illegally possessed of. Plaintiff, the owner of these bonds, had placed them with certain brokers to cover margins in transactions in the purchase of stocks by them on his account. These brokers, keeping a regular account with the bank in their usual course of business, had placed these bonds with other securities as collateral with the bank under an agreement to this effect: "We hereby agree with the St. Nicholas National Bank of New York, in the city of New York, that in case we shall become or be at any time indebted to said bank for money lent or paid to us or for our account or use, or for any overdraft, in any sum or amount then due and payable, the said bank may, in its discretion, sell at the brokers' board or at public auction or private sale, without advertising the same, and without notice to us, all, any and every collateral securities, things in action and property held by said bank for securing the payment of such debt, and apply the proceeds to the payment of such indebtedness, the interest thereon, and the expenses of sale,

Insurance Co., 104 U. S. 54; Duncan lon v. Insurance Co., 44 Md. 386.

¹ Ibid. In support of these rules see v. Jaudon, 15 Wall. 165; Warner v. Allen v. St. Louis Bank, (1887) 120 U. Martin, 11 How. 225; Taliaferro v. S. 20, 32; s. c., 7 Sup. Ct. Rep. 460; Bank, 71 Md. 208; s. c., 17 Atl. Rep. Kinder v. Shaw, 2 Mass, 398, Phillips 1086; Lowry v. Bank, Taney, 310; v. Huth, 6 Mees. & W. 572, 596; Cole v. Shaw v. Spencer, 100 Mass. 382; Dil- North Western Bank, L. R., 10 C. P. 354, 363.

holding ourselves responsible and liable for the payment of any deficiency that shall remain unpaid after such application." The bank paid and advanced for these brokers on the faith of the bonds and other securities large sums of money. The brokers failed in business, and owed the bank a large sum for checks certified by it and outstanding, and for money paid by it up to the close of the business a few days before their failure. There was no notice or claim as to the ownership of the bonds involved by the alleged owner until two weeks after the failure of his brokers. The bank in good faith and on the best available terms made sale of the bonds and other securities and credited its depositors, the brokers, with the proceeds, which left a small deficiency which it never received. This case was tried on a circuit of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, and the plaintiffs asked the court to direct a verdict against the bank and in their favor on the ground that the certification of the checks by the bank was void, because it was unlawful, being a certification of checks drawn by the brokers when they had no money on deposit to their credit with the bank, and the bank could not hold the bonds as against such unlawful certification, and on the further ground that the bank did not take the bonds in the ordinary course of business. The trial court refused and directed a verdict for defendant. Exceptions to this judgment came before the Supreme Court in General Term, and the court denied a motion of plaintiffs for a new trial with an order that the defendant have judgment against the plaintiffs upon the verdict with costs.1 The case was carried to the United States Supreme Court.

.

¹ Thompson v. St. Nicholas National would defeat the very policy of an act Bank, (1888) 47 Hun. 621; affirmed in intended to promote the security and Thompson v. St. Nicholas National strength of the national banking sys-Bank, (1889) 113 N. Y. 325, in which tem, if its provisions should be so concase RUGER, Ch. J., remarked: "That strucd as to inflict a loss upon the the statute of the United States af- banks and a consequent impairment of firmed the validity of the contract of their financial responsibility." The certification, and expressly provided court then cited to support that view the consequences which should follow National Bank v. Matthews, 98 U.S. its violation; that the penalty incurred 621; National Bank r. Whitney, 103 was impliedly limited to a forfeiture U. S. 99, and National Bank of Xenia of the bank's charter and the winding v. Stewart, 107 U. S. 676. It was up of its affairs; that it was thus further said "that the statute in quesclearly implied that no other conse-tion had no application to the question quences were intended to follow a involved in this suit, which concerned violation of the statute; and that it only the relations between [the brokers] on a writ of error, there being a federal question involved, the construction and effect upon this contract of the United States Revised Statutes, section 5208, providing: "It shall be unlawful for any officer, clerk or agent of any national bank to certify any check drawn upon said bank, unless the person or company drawing said check shall have on deposit in said bank at the time such check is certified an amount of money equal to the amount specified in such check; and any check so certified by duly authorized officers shall be a good and valid obligation against such bank; and any officer, clerk or agent of any national bank violating the provisions of this act shall subject such bank to the liabilities and proceedings on the part of the comptroller as provided for in [the section of an act, the provisions of which were

and the [bank]; that by the deposit of brokers]; that the fact that the [bank], the bonds the former secured the in connection with the agreement to promise of the [bank] to protect their pay such checks, had also promised checks of a certain day for a specified third parties to pay them, could not amount; that the certification of the invalidate the liability previously inchecks was entirely aside from the curred, or impair the security which agreement between [the brokers] and had previously been given to the the [bank], and was a contract be- [bank] upon a valid consideration; that tween the [bank] and the anticipated the fact of the certification was entirely holders of the checks; that [the immaterial in respect to the liability brokers] had received the considera- incurred by [the brokers] to the [bank]. tion of their pledge when the [bank] that there was no evidence impairing agreed with them to honor their checks, the title to the bonds acquired by the and that would have been equally [bank] through the transfer of them effectual between the parties without to it by [the brokers]; that the purpose any certification; that the certification for which the bonds were transferred was simply a promise to such persons by [their original owner] to [the as might receive the checks that they brokers | contemplated their transfer should be paid on presentation to the and sale by the latter to third persons; [bank], in accordance with its previ- that the [bank] acquired a valid title ous agreement with [the brokers]; that to them by their transfer to it; that the legal effect of the agreement was the transaction between [the brokers] that the [bank] should loan a certain and the [bank] was in the ordinary amount to [the brokers], and would course of business pursued by the pay it out on their checks to the per- latter; that it received the bonds in sons holding such checks; that it was good faith for a valuable consideration, entirely legal for the [bank] to con- and within all the authorities this gave tract to pay [the brokers'] checks, and it a good title to the bonds; that it was it did not affect the legality of that authorized to deal with them for the transaction that the [bank] also repre- purpose of effecting the object for sented to third parties that it had made which they were transferred to it; that such agreement, nor could any other its right to hold the bonds continued party standing in the shoes of [the so long as any part of its debt against that the comptroller of the currency might forthwith appoint a receiver to wind up the affairs of the banking association]." The Supreme Court affirmed the decision of the New York Court of Appeals.1 In this case a national bank in a failing condition, while being pressed by its customers, remitted securities in the form of bills of exchange, notes, etc., to a large amount to its correspondent bank in another city, on which it asked advances or loans for its relief and also authorized the holding of these securities as collatorals to protect against its overdrafts. The failing bank finally succumbed to the pressure, and was placed in the hands of a receiver. The receiver brought action against the bank holding these securities, claiming a right to their possession in himself as assets of the bank. The contention on the part of the receiver was that the United States Revised Statutes, secthorized to recover possession of created. them."

Bank, (1892) 146 U.S. 240. Justice BLATCHFORD, for the court, debt to it of [the brokers] should be the forbidden certification.

the brokers remained unpaid; that pressly provides that a check certified the [original owner] could at any time by a duly authorized officer of the have established his equitable right to bank, when the customer has not on a return of the bonds, and could have deposit an amount of money equal to procured their surrender by paying the amount specified in the check the amount for which they were certified, shall nevertheless be a good pledged, but he refrained from doing and valid obligation against the bank, so, and impliedly denied any right in and there is nothing in the statute the [bank] by demanding the uncon- which, expressly or by implication, ditional surrender of the bonds, and prohibits the bank from taking that he never became entitled to such security for the protection of its surrender, and of course was not au- stockholders against the debt thus There is no prohibition against a contract by the bank for ¹Thompson v. St. Nicholas National security for a debt which the statute Mr. contemplates as likely to come into existence, although the unlawful act approved the views of the New York of the officer of the bank in certifying Court of Appeals as sound and as may aid in creating the debt. In covering the case. He then said: order to adjudge a contract unlawful, "The agreement [before referred to] as prohibited by a statute, the probetween [the brokers] and the [bank] hibition must be found in the statute. did not call for any act violating the The subjection of the bank to the statute. There was nothing illegal in penalty prescribed by the statute for providing that the securities which its violation cannot operate to destroy the bank might hold to secure the the security for the debt created by available to make good such debt. [original owner] had pledged the The statute does not declare void bonds to the [bank], he could not, after a contract to secure a debt arising on receiving [the bank's] money, have the certificates which it prohibits. replevied the bonds; and after pos-In addition to that, the statute ex- session of the bonds had been given tion 5242, which prohibits all transfers by any national banking association after the commission of an act of insolvency, or in contemplation thereof, with a view to the preference of one creditor to another, had been violated by the insolvent bank, and that the correspondent bank had, therefore, no title in or lien upon the securities which it held. WALLACE, J., of the United States Circuit Court for the southern district of New York, held that the statute was directed to preference, not to the giving of a security when a debt is created; and if the transaction be free from fraud in fact, and is intended merely to adequately protect a loan made at the time, the creditor can retain property transferred to secure such a loan until the debt is paid, though the debtor is insolvent, and the creditor has reason at the time to believe that to be the certifications.

by him to [the brokers], and after they money which they might have dehad been subsequently taken by the posited to meet the checks. More-[bank] in good faith, neither he, nor over, it has been held repeatedly by his executors can set up the statute to this court that where the provisions of destroy the debt This construction the National Banking Act prohibit cerof the statute in question is strength- tain acts by banks or their officers, ened by the subsequent enactment, without imposing any penalty or formaking it a criminal offense in an teiture applicable to particular transofficer, clerk or agent of a national actions which have been executed, bank to violate the provisions of the their validity can be questioned only act. [Rev. Stats. U. S. § 5208, to by the United States, and not by wit. Act July 12, 1882, § 13, c. private parties. National Bank .. 288, 22 Stats. at Large, 166.] This Matthews, 98 U S. 621; National shows that congress only intended to Bank r. Whitney, 103 U.S. 99, impose, as penaltics for over certifying National Bank of Xenia n Stewart, checks, a forfeiture of the franchises 107 U S. 676. The bonds in question of the bank and a punishment of the came into the possession of the [bank] delinquent officer or clerk, and did before it certified the checks. They not intend to invalidate commercial were not pledged to it under any transactions connected with forbidden agreement or knowledge on its part, As the |bank| was or in fact on the part of |the brokers], bound to make good the checks to the that subsequent certificates would be holders of them, because the act made. The certificates were made [heretofore referred to] declares that after the pledge and created a debt of the checks shall be good and valid [the brokers], which arose after the obligations against the [bank], it fol-pledge. The agreement [at the time lows that [the brokers] were bound to of depositing the collaterals] applied make good the amounts to the | bank]. and became operative simultaneously It necessarily results that the [bank], with the certifications, but independin paying the checks, was as much ently of them, as a legal proposition. entitled to resort to the securities In Logan County Bank v. Townsend, which [the brokers] had put into its 139 U.S. 67, 77, decided in March, hands, as it would have been to apply 1891, after the present case was defact. In the same case the correspondent bank insisted that it acquired a banker's lien upon the securities for the amount of any balance upon its general account with the insolvent bank which remained unpaid. But the court held that a banker's lien for the amount of the balance of its general account does not exist when the securities have been deposited with the bank for a special purpose or for the payment of a particular loan.3

of by the debtor, but 'only laid the comes unsuccessful." institution open to proceedings by the conferred by law."

cided by the Court of Appeals of New The best managed institutions are York, this court approved the decision liable to such contingencies, and the in National Bank c. Whitney, 103 U. right to use their assets in an honest S. 99, and said that a disregard by a attempt to bridge over such a crisis is national bank of the provisions of the indispensable to their safety. Obvi act of congress forbidding it to taken ously the exercise of this right would mortgage to secure an indebtedness be impracticable if the pledge becomes then existing, as well as future ad-void whenever the attempt of the vances, could not be taken advantage bank to rescue itself from failure be-

² Armstrong v. Chemical National government for exercising powers not Bank, (1890) 41 Fed. Rep. 234. WAL-LACE, J., said: "It is familiar law Armstrong r. Chemical National that a banker has a lien upon all funds Bank, (1890) 41 Fed. Rep. 2:14. It was and securities in his possession, desaid by the court: "The naked fact that posited with him in the usual course the Fidelity Bank was insolvent at the of business by a customer to facilitate time it sent the securities to the de- the financial transactions contemplated fendant does not imply that the trans- between them, which extends to the fer of the securities was made in con-payment of any balance on general templation of insolvency, or with a account. The lien arises from the imview of a preference of the defendant plied understanding of the parties that over its other creditors. Although, in credit is to be given in the course of the light of subsequent events, the dealings between them by the lanker Fidelity Bank was insolvent, it may to the customer upon the faith of the be that its insolvency was not sus- securities. It is equally familiar law pected by its officers. So far as ap- that the lien does not exist when the pears no act of insolvency had been securities have been deposited for a committed. A bank is not in con- special purpose, or for the payment of templation of insolvency until the a particular loan; and where they are fact becomes reasonably apparent to delivered specifically to protect the its officers that it will presently be un- banker in a particular transaction, or able to meet its obligations, and will series of transactions, he has no lien be obliged to suspend its ordinary ob- upon them for any other purpose, and ligations. Roberts v. Hill, 24 Fed. cannot assert one for any other in-Until this condition of debtedness whether arising affairs exists, certainly a national bank- general account or otherwise. This ing association does not violate the doctrine has recently been reiterated statute by pledging its securities to a and applied by the Supreme Court in reasonable amount to raise money Reynes v. Dumont, 130 U. S. 354; s. c., needed to meet an unexpected run. 9 Sup. Ct. Rep. 486. That was a case

§ 297. Personal guaranty of a bank by stockholders and directors.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the fifth circuit has held that a personal guaranty given by stockholders and directors of a bank to another bank in consideration of "loans, discounts or other advances to be made," for the repayment of any indebtedness thus created, imposed a liability on the guaranters when acted on by the guarantee, though no notice of acceptance of the guaranty was given, the contract showing a personal interest of the guarantors in the advances, constituting a consideration moving to them.1

§ 298. Misrepresentations by a bank as to solvency of a customer.— A state bank having loaned large sums of money to a manufacturing corporation upon representations made to it by a national bank through its cashier as to the good standing, etc., of the corporation, which were not repaid to the bank by reason of the insolvency of the corporation, brought its action against the national bank to recover damages for what it alleged security for general transactions, and bank to be insolvent at the time." that the loans subsequently made upon with the existence of a general lien. case and a statement of their doctrine. If the sending of the securities [in this in which securities consisting of two case] had resulted, either in consehundred and seventy-five thousand quence of a subsequent express condollars of municipal bonds had been tract, or in consequence of any imleft by one banking firm with another plication from the nature of the transfor a period of two years and a half, action, in giving the defendant a lien during which large transactions on for the antecedent indebtedness of the general account took place between [insolvent] bank, it is extremely them; various loans were made to the doubtful whether the transaction could former by the latter upon an express be upheld. The cases of Bank v. pledge of the bonds, and the former, at Colby, 21 Wall. 609, and Bank v. the request of the latter, had also ob- Butler, 129 U.S. 223; s. c., 9 Sup. Ct. tained various loans of other bankers Rep. 281, take a view of the statute by pledging so many of the bonds as which suggests that no preference can was necessary in the particular trans- be obtained by one creditor of a naaction. The court found as a fact that tional bank over another, after the the bonds were left with the banking bank has become insolvent, whether firm originally as collateral for a par- obtained with the consent of or by ticular loan; that there was no express adversary proceedings against the understanding between the two bank- bank and whether the creditor has or ing firms that they were to stand as a has not any reason to suppose the Doud v. National Park Bank of them were specific loans accompanied New York, (1893) 54 Fed. Rep. 846 by an express pledge, and held that See Davis c. Wells, 104 U. S. 159, for these circumstances were inconsistent a review of the precedents in such were fraudulent misrepresentations as to the standing, etc., of the corporation. Different defenses were made by the bank to this suit. Among others, it contended that neither the bank itself nor its cashier had power to make such representations as were made concerning the standing or credit of the corporation. United States Circuit Court for the district of Oregon held that the national bank was liable for fraudulent representations made by it through its cashier to the other bank as to the financial responsibility of its customer.1 There was a contention in this case, the letter containing the misrepresentations as to the credit of the corporation seeking loans being signed simply by the cashier of the national bank sucd, that the action upon the representation was barred by the Statute of Frauds. The provision in the Code of Oregon, in substance a reproduction of Lord Ten-TERDEN'S act (9 Geo. IV, chap. 14, § 6), was as follows: "No evidence is admissible to charge a person upon representation as to the credit, skill or character of a third party unless such representation or a memorandum thereof be in writing and either subscribed by or in the handwriting of the party to be charged." Under this contention arose the question whether the letter as written and signed by the cashier of the national bank was the

which they are guilty, and in such 258.

¹ Nevada Bank of San Francisco v. case the doctrine of ultra vives has no Portland Nat. Bank, (1893) 59 Fed. application. Corporations are liable Rep. 338. Gilbert, Circuit Judge, for the acts of their servants while ensaid: "The defendants contend that gaged in the business of their employthe defendant bank, which is a na- ment in the same manner and to the tional bank, had not the power to as- same extent that individuals are lighter sume a liability for its own error or under like circumstances.' In Bank mistake in certifying to the financial r. Graham, 100 U.S. 609, 702, the standing of a customer seeking credit court said: 'An action may be main at another bank. It must be conceded tained against a corporation for its mathat it had not the power to assume licious or negligent torts, however such liability ex contractu, but in the foreign they may be to the object of case of a tort committed by the bank its creation, or beyond its granted or its officers a different principle is powers. It may be sued for assault applied. In such a case it is the rule and battery, for fraud and deceit, for that the corporation is liable for the false imprisonment, for malicious negligence or other tort of its agents prosecution, for nuisance and for and servants, even when performing libel." The same doctrine is applied acts that are ultra vires. In the case in the cases of Railrond Co. r. Derby, of Merchants' Bank v. State Bank, 10 14 How. 468; Railroad Co. r. Quigley, Wall. 604, the court said: 'Corpora- 21 How. 202; Etting c. Bank, 11 Wheat. tions are liable for every wrong of 59; Bissell r. Railroad Co., 22 N. Y. letter of the bank and the signature the signature of the bank within the meaning of this statute. The court held that it was.1

ten to the manager of a bank, request- tion of its provisions. the company through one of its public instruments in writing. resentation was made by Goddard him- ture of the bank."

¹ Nevada Bank of San Francisco v. self of matters as to which he was Portland Nat. Bank, (1893) 59 Fed. pledging his personal knowledge only. Rep. 338. GILBERT, Circuit Judge, Upon this ground the decision was arguendo, said: "It is argued that the concurred in by the remainder of the signature of the cushier of the defend- court. No American case is found ant bank, attached to the letters, is not which covers the point in question, but the signature of the bank. The Eng- the tendency of the decisions in the lish case of Swift v. Jewsbury, L. R., 9 states in which Lord Tenterden's act Q. B. 301, decided in 1874, is relied upon has been adopted has been to modify as giving that interpretation to the stat- the protection which the statute affords ute. In that case a letter had been writ- to fraud by enforcing a strict construcing his opinion of the standing of one Sprague, 51 Mich. 41; s. c., 16 N. W. who was seeking credit. The answer Rep. 222; Hodgin r. Bryant, 114 Ind. was signed 'J. B. Goddard, Manager.' 401; s. c., 16 N. E. Rep. 815. * * * The banking company had no knowl- A corporation can sign instruments in edge that such letter had been written, writing only by an officer or officers and gave the manager no express au- empowered so to do. In the usual thority to write the same. The com- course of the corporation's business pany was not a corporation. It was a the act of signing is not the act of an copartnership, with certain privileges agent but the act of the corporation conferred by statute. It could sue and itself. While formal documents are be sued only in the name of one of its usually signed by the president and public officers, and its members could secretary, and further authenticated not be made liable in respect to trans- by the corporate seal, the corporaactions with the company until a judg-tion may, nevertheless, empower any ment had first been obtained against officer to execute deeds or other officers. The decision of the Court of ing corporations, most instruments in Queen's Bench was that the signature writing issued or indorsed by the bank of Goddard, the manager, was in fact are signed by the cashier. The letters and law the signature of the banking of the bank, in its usual correspondcompany; but upon appeal to the dence about business are often, if not Court of Exchequer, Lord Coleridge generally, signed by him. In Morse was of the opinion that the signature on Banks and Banking (§ 162) it to the document upon which the bank is said that it is the special duty of the was sought to be held liable was not cashier to conduct the correspondence signed by the party to be charged, and of the bank. The name of the defenddid not come within the terms of the ant bank stands at the head of both statute. Instead of basing the decis- letters referred to in the complaint, ion upon that view of the law, how- and both are signed by the cashier, and ever, he held that the decision of the his official title is appended. The ques-Queen's Bench should be reversed upon tion is not free from doubt, but I am the ground that upon the language of inclined to the view that in a document the correspondence there was no inten- of this kind, written under the circumtion to consult the bank, but rather stances detailed in the complaint, the the manager thereof; and that the rep- signature of the cashier is the signa-

CHAPTER X.

OFFICERS OF BANKS.

- Directors their powers and | § 308. 8 299. duty.
 - Jurisdiction of state courts in 300. cases of directors of national banks violating their duty.
 - Jurisdiction of courts of equity in such cases.
 - Statutory liability of direct-302. ors of national banks actions to enforce it -- rules.
 - President his power and 303.
 - 304. President's acts binding on bank - illustrations.
 - 305. President's acts not binding on bank - illustrations.
 - When a bank is not charge-306. with constructive notice and knowledge of its president.
 - 307. Cashier his power and duty.

- Cashier's liability for his acts. Knowledge of its cashier not 309. imputable to bank-illus
 - trations. 310. Rules as to ratification of a cashier's act by the bank,
- 311. Act of cashier binding on bank.
- 312. Promise by cashier to pay draft of a customer to be drawn at a future daynot binding on the bank.
- 313. Estoppel of a bank to deny the validity of an act of its eashier in drawing drafts on its correspondent and fraudulently indorsing them.
- 314. Teller and bookkeeper --- their powers and duties.
- § 200. Directors their powers and duty. Directors of a bank may authorize one of their number to assign any securities belonging to the corporation.1 The directors of a bank have authority to settle with its eashier, where his accounts exhibit a deficiency in the funds; and, if the directors be guilty of fraudulent conduct in the settlement made with him, the settlement would still be valid, where the cashier is not shown also to be guilty of fraud.2 But if the cashier be guilty of fraud in connection with the settlement, the bank will not be concluded by it.8 Directors of a bank have no authority to allow overdrafts.4 The giving of compensation to a director by the board of direct-
- (1874) 11 Mass, 288.
- Me. 490.
 - 8 Ibid.
- * Market Street Bank v. Stumpe, 13 Smedes & Marsh. (Miss.) 649. (1876) 2 Mo. App. 545. As to powers
- ¹ Northampton Bank v. Pepoon, of the directors of a bank, see Harper r. Calhoun, 7 How. (Miss.) 203; State Frankfort Bank v. Johnson, 24 v. Commercial Bank of Manchester, 6 Smedes & Marsh. (Miss.) 218; Commercial Bank of Manchester v. Bonner.

ors of a bank for extra services, though unlawful, will not expose the directors to liability if done in good faith and with the purest intention to benefit the bank. A director of a bank receiving his compensation provided by law as a director cannot contract with the board of directors while he continues a member for compensation for extra services.2 But a board of directors of a bank may compensate a member of the board for services rendered to the bank prior to his membership.8 Where a director of a bank has received money by order of its board of directors, which is unauthorized by law, it may be recovered by the bank as so much received to its use.4 A bank will be affected with the knowledge of one of its directors, who acts for it in discounting a note, that the note was procured by fraud. Where the director having knowledge of the character of negotiable paper discounted by a bank simply recommends its discount, the bank will not be charged with his knowledge if the director does not control its discretion or discount the paper himself as an officer or agent of the bank.6 The directors of banks are bound to constant activity and thorough acquaintance with the daily course of affairs and dealings of the institution. They are bound, in the absence, illness or negligence of the cashier, to perform any duty which belongs to him, and it is their duty to see that the duty is performed. They are bound in law to know the securities of the bank, its bills payable and bills receivable, maturity of its paper

¹ Godbold r. Branch Bank at Mobile, 11 Ala. 191.

^{(1845) 7} Ala. 107.

bile v. Scott, (1845) 7 Ala. 107.

⁴ Branch Bank at Mobile v. Collins. ings Bank v. Chase, 72 Me. 226. (1845) 7 Ala. 95; Branch Bank at Mo- Shaw v. Clark, 49 Mich. 384. bile v. Scott. (1845) 7 Ala. 107.

⁵ Security Bank v. Cushman, (1877) 121 Mass. 490. Under what circum-² Branch Bank at Mobile v. Collins, stances a bank would not be affected (1845) 7 Ala. 95; Branch Bank at Mo- by the knowledge of one of its directbile v. Scott, (1845) 7 Ala. 107. Anor- ors in discounting a note, see Washder of a board of directors allowing ington Bank v. Lewis, (1839) 22 Pick. a compensation of $1,000 cash to the (Mass.) 24. When notice to a director members of the board constituting the of facts affecting paper offered for disreal estate committee, has been held to count is notice to the bank, see Clerks' be illegal and void in Branch Bank Savings Bank v. Thomas, (1876) 2 Mo. at Mobile r. Collins, (1845) 7 Ala. App. 367. As to a notice to a bank 95; Branch Bank at Mobile r. Scott, director, or knowledge obtained by him while not engaged either officially ³ Branch Bank at Mobile v. Collins, or as an agent or attorney in the busi-(1845) 7 Ala. 95; Branch Bank at Mo-ness of the bank, being inoperative as a notice to the bank, see Fairfield Savand who are the parties. And, in the absence of the cashier. they are bound to due diligence in perfecting the liability of all indorsers upon the paper of the bank.1 The doctrine, that the directors of a bank are conclusively presumed to know the financial condition of the bank, its general business and its receipts and expenditures as shown by its regular books, is for the protection of third parties dealing with the bank and of the bank against the prejudicial action of any director, and cannot be invoked to uphold a wrong appropriation of moneys by the cashier or other officer, which appropriation may be made and also entered upon the books of the bank without the actual knowledge of the directors.2 The sacrifice of the corporate property by officers of a bank for the purpose of passing a crisis in its affairs, can only be justified when the object is to protect the rights of the creditors and do equal justice to all the stockholders of the corporation. The act must not be for the exclusive benefit of a particular individual, especially if it be one to whom the management of the funds of the bank has been intrusted." Where the obligations for loans held by a bank against its direct ors exceeded the limit prescribed by law, and the cashier to reduce them procured notes to be made and indorsed for his accommodation, and had them substituted and absolutely exchanged for notes indersed by a director and discounted by the bank for his accommodation, the Supreme Court of New York held that the transaction, being in good faith and not a mere shift to present a temporary appearance of soundness, was legal and the new notes valid.4 Directors of a bank under the Maine statutes are liable to a creditor of the bank suffering certain losses growing out of the official mismanagement of the directors. These directors are personally responsible for the official mismanagement only which may have occurred during the year for which they were to have been chosen and during which they have acted.

¹ Lane v Bank of West Tennessee, the bank, see United Society of Shak-9 Heisk. (Tenn.) 419; Moses r. Ococe ers v. Underwood, (1873) 9 Bush (Ky.). Bank, 1 Lea (Tenn.), 398.

^a First National Bank v. Drake, (1888) 29 Kans. 811. As to the dilithem liable for special deposits lost by (1887) 6 Paige Ch. 497.

^{616,}

³ Gillet v. Moody, 3 N. Y. 479. ⁴ Senera County Bank v. Neass. gence required of directors of a bank (1848) 5 Denio, 329. As to loans of in acquiring knowledge of its business, bank funds to directors, see Bank and what negligence would render Commissioners r. Bank of Buffalo,

They are personally answerable for ordinary neglect in their official business. But one board of directors cannot be made to answer for renewals of worthless paper discounted by a previous board.1 In a rather recent case, an action by bill of the receiver of a national bank against its former directors and the representatives of such as were deceased, framed upon the theory of a breach by the defendants as directors "of their common-law duties as trustees of a financial corporation and of breaches of special restrictions and obligations of the National Banking Act," the questions of the management of the business of such institution and the liability of its directors have been fully considered in the main opinion by the majority of the Supreme Court of the United States, and the dissenting opinion of the minority. It appeared that the provisions of the by-laws were not observed. and that the management of the bank was left almost entirely to the officers. No exchange committee nor examination committee was appointed, and the meetings of the board were infrequent and perfunctory. For years prior to the failure, fourteen at least, the business of the bank had been conducted by the president. Fuller, Ch. J., speaking for the majority, said: "It is not contended that the defendants knowingly violated, or permitted the violation of, any of the provisions of the Banking Act, or that they were guilty of any dishonesty in administering the affairs of the bank, but it is charged that they did not diligently perform duties devolved upon them by the act. Our attention has not been called, however, to any duty specifically imposed upon the directors as individuals by the terms of the act, although if any director participated in or assented to any violation of the law by the board he would be individually liable. The corporation after the amendment of 1874 had power to carry on its business through its officers. And although no formal resolution authorized the president to transact the business, yet, in view of the practice of fourteen years or more, we think it must be held that he was duly authorized to do so. It does not follow that the

of a bank who may have allowed a (Pa.) 449.

 1 Bank Mutual Redemption r IIill, bank to be damaged by wrongful acts 56 Me 385. That directors of a bank, of its president, see Smith v Rathbun, after its insolvency, have no rights in 22 Hun, 150. As to liability of directequity to secure any advantage to ors of a bank to depositors for their themselves, see Roan v Winn, (1887) gross negligence and mismanagement, 93 Mo 503 Astoliability of directors see Adams v. Manning, 10 W. N. C.

executive officer should have been left to control the business of the bank absolutely and without supervision, or that the statute furnishes a justification for the pursuit of that course. Its language does enable individual directors to say that they were guilty of no violation of a duty directly devolved upon them. Whether they were responsible for any neglect of the board as such, or in failing to obtain proper action on its part is another question. Indeed, it is frankly stated by counsel that 'although special provisions of the statute are quoted and relied upon, these do not create the cause of action, but merely furnish the standard of duty and the evidence of wrong-doing,' and section 556 of Morawetz on Corporations is cited, which is to the effect that the liability of directors for damages caused by acts expressly prohibited by the company's charter or act of incorporation is not created by force of the statutory prohibition. The performance of acts which are illegal or prohibited by law may subject the corporation to a forfeiture of its franchises, and the directors to criminal liability, but this would not render them civilly liable for damages. The liability of directors to the corporation for damages caused by unauthorized acts rests upon the common-law rule which renders every agent liable who violates his authority to the damage of his principal. A statutory prohibition is material under these circumstances merely as indicating an express restriction placed upon the powers delegated to the directors when the corporation was formed.' It is perhaps unnecessary to attempt to define with precision the degree of care and prudence which directors must exercise in the performance of The degree of care required depends upon the subtheir duties. ject to which it is to be applied, and each case has to be determined in view of all the circumstances. They are not insurers of the fidelity of the agents whom they have appointed, who are not their agents, but the agents of the corporation, and they cannot be held responsible for losses resulting from the wrongful acts or omissions of other directors or agents, unless the loss is a consequence of their own neglect of duty, either for failure to supervise the business with attention or in neglecting to use proper care in the appointment of agents. Morawetz, § 551 et seq., and cases. Bank directors are often styled trustees, but not in any technical sense. The relation between the corporation and them is rather that of principal and agent, certainly so far as creditors are concerned, between whom and the corporation the relation is that of contract and not of trust. But, undoubtedly, under circumstances, they may be treated as occupying the position of trustees to cestui que trust." After referring to the cases cited below,1 the majority of the court applied, through the chief justice, these principles to the particular acts of particular ones of the directors charged in the bill with neglect and relieved them from liability as charged.2 Four of the justices, however, dissented as to the acts of several of the directors.8

Wakeman c. Dalley, 51 N. Y. 27.

S 109,

executive officers.

Percy v. Millaudon, 8 Mart. (N. what the latter do may bind the bank S.) (La.) 68; Spering's Appeal, 71 Pa. as between it and those dealing with St. 11; Citizens' Building Association such officers and agents. But the duty r. Coriell, 31 N. J. Eq. 383; Hodges r. remains, as between the directors and New England Screw Co., 1 R. I. 312; those who are interested in the bank. to exercise proper diligence and super-² Briggs r. Spaulding, (1891) 141 U. vision in respect to what may be done by its officers and agents. As to the 4 Ibid. Mr. Justice Harlan, speak-degree of diligence and the extent of ing for himself and Gray, Brewer supervision to be exercised by directand Brown, JJ., in the dissenting ors, there can be no room for doubt, opinion, presented their conclusions in under the authorities. It is such dilithese words: "We are of opinion that gence and supervision as the situation when the act of congress declared that and the nature of the business requires. the affairs of a national banking associ- Their duty is to watch over and guard ation shall be 'managed' by its direct- the interests committed to them. In fiors, and that the directors should take delity to their onths and to the obligaan oath to 'diligently and honestly ad- tions they assume, they must do all minister' them, it was not intended that reasonably prudent and careful that they should abdicate their func-men ought to do for the protection of tions and leave its management and the the interests of others intrusted to administration of its affairs entirely to their charge." The justice, in sup-True, the bank port of the conclusions of the mimay act by 'duly authorized officers or nority, quoted largely from many of agents,' in respect to matters of cur- the following cases, and cited the othrent business and detail that may be ers: Martin r. Webb, 110 U. S. 7; properly intrusted to them by the di- Cutting r. Marlor, 78 N. Y. 454; Presrectors. But, certainly, congress never ton r. Prather, 187 U. S. 604; Hun r. contemplated that the duty of direct- Cary, 82 N. Y. 65; Ackerman v. Halors to manage and to administer the sey, 37 N. J. Eq. 356; Halsey r. Ackaffairs of a national bank should be in erman, 38 N. J. Eq. 501; United Sociabeyance altogether during any period ety of Shakers r. Underwood, 9 Bush that particular officers and agents of (Ky.), 609; Horn Silver Co. v. Ryan, 42 the association are authorized or per- Minn, 196; United States v. Means, 42 mitted by the directors to have full Fed. Rep. 599; Delano v. Case, 121 control of its affairs. If the directors Ill. 247; Percy r. Millaudon, 8 La. of a national bank choose to invest its 568; Marshall r. F. & M. Savings officers or agents with such control, Bank of Alexandria, etc., 85 Va. 676;

§ 300. Jurisdiction of state courts in cases of directors of national banks violating their duty.—This being a case against the directors of a national bank which, being insolvent and in the hands of the receiver, defendant here, the demurrer to the bill challenged the jurisdiction of the state court. it was said: "The right of action is not, in our opinion, derived from the act of congress, but depends upon general principles of equity, but in any aspect of the case, the state courts have concurrent jurisdiction, unless exclusive jurisdiction has been conferred upon the United States courts. The jurisdiction of the state courts over actions against national banks is expressly recognized by the act, and such jurisdiction has been repeatedly exercised in actions by receivers to collect claims due to such banks. There can be no reason why civil actions brought by stockholders in place of the receiver, to enforce claims against delinquent directors or officers, should stand upon any different footing. The only cases in which exclusive jurisdiction is conferred, by the Banking Act, upon the courts of the United States, so far as we can find, are proceedings to enforce the forfeiture of the franchises of banking associations for violations of the act (§ 5239), and proceedings to enjoin the comptroller of the currency from winding up the corporation, through a receiver. There is nothing in the act which withdraws from the jurisdiction of the state courts civil actions to enforce rights of individuals against national banks or their officers.2 Criminal prosecutions for offenses created by the act stand upon a different footing. Exclusive jurisdiction in such cases is vested in the Circuit and District Courtof the United States by the Judiciary Act of 1789." As to parties, it was also said: "The bank was a proper and even necessary party defendant. Robinson v. Smith, 3 Paige, 222. It continued to be a corporation, notwithstanding the appointment of a receiver, and the receiver may bring action in its name. Pahquioque Bk. v. Bethel Bk., 36 Conn. 325; Kennedy v. Gibson, 5

L. R., 5 Ch. 763; Williams v. McKay, 40 N. J. Eq. 189.

¹ Citing Claffin v. Houseman, 93 U. bia Nat. Bank. 87 Pa. St. 87. S. 130; Robinson v. National Bank of Building Fund Trustees v. Bosseiux, Newberne, 81 N. Y. 385; National 8 Fed. Rep. 817; Charitable Corpora- Bank of Gloversville r. Wells, 79 N. tion v. Sutton, 2 Atk. 400; Land Y. 498; affirmed in the Supreme Court Credit Co. of Ireland v. Lord Fermoy, of the United States, January, 1882. ² Citing Cooke r. State Nat. Bank of Boston, 52 N. Y. 96; Bletz r. ColumWall. 506; Green v. Walkill Nat. Bk., 7 Hun, 63; City of Lexington v. Butler, 14 Wall. 283; Bank v. Kennedy, 17 Wall. 19. The receiver was also a necessary party, as it was through him that the amount which might be adjudged against the directors was to be collected and paid over. The presence of both of these parties was necessary to a final determination of the controversy." ¹

§ 301. Jurisdiction of courts of equity in such cases.— The New York Court of Appeals has sustained the jurisdiction of courts of equity of suits to enforce the liability of directors of corporations growing out of a violation of their duties in allowing or promoting the waste of corporate funds, for instance. Upon this subject RAPALLO, J., for the court, said: "The liability of directors of corporations for violations of their duty or breaches of the trust committed to them, and the jurisdiction of courts of equity to afford redress to the corporation, and in proper cases to its shareholders, for such wrongs exist independently of any statute. By the Revised Statutes of New York (2) R. S. 462) it is declared that the chancellor has jurisdiction over directors, managers and other trustees, and officers of corporations, and to compel them to account for their official conduct in the management and disposition of the funds and property committed to their charge, and to compel payment by them to the corporation whom they represent, of all sums of money, and the value of all property which they may have acquired to themselves or transferred to others, or may have lost or wasted by any violation of their duties as such trustees. These enactments are, however, merely declaratory of a jurisdiction long previously conceded to exist, both in this state and in England, and to them were added by further provisions of the Revised Statutes certain visitorial powers not before exercised by the Court of Chancery (except in cases of charitable bodies), viz., to restrain corporations from exceeding their corporate powers. This latter jurisdiction was that which the Court of Chancery disclaimed in the well-known case of The Attorney-General v. The Utica Ins. Co., 2 Johns. Ch. 389, with reference to which case the provisions of the Revised Statutes just referred to were framed. But, in that very case, jurisdiction in cases like the present was conceded to be inherent in the court, and in Robinson v. Smith, 3 Paige. 222, 233, the power is declared to exist independently of the provisions of the Revised Statutes, so far as the individual rights of stockholders are concerned, to call directors to account and make satisfaction for losses occasioned by breaches of their trust. This jurisdiction has been continually exercised in England and in this country, and is not of statutory origin. Angell & Ames on Corp. § 312, and cases cited." 1

¹ Brinkerhoff v. Bostwick, (1882) 88 N. Y. 52, 60, 61.

¹ Brinkerhoff v. Bostwick, (1882) long as they remained in office could 88 N. Y. 52, 58, 59. Brinckerhoff v. Bostwick, (1885) 99 N. case the corporation cannot sue, bebe brought, it was said in Brinker- transferred by operation of law to the hoff c. Bostwick, 88 N. Y. 53: "The receiver. He certainly is not a proper action to recover such losses, as before person to whom to intrust the conduct tion, but, if it refuses to prosecute, the of the currency direct him so to do, stockholders, who are the real parties for he is one of the parties charged made the defendants in the suit. See of form. Heath v. Erie Railway Co., 8 Blatchf. Railway Co., 8 Blatchf, 847.

See, also, set them at defiance. In the present As to how such actions may cause all its rights of action have been should in general be of the action, even did he consent to brought in the name of the corpora- institute it, or should the comptroller in interest, will be permitted to sue in with misconduct and against whom a their own names, making the corpora-remedy is sought. It necessarily foltion a defendant. Greaves v. Gouge, lows that the shareholders must be And that course of permitted to sue in their own names, proceeding is also allowed if it ap- or the wrongs complained of must go pears that the corporation is still under without redress, and substantial the control of those who must be rights be sacrificed to a mere matter The shareholders are the Butts v. Wood, 37 N. Y, 317; Robin- parties whose interests are involved in son v. Smith, 8 Paige, 222. In such the proceeding. If conducted in the cases a demand upon the corporation name of the corporation or the reto bring the suit would be manifestly ceiver, it would be as their representafutile and unnecessary. A suit prose- tive and for their benefit; and when, cuted under the direction and control as in this case, sufficient reasons are of the very parties against whom the shown why it cannot be effectually misconduct is alleged, and a recovery prosecuted in that form, the right of is sought, would scarcely afford to the shareholders to sue in their own the shareholders the remedy to which names is sanctioned by principle and they are entitled, and the fact that the precedent. Where the shareholders delinquent parties are still in control are numerous, the suit may be brought of the corporation is of itself sufficient by one or more in behalf of all." to entitle the shareholders to sue in Butts v. Wood, 37 N. Y. 317; Robintheir own names. Hodges v. New son v. Smith, 8 Paige, 222; Hichens v. England Screw Co., 1 R. I. 312; Congreve, 4 Russ. 562; Heath v. Erie 847. If they could not be permitted than sixty years ago Chancellor in such cases to assert their own rights Walworth, of the Court of Chancery in a court of equity, the directors so of New York, referring to the allega-

§ 302. Statutory liability of directors of national banks actions to enforce it - rules - The personal liability of directors of a national bank for violation of the Revised Statutes of the United States, section 5204, by declaring dividends in excess of net profits, and of section 5200 for loaning to separate persons, firms or corporations amounts exceeding one-tenth of the capital stock, cannot be enforced in an action at law. 1 Under the Revised Statutes of the United States, section 5239, providing that, if the directors of a national bank shall violate any of the provisions of the title relating to the organization and management of banks, the franchises of the bank shall be forfeited, such violation, however, to be determined by a proper court of the United States in

WORTH, the Court of Appeals has liability of directors. erty and effects of the bank to be 497. stolen, wasted and squandered; with

tions of the bill before him said: "If negligently permitting various persons [they] are true, there is no doubt that and corporations who were insolvent the directors of this company were and irresponsible to overdraw their quilty of a most palpable violation of accounts to a large amount without their duty, in engaging in this security, and negligently permitting gambling speculation in stocks, which the money of the bank to be loaned to was wholly unauthorized by their irresponsible persons and corporations. charter, and which, the bill alleges, without adequate security, whereby was carried on to subserve their own said money was lost; with employing individual interests and purposes. I a cashier who was dishonest, unfaithhave no hesitation in declaring it as ful and incompetent, all of which was the law of this state that the directors known to them; with neglecting to of a moneyed or other joint-stock cor- take and keep good and sufficient poration, who willfully abuse their security for the performance of the trust or misapply the funds of the duties of said cashier and of the company, by which a loss is sustained, president and other officers of the are nersonally liable as trustees to bank; and that they so negligently make good their loss. And they are and carelessly conducted its affairs equally liable, if they suffer the cor- that its entire capital, surplus, propporate funds or property to be lost or crty and effects were lost and the wasted by gross negligence and in- stock rendered worthless, and the attention to the duties of their trust." stockholders were rendered liable for Robinson v. Smith, (1832) 3 Paige Ch. a large sum of money on account of 222, 239. Adopting and approving the unpaid debts of the bank, stated a this rule declared by Chancellor WAL- cause of action upon the personal since held that a complaint charging ¹ Welles n. Graves, (1890) 41 Fed. the directors of a national bank with Rep. 459, in accordance with the docneglecting to perform their official trine laid down in Hornor v. Henning, duties as such directors, and negli- 98 U.S. 228. See Stone v. Chisolm, gently permitting the money, prop- 113 U.S. 302; s. c., 5 Sup. Ct. Rep. a suit therefor by the comptroller, and that in cases of such violation every director participating therein shall be personally liable for all damages which the bank, its shareholders, or any other person shall have sustained in consequence thereof, the comptroller cannot authorize the receiver of any such bank to bring suit under section 5234 to enforce such personal liability until it has been adjudged by a proper court that such acts have been done as authorized a forfeiture of the charter.1 Directors of a national bank have been held personally liable as provided by section 5239 of the Revised Statutes of the United States for damages sustained in consequence of excessive loans where they had assented to a loan in excess of the limit prescribed by section 5200 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, and subsequently retired paper representing a part of this loan by charging it against an illegal dividend, declared when the bad paper reckoned to make up an apparent surplus more than exceeded the capital stock, which transaction was invalid, the liability being fixed at the amount of the paper thus retired.2 An action under the act of congress imposing a legal liability on the directors of a national bank for certain things which they do which shall result in an injury to the bank, its stockholders or creditors, and making them liable for the amount of the damages, survives against the estate of a director, the statute being a remedial and not a penal statute.3 It is no defense to an action by the receiver of a bank against a director's estate, such bank director having made a wrongful loan of money from which loss occurred, that the insolvency of the person to whom the loan was made was not discovered until after the death of the director and the appointment of the receiver.4 Directors of an insolvent national bank which has been placed in the hands of a receiver are not amenable to a suit by a stockholder in the bank to make them personally liable for the mismanagement of the bank, such right of action being in the receiver and not in the individual stockholder.5 The receivers of a railroad company in Texas had Welles v. Graves, (1890) 41 Fed. Rep. 459. See Kennedy n. Gibson, 8 Wall. 498.

Rep. 465.

⁴ Ibid.

⁵ Howe v. Barney, (1891) 45 Fed. Rep. 668. In National Exchange Bank of ² Witters v. Sowles, (1890) 43 Fed. Baltimore v. Peters, (1890) 44 Fed. Rep. 13, Hughes, Circuit Judge, re-³ Stephens v. Overstolz, (1890) 43 Fed. ferring first to the statutes, discussed this question elaborately as follows:

under the orders of the federal court appointing them deposited large amounts of money in a bank in that state. This bank became insolvent and its affairs were in the hands of a receiver appointed by a state court. The balance of funds due receivers on their deposit account not being paid on demand, they petitioned the court appointing them, alleging a conspiracy on the part of several officers of that bank to misappropriate the funds, gence or malfeasance as directors, and prescribes how they shall be subjected to liability. Being liable in damages. they are amenable to suit for damages in a jury proceeding, and not, 1 inter, to suit in any other form, whether at law or in equity. But even if they were amenable to liability in a proceeding not sounding in damages, then, the damages recoverable being an asset of the bank, the statute law empowers and requires the receiver of the injured bank, under the direction of the comptroller, and him alone, to sue the claim. Except the receiver, the stat ute law nowhere authorizes suit to be brought by any person not in privity against directors of national banks The bill of complaint under consideration has, therefore, no sanction in respect to its party plaintiff from the statute law of the land. Does it present a case in which county, in the exercise of a high prerogative to which it feels at liberty sometimes to resort, will relieve against the rule of privity. and entertain this suit, though brought to sue? Certainly the bill contains nothing on its face to require or to justify such a recourse. Exceptional authority to sue is given only in the rare cases in which those legally com-

"Thus the statute law makes directors As before said, whatever is claimed in of a national bank liable in damages the suit at bar would be an asset in the for violations of their duty, or negli- hands of the receiver if recovered, and the statute law imposes upon him the duty of suing for it, under the comptroller's direction. But this bill contains no allegation either that complainant called upon the comptroller to direct the receiver to suc, and he refused, or that the receiver himself was called upon and refused. Containing no such allegation, the bill makes no case for a suit by a person other than the receiver. Nor would it follow, even if such an application had been made and refused, and the fact had been only alleged in the bill, that this suit could be maintained, for in cases where directors of national banks have violated or negligently permitted the violation of the laws regulating those banks, the statute law seems to require that the question of violation shall be judicially determined in a proper court of the United States, in a suit instituted in his own name by the comptroller for that specific purpose, before the liability can attach to the directors; and, therefore, it would seem that directors canby a plaintiff otherwise incompetent not be pursued individually for such violation until after such an adjudication thus obtained. So that if the receiver and the comptroller, though called upon to sue the defendants in this suit, had refused to do so, even petent to sue wrongfully refuse to do the allegation of such application and so. When such a case is presented, refusal would have been insufficient equity will sometimes authorize and ground of authority for bringing this direct suit to be brought by some suit. I am of the opinion that the other plaintiff whom it may approve. provisions of the National Banking the making of securities to themselves for alleged personal debts against the bank and the appointment of a receiver, and asked that these officers of the bank be punished as in contempt of the The rule for contempt was discharged, but an order was laid upon the receivers to institute such proceedings as might be necessary to make the respondents individually and collectively liable for all the funds wrongfully obtained from and withheld from the receivers.1

Act enter as part into the contracts of moneys deposited by the receivers Gregg, 83 Pa. St. 19; Allen v. Curtis, 26 Conn. 455; Evans v. Brandon, 53 Tex. 56. As to the circumstances such actions, see Robinson v. Smith, 3 Paige, 222; Brinkerhoff v. Bostwick, 88 N. Y. 52; Smith v. Poor, 40 Me. 415; Carter v. Glass Co., 85 Ind. 180. As to the avails of such litigation by stockholder going to the corporation and being a part of its means, see Dewing v. Perdicaries, 96 U.S. 193, 197, 198.

ton & Texas Central Ry. Co., (1886)

creditors with the national banks, and under the order of court." He then that those provisions which define the said: "The adjudged cases on this liability of directors, and prescribe the point brought to the attention of the proceedings to be taken against them, court are unsatisfactory. The statewhen guilty of violations of the act, ment in Rapalje on Contempts (§ 15) are exclusive of other liability and that 'a private corporation made the other proceedings; and that it is not depository of the funds of the court, within the prerogative of equity to is an officer of the court, within the authorize a disregard of the provisions power of the court to punish by conof the National Banking Act, defining tempt process for misconduct,' is supsuch liability and prescribing such ported by a dictum of the Supreme proceedings." See, on this point, Court of Illinois in the case of In re-Smith p. Hurd, 12 Met. 371; Craig p. Western Marine & Fire Ins. Co., 38 Ill, 289, in which case it is said 'When a court makes an order appointing a particular person a deposiunder which a stockholder may bring tary of the court funds, and such person, knowing of such order, accepts the deposit, he unquestionably becomes pro hac vier an officer of the court. The court may order him to refund the money, and if he fails to do so, without showing some ralid reason, may proceed against him as for a contempt. The same rule would apply to a corporation, and if its officers, ¹ Southern Development Co. v. Hous- having control of its funds, and having the means of payment belonging to the 27 Fed. Rep. 344. PARDEE, J., said: corporation in their hands, should re-"Counsel for the receivers contend fuse to pay, they might be proceeded that the effect of the order of court against as for a contempt.' It will be designating the bank as one of the noticed by the foregoing that officials depositories of the receivers, and the of a corporation delinquent as a deacceptance by the bank of the re pository are to be held as in case of ceivers' deposits, was to make the bank contempt when they have control of and its officers officers of the court, its funds and have the means of payand, therefore, directly responsible to ment belonging to the corporation in the court for misappropriation of the their hands. * * * In the present $ 303. President — his power and duty.— The executive officers of a bank, its president and cashier, are presumed to have authority to direct the application of any funds in the bank to its debts.1 An official indorsement of a note payable at a bank by its president will bind the bank.² A president of a bank must be authorized by the board of directors, or he will not be authorized to execute a warrant of attorney to institute a suit. Should a president of a bank receive stock of the bank in payment for a note made payable to the bank in its stock, he would hold the stock for the bank as its property.4 It has been held in Vermont that the president of a bank had the right in behalf of the bank, and without special authority, to agree with the makers of a note, payable to and at the bank, upon an agent to receive money upon the note at some other place, and to forward it to the bank: and that such agency might be proved by parol.⁵ A bank will be ful whether the funds deposited by as receiver, being that of the [Texas order of court, were strictly court by the Supreme Court of Illinois, in funds or could be considered as moneys the Western Marine & Fire Ins. Co. paid into court. By the orders ap- case, it is not broad enough to meet the pointing them, the complainants, as necessities of this case; for if it is conjoint receivers, were authorized and ceded that the [insolvent bank], by directed to carry on and operate the designation of the court and by acceptrailways and property of the Irailway ance, became an officer of the court, corporation in their hands]; and such and that the funds deposited therein carrying on and operating contem- were court funds, and that, therefore. plated and required the handling, re- the bank is liable for misconduct in ceiving and paving out of money, the misappropriating such funds, as in payment and collection of bills and the cases of contempt, there is neither transaction of such financial business reason nor authority for considering as would require the medium of and that each servant or agent of the bank accommodation of banks. transaction of this business, moneys the court, and, therefore, amenable to were not deposited as special funds to the court, as in case of contempt for be drawn out on order of the court, misconduct in dealing with the bank but were deposited, generally, to the funds." credit of the receivers, and to be handled and used by the bank like the (Md.) 104. deposits of its other patrons in a banking, loan and discount business. And 679. it may be further noticed that the respondents have not the possession of the funds of the bank nor means in their hands belonging to the bank, the 448.

case I think that it is somewhat doubt- possession of [one of the respondents], the complaining receivers with the court appointing him]. So that if we [insolvent bank] under the aforesaid take the law to be as broad as declared In the also became pro hac rice an officer of

- 1 City Bank v. Bateman, 7 H. & J.
- ² Aiken v. Marine Bank, 16 Wis.
 - ⁸ Bank v. Keim, 10 Phil. 311.
 - ⁴ Markley v. Rhodes, 59 Iowa, 57.
- ⁵ National Bank v. Strait. 58 Vt.

bound by whatever its president may do in taking a new note for matured paper, so far as it is within the apparent scope of his authority.1 The president of a bank cannot make a valid contract to pay for obtaining depositors.2 A president of a bank, when discounting paper for the bank, has no authority to promise the holder that he need not pay it.3 Neither the president nor cashier of a bank organized under the laws of Kansas has the power, virtute officii, to sell the safe of the bank for a debt of the bank.1 A contract made by a president of a national bank for the bank to act as agent in the purchase of bonds or stocks, as the bank has no such power, would be ultru vires and not binding upon the bank.5 Notice to the president of a bank is notice to the bank.6 A bank will be affected with notice of knowledge acquired by its president in the course of its business that money deposited by a depositor in his individual account belongs to an estate of which he may have control, for instance, as assignee for the benefit of creditors; and the money deposited by him cannot be appropriated by the bank to the payment of his notes. Payments thus made could be recovered from the bank by the assignee. Where the cashier of a national bank in the usual course of business takes a note before its maturity without notice or knowledge of any defense to the note, the knowledge of the president of the bank that there was claimed to be a failure of consideration would be no notice to the bank of that fact. It would be a breach of duty for a president of a bank to allow a customer of the bank to take away its securities for inspection, and he and his sureties would be liable for the results of such an act on his part without regard to the question of good faith,9

¹ Cake v. Bank, 116 Pa. St. 264.

² Tifft r. Bank, 8 Pa. Co. Ct. Rep.

v. Tisdale, (1879) 84 N. Y. 655.

⁴ Asher v. Sutton, (1884) 31 Kans. 286.

⁵ Bank v. Hoch, 89 Pa. St. 324.

Savings Bank v. Holt, 58 Vt. 166.

⁷ Bank v. Peisert, 2 Pennypacker (Pa.), 278.

⁸ First National Bank r. Sherburne, 7 R. I. 224. 14 Bradw. (Ill.) 566. Bank chargeable with notice of facts within the official 12.

knowledge of its president. Union Bank v. Wando Mining & Mfg. Co., 17 S. C. 861. Under what circumstances ⁸ First National Bank of Whitehall one who may have compromised a claim and given a release to the bank may avoid that release by reason of the falsity of a president's statement, see Gould v. Cayuga County National Bank, (1877) 56 How. Pr. 505. That a president of a bank has no authority to release debts, see Olney v. Chadsey,

Bank r. Wiegand, 5 W. N. C. (Pa.)

An overdraft on a bank, if made without authority, is a fraud upon the part of the drawer; if suggested, countenanced, connived at and allowed by the president of a bank, without any authority of the directors, it would be a fraud on the part of the president, and he will be held liable personally for the damages to the bank. In a Kansas case it appeared that one, at the same time stockholder, director and vice-president of a savings bank, sold his stock in the bank, while it was in an embarrassed condition, to an outside party who had no funds in the bank, but, on the contrary, had an overdrawn account with the bank of several months' standing, from whom he received a check on the bank in payment for the stock for $2,100. This outside party then sold the stock to the cashier of the bank, who purchased it for the bank, but had no authority from the bank or from any one else to make such purchase. The cashier then gave to this outside party a credit for the stock of $2,100 on the books of the bank, and on the same day gave the vice-president of the bank, who had sold this stock, a credit on the books of the bank for the amount of the check drawn by the outside party, and charged the latter with a like amount. A few days afterwards the vice-president drew the amount out of the bank. The Supreme Court of that state held that the bank could maintain its action against this officer for the amount of money so withdrawn from the bank.2 As to the duty of officers of the bank, it was held by the court that a director, having personal and private dealings with his bank, was bound to know (so far as the same affected his own personal dealings) the general condition and management of his bank, and everything of importance that occurred therein, either at the time it occurred or soon thereafter. Further, it was held that this officer, the vice-president, was bound to know when his cox, (1882) 60 Cal. 126. See, on the the bank was held personally liable for subject of personal liability of officers, moneys paid out by the cashier under Leffman v. Flanigan, 5 Phila. 155; his directions and without security Shea v. Mabry, 1 Lea (Tenn.), 319; to one who was supposed to be irre-Minor v. Mechanics' Bank, 1 Pet. 72; sponsible, with whom the president Eichelberger v. Finley, 7 Har, & J. was interested in the business for (Md.) 387; Bank of St. Mary's v. Cal- which the money was obtained, these der, 3 Strobh. (S. C.) 408; Lancaster payments having been kept from the Bank v. Woodward, 18 Pa. St. 362; knowledge of the directors. Shear v. K. & K. R. R. Co., 6 Bax. German Savings Bank v. Wulfe-(Tenn.) 278. In First National Bank kuhler, (1877) 19 Kans. 60.

¹ Oakland Bank of Savings v. Wil- v. Reed, 36 Mich. 263, the president of bank was in an embarrassed condition, and the condition of an account which had been overdrawn for months; and that where the cashier had given a credit to the person having such overdrawn account, for an insufficient and illegal consideration, the officer was bound to know the same within less than several days thereafter.1

8 304. President's acts binding on bank — illustrations.— In an action by a receiver of an insolvent national bank against a correspondent bank to recover the amount of a deposit by the insolvent bank with this correspondent, where the evidence showed that the board of directors left it to the president, as the agent of the bank, to negotiate loans, and to make such contracts as to repayment and security as were lawful and usual, the United States Circuit Court for the southern district of New York held that the evidence was sufficient to establish the authority of the president to pledge the deposit with the correspondent bank as security for loans by it to the insolvent bank.2 This was an action by the receiver of a national bank against the makers of a note found among its assets. The defense of the makers was that there was no consideration towards them; that it was an accommodation note made by them at the instance of the president of the bank, to be used for the purposes of the bank. The note was made payable to the order of the makers and indorsed by them. On the trial the note clerk of the bank testified to entries on the discount book indicating that the note was discounted on a certain day, and that the account of the proceeds was handed to the president of the bank, who put his signature upon it, thus making it an order on the teller for the amount therein stated; that this order was returned to the clerk, together with the president's own check for an amount sufficient to make up the face of the note, and that this amount was used to pay a former note of practice which the directors may have ² Bell v. Hanover Nat. Bank, (1893) permitted to grow up in the business 57 Fed. Rep. 821. LACOMBE, Circuit of the bank, and by the knowledge Judge, said: "It is true that no ex- which the board of directors must be press authority from the board of presumed to have had of the acts and directors to make such an agreement doings of its subordinates in and about unusual one, and authority to make it honey Mining Co. v. Anglo-Californian is shown, but the contract is not an the affairs of the corporation. may be established by proof of the Bank, 104 U.S. 194." course of business, by the usages and the makers. As to the former note, he testified to entries on the discount book indicating that it had been discounted, and that the proceeds were deposited to the credit of the president of the bank. The bank a short time afterwards became insolvent. The United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the third circuit held that this testimony did not sufficiently show the bank to be a bona fide holder for value, as against the defense that the notes were procured from the makers by the president, who was also the managing officer of the bank, by fraud and without consideration. They also held that it was error to refuse to allow the makers to show that the note in suit, and the former notes which were renewed by it, were given at the solicitation of the president, who, in the actual conduct of the business of the bank, was its sole managing officer, and upon his execution of a receipt which was also offered in evidence reciting that the note was for the use of the bank, and was to be paid by it at maturity; and that he stated that he proposed to use it in the clearing house, as it would look better for the credit of the bank than numerous small notes which it held, and which small notes it would retain to protect this note of the makers, as the facts, if shown, would make a valid defense to the action. It was also held to be error to refuse the defendant's offer to show that the president was the sole managing officer of the bank, in the actual conduct of the business, and that the cashier occupied more the position of a clerk than that of actual cashier; for, if the president exercised the functions of cashier and was the sole managing officer of the bank, he had authority to borrow money for the use of the bank in the regular course of its business.1 One intending to purchase bank-

¹ Tbid.

¹ Simons v. Fisher, (1893) 55 Fed. should have a lien; the firm to be kept Rep. 905 (BUTLER, D. J., dissenting). informed of the condition of the bank, Acheson, Circuit Judge, in the opinion which the cashier stated to be embarof the majority of the court, referred rassed, but, with certain expected aid, to the case of Coats v. Donnell, 94 N. able to continue business. The agree-Y. 168, 176, as having features very ment was held to be valid, and within like the case before the court. He the power of the cashier to make, both said: "The cashier of a bank [in that under his general authority and by case] orally agreed with a firm that if virtue of a by-law which gave him the latter would receipt certain drafts supervision of the bank, with the duty negotiated by the bank it would keep to attend to the making of loans, dison deposit with the firm until their ma- counts and other active business transturity a balance equal to the amount actions of the bank." It was said in of the drafts, upon which the firm Coats v. Donnell, supra: "The cashier stock is entitled to rely upon a statement of its president as to the bank's condition, without inquiring further.1

§ 305. President's acts not binding on bank - illustrations.—The Nebraska Supreme Court has, in an action against a national bank to recover the amount of a subscription made in its name by the president of the bank to encourage and aid the erection of a paper mill, affirmed the judgment of the trial court instructing the jury to return a verdict for the bank.2 The president of a national bank in Wyoming arranged with bankers in New York to credit his bank with $10,000, with the under-him on the basis of its existence."

Co., (1893) 60 Fed, Rep. 17.

directory of the bank had never rati- of his authority. of paper mills, canals or churches is no 854, it is said: 'The directors of a

of a bank is its executive officer, and part of the business for which it was it is well settled that as an incident of incorporated. The bank - that is, the his office he has authority, implied corporation - by the unanimous confrom his official designation as cashier, sent of its stockholders, might, no to borrow money for and to bind the doubt, make such donation of its bank for its repayment; and the as- capital to any enterprise or person it sumption of such authority by the chose; but is the bank bound by a cashier will conclude the bank as contract made in its name by its presiagainst third persons, who have no dent, in and by which it is agreed to notice of his want of authority in the donate to some person or enterprise a particular transaction, and deal with part of its capital? A large part of the argument of counsel in this court ¹ Merrill v. Florida Land & Imp. has been directed to the doctrine of ultra vires, but we do not think that it ² Robertson v. Buffalo County Na- is necessary to invoke that doctrine in tional Bank, (Neb. 1894) 58 N. W. order to reach a correct decision in Rep. 715. The court said: "The un-this case. It seems to us that this disputed evidence in the case is that question is one of agency. The bank the president of the bank, without the is the principal and the president of knowledge or consent of the directory, the bank was its agent, and the bank, signed the name of the bank to the of course, was bound by the acts of subscription paper, and that the its president, done within the scope In Morawetz on fied this act of the president. Whether Private Corporations (§ 423) it is said: the court erred in instructing the jury 'The property and funds of a corporato return a verdict for the bank de- tion belong to its stockholders, and pends, then, upon the question as to cannot be devoted to any use which is whether the bank is bound by the sub- not in accordance with their chartered scription made by its president. This purposes, except by unanimous conbank was organized under the act of sent. No agent of a corporation has congress for the purpose of lending implied authority to give away any money, receiving deposits and for the portion of the corporate property or conducting of a general banking busi- to create a corporate obligation ness. The making of donations of its gratuitously.' In Jones v. Morrison, funds or capital to aid in the building 31 Minn. 140; s. c., 16 N. W. Rep.

standing that the bank would not draw against it, and had the New York bankers charged with the amount, and his own personal account with his bank credited with the amount, placing with the New York bankers his individual note for discount for the same amount. He then was allowed to overdraw his individual account afterwards, and then authorized the New York bankers to charge the amount of his individual note to his bank, which they did. The bank becoming insolvent, the receiver brought his action against the New York bankers for the amount. The United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the second circuit held that unless expressly authorized to do so the president of the bank could not use the funds of the bank to pay his personal obligations; and, there being no proof of such express authority, that he authorized the New York bankers to do so was not a defense to the suit.1 corporation have no authority to ap- same manner as natural persons.' We propriate its funds in paying claims think these authorities are decisive of which the corporation is under no legal the case at bar. This is not a case in or moral obligation to pay, as to pay which the bank has received and refor past services which have been tains the fruits of an unauthorized rendered and paid for at a fixed salary contract made by its agent." For an previously agreed on, or under a illustration of what kind of a contract previous agreement that there should made by the director of a bank, be no compensation for them.' To the specially delegated to take charge of same effect see Salem Bank r. Gloucester Bank, 17 Mass. 29; Bissell r. City of Kankakee, 61 Ill. 249; Minor v. Bank, 1 Pet. 46; Case v. Bank, 100 U. S. 446. In Alexander r. Cauldwell, 83 N. Y. 480, it is said: 'One who deals with the officers or agents Rep. 551. WALLACE, Circuit Judge, of a corporation is bound to know their powers and the extent of their authority. The corporation is only bound by their acts and contracts which are would have permitted him at any within the scope of their authority.' in the syllabus: 'No officer of a bank the credit [given it by the New York can bind it by a promise to pay a bankers] in its subsequent dealings and the corporations are bound in the in his official capacity as president of the matter, and who acted under the direct advice of the president of the bank, would be binding upon the bank, see Waxahachie Nat. Bank c. Vickery, (Tex. 1894) 26 S. W. Rep. 876. ¹ Chrystie r. Foster, (1894) 61 Fed. said: "While it may be conjectured, in view of the character of [the president's | relations with the bank, that it time to overdraw his account, there is In Rich v. Bank, 7 Neb. 201, it is said no evidence that it did not rely upon debt which the corporation does not [with the president], and the presumpowe and was not liable to pay, unless tion is that the notice given by the dethe bank authorizes or has ratified the fendants influenced the bank as they act; but ratification is equivalent to intended it should. The authorization original authority to act in the matter, to the defendants by [the president],

§ 306. When a bank is not chargeable with constructive notice as to knowledge of its president.— This was an action against a bank brought by the grantor of an undivided half interest in a city lot by a full conveyance of title to one who was the owner of the other undivided half interest in the lot, at the time the president of the bank, and who had subsequently, for a valuable consideration, conveyed the whole lot to the bank for its uses, to enforce the vendor's lien upon the undivided half interest conveved by him. It appeared that the bank knew nothing of the transaction between this vendor and its president beyond the deed of full conveyance from the grantor to the president. The United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the fifth circuit held that the bank acquiring its title by conveyance from one who held the interest in the lot under a deed reciting full payment of the purchase money, and having no actual knowledge that the purchase money was not in fact paid, was an innocent purchaser without notice, and was not chargeable with constructive notice because of the knowledge of its president. As to what did appear from the evidence that the grantor had a conversation with a director of the bank, in which he stated that he was willing to convey his half interest in the lot to the president of the bank, with the understanding that the president was to convey the whole lot to the bank, and that the president of the bank was to pay him by giving him credit upon notes then running against him in the bank, the court held that it did not amount to notice to the director that the grantor intended to retain a vendor's lien, but rather imputed a notice that no such lien was to be retained.1 test arises. No principle of the in the case."

the bank, to apply the fund in their another in making a contract for himhands belonging to the bank in pay- self. West St. Louis Sav. Bank v. ment of his note, does not protect the Shawnee Co. Bank, 95 U. S. 557; defendants. It is not pretended that National Park Bank r. German-[the president] had any express au- American Mut. Warehousing & Securthority to apply the funds of the bank ity Co., 116 N. Y. 281; s. c., 22 N. E. to the payment of his own note. He Rep. 567; Anderson v. Kissam, 35 Fed. had no implied authority to do so. Rep. 699. If [the president] had used There are no presumptions in favor of his note with the defendants to prosuch a delegation of power. He who cure an advance to the bank for its assumes to rely upon the authority of benefit, and not for his own, and had an agent to bind his principal to the given them such an authorization, discharge of the agent's own obliga- very different questions would be tion must have actual authority if con- presented from those which are now law of agency is better settled than 1 First Nat. Bank of Sheffield v. that no person can act as agent of Tompkins, (1898) 57 Fed. Rep. 20.

§ 307. Cashier—his power and duty.—The cashier of a bank is the executive officer or agent of its financial department, and, in all the duties imposed upon him by law or usage as

Mr. Chief Justice Brickell, speaking surance company. hibit, a clear legal title, will be pro-

PARDER, Circuit Judge, referred in Ala. 502. If the facts were stronger support of the court's ruling to certain for the imputation of notice to Wilcases in these words: "In the case of liams than are found in the record, Whelan r. McCreary, 61 Ala. 319, notice should not be imputed to the in-The case of for the court, declared the law of Ala-Barnes v. Gas Light Co., 27 N. J. Eq. bama as follows. Whoever gives 33-37, involved a question in regard value, or enters into transactions by to notice very similar to the case in which his position is materially hand, and the chancellor held as folchanged, and from which change loss lows: 'That the defendants are bond must ensue, on the faith that the ven- field purchasers for valuable considerador of real estate, or person with whom tion is not denied. Their title is not he deals, has, as the title papers ex- impugned, except on the ground of notice, and the claim to relief is tected against outstanding and latent based on the allegation that at the time equities, of which he has no notice. when the conveyance was made by A mortgagor taking a security for a Mr. Potts to them he was their presi contemporaneous loan or advance falls dent, and this fact is relied upon as of within the rule and is entitled to pro- itself sufficient to establish notice to tection. Boyd r. Beck, 29 Ala. 713; them of all the facts which the bill Wells v. Morrow, 38 Ala. 125. The charges were within his knowledge. only notice, actual or constructive, of The general proposition is undoubtedly Mrs. Whelan's equity, which is at- true that notice of facts to an agent is tributed to the insurance company, is constructive notice thereof to the prinimputed, because notice, it is insisted, is cipal himself, where it arises from or traced to Williams, one of its direct- is at the time connected with the subors, active and instrumental in making ject-matter of his agency. The rule the loan to Cunningham and McCreary, is based on the presumption that the and taking the mortgage. Whatever agent has communicated such facts to facts may have been known to Wil- the principal. Story Ag. § 140. On liams which ought to have excited in- principles of public policy the knowlquiry on his part, came to his knowl- edge of the agent is imputed to the edge while he was acting as the agent principal. But the rule does not apof Cunningham, in a transaction in ply to a transaction such as that under which the insurance company had no consideration, for, in such a transacinterest. The rule is settled in this tion, the officer, in making the sale and state that a corporation will not be conveyance, stands as a stranger to the affected by notice which one of its company. Stratton r. Allen, 16 N. J. directors or other officers may have Eq. 229. His interest is opposed to received when not acting for the cor- theirs, and the presumption is not that poration, but in the transaction of his he will communicate his knowledge of own private affairs, and under such any secret impurity of the title to the circumstances that its communication corporation, but that he will conceal to other officers of the company is not it. Where an officer of a corporation to be expected. Terrell r. Bank, 12 is thus dealing with them in his own such cashier, he acts for the bank and speaks for it.1 A cashier. in the absence of all positive and known restrictions, possesses the incidental authority, and it is his duty to apply the negotiable funds of a bank as well as the moneyed capital to the discharge held not to represent them in the transveys,' citing in support of the same Winchester v. Railroad Co., 4 Md. 231. In Commercial Bank of Danville r. the latter knows it as agent dorsed for value to a bank some months tion in his own behalf ' note, and, being a director of the bank, notice to him was notice to the bank. said: 'That conceding * * * that interest, opposed to theirs, he must be that the plaintiff [the bank] cannot be affected therewith unless [he] was actaction, so as to charge them with the ing in his official capacity for the plainknowledge he may possess, but which tiff in the said discounting transactions. he has not communicated to them, and The foundation principle upon which which they do not otherwise possess, rests the doctrine that a party, whether of facts derogatory to the title he con- an individual or a corporation, is chargeable with notice imparted to his Bank v. Cunningham, 24 Pick. 270; agents in the line of their duty, is that Kennedy v. Green, 3 Mylne & K. 699; agents are presumed to communicate In re European Bank, L. R., 5 (h. all such information to their principals App. 358; In re Marseilles Extension because it is their duty so to do. The Railway Co., L. R., 7 Ch. App. 161; principal is conclusively presumed to know whatever his agent knows, it Burgwyn, (1892) 110 N. C. 267, certain course no such presumption can exist promissory notes were indersed to a where the agent is dealing with the corporation and by its president in- corporation in the particular transacbefore they were due. The president transactions the attitude of the agent of the corporation was a director of the is one of hostility to the principal. bank and in the matter of discounting. He is dealing at arm's length, and it these notes had spoken to the presi- would be absurd to suppose that he dent of the bank, who ordered them would communicate to the principal discounted, but this director, the presi- any facts within his private knowledge dent of the corporation, took no action affecting the subject of his dealing in the matter of the discounting of the unless it would be his duty to do so, if note. In this action by the bank upon he were wholly unconnected with the the note it was claimed that the note principal. As was said by the court was subject to a certain equity or set- in Wickersham v. Chicago Zinc Co., off of the maker, on the ground that 18 Kans. 481: 'Neither the acts nor the president of the corporation knew knowledge of an officer of a corporait had notice of the impurity of the tion will bind it in a matter in which the officer acts for himself and deals with the corporation as if he had no The Supreme Court of North Carolina official relations with it,' or, as was said in Barnes r. Trenton Gas Light if the director of the bank had such Co., 27 N. J. Eq. 33: 'His interest is notice at the time of the discounting opposed to that of the corporation, and of all of the notes, it is well established the presumption is not that he will

9 Heisk. 419; Maxwell v. Planters' 364.

¹ Ellicott v. Barnes, (1884) 31 Kuns. Bank, 10 Humph. 507; United States 172; Lane v. Bank of West Tennessee, v. City Bank of Columbus, 21 How.

of the bank's debts and obligations. The power of a cashier to purchase for the bank is not implied from his office as cashier.2 A bank will be bound by the agreement of its cashier to extend paper.⁸ A statement by its cashier, upon inquiry of one known by him to be a surety on a note due the bank, that the note had been paid, with the intention that the surety should rely upon the statement, and the surety does so, and in consequence change his position by giving up securities or indorsing other notes for the same principal or the like, will estop a bank from denying that the note was paid.4 The cashier of a bank, without special authority, cannot bind it by an official indorsement of his personal note. In an action on such a note the onus would be upon the payee to show the cashier's authority. A bank has been held communicate his knowledge of any secret infirmity of the title to the corporation, but that he will conceal it.' This doctrine has been applied to the case of a director procuring the discount of a note for his own benefit, having knowledge that it is founded upon an illegal consideration (Bank r. Christopher, 40 N. J. L. 435), or that it was made for his accommodation (Bank v. Cunningham, 24 Pick. 270), or that it was obtained upon a false pretense of having it discounted for the maker (Washington r. Lewis, 22 Pick. 24), or that it was affected in his hands with certain conditions (Louisiana State Bank r. Senecal, 13 La. 525), or with a claim of recoupment of which the bank had no notice (Loomis v. Bank, 1 Disney, 285), or with other equities. Savings Bank v. Hamlin, 125 Mass. 506. To the same effect are Corcoran v. Snow Cattle Co., 151 Mass. 74; Innerarity v. Bank, 139 Mass. 332; Stevenson v. Bay City, 26 Mich. 44; Frost v. Belmont, 6 Allen, 163, and other cases. In the foregoing decisions the director was not acting in his official character in the particular transaction, but had he been so acting, the bank by a great preponderance of authority would have been affected by his knowledge."

10 Humph. (Tenn.) 507.

² Liouberger », Mayer, (1882) 12 Mo. App. 575. As to the acts of a cashier, within the sphere of his duties, being the acts of a bank, see Burnham r. Webster, 19 Mc. 232; Medomak Bank v. Curtis, 24 Me. 36; Warren r. Gilman, 17 Me. 360; Farrar r. Gilman, 19 Me. 440; Badger r. Bank of Cumberland, 26 Me. 428: National Bank of Metropolis c. Williams, 46 Mo. 17. As to the authority of cashiers of banks, see Caldwell v. National Mohawk Valley Bank, 64 Barb. 333; Chemical National Bank r. Kohner, 8 Daly, 530. As to powers habitually exercised by a cashier with the knowledge and acquiescence of the bank, see Merchants' Bank v. State Bank, 10 Wall. 604.

³ Wakefield Bank v. Truesdell, 55 Barb. 602.

4 Cocheco National Bank v. Haskell, 51 N. II. 116.

⁵ West St. Louis Sav. Bank r. Shawnee County Bank, (1874) 3 Dill. 403; affirmed in 95 U.S. 557. Houghton v. First National Bank of Elkhorn, 26 Wis. 663, the bank was held to be bound by its cushier's indorsement of his name followed by the abbreviation "Cas." on the negotiable note of another, though not done at the bank, or for its benefit, and by his ¹ Maxwell v. Planters' Bank, (1850) statement to a purchaser that such statement was all right. As to pay-not responsible to the real owner for money paid out with his consent to the administrator of the apparent owner, the one who had deposited it, even though his consent had been given upon the advice of the bank's cashier. A bank will be bound by representations made by its eashier in the ordinary course of business as to the payment of a note in the bank, upon the faith of which the maker of the note may have acted.2 It may be shown by parol that a check signed by one who is the cashier of a bank in his own name only is the check of the bank.3 The assignee of a bank, it has been held, could not recover the securities delivered by a cashier as collateral for money borrowed on the bank's note from the lender. Receiving offers for purchase of securities held by a bank, and a statement whether or not the bank owns securities in its possession, are within the scope of the general authority of its cashier.5 The act of a cashier in certifying a check given as collateral security for the delivery of oil, "good when properly indersed," has been held not to have rendered the bank liable, as his act was outside his proper powers and duties.6 Evidence of the custom of bankers where a bank is located to borrow money on time is competent in an action against bankers upon a note given by their eashier for money borrowed which he may have appropriated to his own use, as tending to show that the act was within the scope of the ordinary and customary business of the bankers.⁷ A bank is not exonerated from its liability for money borrowed by the fact that its cashier may have given his own note for money borrowed by him for the bank.8 The provisions in the charters of certain banks in Georgia requiring all contracts whatever to be signed by the president and countersigned by the cashier in order to bind the banks were held by the Supreme Court of that state not to apply to such dealings and transactions as are usually and necessarily performed by the a violation of his duty, see Bank r. Calder, 3 Strob. (S. C.) 408.

- ¹ McDermott v. Bank, 100 Pa. St. 287. ⁹ Manufacturers' Bank v. Scofield, art, 114 U. S. 224. 89 Vt. 590.
- 3 Mechanics' Bank v. Bank of Columbia, 5 Wheat, 826.
- ⁴ Creswell v. Lanahan, 101 U. S. 347. What is necessary to show a kins, (1859) 4 Bosw. 420. cashier's authority to borrow money for ment of overdrafts by a cashier being the bank. Ringling v. Kohn, (1878) 6 Mo. App. 383; Donnell v. Lewis Co. Savings Bank, (1883) 80 Mo. 165.

- ⁵ National Bank of Xenia v. Stew-
- ⁶ Dorsey v. Abrams, 85 Pa. St. 299. Crain v. National Bank, 114 Ill. 516.
- ² City Bank of New Haven r. Per-cashier of a bank, such, for instance, as the drawing or indorsing by a cashier in connection with bills of exchange, checks and drafts.1 A cashier may, ex-officio, indorse a note the property of the bank so as to authorize a demand and notice to the indorser.2 In the course of his ordinary duties, the cashier of a bank, virtute officii, may transfer the paper securities of the bank in payment of the debts of the bank. The inducement for such indorsement of the papers need not appear; in the absence of proof to the contrary the presumption would be in favor of the propriety of the transfer. But such an inference would not be conclusive. A party interested would be authorized to controvert the fairness of the transfer by showing that it was not made in the regular course of business, but in prejudice of the rights and interests of the bank, and thus defeat the transfer.3 The exercise by the cashier of a bank of his power to pledge the negotiable securities belonging to the bank is prima facie evidence that he had the power.4 Without authority from his bank, evidenced by a resolution of the board of directors, usage in like cases, or in some other way, a cashier cannot transfer nonnegotiable paper.5 But he has authority growing out of his peculiar relation to the bank and his duties resulting therefrom to transfer negotiable paper belonging to the bank for a legitimate purpose.6 A cashier can invest no clerk of the bank with any more of his power than is necessary to enable the clerk to carry on the usual and ordinary business of the bank. A clerk acting as cashier in the absence of that officer has no authority, unless conferred upon him by the directors, to transfer notes or gald, 7 Ga. 84.

Pick. (Mass.) 63.

(Ala.) 166. As to the power of a cashier of a bank to transfer its notes and edness, see Kimball v. Cleveland, 4 Mich. 606; Peninsular Bank v. Hanmer, 14 Mich. 208. Whether the power to ap- 241. ply the assets in this way includes the power to guarantee their collection or Ohio, (1864) 29 N. Y. 619. invalidity was questioned in the last

¹ Merchants' Bank v. Central Bank, case. As to the powers of a cashier in 1 Ga. 418; Cary, Assignee, v. McDou- discharging and transferring securities, etc., of the bank, see State v. Com-² Hartford Bank v. Barry, (1821) 17 mercial Bank of Manchester, 6 Smedes Mass. 94; Folger v. Chase, (1836) 18 & Marsh. (Miss.) 218; Harper v. Calhoun, 7 How. (Miss.) 203; Crocket v. ³ Everett v. United States, 6 Port. Young, 1 Smedes & Marsh. (Miss.) 241.

⁴ Mercantile Bank v. McCarthy, assets in payment of the bank's indebt- (1879) 7 Mo. App. 318; Bank of State v. Wheeler, 21 Ind. 90.

⁵ Barrick v. Austin, (1855) 21 Barb.

Bank of New York v. Bank of securities of the bank.1 A clerk thus temporarily acting for the cashier may transmit notes owned by the bank or held for collection to the bank's agents for that purpose, and to vest in the collecting agents such title as is necessary and proper to accomplish that object. But he has no power to transfer any other or higher title thereto, and the agents of the bank will not, as against the bank, acquire any lien on the notes for any balance due from the bank.2 As its executive officer, a cashier of a bank has authority to take such measures for the security and eventual collection of a debt of the bank as he deems proper, and to act in reference to the collection or compromise of the debt according to the general usage, practice and course of business.3 A cashier of a bank has power, prima facie, to indorse for collection notes discounted and notes deposited with the bank to be collected or deposited as collateral security. But he cannot indorse, without special authority, a note made payable to a bank and discounted by another person.⁵ A cashier may bind a bank for costs incurred in the collection of a note which he has indersed for collection. That it was the usage of a bank, or that the bank, through its directors, had adopted his act, if proven, would be a sufficient authority for the satisfaction of judgments in favor of the bank by its cashier, although he may have no anthority under seal or in writing to satisfy such judgments.7 A cashier has no power to accept bills of exchange on behalf of the bank for the accommodation merely of the drawers.8 A bank will be bound by the official signature of its cashier to a negotiable note.9 A bank may be held liable for a loan obtained on its account for which the personal note of its cashier may be given on a count for money had and received. Unless the power to accept has been conferred upon him by the corporation, a bank will not be bound ¹ Potter v. Merchants' Bank, (1864) sary to that end, see Young v. Hudson, 28 N. Y. 641.

⁹ Ibid.

Bridenbecker v. Lowell, (1860) 32 Academy, 5 Houst, (Del.) 577. Barb. 9.

⁴Elliot v. Abbot, 12 N. H. 549; Bank, 1 Dougl. (Mich.) 457. Corser v. Paul, 41 N. H. 24, 26.

⁵ Cross v. Rowe, 22 N. H. 77.

⁶ Eastman v. Coos Bank, 1 N. H. 23, 16 Wis. 120. 25. As to the power of a cashier of a adopt such measures as may be neces- E. Rep. 328.

^{(1889) 99} Mo. 102.

Bancroft v. Wilmington Conf.

⁸ Farmers', etc., Bank v. Troy City

⁹ Rockwell v. Elkhorn Bank, 13 Wis. 653; Ballston Spa Bank v. Marine Bank.

¹⁰ Chemical Nat. Bank of Chicago r. bank to collect a note due it and to City Bank of Portage, (Ill. 1895) 40 N.

by its cashier's acceptance of a bill of exchange in his official A cashier of a bank has no power to transfer judgcapacity.1 ments in favor of the bank, or to dispose of its property.2 Neither has he power to discount a note; but if he discount a note his act will be valid, if afterwards ratified by the bank. By his general power to certify checks, a cashier of a bank is not authorized to certify a post-dated check.1 The general powers of its cashier do not include authority to bind a bank to indemnify an officer for levying on property. There is no implied power in a cashier of a bank to pledge its assets for payment of an antecedent debt.6 A cashier of a bank as such has no power to accept a note signed by two parties only, in payment and discharge of a note upon which another party was also bound with the two, so as to release the third party from his indebtedness to the bank.7 Neither can he, virtute officii, release a surety upon a note, even though the bank holds other security to which it might resort, nor make collateral contracts or agreements of any kind.8 It is not within the ordinary scope of the duties of a cashier of a bank to discharge a surety on a debt due the bank.9 of a bank cannot, by reason of the general authority he may have to certify checks, certify his own checks or issue certificates of deposit to himself.10 It would be beyond the scope and power of the cashier of a private bank (himself a partner) to enter credits upon the bank book of a depositor without any check, bill or note being presented for discount. Should be enter the credits on the books of the bank and the depositor be permitted to draw the money, the bank would be estopped from setting up the want of authority in the cashier; but it would be otherwise as to credits not entered on the books of the bank, though duly entered on the Pendleton v. Bank of Kentucky, (1824) 1 Mon. (Ky.) 179.

² Holt v. Bacon, 3 Cushman, (Miss.) 303.

³ Planters' Bank v. Sharpe, 4 Smedes & Marsh. (Miss.) 75.

Albion, (1868) 52 Barb. 592.

⁵ Watson v. Bennett, (1851) 12 Barb.

⁶ State of Tennessee n. Davis, (Sup. Rudolf, 5 Neb. 540. Ct. N. Y. Spl. Term, 1874) 50 How. Pr. 447.

⁷ Ecker v. First National Bank of New Windsor, (1882) 59 Md. 291,

⁸ Ibid.

Daviess Co. Savings Association r. Sailor, (1876) 63 Mo. 24. That a cashier 4 Clarke National Bank r. Bank of has no power to discharge a surety on bank paper, see Cocheco National Bank r. Haskell, 51 N. H. 116. Release of surety by cashier. Merchants' Bank v.

¹⁰ Lee r. Smith, (1884) 84 Mo. 304.

depositor's pass book.1 The cashier of a national bank which holds the paper of a firm of which he was a member, it has been held, could not waive liability on an accommodation note procured by him to be substituted for the indebtedness of his firm.2 A cashier of a bank cannot bind it as an accommodation indorser on his individual note.8 Neither can he bind the bank by assurances that would release parties from their liability on a note held by the bank.4 The act of an assistant cashier of a bank, prohibited by the bank to certify checks, in accepting a post-dated check without any usage to justify it, would be void, even as toward a bona tide holder. A director in a savings institution of West Virginia, by collusion with other directors and the co-operation of the cashier, when he knew the institution was insolvent, withdrew a deposit of a large sum of money which he had had for some length of time in the institution at interest. The money was not paid to the whole amount, but the cashier paid him in bills and notes which had been discounted by the bank and belonged to it. The bank having made an assignment to one for the benefit of its creditors, he brought his action against the director to recover the amount which he had received on the ground of the fraud and other wrongdoing by which it was accomplished. The Court of Appeals of West Virginia held that this assignce or trustee was entitled to recover in proper action the amount of deposits which this director had withdrawn under the circumstances disclosed in the case.⁶ In an action by a Nebraska 445.

Allen v. Bank, 127 Pa. St. 51.

West St. Louis Savings Bank v. Shawnee County Bank, 95 U.S. 557.

Pet. 12.

N. Y. 126.

speaking for the court: "It is not pre- power to assign the choses in action of

Williams v. Dorrier, 135 Pa St. tended that he had any such authority from the board of directors. The whole record is against any such presump tion as this Did he then, rictute officii, have the right to dispose of the 4 Bank of Metropolis v. Jones. 8 discounted bills and notes of the bank? There is nothing in the charter of the ⁵ Pope v. Bank of Albion, (1874) 57 institution conferring that right upon him The management is there con ⁶ Lamb v. Cecil, (1884) 25 W. Va. ferred upon a board of directors. The 288. It was necessary in determining Court of Appeals of New York, in this question for the court to discuss Hoyt v. Thompson, 1 Sold. 320, held the question of the power and au- that where the management of the afthority of a cashier to dispose of the fairs of a corporation is intrusted by discounted bills and notes, the prop- its charter to a board of directors, the erty of the bank. Upon that question president and cashier, unless specially it was said by Johnson, President, authorized by the charter, have no bank upon a note the maker, as a defense, claimed payment of the balance due on the note, in that he had sold to the bank through its cashier certain shares of stock in an insurance company, the cashier promising at the time that he would credit them on the note when it should be returned from another city, where it then The Supreme Court of Nebraska held that the cashier, by virtue of his office, had not the power to accept the stock of the insurance company in payment of the debt due the bank, but that power, if it existed, was lodged in the directory, and, as it had not expressly authorized the cashier thereto, he exceeded his power in agreeing to accept, on behalf of his principal, the insurance company stock in payment of the debt due the bank, and that the bank was not bound thereby.1

PARKER, Ch. J. (p. 292), said: 'This and pass good title thereto." power puts the whole property of the bank under the control of the directors, 37 Neb. 197. RYAN, C., speaking for the corporation to its creditors as socu- abused. But the stockholders should rity for the payment of a precedent provide against this evil in the choice debt of the corporation without au- of directors. Having this power, there thority from the board of directors is no reason why it should not be ex-An assignment so made is not merely excised by one of the body with the voidable, but is absolutely void. Rug- consent of the rest, expressed by their GLES, Ch. J, in delivering the opinion vote. We are satisfied, therefore, that of the court, said: But the power and the directors might by their vote or duties of the president and cashier are power of attorney authorize the presi not prescribed by the charter, no dent or any other officer of the bank to power is conferred upon them to mort- assign over the promissory notes paygage, assign or dispose of the property able to the company.' In Fleckner c of the corporation. This is a part of U. S. Bank, S. Wheat. 338, it was held the management of the business of the that the authority of the cashier to company which is confined expressly assign a note of the bank need not be to the directors, but not to the presi- under the corporate scal, but that a dent and eashier. In no case has it resolution passed by the directors was been held that these officers are author- sufficient authority for the cashler 'I ized to do an act like that in question can find no authority which holds that without the assent and authority of the cashier, without authority from the the directors. To the same effect is directors, can dispose of the discounted Spear v. Ladd, 11 Mass. 94, and Bank bills and notes of the bank. It would v. Pepoon, 11 Mass. 288 Indeed, in be a dangerous power, indeed, to rethe first of these cases it was gravely pose in an officer of the bank. It considered whether the board of di- would put a large part of the property rectors could confer such powers on the of the bank under the absolute control president and cashier; and, in the sec- of the cashier or other officer exercisond, whether they could confer it on cising such power; and he might, for any attorney. In the last-named case, his own use, dispose of such property

¹Bank of Commerce v. Hart, (1898) and without doubt the power may be the court, as leading to and supporting

8 308. Cashier's liability for his acts. - A cashier applying to his use securities of a bank will be liable on his bond for the full amount.1 And a misapplication by such officer of funds delivered to him out of business hours and remote from the banking house, will be a violation of the condition of his official ment anything but money. and discharge debts, and deliver up bank to recover the money.

their conclusion, made reference to limited authority, and when a party leading authorities, as follows: "In claims a discharge from a debt due the Sandy River Bank r. Merchants & bank, not by payment, but by giving Mechanics' Bank, 1 Biss. 146, the facts other or different notes, bills or secuwere: The cashier of the Mechanics' rities, which the eashier has agreed to Bank settled an account of twenty-two take and release the debt, his authorthousand dollars with the cashier of ity, like that of any other agent, must the Sandy River Bank, by paying ten be shown by proof. As a general thousand dollars cash and giving rule, a jury have not a right to infer twelve thousand dollars private paper, that the cashier of a bank, as such, has which the cashier of the Sandy River the authority to compromise and dis-Bank accepted in payment, and gave charge debts without payment or by a receipt in full. The Sandy River taking other securities, but the author-Bank brought its action against the ity from the bank must be shown ex-Merchants and Mechanics' Bank on the pressly or by necessary implication, or account. The latter pleaded payment it must * * * be established by by the contract with the cashier. The the particular usage or practice or question in the case was whether the mode of doing business of the bank, cashier had authority to receive in pay- or it must be ratified or acquiesced in In the by the bank in order to be binding' course of the opinion delivered, the In United States r. City Bank of judge said: 'A cashier of a bank is Columbus, 21 How. 356, the facts were: ordinarily the executive of the bank. The cashier of the Columbus Bank He is the agent through whom third gave to one of its directors. Miner, a persons transact their business with the letter to the secretary of the treasury bank. The bank generally holds him of the United States, to the effect that out to the world as having authority. Miner had authority to contract in beto act according to the general usage, half of the bank for the transfer of practice and course of business, and money for the government. Relying all acts done by him within the scope upon this letter, the secretary of the of such usages, practice and course of treasury made a contract with Miner business, bind the bank as to third for him to transfer one hundred persons who transact business with thousand dollars of the government's him on the faith of his official char- money from New York to New Oracter; and perhaps it may be presumed leans. Miner received the money, but without proof, and merely from his never delivered it. The United States office, that he is authorized to receipt brought suit against the Columbus securities on payment or discharge of Supreme Court of the United States the debt for which they are held, decided that the action could not be * * * But still this authority is a successfully maintained, as the cashier

¹ Pendleton v. Bank of Kentucky, (1824) 1 Mon. 179.

A cashier of a banking corporation, having authority to loan the money of the bank, with or without security, has been held in California liable for losses arising from loans without security not entered in the books of the bank nor reported to the board of could purchase or sell the property or means collections in money.

of the Columbus bank had no author- tate in satisfaction and release, is the ity to make such a contract, and there function of the board of directors and was no proof that the board of di- not of any individual director or rectors had authorized it. In the officer. It has also been decided that, course of the opinion Justice Swayne in the absence of special authority, said: 'The court defines the cashier of the cashier of a bank could not release a bank to be an executive officer by the surety from a note owned by the whom its debts are received and paid, bank. Merchants' Bank v. Rudolf, and its securities taken and transfer- 5 Neb. 527; Cocheco National Bank red, and that his acts, to be binding v. Haskell, 51 N. H. 116. That in the upon a bank, must be done within the absence of special authority or estabordinary course of his duties. " " lished usage the cashier has no power The term 'ordinary business,' with di- to compromise claims due his bank. rect reference to the duties of cashiers Chemical National Bank v. Kohner, of banks, occurs frequently in * * 4 8 Daly, 580. That he had no authorreports of the decisions of our state ity to bind his bank by issuing a cercourts, and in no one of these has it tificate of deposit to himself. Lee v. been judicially allowed to comprehend Smith, 81 Mo. 304. Nor bind the bank a contract made by a cashier, without by an official indorsement of his own an express delegation of power from a note. West St. Louis Savings Bank v. board of directors to do so, which in- Shawnee County Bank, 95 U.S. 557. volves the payment of money, unless The cashier of the [plaintiff bank], it be such as has been loaned in the then, as the executive officer of the usual and customary way. Nor has bank, was clothed with authority to it ever been decided that a cashier collect all debts due the bank, but this create an agency of any kind for a cashier may discharge the debts due bank which he had not been author- his bank by exchanging the evidences ized to make by those to whom has of them for stocks of an insurance combeen confided the power to manage its pany or a gas company, then he can, business, both ordinary and extra- under the name and charter of the The court then addressed bank, conduct an entirely different itself to the case at bar, and said: The business, and use the funds of his power of this bank to purchase stock stockholders for a purpose for which in an insurance company, if it exists they were never subscribed, and in at all, is an extraordinary power and violation of the law of the bank's creone not confided to the cashier, but ation. The purposes for which [this belonging to the directory. In The bank was organized, as expressed in Bank of Healdsburg v. Bailhache, 65 its articles of incorporation, were to Cal. 329, it is said that the power to receive deposits of money and pay the make a settlement of defalcation to a same out on proper vouchers; to loan bank, and accept a deed of real es- money on personal security; to issue trustees, but treated in his reports to the board as cash on hand.1 The obligors upon a bond of the cashier of a bank under a condition for him "safely and securely to keep all moneys deposited, and to refund and pay over the same when properly required," will not be held liable for money violently robbed from him while in the discharge of his duty.2 A bond of a cashier of a bank framed to cover past as well as future delinquencies will be invalid against a surety, if his name was procured at the desire of the directors where they have knowledge that past defalcations exist of which the surety may be ignorant and withhold the knowledge from him when they have a suitable opportunity to communicate it.3 A cashier of a bank employed to sell certain shares of its stock at a fixed price, but before he had completed the sale, the bank was enjoined and proved insolvent, has been held not to be responsible for the supposed value of the stock, no negligence on his part in forwarding the sale being shown.4 Where a bank brings an action against its cashier for a wrongful appropriation of moneys. it would be no defense that at the time of the appropriation he was the owner of four-fifths of the stock of the bank and had since that time sold all of his stock to other parties who were now the officers and managing authority of the bank.5 The condition of generally in stocks of other corpora- 307. bank's charter which by any reasonable construction can be construed into an authority to purchase and hold the (1884), 65 Cal. 247. stocks of any other corporation. True. it says 'to purchase securities of every (Ala) 201. kind,' but certificates of stock are not provision, nor such as the word imports in commercial or banking phraseology. 'Securities,' as here used, means notes. bills, evidences of debt, promises to pay money." As to the authority of a sav- (1888) 29 Kans. 311. ings bank's treasurer, having power to drafts or letters of credit; to buy and collect its debts, under orders of the sell securities of every kind, and do a board of investment, to execute a general banking business. Had this power of sale under a mortgage to the charter expressly provided that the bank, by conveying to a purchaser, corporation might invest its funds in see North Brookfield Sav. Bank r. stocks of insurance companies and deal Flanders, (Mass. 1894) 37 N. E. Rep. See, also, Bank v. Keavy, 128 tions, such a provision would have been Mass, 298; Holden v. Upton, 134 Mass. contrary to the laws of the state and 177, 179; Trustees of Smith Charities void. But there is no provision in the r. Connolly, 157 Mass. 272; s. c., 31 N. E. Rep. 1058,

- 1 San Joaquin Valley Bank v. Bours,
- ² Bank of Huntsville o, Hill, 1 Stew.
- ⁸ Franklin Bank v. Cooper, 36 Me. securities within the meaning of this 179; Franklin Bank r. Stevens, 39 Me. 582; Franklin Bank v. Cooper, 39 Me.
 - Washburn v. Blake, 47 Me. 316.
 - First National Bank v. Drake.

the bond of the cashier of a state bank as required by the statute of Indiana is that he "will honestly and faithfully discharge [his] duties as such [officer] * * * during [his] continuance in office." This was an action against the cashier of a bank and his sureties upon his official bond, and his acts complained of were that he converted different amounts of the large sums of money coming into his hands to his own use, as alleged in one paragraph of the complaint. In another it was alleged that pursuant to the by-laws of the bank it had organized an "exchange committee, composed of its president, cashier and a designated director; that the by-laws further provided that the cashier should not make loans in excess of five hundred dollars without the approval of such committee or one member besides himself." It was further alleged that as cashier that officer, in violation of his trust and the said by-laws, loaned and otherwise disposed of large sums of money belonging to the bank, which were wholly lost. Various other breaches of the bond were charged in allowing overdrafts of customers, making loans in violation of his trust and the rules and regulations of the bank; also, that by a conspiracy with two others, large sums of money were withdrawn from the vaults and invested in "options" and "bucket-shop deals" so-called; with further allegations of the entire loss of such moneys and the concealment on his part of these transactions from the other officers of the bank. The sureties, in their answer, admitted these allegations, but alleged that, in violation of its duty and the requirement of the by-laws in force when the bond sued on was executed, the bank failed to organize an "exchange committee," and because of such failure the duties of the cashier were delayed, and, as the result, the various breaches of duty and losses complained of ensued, and hence they were not liable. Berkshire, J., for the Supreme Court, in the opinion, said of this answer: "The basal rock upon which these paragraphs of the answer rest is the allegation that there was no exchange committee organized, as required by the by-laws;" and afterwards: "But the answers themselves disclose the existence of the 'exchange committee' provided for in the by-laws. They show that this committee was to be composed of the cashier, president and a designated director. The committee was composed of three members; the by-laws named two of them, or a majority; the failure to name a director for that committee did not deprive the committee of its powers; the two had power to act. Besides, the by-laws provided that the cashier was at liberty to take any legitimate action in disposing of the funds of the bank with the approval of its president: hence, the approval of the chief officer would have been the cashier's justification as to any such transaction. But if it were conceded that the bank had entirely failed to provide for an 'exchange committee,' and in the absence of such committee that the cashier had exclusive and complete authority to transact any and all of the business of the bank, this would not relieve his sureties from liability because of his fraudulent conduct in connection with [co-conspirators], whereby large sums of money belonging to the bank were invested in illegitimate transactions. Under no circumstances was the cashier authorized to dispose of the funds of the bank for such purposes. With or without the approval of an 'exchange committee,' such as provided for, this was a clear violation of duty and rendered his sureties liable." The court further held that an agreement by the board of directors, after the execution of the eashier's bond, enlarging his duties, and increasing his salary, but not changing the character of his duties, or his relation to the bank as cashier, was no defense to this action against the sureties for the cashier's violation of duty.3

§ 300. Knowledge of its cashier not imputable to bank illustration.- In an action by the makers of a note against a bank cashier to have the note surrendered for cancellation, it being alleged that there was fraud or misrepresentation on the part of one who was not only cashier of the bank which had discounted the note for the corporation, and also secretary and treasurer of this outside corporation, concerning which the representations alleged to be fraudulent were made, it was attempted to charge the bank with his knowledge. The Supreme Court of Missouri, in affirming the dismissal of this bill, stated "that," as shown by the evidence, "in the negotiation for the sale and further delivery of the stock [the cashier of the bank] represented, and only represented, the company; that the plaintiff relied wholly upon him, as the secretary and treasurer of the company, for the delivery of the stock for which he had contracted. To that transaction the bank was an entire stranger, and in it its cashier neither represented, nor undertook to represent, the bank." 1 Notice to a cashier that stock pledged to a bank was trust stock has been held to be notice to the bank of that fact.2 It has been held in Vermont that notice to the attorney of a bank or to the cashier, while acting in the matter of attaching land for the benefit of the bank, of an equitable right in a third person as, by a defective deed or record — was notice to the bank.3

¹ Wallace v. Exchange Bank of Spencer, (1890) 126 Ind. 265.

§ 310. Rules as to ratification of a cashier's act by the bank.—In a case before the Supreme Court of Iowa it appeared Bank, 5 Ch. App. 358; Bank v. Savery, 82 N. Y. 291; Fisher v. Murdock, Bank, 100 U. S. 239, 245; Louisiana 10 Ala. 915. The Missouri court said: tion,' "Whatever may have been his knowlcompany a discount of paper acquired which he did not represent it." in his negotiations for the company which he represented. It seems to be of a corporation through his private 145; Hyde v. Larkin, 35 Mo. App. 366; Bank v. Woodward, 5 N. H. 301, 308.

¹ Benton v. German-American Na- Johnston v. Shortridge, 93 Mo. 227; s. tional Bank, (Mo. 1894) 26 S. W. Rep. c., 6 S. W. Rep. 64; Bank r. Lovitt, 975; citing 1 Mor. Priv. Corp. § 540c; 114 Mo. 519; s. c., 21 S. W. Rep. 825. Bank v. Loyhed, 28 Minn. 396; s. c., In this last case, which is quite anala-10 N. W. Rep. 421; DeKay v. Water gous to the case in hand, we held that: Co., 38 N. J. Eq. 158; Wilson r. Bank, 'An officer of a banking corporation (Pa.) 7 Atl. Rep. 145. Sec. also, has a perfect right to transact his own Bank r. Christopher, 40 N. J. L. 485; business at the bank of which he is an Inerarity v. Bank, 139 Mass. 832; s. officer, and in such transaction his inc., 1 N E. Rep. 282; Barnes c. Gas terest is adverse to the bank, and he Light Co., 27 N. J. Eq. 33; Bank r. represents himself and not the bank. Neass, 5 Den. 320; In re European The law is well-settled that where an officer of a corporation is dealing with it in his individual interest the corpo-13 Hun, 485; Oates v. National ration is not chargeable with his uncommunicated knowledge of facts de-State Bank v. Senecal, 13 La. 527; rogatory to his title to the property Branch Bank at Huntsville v. Steele, which is the subject of the transac-A corollary of the foregoing proposition is that if a person is an edge of the condition of the company's officer of two corporations, and these stock account, or of its affairs gener- corporations enter into dealings with ally, that knowledge cannot be im- each other, the knowledge of the puted to the bank when, subse- common officer cannot be attributed to quently, he came to procure for that either corporation in a transaction in

² Duncan r. Jandon, 15 Wall. 165.

⁸ Vermont Mining Co. v. Windham well-settled law in this state that County Bank, 44 Vt. 489. As to the knowledge which comes to an officer effect upon the teller of the bank of knowledge of a cashier that a note actransactions, and beyond the range of quired by the bank was fraudulently his official duties, is not notice to the negotiated, see Fall River Union Bank corporation. State Savings Assn. v. v. Sturtevant, (1858) 12 Cush. (Mass.) Nixon-Jones Printing Co., 25 Mo. App. 374. As to the declarations of officers 643: Bank v. Schaumburg, 38 Mo. not admissible against a bank to prove 228: Manhattan Brass Co. v. Webster facts, see Pemigewassett Bank v. Glass & Queensware ('o., 37 Mo. App. Rogers, 18 N. II. 255, 261; Grafton that certain shares of stock in an investment company were sold by the president of the company, in payment for which the cashier gave him credit on the books of the bank for the agreed price of the stock. The shares were then placed in an envelope marked and figured as an item in the cash account for a sum in excess of the agreed price. The cashier afterwards abstracted from the envelope the amount in excess of the agreed price and appropriated it to his own use. Upon this fact being afterwards ascertained on an examination of the bank's affairs, an action was brought by the bank against the cashier to recover this amount. His defense was that it was his private transaction. The main question presented to the Supreme Court was as to a ratification by the bank of the acts of the cashier by which he claimed that the transaction was his and not that of the bank, so that the profits would belong to him. The Supreme Court approved the following instructions by the trial judge upon this point: "In regard to this transaction the defendant claims that he purchased said stock as an individual and not as cashier, for himself and not for the bank, for eleven thousand dollars; that he borrowed the money of the plaintiff bank to pay therefor, and that thereafter he sold said stock to plaintiff for fourteen thousand three hundred and fifty dollars; and, further, that March 31, 1891, [after he had ceased to be cashier] a final settlement between the plaintiff and defendant was had, and that the facts in regard to said transaction were fully made known to plaintiff, and that, with full knowledge of all said facts, plaintiff ratified and approved the same, and that thereby plaintiff is estopped from claiming thereupon. The jury are instructed that if they find that at said time, or at any time subsequent to the transaction, the plaintiff, with full knowledge in regard to all the facts in relation thereto. acquiesced in and adopted and ratified said transaction, then they are estopped from now recovering thereon, and in this issue you should find for the defendant. And, further, you are instructed that as soon as the facts were known to plaintiff's directors, if they were ever known, it was their duty to either adopt the transaction or repudiate it; and, if they elect to repudiate it, they should repudiate it altogether. They cannot repudiate it in part and adopt it in part. But, as to all acts prohibited by law, no affirmative act of repudiation is necessary. The law presumes that they are repudiated, and will not presume or infer an affirm-

Such acts, to estop plaintiff from recovery thereon, must be expressly ratified, and with full knowledge of all the facts in relation thereto; and the burden of proof is upon the party who relies upon a ratification of such unauthorized and unlawful act to prove that the principal, having such knowledge, acquiesced in and adopted and ratified such acts of its servants and agents."1 The Supreme Court of Iowa also in this case approved the refusal of the trial judge to allow the defendant to show a custom of the officers of the bank whereby the defendant, its cashier, had been permitted, from time to time since the organization of the bank, to make loans to himself, giving his notes or other securities as he thought proper.2 law requires.' A purpose of the in- his approval or affirmance of them." struction was to inform the jury as to where the acts of the defendant were prohibited by law, and that as to such matters the law will presume that they were not acquiesced in or approved until expressly ratified. The phrase is not to be understood as requiring a ratification in terms, for there is no evidence of such a ratification. As a matter of fact, the bank did not in terms ratify defendant's act, and hence the jury must have understood that the instruction meant that the intent to approve the acts must have been plain or clear. With that view the instruction is not erroneous. It is said that it is error to say of such acts that the law 'presumes that they

¹ Iowa State Sav Bank r. Black, The instruction means no more than (Iowa, 1894) 59 N. W. Rep. 283. It that, in the absence of proof of an inwas said by the court. "Appellant tent to ratify the acts of defendant, complains of the instruction in that the presumptions of the law are 'the term 'expressly ratified' calls for against it. The law does not require a higher degree of action and a more one man to affirmatively repudiate the definite specific performance than the unlawful acts of another or presume

² Iowa State Sav. Bank r. Black. plaintiff's rights and duties in matters (Iowa, 1894) 59 N. W. Rep. 283. The court said: "The object of the testimony was to prove that the officers of the bank allowed defendant to make illegal loans to himself and thus escop the bank from showing that the loan, now claimed by them, was not legal. The court, speaking of the defendant. said to the jury: 'He had no right or authority as such cashier to loan himself as an individual or to use in any manner for himself the funds of the bank, and all such acts are wholly unauthorized and contrary to law.' The instruction is but expressive of the statute law of the state regulating state banks, and the policy of the law is public. It cannot by any custom are repudiated, and will not presume of the officers of the bank be disreor infer an affirmance ' It is certain in garded with impunity. The security such a case that the presumptions of of the bank against such practices is, the law are against ratification. The in a very important sense, the security law will not presume that one person of the public in dealing with the ratifies the unlawful acts of another. bank. A design of the law was to

8 311. Act of cashier binding upon the bank — illustration.—The cashier of a national bank had a note executed by a certain party payable to his bank discounted by another bank. upon the usual indorsement of his bank by him as cashier. before this note was falling due, the same party executed a note for a larger sum payable to the cashier individually. This notehe indorsed individually and then placed the indorsement of his bank by him as eashier in the usual manner. He then presented before the other note was due this second note for discount to the same bank. They discounted it and upon his request applied a part of the proceeds of the discount to the payment of the other note and gave the bank's check to them for the balance, The bank discounting this note brought its action in a Minnesota court against the receiver of the bank represented by this cashier, such bank having become insolvent, to have the sum due on the note adjudged a legal claim upon the assets of the bank in his hands. Among the findings of the court below was one that "the plaintiff [meaning its officers] in good faith believed that [the negotiator with it in the transactions] was acting as cashier of said bank in said transaction, and had no evidence to the contrary, and no reason to believe anything to the contrary, except what appeared by said proceedings and said notes hereinbefore specified; that said plaintiff gave credit to said [insolvent] bank, and to said [negotiator] in all of said transactions." Also this finding: "Both of said notes were made by said [maker] and by her delivered to said [negotiator] for his individual use and accommodation; but plaintiff had no notice or knowledge thereof, except as shown by the notes themselves, until after it had discounted them." There was an insistment, on behalf of the receiver, that the plaintiff's cashier, who discounted the note in suit, was not justified upon these facts in supposing that the negotiator was acting officially, as cashier of the insolvent bank, in procuring the money on the note; and that his statements or conduct in the transaction were immaterial, in view of the fact that the note showed on its face that it appeared to be his individual note, and he had no authority in fact to make an accommodation indorsement thereon in behalf of the bank. The Supreme prevent such loans being in any way would defeat a principle, if not the made and to permit the proposed entire purpose, of the law." showing by defendant as an estoppel

Court held that in view of the fact that this negotiator was the acting eashier of the insolvent bank, entitled to make indorsements in this form of paper belonging to the bank, and presented himself in that capacity in this instance, the paper itself bore no marks of suspicion sufficient to affect the title of the bank as a purchaser in good faith, which, upon the facts, would otherwise be presumed.1

§ 312. Promise by cashier to pay draft of a customer to be drawn at a future day - not binding on the bank. -A national bank is empowered by United States Revised Statutes (§ 5136) "to exercise by its board of directors or duly authorized officers or agents, subject to law, all such incidental and the bank the second indorser, was 78, 79."

¹ Merchants' National Bank of St. not, of itself, a circumstance so extra-Paul v. McNeir, (1892) 51 Minn. 123. ordinary or suspicious as to make the The court said: "[The negotiator] case one of gross negligence on the assumed to be acting in his official part of the plaintiff, and subject it to capacity, and appeared to be engaged the imputation of bad faith in receiving in the business of his bank. He pro- the paper. Nor, in the face of the posed to take up the note which he finding of good faith of the officers of had before rightfully negotiated in the plaintiff in the transaction, did behalf of the bank as cashier, and to the circumstance that the surplus, substitute another executed by the over the amount due upon the old same party. And the cashier of the note, was paid directly to [the negoplaintiff bank, as the court finds, in tiator either in currency or by check good faith, believed that [he] was act-running to him, amount to notice of ing officially for [his] bank, and the [his] intended fraud upon his bank, evidence sustains this finding. If the or make the plaintiff a purchaser mala new note had been of the same amount fide of the note. It is not sufficient, as the old one taken up, the fact that under the rule applied to the transfer it ran to [the negotiator] would hardly of negotiable paper, under the law be claimed to be sufficient to excite merchant, that there be circumstances suspicion. And so, if the note had been of suspicion such as would put a caresubsequently negotiated by plaintiff, ful purchaser upon inquiry. The cirand had passed in the regular course cumstances must be so pointed and of business into the hands of a remote direct as to amount to evidence of indorsee, it would hardly be claimed make fides, in the absence of inquiry, that such indorsee was not a bona fide or such as to be prima facie inconpurchaser, either on the ground of sistent with any other view than that notice from the note itself, or that he there is something wrong in the title, was bound to have instituted a pre- and thus amount to constructive liminary inquiry as to the authority notice. 1 Dan. Neg. Inst. (4th ed.) of [the negotiator] to make the second $ 796; 2 Rand. Com. Paper, $$ 998, indorsement as cashier. The fact that 1001; Tied. Com. Paper, § 289; Free-[he] appeared to be the first indorser, man's Nat. Bank v. Savery, 127 Muss.

powers as shall be necessary to carry on the business of banking by discounting and negotiating promissory notes, drafts, and other evidences of debt, * * * by loaning money on personal security," etc. It was held in the United States Circuit Court for the southern district of California that under no provision of the statute above referred to did the cashier of a national bank have power to bind the bank to pay the draft of a third person on one of its customers, to be drawn at a future day, when it expected to have a deposit from him sufficient to cover it, and that no action would lie against the bank for its refusal to pay such a draft.1

§ 313. Estoppel of a bank to deny the validity of an act of its cashier in drawing drafts on its correspondent, and fraudulently indorsing them.—In a very recent case before the New York Court of Appeals, which was an action by the receiver of an insolvent South Carolina bank to recover a deposit he is generally understood to have he must bear the loss."

¹ Flannagan v. California Nat. Bank, authority to indorse the commercial (1893) 56 Fed. Rep. 959. The court paper of his bank, and bind the bank said: "In Bank v. Dunn, 6 Pet. 51, by the indorsement. So, too, in the the court would not permit the presi- absence of restrictions, if he has prodent and cashier of the bank to bind it cured bona fide rediscount of the paper by their agreement with the indorser of the bank, his acts will be binding of a promissory note that he should because of his implied power to transnot be liable on his indorsement. It is act such business; but certainly he is said it is not the duty of the cashier not presumed to have power, by reason and president to make such contracts, of his official position, to bind his bank nor have they power to bind the bank, as an accommodation indorser of his except in the discharge of their ordi- own promissory note. Such a transnary duties." The court then referred action would not be within the scope to U. S. v. City Bank of Columbus, 21 of his general powers; and one who How. 356, and afterwards said: In accepts an indorsement of that charac-West St. Louis Say. Bank v. Shawnee ter. if a contest arises, must prove County Bank, 95 U.S. 557, where it actual authority before he can recover. was attempted, but unsuccessfully, to There are no presumptions in favor of bind a bank as an accommodation in- such a delegation of power. The very dorser on the individual note of its form of the paper itself carried notice cashier, the court said: "Ordinarily to a purchaser of a possible want of the cashier, being the ostensible execu- power to make the indorsement, and tive officer of a bank, is presumed to is sufficient to put him on his guard. have, in the absence of positive restric- If he fails to avail himself of the notice. tions, all the powers necessary for such and obtain the information which is an officer in the transaction of the thus suggested to him, it is his own legitimate business of banking. Thus fault, and, as against an innocent party, of that bank in a bank in the city of New York, it appeared that the latter had debited the former with certain checks which the cashier of the insolvent bank had drawn upon the New York bank, payable to certain customers of the bank of which he was the cashier, and then indersed the names of these payees upon the checks, making them payable to the order of a New York firm of brokers, who collected the amount of these checks from the bank upon which they were drawn. The New York Court of Appeals in its opinion referred to the discussion of the trial judge of the question of what the act of the cashier of the bank amounted to in law, as follows: "In his judgment, the cashier's indorsement of the checks in the name of the payee, which he had written in the body of the check, was not, in a legal sense, He said that act did not defraud the persons whose names were used as payees, nor the bank in New York, nor his own bank, but that the fraud consisted in the unlawful drawing of the check for his own purposes, with the intent to convert his own bank's funds. Regarding the transaction in that light, and the indorsement as a part of one continuous act of preparing the check so that the New York bank should pay the funds drawn upon to the indorsees, he very properly reached the conclusion that, so far as the New York bank was concerned, the cashier's intent was the intent of his bank, and, hence, the payment of the checks was conclusive upon it." Then it is said of the review of the legal questions by the General Term, sustaining the judgment of the trial judge dismissing the complaint: "Upon the question of the effect upon the transaction of the use by [the cashier] of names, as payees, of persons who were the customers of the bank, it is said in the opinion that that fact did not prevent the application of the principle which would govern if fictitious names had been selected and used for payees. held, in substance, that the bank, through its authorized officer, had put in circulation paper, with knowledge chargeable to it, that the names of the payees did not represent real persons, and with the intention to indorse thereon the names of the payees, who, for all intents and purposes, were fictitious payees, and whose names were adopted and resorted to as a device to avoid suspicion." The Court of Appeals approved these two judgments.1

¹ Phillips v. Mercantile National 140 N. Y. 556, 559, 560, affirming 67 Bank of the City of New York, (1894) Hun, 378. The Court of Appeals in their national bank of the city of New York was the correspondent of a country national bank. One who, during the time in which the transaction in controversy in this case took place, was cashier. and during the remainder of the time was president of the country bank, all the time practically managed the bank, and his codirectors and other officers had little or no oversight of opinion distinguished Shipman r. Bank though he had selected any names at of the State of New York, 126 N. Y. random. The difference is that, by 318, in these words: "There it had the methods resorted to, he averted been found that the checks were signed suspicion on the part of the directors by the firm, in the belief that the or other officers of his bank. The names of the payees represented real names he used were, for his purposes, persons entitled to receive the amount fictitious, because he never intended of the checks, and with the intention that the paper should reach the perthat they should be delivered to real sons whose names were upon them. payees and should not go into circula- The transaction was one solely for the tion otherwise than through a delivery fraudulent purpose of appropriating to and an indorsement by the payees his bank's moneys by a trick which his named. [The] employment [of their position enabled him to perform. Conclerk | did not comprehend the draw- cededly, if the names of the payees ing or indorsement of checks or drafts, were of fictitious persons | the bank and in indorsing upon the checks the whose cashier drew these checks] names of the payees he committed would have had no claim upon the the crime of forgery, because he was defendant; how, then, can the transwithout authority in that respect and action be said to assume a different did so with the intention to deceive aspect because the names adopted his employers, the makers, and to put were of known persons? As cashier, their checks in circulation for his ac- invested with the authority to draw count. That was a case wholly other checks upon the bank's accounts with than was made out here. It was stated its correspondents, instead of drawing in the Shipman case that the maker's them directly to the order of the partintention is the controlling considera- ies, who he intended should get the tion, which determines the character moneys, he drew them to the order of of the paper, and that the statutory persons who had no interest in them. rule, which gives to paper drawn pay- and thereupon wrote their names able to the order of a fictitious person, under a direction to pay to the real and negotiated by the maker, the same parties, who were intended to be the validity as paper payable to bearer, recipients of the funds drawn upon. applies only when such paper is put If the checks had been drawn directly into circulation by the maker with to the order of the real parties, the knowledge that the name of the payee defendant would undoubtedly have does not represent a real person. The been protected in paying them. As it principle of that decision is quite ap- was, the payees were fictitious perplicable to the case at bar. Though sons in the eye of the law, and the [this cashier] selected, for the execu- only real parties were the firms in New tion of his dishonest purposes, the York, to whom the cashier sent them names of persons who were dealers in such form as that they could draw with his bank, it was in legal effect as the moneys upon them. The fictitiousits affairs. He was engaged in stock speculations on his own account in New York, and drew from time to time, for his own purposes, in favor of a firm in New York, his brokers, on the bank balance with the New York bank. His brokers from time to time returned to that bank sums to be credited to the country bank. The latter, being ruined by fraudulent operations of its officer before mentioned, who disappeared, became insolvent and was placed in the hands of a receiver. This receiver brought his action against the firm of New York brokers to recover the sums so paid to them by this officer of the country bank out of the balance to the credit of the bank with the New York bank. The brokers claimed the right to offset the return payments made by them to the New York bank. The trial court ruled that they were not entitled to do it, and no question in respect of them was submitted to the jury. For this error the United States Supreme Court reversed and remanded the case for a new trial, holding that, at the least, it was a question to go to the jury whether the officers of the bank, other than the dishonest official, in the exercise of reasonable and proper care, could have ascertained that detection for the while, then the con-validity." sequences of his fraudulent acts should ness of the maker's direction to pay fall upon the bank, whose directors, does not depend upon the identifica- by their misplaced confidence and gift tion of the name of the payer with of powers, made them possible, and some existent person, but upon the not upon others who, themselves actintention underlying the act of ing innocently and in good faith, were the maker in inserting the name, warranted in believing the transaction Where, as in this case, the intent of to have been one coming within the the act was, by the use of the names cashier's powers. It may be quite of some known persons, to throw true that the cashier was not the agent directors and officers off their guard, of the bank to commit a forgery, or such a use of names was merely an any other fraud of such a nature, but instrumentality or a means which the he was authorized to draw or check cashier adopted, in the execution of upon the bank's funds. If he abused his purpose, to defraud the bank, in an his authority and robbed his bank it apparently legitimate exercise of his must suffer the loss. The distinction authority. The cashier, through his between such a case and the many office and the powers confided to him other cases which the plaintiff's counfor exercise, was enabled to perpe- sel cited from, is in the fact that it was trate a fraud upon his bank, which a within the scope of this cashier's greater vigilance of its officers might powers to bind the bank by his checks. have earlier discovered, if it might In transmitting them, made out and not have prevented. If his position indorsed as they were, the bank was and the confidence reposed in him so far concluded by his acts as to be were such as to enable him to escape estopped from now denying their these moneys had been deposited to the account of the insolvent bank, and would or would not have accepted such deposits as the return of the moneys to the bank.1 It appeared in a case that a bank clerk, the duty of whom it was to prepare exchange for the cashier's signature, so drew a draft for twenty-five dollars to his own order that the amount could be readily altered. procuring the signature of the cashier to the draft by pretending that he wished to make a remittance of that amount, the clerk altered the draft so that it presented the appearance of a genuine draft for $2,500, indorsed it and had it discounted. It was sought in the action to hold the bank liable on this draft.

counsel for plaintiff in his brief, as further other wrongs, the reply is that

¹ Kissam v. Anderson, (1892) 145 U. parties. If it be said that no officer S. 485. Mr. Justice Brewer, speak- of [this] bank knew of these deposits ing for the court, argueudo, said: "We except [its cashier], the wrongdoer. think [the principle upon which the and that he subsequently drew out trial court acted, which was stated by most of these moneys in drafts to follows. 'It is settled by abundant the other officers and directors of [this] authority that where one has taken bank were chargeable with knowledge the property of another damages are of these deposits. If, through their not mitigated by showing merely that negligence, they did not in fact know. the wrongdoer returned the property that is a matter for which [this] bank without the consent of the owner or and not the defendants were responsiapplied it upon the owner's debts. It blc. [Defendants] had no supervision must appear still further that the over its affairs, no knowledge as to owner consented to such action or that how those affairs were managed. the proceeds were so applied under They were not called upon to go to [the legal process without connivance of place of its location] and hunt up the the wrongdoer, * * *'] does not various officers and directors, and incontrol in this case. Defendants re- form them, one by one, personally, turned this money to the [country] that these moneys had been deposited bank. They deposited it with the to their credit in the [New York] [New York] bank, the correspondent bank. It was enough that they deof the [former], and the bank from posited them, and that that bank, in which they received the money or the the regular course of business, by checks from the [former]. In fact, monthly statements, informed the therefore, the money was placed where [country] bank that it received and held it was before it was taken -- in the those moneys. The learned circuit possession and under the control of judge seemed to be of the opinion the [country] bank. Not only that; the that, as they had assisted [this cashier] [New York] bank, in its due course of in withdrawing these funds from the business, by monthly reports, in- bank, they could not escape responsiformed the [country] bank that they bility, unless the sum total of his dehad received this money, and held it falcation was reduced by their deposits subject to its order, and it was subse- to an amount less than that received quently used by the [country] bank in from him. In his opinion overruling drafts drawn by it in favor of other the motion for a new trial he thus exUnited States Circuit Court of Appeals for the seventh circuit affirmed the judgment rendered in the Circuit Court in favor of the bank, holding that the forgery by the clerk, and not the negligence of the bank, being the proximate cause of the loss, the bank was not liable. Further, the bank was not liable on the ground that the forgery was committed by its confidential employee, because in this transaction he acted as a purchaser, and not as an employee, and the purchase of the draft being complete, he was the owner of it when the forgery was committed.1

§ 314. Teller and bookkeeper — their powers and duties. -There is no inherent, original power expressly conferred upon the teller of a bank, in the powers and duties usually conferred upon such officer and to be exercised by him, to enable him to certify that the checks of the depositors of the bank will be good when presented for proment at some future time; nor is such pressed himself. Here all the money chargeable with his after misconduct, returned by [the wrongdoer] was in- in respect to which they had no part sufficient to replace his defalcation by It will not do to say that they put the an amount much larger than the sum money where he could check it out, sought to be recovered of the defend- and, therefore, are responsible for ants, and the bank had no knowledge what he did with it. They deposited that he had returned anything to re- it to the credit of the [country] bank, place what he had misapplied until he and it was for the officers and direct had again misappropriated it. It is ors of that 'ank to take care of its denot unjust or unreasonable to compel posits. The rule might be different if the defendants to restore such of the [the wrongdoor], the cashier of the funds of the bank as they received [country] bank, was the only officer when they are unable to prove that authorized to draw on the [New York] the bank was not directly or ultimately bank, or charged with knowledge of a loser in consequence of their acts, the state of the account; but the presi-It may be that [the wrongdoer] would dent and teller had equal authority, and have misappropriated the money of were equally chargeable with knowlthe bank in other ways if they had re- edge; in fact, it appears that these fused to receive the checks, but cer- officers did draw drafts on the New tainly one temptation would not have York bank and thus diminished the been in his path if he had found that total of deposits, and the other directhe could not use the paper of the bank ors, also, were under some obligations for his speculations with the same to know the affairs of the bank; and facility as though it were his own it will not do to say that the bank can money.' But surely they cannot be ignore the negligence of all its officers held for his subsequent wrongdoing, and profit by their omission of duty." If they have returned a part of that 2 Exchange Nat. Bank of Spokane they assisted him in wrongfully with- v. Bank of Little Rock, (1893) 58 Fed. drawing, they are pro tanto relieved Rep. 140. from responsibility, and are not to be power incident to, or necessary to, the faithful discharge of any of his duties.1 The court further held that a jury would not be warranted to infer such a power in a teller from evidence that the teller of the bank during all the time of his holding office whenever the convenience of the bank or of its customers required it, certified that checks were "good" which were drawn on the bank by its customers when funds to the amount of such checks were to the credit of the drawers, and his so doing was in some instances known to the bank and was not forbidden. or that it was the usage of the tellers of other banks to do the same; further, that the usage of issuing certificates of deposit by a teller of a bank was not evidence to prove a usage of certifying checks.2 The teller of a bank in New York had general authority to certify checks, qualified by directions not to do so without funds, and to enter them in the books. He certified checks in violation of these instructions under a fraudulent arrangement with the drawer. The bank was held liable to a bond fide holder for value of the cheeks. The court further held that the delay of a year in presenting the checks for payment did not impair of discounts made for them; to pay hour of the day." the checks of depositors as the money is from time to time drawn out, or for (1845) 9 Met. (Mass.) 306.

1 Mussey r. Prest., etc., Eagle Bank, notes discounted; and to redeem the (1845) 9 Met (Mass.) 306. In the bills of the bank with specie when the opinion the usual duties of such officer same is demanded. This is his official are thus stated "The office of the employment, and in the discharge of teller is implied in the word used to these duties he is regularly to account designate it - to tell or court the for the moneys he has received and moneys of the bank, which are re- paid out, not only to prevent mistakes, ceived or paid out. The office is often but to charge him when short or dedivided into two branches, that of re-linquent; and he is also made responceiving teller and of paying teller, sible for the payment of a check when where the business of the bank is large the drawer has not a like amount to and the duties cannot conveniently be his credit unless he applies to the bookunited in one person. When united, keeper for information as to the state the duty of the teller is to receive all of the drawer's account, and then, if moneys offered at the bank in pay- an overpayment is made through the ment of notes and bills previously dis- mistake or fault of the bookkeeper, he counted or lodged for collection as and not the latter is responsible for the they severally fall due, and all moneys loss. And when checks on other offered by customers of the bank to be banks are received in payment or on deposited to their credit on account, deposit (as is the usage among the whether arising from moneys brought banks of the city), it is made his duty by them to the bank, or the proceeds to attend to their collection by a given Mussey r. Prest., etc., Eagle Bank,

the holder's right. A bank will be estopped by its teller, upon the presentation of a check bearing a forged certification, he being the officer whose certification it purports to be, pronouncing the certification genuine.3 In a New York case it appeared that after the certification of a check it was raised and the name of the payer changed. The check was then tendered to the plaintiffs in this case, who sent it to the certifying bank during the busy part of the day, and its teller was asked if the check was good. Before this inquiry the drawer of the cheek had requested the bank to stop payment. The teller, however, responded affirmatively to the inquiry made as to the check being good. The Court of Appeals of New York held that the failure of the paying teller to call attention to the fact that the bank had been notified that the check had been lost in transit to the payer and that its payment had been stopped, which facts were entered upon the bank's register of certified bills, amounted to negligence which would authorize a recovery against the bank; further, that the fact that the teller did not know that the draft presented was the one the payment of which had been stopped, and his good faith in making the answer would not prevent a recovery." Should the teller of a bank enter a check purporting to be drawn upon the bank in the bank book of a depositor as eash, and it should turn out that the check was forged, the bank would have to bear the loss.4 Should the teller of a bank, after receiving, as cash, an invalid check upon another bank, consent to take it as his own and look to the drawer of the check for its payment, he cannot, afterward, without the consent of the bank authorities, return it to the bank. A paying teller of a national bank has no power, without the sanction of its directory, to receive after banking hours a post-dated check and to agree, for the convenience of the holder of the check, that he will hold it until the day it is presentable and will then cause an account to be opened by the bank with the holder and the amount of the check placed to his credit so that it can be drawn against.6 The functions of a note

¹ Farmers' & Mechanics' Bank v Butchers' & Drovers' Bank, (1855) 4 4 Dall. 284; s. c., 1 Binn. (Pa.) 27. Duer, 219; affirmed in 16 N. Y. 125.

National Bank of the Commonwealth. (1872) 50 N. Y. 575,

¹¹⁴ N.Y. 70; s. c., 22 N.Y. St. Repr. 397. should in due course of business be

⁴ Levy v. Bank of the United States,

⁵Union Bank of Georgetown v. ² Continental National Bank r. Mackall, 2 Cranch Cir. Ct. 695. b Averell r. Second National Bank, ^{(1890) 8} Mack. (D. C.) 246. As to a ³ Clews v. Bank of New York, (1889) post-dated check the court said: "It

teller of a bank do not extend to the erasure of the name of one of several makers of a note, simply upon his request.1 A bank will not be bound by the statement of its teller that the indorsement upon a check is genuine.2 It is a gross violation of duty for the officers of a bank to honor a check or draft beyond the drawer's deposits.3 A bank will not be bound by an agreement of one of its officers to give notice to a surety in case of a default on the part of the makers of a note pledged as collateral, in the absence of proof that authority was conferred upon the officer to make it.4 In paying a debt due to a bank in good faith upon demand of one whom he finds as one of its officers employed in its business behind its counter, without any knowledge that the officer's authority is so limited that he has no right to receive it. the bank will be bound by the payment.5 The bookkeeper of a bank or his sureties will not be relieved from liability on his bond which provides that he would strictly account for all moneys belonging to the bank and apply its funds to their proper uses, by the consent of the cashier to the taking by the bookkeeper of money of the bank not due him and applying it to his own use. If, in receiving as cash the check of an individual of good credit upon another bank, in which it afterwards appeared that he had no funds, the teller of a bank does only what is usual in the ordinary course of trade and business of banking and the usage of banks in like circumstances, his so taking it would not be a breach of the condition of his official bond to make good to the bank all damages it should sustain through his unfaithfulness or want of care.7

presented by the holder on the day of might be presented in the meantime. its date. It is payable only on that although such payments would leave day or after. The duty of the banker nothing to meet the post-dated checks." is simply to pay his customers' checks over the counter when presented on or Admr., (1860) 40 Ill. 255. after their date. It is no part of his business to receive post-dated checks (1878) 5 Mo. App. 214. before they are payable and to engage to present them to himself, or, in other (Md.) 381. words, to consider them as presented to him for payment on the day when Downing, 16 N. H. 187. they are payable. Still less is it his business to engage in advance to pay (1874) 57 N. Y. 597. checks which are post dated as before mentioned. If he should do so it 260 would be at his own risk, for he could not refuse to pay other checks that Mackall, 2 Cranch Cir. Ct. 695.

- ¹ Marine Bank of Chicago v. Ferry's
- ² Walker o. St. Louis National Bank,
- ³ Eichelberger n. Finley, 7 H. & J.
- ⁴ New Hampshire Savings Bank v.
- ⁵ East River National Bank v. Gove,
- 6 Chew v. Ellingwood, (1885) 86 Mo.
- [†]Union Bank of Georgetown v.

CHAPTER XI.

DEPOSITS AND CHECKS.

- § 815. General deposits.
 - 316. Depositors duty and rights.
 - 317. When the ownership of a deposit is questioned - rules.
 - 318. Passing of title by deposit of check.
 - 319. Deposits in savings banks.
 - 320. Receiving deposits by a bank knowing its insolvency.
 - 321. Certificates of deposit.
 - 322. Special deposits
 - 323. The duty of a bank as to deposits and its right as to their application.

- § 324. Checks generally.
 - 325. Certification of checks.
 - 326. Acceptance of a check by a bank - illustration.
 - 327. Presentment of checks for navment.
 - 398. When a draft on a bank fails to bind the fund in bank.
 - 329. Forged checks rules.
 - 330. Payment of forged checks or payment of checks on torged indorsements.
 - 331. Payment of raised checks.

§ 315. General deposits.—It is now perfectly well settled that the relation between banker and customer who pays money into the bank, or to whose credit money is received there on deposit, is the ordinary relation of debtor and creditor; and that when the bank receives the money as an ordinary deposit and gives credit to the depositor, the money becomes the funds of the bank and may be used by it as any other funds to which it may be entitled. It is accountable for the deposits that it may receive as debtor; and in respect to ordinary deposits, there is an implied agreement between the bank and the depositor that the checks of the latter will be honored to extent of the fund standing to his credit.1 A deposit is general, unless made special by the depos-public v. Millard, 10 Wall. 152, 155. (1876) 2 Mo. App. 563; Union Bank r

¹ Hardy & Bros. r. Chesapeake Bank, Fear, 65 N. C. 13; McGregor v. (1879) 51 Md. 562, 585; Horwitz v. Loomis, 1 Disney (Ohio), 247; Perley Ellinger, 31 Md. 492, 503; Foley r. v. Muskegon County, 32 Mich. 182; Hill, 2 H. L. Cas. 28; Thompson v. Neely v. Rood, 54 Mich. 134; Knecht Riggs, 5 Wall. 603; Bank of the Re- v. United States Savings Institution, As to the relation between general de- Tutt, (1878) 5 Mo. App. 312; State v. positors and a bank, see Marine Keim, 8 Neb. 63, 67; First National Bank v. Fulton Bank, 2 Wall, 252; Bank v. Gandy, 11 Neb. 431, 434; Sew-Phoenix Bank v. Risley, 111 U.S. 125; and County v. Cuttle, 14 Neb. 149; Long-Planters' Bank v. Union Bank, 16 bottom's Exrs. v. Babcock, 9 La. 50; Wall, 488; Boyden r. Bank of Cape Grant r. Fiol, 17 La. 162; Wall c Spuritor, or it is made expressly in some particular capacity by him. On a general deposit there will be an implied promise on the part of the bank receiving it to restore not the same funds, but an equivalent sum when demanded.1 This liability to pay out the same on the checks of the depositor is implied by the law, without a special contract to that effect.2 The law implies, also, that where a bank receives bank notes for deposit, in the absence of any agreement to the contrary, that the bank takes them at its own risk.8 And even though a bank should take bank notes with the understanding that the risk of their being good was to rest upon the depositor, yet, it is the duty of the bank, upon knowledge of the insolvency of the bank issuing the notes, to give legal notice of the fact to the depositor; and a failure to notify him will not be excused by the depositor's having knowledge of the fact.4 A bank receiving a sum of money on deposit generally, must account to the depositor for the amount in good funds, and a local custom of bankers would not be admissible in evidence, to change the liability of the bank." Whenever the relation of debtor and creditor exists between the bank and a depositor, the bank will be liable for any depreciation of the currency.6 Where money is collected and mixed up with the general funds lock, 10 La. 342; In re Louisiana Savings Bank, 40 La. Ann. 514. That (Del.) 235. money, checks or bill deposited by a general depositor in a bank become the property of the bank, and the relation 28 III. 90. of debtor and creditor between the bank (1885) 102 Ind. 464.

Gorbit v. Bank of Smyrna, 2 Harr.

Ewen v. Davis, 89 Ind. 109.

⁹ Thompson v. Riggs, 6 D. C. 99.

⁵ Marine Bank of Chicago v. Birney,

⁶ Marine Bank of Chicago v. Chandand depositor is thereby created, see ler, 27 Ill. 525. In Kupfer c. Bank of Matter of Franklin Bank, (1828) 1 Galena, (1864) 34 Ill. 329, a deposit of Paige Ch. 249; Chapman v. White, gold coin had been made in the bank (1852) 6 N. Y. 412; Commercial Bank prior to the passage of the "legal of Albany v Hughes, (1837) 17 Wend. tender" laws by congress, and had 94; Marsh v. Oneida Central Bank been drawn out by checks paid in (1861) 34 Barb. 298; Ætua National treasury notes. The Supreme Court Bank v. Fourth National Bank, (1871) of Illinois held that the bank was 46 N. Y. 82. Under what circum- responsible for the value of the coin stances the trustee of a school district as compared with the notes in which by a deposit in bank becomes the cred- the drafts or checks on this deposit itor of the bank, see Union School were paid. As to the right to pay in Township v. First National Bank, treasury notes of the United States where the deposit was made in gold or ¹ Brahm v. Adkins, 77 Ill. 268; Mc- other coin, see Thompson v. Riggs, 6 D. C. 99.

of a bank it becomes a general deposit to the credit of the party for whom the collection was made, and is governed by the rules which obtain in ordinary cases of deposit of money with banks.1 In such case, therefore, should the funds after such mingling become depreciated, the bank must sustain the loss and not the one for whom the collections were made.2 Where a depositor makes a deposit with a bank to his credit, with instructions to apply it to the payment of a claim against him held for collection, there must be an actual appropriation of the money for that purpose before it will operate a payment of the claim. Until this is done the instructions may be countermanded. The money deposited is the money of the bank and the depositor may draw upon it or direct its appropriation in some other way.' When a bank, in the ordinary transaction of its business, receives money on general deposit, the money thereby becomes the property of the bank and the bank becomes debtor to the depositor for the amount as so much money had and received, and any subsequent loss of the money or destruction of its value, falls on the bank. The depositor is only a creditor of the bank. If the bank fail, and be unable to pay its debts in full, the depositor comes in only as a general creditor and can only receive his pro rata share of the assets.5 Where money is deposited with a bank by a board of officials in their official relation, when superseded by the appointment of a new board, the money becomes subject to the check of the new board.6 A banking corporation taking from another an assignment of all of its property, on, as a consideration, agreeing to pay all of the debts and liabilities of this other, and proceeding to conduct the business of banking, and crediting a depositor of the former with the amount of his deposit upon its own books of account, thereby assumes the relation to the depositor which the former owes to him.7 The receipt of a cashier of a bank is evidence of a deposit in a bank.8 In a New York case where a bookkeeper in the bank, as well as bookkeeper for one of more, 28 Ill 463.

² Ibid.

³ Moore v. Meyer, 57 Ala. 20.

⁴ Henry v. North, Bank of Ala., 63 Denio, 555. Ala. 527.

⁵ Ibid.

Carman v. President & Directors of the Franklin Bank of Baltimore, 75.

¹ Marine Bank of Chicago v. Rush- (1883) 61 Md. 467. The court refers to and comments upon Lewis r. Park Bank, 42 N. Y. 463, and Swartwout r. Mechanics' Bank of New York, 5.

Green r. Odd Fellows' Savings & Commercial Bank, (1884) 65 Cal. 71.

⁸ State Bank v. Kain, Breese (Ill.), the bank's depositors, received from the latter money for the purpose of depositing it in bank, entered the amount in the ledger of the bank and in the depositor's bank book, but the money was not received by the latter nor entered in the cash book. it was held that in making the deposit the bookkeeper was the agent of the depositor and not of the bank, and that the bank was not accountable for the money intrusted by the depositor to the bookkeeper for deposit.1 A credit on the books of a bank for a general deposit is an acknowledgment of the receipt of so much money.2 A paper headed with the names of bankers, showing that a party had made a deposit with them, stating the amount thereof, and signed by them, has been held to be bona fide evidence of a general deposit against the bankers.3 A pass book. . given by a bank to a depositor, is not a written contract but is prima facie evidence that the bank has received the amounts on the dates therein stated, and binds the bank like any other form of receipt, and is open to explanation by evidence alignde.4 Should a bank receive the deposit of a minor it must honor his checks. Should a bank credit a depositor with the amount of a check drawn upon it by another of its customers, and there be no want of good faith upon the part of the depositor, the act of crediting would be equivalent to a payment in money. And a bank, it has been held, could not recall or repudiate the payment, because, upon an examination of the accounts of the drawer, it was ascertained that he was without funds to meet the check, though when the payment was made the officer making it labored under the mistake that there were funds sufficient.6 A check left with a bank for collection and credited to the deposdepositor's bank book to prove that Rep. 763. the amount deposited was a smaller sum has been queried in Johnson r. (Pa.) 557. Farmers' Bank, 1 Harr. (Del.) 117.

⁴ Johns. 377.

⁸ Brahm v. Adkins, 77 Ill. 263.

¹ Manhattau Co. v. Lydig, (1809) Law J. 43; Auderson v. Leverick, (Iowa) 30 N. W. Rep. 39. The court ² Corbit v. Bank of Smyrna, 2 distinguished Jassoy v. Horn, 64 Ill. Harr, (Del.) 235. Whether a bank can 379, and Long v. Straus, 107 Ind. 94; go behind its cashier's entry on a s. c., 6 N. E. Rep. 123, and 7 N. E.

⁵ Bank v. Headley, 17 W. N. C.

⁶ City National Bank v. Burns. (1880) 68 Ala. 267; citing Chambers v. ⁴ Talcott v. First Nat. Bank of Miller, 18 C. B. (N. S.) 125; Levy r. Larned, (Kans. 1894) 86 Pac. Rep. 1066. U. S. Bank, 4 Dall. 284; Oddie n. Na-See Davis v. Bank, 58 Mich. 163; s. c., tional Bank, 45 N. Y. 785; s. c., 6 Am. N. W. Rep. 629; Bank v. Smith, Rep. 160; Bolton v. Richard, 6 Term Johns. 116; Asher v. Bank, 7 Alb. Rep. 139; National Bank v. Burkhardt, itor may be charged back to him in case the check proves a fraudulent one.1 Where commercial paper is delivered to a bank under an arrangement that the depositor be allowed to draw against it, the paper becomes the property of the bank, and the depositor cannot thereafter claim it.2 The mere discounting of paper and placing the amount thereof to the credit of a depositor who already has a large balance to his credit, will not make the bank a purchaser for value so as to protect it against infirmities in the paper. Entering the amount of the discount to the credit of the depositor simply creates the relation between the bank and depositor of debtor and creditor; and, as long as that relation remains and the deposit is not drawn out, the bank has simply promised to pay; the depositor has parted with no value and would not be entitled to the protection of a bona tide holder of paper.3 But while the mere discounting of paper by a bank and placing the amount thereof to the credit of a depositor having already a balance to his credit will not constitute the bank a purchaser for value so as to cut off equities, yet, as by the discount and credit, it becomes a debtor to the depositor if before receiving notice of any infirmity in the paper it pays out on the checks of the depositor the full amount due him, including the discount, the bank thereby will become a purchaser for value so as to be entitled to full protection. This rule would obtain though the depositor, by subsequent deposits or discounts, preserve a constant balance to his credit, for, in the absence of special facts demanding a different rule, payments are applied to the oldest debts.5 The fact that the depositor be itself a bank and the regular correspondent of the discounting bank would not change the rules as already stated.6

of drawing checks, Martin v. Morgan, Peterson v. Union National Bank, 52 Ill. 125. Pa. St. 206; National Gold Bank & Trust Co. v. McDonald, 51 Cal. 64; s. (1883) 30 Kans. 412. c., 21 Am. Rep. 697.

100 U. S. 686. The Alabama court Bullene v. Coates, (1883) 79 Mo. 426; distinguished Boyd r. Emmerson, 2 Ad. Armstrong r. Exchange National & Ell. 184, and Kilsby v. Williams, 5 Bank, 133 U. S. 433. When bankers Barn, & Ald. 815. See on the subject will not be held liable as guarantors of a deposit made with other bankers, see Gow, 128; s. c., 3 J. B. Moore, 635; Dustin & Musick r. Hodgen, (1868) 47

Munn r. Second National Bank,

¹ Rapp v. Bank, 26 W. N. C. (Pa.) 30 Kans. 441.

⁹ Flannery v. Coates, (1883) 80 Mo. 444; Ayres v. Bank, (1883) 79 Mo. 421; legal deposit of money in a bank and

⁴ Fox v. Bank of Kansas City, (1883)

⁵ Ibid.

[&]quot;Ibid. As to what constitutes a § 316. Depositors — duty and rights.— Depositors must know and conform to the ordinary usage of business of the bank.1 Where one of two partners carrying on business in his own name deposits moneys of the firm in his own name in bank, the other partner will have the right, during the lifetime of his partner, to change the account, placing it to the credit of the firm, and after his death to draw against it as surviving partner.2 Though a depositor's account may be deemed balanced, and the lapse of time be such that as a whole account it cannot be opened, yet particular items may be shown to be false. A depositor is not precluded by a rule of a bank, that all payments made and received must be examined at the time, from showing afterwards that there was a mistake made in the entry of his deposit.4 Neither will he be concluded by entries made in his deposit book by the bank in writing up his account if he has made objection to it within a reasonable time after the account was written up.5 Where the entry of a deposit was made by the teller of a bank, and the amount was erroneously stated to him by the depositor's clerk, and the depositor questioned its correctness on the day of the deposit, as soon as he discovered a mistake had been made, the Supreme Court of New York held that the depositor should be allowed to recover from the bank the difference between the amount entered and the true amount.6 The United States Supreme Court has held that a depositor in a bank was estopped to question the correctness of his bank account by omission to examine entries in his pass book and vouchers returned, and to report errors.7 They also held that a depositor intrusting exami-

the bank's liability, see Jackson Insurance Co. v. Cross, (1872) 9 Heisk (Tenn.) 283.

American National Bank v. Bushey. 45 Mich. 135 As to the effect of usage of the bank upon other parties, see Leavitt v. Simes, 3 N. II 14; Piscataqua Bank r. Carter, 20 N II. 246, 248; Moore r. Waitt, 13 N. II 415; Crosby v. Wyatt, 10 N. II. 318.

² Commercial National Bank v. Proctor, (1881) 98 III. 558.

Johns. 377.

*Mechanics & Farmers' Bank v Smith, (1821) 19 Johns 115.

⁵Schneider r Irving Bank, (1865) 1 Daly, 500, s c, 30 How. Pr 190. See Godin v Bank of the Commonwealth, 6 Duer, 76, as to what amounts to an accounting between a bank and a depositor which will bind the latter

⁶ Mechanics & Farmers' Bank r. Smith, (1821) 19 Johns 115. In Winter v. Bank of New York, 2 Caines, 337, a bank was held liable to the true depositor, though the deposit had been partly credited to one who falsely ⁸ Manhattan Co. v. Lydig, (1809) 4 claimed to be the depositor, and the bank had parted with value to him on it.

"Leather Manufacturers' Bank v Morgan, 117 U. S. 96.

nation of his bank account and vouchers to his clerk, without proper supervision, was liable for loss by the clerk's forgeries, where the bank had used due care.1 A check drawn by a depositor, never accepted and not accounted for, would be no obstacle to a suit for the deposit.2 In an action against a depositor for an overdraft he may set off coupons, payable to bearer, for which the bank may be liable.3 Should a depositor on the same day of his deposit, and before it is placed to his credit on the books of the bank, direct the cashier to change the deposit to the credit of another, which is done, and the money be drawn out on the checks of the latter, the depositor will not be allowed to recover the amount of the deposit from the bank.4 As a general rule, deposits of money in bank, subject to the checks of the depositor, draw no interest. It seems that if there should be unreasonable and vexations delay in payment the depositor may demand interest.⁵ In an Illinois case it appeared that a depositor in a bank, expecting to be absent for a short time, gave his clerk and bookkeeper a power of attorney to draw checks on the bank against deposits for fifteen days only, and placed the power of attorney with the bank. After his return he resumed drawing his own checks. But after the expiration of fifteen days the clerk contrived to draw checks without the knowledge of the depositor, a part of which he applied to the business of his employer and appropriated the balance to his own use. In the depositor's suit against the bank to recover his deposits, the Supreme Court held that the bank was liable to the depositor for the moneys paid out on the checks drawn by the clerk after his agency ceased, so far

¹ Leather Manufacturers' Bank r. of proceeding against him. Sammis o. Clark, 13 III. 544, Hitt v Allen, 13 ² Jackson Insurance Co v. Cross, Ill 592. And the defending in good faith of a suit brought for the recovery Bank of the United States v. Mac- of the money is not a verations delay Aldrich r. Dunham, 16 Ill 403" In ⁴Neff v. Greene County National Jassoy v. Horn, (1872) 64 Ill 379, where payment of an account evi First National Bank of Springfield denced by the entries in a depositor's book had been repeatedly demanded The court said. "It cannot be said that and ten years had clapsed after the dethere has been any unreasonable and posit of the money, the Illinois Supreme vexatious delay, unless the debtor has Court held that the delay of payment thrown some obstacle in the way, or, was vexatious and unreasonable and by some management of his own, in- that interest should be allowed on the

Morgan, 117 U. S 96

^{(1872) 9} Heisk. (Tenn.) 283.

alester, 9 Pa. St. 475

Bank, (1886) 89 Mo. 591.

v Coleman, (1882) 11 Bradw. (Ill.) 508. duced the creditor to prolong the term account.

as he had appropriated them to his own use.1 It was insisted before the court that the court before which this case was tried had erred in rendering judgment for any greater sum than the amount checked out by the clerk before the bank book or pass book of the depositor was written up the first time, when all the checks were returned to the depositor. It was claimed that from that date, at least, the bank had the right to presume that the clerk had authority to draw checks. The Supreme Court, however, affirmed the judgment.2 In a case where a bank received a deposit of a check under an agreement that the check should be paid out of the first unappropriated funds of the drawer that came in, and large sums came in from the drawer, but all appropriated, the bank was held not liable upon its agreement.3 There must be a demand for payment before a suit can be brought against a bank for a deposit.4 And this demand previous to a suit is indispensable to the maintenance of a suit for such deposit, unless circumstances are shown which amount to a legal excuse for not making such demand. A depositor, however, would have an immediate cause of action against a bank and its stockholders for the amount of his deposit upon stoppage of payment by the bank. An action against the bank cannot be maintained

Barnes, (1872) 65 Ill. 69.

unestion arose in the case of Weisser v. Denison, 10 N. Y. 68. There, as here, a clerk had drawn checks in the name of his employer, and the pass book had been several times written up and the checks returned before discovery balancing of the pass book and the retion of the depositor, and not for that of the bank, and the failure of the depositor to examine the checks is not such negligence on his part as to exonerate the bank from liability for the continued payment of checks improperly drawn. * * * The facts that Hill, 297. the plaintiff [in the case before us] had been thus careful to give the clerk express written authority, and to limit it to fifteen days, and to lodge this au-

¹ Manufacturers' National Bank v. thority with the bank, in pursuance of a previous arrangement, were suffi-2 Ibid. The court said: "The same cient to show the bank that the plaintiff had no intention of giving to the clerk a general authority to draw. The bank was guilty of great negligence in paying checks of the clerk drawn after that period, and cannot be excused merely because the plaintiff of the fraud. The court held that the failed to examine the returned checks. which he had a right to presume had turn of the checks are for the protec- been drawn by himself alone. We consider the reasoning of the New York Court of Appeals, in the case cited, very satisfactory, and adopt its decision as the better rule."

⁸ Johnston v. Bank, 101 Pa. St. 600. Downes r. Phonix Bank, (1844) 6

⁵ Brahm v. Adkins, 77 Ill. 263.

⁶ Mitchell v. Beckman, (1883) 64 Cal.

upon a certificate of deposit issued to one, "subject to order of and payable on return of this certificate" before a demand for payment and a refusul to pay. A depositor will be relieved from demanding the payment of his deposit apreliminary to the right to sue, by a notice from the bank, or by an advertisement, that his claim would not be paid at the counter.2 Upon the suspension of a national bank and the appointment of a receiver, a depositor in the bank, from the date of his demand for it, will be entitled to interest on his deposit." Where money may be deposited by the drawee in a bank to pay a certain draft, not there at the time, the drawers would have no interest on the money until the application to their draft is made. The drawee may revoke his direction at any time before the money is so applied.1 In an Indiana case one who wished a loan of money employed a firm to negotiate it for him. They applied to another firm, who procured the money from their principal, a security company, and deposited it in bank. Soon afterwards the first party executed his note and mortgage for the amount and delivered them to the firm who had procured the money, and they, in turn, left a check on the bank, with one of the firm first named, to be delivered to the first party when he obtained the release of prior incumbrances on his land, which he agreed to do at a certain time. He did not carry out the agreement at the time fixed, nor subsequently, and ten days later, while the check was still in the keeping of others, the bank on which it was drawn The court held that the loss was not his, and that he could maintain an action against the security company for the surrender and cancellation of the note and mortgage. One keeping an account with a banking house, depositing funds which are at the time current, has a right to insist upon payment in current funds, although the funds deposited may, in the meantime, have depreciated in value. There has been a case before the Supreme ¹Brown v. McElroy, (1876) 52 Ind. 404.

⁹ Farmers & Mechanics' Bank v. 4Bank v. 7 Planters' Bank, 10 G. & J. (Md.) 422. 5 Security That demand must be made for pay-107 Ind. 165. ment of deposit before action to recover it, see National Bank of Fort Edward v. Washington County National Bank, (1875) 5 Hun, 605.

³ National Bank v. Mechanics' National Bank, 94 U. S. 497.

⁴Bank v. Higher, 109 Pa. St. 130. ⁵Security Company v. Ball, (1886) 07 Ind. 165.

⁶ Willetts v. Paine, (1867) 43 Ill. 432.

Court of Michigan in which it appeared that the two members of a firm joined in a letter to the bank, in which the firm kept an account, instructing it to pay no checks on the part of the firm unless they were countersigned by a son of one of the partners, who was the bookkeeper of the firm. The other partner made an arrangement with the bank by which he was to get money for their business at another point where he conducted it. He drew a number of checks in the name of the firm at different times which were not countersigned by the bookkeeper. A check drawn in this way finally came back to the bank not paid, and was charged up to the firm. For overdrafts on this account the bank brought its action against the firm. On the trial of this action there was no showing by the bank that the firm derived any benefit from the moneys received upon these checks, it resting its claim upon the contract implied from the signing of the checks in the firm name. The majority of the court affirmed the judgment of the trial court in favor of the firm. A person

1 Gladstone Exchange Bank e. Keat- in the case that the defendants are ing, (1892) 94 Mich. 129. Monroom- estopped from relying upon this de-ERY, J, speaking for the majority, fense, for the reason that there was an said: "It is suggested that the burden opportunity for an examination of the of proof would rest upon the defend- account and checks, and that the deants to show that the moneys did not fendants should have examined these go to the benefit of the firm In my checks, and notified the [bank] of the judgment, this is not the correct rule execss of authority and of the invain such a case. The [bank] seeks to lidity of the checks." The case of recover, notwithstanding it appears Bank v. Morgan, 117 U. S. 96, cited to affirmatively that the money was paid sustain this position, was distinguished out by it upon checks which were in the opinion of the Michigan Sudrawn without the requisite authority preme Court, as follows: "But in the of the firm. There can be no doubt case cited, the party drawing the check about the power of either member of had prima facie authority to draw it; a copartnership to protect himself by the bank acted in good faith in making stipulating that the other member shall the payment; the check passed back not have the authority to bind the firm into the hands of the drawer, with by signing checks, if notice is given opportunity to examine and observe to the bank which is the depository the error; it appeared charged in the of the firm; and when, on the affirma account of the drawer. Under these tive showing of the bank, as in this circumstances, it was held that there case, it appears that the bank has dis- was a duty to notify the bank, in order regarded the notice, how can it be said that it might protect itself. But what that a prima facie case is shown, with- notice was requisite in this case to out further showing that some benefit enable the bank to protect itself? The was derived by the firm from the pay- moment it paid one of these checks, ment of the money? It is suggested its officers knew from direct notificadepositing money with one bank, to be transmitted for his use and benefit to another bank, which refuses or is unable to receive it, and cannot be compelled to receive it, the purpose of the deposit failing, the bank so receiving the same will hold it to the use of the depositor, and must account to him for it. Money so deposited and expressed in the certificate of deposit, to be forwarded in the usual course of business, cannot be regarded as assets of the bank to which it was to be remitted, and the bank receiving the deposit cannot apply the same in payment of debts due from the correspondent bank, nor would such money be subject to garnishment at the suit of creditors of that bank.

§ 317. When ownership of deposit is questioned — rules.— In a controversy over the right to a bank deposit where it is denied that the depositor was the owner of the fund, and entitled to draw the same from the bank, it may be shown that the ownership of the deposit is in another, and that a payment to him releases the bank from liability.2 A receiver of a corporation appointed upon the removal of a former receiver drawing a check upon the bank, where the receiver's deposits of funds had been made for a supposed balance due on that account, the bank declined to pay it on the ground that there was no such balance. The evidence showed the payment of a check by the former receiver drawn to an individual for the amount of money received by him belonging to her and deposited to the credit of the receiver's account. In an action upon the protested check the bank had judgment in its favor. Upon appeal the Maryland Court of Appeals affirmed this judgment, holding that where such a receiver had deposited to his credit, as receiver, money belonging to an individual, the corporation was under obligation to repay such person, and was, therefore, not prejudiced by the they already knew? If either party discussed. was entitled to notice of this transacbank that some person connected with 501; s. c., 37 N. E. Rep. 863. the firm was assuming to violate the express instructions of the firm, of (Kans. 1894) 36 Pac Rep. 1000.

tion that they were violating the ex- which the bank, as well as the defendpress instructions and directions of auts, was apprised." Grant, J., disdefendants. Why notify them of what sented on each of the points just ¹ Drovers' National Bank r. O'Hare, tion from the other, it was certainly (1887) 119 III. 646; s. c., 10 N. E Rep. the two defendants, as individuals, 360, followed in Union Stock Yards who were entitled to notice from the Nat. Bank r. Dumond. (1894) 150 III.

² Wichita Nat. Bank r Maltby, giving of a check by the receiver to the individual in payment of the obligation.1 Neither the bank nor the attorney can deny that money deposited by the depositor as attorney for another belongs to the latter.2 Money credited to a depositor may be shown to be the property of a third person and be reached by attachment against the latter, or he may stop payment by proper In the absence of any extrinsic claim, however, to the money the bank would be bound to honor the depositor's check.3 In the absence of proof of fraud a deposit in the name of a third person is prima facie a payment of a debt due him, and the third person's ownership will be good as against all other persons.4 The prima facie presumption is that money deposited in a bank belongs to the person in whose name it may have been deposited; if claimed by another person the burden of proof would be upon him to establish his ownership.⁵ And a bank will not be permitted to allege that money received by it from a depositor belongs to some one else. In an Ohio case a party deposited money in one bank to the credit of another bank, but, without knowledge of the latter, took a letter from the bank securing the deposit, addressed to the one credited with the deposit, advising it of the deposit, and afterwards delivered the letter to a third person, with his own name indorsed on the letter in blank, for presentation to the bank credited with the deposit. The court held that, as between the depositor and the latter bank. the bearer of the letter had authority to control the fund, and, for that purpose, to write a check or order over the blank signature; also, it was held that the fact that this bank held the note of the party making the deposit, then overdue, did not constitute a notice that the fund was to be applied to the payment of this note.7

Nat. Bank, (Md. 1894) 22 Atl. Rep.

¹ Eccles v. Drovers & Mechanics' Rice v. Foster, 6 Ohio, 279; Mitchel v. McCabe, 10 Ohio, 405; Moore v. Gano, 12 Ohio, 300; Howe v. Hartness, Hill ²Burger n. Burger, 135 Pa. St. & Co., 11 Ohio St. 449; Cornwell v. Kinney, 1 Handy (Ohio), 496; Fuller-*Hemphill v. Yerkes, 132 Pa. St. 545; ton v. Sturges, 4 Ohio St. 529; Putnam v. Sullivan, 4 Mass. 45; Selser r. Brock, Ferry v. McKenna, 9 Pa. Co. Ct. 3 Ohio St. 307. In Tradesmen's Bank v. Astor, (1833) 11 Wend, 87, the facts were that the president of the bank Bank v. Alexander, 120 Pa. St. 476. became treasurer of a voluntary as-Weirick v. Mahoning County Bank, sociation, and as treasurer opened an (1866) 16 Ohio St. 296. See Ring & account with the bank, depositing the ^{499;} s. c., 26 W. N. C. (Pa.) 355.

s. c., 25 W. N. C. (Pa.) 417.

Rep. 17.

^{*}Egbert v. Payne, 99 Pa. St. 244.

A bank cannot claim a lien upon a bank account opened with it by one as the general agent, when it knows that he is agent of a corporation, for an individual debt of the depositor to the bank.1 A factor depositing money in a bank which has knowledge that it is the proceeds of sales of goods for his principal's account, and the principal's ownership, the bank will not be allowed, as against the principal, to appropriate the deposit to payment of a general balance due from the factor to the bank.2 refusing, without cause, to honor a depositor's check has been held liable for substantial damages, though no special loss was In case a bank, with which an agent or trustee has deposited money belonging to his principal or beneficiary, without his authority, and in ignorance of the true ownership of the fund, applies the deposit to a debt which the depositor may owe it, the owner would not be debarred by that fact from recovering the money from the bank if it can be identified. The rule that a trustee may follow trust property as long as it can be traced has no application in an action to recover money as a general deposit in a bank.5 As against a depositor, a bank cannot allege that the fund in its hands belongs to a third person against whom the bank has a counterclaim. A bank would not be authorized to pay out money on check of a depositor in his individual name where the deposit has been credited to him as trustee.7 The money belonging to a county deposited by a county treasurer in a bank in his name as "treasurer," no money of the treasurer being mixed with it, upon his becoming a bankrupt, belongs to the county, and it would be no defense in an action against the bank to recover the deposit that it had been paid to the assignee in bankruptcy of the treasurer.9 There is justification for payment by a bank of money upon orders of the one depositing the money or his agent, until notice funds of the association therein, which account he overdrew. It was held that the bank could recover the amount overdrawn from the members of the association as he drew upon the account as the agent of the association.

¹ National Bank v. Insurance Co., 104 U. S. 54.

² Union Stock Yards Bank Gillespie, 137 U. S. 411.

<sup>Patterson v. Bank, 130 Pa. St. 419.
Burtnett a. First National Bank,
Mich. 630.</sup>

McLain v. Wallace, (1885) 103 Ind., 563.

⁶ Bank v. Mason, 95 Pa. St. 113.

⁷ Ihl v. Bank of St. Joseph, (1887) 26 Mo. App. 129.

⁸ Supervisors of Schuyler County v. Bank of Havana, (1875) 5 Hun, 649.

is received of an adverse claim of ownership of the funds.1 Where a bank is notified of adverse claims to a deposit, as that a depositor has parted with his interest, and others have succeeded to his rights by his act or through operation of law, the bank would not be justified in paying the depositor.2 When a bank is enjoined by a court from paying the sum deposited with it, either to the depositor or to his assignce, it is its duty to obey the mandate of the court, and not to pay out the funds deposited with it until the parties claiming the same can have an opportunity to contest, by interpleader or otherwise, the good faith of the assignment. Should a bank pay to any person other than the depositor the money he may have deposited with it, the bank would be required to show not only that the money did not belong to the depositor, but that it did belong to the person to whom it was paid.4 Where money belonging to one person had been deposited in a bank in the name of another, the bank's payment to the committee of the real owner of the money (the owner having became a lunatic) was held by the New York Court of Appeals to have been legal and to have discharged the bank, and that it was a protection against the equitable claim of a third person to whom the one in whose name the money was deposited had given a check, of which facts the bank had no notice.5

$ 318. The passing of title by deposit of a check.— Whether the title to a check deposited with a bank passes to the bank before collection, so as to immediately create the relation of debtor and creditor between the bank and a depositor, is a question of fact depending upon the circumstances and course of dealing in each particular case. Here certain checks marked "For deposit" were deposited in a bank at a quarter to three on Saturday, and credit was immediately given for the amount of the checks on the pass book of the depositor. The bank closed at three and the next day was declared insolvent with the checks still in its hands. The custom of the bank was, at the close of

¹ McEwen v. Davis, (1872) 39 Ind.

⁸ Springfield Marine & Fire Ins. Co. r. Peck, (1882) 102 III, 265.

² German Exchange Bank v. Commissioners of Excise, (Sup. Ot. N. Y. Spl. Term, 1879) 6 Abb. N. C. Troy, (1886) 101 N. Y. 568. 394.

⁴ Patterson v. Bank 130 Pa. St. 419. ⁵ Viets v. Union National Bank of each day's business, to balance its books, crediting depositors with the amount of their cheeks, and, if a cheek was subsequently returned unpaid from the clearing house, it was charged off to the depositors. This depositor did not know of this custom. He had made deposits with the bank for several years without any special arrangement, and had never drawn against uncollected checks, except by particular understanding. On these facts the United States Circuit Court for the district of Massachusetts held that title had passed to the bank so as to create the relation of debtor and creditor. But these facts being alleged in the depositor's hill against the receiver of the insolvent bank, and connected with further allegations that, at the time the checks were received, the bank was "irretrievably insolvent, and made so by the operations of the president and two others of the directors." and that the depositor then believed it to be solvent, and had no means of knowing of its insolvency, the court held this was sufficient to show fraud, and to render the bank liable to return the checks or their proceeds. Further, it was not necessary for the bill to specifically allege that the officers of the bank had knowledge of its insolvency, since such knowledge would be implied from the allegation that the insolvency was caused by the president and two of the directors. This case was on appeal before the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the first circuit, and that court held that, under the circumstances of the case, no title passed to the bank by the deposit of the check "For collection," and that the depositor was entitled to the proceds of the check collected and passing to the receiver of the bank then insolvent.2 One corporation which had ceiver, (1892) 49 Fed. Rep. 790.

ville, (1892) 50 Fed. Rep. 617. The cause, by the settled customs, recogopinion of PUTNAM, Circuit Judge, is nized by the Supreme Court of the an elaborate one, and it so learnedly United States, the House of Lords and discusses the whole question and so numerous other courts, the bank is distinguishes the cases on this subject authorized to mingle the money at that we give it in this note. He said: once with its general fund, creating pressly indorsed 'For deposit,' does and creditor, subject by further cusnot change the nature of what oc- tom to draft in the usual course of curred in this instance, as there are no business. But, with reference to the ¹City of Somerville v. Beal, Re- phasizes it. The paying of actual iver, (1892) 49 Fed. Rep. 790. money by a customer into a bank of ² Beal, Receiver, r. City of Somer-deposit does not create a bailment, be-"The fact that the checks were ex- immediately the relation of debtor intervening equities, although it em- checks claimed by the city of Somerdeposited a sight bill drawn upon another indebted to it in another city in a bank in which it kept its account, and the bank had credited it to the corporation on its books as a cash item, and the bank, which was insolvent at the time, forwarded the bill to its correspondent in the other city, who collected the same after the bank had failed and closed its doors, brought an action in the federal court for the southern district of New York against the

ville, the word by which the transac- entered to the credit of the city in its tions ordinarily described may con- pass book favors the view of the apveniently have, and, therefore, should pellant; but a careful consideration have, its full natural force and mean- will demonstrate that this was a mere ing. A mere deposit would only re-matter of convenience, and the entry quire a bank to keep; but a usage would have been the same on either requiring the Maverick to do in this theory, as was illustrated in Manufaccase something more has continued so turers' Nat. Bank v. Continental Bank. long, and is so notorious and universal, 148 Mass. 553; s. c., 20 N. E. Rep. that the law can take judicial notice of 193, and Railway Co. v. Johnston, 183 it, and it happens that its terms and U.S. 566; s. c., 10 Sup. Ct. Rep. 390. limitations cannot be mistaken. The On the other hand, the appellant fails bank must use due diligence to col- to show that the city had an absolute lect, and as collections are completed, right to check against the deposit as the bank no longer holds the avails as soon as made, irrevocable by notice bailee, but is authorized to mingle from the bank; and that such right them with its other funds, and thus did not exist must be received by this constitute itself a debtor. This, of court as a matter of judicial knowlcourse, makes the entire transaction edge, notwithstanding the parties in something more than a mere deposit, Moors v. Goddard, 147 Mass. 287; s. c., in any proper sense, but this word 17 N. E. Rep. 532, and the complainwell gives color to all that follows, and in this case seem to have regarded and converts all that is due between it necessary to prove the practice of a the customer and the bank to and in- particular bank with reference to this cluding the actual turning of the matter. This is inconsistent with any checks into money, into locatio operis, theory except that the bank is a bailee according to its meaning as explained of deposited checks until they are colby Judge Story in his work on Bail- lected; as is also the admitted fact that ments, chap. 6, art. 2. Aside from the bank is entitled to return to its the right of the bank to constitute customer an uncollectible check, itself a debtor from the time the though he neither indorses it nor gives checks are converted into cash, or its any special agreement to that effect. equivalent, instead of a mere trustee The appellant fails to show any oblior agent, no qualification of the strict gation to receive back such checks. legal relations created by a bailment unless from special custom; and it is is deducible from the general nature more in barmony with fundamental of the transaction, the terms in which principles to presume that this right it is expressed, or the settled custom, to return grows out of the former or is shown by the appellant. * * * than the latter. It strains the law The first impression coming from the to convert the natural incidents of a fact that the deposit was immediately bailment into a right of an entirely receiver of the bank to recover the sum collected on this sight bill. The question in the case was whether the draft belonged to the plaintiff at the time it was paid by the drawee. If it did the defendant did not acquire title to the money. If the transaction in controversy was equivalent to a discount of the draft the bank acquired the title to the paper; if it was not, the bank merely became the agent of the plaintiff to collect the proceeds.

different character, to be sustained, if not of importance, yet it is noteworthy at all, by a custom violative of the that the parties deemed it necessary to ordinary rules governing analogous prove the rule of that state as though transactions. court to the contrary of what is here- Loyd is discussed by the Supreme inbefore expressed. Railway Co. r. Court in Railway Co. r. Johnston, al-Johnston, 183 U.S. 566; s. c., 10 Sup. ready cited; and its effect is stated Ct. Rep. 390, is not in point, as the (page 575, 133 U. S. and page 392, 10 paper in question in that case was not Sup. Ct. Rep.) to be in substance that a check, but a sight draft, and the de- a transfer by a bank of a draft decision was made to rest mainly on the posited for collection and indorsed ground of fraud, as was stated by the generally, would confer title by reason learned judge from whose decree in of 'reputed ownership.' the Circuit Court this appeal was the pith of the New York decision, taken. Ex parte Richdale, 19 (h. Div. the question being, not as to title be-409, is criticized in Balbach v. Freling- tween the primary bank and its cushuysen, 15 Fed. Rep. 675. It can be tomer, but between the latter and added to what is there said that so far another bank to which the drafts had as the case touches this at bar, the been remitted. Bank v. Hubbell, 117 different judges who sat in the Court N. Y. 384; s. c., 22 N. E. Rep. 1031 of Appeal used essentially varying ex- (decided November 26, 1889), can be pressions, all of which were unneces- distinguished from the case at bar sary, beyond the proposition that the only by the fact that in the former the banker there in question was, under checks were expressly indorsed 'For the special circumstances, a holder for collection.' They were charged by so much relied on as establishing an taneously with forwarding them, and absolute title in the bank from the in- were in like manner credited at once stant the checks were deposited, may on reception and before collection, and perhaps settle the law for the state of such as were protested were charged New York. It apparently was so back. The banker did not keep the considered by Judge Wallace as late proceeds of the collections distinct, as 1886, as stated in Railway Co. r. nor remit them specifically; but they

No authorities have local and peculiar, and not to be gathbeen cited or found which bind this ered from the common law. Bank v. Bank r. Loyd, 90 N. Y. 530, the depositor to the banker simul-Johnston, 27 Fed. Rep. 243. The law were mingled with his other funds, of New York was especially found by and remittances of balances were made the Supreme Court of Massachusetts each week. These covered the existto be as stated in Bank r. Loyd, in ing credits on the books of the banker, Brooks v. Bigelow, 142 Mass. 6; s. c., whether or not at that time collected. 6 N. E. Rep. 766, and though perhaps This method of business had continued

The mere credit of a check upon the books bill was dismissed.1 of a bank, which may be canceled at any time, does not make the bank a bonu fiele purchaser for value. If, after such credit, and before payment for value upon the face thereof, the holder receives notice of the insolvency of the bank, it cannot become a course of proceedings and the practical construction given them by the plaintiff's right to recover. though the checks had been indorsed generally. The special indorsements effected nothing, except to give notice to a transferce or other stranger. They were covered into the transactions, and added nothing to them, because checks delivered a banker are 'For collection' in any view. The checks were accompanied with letters stating that they were indorsed 'For collection and credit.' The court said that this amounted to a direction to credit after the collection; but the practice was to credit before, so that the letters of advice were thus actually Moreover, as already said about the word 'collection,' the word 'credit' added nothing, and was entered into the transactions, because the banker could do this in any event unless instructed to remit specially. In this case the Court of Appeals held that the title to the checks remained in the depositor while they were uncollected. In Balbach r. Frelinghuysen, already cited, the United States Circuit Court for the district of New Jersey laid down as the result of its conclusions the rule that a bank is. until collection, a bailee of checks deposited, or agent of its customers' depository."

1 St. Louis & S. F. Ry. Co. v. Johnston, (1886) 27 Fed. Rep. 248. WALLACE, ing, like the interest coupons of such for many years. Notwithstanding the J., having stated the question involved checks were indorsed specially 'For as stated in the text, discussed it in collection,' the transactions as a whole these words: "The case of Metropoliwere identical in substance with those tan Nat. Bank r. Loyd, 90 N. Y. 581 usual in connection with a deposit as (affirming the same case in the Supreme made in the case at bar; and the Court, reported in 25 Hun, 101), is an authority directly in point against the parties were precisely the same as case the plaintiff deposited with the bank a check drawn upon another bank in a different city, indorsed by him, and the amount of the check was entered by the bank upon the pass book of the depositor as cash, with the depositor's knowledge. It was held that the bank became the owner of the check. The opinions delivered in this case, both in the Court of Appeals and in the Supreme Court, are a full and able discussion of the questions involved, and contain a full review of the authorities bearing upon them. On the other hand, the case of Balbach v. Frelinghuysen, 15 Fed. Rep. 675, decided by the Circuit Court of the district of New Jersey, follows the views expressed in Morse on Banks and Banking (page 427), and holds that the checks so deposited do not become the property of the bank, although by the course of business between the depositor and the bank the depositor has been allowed to draw against the deposits before the paper has been actually collected. Upon principle, there is no reason why, if the parties choose to treat the deposit of such paper as a deposit of cash, the transaction should not be deemed equivalent to a discount of the paper by the bank. Sight bills drawn by one corporation upon another of prominent financial standbona fide holder by subsequent payment.\(^1\) A national bank in Dakota, with knowledge that the county treasurer of a county had not sufficient county funds in his hands to balance his official accounts, consented to give him fictitions credit in order to enable deposit of money. The intention of corporation, or like certified checks their previous dealings. When it apupon banks, are generally accepted in pears that it has been the uniform praccommercial usage as the equivalent of tice between the parties in their past They have practically the dealings to treat deposits of paper as same attributes as bills issued by bank deposits of cash, their intention to do ing corporations, which are merely so in the particular transaction should promises to pay at sight, and are every- be inferred, in the absence of new and where accepted as money, in the ab-inconsistent circumstances. It is quite sence of special circumstances affect- certain that bankers do not invariably ing the financial standing of the cor credit their customers for sight paper poration issuing them. Where bank as for cash, but are generally influenced bills are credited at their face to their by the financial responsibility of the depositors, and are treated by the decustomer or the drawer of the paper, or pository as a deposit of money, the both. If a bank does not wish to asbank receiving them becomes a debtor sume the relation of a debtor for the to the depositor for the face amount, paper to the depositor, this intention although the currency may at the time may be manifested in a very explicit be depreciated. Marine Bank v. Ful-manner by crediting the paper as paton Bank, 2 Wall. 252. When a sight per. This was done in Thompson c. bill is deposited with a bank by a cus- Giles, 2 Barn. & C. 422, in the Case of tomer at the same time with money or Rowton, 1 Rose, 15, and in the Case of currency, and a credit is given him by Sargeant, Id. 153. Some significance the bank for the paper, just as a like must be attached to a credit entry of credit is given for the rest of the de- the paper upon the books of the bank posit, the act evinces unequivocally as each, and the natural implication the intention of the bank to treat the would seem to be that the bank, by bill and the money or currency with- making such an entry, assumes to reout discrimination, as a deposit of ceive the bill as money. Correlatively, cash, and to assume towards the de- if the depositor understands that the positor the relation of a debtor instead bank proposes to receive the paper as of a bailee of the paper. If the cus- money, and assents, expressly or by tomor assents to such action on the acquiescence, it would seem that he part of the bank by drawing cheeks consents to part with the title to the against the credit, or in any other way, paper. For these reasons the conhe manifests with equal clearness his clusions reached in Metropolitan Nat. intention to be treated as a depositor of Bank r. Loyd, are adopted as satismoney, and, as such, as a creditor of factory. The authorities bearing upon the bank instead of a bailor of the pa- the general questions are so fully cited Under such circumstances it and discussed in the opinions in that should be held that the bank acquires case that it is deemed unnecessary for title to the paper just as it would to a present purposes to refer to them." ¹Dresser r. Missouri, etc., Construc the parties in the particular transaction tion Co., 93 U. S. 92; Mann r. Second may be ascertained from the course of National Bank, 30 Kans. 412; Central him to impose upon the county commissioners, who were about to examine his accounts. The treasurer was given a cashier's check for a large sum, which he indorsed and took to the commissioners. They received it, but refused to discharge him or his bondsmen, and placed the check and such funds as he had in cash in a box and delivered them to his bondsmen. The latter deposited the money and the check in another bank in the same place. This last bank, as appeared by the evidence in the case, manifested a desire to get control of this check, with a view to oppress its rival bank which had issued it, and seemed to have a knowledge of how it was issued. The bank brought an action against the bank issuing it to recover the amount. The question of the bonu fiele ownership of this check, and how far the bank holding it was protected as a purchaser for value without notice, was the main one before the court. The United States Supreme Court held that the circumstances under which the check was issued were a plain fraud upon the law, and also upon the county commissioners; that the receipt of it and turning it over to the bondsmen of the county treasurer was a single act intended to assist the bondsmen in protecting themselves, and was inconsistent with the idea of releasing them from their obligations; that the question whether the evidence did or did not establish the fact that the bank in which it was deposited was an innocent holder should have been submitted to the jury.1

§ 319. Deposits in savings banks.— A savings bank cannot refuse to return a depositor's money to him because he deposited 565.

National Bank v. Valentine, 18 Hun, a bank, in the ordinary course of 417; Manfg. National Bank v. Newell, 71 business, of checks, drafts or other Wis. 809, Buller v. Harrison, Cowp. negotiable paper, received and credited on his account as money, the title to ¹ Thompson r. Sioux Falls National the checks, drafts or other paper im-Bank, (1893) 150 U.S. 231. As to the mediately becomes the property of the vesting of title in a check deposited to bank, unless a different understanding the credit of payce and indersed for affirmatively appears. Further, that deposit, see Ditch v. Western Nat. an indorsement by the customer of a Bank of Baltimore, (Md. 1894) 29 Atl. check payable to his own order "for Rep. 72, where there is a full review deposit in the [name of the bank] to of the cases upon this subject. In the credit of [the name of the de-Security Bank of Minnesota r. North- positor] is sufficient to pass the title to western Fuel Co., (Minn. 1894) 59 N. the check to the bank, and is not a re-W. Rep. 987, it was held that upon a strictive or qualified indorsement." deposit being made by a customer of The court cite in support of its ruling it in the name of some one else.1 General depositors of savings banks cannot set off their deposits against their debts due the bank. The rule is different in the case of special deposits out of the ordinary course of business which the bank may have received and converted to its own use. A savings bank in New Jersey, under a special charter, was authorized to receive and invest deposits for the benefit of the depositors, the income or the profit to be divided among them after reasonable deductions for necessary expenses, the principal to be repaid to the depositors at such time and with such interest and under such regulations as the board of managers should from time to time prescribe. Under their regulations they not only received deposits participating in the profits, and not payable except on thirty days' notice, but also another kind of deposits, called by them "special deposits," which were not to participate in the profits, and were to be repaid to the depositors without any preliminary notice. Both kinds of deposits were mingled in the funds of the bank indistinguishably. A receiver was appointed for the bank under insolvency proceedings. The court, as to the relations between the depositors and the bank and the rights of the different claims against the assets, held as follows: That the bank was a mere trustee for the benefit of the depositors; that a depositor who borrowed money from the bank, secured by his note or mortgage, could not set off against his debt the amount of his deposit at the time when the decree of insolvency was made; that the so-styled "special" depositors were not entitled to priority in payment over the other class of depositors; that debts and expenses contracted by the bank in carrying on its ordinary business were to be preferred; that a claim under the covenant in a lease for rent accruing after the surrender of the premises to the lessor by the receiver could not be maintained; that money paid to the bank

Bank r. Miller, 77 Ala. 168; Bank r. H. 228; Bartlett r. Remington, 59 N. Smith, 132 Mass. 227; Fletcher v. H. 364; Giles v. Merritt, 59 N. II. 325. Osbourn, (Minn.) 57 N. W. Rep. 336. Cogswell v. Rockingham Savings Davis v. Lenawee County Savings Bank, 59 N. H. 43. As to the state-Bank, 58 Mich, 163. As to deposits in ments in a savings bank deposit book savings banks by one in the name of being a part of the contract between others, see Kimball r. Norton, 59 N. the bank and the depositor, see Heath H. 1; Blasdel r. Locke, 52 N. II. 238; r. Portsmouth Savings Bank, 46 N. Marcy r. Amazeen, 61 N. H. 131; H. 78. Smith r. Ossipec Savings Bank, 64 N.

in exchange for its check, given for the accommodation of the payee, which was dishonored, presumably went into the funds, and the debt should be preferred; that checks given to depositors on account of deposits were not to be preferred.1 Money deposited with a savings institution, to be paid at certain times prescribed, may, after demand made in pursuance of the by-laws, be recovered in an action of assumpsit. It would be no defense that the institution, having, in accordance with its by-laws, invested its funds in stocks which have depreciated, was unable to repay the whole amount of the deposits.2 Reasonable care and diligence is required of the officers of savings institutions.3 able care and diligence do not necessarily require the disbursing officer of a savings institution to demand strict proof of the identity of the depositor in paying money on the presentment of a deposit book.4 A deposit in a savings bank stated in the depositor's "deposit book" not made payable to order or bearer cannot be assigned so as to enable the assignee to maintain an action for the deposit against the bank. A depositor in a savings bank in Penusylvania drew an order thereon payable nine

Stew. Eq. (N. J.) 163.

Savings, 23 Mc. 350.

for Savings, 56 Me, 507.

for Savings, 50 Me. 507. In this case disbursing officer of the institution in the depositor received a book of deposit good faith. In this action of the decontaining a copy of the by-laws, positor to recover the deposit it was which, in accordance with their pro- held that if the disbursing officer, using visions, he thereupon "subscribed and reasonable care and diligence, but lackthereby signified his assent to." These ing present means of identifying the by-laws provided that "all deposits depositor, paid bona fide on presentashall be entered in a book to be given tion of the book by one apparently in no money shall be paid to any person without the production of the original 597. book, that such payment may be

1 Stockton v. Mechanics' Bank, 5 entered therein," and that "the institution will not be responsible for loss *Makin v. Institution for Savings, sustained when a depositor has not 19 Me. 128: Makin r. Institution for given notice of his book being stolen or lost, if such book be paid in whole ² Sullivan r Lewiston Institution or in part on presentment " Subsequently the depositor's book was *Sullivan v. Lewiston Institution stolen, presented to and paid by the the depositor, which shall be his the lawful possession of the book, as voucher and the evidence of his prop- the owner of it, the institution had a erty in the institution," and that "the right to rely upon the contract of the money of any depositor may be drawn depositor safely to keep the evidence either personally or by witnessed of his claim, or make known its loss order, in writing of the depositor, but before it was presented for payment. ⁵ Howard v. Savings Bank, 40 Vt.

weeks from date. Upon the upper margin of the blank form used were printed the words, "Return notice ticket with this order." On the lower margin below the drawer's signature were the following printed words: "Deposit book must be at bank before money can be paid." The Supreme Court of that state held that there was enough on the face of the order to show that, in the commercial sense, it was not a regular check and was not intended to operate as such, but was drawn on a specially deposited fund, held by the bank subject to certain rules and regulations requiring certain things to be done before payment of the order could be required. "The effect of these requirements," they said, "was to restrain or qualify the otherwise general operation of the order." The court was controlled by the settled doctrine that anything written or printed on a negotiable instrument prior to its issuance by the maker, relating to the subject-matter of the instrument and tending to restrain or qualify it, must be regarded as part of the contract intended to be evidenced thereby.1

§ 320. Receiving deposits by a bank knowing its insolvency.—In receiving a deposit, after his insolvency, a banker is guilty of fraud. In such case the depositor will be entitled to rescind the contract and recover the check.² The depositor of a check upon another bank with a bank which receives it having knowledge of its insolvency at the time, may, in an action alleging fraud, recover the check or the proceeds thereof.8 Upon the

(1891) 139 Pa. St. 52.

Gucder & Paeschke Manufg. Co., the First National Bank of Buffalo to (III, 1894) 37 N. E. Rep 227; Chaffee recover the amount of a draft deposited v. Fort, 2 Lans. 81; St. Louis, etc., with the bank at a time when the R. R. Co. v. Johnston, 133 U. S. 566. managers thereof knew that it was N. E. Rep. 209. HAIGHT, J., speak- the plaintiff to make the deposit in ing for the court, said : "The rule ap- reliance upon the supposed solvency pears to be well settled that one who of the bank was a gross fraud upon has been induced to part with his the plaintiff, and that the latter was property by the fraud of another, entitled to reclaim the draft or its under guise of a contract, may upon proceeds. The same rule was recogthe discovery of the fraud rescind nized in Bank r. Loyd, 90 N. Y. 530the contract and reclaim the property, 587, but in that case there was no unless it has come into the possession allegation of fraud in the answer, and

¹ Iron City National Bank v. McCord, Hadley, 99 N. Y. 131; s. c., 1 N. E. Rep. 537, an action was brought by American Trust & Sav. Bank v. the plaintiff against the receiver of ³ Grant v. Walsh, (N. Y. 1895) 40 insolvent. It was held that permitting of a bona fide holder. In Cragie r. consequently it was held that the eviin exchange for its check, given for the accommodation of the payee, which was dishonored, presumably went into the funds, and the debt should be preferred; that checks given to depositors on account of deposits were not to be preferred.1 deposited with a savings institution, to be paid at certain times prescribed, may, after demand made in pursuance of the by-laws, be recovered in an action of assumpsit. It would be no defense that the institution, having, in accordance with its by-laws, invested its funds in stocks which have depreciated, was unable to repay the whole amount of the deposits.2 Reasonable care and diligence is required of the officers of savings institutions.³ Reasonable care and diligence do not necessarily require the disbursing officer of a savings institution to demand strict proof of the identity of the depositor in paying money on the presentment of a deposit book. A deposit in a savings bank stated in the depositor's "deposit book" not made payable to order or bearer cannot be assigned so as to enable the assignee to maintain an action for the deposit against the bank.⁵ A depositor in a savings bank in Pennsylvania drew an order thereon payable nine

Stew. Eq. (N. J) 163.

Savings, 23 Me. 350.

for Savings, 56 Me. 507.

no money shall be paid to any person without the production of the original 597. book, that such payment may be ¹Stockton r. Mechanics' Bank, 5 entered therein," and that "the insti tution will not be responsible for loss ² Makin v. Institution for Savings, sustained when a depositor has not 19 Me. 128; Makin c. Institution for given notice of his book being stolen or lost, if such book be paid in whole ³ Sullivan v. Lewiston Institution or in part on presentment." Subsequently the depositor's book was *Sullivan v. Lewiston Institution stolen, presented to and paid by the for Savings, 56 Me. 507. In this case disbursing officer of the institution in the depositor received a book of deposit good faith. In this action of the decontaining a copy of the by-laws, positor to recover the deposit it was which, in accordance with their pro- held that if the disbursing officer, using visions, he thereupon "subscribed and reasonable care and diligence, but lackthereby signified his assent to." These ing present means of identifying the by-laws provided that "all deposits depositor, paid bona fide on presentashall be entered in a hook to be given tion of the book by one apparently in the depositor, which shall be his the lawful possession of the book, as voucher and the evidence of his prop- the owner of it, the institution had a erty in the institution," and that "the right to rely upon the contract of the money of any depositor may be drawn depositor safely to keep the evidence either personally or by witnessed of his claim, or make known its loss order, in writing of the depositor, but before it was presented for payment.

Howard v. Savings Bank, 40 Vt.

weeks from date. Upon the upper margin of the blank form used were printed the words, "Return notice ticket with this order." On the lower margin below the drawer's signature were the following printed words: "Deposit book must be at bank before money can be paid." The Supreme Court of that state held that there was enough on the face of the order to show that, in the commercial sense, it was not a regular check and was not intended to operate as such, but was drawn on a specially deposited fund, held by the bank subject to certain rules and regulations requiring certain things to be done before payment of the order could be required. "The effect of these requirements," they said, "was to restrain or qualify the otherwise general operation of the order." The court was controlled by the settled doctrine that anything written or printed on a negotiable instrument prior to its issuance by the maker, relating to the subject-matter of the instrument and tending to restrain or qualify it, must be regarded as part of the contract intended to be evidenced thereby.1

§ 320. Receiving deposits by a bank knowing its insolvency.—In receiving a deposit, after his insolvency, a banker is guilty of fraud. In such case the depositor will be entitled to rescind the contract and recover the check.2 The depositor of a check upon another bank with a bank which receives it having knowledge of its insolvency at the time, may, in an action alleging fraud, recover the check or the proceeds thereof.8 Upon the

(1891) 139 Pa. St. 52.

Gueder & Paeschke Manufg. Co., the First National Bank of Buffalo to (Ill. 1894) 37 N. E. Rep 227; Chaffee recover the amount of a draft deposited v. Fort, 2 Lans. 81; St. Louis, etc., with the bank at a time when the R. R. Co. v. Johnston, 133 U. S. 566. managers thereof knew that it was N. E. Rep. 209. HAIGHT, J., speak- the plaintiff to make the deposit in ing for the court, said: "The rule ap- reliance upon the supposed solvency pears to be well settled that one who of the bank was a gross fraud upon has been induced to part with his the plaintiff, and that the latter was property by the fraud of another, entitled to reclaim the draft or its under guise of a contract, may upon proceeds. The same rule was recogthe discovery of the fraud rescind nized in Bank r. Loyd, 90 N. Y. 530the contract and reclaim the property, 537, but in that case there was no unless it has come into the possession allegation of fraud in the answer, and

¹ Iron City National Bank v. McCord, Hadley, 99 N. Y 131; s. c., 1 N. E. Rep. 537, an action was brought by American Trust & Sav. Bank v. the plaintiff against the receiver of ³ Grant v. Walsh, (N. Y. 1895) 40 insolvent. It was held that permitting of a bong fide holder. In Cragie c. consequently it was held that the evi-

discovery of the fraud practiced by a banker in receiving on deposit a check or draft, when he knows that he is insolvent, the depositor may rescind the contract, and reclaim the check or draft deposited, unless such check or draft has come into the possession of a bonu fide holder for value.1 If the proceeds of such a check or draft can be traced, the fund will create a trust in favor of the depositor in those proceeds.2 Should a bank receiving from one of its customers, for deposit, his cheek upon another bank, knowing its own insolvency at the time, and transfer this check to another bank, in an action by the latter against the drawce of the check, if the drawee answer, by way of defense, that there was fraud practiced upon him by the receiver of the check, and show such fraud, the burden of showing that it was a bona fide holder of the check would be upon the bank to which the check was transferred.3 In a South Dakota case it appeared that the plain-was properly excluded."

¹ National Citizens' Bank of New York r. Howard, (N. Y. Super. Ct. Spl. Term, 1886) 3 How. Pr. (N. S.) 511

⁹ Importers' & Traders' Bank v. Everett, (Sup. Ct. 1889) 21 N. Y. St. Repr. 98; s. c., 4 N. Y. Supp. 599; citing Anonymous, 67 N. Y. 598.

"Grant v. Walsh, (N. Y. 1895) 40 N. Vosburgh v. Diefendorf, 119 N. Y. 55 N. Y. 440; Wilson v. Rocke, 58 N.

dence offered, tending to show fraud, 357-364, s. c., 23 N. E. Rep. 801, O'BRIEN, J., says. 'In this state it must be regarded now as a settled rule that, when a maker of negotiable paper shows that it has been obtained from him by fraud or duress, a subsequent transferee must, before entitled to recover on it, show that he is a bona fide purchaser.' In Bank v. Green, 43 N. Y. 298, it was held that a party suing upon a negotiable note E. Rep. 200. HAIGHT, J., speaking purchased before maturity is prefor the Court of Appeals, said; "In sumed, in the first instance, to be a Bank v. Diefendorf, 123 N. Y. 191- bona fide holder, but when the maker 206; S. C., 25 N. E. Rep. 402, Ruger, has shown that the note was obtained Ch. J., in delivering the opinion of the from him under duress, or that he was court, says: 'The burden of making defrauded of it, the plaintiff would out good faith is always upon the then be required to show under what party asserting his title as a bona fide circumstances, and for what value, he holder, in a case where the proof became the holder. The reason of shows that the paper has been fraudu- this rule, as stated by RAPALLO, J., is lently, feloniously or illegally ob- that 'where there is a fraud the pretained from its maker or owner, sumption is that he who is guilty will Such a party makes out his title by part with the note for the purpose of presumptions, until it is impeached enabling some third party to recover by evidence showing the paper had a upon it, and such presumption fraudulent inception; and when this operates against the holder, and it is done the plaintiff can no longer rest devolves upon him to show that he upon the presumptions, but must gave value for it.' Citing Bank v. show affirmatively his good faith.' In Noxon, 45 N. Y. 762; Bank v. Carll, tiff had deposited with a bank, a few days before its insolvency was admitted and its doors closed, a sum of money, taking from the bank a receipt, stating the purpose for which the money was left. This purpose was, as shown by the receipt, that when a warranty deed, properly executed, conveying to him certain lands, together with an abstract showing good title in the party who was to execute this deed, was delivered to the bank by the grantor, the money was to be paid to the latter. The bank going into the hands of a receiver, the latter refused to pay the sum of money to the plaintiff upon demand. The Supreme Court affirmed the order of the court in which the proceedings in insolvency were instituted to the receiver to pay this money to the plaintiff on his petition for such order, holding that the sum of money so deposited was a trust fund, and did not become assets of the bank, nor pass to the receiver as such. A depositor in a bank in Nebraska which had

Y. 642; Nickerson v. Ruger, 76 N. Y. bank. Suppose, under the same cu-(1887) 45 Hun, 93.

279; 2 Greenl. Ev. § 172, Bailey r. cumstances, [plaintift] had left the Bidwell, 13 Mees. & W. 73." As to money with [the secretary] personally, fraud in receiving deposits by bankers and he had failed and made an assignwith a knowledge of their insolvency, ment, would this money so found in see Cragie v. Hadley, (1885) 99 N. Y. his possession pass to his assignee as 131; Rochester Printing Co. v. Loomis, his property? If so, when and how did it become due? That he, or the ¹ Kimmel v. Dickson, (S. D. 1894) 58 bank in this case, had, without the N. W. Rep. 561. There was pre- consent of [the plaintiff] diverted the sented to the court, on behalf of the money and used it for some other purreceiver, an affidavit of the secretary pose, ought not to affect [his] rights. of the bank stating that when it was Abuse of a trust can confer no rights left with the bank this money "was on the party abusing it, or on those treated the same as any other deposits claiming privity with him. It is not of said bank and mixed with the other claimed that [cash or money] found in money therein." It was not intimated the bank's vault when it failed is the that this was done with the knowledge very money or a part of it deposited of the one who left the money with by [plaintiff], and it is not necessary the bank for a distinct purpose, or that it should be so. If the money delivthat he in any manner consented to it. livered to the bank had been used by it The court said: "Upon these facts it in its business, it had presumably either would appear that the money was left paid its debts pro tunto, or increased in trust for a particular purpose. He its assets; and the general creditors of could not, afterwards, without the ac- the bank would be in the same condiquiescence of [the one who left it] tion if the money found in its posseschange its relation to him from that of sion were paid over in execution of a bailee or trustee to that of a general the trust as though the money depos debtor. We apprehend that no dif- ited had been kept separate, and the ferent principle is involved because identical money received had been so one of the parties happens to be a paid over. Peak c. Ellicott, 30 Kans.

become insolvent and made an assignment, claimed in the courts that, upon his allegations that the bank was insolvent at the time it received the deposit specified, within the knowledge of all of its officers, and that the officers received his money with the intention of cheating and defrauding him, he should be decreed to have a preference on account of his claim in the payment from the funds in the hands of the assignee. The Supreme Court of the state held that he did not have a right to a preference over other creditors upon the case made in his petition. In a late case asking the same relief as is asked in this of Dansville, 39 Hun, 187." case, to wit, that the assignee be re-

156; s. c., 1 Pac. Rep. 499, was a case its proceeds, suspended entirely analogous to this. Peak had signed. The court held that the proleft with the bank of which Ellicott, ceeds of the draft constituted a trust upon its failure, became assignee, fund, which did not pass to the asmoney to pay a note which the bank signee, and there not being sufficient was to send for. As in this case, he cash in the hands of the assignee to took a receipt showing the purpose pay the amount, that the same should for which the money was left. The be a lien upon the assigned estate. bank passed the amount to the credit. The same principle, though to someof Peak. After the failure of the bank, what different facts, was applied in it not having paid the note. Peak People r. City Bank of Rochester, 96 brought action against the assignee, N. Y. 32, and again in People r. Bank

¹ Wilson v. Coburn, (1892) 35 Neb. quired to pay over the amount in full 530. The court said: "The rule on as a trust fund. The Supreme Court the subject is stated by Judge Story reversed the trial court, holding that thus: 'The right to follow the trust the transaction constituted a trust; fund ceases only where means of asthat the relation created was not that certainment fail, which, of course, is of a debtor and creditor, but that of the case when the subject-matter is principal and agent, or bailor and turned into money and mixed and bailen; and that the subject of such confounded in a general mass of prontrust did not pass to the assignee as crty of the same description.' Story's assets of the bank. It was held, fur- Eq. 1259. That the foregoing rule is ther, that the manner in which the applicable to cases like this, where the bank had treated the fund by credit- funds in controversy are the assets of ing it to Peak and mixing it with its an insolvent bank, is well settled. In own money did not affect his right to Ill. Trust & Savings Bank v. Smith, 21 •claim the amount from the funds on Blatchf. 275, Judge WALLACE, after hand. Ellicott r. Barnes, 31 Kans. remarking that the property comes 170; s. c., 1 Pac. Rep. 767, was a simi- into the hands of the receiver as a lar case and the same rule controlled. trust fund for the benefit of all the McLeod r. Evans, 66 Wis. 401; s. c., creditors, proceeds as follows: 'It 28 N. W. Rep. 178, 214, applies the would be a violation of law upon his same principles, with the same result, part to set aside any part of their where a druft had been left for collec- assets for the complainant unless his tion with a banker, who afterwards, portion is capable of identification or and before the depositor had received being definitely traced and distinin the federal court for the district of Indiana, it has been held that where money and checks were unsuspectingly deposited in a bank, which was known by its managing officer to be hopelessly insolvent, a few minutes before closing time on the last day on which it did business, and the checks were subsequently collected by the bank's clerk, the whole of the deposit was charged with a trust, and an equal amount might be recovered from the receiver, who retained the specific money among the general mass of the bank's It was insisted in this case, on behalf of the receiver of fund, therefore, was easily distinbank. It is evident from subsequent Trusts, § 128" cases in New York that that case has never been regarded as an authority in cases like this, where the money of BAKER, D. J.: "The bank was inthe claimant has been mingled with solvent, and was known by its presthe other funds of the bank, and can-ident, who had sole management of it, in the hands of the assignee or re- the president was the knowledge of ceiver. In re N. River Bank, 14 N. the bank. Martin r. Webb, 110 U. S. point. The Supreme Court therein, Walker, 130 U. S. 267; s. c., 9 Sup. after showing that Cragic v. Hadley Ct. Rep. 519. It fraudulently conabove, hold that the petitioner was not plainant, who was ignorant of it, and, entitled to preference, although he de-believing it to be solvent, he deposited posited his money on the forenoon of in the bank bank notes and cheeks to the day on which the bank closed its [a certain] amount within five minutes doors, on the assurance that it was of its final collapse. The reception of solvent, upon the ground that it did the money and checks, under such cir-guished,' etc. Counsel for plaintiff of the insolvent bank through the in error rely with confidence upon the traud of its officers, and the bank, a case of Cragie v. Hadley, 99 N Y. trustee a maleficio, gave the defendant 131. We do not, however, regard that no right to a preference over other case as authority. That was an ac- creditors unless it could trace and retion against the defendants for the cover its property.' And such is the proceeds of a draft received for collec- law as recognized from the earliest tion from an insolvent bank. The history by the courts of chancery. Ryall v. Rolle, 1 Atkyns, 173, Thomp. guishable from the other assets of the son's Appeal, 22 Pa. St. 16; Perry on the bank, that, though the money and checks were obtained by fraud, the title to them vested in the bank; and that the only relation subsisting between the plaintiff depositor and the bank was that of creditor and debtor; and that he could not reclaim the money and checks, because money has no mark and cannot be identified; and that the plaintiff had no lien on the funds in the receiver's hands entitling him to priority or preference over the other creditors of the bank. The court held adversely to this contention; that the depositor was entitled to be preferred out of the funds in the hands of the receiver.1

¹Wasson v. Hawkins, (1894) 59 Fed. Rep. 233. Arguendo, it was said by not be distinguished from other assets to be insolvent. The knowledge of Y. Supp. 261, is a case directly in 7; s. c., 3 Sup Ct. Rep. 428; Bank v. was not authority, for the reason given cealed its insolvency from the comnot appear that the money had not cumstances, was a fraud upon the gone into the general funds of the plaintiff, and entitled him to rescind bank, and because he had failed to the transaction, and recover back his impress upon the funds in the hands deposit from the bank. The keeping of the receiver the character of a trust. of the bank open, and the conducting In Atkinson v. Rochester Printing ('o., of its business in the usual manner, 114 N. Y. 168, the same distinction is constituted a representation to its cusmade, and the court says: 'The fact tomers of the solvency of the bank, that the defendant became a creditor upon which they had the right to rely;

tute a fraud upon him. The title acquired by the bank to the money and checks deposited under such circumstances would be voidable at the election of the depositor, who could bring suit to recover his deposit, without any previous demand. The bank would become a trustee ex maleficio. and would hold the deposit for the use of the depositor, and subject to his right of reclamation. Railway Co. r. Johnston, 133 U. S. 566; s. c., 10 Sup Ct. Rep. 390; Cragie v. Hadley, 99 N. Y. Rep. 131; s. c., 1 N. E. Rep. 537; City of Somerville v. Beal, 49 Fed. Rep. 790; Peck v. Bank, 43 Fed. Rep. 357. In the case of Cragie v. Hadley, supra, it was held that the acceptance of the deposit by a bank hopelessly insolvent constituted such a fraud as entitled the depositor to his drafts or their proceeds. In Anonymous Case, 67 N. Y. 598, the court say: 'This is not like the case of a trader who has become embarrassed and insolvent, and yet has reasonable hopes that by buy goods on credit, making no false and if the bank was known to be in- Pinner, 18 N. Y. 205; Brown v. Montsolvent by the officers who were gomery, 20 N. Y. 287; Johnson v. Mocharged with its management, the con- nell, 2 Keyes, 655; Chaffee v. Fort, cealment of that fact from a person 2 Lans. 81. But it is believed that no about to make a deposit would consti- case can be found in the books holding that a trader who was hopelessly insolvent and knew that he could not pay his debts, and that he must fail in business, and thus disappoint his creditors, could honestly take advantage of a credit induced by his apparent prosperity, and thus obtain property which he had every reason to believe he could never pay for.' And it was decided that 'in the case of bankers, where greater confidence is asked and reposed, and where dishonest dealings may cause widespread disaster, a more rigid responsibility for good faith and honest dealing will be enforced than in the case of merchants and other traders;' and that 'a banker who is, to his own knowledge, hopelessly insolvent, cannot honestly continue his business and receive the money of his customers; and, although having no actual intent to cheat and defraud a particular customer, he will be held to have intended the inevitable consequences of his act, i. e., to cheat and defraud all persons whose money he continuing in business he may retrieve receives, and whom he fails to pay behis fortunes. In such a case he may fore he is compelled to stop business."

¹ Wasson v. Hawkins, (1894) 59 Fed. representations, without the necessary Rep. 283. The discussion by the court imputation of dishonesty. Nichols v. of the question thus raised deals very § 321. Certificates of deposit.—In making the discount of a note, a bank may give a certificate of deposit for the proceeds, instead of paying over the money to the borrower.1 Where one person intrusts money to another to deposit in bank, the bank having knowledge of the ownership, but no discretion as to the

of rents should lay out all the money money has no earmark must be under charge or follow the land." See, money, The true reason is upon the currency sued and reclaimed. fairly and honestly upon a valuable just and the finder, it is true, and it is not at all press notice of the trust.

fully with English as well as other au- away in currency; and this point has thorities, and was in these words: "It been determined even in the infancy was said by Lord King in Deg v. Deg, of bank notes." Lord Ellenborough, 2 P. Wms. 414, 'that money had no in Taylor c. Plumer, 3 Maule & S. earmark, inasmuch that if a receiver 562, 575, observed: "The dictum that in the purchase of land, or if an ex- stood as predicated only on an undiecutor should realize all his testator's vided and undistinguishable mass of estate, and afterwards die insolvent, current money; but money kept in a yet, a court of equity could not bag, or otherwise kept apart from other guineas, or other also, Cox v. Bateman, 2 Ves. Sr 19. marked (if the fact were so) for the And bank notes and negotiable bills purpose of being distinguished are so have been represented as possessing far carmarked as to fall within the the same quality. But the notion that rule which applies to every other money, because it had no earmark, description of personal property white could not be followed into or charged it remains in the hands of the factor upon land in the hands of the trustee or his general legal representative." or his executor, arose from some mis- After these references to English conception, and could not be sup- cases, it was said: "The true distincported. In Miller v. Race, I Burrows, tion, therefore, between money, bank *452, Lord Mansfield exposed this notes or negotiable bills, and other misconception, and pointed out the chattels, would seem to be that the true reason why money could only be former, for the projection of compursued under particular circum- merce, cannot be followed into the stances. He observed: "It has been hands of a bona file holder to whom quaintly said that the reason why they have passed in due course of money cannot be followed is because business, while other chattels affected it has no carmark; but this is not true. by a trust may, in general, be purof it: it cannot be recovered after it notion that money could not be folhas passed in currency. So, in case of lowed, even as between trustee and money stolen, the true owner cannot cestui que trust, because money had no recover it after it has been paid away carmark, has given way to a more enlightened and bout fide consideration; but, be- Money, bank notes and negotiable fore money has passed in currency, an bills may be followed by the rightful action may be brought for the money owner, where they have not been ciritself. Apply this to the case of a culated or negotiated, or if the person bank note. Anaction may lie against to whom they have passed has ex-Miller v. denied, but not after it has been paid Race, 1 Burrows, *452; 1 Smith Lead. manner of making the deposit, it will be warranted in receiving the money and giving a certificate of deposit therefor in the name of the person presenting the money for deposit. And where the real owner of the money deposited, receiving notice of the manner in which it was deposited, fails to dissent thereto within a be traced, except under particular by another.

Cas. (5th Amer. ed.) 597 (*250); notes cannot be ascertained, yet, as it Taylor c. Plumer, 3 Maule & S. 562, is admitted that so much in coins and 575: King v. Egginton, 1 Term R. bank notes belonging to the plaintiff 370; Ryall v. Rolle, 1 Atk. 172; Pen- is in common mass, he is entitled, in nell v. Deffell, 4 DeGex, M. & G. 372; equity and good conscience, to take so In re Hallett's Estate, 36 Eng. R. much out. If he does not withdraw 779; s. c., 18 Ch. Div. 696; National from the common mass the very coins Bank v. Insurance Co., 104 U. S. 54. and bank notes deposited by himself, The only difference between money no injustice is done, for he leaves an and notes and bills, is that money is equitable amount of his own in place not carmarked, and, therefore, cannot of every coin or bank note deposited Pennell v. Deffell, 4 circumstances, while bills and notes, DeGex, M. & G. 372; In re Hallett's having a number and date, may Estate, 36 Eng. R. 779; s. c., 13 Ch. generally be identified with less diffi- Div. 696; Cragie v. Hadley, 99 N. Y. culty. It is conceded that, if plaintiff 131; s. c., 1 N. E. Rep. 537; National could identify the particular coins and Bank v. Insurance Co., 104 U.S. 54; bank notes which he had deposited, he Frelinghuysen v. Nugent, 36 Fed. would have the right to withdraw Rep. 220; Peters r. Bain, 133 U. S. them from the mass of coins and bank 670; s. c., 10 Sup. Ct. Rep. 354; Bank notes which passed into the hands of r. Dowd, 38 Fed. Rep. 172; Atkinson the receiver; but it is insisted that v. Printing Co., 114 N. Y. 168; s. c., inasmuch as the money deposited by 21 N. E. Rep. 178; In re North River him has, like water, flowed into the Bank, 14 N. Y. Supp. 261. And the common mass and so become incapable proceeds of the checks are governed of identification, the right to pursue by the same principle, because the and reclaim it is lost, although it identical coins and bank notes realized is admitted that the very coins and from their collection constitute a part bank notes deposited by him con- of the common mass in the receiver's stitute a part of the common mass. hands. The mere fact that the plain-It is charged in the bill, and admitted tiff became a creditor of the insolvent by the demurrer, that the identical bank through the fraud of its presicoins and bank notes deposited by the dent, and that the bank became a plaintiff remained in the bank when it trustee er maleficio, would give him stopped business, and came into the no right to preference over other hands of the receiver, who now has creditors, unless he can trace and them in his possession as a part of the identify his money as a part of the general mass of coins and notes held common mass. But when it is shown by him as such receiver. In such a by indubitable proofs, or is admitted, case the identification is sufficient to as in the present case, that the identientitle the depositor to follow and cal bank notes and coins so obtained reclaim the deposit made by him. by fraud, constitute a part of the Although the identical coins and bank common mass of bank notes and coins reasonable time, he will be held to have ratified the same. And after the lapse of several years he cannot object that the bank subsequently paid over the money to his agent upon the presentation of the certificate of deposit, the bank having no knowledge that the agent's possession of the certificate was wrongful and tortious.1 A certificate of deposit is prima fucie evidence of indebtedness.2 A certificate of deposit payable in "currency" means prima facie money current by law, or paper equivalent in value circulating in the business community at par.3 By giving a certificate of deposit for current bank notes," the receiver of the deposit admits that to be the character of the money received, and will be estopped by the admission from showing that the funds received were not current, or claiming the right to pay in anything but the same character of funds.4 A certificate of deposit has been treated, in fact and in law, as a promissory note for the payment of money. A certificate of deposit for a stated sum, to draw interest, if left for thirty days, and payable on return of the certificate properly indorsed, has in the hands of the receiver, in my judgment, the modern and better 74. As to the meaning of "currency" doctrine is that the depositor may take and "current bank bills" the court out of the common mass so much as said: "This court has repeatedly held he has put in."

stead, 69 Ill. 452.

III. 281.

payment in Illinois currency, receiv- 21 Ill. 101." able in the ordinary transactions of Bank of Peru v. Farnsworth, 18 specie.

4 Osgood v. McConnell, (1868) 32 Ill. that currency and current bank bills ¹ Bank of Montreal v. Dewar, (1880) have a fixed known signification. That 6 Bradw.(III.) 294. On the first point the the term currency means bank bills or court cited McNeil v. Tenth National other paper money, which passes as a Bank, 46 N. Y. 325; Anderson v. Arm-circulating medium in the business community as and for the constitu-² Cushman v. Illinois Starch Co., 79 tional coin of the country. Current bank bills, it will be perceived, mean ³ Phelps v. Town, 14 Mich. 374. In precisely the same thing as currency. Hulbert v. Carver, (1863) 40 Barb. 265, This question has been repeatedly where the plaintiffs had deposited before the court, and it has been unimoney with defendants, bankers in formly so held. See Chicago Fire & Chicago, Illinois, taking a certificate Marine Ins. Co. v. Keiron, 27 III. 501; that they had deposited in the bank- Marine Bank v. Chandler, 27 III. 525; ers' office a certain amount "Illinois Galena Ins. Co. r. Kupfer, 28 III. 332; currency," payable to the order of Chicago Marine & Fire Ins. Co. v. Carthemselves on return of the certifi- penter, 28 Ill. 360; Marine Bank n. cate, the Supreme Court of New York Rushmore, 28 Ill. 463; Swift v. Whitheld that they were at least entitled to ney, 20 Ill. 144; Trowbridge v. Seaman, business at par, if not entitled to Ill. 568; Laughlin v. Marshall, 19 Ill.

been held to be a good promissory note.1 Where a bank addresses to another bank an instrument stating that a person had deposited with it a stated sum of money to the credit of the latter bank for the use of a third person, such instrument would be in its legal character a certificate of deposit. A certificate of deposit. "payable in current funds," is equivalent to a promissory note, but not being payable in money is not governed by law merchant.8 Indorsees of a certificate of deposit, not bearing interest, who received it more than six years after it had been paid and should have been surrendered, were held by the Indiana Supreme Court to have taken it as dishonored paper, and not as a continuing negotiable security, and not entitled to enforce its second payment after such an unreasonable delay. The transferree by indersement of a certificate of deposit, takes it subject to all equities between the payce and the bank.5 In a case where a national bank upon a deposit made by a depositor over its counter, in the usual course of business, issued to him a certificate of deposit, which he received in the belief that it was the obligation of the bank, but which purported to be the individual obligation of its president, the officers of the bank knowing of and permitting this course of business, the Supreme Court of New York held that the defendant was not bound by the acceptance of the certificate to knowledge or notice that the deposit was accepted by the president of the bank individually, but was entitled, under the circumstances, to believe the certificate was the obligation of the bank, and that the bank was estopped to deny its liability on the certificate. A bank has been held responsible for the money of a depositor notwithstanding a fraud perpetrated by its officers in inducing the depositor to accept their certificate of deposit as that of the bank.7 But a bank would not be responsible for an

St. 449.

² Armstrong v. American Exchange 551. National Bank, 133 U. S. 438.

³ National State Bank of La Fayette Pa. Co. Ct. Rep. 621. v. Ringel, (1875) 51 Ind. 893.

O'Neill v. Bradford, 1 Pinn. (Wis.) Heisk. (Tenn.) 501.

Platt v. Sauk County Bank, 17 Wis. Ziegler v. Bank, 93 Pa. St. 398.

¹ Howe v. Hartness, (1860) 11 Ohio 222; Lindsey v. McClelland, 18 Wis. 481; Klauber v. Biggerstaff, 47 Wis.

⁵ Humboldt Trust Co.'s Estate, 3

⁶ West v. First National Bank of 4 Gregg v. Union County National Elmira, (1880) 20 Hun, 408. As to Bank, (1882) 87 Ind. 238. As to the negotiability of a certificate of deposit, regularity of certificates of deposit, see see Smith v. Mosby, Receiver, (1872) 9

^{890;} Ford v. Mitchell, 15 Wis. 804; Steckel v. Bank, 93 Pa. St. 376;

erest-bearing certificate of deposit, issued by its president in aname of his firm, under circumstances by which the depositor ald not have been misled.1 In an Illinois case it appeared that employee of owner of money, who had intrusted it to him to posit for him in a bank, deposited it in his own name, the bank owing whose money it was at the time. The employee afterrd indorsed the certificate of deposit to the owner of the mey, who deposited the certificate in the safe to which his ployer had access, but gave no notice of these facts to the ak until after the employer had taken the certificate, and drawn money on it, and had it placed to his own individual account, en he did inform the bank of his rights. After this, however, treated the transaction as a loan to his employee for over 'ee years, expecting to have him secure it. During this time made no claim on the bank. The Supreme Court held that der these facts the owner of the money thus deposited could maintain an action of trover against the bank for a convern of the money, for the reason that he had by his acts vested employee with an apparent ownership or control of the money. I had thus acquiesced in the payment of the money to him.2 e assigning of a certificate of deposit transfers to the assignee whole sum deposited, as stated in the certificate.3 An innocent der of a certificate of deposit issued to a cashier, naming him, funds deposited belonging to his bank which the cashier nsferred to him, would be protected, though the transfer may in bad faith on the part of the cashier.4 An attempt by the der of a certificate of deposit to obtain payment of it before

Bank v. Williams, 11 W. N. C. ositor subsequently failed. The to the original payec. rt held that the bank might apply ad against the depositor.

22.

³ Springfield Marine & Fire Ins. Co.) 847. In Jenkins v. Walter, 8 G. v. Peck, (1882) 102 III. 265. In Hazle-. (Md.) 218, a guardian had depos- ton v. Bank of Columbus, 32 Wis. 34, money of his ward in a bank and a bank which had paid its certificate sived a certificate of deposit pay- of deposit to one to whom it had been to his own order. On the day of properly indorsed, though without osit, by an indorsement on the cer- consideration as to one who really ate made to himself, he declared it owned it and the money, and the be the property of his ward, and indorsement was forged, it was held, eed in bank for his benefit. The would not be liable on the certificate

⁴Perpetual Ins. Co. v. Cohen, fund in satisfaction of any claim (1845) 9 Mo. 421. In Philipps v. Franciscus, (1878) 52 Mo. 870, where one Dewar v. Bank of Montreal, 115 owing money to another took the amount, and, after placing it in an en-

it falls due, is not inconsistent with its ownership by some one else.1 The bona fide holder of a certificate of deposit issued by a bank payable on its return, properly indorsed, to whom it was transferred seven years after its issue, has been held entitled to recover the amount from the bank, notwithstanding the bank had paid it to the original holder.2 The holder of a non-negotiable certificate of deposit, which has been indorsed to him in blank by the payee and delivered to him, may make a valid pledge of it to an innocent party, without reference to the equities between himself and the payee.3 On demand of payment of a certificate of deposit in a savings institution payable to the depositor or order, on demand and on return thereof, the bank has the right to insist that the certificate shall be produced and delivered up as its voucher of payment, and security against any future claim.4 In a Vermont case it appeared that an insolvent person fraudulently procured a certification of a check from a bank, which he deposited in a second bank to the credit of a third bank for the use of one to whom he was indebted to that amount. The creditor of the insolvent had previously directed the latter to deposit that sum for him in bank, but had no communication with the second bank, above referred to, on the subject. The bank, on receiving the deposit, had addressed a letter to the third bank, informing them of the deposit and credit, but, before this bank received the letter, notified them by telegraph by procurement of the bank certifying the check, not to make payment to the creditor upon this credit, as there was something wrong. The creditor was also Wrightson, Exr., (1884) 63 Md. 81, it Admrs., 48 Md. 550. appeared that the appellee's testator had deposited a sum of money in the posit stating that the same was payable to the order of himself or of his wife (naming her) on the return of the Bank, (1879) 71 Mo. 188. certificate. The Court of Appeals positor a payment of the certificate to velope, scaled the package and placed the wife was not authorized, but that it in the hands of a banker and took a the bank was entitled to a credit for certificate of deposit of the same, the amount which she had drawn and which he indorsed and delivered to his applied to the use of his estate in the creditor, the title of the latter to the way of personal expenses, etc. Citing money was held to be complete. In Murray v. Cannon, Admr., 41 Md. Second National Bank of Baltimore r. 466; Taylor v. Henry & Bruscup,

- ¹Burrows v. Bangs, 34 Mich. 304.
- ² National Bank of Fort Edward r. bank and received a certificate of de- Washington County National Bank, (1875) 5 Hun, 605.
 - ³ International Bank v. German
- ⁴ Fells Point Savings Inst. of Baltiheld that upon the death of the de-moie v. Weedon, Admr., 18 Md. 320.

informed by telegraph by his debtor, the insolvent, the drawer of the check, that payment of the credit had been stopped. telegrams were received as early at least as the creditor received notice of the deposit, and before he had in any way acted upon The certifying bank, before becoming fully informed of the fraud, had paid the money on the check to the second bank. On the bill in chancery brought by the certifying bank, the Supreme Court held that it was entitled to reclaim the money from the bank to which it had paid it; that the receipt of the money by that bank was not in law a payment to the creditor, considering the relations between all the parties growing out of this trans-The right of action upon an ordinary certificate of action.1 deposit does not arise until a demand for payment is made.2 Limitations on a certificate of deposit payable with interest on demand and on return of same, run along from the time of demand actually made. The defendant in this New York case. a director of a national bank, had deposited a certain amount of money in the bank, and received three certificates of deposit, two at one time and one at another, bearing six per cent interest. The two certificates first issued, the cashier, in a little more than three years after their issue, voluntarily paid by a transfer of negotiable paper belonging to the bank, and the payment of a small cash difference, giving as a reason therefor "that his directors did not like his paying so large a rate of interest;" the payment was not requested by the depositor. Near nine months later the third certificate, which had been indorsed and transferred by the depositor to another national bank, was paid to the bank in the settlement of exchanges between the banks in the usual manner. At the time of the payment the bank was insolvent, and had been so for some years, its insolvency being known only to the cashier, and it was in good credit with the public, request that it should not be presented until three months had expired, and had actually received from the pur- Bank, (1881) 85 N. Y. 580. chaser the interest accrued at the date of the transfer. The purchaser pre- more v. Weedon, Admr., etc., 18 Md. sented the certificate after the time 320. expired and the bank had in the mean-

¹ Bank of Republic v. Baxter, 31 while failed. In an action against the Vt. 101. In Cate v. Patterson, 25 payer as indorser, he was held not to Mich. 191, the payee of a certificate of have been relieved from liability on deposit had transferred it with a special the ground that the presentment for payment was not in due time.

² Munger r. Albany City National

Fells Point Savings Inst. of Balti-

doing business without suspicion. Its financial condition shortly after the payment of the third certificate of deposit became public from the absconding of the cashier and one of the bookkeepers. The receiver of the bank, afterwards appointed, brought this action against the former depositor to recover the amount of the deposits paid him, upon the ground that the payments were void under the section of United States Revised Statutes cited below, which provides as follows: "All transfers of the notes. bonds, bills of exchange or other evidences of debt owing to any national banking association, or of deposits to its credit; all assignments of mortgages, sureties on real estate, or of indgments or decrees in its favor; all deposits of money, bullion or other valuable thing for its use, or for the use of any of its shareholders or creditors; and all payments of money to either, made after the commission of an act of insolvency, or in contemplation thereof, made with a view to prevent the application of its assets in the manner prescribed by this chapter, or with a view to the preference of one creditor to another, except in payment of its circulating notes, shall be utterly null and void." The New York Court of Appeals affirmed the dismissal of this action upon the findings of fact and evidence by the trial court, which had also been affirmed by the General Term. In a case it appeared sented by its numerous customers. ² Hayes v. Beardsley, (1892) 136 N. The first two certificates were paid, as Y. 299. EARL, Ch J., in the opinion, we must assume, for the reason assaid: "The bank had not committed signed by the cashier at the time, beany act of insolvency, as it met all its cause they were bearing interest at a obligations as they became due or larger rate than the directors of the were demanded during more than six bank were willing longer to pay, and weeks after the last certificate was the last certificate was paid to the paid. While its cashier knew that the [bank holding it] in the ordinary bank was insolvent, and must have course of business in the settlement of expected that it would ultimately fail exchanges between the two banks. to meet its obligations and be obliged There was no satisfactory evidence to go into liquidation, yet it cannot be that these payments were made by the said to have been an undisputed fact bank to prevent the application of its in the case that the financial collapse assets in the manner prescribed in the of the bank was impending or immi- National Banking Act or with a view nent, and there is little if any ground to a preference of the defendant over for saying that these payments were the other creditors of the bank. The made in contemplation of insolvency. circumstances under which the pay-The cashier paid the certificates, as he ments were made and the condition did all other demands upon the bank and credit of the bank at the time foras they were from time to time pre- bid the inference that the payments that two persons who were directors both of a savings bank and of a national bank, procured money from the savings bank on two notes made by third persons to them, and given for the payment of stock of the national bank, issued in the names of the third persons for their benefit. These persons represented to the savings bank that it would have to carry the notes but a short time, and that the national bank would take care of them. They were behind in their account with the national bank, and the savings bank allowed them to overdraw their accounts with it to a large amount, which money was used in settling their accounts with the national bank. After this the savings bank delivered the notes and the check representing the overdrafts to the national bank, and received from the latter a certificate of deposit for an amount covering the whole amount represented by the notes and check. In a suit by the receiver of the savings bank, which had become insolvent, against the receiver of the national bank.

1 & 5242.

were made for such a purpose. The bid such an inference." defendant was not selected as a favor- effect of the defendant being a diite creditor. During all the years of rector it was said. "The insolvency of the insolvency of the bank all cred- this bank seems to have been covered itors were treated alike, and there was up and concealed by the eashier with no preference of one over another, great skill and ingenuity. It was All its demands were met at maturity. not discovered by the bank examin-There does not appear from the facts ers in making their examinations of found to be any better ground for the bank, and no one of the directors claiming that these payments made to had the least suspicion of it. the defendant were void than there is fact that the defendant, entirely ignofor making the same claim in refer- rant of the insolvency of the bank, ence to the numerous payments made was a director does not, under such in the regular course of business by circumstances, as a matter of law, this bank to its customers during charge him with liability for the paymany months prior to the closing of ment made to him. In the trial of the its doors. In order to uphold a re- case and in weighing and balancing covery in an action like this there the evidence that fact might have should be some satisfactory evidence weight -- in some cases controlling that the cashier or other officer actu- weight - with the trial court. ally paid the money of the bank in when, after all the evidence is given, contemplation of insolvency for the it is found that the director acted in purpose of giving a preference to the good faith, was ignorant of any think all the circumstances surround- any other creditor of the bank." ing these deposits and payments forpavee and with a view to prevent the wrongdoing or of the insolvency of application of the assets of the bank the bank, then a payment made to him to the creditors generally, as provided must be tested under section 5242 [U. in the National Banking Act. We S. Rev. St.] like payments made to also insolvent, based upon this certificate of deposit, it was held that the certificate of deposit was without consideration and void, and that the savings bank would have to submit to the loss accruing to it out of the transaction, as the loss was due to the fraud or incompetency of its own officers.1

8 322. Special deposits.—The United States Supreme Court has held that the provision of the National Banking Association Act, that it shall be lawful for a national bank after its failure to "deliver special deposits," was as effectual a recognition of the power of a national bank to receive special deposits as an express declaration to that effect would have been.2 Bank notes, when received by a bank on general deposit, become the property of the bank, and the amount a debt payable on demand by the bank to the person entitled to it. An action of debt or assumpsit against the bank is the only remedy of the creditor in case payment be refused. But it is different if they be deposited as a special deposit. The deposit then is nothing but a bailment. And if a cashier of the bank converts them it is a tortious act for which he will be held individually liable in an action of trover.3 A deposit in bank will not be made a special one nor will the liability of the bank be changed by the addition of the word "clerk" to the name of a general depositor.4 Where a bank has given a receipt for money received "on deposit," such a receipt would not show whether it was a special or general deposit, and the bank would be allowed to show by parol evidence that the transaction was in fact a special deposit.⁵ In cases of special deposit the right of property remains in the depositor, and he is entitled to receive back the identical thing deposited.6 A bank, in receiving a special deposit, undertakes to exercise no greater care in its preservation than the depositor has the reasonable right ney v. National Bank of Brattleboro, N. Y. 671 50 Vt. 888.

Rep. 962.

³ Coffin v. Anderson, (1837) 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 395.

^{562.} Distinction between special and Bank v. Swain, 29 Md. 488. general deposits, McLain v. Wallace, ¹Murray v. Pauly, (1893) 56 Fed (1885) 108 Ind. 562; Keene v. Collier, 1 Metc. (Ky) 417. As to a special de-² National Bank v. Graham, (1879) posit of bonds, see Van Leuven v. First 100 U. S. 699, which overruled Whit- National Bank of Kingston, (1873) 54

⁵ Keen v. Beckman, 66 lows, 672.

⁶ Lowry v. Polk County, 51 Iowa, 50. As to a bank's liability to return a spe-⁴ McLain v. Wallsce, (1885) 103 Ind. cial deposit in kind, see Chesapeake to suppose is exercised in caring for its own property of like description.1 A bank, receiving a package of money as a special deposit without compensation, will be bound only for slight care, and responsible only for gross negligence.2 The obligation of a banker in the keeping of a deposit will not be increased by a mere showing to the depositor the facilities and securities of the bank.3 A bank will be liable where special deposits are lost by reason of gross negligence or willful inattention on the part of its directors.4 In case a special deposit of bonds, stock or coin with a bank be stolen or embezzled by its clerk or cashier and he does not participate in the act and is guilty of no negligence in the matter, the bank will not be responsible to the depositor for its value.5 A national bank will be held liable for damages occasioned by the loss, through negligence, of a special deposit made in it with the knowledge and acquiescence of its officers and directors. Robbery by burglars of securities deposited for safe-keeping in the vaults of a bank would be no proof of negligence on the part of the bank in caring for the property.7 In a Vermont case, one depositing with the cashier of a national bank $4,000 of United States bonds, received this writing: "Received of J. D. Whitney four thousand dollars for safe-keeping as a special deposit." [Signed] "S. M. Waite, C." This appearing to be a naked deposit without reward, the Supreme Court of that state held that the word "safe-keeping" only indicated the purpose for which the bonds were delivered and received, and did not import a contract to keep safely; that the bank was answerable only for fraud or gross negligence in the keeping of the bonds, and was not liable for the derwood. (1873) 9 Bush (Ky.), 616.

³ Ibid. An illustration of a bank as a bailee for hire. being rendered liable to a depositor as positor's agent, Manhattan Bank v. of Cape Fear, 65 N. C. 13. Walker, 130 U. S. 267. In Leach v. Hale, 31 Iowa, 69, United States bonds were deposited with a bank for the 100 U.S. 699. purpose of their being converted into similar bonds of another denomina- U.S. 361.

¹ United Society of Shakers v. Un-tion. The Supreme Court held that the transaction should be deemed one ⁹ Hale v. Rawallie, (1871) 8 Kans, for a compensation and not a gratuitous one, and that the bank was liable

⁴ United Society of Shakers r. Untrustee for a breach of trust in connec- derwood, (1873) 9 Bush, 616. As to tion with its application of the avails of the care with which a bank must keep a special deposit for the benefit of de- a special deposit, see Boyden v. Bank

⁵ Sturges r. Keith, (1870) 57 Ill. 451.

^{*} National Bank r. Graham, (1879)

Wylie v. Northampton Bank, 119 loss by robbery or larceny, if the bank acted in good faith and took the same care of these bonds as it did of its own of like character.1 By a cashier wrongfully transferring a special deposit and putting it with the funds of the bank, and the bank reporting and treating it as a part of its assets, a conversion of the deposit is effected, and no demand and refusal would be necessary for the depositor to maintain an action of trover against the bank.2 Where a bank receiving a special deposit had transferred it to another bank established at the same place, with the same officers, and the deposit was embezzled by the cashier, the Kentucky Court of Appeals held that the bank receiving the deposit would be liable unless the depositor directly or by implication assented to or ratified the transfer prior to the loss.8

§ 323. The duty of a bank as to deposits and its right as to their application. - A deposit received under special agreement must be applied by the bank according to the agreement. A depositor with a bank who, having made overdrafts, should transfer securities to the bank, and request that these overdrafts be paid, would thereby create a valid trust for the payment of such outstanding checks and drafts, whether presented or not, and the holders of such checks and drafts would be entitled to payment out of the securities so deposited in preference to the general creditors of the depositor.5 Where a depositor of a bank posits where loss is the result of their Westfield Bank, (1868) 99 Mass. 605. Schley, 58 Ga. 369.

v. Dunbar, 19 Bradw. (Ill.) 558.

³ Ray v. Bank of Kentucky, (1874) 10 Bush (Ky.), 350. That a bank is 598. not liable in case its cashier fraudu-

1 Whitney v. National Bank of lently takes away a special deposit Bruttleboro, 55 Vt. 154 As to the li-made in the bank, see Foster v. Essex ability of a bank receiving special de-Bank, (1821) 17 Mass. 479; Smith v.

gross negligence, see Foster v. Essex 4 Wilson v. Dawson, (1876) 52 Ind. Bank, 17 Mass. 479; Lancaster County 513, in which case the surety of a de-National Bank v Smith, 62 Pa. St. positor for debts due at the bank, 47; Scott v. National Bank of Chester where the depositor had deposited Valley, 72 Pa. St. 471; First National more than sufficient to pay those debts. Bank of Carlisle v. Graham, 79 Pa. St. but under special agreement that these 106; Turner v. First National Bank of deposits were to be paid out on checks Keokuk, 26 Iowa, 562; Smith v. First for certain purposes, some of which National Bank in Westfield, 99 Mass. deposits was in bank when the debts 605; Chattahoochee National Bank v. matured, and paid out under the agreement, was held not released, ⁴ First National Bank of Monmouth though ignorant of the special agreement with the depositor.

³ Watts o. Shipman, (1880) 21 Hun, is indebted to the bank by bill, note or other independent indebtedness, the bank has the right to apply so much of the funds of the depositor to the payment of his matured indebtedness as may be necessary to satisfy the same. And the same rule obtains where a depositor makes his paper to third persons payable at the bank. As it is the duty of the bank to pay its customers' checks, when in funds, so at least it has authority, if it is not under actual obligation, to pay his notes and acceptances made payable at the bank. It is a presumption of law that if a customer does so make payable or negotiable at a bank any of his paper, it is his intent to have the same discharged by his deposit.2 The Supreme Court of Illinois has held that the order of a depositor to his bank to apply his funds deposited to the payment of a note of his payable at the bank is necessary to give the bank power to pay the note.3 Verbal direction, or a check or draft or some other writing signed by a depositor to a bank in which he has deposits, is necessary to justify a payment by the bank out of his funds of a draft which the depositor has accepted made payable at such bank.4 A bank may apply all the funds of a

Wend. 94.

(1881) 8 Bradw. (Ill.) 563; citing Morse pay. He makes the bank his agent on Banks & Banking, 37. The Illinois with implied authority to protect his Appellate Court in Home National credit by appropriating his deposits to Bank v. Newton, supra, further said: the payment of his maturing obliga-"The neglect of the bank to make tions made payable at the bank. such appropriation would discharge Forster v. Clements, 2 Camp. 17: Manthe indorsers and sureties. McDowell deville v. Union Bank of Georgetown, v. Bank of Wilmington, 1 Harrington 9 Chanch, 9. These general principles (Del.), 369, Dawson v Real Estate are sufficient to show the relation Bank, 5 Pike (Ark.), 283. The act of which exists between a bank and its thus making his paper payable at depositors in respect to the paper of a bank is considered as much his the latter made payable by its terms order to pay as would be his check, at the bank, and they make the bank and, if the bank pay without express the agent, not of the payee of such orders to the contrary, it is a defense paper, but of the maker." to a suit by the depositor for the money so paid. Mandeville v. Union 109 III. 479. Bank of Georgetown, 9 Cranch, 9.

¹ Home National Bank v. Newton, if a bank advances the money to pay (1881) 8 Bradw. (Ill.) 563, citing Morse a note or bill of its customer made on Banks & Banking (2d ed.), 42; Com- payable at the bank, it may recover mercial Bank of Albany v. Hughes, 17 from the depositor as for money loaned, the paper so made payable be-² Home National Bank v. Newton, ing deemed equivalent to a request to

² Ridgely National Bank v. Patton,

⁴ Haines v. McFerren, 19 Bradw. And the rule seems to be settled that (III.) 172. As to the lack of power of

depositor which it has to his credit to an indebtedness created by the payment upon a discount by the bank upon him until it is fully discharged.1 The full balance due a general depositor may be tendered to him at any time by the bank holding it, but he cannot be compelled by the bank to receive less.2 A bank cannot set off an individual deposit against a partnership debt to the bank.3 Where money is deposited in a bank in the name of a firm, and the bank pay a check out of the same drawn by one of the firm in his own name only, to justify such payment the bank would be required to show that the money thus drawn on the firm account was applied to the use of the firm.4 It would be no excuse for a bank, in paying out funds deposited in the name of a firm upon the individual check of a member of that firm, that the partner drawing the check told the officer of the bank that it was drawn on the joint account and in his individual name by mistake, and directed him to pay it and any other of the like kind which he might draw out of the firm's funds. In an Indiana case money in the form of a draft was sent by A. to a bank, with directions to place it to his credit and await his further orders. The banking firm gave a receipt for it. Afterward A. agreed with B. that the draft should be transferred to B.'s credit, but the banking firm was not privy to the agreement, nor did A. notify them of it. B., without authority from A., wrote to the firm, ordering them to place the draft to his credit, and they replied that they had done so. In the suit brought by A. against the bankers after payment of the same was refused by them upon his demand, the Supreme Court held that the bankers were liable to A. for the amount of the draft. A bank is under no obligation to pay checks of its depositors in excess of their deposits. unless there he a special arrangement to that effect.7 A bank a bank to transfer money deposited with it to the payment of notes exe- (1878) 5 Mo. App. 342. cuted by the depositor, payable at the bank, unless depositor consent, see Scott v. Shirk, (1877) 60 Ind. 160. As Ill. 407. to its not being bound to pay such money on a note held by a third party Cranch Cir. Ct. 50. upon oral request of the depositor when not proposed to surrender the note to the banker or give any other 277. evidence of payment, see McEwen v. Davis, (1872) 89 Ind. 109.

- 1 Union Bank of Quincy v. Tutt,
- ² Coots v. McConnell, 39 Mich. 742. ³ International Bank v. Jones, 119
- 4 Coote & Jones v. Bank of U. S., 8
- ⁶ Coffin v. Henshaw, (1858) 10 Ind.
- Decatur National Bank v. Murphy. (1881) 9 Bradw. (III.) 112.

may maintain an action against the drawer for payment made by its cashier on checks overdrawn.1 Should a depositor fraudulently overdraw his account, and the identical money is placed by him to his credit in another bank, the bank from which it was drawn may reclaim it from the one in which he has placed it.2 After receiving from a depositor a genuine check drawn upon it by another depositor, and crediting the amount to the one depositing it, even on the deposit ticket alone, through its receiving teller, a bank cannot return it to the depositor as not good, although the drawer's account may have been overdrawn at the time the check was deposited.3 A bank receiving a deposit under an agreement to apply it to the payment of a debt due some designated person, cannot divert it from the purposes of the trust by paying it to a different person.4 Should one to whom a bank has by mistake paid the money of one of its depositors, make any payment to the depositor on that account, the bank would be entitled to a credit for the amount paid on its account with the depositor.3 Where the bank book of a depositor is written up and balanced. his checks returned and his indebtedness canceled, this constitutes a full settlement of the depositor's account, and, if acquiesced in, it cannot be questioned.6 The effect of a delay in questioning the accuracy of the balance credited to a depositor on his pass book after it has been written up and returned to him, without objection, if the bank has not suffered by his silence, is to charge him with the burden of establishing fraud, error or mistake in When he does this he is entitled to have it corhis account. rected.7 Where one indebted to a bank has a less sum standing to his credit on deposit on the bank's books, the bank has a right to retain the sum on deposit in part payment of its claim.8 Where the maker of a note indorsed by the payee to a bank discounting it becomes insolvent before the maturity of the note, having a deposit at the bank, the bank may set off the deposit against the note, and prove the balance, if any, against the maker

Franklin Bank r. Byram, 39 Me.

⁹ Tradesman's Bank r. Merritt, (1829) 1 Paige Ch. 302.

⁴⁵ N. Y. 735.

^{*} Judy v. Farmers & Traders' Bank, (1884) 81 Mo. 404.

⁵ Ilgenfritz v. Pettis County Bank, (1886) 21 Mo. App. 558.

Peddicord v. Connard, 85 III. 102. Frank v. Chemical National Bank ³ Oddie v. National City Bank, (1871) of New York, (1874) 37 N. Y. Super. Ct. 26.

⁸ Union Bank r. Cochran, 7 G. & J. (Md.) 138.

in insolvency.1 A bank holding overdue paper of one of its depositors, would not be bound, though it might have the right, to apply his deposits to the payment of the paper.2 A bank holding and owning a depositor's past-due note, the amount of which may exceed the amount of his deposit, may, however, hold the deposit account against the note, and refuse to pay checks drawn against the deposit.8 Where a note was discounted at a bank, for the benefit of the first indorser, and the money was passed to his credit as a deposit, and a portion of it remained in the bank until the note became payable, the Maine Supreme Court of Judicature held that it was optional with the bank to retain this money, in part payment of the note or not; that the omission to retain it did not destroy the bank's right to recover the full amount from another indorser. A bank may secure and discharge any obligation it may assume for a depositor, or which may be imposed upon it by operation of law, as in garnishment proceedings, by retention of a sufficient sum from the deposits in its possession made by the depositor.⁵ A bank is not bound to apply subsequent deposits to the payment of a note for the protection of a guarantor.6 A bank may apply to the discharge of the indebtedness of a depositor on a note which the bank may have discounted, which has not been paid at maturity, all funds of his held at the date of the maturity of the note, or afterwards acquired in the course of business with him, whether a general deposit or commercial paper placed by him in bank for collection. But a bank has no lien upon the deposit of a cus-

Demmon v. Boylston Bank, (1849) payable at the bank. Mass. 298. In Ætna National Bank v. Fourth National Bank, (1871) 46 N. Y. 82, it appeared that certain depositors Carson, (1862) 32 Mo. 191. remitted to a bank a check for deposit. with a letter saying, "Please credit to Bank, (1888) 14 Mo. App. 591. our account and charge us our note of five thousand dollars due 4th inst." The bank received the check and credited it to the depositors on the 109. third, and on that day applied it to the payment of a past-due note of $5,000 made by the depositors and (1881) 11 Mo. App. 144.

It was held 5 Cush. (Mass.) 194. As to the ap- that the letter accompanying the plication of a deposit to a note of the check was not an assignment of the depositor falling due in a bank, see fund to the holder of the note due the Mahaiwe Bank v. Peck, (1879) 127 fourth, and that he could not maintain an action against the bank.

² Citizens' Bank of Steubenville v.

Ehlermann v. St. Louis National

*Ticonic Bank v. Johnson, 21 Me.

⁵ McEwen v. Davis, (1872) 39 Ind.

Bank v. Shreiner, 110 Pa. St. 188.

Muench v. Valley National Bank, tomer for the purpose of indemnifying itself against a possible loss upon unmatured commercial paper of the customer discounted by the bank.1 And a bank holding the note of a depositor for a certain sum can, on the morning of the last day of grace upon such note, apply to its payment any money of the depositor then remaining on deposit in the bank.2 There is no such lien on the funds deposited with a bank in its favor as will allow it to apply the funds of a depositor upon an indebtedness or liability of his not yet due.3 Neither can a bank retain the money of a depositor to meet a note, the payment of which the

App. 292.

Smith v. Aylesworth, 40 Barb. 104; Wilcombe v. Dodge, 3 Cal. 260; Staples v. Franklin Bank, 1 Mct. (Mass.) 43; Greeley r. Thurston, 4 Greenl. (Me.) 479; Dennie c. Walker, 7 N. H. 201; Farmers' Bank v. Duvall, 7 G. & J. (Md.) 89; Wilson v. Williman, 1 Nott & McC. (S. C.) 440; Coleman v. Ewing, 4 Humph. 241; Flint v. Rogers, 3 Shepley, 67; Leftley v. Mills, 4 Term R. 170. They then referred to cases as to the presentment of such notes: Griffin v. Goff, 12 Johns. 423; Jackson v. Newton, 8 Watts, 401; Farmers' Bank v. Duvall, 7 G. & J. (Md.) 78; Mechanics' Bank v. Merchants' Bank,

¹ State Savings Association v. Bout- 6 Met. (Mass.) 13. They then said: men's Savings Bank, (1881) 11 Mo. "As a bill or note is payable on the last day of grace, or, when there is no ² Home National Bank v. Newton, grace, on the day of its maturity, the (1881) 8 Bradw. (Ill.) 563. This was maker or acceptor has the right to pay an action brought by the payer of a it on that day, though he cannot pay check drawn by one Newell upon the it on the day before without the conbank, which the bank declined to pay sent of the holder. By making his for want of funds of the drawer, it note payable at the Home National having applied his balance to a note Bank, Newell authorized the bank to of his falling due on the day when pay it at maturity. He constituted this check was presented, the applica- the bank his agent, and directed it tion of the balance being made before to pay the note on the day it fell due. the presentation of the check with The act of making the note payable others for payment. Arguendo, the there, was, as we have already seen, a appellate court referred to the follow- direction to the bank to appropriate ing cases, first as to when an action any moneys he might have on deposit can be brought on paper due with to the payment of his note, so far as days of grace: Walter o. Kirk, 14 Ill. might be required for that purpose, 55; Reese v. Mitchell, 41 Ill. 365; on the day of its maturity. The law Osborn v. Moneure, 3 Wend. 170; knows no parts of a day in respect to the maturity of commercial paper; Newell's note was equally due at ten o'clock in the morning as at three in the afternoon, and it is no answer to say that an action for its non-payment could not be brought against him for its non-payment until the following day. He authorized his agent to pay it on the day of its maturity, and this must be construed to mean at any hour of the day."

> ⁸ Merchants' National Bank v. Ritzinger, 20 Bradw. (Ill.) 27; Jordan r. National Shoe & Leather Bank, 74 N. Y. 467; s. c., 30 Am. Rep. 319; Bank v. Jones. 2 Pennypacker (Pa.), 377.

depositor may have guaranteed, the note not being due at the time.1 Where the maker of a note held by a bank has funds in the bank on general deposit when the note falls due, the bank is bound to apply the funds to his credit in payment of the note; if it fails to do so, the indorser upon the note will be thereby dicharged from liability.2 A bank holding a depositor's note must charge it against his account at maturity, or else the indorser will be discharged.' A bank will be bound to pay a note payable at its counter, of which it is the owner, with any general deposit of the maker in its hands. Should it let the note go to protest, the indorsers would be discharged. A bank may refuse to apply a deposit of the maker of a note after maturity, so as to relieve the indorser. In the absence of express directions, or an agreement to that effect, it is optional with a bank whether it will apply a general deposit made by the maker of a note held by it which is past due, on the note or not. It is under no obligation to do so, even as to an indorser. The general deposit does not of itself operate as a payment of such a note.6 A debt due by a depositor to a bank will be extinguished by a check drawn in payment of it, the check operating as an appropriation of the fund from the time of its presentment.7 The Supreme Court of Missouri have affirmed a holding of a lower court that, where a bank had received from a non-resident money which it had agreed to invest for him in real estate security, and having passed the same to his credit, led him to believe that the investment had been made, and subsequently assigned its assets for the benefit of its creditors, the relation of trustee and cestui que trust existed and not that of depositor and depositary between them, and that the bank was liable for wrongfully mixing the money with its own. In a case where a draft was deposited in a bank, drawn against by a check, and the check certified to the bank in which it was to be deposited, and before the check arrived the bank certify-

¹ Commercial Proctor, (1881) 98 Ill. 558.

McDowell v. Bank of Wilmington & B., 1 Harr, (Del.) 369.

Bank v. Foreman, 27 W. N. C. (Pa.) 154.

⁴ Bank v. Henninger, 105 Pa. St. Am. Rep. 48. 496. As to the duty of a bank to sureties on promissory notes as to de-

National Bank v. posits in its hands, see Bank v. LeGrand, 13 W. N. C. (Pa.) 317.

⁵ Huckstein v. Herman, 1 Walk. (Pa.) 92.

⁶ National Bank of Newburgh v. Smith, (1876) 66 N. Y. 271; s. c., 23

⁷ Laubach v. Leibert, 87 Pa. St. 55.

⁸ Harrison v. Smith, (1884) 88 Mo. 210.

ing it had made an assignment, it was held that the fund remained in the first bank impressed with the trust, and that the relation of general creditors was not created between the depositors and the bank.1 A court in Illinois having by order made a bank a depository of court funds and of funds of its officers, a clerk of the court made a deposit of funds belonging to the court in the bank, just as other depositors did, the money being commingled with that of the bank, and there being no agreement to keep the funds separate. The bank became insolvent and was placed in the hands of a receiver. The Illinois Supreme Court held that the deposit being a general one, and not a mere naked bailment. and there being no means of identifying the money deposited, even if the assets of the bank were in the hands of the receiver. it was error to require the receiver to pay the deposit in full; that the clerk was only entitled to share pro ratu with other depositors and creditors of the bank.2 Where the circumstances under which a lost check came into plaintiff's possession were so suspicious that a person of ordinary prudence ought to have hesitated and examined further before buying, the Supreme Court of Louisiana held that no recovery could be had on it. Where a bank check was received in payment, during banking hours, the day it was drawn, in the usual course of business, under circumstances not suspicious, and no negligence was shown from which had faith could be inferred, the same court held that the holder might recover from the drawer, though the check had been lost or stolen.4 A bank having, without instruction, paid a forged

¹ Stoller v. Coates, (1885) 88 Mo. checks were collected the assets of the no instructions for any special dis- ordinary creditor. position of the money, but, on the contrary, drew against the proceeds of these checks as an ordinary depositor. On the same day that the

514, holding the bank chargeable with Southern Bank were seized by the the amount of the converted fund as a sheriff, and receivers were appointed. preferred demand. In State ex rel. The Bank of Commerce claimed in Girardey v. Southern Bank, 83 La. this case the restitutio ad integrum of Ann. 957, it appeared that the Bank of the proceeds of the three checks. The Commerce sent to the Southern Bank Supreme Court held that the Bank of for collection three checks on other Commerce was an ordinary depositor banks in New Orleans. The checks of the Southern Bank, that the prowere collected and the proceeds passed ceeds of the checks were mixed with to the credit of the Bank of Commerce its general funds, and the Bank of in its general account, as it had given Commerce was no more than an

- ² Otis v. Gross, (1880) 96 Ill. 612.
- ³ Vairin v. Hobson, 8 La. 55.
- ⁴ Marsh v. Small, 8 La. Ann. 402.

acceptance, and sent the same by mail to the firm whose names were forged as acceptors, the Kansas Supreme Court held, were not thereby entitled to a credit for the amount of the payment against the firm. The firm, as the court viewed it, were under no legal obligation to immediately examine the acceptance upon its being received by them, to ascertain whether it was genuine or not, and were not chargeable with negligence for not discovering the forgery immediately. In such a case it was sufficient to give notice when the forgery was discovered. One having inclosed a note in a letter to a bank and asked the bank to discount it and place the proceeds to the writer's credit, and in that event to charge a certain overdraft of a corporation against the credit, and the bank having declined to discount the note, the United States Supreme Court held that the bank had no right to hold the note as collateral for the overdraft.2

§ 324. Checks, generally.—Checks, like bills, are generally negotiable instruments payable to bearer, sometimes to order, requiring as essentials a drawer, drawee and payee.3 That it shall be instantly payable on demand is an essential characteristic of a check upon a bank. The payment of a check, before made, can be countermanded by the drawer.⁵ Although not identical with a bill, a check on a bank is, in many respects, governed by the same rules; and when payable to order is negotiable by indorsement.6 The effect of drawing a check by a depositor upon his banker is to transfer the sum named to the payee, provided the depositor has that sum to his credit on the books of the banker, and an assignment of the check carries the title to the (1870) 6 Kans. 456.

⁹ Bank of Montreal v. White, (1880) 14 Sup. Ct. Rep. 1191.

³ Hewitt v. Goodrich, 10 La. Ann. 340. In Ridgley National Bank v. Patton 109 III. 479, an instrument (1884) 100 Ind. 515. drawn by a depositor in this form, after giving the date and the name zinger, 118 Ill. 484. of the bank: "Pay to A. and B. for eighteen 23-100 dollars," and signed 294. by the depositor, was held to be a valid check, and that it operated to transfer

¹ First National Bank v. Tappan, that sum out of the funds of the drawer in bank to the drawee for the purposes named in the check. For an illustration of what would be a banker's check and not an ordinary bill of exchange, see Harrison v. Wright,

4 Merchants' National Bank v. Rit-

⁵ Albers v. Commercial Bank, (1884) account of C. & Co., ten hundred and 85 Mo. 178; Bank v. Bank, 118 Pa. St.

⁶ Barbour v. Bayon, 5 La. Ann. 304.

fund to each successive holder.1 But a banker is not bound to pay the check of a depositor in anything but money. So, where a depositor drew a check upon his banker for Chicago exchange, which he was to send to his creditors at their request, the Appellate Court of Illinois held that these creditors could not, upon failure of the depositor to send the Chicago draft, maintain an action against the banker upon the original check drawn upon him.2 A bank check payable in "current funds" is payable in whatever is current by law as money.8 When a check is drawn upon a bank payable to the drawer's order and assigned by him, and he has not sufficient money to his credit to pay the check in full, the bank will be under no obligation to pay, and an assignce can have no recovery upon such a check in an action against the bank.4 A draft given on a bank in the ordinary course of business does not constitute an equitable assignment of the fund.5 And, in this case, it was held that it was not sufficient to constitute such an assignment that the draft was drawn by a bank against its reserve fund in another city, and was given in exchange for clearing-house certificates upon the representation of its president that it owed a heavy debt at the clearing house which it was unable to meet, and his further statement showing the amount of the reserve fund against which the draft was drawn. A bank by retaining, on the settlement of a depositor's account, the exact zinger, 20 Bradw. (Ill.) 27; Bank of Bradw. (Ill.) 263. America v. Indiana Banking Co., 114 III. 483. As to the drawing of a check S. 105. by a depositor upon the bank holding the deposits operating to transfer the Pack r. Thomas, 13 Smedes & Marsh, title to the sum named in the check, see (Miss.) 11, it was held that it was not Foster v. Paulk, 41 Mc. 425; Hogue v. competent to prove by parol that a Edwards, (1881) 9 Bradw. (Ill.) 148; check payable in "dollars" simply, Brown v. Pierce, 80 Itl. 214; C. M. & parol. F. Ins. Co. v. Stanford, 28 Ill. 168; Bickford v. First National Bank, 42 Bank v. Schuler, 120 U. S. 511; s. c., Ill. 289; Brown v. Leckie, 43 Ill. 407; 7 Sup. Ct. Rep. 644. Seventh National Bank v. Cook, 73 Pa. St. 485.

(Ill.) 148. A rehearing of this case was to charge him as trustee of a fund).

¹ Merchants' National Bank v. Rit-denied in Hogue v. Edwards, (1881) 9

⁸ Bull v. Bank of Kasson, 123 U.

4 Coates v. Preston, 105 Ill. 470. In Union National Bank v. Oceana was intended by the parties to be County Bank, 80 Ill. 212. And that the paid in depreciated bank notes, as that payee may sue the bank therefor, see would be to vary a written contract by

⁵ Bank v. Millard, 10 Wall. 152;

Fourth Street National Bank v. Yardley, (1893) 55 Fed. Rep. 850 (a ² Hogue v. Edwards, (1881) 9 Bradw. bill against the receiver of the bank amount of an outstanding check, impliedly accepts the check, and subjects itself to an action by the holder upon the check.1 An unaccepted and uncertified check not being an equitable assignment to the credit of the holder, is but an order which may be countermanded.2 Should the paying teller of a bank after a notice to the bank by the drawer of a check not to pay it, and his promise that he would not do so, afterwards pay it to the holder. the drawer may recover from the bank the amount of the check so paid.8 A check upon a bank is payable in the kind of funds deposited prior to its date, and a subsequent agreement between the depositor and the bank that other funds would be received is not binding upon the payee of the check.4 It appeared in an Illinois case that at a time when the banks in that state were receiving and paying out the paper of Illinois banks which were of doubtful solvency, and their paper at a discount, two bankers, in the usual course of their business, had mutual accounts growing out of remittances and collections, and the relations existing between them were such that the depositor could withdraw his funds at pleasure, and the receiver of the deposits could in like manner return them. The Supreme Court of that state held that, in the absence of any agreement between them on the subject, the holder of the deposits would be compelled to pay, or return in current funds or funds at par. But the banker who owned the deposit, with a considerable balance to his credit with his correspondent, having notified the latter by letter that he should require that any remittances he might desire should be made in the paper of certain banks, which were specified in his letter, it was held that this direction left the holder of the deposits at liberty to make the remittances in bills of any of the banks so designated, which the owner of the deposits would be compelled to receive at their nominal value. Further, that after the receipt of such letter, the holder of the deposits was authorized to remit to the owner the entire balance standing to his credit, with-

¹ Saylor v. Bushong, 100 Pa. St. 27. being relieved of liability by a delay of nine days' presentment of a check, Cork v. Bacon, 45 Wis. 192.

Florence M. Co. v. Brown, 124 T. S. 885.

⁸ Schneider v. Irving Bank, (1865) As to the drawer of a bank check 1 Daly, 500; s. c., 30 How. Pr. 190. As to the duty of a bank in the payment of checks drawn upon it by a see Kinyon v. Stanton, 44 Wis. 479; depositor, see Dodge v. National Exchange Bank, (1870) 20 Ohio St. 284.

⁴ Marine Bank of Chicago v. Ogden, (1862) 29 III, 248.

out further order, in the class of paper designated in the letter, at its nominal value, or in the paper of any one of the banks desig-Further, this right of the holder of the deposits would not be affected by the fact that subsequent to the notice given him, and before he had received any further notice on the subject, the paper of such banks had continued to depreciate in value. It appeared also in this case that the holder of the deposits had transmitted to the owner the entire balance due him in a package of these bills; the latter retained it a week without opening it to learn the character of its contents, knowing it was a remittance from his correspondent, and the amount of it, and did not notify the correspondent that he would not receive it. The court held that by such delay he waived even any right he may have had to refuse to receive, at its nominal value, any of the paper of banks contained in the package. An individual depositor may draw a check in favor of a bonu fide creditor and appropriate his funds in a bank to such creditor, vesting him with full power to sue the bank and recover upon the check, notwithstanding an indebtedness to the bank of a partnership of which the depositor is a member.2 A check duly notified to the bank upon which it is drawn constitutes an equitable assignment of the fund on which it is drawn.⁸ A check upon a bank certified by its teller is equivalent to a bill of exchange accepted by the bank, and the bank is liable on the certified check to a bona fide holder whether it had funds of the drawer or not. A cheek drawn by one in extremis, with directions to the payee to defray the funeral expenses of the drawer from the amount, and to pay the balance to his heirs, not accepted by the bank at the death of the drawer, has been held not to have operated as an assignment of the fund so as to make the bank liable to the payee." The Indiana Supreme Court has held that a banker's check drawn upon the drawer's banker without words of transfer, and drawn upon no

¹ Cushman v. Carver, (1869) 51 Ill 509. Sec, also, Marine Bank of Chicago bany, (1862) 25 N. Y. 148. v. Rushmore, 28 Ill. 463; Marine Bank of Chicago v. Chandler, 27 III.

⁹ International Bank v. Jones, 119

La. Ann. 604.

⁴ Meads r. Merchants' Bank of Al-

Second National Bank r. Williams, 13 Mich. 282. That a check is an appropriation of so much money in the bank to the payee and holder, see Chouteau v. Rowse, (1874) 56 Mo. 65; Lewis ³ Gordon & Gomila v. Muchler, 34 v. International Bank, (1883) 13 Mo. App. 202.

particular designated fund, did not of itself, either as between the drawer and drawee, or drawer and payee or holder of the check. act as an appropriation or equitable assignment of a fund in the hands of the drawee; nor did it operate as an assignment of a part of the drawer's chose in action against the drawee; and, hence, the holder of the check was not entitled to a preference as against the depositors and the general creditors of an insolvent drawer.1 If bank bills are deposited as depreciated paper, the depositor has no right to draw for funds at par or expect payment on a check thus drawn.2 A right of action is given to the drawer of a check in case he has funds in bank to meet it by the refusal of the bank to pay it, if the refusal to pay is without his authority.3 The presenting of a check to a bank on which it is drawn for payment, and the bank's stamping it paid and canceled, although not in fact paid, but subsequently returned to the collecting bank presenting it, would not be such a payment as would discharge the drawer.4 A bank paying a check drawn to order, without the indorsement of the payce, before it can refuse to pay upon demand by the payee having possession of the paper, is bound to prove that the payee has parted with his title.⁵ To a national bank's action to recover an overdraft which amounts to a simple loan, the omission of an officer of the bank to exact security for the money loaned cannot be made a ground of defense. A banker cannot set off a demand he holds against the person presenting a check for payment.7 A check drawn upon a bank for more than the amount of the drawer's funds on deposit creates no

¹ Harrison v. Wright, (1884) 100 Ind.

² Willetts r. Paine, (1867) 43 III. 432. 248. See Lawrence'r. Schmidt, 35 Ill. 440; Galena Ins. Co. v. Kupfer, 28 Ill. 382.

^a Citizens' National Bank of Davenport v. Importers', etc., National Bank of New York, (1887) 44 Hun, 386.

McIntosh v. Tyler, (1888) 47 Hun, 90; citing Turner v. Bank of Fox Lake, 4 Abb. Ct. of App. Dec. 434; s. c., S Keyes, 425; Burkhalter v. Second National Bank, 42 N. Y. 588; Kelty v.

of New York, (1887) 44 Hun, 386.

6 Union Gold Mining Co. v. Rocky Mountain National Bank, (1873) 2 Colo.

⁷ Brown v. Leckie, (1867) 43 Ill. 497. The court said: "In the case of Cromwell v. Lovett, 1 Hall, (N. Y.) 56, it was held that a check on a banker given in the ordinary course of business, is not presumed to be received as an absolute payment, even if the drawer have funds in the bank, but as the means to procure the money. The holder, in such a case, becomes the agent of the Second National Bank, 52 Barb, 328. drawer to collect the money, and if ⁵ Citizens' National Bank of Daven- guilty of no negligence whereby an port v. Importers', etc., National Bank actual injury is sustained by the owner, he will not be answerable, if, lien upon, and will give the payee no right to the actual balance, until the bank has agreed to pay it pro tunto.1 The Illinois Supreme Court has held that the holder of a bank check, who has paid value for it, is entitled to as much of the funds of the drawer on depositas the check calls for, and, when presented for payment, the bank on which it is drawn will become the holder of the drawer's money to the use of the holder of the check, and will be bound to account to him for the amount unless other equities have intervened.2 The rights of the holder of the check and the bank are fixed from the time the check is presented for payment, and the bank will have no right, subsequently, to pay other checks or other demands either to itself or to others which may afterwards be presented, or which may afterwards accrue.3 A bank receiving an indorsed check for a special purpose, not in the regular course of banking business, has been held to be responsible for an erroneous appropriation of the proceeds.1 The payee of a check has been held not responsible to a bank for amount holder may treat it as a nullity, and resort to the original cause of action."

Dana v. Boston Third National Bank, (1866) 13 Allen, (Mass.) 445.

v. City National Bank of Grand Rapids, 1873) 68 Ill. 398.

deposit, agrees with the depositor to world the banker agrees that whoever shall become the owner of such check shall, upon presentation thereof, becheck, provided the drawer shall at Meriam, (1867) 98 Mass. 294. that time have that amount on de-from any peculiar circumstances at- posit. It was further said in Munn tending the bank, the check is not paid. v. Burch, 25 Ill. 35, to deny to the And in a suit against the drawer for holder of a bank check both a legal the consideration of such a check, the and equitable right, after presentation of the check, to the money of the drawer in the hands of a banker, would destroy the most valuable feature of bank deposits and checks. In the very Fourth National Bank of Chicago nature of such transactions a banker's lien cannot extend to the money left on deposit with him, according to the ³ Ibid. Mr. Justice Breese said: customs and usages of banks. It has "The universal custom informs us never been so extended, but is conwhat the contract of all the parties to fined to securities and valuables which such transaction is. It informs us may be in the banker's custody as colthat the banker, when he receives the laterals. The credit must be given on the credit of the securities or valuables, pay it out on the presentation of his either in possession or expectancy. checks, in such sums as those checks Russell r. Hadduck, 3 Gilm. 233. This may specify, and to the person pre- is the extent of a banker's lien." See, senting them, and with the whole also, Johnson v. Ward, 2 Bradw. (III) 261; Brahm v. Adkins, 77 111. 263. When the holder of a check is not subject to equities existing between the come thereby the owner, and entitled original parties. Rochester Bank v. to receive the amount specified in the Harris, (1871) 108 Mass. 514; Ames v.

4 Parker r. Hartley, 91 Pa. St. 465.

paid to him, without fraud on his part, although paid by mistake.1 The mere presentment of a check does not fix upon a bank the liability to pay it.2 Should a bank, without funds, pay a check long overdue, it would take it subject to all the equities of the drawer.3 A bank, though it may have by mistake paid a check and placed it upon the canceling knife, would not be thereby prevented from recovering upon it against the drawer. One receiving a counterfeit bill from a bank in payment of a check may return it in a reasonable time after discovering that it is not genuine.5 The drawer of a check and his sureties will be discharged by the acceptance of the drawee, with the consent of the payee of a check conditionally fixing some other time or mode of payment than is implied in the language and terms of the check.6 No law requires the drawee of a check to delay payment until advice that it has been drawn.7 A check to bearer, taken, though from one who obtained it unfairly, yet immediately after its issue, and without notice, entitles the holder to recover the sum it calls for.8 Where a check is drawn on a bank in which the drawer has no funds it need not be presented at all, in order that an action may be maintained upon it.9 Should a bank pay a post-dated check before the day on which it is dated. it will be a payment to its own wrong, and no defense to an action for the amount of the fund by one to whom it may have been assigned in good faith. 10 A bank on which a check is drawn is not constituted an agent for the owner of the check to receive the proceeds by his sending the check to it through the mail.11

Hull v. Bank, Dud. (S. C.) 259.

amount of the counterfeit bill to the

⁶ Warrensburg Co-operative Build-

Merchants' Bank v. Exchange Bank, 16 La. 457.

8 Clark v. Stackhouse, 2 Mart. (La.) 326.

Foster v. Paulk, 41 Me. 425.

10 Godin v. Bank of Commonwealth,

11 People v. Merchants & Mechancheck drawn on another bank, and part ics' Bank of Troy, (1879) 78 N. Y. 269;

² Albers v. Commercial Bank, (1884) owner of the check. 85 Mo. 178.

Eancaster Bank v. Woodward, 18 ing Assn. v. Zoll, (1884) 83 Mo. 94. Pa. St. 357.

State Savings Association v. Boatmen's Savings Bank, (1881) 11 Mo. App. 292,

Boyd v. Mexico Southern Bank. (1878) 67 Mo. 587. In Murray v. Bull's Head Bank, (1871) 8 Daly, 864, a bank (1856) 6 Duer, 76. which had through its teller cashed a payment was made in a counterfeit s. c., 84 Am. Rep. 582. bank bill, was held liable for the

§ 325. Certification of checks.— A bank may render itself liable to the holder and payee of a check by a formal acceptance written upon the check, in which case it stands to the holder in the position of a drawer and acceptor of a bill of exchange.1 The same result may be accomplished by the bank's writing upon the check the word "good" or any similar words which indicate a statement by it that the drawer has funds in the bank applicable to the payment of the check, and that it will so apply them.2 Such a certificate discharges the drawer of the check, and, as to him, amounts to a payment.3 The certifying of a check as "good" is not a mere declaration of an existing fact, but creates a new and binding obligation on the part of the bank. Its meaning is not merely that the check was "good" when certified, but that it shall be "good" when presented for payment. A certified check. therefore, is as truly an absolute, unconditional promise to pay upon demand the sum it specifies, as an ordinary bank note; and laches in making the demand is no more imputable in the one case than in the other.4 The fact that a check may have been properly drawn on a national bank (a public depository) by an officer of the government in favor of a public creditor does not alter the rule that the holder of a bank check cannot sue the bank for refusing payment in the absence of proof that it was accepted by the bank or charged against the drawer. Payment to a stranger upon an unauthorized indorsement of a check will not operate as an acceptance of the check so as to authorize an action by the real owner to recover the amount of the check as upon an accepted check.6 Although certified checks pass from hand to hand as cash, they are not cash, or currency, in the legal sense of the terms, and they do not lose, on that account, any of the char-

¹ Merchants' Bank v. State Bank, 10 holders for value, were entitled to refour checks certified by the bank, ⁹ Cook v. State Bank of Boston, 52 although payment was not demanded until two months after the checks were certified, and in the interval the drawer had withdrawn, upon other checks. all his funds from the bank.

Wall. 604; Espy v. Bank of Cincin- cover the sum advanced by them upon nati, 18 Wall. 604.

N. Y. 96.

³ Bank v. Leach, 52 N. Y. 350; Meads v. Merchants' Bank, 25 N. Y. 143: Mussey v. Prest., Directors, etc., Eagle Bank, 9 Met. (Mass.) 311; Willets v. Phœnix Bank, 2 Duer, 121.

⁴ Willets v. Phonix Bank, (1853) 2 Duer (N. Y.), 121. Holding upon the ton r. Whitman, (1876) 94 U. S. 343. doctrine of the text that the plaintiffs, ⁵ Bank of the Republic v. Millard, 10 Wall. 152.

⁶ First National Bank of Washingacteristics of bills of exchange, and, therefore, when dishonored, the holder has a right to look to the drawer for payment.1 The only effect of certifying a check "good" is to give it additional currency by carrying with it the evidence that it was drawn in good faith on funds to meet its payment, and lending to it the credit of the drawee in addition to the credit of the drawer. Beyond this it does not differ from an uncertified check.2 The indorsement, by the proper officer of a bank, upon a check drawn upon it payable to bearer, that it is "good," would be prima facie an admission on the part of the bank that the money drawn for is in bank, subject to the order of the drawer. This presumption, however, may be repelled by proof, as that the admission was made by mistake. Certifying a check is only an agreement that the signature of the drawer is genuine, and that he has funds to meet it.4 A bank will not be relieved from its responsibility to the innocent holder of a check certified by its officer authorized to do so, by the fact that he may have transgressed his authority and certified checks where the drawer had no funds.⁵ Where a check had been delivered by the drawer to the payce for accommodation, and the payee had transferred it without indorsement to another, who took it to the bank on which it was drawn for certification, and while it was so in the possession of the bank the drawer notified the bank not to pay it, it was held by the Supreme Court of New York that the payment of the check by the bank was unauthorized, and that the drawer could recover the amount from the bank. A bank will not be bound, by a parol representation that a check is good, to pay it whenever presented until barred by limitation, such a representation not being equivalent to a certification; neither would the holder of the check be relieved from the duty of proper diligence in presenting it for payment.7 The deposit of the drawer of a check upon which it is drawn, is paid as the effect of the holder of the check procuring it to be

⁴² III, 288

⁹ Brown v. Leckic, (1867) 43 Ill. 497; Bank v. State Bank, 10 Wall. 604. citing Rounds v. Smith, (1860) 42 Ill. 245; Bickford v. First National Bank. 42 Ill. 288.

Smith v. Branch Bank at Mobile, 6 T. & C. 236. (1845) 7 Ala. 880.

City Bank, (1874) 59 N. Y. 67; s. c., 17 Mo. App. 271.

¹ Bickford v. First National Bank, Am. Rep. 305. As to the power of a bank to certify checks, see Merchants'

⁵ Hill v. Trust Co., 108 Pa. St. 1.

⁶ Fround v. Importers & Traders' National Bank, (1875) 3 Hun, 689; s. c.,

Bank of Springfield v. First Na-⁴ Marine National Bank v. National tional Bank of Springfield, (1888) 30

certified instead of collecting it.1 The drawer of a check will be discharged by the holder's procuring it to be certified instead of collecting it. In case a certificate of "good" on a check be erroneously made by a bank, and the error be discovered and notice given to the bank presenting the check in time for it to make a re-presentment and charge the indorsers, the certifying bank will be relieved from further liability.3 A new and binding obligation is created on the part of a bank by its certifying a check as "good" to hold sufficient funds of the drawer to meet the check: and the holder's right is not impaired by a delay on his part in demanding payment.4 The act of a bank certifying the genuineness of a check and directing its payment by a correspondent bank, operates as a promise to pay the check upon presentation at the correspondent bank, properly indersed. The obligation of the bank, as shown by such certification, amounts to a representation that the drawer has funds in the bank with which to pay the check, and that it will retain and pay them to the holder through the designated agency, upon presentation there, properly indorsed. A bank certifying a check drawn upon it by one of its depositors is primarily liable upon it.6 One taking a check which has been certified by a bank in good faith, for value, in the ordinary course of his business, may recover against the bank although the signature to the check may be a forgery. And it

¹ Bills v. National Park Bank, 47 N. bank to meet the check, the plaintiff Y. Super. Ct. 302.

¹¹ Am. Rep. 708.

³ Irving Bank v. Wetherald, (1867) vor of the plaintiff on the State Bank, Ontario Bank, 21 N. Y. 490 and indorsed by the cashier "good at the failure of the Mechanics' Bank the Y. 96; s. c., 11 Am. Rep. 667. State Bank had sufficient funds in that was held not entitled to recover, on ac-2 First National Bank of Jersey count of her negligence in delaying the City v Leach, (1873) 52 N. Y. 350; s. c., presentation of the check for payment for so long a time.

⁵ Lynch v. First National Bank of 36 N. Y. 335, affirming 34 Barb. 323, Jersey City, (1887) 107 N. Y. 179; s 4 Farmers & Mechanics' Bank v. c., 1 Am. St. Rep. 803; citing Ætna Na-Butchers & Drovers' Bank, (1855) 4 tional Bank v. Fourth National Bank. Duer, 219. In Mills v. State Bank, 5 46 N Y. 82; Crawford v. West Side N. J. Law J. 56, it appeared that on a Bank, 100 N. Y. 50; Risley v. Phenix certain date a check was drawn in fa- Bink, 83 N Y. 318; Oneida Bank v.

⁶ Drovers' National Bank v Provisthe Mechanics' Bank" The plaintiff ion Co, 117 Ill. 100 As to what the retained the check for two months, liability of a bank upon certified when the Mechanics' Bank failed. In checks results from, see Cooke v. State this action, on proof that at the date of National Bank of Bastor, (1873) 52 N.

would make no difference that the payee's name was fictitious.1 The money paid upon a raised check by a bank certifying and paying it may be recovered from the one receiving it, as for money paid under a mistake of fact.2 The money paid by a bank upon a certified check may be recovered if it prove that the filling in of the check was forged. And the bank will not be estonned from showing the body of the check to be a forgery by the verbal assurance of its teller to the payee that the check was correct in every particular.3 Payment of a raised check on the faith of a certificate of a bank has been held not to raise an estoppel precluding the bank from recovering back the money paid on it.4

§ 326. Acceptance of a check by a bank — illustration.— In a case in the United States Circuit Court for the western district of Missouri it appeared that a cattle company had agreed to sell to one T. a large number of cattle for a fixed sum of He offered in payment for the cattle his check on defendant bank. The cattle company refused to accept it unless persons to whom it was indebted would accept it in payment of the debt: The payee of the check telegraphed to the bank asking if it would pay T.'s check for the amount specified, and the bank telegraphed: "T. is good. Send on your paper." The telegram was shown to the creditors of the cattle company, who took the check in payment of their debt. Upon the issues raised by the defendant's answer it was held that the answer by the bank was an acceptance of the check for the sum named in the first telegram, and was sufficient, under Revised Statutes of Missouri (§ 533), providing that an acceptance of a bill of exchange must be in writing, and section 534, providing that an acceptance on a separate paper will bind the acceptor in favor of one to whom it has been drawn, who takes the bill on the faith thereof for a valuable consideration, to render the bank liable to plaintiffs on the check. And in such case, the evident purpose of the inquiry

³ Security Bank of New York v.

⁴ Marine National Bank v. National

Hagen v. Bowery National Bank, (1872) 6 Lans. 490; s. c., 64 Barb. 197. National Bank of Republic, (1876) 67 ²St. Nicholas Bank v. National N. Y. 458; s. c., 28 Am. Rep. 129. Bank of the State of New York, (1878) 3 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 588; citing City Bank, (1874) 59 N. Y. 67; s. c., Marine Nat. Bank v. National City 17 Am. Rep. 805. Bank, (1874) 59 N. Y. 67; s. c., 17 Am. Rep. 805.

being to obtain assurance of payment before taking the check, the bank was liable under Revised Statutes of Missouri (§ 535), providing that an unconditional written promise to accept a bill before it is drawn shall be deemed an actual acceptance in favor of any person to whom it is shown, and who on the faith thereof receives the bill for a valuable consideration.1 The same case was before the court again, when there were some further rulings as to the bank's liability on the check by reason of its acceptance by telegram. It was held that the bank which had agreed to accept the check for a certain sum could not refuse payment because the check when presented concluded with the words "with exchange," no place of exchange being mentioned. Still this was mere surplusage, and of no effect.2 It was also held that a bank check payable to "the order of" the payee was a bill of exchange within the meaning of Revised Statutes of Missouri (§ 553), requiring an acceptance of a "bill of exchange" to be in writing.3

§ 327. Presentment of checks for payment.— Upon presentation of a check for payment the payee or legal holder becomes the owner, entitled to the sum called for by the check, if that amount stands to the credit of the drawer on the books of the bank.4 Bank checks being payable immediately on present-

(1889) 39 Fed. Rep. 163. As to princi- Rep. 381; Hughitt r. Johnson, 28 Fed. ples applicable to bank cheeks, see Rep. 865; Hill v. Todd, 29 Ill. 101-103; Bank v. Bank, 10 Wall, 647; Cooke r. Clauser r. Stone, 20 Ill. 114. As to a Bank, 52 N. Y. 96; Jarvis v. Wilson, defense that presentation of a check 46 Conn. 90-92; Fround c. Bank, 76 for payment was unreasonably de-N. Y. 355, 356; Bank v. Richards, 109 layed, see Bull v. Bank, 123 U. S. Mass. 413; Whilden r. Bank, 64 Aln. 111, 112, s. c., 8 Sup. Ct. Rep. 63. 29, 30. As to how an acceptance of a check may be made, sec Bank v. Bank, (1891) 47 Fed. Rep. 867, attlrming Gar-1 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 26; Espy v. Bank, rettson v. North Atchison Bank, (1889) 18 Wall. 604; Whilden v Bank, 64 89 Fed. Rep. 163. Garrettson v. North Ala. 32, 33; Bank v. Howard, 40 N. Y. Atchison Bank, 39 Fed. Rep. 163, Super. Ct. 20. As to a check passing and 47 Fed. Rep. 867, were affirmed to another for a valuable consideration, by the United States Circuit Court of see Railroad Co. v. Bank, 102 U. S. Appeals in North Atchison Bank v. 14-22; Pope v. Bank, 59 Barb. 226; Garrettson, (1892) 51 Fed. Rep. 168. Freund v. Bank, 76 N. Y. 353-358. Shaffner v. Edgerton. 13 Bradt

(1891) 47 Fed. Rep. 867. C. f., Brink- Munn r. Burch, 25 Ill. 85. man v. Hunter, 78 Mo. 179; Lindley v.

Garrettson v. North Atchison Bank. Bank. 76 Iowa. 629, s. c., 41 N. W.

⁸ Garrettson v. North Atchison Bank.

*Shaffner v. Edgerton, 18 Bradw. ² Garrettson v. North Atchison Bank, (Ill.) 182; Priest v. Way, 87 Mo. 16; ment are not entitled to days of grace.1 Whether days of grace are to be allowed on a draft in the form of a check depends upon the question whether the instrument is payable on demand or at a future day.2 A check drawn on a bank ordering it to pay money to a third party or order on a day subsequent to its date would be entitled to grace.3 A check drawn by one party upon another payable to a third person, due thirty days after date, has been held in a suit by the drawee against the drawer to be entitled to days of grace. An instrument drawn upon the cashier of a bank, payable sixty days after date, has been held to be a hill of exchange, and entitled to days of grace. It was also held in the same case that it was essential to a check, eo nomine, that it should be payable on demand. A draft on a bank for money payable at a day subsequent to its date, has been held to be a bill of exchange, and entitled to days of grace.6 A bank check payable fifteen days after date has been declared in an Indiana case to be an inland bill of exchange, and to have every feature of such a bill. A demand in business hours on the day succeeding that on which a check is drawn is a sufficient presentment.8 Presentment of a check is excused by the stoppage of its payment by the drawer. The fact that a check may be drawn by a depositor of funds in a bank in favor of the cashier of the bank just previous to the service upon the bank of process in garnishment, has been held not to be in itself evidence of fraud or want of good faith.10 A bank which had sent another bank a bad check, supposing and affirming that it came from the bank to which it was returned and been paid money by the latter for the check, relying upon this statement, which was erroneous, has been held liable in an action by the latter for the money, as paid under a mistake of fact, although the error in the statement was not discovered until three days after the payment of the money, when the

¹ Barbour v. Bayon, 5 La. Ann. 304.

² Morrison v. Bailey, (1855) 5 Ohio
St. 13. When an instrument drawn on a bank is a check and not a bill of exchange, and not entitled to days of grace, see Andrew v. Blachly, (1860) 28.

11 Ohio St. 89.

⁵ Woodru
Wend. 678.

⁶ Bowen of Glenn v.

⁸ Ocean C

28.

⁹ Woodin

Ivory v. Bank of Missouri, (1865) Super. Ct. 190.
 Mo. 475.

⁴Cutler v. Reynolds, (1872) 64 Ill ing Co., 114 Ill 483.
821.

⁵ Woodruff v. Merchants' Bank, 25 Wend, 673.

Bowen v. Newell, 8 N. Y. 190.

Glenn v. Noble, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 104.

⁸ Ocean Co. v. Ophelia, 11 La. Ann. 28.

⁹ Woodin v. Frazec, (1874) 38 N. Y. Super. Ct. 190.

¹⁰ Bank of America r. Indiana Bankng Co., 114 Hi 483

drawer of the check had failed.1 A bank paying a fraudulently altered post-dated check before its true date would not be entitled to charge it against the drawer.2 Checks are governed by the same rules that bills are, as to demand, protest and notice. A holder of a check, to recover against the drawer, must show a presentment for payment and protest, or that the drawer had no funds in the hands of the drawee.3 A post-dated check will not be entitled to days of grace, as a bill of exchange.4 The obligation of the drawee to pay a check and a bill are the same." A bank check has been held to be a bill of exchange, within the meaning of that term as used in the Illinois Statute of Limitations.6 When payment of a check is made to the payee an indor-ement by him is not necessary.7 Mere priority in drawing a check gives the holder no preference or privity in payment over the holders of checks subsequently drawn.8 The neglect of the holder of a check to present it will postpone his right to the funds to that of a subsequent attachment upon the funds. A bong fide indorsee of a bank check, who had delayed for six months to present it for payment, funds remaining in the hands of the drawer and the drawer, being unprejudiced by the delay, has been held not subjected to equities between the drawer and a previous holder of the check.10 Presentment and notice are not required where bank checks are ¹ Union Bank v. United States Bank, (1807) 3 Mass. 74.

² Clawford v. Bank, 3 Lancaster 179. Law Rev. (Pa) 245.

³ Succession of Kercheval, 14 La. Ann. 457; Barnet v. Smith, 30 N. H. 256; Shrieve v. Duckham, (1822) 1 Litt. (Ky.) 195; Humphries v. Bicknell, 2 Litt. (Ky) 297; Sutcliffe & Bird v. McDowell, 2 Nott & McC. (S. C.) 251; Lilley v. Miller, 2 Nott & McC. (S. C.) 257. As to the necessity of proof of 718.

presentment and notice of dishonor of to the drawer for payment, see Case v. Morris, 31 Pa St. 100. Payment of a part of the check after it becomes due Kuhn v. Bank, 20 W. N. C. (Pa.) 280.

by the drawer dispenses with the necessity of such proof. Levy v. Peters, 105.

9 Serg. & Rawle (Pa.), 125.

4 Champion v. Gordon, 70 Pa. St. 474; Lawson v. Richards, 6 Phil *

5 City Bank r. Girard Bank, 10 La

⁶Rogers r Durant, 140 U. S. 298. As to the transfer of the sum named in a check to the payer, see Bank of America v. Indiana Banking Co., 114 Ill. 483.

⁷ Huber r. Bossart, (1886) 70 Iowa,

⁸ Moses v. Franklin Bank of Baltia check, to entitle the owner to resort more. 34 Md. 574. See, also, Norris v. Despard, 38 Md. 487.

⁹ Harry v. Wood, 2 Miles (Pa.), 327; 10 Bull v. Bank of Kasson, 123 U.S.

payable at a future day or protested.1 A bank check must be presented for payment by the holder within a reasonable time: should it not be, the delay is at the holder's peril. As to what is a reasonable time would depend upon the circumstances in each case. And the time of presentation may be extended by the assent of the drawer, express or implied. In a Connecticut case. by way of illustration, the plaintiff, desiring to make a remittance to a creditor at a distance, and there being no bank in the place where he lived, asked the defendant, who had an account with a banker in a neighboring city, to take the amount of him in bank bills and give him his check therefor, which the latter did, fully understanding the object. The plaintiff, to whose order the check was payable, at once indorsed it to his creditor and sent it by the next mail. It was three days before the check reached the place where the banker resided, on whom it was drawn, and was presented for payment, at which time the banker had failed and payment was refused. The plaintiff took up the check and brought this action against the drawer. The Supreme Court of Connecticut held that the check was presented within a reasonable time under the circumstances, and held the drawer liable to the drawee for its amount.2 Negligence cannot be imputed to the holder of a check upon a bank for the payment of money if ney (Ohio), 78.

bank for several days. The case of dle, L. R., 4 Q. B. 455.

Blachly v. Andrew, (1855) 1 Dis- Daggett v. Whiting, 35 Conn. 366. is certainly an authority to show that ² Woodruff v. Plant, (1874) 41 Conn. what the understanding of the parties 344. The court said: "What is a rea- was at the time that the check was somable time will depend upon circum- drawn and delivered enters into the stances; and will, in many cases, de- contract That the time for presentpend upon the time, the mode, and the ment may be extended by the assent place of receiving the check, and of the drawer, express or implied, is upon the relations of the parties be- well settled. Alexander c. Burchfield, tween whom the question arises. Story 7 Man. & Gr. 1061; s. c., 49 Eng. on Prom. Notes, § 498; Mohawk Bank Com. Law Rep. 1060." See on this r. Broderick, 18 Wend. 138 Here subject, Bridgeport Bank r. Dyer, three days only clapsed between the 19 Conn. 136; Taylor r. Wilson, 11 giving of the check and its present- Met. (Mass.) 44; Ames v. Meriam. 98 ment for payment. The particular Mass. 294; First Nat. Bank v. Harris. circumstances attending this case we 108 Mass. 514; Morrison v. Bailey. 5 consider very important. The de- Ohio St. 13; Stephens v. McNeill, 26 fendant knew that the plaintiff desired Barb. 652; Rickford v. Ridge, 2 this check to make a remittance; that Campb. 587; Robinson v. Hawksford, it was not to be immediately presented 9 Adol. & El. (N. S.) 52; Hare v. Henty, for payment, and would not reach the 10 C. B. (N. S.) 64; Prideaux v. Cridhe demands payment on the day following that on which he received it. If, however, the holder unreasonably delays in presenting the check for payment, and in the meantime the bank fails, the loss will be the holder's and not that of the drawer of the check.1 In case it appears that the drawer of a check has sustained any injury by the delay or negligence of the holder of the check in presenting it for payment, the drawer will be discharged from liability.2 Where a holder of a check had neglected to present it for payment until twenty-five days after it was drawn, during which time the drawer failed, the Supreme Court of Illinois held that the holder of the check could have no recourse upon the drawer unless he showed that no loss occurred to the drawer through his delay in presentation of the check.3 Where one having funds in a bank gives a check which the holder neglects to present for payment within a reasonable time, the drawer cannot be held liable for non-payment in current funds unless the holder shows not only that the funds on deposit were depreciated at the date of the check, but also that they were depreciated at the time of the deposit, and that, therefore, the drawer had no right to draw the check, or to expect its payment in current funds.4 The holder of a check will be exercising due diligence when he presents it for payment in accordance with the usage of the banks in the place where it is made payable, and of the persons who have accounts with such banks, provided this usage be lawful and well known or recognized by the mercantile community, and by the parties to the check.5 One giving a check may expressly, or by implication, extend the time during which he will remain liable for the amount of the check before its presentment for payment.6 The drawer of a check cannot Bank, 2 MacArthur (D. C), 249.

within a reasonable time, and that the Co. Ct. Rep. 346. doctrine applies to all holders, payees

¹ Clark v. National Metropolitan the next day after its date to present it. Veazie Bank r. Winn, 40 Mc. 60. ² Ibid. That the discharge of the That a check must be presented for drawer of a bank check from liability payment on its date or the day therewill result from neglect of the holder after where all the parties reside in the to present the same for payment same place, see Bank r. Weil, 4 Pa.

⁶ Holmes v. Roe, 62 Mich. 199. As or transferees, see Daniels v. Kyle, 5 to the duty of a bank in the matter of paying the checks drawn upon it by a ³ Willetts v. Paine, (1867) 43 Ill. 432. depositor, see Moses v. Franklin Bank of Baltimore, 34 Md. 574. Right of ac-⁵ Marrett v. Brackett, 60 Me. 524. tion of a holder of a check against The holder of a check allowed until bank refusing payment when drawer object to any delay in presenting it unless he can show special injury to himself arising from the delay.1 The drawer of a check will be released by the failure to give him notice of non-payment of the same only to the extent of the injury he may receive thereby. In case of failure of the drawee, then proof of notice of nonpayment would be necessary to rebut the presumption of injury arising from the failure; and when the drawer has no funds in the hands of the drawee to meet the check, demand and notice will be necessary.2 The drawer of a check, if otherwise liable. will not be discharged because of a failure to present the check at the clearing house in accordance with mercantile usage, even though it would have been paid if presented there, when it has been duly presented to the drawce and payment demanded and refused.3 Four days' delay in presenting a check has been held not too much. A delay in the presentment of a draft, payable on demand, for eleven days has been held not a reasonable time.5

Stanford, 28 Ill. 168.

¹ Emery v. Hobson, 63 Me. 32.

tadt, (1890) 40 Mo. App. 333.

App. 444. drawer is not necessary, see Cushing was given. v. Gore, (1816) 15 Mass. 69; Franklin checks against the drawers. Ball v. Wheeler, (1825) 3 Pick. (Mass.) 18, has funds in bank. Fogarties v. State twenty miles from the place where the Bank, 12 Rich. (S. C.) 518. As to a bank upon which it was drawn was court's preventing the vexatious draw- located, to a merchant whose place of ing of small checks against a deposit, business was twenty-seven miles by see Chicago Marine & Fire Ins. Co. v. rail in another direction; and had to be there on the following day, which was Saturday. On Monday he left ² Pack v. Thomas, 13 Smedes & the check at a local bank for collec-Marsh. (Miss.) 11; Graham v. Mors-tion, but the bank on which it was drawn failed that day. The court ³ Kleekamp v. Meyer, (1878), 5 Mo. held that the delay in presenting the When presentment of check for payment was not such as check to justify an action against the would release the debt for which it

⁵ Newark Banking Co. v. Bank of Bank v. Freeman, (1885) 16 Pick. 585. Erie, 63 Pa. St. 404. As to reasonable Rules in actions by the holders of delay in presenting a check for payment, see Chouteau v. Rowse, (1874) Allen, (1819) 15 Mass. 433; Ellis v. 50 Mo. 65. As to time within which a check must be paid, see Wear v. Lee, ⁴Piece v. Daniel, 16 W. N. C. (Pa.) (1885) 87 Mo. 358. As to the effect of 35. In St. John v. Homans, (1844) 8 delay in presentment of a check, see Mo. 882, where all the parties to the Flemming v. Denny, 2 Phil. 111. As check resided in the same state, a de- to right of action after presentment and lay of eight days in presenting the demand and failure to pay by drawer check for payment was held sufficient with funds of depositors in hand, see to discharge the drawer. In Freiberg McGrade v. German Savings Institug. Cody, 55 Mich. 108, it appeared that tion, (1877) 4 Mo. App. 886; Zelle v. a check for a small sum was given German Savings Institution, (1877) 4 late in the afternoon at a lumber camp, Mo. App. 401; Senter v. Continental

A delay in presenting a check for payment would be excused in case the holder is prevented by any state of things beyond his control from presenting it or sending it to be presented. But in case the delay is protracted to a considerable length of time the reason must be shown.1 As to what is a reasonable time within which a check was presented may be submitted to the jury under appropriate instructions.2 Where a drawer has no funds and makes no provision for meeting a check or withdraws his funds before its presentation, he cannot take advantage of a want of diligence in presenting it for payment.3 The inderser of a cheek, drawn for his accommodation, who is bound to provide funds to meet it, will not be entitled to notice of non-payment.4 The custom of banks in doing business among themselves through the clearing house does not alter the rule that a check must be presented to the bank on which it was drawn, at least during banking hours of the next succeeding day.5 In an action upon a check by the holder against a bank the burden will be upon the holder to show that the sum called for by the check stood to the credit of the drawer when presented.6 A reply of a bank to which a raised check is sent for information, that it is all right, would be a guaranty of the signature and the state of the drawer's account, and not of the genuineness of the filling in.7 The indorsement of a raised check is in effect a representation and warranty to the drawee that it is genuine, upon which the drawee may rely in making payment, for reimbursement by the indorser after discovery of the fraud.8 A bank is entitled to establish that a raised check was a forgery and to recover back the money paid thereon, notwithstanding its recognition and payment, the signature being genuine, under an honest mistake.9

§ 328. When a draft on a bank fails to bind the funds in bank.—The United States Supreme Court had before it a case

Bank, (1879) 7 Mo. App. 532; State Savings Assn. v. Boatmen's Savings Bradw. (Ill.) 594. Bank, (1881) 11 Mo. App. 292.

¹ Moody v. Mack, (1869) 43 Mo. 210. ² Selby v. McCullough, (1887) 26 Mo.

App. 66.

⁸ Moody v. Mack, (1869) 43 Mo. 210; Sterreit v. Rosencrantz, 3 Phil. 54.

4 Williams v. Hood, 1 Phil. 205.

⁵Rosenblatt v. Habermann, (1880) 8 211. Mo. App. 486.

⁶ International Bank v. Jones, 15

Espy v. Bank of Cincinnati, 18 Wall. 604.

⁸City Bank r. First National Bank, 45 Tex. 203.

9 National Bank of Commerce v. National Mechanics' Bank, (1873) 35 N.Y. Super, Ct. 282; affirmed in 55 N. Y.

in which it appeared that the drawers of a check upon a bank making an assignment for the benefit of creditors just afterwards. immediately gave notice to the bank of this assignment, and requested the bank to hold the funds in its hands for the benefit of the assignee. Virtually, this notice to the bank was prior to the presentation of the check by the payee of the latter, and the bank refused to pay the check. In this action of the payce of the check against the bank for the recovery of the amount of the check, the court held that the check or draft did not bind the funds in the hands of the bank until it had notice of the draft or check by presentation for payment, or otherwise; and that, until then, other checks drawn afterwards might be paid, or other assignments of the fund, or part of it, might secure priority by giving prior notice.1 A banking firm of Ohio gave its draft or

¹ Laclede Bank v. Schuler, (1887) in the hands of the bank. Roberts v. 120 U. S. 511; s. c., 7 Sup. Ct. Rep. Austin Corbin & Co., 26 Iowa, 315; 644. Mr. Justice MILLER, speaking Fogarties v. State Bank, 12 Rich. Law, for the court, said: "The question of 518; s. c., 78 Am. Dec. 468; Munn v. how far and under what circumstances Burch, 25 Ill. 35; German Savings a check of a depositor in a bank will Inst. v. Adac, 1 McCrary, 501. But be considered an equitable assignment however this doctrine may operate to to the payee of the check of all or any secure an equitable interest in the portion of the funds or deposits to the fund deposited in the bank to the credit of the drawer in the bank, is credit of the drawer after notice to one which has been very much con- the bank of the check, or presentation sidered of late years in the courts, and to it for payment, a question which we about which there is not a unanimity do not here decide, we are of opinion of opinion. In this court it is very that, as to the bank itself, the holder well settled that such a check, unless of the fund and its duties and obligaaccepted by the bank, will not sustain tions in regard to it, the bank remains an action at law by the drawee against unaffected by the execution of such a the bank, as there is no privity of check until notice has been given to it contract between them. Marine Bank or demand made upon it for its payv. Fulton Bank, 2 Wall. 252; Bank of ment." In Schuler v. Laclede Bank, Republic v. Millard, 10 Wall. 152; (1886), 27 Fed. Rep. 424, which was First National Bank of Washington v. affirmed in the case just cited, BREWER, Whitman, 94 U. S. 843. But while J., disposed of the contentions of the this may be considered as the estab- holder of the check in these words: lished doctrine of this court in regard "This question must be solved in a to the rights of the parties at law, and court of equity upon equitable is probably the prevailing doctrine in grounds, and I think that it is equinearly all the courts, it is urged in table for a bank, upon the day on this case, and several courts have so which a note becomes due, and at any decided, that such a check is an ap- time during the day, having funds of propriation of the amount for which the maker in its possession, to apply it is drawn of the funds of the drawer those funds to the payment of that check upon a New York bank. They having made an assignment for the benefit of creditors before it was presented to the New York bank, the latter upon presentation refused to pay it, and paid over the funds in its hands to the assignce of the insolvent firm. The holder of the draft or check brought his action against the assignee for the amount. In considering the case brought before them the Supreme Court of Ohio stated, in its opinion, the practical question to be "whether the unaccepted draft for a part only of the amount due the drawer gave the payee or holder priority over the other creditors of the drawer." Their conclusion was that a check or draft for a part only of the sum due the drawer does not, before acceptance, constitute an equitable assignment of the amount for which it is drawn; and where, after it is drawn, the drawer makes an assignment of all his property for the benefit of his creditors, notice of which is received by the drawee before acceptance, the property in the whole amount then remaining to the credit of the drawer passes to the assignee for the equal benefit of all his creditors, and the holder of the check or draft has no priority over the other creditors.1 The court, later in its opinion, said; "While, how-note, although by so doing it leaves of authority is, we think, the other nothing standing to the credit of the way. Mr. Pomeroy, in his work on maker to apply on checks drawn by Equity Jurisprudence, section 1284, him. As between the bank, the holder says that, 'An ordinary bill of exof a note due and the payce of a check change or draft drawn generally and upon that bank the equities are in not upon any particular fund, whether favor of the bank. Or, at least, if the accepted or not by the drawee, does equities are equal, legal title to the not operate as an equitable assignment. funds and possession is with the bank, Its operation is not changed even when and it should not be postpoucd."

66. Arguendo, it was said by the court: drawce may apply these funds to "Some cases and text writers, we are another use, and although this act aware, maintain with much earnest- might violate his duty to the drawer, ness the position taken by the counsel the payce would obtain no interest in or for the plaintiff, that a draft or bank claim upon the specific fund. Accordcheck for part of the amount due the ing to the great preponderance of drawer is an equitable assignment pro authority, a check is in this respect a tanto, giving the payee or holder an bill of exchange, and does not act as equitable property in the fund, which an equitable assignment of a portion may be pursued as long as it can be of the drawce's deposit equal in certainly identified, except into the amount to the face of the check.' Achands of third persons who have ac- cording to the same author, in order quired possession of it for value, and that the doctrine of equitable assignwithout notice. But the great weight ment may apply, there must be a funds have been placed in the drawee's 1 Covert v. Rhodes, (1891) 48 Ohio St. hands as a means of payment; for the ever, we regard it as well settled that a draft or check for a part only of the drawer's deposit or sum due him does not operate as an equitable assignment, a different rule seems to obtain where an order, draft or check is drawn for the whole amount of the deposit, or the exact sum due. There may be in such cases, it is said, a sufficient designation of the specific fund to be transferred to constitute an equitable assignment." A draft indersed to a its right to pay the bill or check ceases, Moses v. Bank, 34 Md. 574. and its indebtedness to the drawer becomes assets of his estate.

specific fund upon which the assign- the bank is the agent of the owner for ment may operate, and 'the sure cri- the disbursement of a particular fund, terion is whether order or direction to and the agency is terminated by the the drawec, if assented to by him, death of the principal, but because, would create an absolute personal in- before acceptance, the title remains in debtedness payable by him at all the drawer, and devolves immediately events, or whether it creates an obliga- on his death on his personal repretion only to make payment out of the sentative by operation of law. The particular designated fund." The authorities are also nearly uniform to Objocourt resumed: "The obligation the effect that the holder of such of a bank to its general depositors is not draft or check cannot maintain an that of bailed or trustee, but that of action against the drawed without the debtor simply. It does not agree to latter's acceptance. The reason given pay checks or hills drawn on it out of is, that without acceptance there is no any particular fund; nor does it retain privity between them. It would seem any particular fund for that purpose, clear that if before acceptance, the As said by Mr. Justice DAVIS in Bank check or draft operated as an equitable of Republic v. Millard, 10 Wall. 152, assignment pro tanto, such an action 155, when deposits are received by the might be maintained; for an equitable bank, 'unless there are stipulations assignment transfers the fund, and to the contrary, they belong to the the refusal of the drawee to pay bank, become part of its general fund, would be a conversion by him of the and can be loaned by it as other money. payee's property, for which suit might The banker is accountable for the de- at once be brought." The court furposits which he receives as a debtor, ther cited in support of their views. and he agrees to discharge these debts besides Laclede Bank v. Schuler, 120 by honoring the checks which the U.S. 515, Grammel v. Carmer, 55 depositor shall from time to time draw Mich. 201; Dickinson v. Coates, As on him. The contract between the signee, 79 Mo. 250; Bullard v. Randall, parties is purely a legal one, and has 1 Gray, 605; Attorney-General v. Connothing in the nature of a trust in it.' tinental Life Insurance Co., 71 N. Y. The authorities are, without exception, 325; Kimball v. Donald, 20 Mo. 577; to that effect. There is little, if any, Loyd v. McCuffrey, 46 Pa. St. 410; conflict of authority upon the proposi- Chapman v. White, 6 N. Y. 412; tion that on notice of the drawer's Dykers v. Bank, 11 Paige, 812; Hopdeath, before acceptance by the bank, kinson v. Forster, 19 L. R. (Eq.) 74;

1 Covert v. Rhodes, 48 Ohio St. 66. The Upon this it was said by the Obio reason, we apprehend, is not because court: "This distinction is made by bank for collection, with directions to remit New York exchange. was paid by the drawee overdrawing on the bank receiving it, The bank remitted its check for the and the draft canceled. proceeds, but assigned for the benefit of creditors before the check was paid. The Tennessee Supreme Court held in such case that no trust existed in favor of the payee of the draft, and he was not entitled to any priority of payment over other creditors by the assignee.1 They also held, there being a contention cases were cited in the opinion filed in draft is for the whole amount of a that case, and the following, not then fund the draft may, in connection with cited, are to the same effect: Shand r. other circumstances, tend to show an Du Buisson, L R., 18 Eq. 283; Lewis v. intent that it should operate as an as-Traders' Bank, 30 Minn. 134; Jones v. signment.'" The Ohio court then con Pacific Wood Company, 13 Nev. 359; cluded as follows: "Gardner v. The 318; Dolsen v. Brown, 13 La. Ann. 551; longs to this latter class of cases Sands v. Matthews, 27 Ala. 399.' There the draft was for the exact cases as follows: 'But this case dif- opinion Johnson, Ch. J., carefully 201, in the fact that the draft now which the draft was drawn for a part in question was drawn for the exact only of the amount owing by the amount of a sum claimed to be due drawee." from the drawee to the owner for a 1 Akin v. Jones, (Tenn. 1894) 27 S. bill of merchandise, and that the W. Rep. 669.

many well-considered cases. Among account was attached to the draft, them Moore v. Davis, 57 Mich. 251; evidently for the purpose of being Bank v. Railway Company, 52 Iowa, sent forward with it. When thus 378, 384; Mandeville v. Welch, 5 sent forward it would explain to Wheat. 277; Kingman v. Perkins, 105 the drawees the account on which it Mass. 111; Macomber v. Doane, 2 Al- was drawn, but it must also have been len, 541; Robbins r. Bacon, 3 Me. 346; understood to serve a further purpose, Gibson v. Cooke, 20 Pick. 15-17. In namely, to be evidence in the hands of the opinion of the court in Moore v. the drawces that the account was paid Davis, 57 Mich. 251, Cooley, Ch. J., when the draft was taken up by them. discussing the distinction between the There could be no sufficient reason for two classes of cases, says: 'In the attaching it at all, unless it was un recent case of Grammel v. Carmer, 55 derstood that payment of the draft Mich. 201, the question whether a draft would be payment of the account as was an assignment of the fund in the well. By the general commercial law, drawee's hands to the extent of the as was said in Grammel v. Carmer, the sum drawn for, was considered and purchaser of the draft is supposed to decided in the negative. That, how- take it in reliance upon the responsi ever, was the case of a binker's draft, bility of the drawer, and he has no and it was not drawn for the whole other reliance until it is accepted. fund in the drawee's hands. Many This is the general rule. But if the Rosenthal v. Martin Bank, 17 Blatchf. Natl. City Bank, 39 Ohio St. 600, be COOLEY, Ch. J., then distinguished the amount due the drawer, and in the fers from Grammel v. Carmer, 55 Mich. distinguishes the case from those in contra, that the delivery of a check against a general deposit was not a legal or equitable assignment of any portion of the fund.1

8 320. Forged checks-rules.-()ne purchasing a forged check and indorsing it, gives it credit and will be liable to the party paying it.3 The indorsee of a bank check obtains no title to the

for the amount of their deposits. A. Fourth Nat. Bank, 46 N. Y. 87. check is a request of the customer to pay the whole or a portion of such in- Bank, 16 La. 457. debtedness to the bearer or to the order

1 Akin r. Jones, (Tenn. 1894) 27 S. of the payce. Until presented and ac-W. Rep. 660. It was said by the cepted, it is incheate. It vests notitle, "The case of Imboden v. legal or equitable, in the payer to the Perrie, 13 Lea, 504, involved more of fund. Before acceptance the drawer the features presented in this case than may withdraw his deposits. The bank any other reported in this state. In owes no duty to the holder until the that case the question arose between check is presented for payment. creditors. One creditor held a check Knowledge that checks have been of the debtor against a general deposit drawn does not make it obligatory of the debtor in bank, while the other upon the bank to retain the deposits was an attachment creditor of that to meet them. These rules are indis-The question was fairly raised pensable to the safe transaction of in that case whether the check worked commercial business. * ' * ' The an equitable assignment of the fund in case of Attorney-General r. Continenbank to the checkholder before the tal Life Ins. Co., 71 N. Y. 325, " " " presentation of the check or notice to presented the exact state of facts the bank. If so, the check-holding found in this record. In that case the creditor was entitled to priority. If insurance company gave its check not, then the attachment had priority. upon a trust company in payment of a Judge Turney, in delivering the opin- loss, the company having at the time ion of the court against the defend- on deposit a sum exceeding the amount ant's theory of equitable assignment, of the check, but prior to its presentacited approvingly the opinion of Chief tion a receiver of the insurance com-Justice Church in Attorney-General pany was appointed who withdrew all v. Continental Life Ins. Co., 71 N. Y. the funds deposited with the trust 325, to the effect that checks drawn in company. In an action by this checkthe ordinary form, not describing any holder against the receiver to recover particular fund or using any words of the whole amount of the check out of transfer of the whole, or any part of the funds in his hands, it was held by any amount standing to the credit of the Court of Appeals of New York the drawer, but containing only the that the check, not having been drawn usual request, are of the same effect as upon a particular fund, was not an inland bills of exchange, and do not equitable assignment pro tunto of a amount to an assignment of the funds general deposit, and that the checkof the drawer in bank. 'This doc- holder was not entitled to payment in trine,' he continues, 'accords with full in preference to the claims of other the relations between the parties, creditors." Sec, also, Risley r. Bank, Banks are debtors to their customers 83 N. Y. 318; Ætna Nat. Bank r.

² Merchants' Bank v. Exchange same where the indorsement is a forgery. Where a bank upon which a check is drawn has paid it to another bank with which it was deposited by one receiving it with an unauthorized indorsement of the name of the payee, the bank may, upon discovery of the facts, recover the money which it has paid irrespective of the question as to whether or not it had been called upon by the drawee to pay the amount again.2 The fact that the drawee of a check may have brought suit against other persons as fraudulent receiptors will not release a bank which has paid the check upon a forged indorsement.3 A bank taking drafts with forged indorsements from a person wrongfully in possession of them, collecting and surrendering them to the drawees. would be liable to the owners of the drafts for conversion.4 The indorsement of the owners, named as payees of these checks, were forged and the checks passed to a third party or value, who deposited them for collection with a bank. The checks were collected by the bank and the proceeds credited to this third party. The court held that a joint and several action was maintainable by the owners of the checks against this party and the bank for the proceeds of the checks.⁵ A depositor in a bank, who, being deceived by his clerk, drew a check in favor of a customer, and his clerk forging an indorsement of the payee's name on which the bank paid the check, has been held not to be precluded from disputing the bank's right to charge the check to his account because of entry of the check in his pass book, its return by the bank with the vouchers, and retention by the depositor, without objection for several months.6 It is not the duty of a bank depositor to examine his pass book or returned checks with a view to detect forgeries in the indorsements. may assume that the bank ascertained the genuineness of the indorsements before payment.7 A bank is bound also to ascertain the genuineness of an indorsement upon a check, and a drawee of

¹ Indiana National Bank v. Holtsclaw, (1884) 98 Ind. 85.

⁹ Central National Bank v. North River Bank, (1887) 44 Hun, 114.

⁸ August v. Fourth National Bank, (Sup. Ct. 1888) 15 N. Y. St. Repr. 956.

⁴ People v. Bank of North America, (1879) 75 N. Y. 547.

White v. Mechanics' National Bank, (1871) 4 Daly, 225.

Welsh v. German-American Bauk, (1878) 73 N. Y. 424; s. c., 29 Am. Rep. 175.

⁷ Ibid. See, also, Bank of British North America v. Merchants' National Bank of New York, (1881) 18 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 374.

a check, payable to the order of the payee, will not be bound by a payment made by the bank on a forged indorsement of the payee's name.1 The responsibility of the drawce, who pays a forced check, for the genuineness of the drawer's signature, is absolute only in favor of one who has not by his own fraud or negligence contributed to the success of the fraud or to mislead the drawee. So, if a payee take a check drawn payable to his order, from a stranger or other third person, without inquiry, although in good faith and for value, and give it currency and credit by indorsing it before securing payment of it, the drawee may recover back the money paid on it.2 In case a bank has paid out a depositor's money on forged checks, the fact that the depositor may have obtained collateral security to reimburse him for the acts of the forger, would be no reason why a recovery may not be had of the bank, where nothing has been realized out of the security.8 If the drawee of a bank check pays a forged check to the holder, he will not be entitled to recover back the money so paid, where there has been no fraud practiced upon But the drawee or payer of a forged bank check may liability to the depositor by proof that literating the latter words. the forgery was committed on a blank 3 Bank v. Green, 3 Pennypacker times used on his checks, and which v. First National Bank, 80 Md. 11. was accessible to any one in his office:

1 Welsh v. German-American Bank, depositor to the officers of the bank as (1878) 78 N. Y. 424, s c . 29 Am Rep. the person who was authorized to re-175. That a bank pays a check, the ceive money on the depositor's checks. signature of which is forged, at its 2 North America Bank v. Bangs, peril, see Frank v. Chemical National (1871) 106 Mass. 441. In Belknap v. Bank of New York, (1881) 84 N. Y. North America Bank, (1868) 100 Mass. 209, affg. 45 N. Y. Super. Ct. 452. In 376, a drawer of a check payable to Mackintosh v. Eliot Bank, (1877) 123 A. B or order, who sent it by his clerk Mass. 393, the bank which had paid to the post office to be mailed inclosed out money on a check purporting to in a scaled letter, was held not guilty be signed by one of its depositors, but of negligence which would render the signature on which was in fact him liable on the check in the hands forged by the depositor's clerk, was of the holder in good faith for value. held, in the absence of evidence that to whom the clerk, after abstracting it that the clerk had or was supposed by from the letter, passed it altered by the bank to have any authority to sign forging the words " or bearer" after the depositor's name, not exempt from A. B. and before "or order," and ob-form taken from the depositor's check (Pa.), 456. As to a bank paying a book, which was left lying about in forged check and being bound to know his office during the day; that the check the signature of its depositors, see Comwas stamped with a hand stamp some- mercial & Farmers' National Bank

⁴ First National Bank of Quincy v. that the clerk was allowed to fill up Ricker, (1874) 71 Ill. 440. The court checks, and was introduced by the said: "Bankers are supposed to have recover the amount paid by him on it, where the holder or payee is himself at fault, or has been guilty of fraudulent practices which may have thrown the drawee off his guard.1 The court further held that where the holder of a forged check presented it to the drawee, and received payment on it, and withheld knowledge which he then possessed of facts which rendered it morally certain that the check was a forgery, he was not in a position to set up, in this suit brought to recover back the money, that the drawee was obliged to know the signature of his own depositors, and that he was estopped to say that he was mistaken.2 Should natures of their depositors to checks enforced. The general rule, no doubt, than a drawee that of a single corre- has its exceptional cases, and the docspondent whose bills are drawn with trine as stated by Lord Mansfilli in less frequency, and are, perhaps, held Price v. Neale, has certainly been very to a higher degree of diligence in that much limited by more modern decisregard. The principles applicable to sions. The difficulty does not lie in checks and to bills are regarded as sufficiently analogous to make a decision rendered upon one instrument a precedent for a case arising on the Hence, we find the case of to in nearly or quite all the decisions forged bills. It was declared the plaintiff could not recover for the reason the defendant had received the money on the bills indorsed to him for a suspicion of forgery, and that it was incumbent on the plaintiff to be satisfied the bill drawn on him was in the cepted or paid by him, where the refunded. seldom, if ever, been departed from. under this state of facts. It is said to have its foundation in a

a better opportunity to know the sig- tions make it imperative it shall be the general rule itself, for it is undoubtedly supported by reason and the weight of authority, but in its application to particular cases only."

1 First National Bank of Quincy r. Price v. Neal, 3 Burr. 1854, is referred Ricker, (1874) 71 Ill. 489. It appeared in this case that the holder of the on this question. That was an action forged check, which he had received to recover back money paid on two and paid for without knowing that it was a forgery, after acquiring knowledge of facts calculated to arouse suspicion that it was a forgery, presented it at the bank on which it was drawn valuable consideration without any and demanded payment, without disclosing the facts which aroused his suspicion; he was told by the teller of the bank that he did not certainly drawer's hand before he accepted or know the signature to the check, and paid it, but it was not incumbent on would only pay it on condition that the defendant to inquire into it. The the holder would indorse it; thereupon doctrine of this case, so far as it holds the holder did indorse it and received the drawee is bound to know the the money on it, and the bank, within handwriting of his correspondent, a few hours, discovered the forcery when applied to the case of a bill ac- and then ordered that the money be The court held that the drawer's name has been forged, has drawee could recover the money paid

First National Bank of Quincy v. sound public policy, and considerations Ricker, (1874) 71 Ill. 489. The court of convenience in commercial transac- also said: "It is contended there is no a savings bank pay out money on a forged order, without requiring a compliance with the by-laws printed in a depositor's pass book, the payment would be in its own wrong, though the pass book may have been produced at the time. If, however, it trine to the extent asserted. While we as requested. had been protested, and was then in money back. this information the plaintiffs acted, of payment." and supposing his correspondent (the 18 Bank v. Cupps, 91 Pa. St. 815.

duty resting on the innocent holder of Canal Bank) had, by mistake, drawn a check, on presenting it for payment, on the Exchange Bank with which it to communicate to the bank suspicions had just before kept an account, inhe may have as to its spurious char- stead of drawing on the plaintiffs, acter, if at the time he took it he had and wishing to protect the credit of no reason to suspect it was a forgery. the drawer, he left a check with a The cases of The Bank of St. Albans c. party in the office, to be delivered to The Farmers' Bank, 10 Vt. 141, and the notary, to take up the draft, and Ward v. Allen, 2 Met. (Mass.) 53, are gave directions to have it sent to cited in support of this proposition. his office that day. The notary took We have looked into these cases, but the check and paid the money to the we do not think they sustain the doc- defendants, but failed to send the draft When the plaintiff have the highest respect for the courts called the next day on the notary for that rendered those decisions, we must the draft, on its production he immedibe permitted to express our dissent ately pronounced it a forgery, and from the principle insisted upon, as thereupon went to the defendant being unsound in law and in good con- bank and demanded the money back. duct. No warrant can be found for its On this state of facts the plaintiffs introduction in the exigencies of bank- were permitted to recover on the ing or commercial transactions. Such ground they were guilty of no neglia doctrine, in our opinion, would tend gence, as the notary, when he received rather to debase than maintain com- the check, and handed it over to the mercial integrity. Where exceptional defendant, both he and they honestly circumstances and excusing facts are affirmed the draft was genuine. In made clearly to appear, courts have McKleroy v. Southern Bank of Kenpermitted a recovery, and in some in- tucky, 14 La. Ann. 458, while admitstances very slight palliating circum- ting the full force of the general rule. stances have been declared sufficient. it was, nevertheless, ruled, where a The case of Wilkinson v. Johnson, 3 party becomes the holder of a forged B. & C. 428, is a well-reasoned case on draft before it had been accepted, and this point. The case of Goddard v. the loss had already attached before Bank, 4 Comst. (N. Y.) 147, is a still payment by the acceptors, who imstronger case illustrative of the excep- mediately, on ascertaining the spurious tions to the general rule. In that case character of the paper, gave notice to the plaintiffs were informed a draft the holder, such a case was an excephad been drawn by their correspond- tion to the general rule, and the acent, a bank in Ohio, on the American ceptors were not estopped from prov-Exchange Bank at New York, which ing the forgery and recovering the The principle upon the hands of the notary. The plain- which the case is decided is, the holder tiff called to see the notary about had suffered no loss, it having already taking up the draft, but, owing to his occurred, and he ought not to be perabsence, did not see the draft. On mitted to profit by the mere accident should make a payment on such an order in strict accordance with such by-law, the depositor would be bound by it.1

§ 330. Payment of forged checks or payment of checks on forged indorsements.- In view of the relation between the banks and their depositors and of their rights and obligations, the principle is universally maintained that banks and bankers are bound to know the signatures of their own customers, and that they pay checks purporting to be drawn by them at their peril.2 Where a bank, holding deposits, subject to checks, pays a forged check, it will be liable for the amount, with legal interest from judicial demand.3 If, when the bank book of a depositor is balanced and returned to him together with the canceled checks or vouchers, he has knowledge of facts from which he could, by the exercise of reasonable care and inquiry, have discovered forgeries. and if, owing to his failure to make the discovery and communicate it, the bank suffers loss or is placed in a worse position than it would otherwise have occupied, the depositor would lose his right to recover money paid by the bank on forged indorsements of his checks.4 Such loss or disadvantage to the bank would not be presumed; it would be required to prove it. Unless it be affirmatively shown, the depositor would not be estopped to recover the amount of such payments.5 A bank having paid a check drawn upon it cannot recover the money from the person

As to the effect of payment of a check names of the drawer and acceptor upon a forged indorsement, see Dodge were forged. In payment, the broker v. National Exchange Bank, (1870) 20 gave upon a bank, of which he had Ohio St. 235.

v. First National Bank, 30 Md. 11.

² Laborde r. Consolidated Association, 4 Rob. (La.) 190; Etting r. Commercial Bank, 7 Rob. (La.) 459.

(1889) 39 Mo. App. 72.

6 La. Ann. 611, the facts were that a him and the bank as to the mode of broker discounted at the usual rate, their business. The acceptors were but without inquiry, for an entire not customers of the bank, in which, stranger, a bill, purporting to be however, they paid large amounts drawn by a planter, and accepted by a of their paper. No relations whatever well-known house in New Orleans, existed between the broker and the Burrill v. Bank. 92 Pa. St. 134, payer, presumed to be fictifious. The for many years been a customer, a ² Commercial & Farmers' Nat. Bank check to the order of the acceptors. The names of the acceptors were again and very badly forged on the check, and the check was presented to the bank and paid. The broker had gen-Wind v. Fifth National Bank, erally drawn his cheeks to the order of those for whom he discounted, though ⁵ Ibid. In Smith r. Mechanics' Bank, there was no understanding between and indorsed in blank by an unknown acceptors. The Supreme Court of

to whom it was paid on the ground that the check was a forged one.1 The facts that a forged check was written on one of the depositor's own blanks taken from his book, and that the depositor had furnished his signature to the forger and had grounds of suspicion, have been held to be no reasons for holding the depositor liable for a payment made by the bank upon a forged check.3 Checks drawn payable to the order of plaintiff, in a New York case, coming into the hands of their clerk, he fraudulently indorsed their names and transferred the checks to other parties and appropriated the money received from them to his own use. Subsequently, the checks were deposited in a bank, the money collected by the bank and paid to their depositors. It was held that the plaintiffs were entitled to recover the amount collected by the bank in their action against it.3 The fact that a denositor receives, under a mistake as to the fact of payment, a check paid upon a forged indorsement of the name of the payee, as one properly paid and charged to his account, will not deprive him of his right to recover the amount of the check from the bank which has paid it.4 If a bank pays money on a forged check, no matter under what circumstances of caution, or however honest the belief in its genuineness, if the depositor himself be free of blame, and has done nothing to mislead the bank, all the loss must be borne by the bank for it acts at its peril, and pays out its own funds, and not those of the depositor. A depositor is simply bound to

Louisiana held that the bank, although itself grossly negligent, was entitled to charge the broker's check to his debit in account. The court was di vided, and the justices each discussed the questions involved very fully and interestingly in their several opinions.

¹ National Bank of the Commonwealth v. Grocers' National Bank, (1867) 2 Daly, 289; s. c., 85 How. Pr. 412

Supp. 413.

payment of forged checks, see Stuyvesant Bank v. National Mechanics' Banking Association, (1872) 7 Lans. 197; Allen v. Fourth National Bank Bank, (1879) 51 Md. 562, 585. of New York, (1874) 37 N. Y. Super. Ct. 187; affirmed in 59 N. Y. 12.

Bank of British North America v. v. Merchants' National Bank of New York, (1883) 91 N. Y. 106, affirming 48 N. Y Super. Ct. 1. See, also, Thomson v. Bank of British North America, 82 N. Y. 1. That a bank paying a certificate of deposit upon a forged indorsement of the payee may recover the amount from the bank through which it had passed for col-Leavitt v. Stanton, Hill & D. lection, see Merchants' Bank v. Marine Bank, 3 Gill (Md.), 96. That a bank ⁸ Johnson v. First National Bank of is not bound by the admission of its Hoboken, (1875) 6 Hun, 124. As to cashier that a forged bill is genuine, see Merchants' Bank v. Marine Bank, 3 Gill (Md.), 96.

Hardy & Bros. v. Chesapeake

refrain from doing any act that would reasonably have the effect of misleading the bank to its hurt or injury, and not fail to do any act that positive duty requires him to do for the protection of the bank. Should a bank account be balanced on the depositor's bank book, and the book and canceled checks returned to the depositor, after the lapse of a reasonable time, within which the checks and account might be compared, without objection being made, a presumption will arise that the account as balanced and the checks charged in the account are correct. This presumption proceeds upon the ground simply of an implied admission, and is only prima fucie in its effect. It arises from the natural and usual habits of careful business men to examine and scrutinize such accounts when rendered; but it is liable to be repelled by showing that the error or fraud complained of was not discoverable by the exercise of reasonable care and diligence, or that there was no such appearance of things as to excite the suspicion of a reasonable man, or that, for any reason, the depositor had not had an opportunity to examine the accounts.2 depositor who is in the habit of drawing checks upon his deposit account, should, by word or acts, cause the bank, the latter acting upon such reasonable grounds as prudent business men generally act, to make payment on a forged check, the depositor would not be allowed, as against the bank, to set up the forgery that he, by his conduct, had induced the bank to act on as a genuine check. Where on a forged indorsement a bank has paid a check, the bank is not responsible to the drawer where the person who committed the forgery is identified to the bank by one who believes him to be the payee, and is in fact the person to whom the drawer had delivered the check, and whom he believes to be the payee. And should the drawer of such a check, for more than a month after discovering that it had been paid upon a forged indorsement, neglect to notify the bank that he will hold it responsible therefor, the bank will be released from liability even though it had notice of the forgery as soon as the drawer had.1 In a depositor's suit against a bank in Maryland, some of the cheeks paid by the bank were forged by a confidential clerk intrusted by Wiggins v. Burkham, 10 Wall. 129.

^{76;} National Bank v. Whitman, 94 U. As sustaining the first point, see S. 343, 346.

Bank, (1879) 51 Md. 562, 586.

^{*}United States v. National Ex-² Weisser v. Denison, 10 N. Y. 68, change Bank, (1891) 45 Fed. Rep. 163. Gloucester Bank v. Salem Bank, 17 ⁸ Hardy & Bros. v. Chesapeake Mass. 33; Bank of U. S. v. Bank of Georgia, 10 Wheat. 333; Price v. Neal, them to make the entry of all checks in their bank book. In making the fraudulent entry of these forged checks in the depositor's bank book the Court of Appeals held that he was not the agent of his employers for any such purpose; also, that the clerk's fraudulent knowledge in regard to acts and transactions outside of and beyond his employment could not be imputed to his principal. The court also held that in this case the jury should have been required to find either that the depositors had knowledge in fact that the torgeries had been committed, or that, from carelessness and indifference to the rights of others, they failed to inform themselves from sources of information readily accessible to them, and which, by the exercise of ordinary diligence of business men, would have disclosed to them the fact that the forgeries had been committed. If such facts were found to exist, then it must be also found, in order to work an estoppel upon the depositor to claim that the checks paid were forged, that the bank acted in honoring and paying forged checks presented after other forged checks had been returned with the balanced bank books to the depositors, in reference to the conduct of the latter in failing to make known an objection to the account, as stated and balanced in the bank book so returned, and that such omission and neglect of the depositors did in fact mislead the bank into the error of paying the forged checks presented after the other forged checks had been returned with the balanced bank book to the bank. The court distinguished De Feriet v. Bank of America, 23 La. Ann. 310, in these words: "There, when the first check was forged by the plaintiff's confidential clerk, and paid by the bank, the plaintiff was notified of the draft upon his account and went at once to the bank, and upon being shown the paid it. The assistant treasurer re- from the United States.

3 Burr, 1855. As sustaining the sec-tained out of money due the collecting ond point, see Redington r. Woods, bank from the United States the 45 Cal. 406; Cooke v United States, amount of the check. In this action 91 U.S. 396; United States v. Bank, 6 by the collecting bank against the Fed. Rep. 134. It appeared in the United States for the money retained case of Wells, Fargo & Co. v. United by the assistant treasurer, it was held States, (1891) 45 Fed. Rep. 337, that a that the money collected by the colpension check, drawn by mistake for lecting bank upon the pension check $1,280.20 instead of $18, was indorsed which it had paid over to its principal, by the payee to a bank, and by that the forwarding bank, could not be rebank indorsed for collection to another covered from the collecting bank, and which indorsed it to the assistant the latter, therefore, could recover the treasurer of the United States, who money due it which had been retained check, while he stated that he had not signed the check himself, he refused to denounce it as a forgery. After seeing the clerk, the plaintiff reported back to the bank that the check was all right. The clerk made deposits to make the check good, and the plaintiff himself drew upon the deposits thus made. He continued the forger in his employ; and, subsequently, the same clerk forged another check which the bank paid; and, upon discovery of the second forgery, the plaintiff denounced it. But it was held that, by his conduct in ratifying the act of the clerk in drawing the first forged check, the plaintiff was precluded from holding the bank liable for the payment of the second; that the bank was misled by the approval and ratification of the first forgery. and that it was, therefore, excusable for paying the second forged check drawn in all respects similar to the first. In that case there was no question as to the want of knowledge on the part of the plaintiff of the first forgery committed by the clerk, and his full ratification and adoption of the act, nor was there any in regard to the fact that the bank had been misled."

§ 331. Payment of raised checks.—The United States Supreme Court reversed the judgment of the Circuit Court in favor of a depositor against a bank, holding that a depositor in a bank, who sends his pass book to be written up and receives it back with entries of credits and debits and his paid checks as vouchers for the latter, is bound personally or by an authorized agent, and with due diligence, to examine the pass book and vouchers, and to report to the bank, without unreasonable delay, any errors which may be discovered in them; and if he fails to do so, and if the bank is thereby misled to its prejudice, he cannot afterwards dispute the correctness of the balance shown by the pass book. Further, it held that if a depositor in a bank delegates to a clerk the examination of his written-up pass book and paid checks returned therewith as vouchers, without proper supervision of the clerk's conduct in the examination, he does not so discharge his duty to the bank as to protect himself from loss, if it turns out that without his knowledge the clerk committed forgery in raising the amounts of some of those checks, and thereby misled the bank to its prejudice, in spite of due care on the part of its officers.1

¹ Leather Manufacturers' Bank v. well and fully considered opinion, Mergan, (1886) 117 U. S. 96. In a HARLAN, J., for the court reviewed the leading cases pertinent to the rectified; or, if not, his silence is reagainst the carelessness or fraud of the a bank book.

questions before the court, and degarded as an admission that the entries clared the law in such cases in the fol- are correct.' This report is quite as lowing words: "While it is true that applicable to the existing usages of the relation of a bank and its depositor this country as it was to the usages of is one simply of debtor and creditor business in London at the time it was (Phonix Bank v. Risley, 111 U. S. 125, made. The depositor cannot, there-127), and that the depositor is not fore, without injustice to the bank, chargeable with any payments except omit all examination of his account. such as are made in conformity with when thus rendered at his request. his orders, it is within common knowl- His failure to make it, or to have it edge that the object of a pass book is made, within a reasonable time after to inform the depositor from time to opportunity given for that purpose, is time of the condition of his account inconsistent with the object for which as it appears upon the books of the he obtains and uses a pass book. It bank. It not only enables him to dis- was observed in First National Bank cover errors to his prejudice, but sup- v. Whitman, 94 U. S. 343, 346plies evidence in his favor in the event although the observation was not, perof litigation or dispute with the bank. haps, necessary in the decision of the In this way it operates to protect him case - that the ordinary writing up of with a return of bank. The sending of his pass book vouchers or statement of accounts. to be written up and returned with precludes no one from ascertaining the vouchers, is, therefore, in effect, a the truth and claiming its benefit. demand to know what the bank claims Such undoubtedly is a correct stateto be the state of his account. And ment of a general rule. It was made the return of the book, with the in a case where the account included a vouchers, is the answer to that demand, check, in respect to which it was suband, in effect, imports a request by the sequently discovered that the name of bank that the depositor will, in proper the payer had been forged. But it did time, examine the account so rendered, not appear that either the bank or the and either sanction or repudiate it. drawer of the check was guilty of In Devaynes r. Noble, 1 Meriv. 530, negligence. The drawer was not pre-535, it appeared that the course of sumed to know the signature of the dealing between banker and customer, payce; his examination of the account in London, was the subject of inquiry would not necessarily have disclosed in the High Court of Chancery as the forgery of the payee's name; thereearly as 1815. The report of the mas- fore, his failure to discover that fact ter stated, among other things, that sooner than he did was not to be atfor the purpose of having the pass tributed to want of care. Without imbook 'made up by the bankers from pugning the general rule that an actheir own books of account, the cus- count rendered which has become an tomer returns it to them from time to account stated, is open to correction time as he thinks fit; and, the proper for mistake or fraud (Perkins v. Hart, entries being made by them up to the 11 Wheat. 287, 256; Wiggins v. Burkday on which it is left for that pur- ham, 10 Wall. 129, 182), other principose, they deliver it again to the cus- ples come into operation, where a party tomer, who thereupon examines it, to a stated account, who is under a and, if there appears any error or duty, from the usages of business or omission, brings or sends it back to be otherwise, to examine it within a reasonable time after having an oppor- of knowing if they are genuine; if gether to make such examination himself, or to have it made, in good faith, negligence, the other party relying upon the account as having been acquiesced in or approved, has failed to take steps for his protection which he could and would have taken had such notice been given. In other words. parties to a stated account may be estopped by their conduct from questioning its correctness." After some discussion of the doctrine of estoppel and the citation of cases bearing upon the doctrine, it is said: "Upon this doctrine substantially rests the decision in Bank of United States v. Bank of Georgia, 10 Wheat, 333, 343, where the question was as to the right of the Bank of Georgia to cancel a credit given to the Bank of the United States certain bank notes, purporting to be absolve the payor from responsibility.' genuine notes of the Bank of Georgia. and which came to the hands of the other bank in the regular course of business and for value. The notes of the United States, which refused to States v. Bank of Georgia, 10 Wheat.

tunity to do so, and give timely notice these means are not employed it is cerof his objections thereto, neglects alto- tainly evidence of a neglect of that duty which the public have a right to reauire. And in respect to persons by another for him, by reason of which equally innocent, where one is bound to know and act upon his knowledge, and the other has no means of knowledge. there seems to be no reason for burdening the latter with any loss in exoneration of the former. There is nothing unconscientious in retaining the sum received from the bank, in payment of such notes, which its own acts have deliberately assumed to be genuine. If this doctrine be applicable to ordinary cases, it must apply with greater strength to eases where the forgery has not been detected until after a considerable lapse of time. Even,' he added, 'in relation to forged bills of third persons received in payment of a debt, there has been a qualification engrafted on the general doctrine that in the general account the latter kept the notice and return must be within a with the former for the face value of reasonable time; and any neglect will It was, therefore, held that, as the Bank of Georgia could by ordinary circumspection have detected the fraud, it must account to its depositor were received by the Bank of Georgia according to the entry made in its as genuine, but being discovered nine- books at the time of receiving the teen days thereafter to be counterfeits, notes. Further on it was said: This they were tendered back to the Bank court, in the [cases Bank of United receive them. The court held that the 333, and Cooke v. United States. 91 U. loss must fall upon the Bank of Geor- S. 389, recognizing the same principle! Mr. Justice Story, who deliv- refers, with approval, to Gloucester cred the opinion of the court, after Bank v. Salem Bank, 17 Mass. 33, 42. observing that the notes were received. In that case it appeared that the Salem and adopted by the Bank of Georgia as Bank exchanged with the Gloucester its genuine notes, and treated as cash, Bank, for value, certain bank notes and that the bank must be presumed which purported to be, and which to use reasonable care, by private both banks at the time believed to be, marks and otherwise, to secure itself the genuine notes of the Gloucester against forgeries and impositions, said: Bank, and which the latter bank did 'Under such circumstances, the re- not, until about fifty days after the ceipt by a bank of forged notes, pur-exchange, discover to be forgeries. porting to be its own, must be deemed The question was whether the Salem an adoption of them. It has the means Bank was bound to account for the value of the notes so ascertained to be negligence upon the part of the deother whether they are his notes or not. he has had sufficient opportunity to examine them, he should be considered as having adopted them as his own.' These cases are referred to for the purpose of showing some of the circumstances under which the courts, to promote the ends of justice, have sustained the general principle that where a duty is cast upon a person, by the usages of business or otherwise, to disclose the truth - which he has the means, by ordinary diligence, of ascertaining—and he neglects or omits to discharge that duty, whereby another is misled in the very transaction to which the duty relates, he will not be counterfeit. Chief Justice PARKER, positor as precluded him from disputspeaking for the whole court, observed ing the correctness of the account renthat the parties being equally innocent dered by the bank, the verdict could and ignorant, the loss should remain not have been set aside as wholly unwhere the chance of business had supported by the evidence. In their placed it, and that in all such cases the relations with depositors, banks are just and sound principle of decision held, as they ought to be, to rigid rewas that if the loss can be traced to sponsibility. But the principles govthe fault or negligence of either party, erning those relations ought not to be it should be fixed upon him. He said: so extended as to invite or encourage 'And the true rule is that the party such negligence by depositors in the receiving such notes must examine examination of their bank accounts. them as soon as he has opportunity, as is inconsistent with the relations of and return them immediately. If he the parties or with those established does not he is negligent; and negli- rules and usages sanctioned by busigence will defeat his right of action, ness men of ordinary prudence and This principle will apply in all cases sagacity, which are or ought to be where forged notes have been re-known to depositors. We must not ceived, but certainly with more be understood as holding that the exstrength where the party receiving amination by a depositor of his account them is the one purporting to be bound must be so close and thorough as to to pay. For he knows better than any exclude the possibility of any error whatever being overlooked by him. and if he pays them, or receives them Nor do we mean to hold that the dein payment, and continues silent after positor is wanting in proper care when he imposes upon some competent person the duty of making that examination and of giving timely notice to the bank of objections to the account. If the examination is made by such an agent or clerk in good faith and with ordinary diligence, and due notice given of any error in the account, the depositor discharges his duty to the bank. But when, as in this case, the agent commits the forgeries which misled the bank and injured the depositor, and, therefore, has an interest in concealing the facts, the principal occupies no better position than he would have done had no one been permitted, to the injury of the one designated by him to make the remisled, to question the construction quired examination, without, at least, rationally placed by the latter upon his showing that he exercised reasonable conduct." The court then applied the diligence in supervising the conduct principle just referred to to the facts of the agent while the latter was disin this case, and said: "It seems to us charging the trust committed to him. that if the case had been submitted to In the absence of such supervision, the jury, and they had found such the mere designation of an agent to discharge a duty resting primarily that he was guilty of negligence in discharged when he exercises such dili- v. Chemical National Bank. Chemical Bank, 84 N. Y. 209, 213, covered therein. upon him to show fraud, error or mis-From Welsh v. Germanbank. American Bank, it is clear that the comparison by the depositor of his check book with his pass book would not necessarily have disclosed the of date, amount, and name of payer, as the depositor intended at to be, and upon the principal, cannot be deemed not discovering, upon receiving his the equivalent of performance by the pass book, the fact that his clerk, or latter. While no rule can be laid some one else, had forged the payee's down that will cover every transaction name in the indersement. The latest between a bank and its depositor, it is expression of the views of the Court sufficient to say that the latter's duty is of Appeals of New York is in Frank gence as is required by the circum- what is there said it is evident that stances of the particular case, includ- that learned tribunal does not give its ing the relations of the parties, and sanction to the broad proposition that a the established or known usages of depositor who obtains periodical statebanking business." The court, refer- ments of his account, with the vouchers, ring to Weisser v. Denison, 10 N. Y. is under no duty whatever to the bank 68, 70: Welsh v. German-American to examine them, and give notice, Bank. 73 N. Y. 421; Frank r. within a reasonable time, of errors dis-The court in that which showed a settled course of case, speaking by Judge Andrews. decision in the highest court of the who delivered the opinion in Welsh v. state of New York sustaining the German-American Bank, refers to grounds upon which the Circuit Court Weisser v. Denison. After observing proceeded in giving its judgment, that it was unnecessary to restate the said: "There are, it must be conceded, ground of that decision, and adverting some expressions in the first two cases to the argument that where a pass which, at first glance, seem to justify book was kept, which was balanced the position of counsel. But it is to from time to time and returned to the be observed, in reference to the case depositor, with the vouchers for the of Weisser v. Denison, that it is said charges made by the bank, including in the opinion of the court that, as the forged checks, the latter is under a bank had not taken any action, nor duty to the bank to examine the aclost any rights, in consequence of the count and vouchers, with a view to assilence of the depositor, the only effect certain whether the account is correct, of such silence was to cast the burden he proceeds: 'It does not seem to be unreasonable, in view of the course of take in the account rendered by the business and the custom of banks to surrender their vouchers on the periodical writing up of the accounts of depositors, to exact from the latter some attention to the account when it is made up, or to hold that the neglifraud of his check, for the check gent omission of all examination may, when paid by the bank was, in respect when injury has resulted to the bank. which it would not have suffered if such examination had been made and the fraud was in the subsequent the bank had received timely notice of forgery by the clerk of the payee's the objections, preclude the depositor As the depositor was not pre- from afterwards questioning its corsumed to know, and as it did not ap- rectness. But where hogus checks pear that he in fact knew, the signa- have been paid and charged in the acture of the payee, it could not be said count and returned to the depositor, purporting to be drawn by them at reclamation from the forger.' that the plaintiffs, who were the de- be required." positors, owed to the bank 'the duty of

he is under no duty to the bank to so exercising due diligence to give it inconduct the examination that it will formation that the payment was unnecessarily lead to the discovery of the authorized; and this included not only traud. If he examines the vouchers due diligence in giving notice after personally, and is himself deceived by the forgery, but also due diligence in the skillful character of the forgery, discovering it.' If the plaintiffs knew his omission to discoverit will not shift of the mistake, or if they had that noupon him the loss which, in the first tice of it which consists in the knowlinstance, is the loss of the bank. Banks edge of facts which, by the exercise of are bound to know the signatures of due care and diligence, will disclose their customers, and they pay checks it, they failed in their duty; and adoption of the check and ratification of the their peril. If the bank pays forged payment will be implied. They canchecks it commits the first offense. It not now require the defendant to corcannot visit the consequences upon the rect a mistake to its injury from which innocent depositor, who, after the fact, it might have protected itself but for is also deceived by the simulated paper. the negligence of the plaintiffs. So, if the depositor, in the ordinary Whether the plaintiffs were required, course of business, commits the ex- in the exercise of due diligence, to read amination of the bank account and the monthly statements or to examine vouchers to clerks or agents, and they the cheeks, and how careful an exfail to discover checks which are amination they were bound to make. forged, the duty of the depositor to the and what inferences are to be drawn. bank is discharged, although the prin- depend upon the nature and course of cipal, if he had made the examination dealing between the parties, and the personally, would have detected them. particular circumstances under which The alleged duty, at most, only re- the statements and checks were dequires the depositor to use ordinary delivered to them.' So in Hardy v. care; and if this is exercised, whether Chesapeake Bank, 51 Md. 562, 591. by himself or his agents, the bank can- which was also a case where checks not justly complain, although the for- forged by the confidential clerk of the geries are not discovered until it is too depositor had been paid by the bank, late to retrieve its position or make and, as shown by the pass book, The were charged to his account, the distinguished Manufacturers' court, upon an elaborate review of the National Bank v. Barnes, 65 Ill. 69, to authorities, said, upon the general which they were referred in behalf of question, that 'there is a duty owing the depositor. Afterwards there was from the customer to the bank to act a reference to other cases, as follows: with that ordinary diligence and care 'An instructive case is that of Dana c. that prudent business men generally Bank of the Republic, 132 Mass. 156, bestow on such cases, in the examina-158, where the issue was between a tion and comparison of the debits and bank and its depositor in reference to credits contained in his bank or pass a check which the latter's clerk altered book, in order to detect any errors or after it had been signed, and before it mistakes therein. More than this, unwas paid by the bank. The court said der ordinary circumstances, could not

CHAPTER XII.

COLLECTIONS.

- § 332. General rules.
 - 333. Duty of bank.
 - 334. Rules as to notes payable at bank.
 - 385. When a bank is liable for failure to collect notes.
 - 336. What action on its part will relieve a collecting bank from liability.
- $ 337. Rules as checks drafts.
 - 338. Negligence of a bank as to check held for collection.
 - 339. When a bank collecting a dratt is liable to the owner.
 - 340. When indorser of check is relieved from liability.

§ 332. General rules.— An indorsement of a promissory note "for collection" makes the indersee an agent for the collection of the note.1 Such an indorsement is restrictive and cannot be shown, by parol, to be absolute.2 A bank, though it may have no interest in it, for certain purposes must be considered the holder of a note left with it for collection. A bank has authority only to receive payment of a note placed with it for collection; it cannot sell or transfer it.4 A bank receiving notes for collection from its regular correspondent, cannot apply them to balancing the account between them where it knows the notes were sent for

¹ Rock County National Bank v. upon Bank of Washington v. Triplett Hollister, 21 Minn. 385.

Minn. 263. As to kind of agency a bank has when a note or bill is placed with it for collection, its duty and it. Bank at Montgomery v. Knox, 1 Ala. liability for negligence in the discharge of that duty, see Bank of Mobile v. Huggins (1841) 3 Ala. 206. In terson, 7 Mart. 460; Crawford v. this case the Alabama Supreme Court differs as to the duty to cause the note to be protested with the New York courts in Smedes r. Utica Bank, 20 Johns. 372: s. c., on error, 3 Cowen, 668; McKinster v. Bank of Utica, 9 Wend. 46; s. c., on error, 11 Wend. They refer to Colt v. Noble, 5 Port. (Ala.) 466. 473. Mass. 167; Tunno v. Lague, 2 Johns. Cas. 1. The question of damages in such cases is fully discussed by the 292; Fuller v. Bennett, 55 Mich. 857. Alabama courts, and they comment

& Neale, 1 Pet. 26, and Van Wart r. ² Third National Bank r. Clark, 23 Woolley, 3 B. & C. 439; Hamilton v. Cunningham, 2 Brock. 350; Stowe v. Bank of Cape Fear, 3 Dev. 408; Branch

> 148. They differ with the Louisiana Supreme Court in Durnford r. Pat-Louisiana State Bank, 1 Mart. (N. S.) 214; Montillet r. Bank of the United States, 1 Mart. (N. S.) 365; Pritchard n Louisiana State Bank, 2 La. 415; Miranda v. City Bank, 6 La. 741. They comment on Allen r. Suydam, 17 Wend, 868; St. John r. O'Connel, 7

Burnham v. Webster, 19 Mc. 282. 4 Wolff r. Walter, (1874) 56 Mo.

collection and that they belonged to a third person.1 Paper coming from one bank to another indorsed, and with directions to collect it, and there being nothing to indicate that the paper does not belong to the bank remitting it, may be regarded the paper of the latter, although it may have been deposited by the indorser in the remitting bank for collection.2 One depositing with a bank for collection negotiable paper payable at a distant point, is chargeable with knowledge of the custom of banks to intrust the paper to other banks for collection at the place where payment is to be The bank receiving such paper becomes responsible to the depositor as agent, with authority to employ another bank to collect it, and will not be liable for the negligence of its correspondent in making the collection, if it has used reasonable care in the selection of its correspondent.3 A bill of exchange or note received by a bank for collection which is payable at a distant place, must be seasonably transmitted by the receiving bank to a suitable bank or other agent at the place of payment. A bank should neither send a check received by it for collection directly to the bank on which it is drawn, nor accept in payment a draft of the latter on another bank. But the collecting bank's negligence would be condoned by an order from the depositor to hold such a draft for a few days.⁵ A suitable agent must be some other than the one who is to make the payment.6 In receiving a note for collection a bank assumes the duty of taking the proper steps to fix the liability of the indorser, and for a neglect of that duty is responsible to the extent of the damages suffered thereby.7 Commercial paper having been received by a bank for collection. there is an implied undertaking on its part that in case of its dishonor, the bank will take all steps necessary to protect the holders' rights against all previous parties to the paper.8 A bank

¹ Sweeny v. Easter, 1 Wall. 166. ² Cody v. City National Bank, 55 s. c., 25 W. N C. 282, Mich. 879.

⁸ Guelich v. National State Bank, 56 St 422. Iowa, 484. As to the duty of a bank when a note is placed with it for collection, see Fabens v. Mercantile Bank. (1839) 23 Pick. (Mass.) 330; Phipps v. 79; Steele v. Russell, 5 Neb. 214.

⁴ Drovers' National Bank v. Anglo-191.

⁵ Hazlett v. Bank, 132 Pa. St. 118;

⁶ Ibid. Bank v. Goodman, 109 Pa.

West v. St. Paul National Bank. (1893) 54 Minn. 466; s. c., 56 N. W Rep. 54; Borup v. Nininger, 5 Minn. 523; Jagger v. National German-Millbury Bank, (1844) 8 Met. (Mass.) American Bank, 53 Minn. 386; s. c., 53 N. W. Rep. 545.

⁸ Jagger v. National German-Ameri-American P. & P. Co., 18 Bradw. (Ill.) can Bank of St. Paul, (1898) 53 Minn. 886; s. c., 55 N. W. Rep. 545.

exercising reasonable care and skill in selecting an agent to present paper received for collection at a distant place will not be liable for that agent's default.1 The duty of a bank, where it receives a bill or note for collection, and its transmission to another place is necessary, is discharged by sending it in due season to a competent, reliable agent, with proper instructions for A collecting bank, in another city, cannot, on its collection.2

1 Stacy v. Dane County Bank, 12 bank for collection, and they impossit and its seasonably transmitting it to that they thereby fully discharge their a suitable bank in that place for colduty and incur no further liability. lection, and the transmitter not being In support of the rule the court refers liable for any negligence of the latter, to the cases of East-Haddan Bank v. see Fabens r. Mercantile Bank, (1839) Scovil, 12 Conn. 303, and Fabens r. 23 Pick. 330; Dorchester & Milton The Mercantile Bank, 23 Pick. 330. Bank v. New England Bank, (1848) The court also refer to and approve 1 Cush. (Mass) 177.

mission to their agents for collection, depositors, was not liable for the failure of the bank to whom the bills were that case the court refers to the cases the rule announced. held that when a bill is left with a loss that might result from neglect."

Wis. 629; Lee v. Bank, 1 Chest. (Pa.) it in due season to a competent agent 109. As to a note payable at another at the place of the residence of the place, left for collection with a bank, drawer, with the necessary directions, of the case of Allen e Merchants' ² Ætna Insurance Co. v. Alton City Bank of N. Y., 15 Wend. 482, where Bank, (1861) 25 Ill. 243. As to the the same doctrine is announced in these question of liability of a bank, occur- words: 'And we find, on an examinaring from the acts of its correspond- tion of these cases, they fully sustain the ents, the Illinois court said: "Upon rule announced in this case.' It is true examination of the adjudged cases it that the case of Allen v. The Merwill be found that entire harmony upon chants' Bank, 22 Wend. 215, decided this question does not prevail. In the by the Court of Errors, announces a case of The Mechanics' Bank v. Earp, different rule and reverses the decision 4 Rawle, 384, it was held that a bank of the Supreme Court. In that case in which bills had been deposited, the decision was by a divided court, having only received them for trans- the chancellor delivering a dissenting opinion. The last case extends the at the place of the residence of the rule, so that a bank receiving com drawees, with the instructions of the mercial paper for collection is liable for loss resulting from neglect, to banks receiving such paper for transtransmitted to collect the money. In mission, where loss occurs by neglect of the agent to whom it is transmitted, of Lawrence v. Stonington Bunk, 6 and makes no distinction in the two Conn. 528, and The Bank of Wash- classes of cases. Where a bank reington v. Triplett & Neale, 1 Pet. ceives a bill or note for collection 25, and Jackson v. Union Bank, 6 against a drawer or maker, resident at Harr. & J. (Md.) 148, as sustaining the place of the bank, or where the Again, in the bank undertakes for its collection by case of The Bank of New Orleans v. their own officers, there can be no Smith, 3 Hill (N. Y.), 560, the court doubt that it would be liable for any failure of its correspondent, the transmitting bank, credit the proceeds of a draft or note, sent to it for collection, to its own It is liable to the owner.¹ A bank will not be rendered liable for its omission to have a negotiable note, deposited with it for collection, protested, where a by-law of the bank required the costs of protesting to be deposited with it, which had not been done.² If bankers undertaking to collect bills, checks or notes for others neglect to give notice of the default of the makers, where it is the usage of banks to give such notice, they will be liable to the holders in damages.3 A banker cannot hold the proceeds of a note, sent to him for collection and credit by a correspondent, against the real owner of the note to apply on the credit of collections sent him by this correspondent, because he may keep an account with that correspondent for his convenience, made up of money put there by him to draw exchange against Where banks had kept account current with each other for years, crediting the one the other with paper received, etc., and the paper appeared to be the property of the bank remitting it, it has been held that there was a lien for general balance on the paper so transmitted, no matter who was the owner. The bank, to which was originally transmitted, for collection, drafts drawn on a corporation, sending them to a third bank for collection, and the latter taking acceptances from the officer on whom they were drawn, instead of the corporation itself, has been held liable to the bank originally transmitting the drafts for the damage ensuing from the act of the third bank.6 The accidental loss or disappearance in a bank of a bill sent to it for collection would be presumptive proof of negligence. Where one places in a bank, for collection, notes and drafts on third persons, giving no instructions as to the kind of funds in which it may collect them, should

As to a bank being relieved of re- Johns. 372; Bank of Utica v. McKinthe selection of the correspondent to Leavitt, 15 N. Y. 9, 167. which it transmits for collection a bill or note left with it for collection, see 245. Daly v. Butchers & Drovers' Bank, (1874) 56 Mo. 94.

¹ Hackett v. Reynolds, 114 Pa. St.

² Pendleton v. Bank of Kentucky. (1894) 1 Mon. (Ky.) 171.

⁸ Smedes v. Utica Bank, (1828) 20

sponsibility by using due diligence in ster, (1833) 11 Wend. 473; Curtis v.

⁴Bury v. Woods, (1885) 17 Mo. App.

Bank of Metropolis v. New England Bank, 1 How. 234,

⁶ Exchange National Bank v. Third National Bank, 112 U. S. 276.

⁷Chicopee Bank v. Philadelphia Bank, 8 Wall, 641.

the bank receive payment in a currency then in general use, of a depreciated character as compared with gold, the bank will be held liable only for the real value of such depreciated currency.1 A bank receiving a check in payment of a note held by it against the drawer, after the check has been paid, cannot refuse to deliver up the note for cancellation on the ground that it had not A collection made by a bank after it has suspended. matured.2 must be held by it as agent in trust for the owner.3 The negligence of a collecting bank in not presenting a draft for payment, is the negligence of the holder.4 A bank's duty, where a note is left with it for protest, is to exercise ordinary and reasonable diligence in giving notice.5 A known custom to demand payment of a note, left with a bank for collection, without actually presenting the note to the maker in person, would be binding upon indorsers.6 A known custom of a bank to demand payment on the day before, or the day after, a note falls due, would be binding on an indorser.7

§ 333. Duty of bank.—When a bill or note is received by a bank for collection in the ordinary course of business, without any special agreement on the subject, and the bank in due time

- Ala 527, in which the collections were Warren Bank v. Suffolk Bank, (1852) made in confederate money.
- ² Union Savings Association v. Clayton, (1878) 6 Mo. App. 587.
 - Jockusch v. Towsey, 51 Tex. 129.
 - 4 Harvey v. Bank, 119 Pa. St. 212. Mount v. First National Bank, 37
- Iowa, 457. As to liability of a bank, receiving note for collection and failing to notify indorsers of its protest, and thereby discharging them, for the holder's loss, see Bank of Washington v. Triplett, 1 Pet. 25; Bird v. Louisiana duty of bankers in such cases, see Britton v. Niccolls, 104 U.S. 757. As to liability for neglect on the part of a hability by its usage, and not being Eager, (1845) 9 Met. (Mass.) 583. liable for the negligence of a notary

1 Henry v. North. Bank of Ala., 63 in the matter of demand and protest, see 10 Cush. (Mass.) 582.

- ⁸ Jones v. Fales, (1808) 4 Mass. 245; Whitwell v. Johnson, (1821) 17 Mass. 452, City Bank v. Cutler, (1826) 3 Pick. (Mass.) 414.
- ⁷ Jones v. Fales, (1808) 4 Mass. 245; City Bank v. Cutter, (1826) 3 Pick. (Mass) 414. What is a sufficient demand for payment of a note left with a bank for collection, see Tredick r. Wendell, 1 N. H. 80. The effect of usage on the part of banks concerning State Bank, 93 U. S. 96. As to the d mands on makers of notes, and notices to indorsers, see Lincoln & Kennebeck Bank v Page, (1812) 9 Mass. 155, Smith v. Whiting, (1815) 12 Mass. 8; bank receiving a note for collection, see Blanchard v. Hilliard, (1814) 11 Mass. Thompson v. Bank, 3 Hill (S. C.), 77. 85; Central Bank v. Davis, (1837) 19 As to a bank's being protected from Pick, (Mass.) 875; Chicopee Bank v.

delivers it to the notary usually employed by it in such matters so that the necessary demand, protest and notice may be made and given, the bank will not be answerable for loss resulting from the failure of the notary to perform his duty.1 Personal notice to the indorser may be dispensed with, and he will be charged by the bare deposit of notice in the post office, even if it never comes to hand.2 In case a note payable on demand, at a particular place, be lost, a court of equity affords no remedy to the owner before a demand for payment has been made at the place designated.3 A notice to a distant indorser of the protest, etc., of a note payable at bank must ordinarily be sent to his nearest post office, but this rule may be dispensed with if shown that the notice was sent to the place where the indorser would get the earliest intelligence.4 In case the holder of a note delivers it to a bank with the understanding that this bank shall forward the note to another bank for collection, and it is so forwarded and received, the latter bank will be responsible to the owner of the note for any negligence in its collection whereof the owner of the note may suffer loss.' So where the latter bank delivers such note to the notary public for demand, protest and notice, such notary was the attorney of the bank and was incompetent for the purpose of making such demand and serving such notice, and the demand was not properly made and notice was not properly served, so that the indorsers of the note were entirely discharged. the bank was held responsible to the owner of the note.6 A bank having received a note for collection with direction that it should receive payment of the note in New York exchange, it being a bank of exchange as well as of deposit, the Iowa Supreme Court held the acceptance in payment by the bank of its own certificate

¹ Citizens' Bank of Baltimore n. for neglect in protesting, etc., notes Howell, 8 Md. 530.

Jones Eq. (N. C.) 31.

bank in sending notice of dishonor of 6 Blackf. (Ind.) 225. a protested bill of exchange to the indorser. Runyon v. Montfort, Bush. 31 Kans. 599. (N. C.) 871. As to liability of banks deposited with them for collection. ⁹ Bell v. Hagerstown Bank, 7 Gill see Chapman v. McCrea, (1878) 68 Ind. 360. As to available defense of bank 3 Streater v. Bank of Cape Fear, 2 when charged with such neglect, see Locke v. Merchants National Bank, 4 Bank of the United States v. Lane, (1879) 66 Ind. 853. Liability of bank 8 Hawks (N. C.), 458. An illustration for failure to present a bill to the of a lack of diligence on the part of a drawee, see Tyson v. State Bank, (1842)

Bank of Lindsborg v. Ober, (1884)

⁵ Ibid.

of deposit payable on demand was a discharge of the indebtedness, notwithstanding its failure to remit the amount to the creditor and afterwards becoming insolvent, it appearing that on the day it received this payment the bank was paying its obligations and had money on hand with which the certificate could have been paid in cash if demanded, although it was actually insolvent, that fact not being known to the holder of the certificate.1 The measure of damages in an action against a bank with which a bill has been deposited for collection, and it has failed to take proper steps to charge the drawer or indorsers, whereby the holder of the bill was unable to collect it, is the face of the bill, with interest.2 By delivering a bill held by it for collection to a notary with instructions to protest on the wrong day, a bank would render itself liable to the owner of the bill.3 It seems though that where negotiable paper is delivered to a bank for collection merely, the bank's duty will be discharged by a proper demand of payment, and by giving notice of its non-payment to the bank's principal only, without giving the proper notice also to other indorsers, unless some contract or commercial usage be shown to raise a more extended obligation.1 In a Massachusetts case it appeared that a bank, holding a note for collection, received the amount from an agent of the maker, and by mistake gave up to him a similar note of another person and returned the first note to its owner, to whom the maker paid it on demand, and immediately, though four days after the payment to the bank, examined the note in his agent's hands, and, discovering the mistake, returned it to the bank and demanded back his money. The Supreme Court of Judicature held that he was entitled to recover it back, with interest from the time of the demand, although the bank had meanwhile paid the amount to the owner of the other note, the maker of which was insolvent and the

¹ British & American Mortgage Co. v. Tibballs, 63 Iowa, 468.

^{*} American Express Co. v. Haire, (1863) 21 Ind. 4. For an illustration of the owner of a promissory note placed for collection through a bank r. Fourth National Bank, 77 N. Y. and its correspondent not sustaining damage, see Indig v. National City 100.

³ Commercial Bank of Kentucky v. Varnum, (1872) 49 N. Y. 209. As to the liability of a collecting bank taking a draft which may be dishonored, see First National Bank of Meadville 320; s. c., 33 Am. Rep. 618.

⁴ State Bank of Troy r. Bank of Bank of Brooklyn, (1880) 80 N. Y. the Capitol, (1863) 17 Abb. Pr. 864; s. c., 41 Barb. 848; 27 How. Pr. 57.

indorsers discharged for want of demand.1 A contract to be so responsible, expressly proven or inferable from an unequivocal course of dealing, is necessary to hold a banker receiving paper for collection absolutely responsible for the amount previous to collection.2 A bank will not be discharged from its obligations to procure a proper presentment and notice in case of non-payment of a note deposited with it by one of its customers for collection with a request to have it protested if not paid, by merely employing a notary for the purpose of making a demand." Where presentment is not necessary to charge the parties, and would be useless if made, a bank with which a draft is placed for collection would not be liable for neglect to present it.4 A maker of a note paying it to the bank holding it for collection cannot recover the payment from the bank on the ground that the bank has failed to remit to the owner.5 A bank will not be held liable for an omission to protest notes deposited with it for safe-keeping and not for collection.6 The plaintiff bank in a Connecticut case brought its action to recover of a national bank in the hands of a receiver the amount of notes or bills sent by it for collection to this bank. The circumstances were these: Its cashier had given notice to the cashier of the defendant bank to protest and return all paper not paid. The notes, drafts and checks of one of the makers which had been sent by the plaintiff bank to the cashier of defendant bank for collection and charged bill for collection, and its liability in ² Scott v. Ocean Bank, (1861) 23 N. default of such diligence, see Capitol State Bank v. Lane, 52 Miss. 677. As Ayrault v. Pacific Bank, (1868) 6 to the rules governing as to demand Robt. (N. Y.) 337; affirmed in 47 N. Y. and presentment of notes payable at bank, see Lewis v. Planters' Bank, 3 ⁴ Mobley v. Clark, (1858) 28 Barb. How, (Miss.) 267; Ellis v. Commercial 390. In Jacobsohn v. Belmont, 7 Bank of Natchez, 7 How. (Miss.) 294; Bosw. 14, a banker, who, under pecu- Harrison v. Crowder, 6 Smedes & liar circumstances, acted with the Marsh. (Miss.) 464, Barlow v. Plantknowledge and concurrence of the ers' Bank, 7 How. (Miss.) 129. When owner of the paper in delaying to pre- the note remains during the whole day sent it for collection was held not of the day it falls due, allowing days of grace, see Duncan v. Watson, 6 5 Smith v. Essex Co. Bank, (1856) Cush. (Miss.) 187; Goodloe v. Godly, 18 Smedes & Marsh. (Miss.) 283; Bland ⁴ New Orleans Canal Co. v. Escoffie, v. Commercial & Railroad Bank, 3

¹ Andrews v. Suffolk Bank, (1859) quired of a bank receiving a note or 12 Gray (Mass.), 461.

Y. 289, affirming 5 Bosw. 192.

liable for negligence.

²² Barb. 627.

² La. Ann. 880. As to diligence re- Smedes & Marsh. (Miss.) 250.

to the latter and posted in the account against the defendant bank, were not paid by him or the acceptors and were protested or returned, and no notice of their non-payment was given to the plaintiff. A semi-monthly statement of the account was sent by the cashier of the remitting bank to the cashier of the collecting bank and its correctness acknowledged by the latter. The Supreme Court held that the remitting bank had a right, after a reasonable time had elapsed without notice of non-payment or a return of the papers, to charge the amount of the notes, bills and checks to the defendant bank and to recover in assumpsit for In case the holder of a note delivers it to an account stated.1 a bank, with directions as to the appropriation, but not the manner of realizing the proceeds, the bank will be authorized to discount the note or collect it at maturity.2

§ 334. Rules as to notes payable at bank.—The presumption is proper that when a note is made payable at a bank the parties expect collections to be made through the bank, and, though the bank holding the money is technically the agent of the depositor, yet the money that may be deposited to meet such a note is deposited for the holder of the note, and it would require no act of the depositor to authorize the bank to pay it.3 Where a note was made payable at a bank and the maker deposited with the bank the amount necessary to fully discharge it, and the bank afterwards failed, the Iowa Supreme Court held and that by retaining them without brought home to the plaintiff." collection, protest or notice, he made the defendant bank liable to the plain- 15 Pick. (Mass) 88. tiffs for their amount. The finding shows gross fraud on his part, by col-

1 National Pahquioque Bank v. First luding with Seeley, to permit his National Bank of Bethel, (1870) 36 paper to accumulate in the bank un-Conn. 325. In this case the bank de- paid, by failing to enter the paper fended partly on the ground of fraud- upon the books of the bank, and to ulent practices of its cashier in col- inform the directors of its possession lusion with the drawee. Of this and non-payment, and in permitting branch of the defense, the court said: the account of the plaintiff to accu-"It is perfectly apparent that the mulate in such an unusual manner cashier of the defendant bank received and to such an unusual extent without the notes, drafts and checks sent by informing them of it. It also shows the plaintiffs for collection; that he gross negligence in the officers of the had ostensibly the powers usually defendant bank in intrusting its entire given to the cashier of such an asso- management to [the cashier]. But ciation; that it was his duty to collect these facts do not constitute a defense, them or to protest and return them; unless knowledge of them can be that the deposit was a full defense to the action of the payee or indorsee against the maker.1 Notes payable at bank must be presented to the bank for payment to charge the indorser.2 A bank would not be authorized to receive the money for the payeo of a note not in its possession simply because the note was made payable at that bank.8 When a note payable at a bank is held by it, the note should remain in the bank until the completion of business hours. The known custom of a bank, that notice to the directors thereof, who are indorsers on notes, should be left on the eashier's desk, instead of being delivered to the directors, would be binding on the directors.5 The practice of banks to give notice to the makers of notes of the time of their maturity cannot, where such notice has been delivered, be substituted for a demand for payment so as to charge the indorser. A bank which by mistake has certified a promissory note made payable at its banking house to be "good" can correct such mistake before rights and liabilities have been incurred or losses sustained in consequence of it.7 When a note is made payable at a bank, all that the holder is required to do is to make demand for payment at the bank, Where a note payable at bank is left there, and remains during banking hours on the last day of grace, and no funds are provided for taking it up, that would be sufficient evidence of demand and refusal of payment.9 In the absence of 1 Third.

⁹ Drown v. Pawtucket Bank, (1838)

*Lazier c. Horan, 55 Iowa, 75.

McLean, N. C. Term Rep. 72.

d Chency r. Libby, 134 U. S. 68.

(Miss.) 397. In Dewey r. Bowers, 4 Ired. (N. C.) 588, a bank received from the maker of a note which it had agreed to apply the proceeds, if the draft was collected, to the payment of the note after declining to receive the Duvall, 7 G. & J. (Md.) 78. draft in discharge of the note. Aftermistake, supposing the draft to have more, (1878) 51 Md. 128. been paid, canceled the note and delivered it to the principal. It was been protested and never paid. It Law J. 70. was held that the bank, under the circumstances, was entitled to recover 'Sullivan r. Mitchell, I Carolina from the principal and his trustees Law Repository (N. C), 483; Smith v. the amount of the note so canceled and delivered up.

⁵ Weld r. Gorham, (1813) 10 Mass. Planters' Bank r. Markham, 5 How. 366. As to notice of protest by mail where that method of service is the usage, see Benedict v. Rose, 16 S. C. 629. As to notice by a bank of non-paydiscounted a draft on New York and ment of note, see Bank r. Wallace, 13 S. C. 347.

"Farmers' Bank of Maryland v.

⁷ Second National Bank of Baltimore wards the cashier of the bank, by v. Western National Bank of Balti-

⁸ Bank v. Flagg, 1 Hill (S. C.), 177. Lafayette Bank v. McLaughlin. soon ascertained that the druft had (Super, Ct. Cincinnati, 1846) 4 West.

any special contract, a bank with which notes are deposited is only bound to receive the money, if paid, and, if not paid, to fix the liability of the parties by due demand and notice.1 The maker of a note payable at bank will be presumed to consent to be governed by the custom of the bank with regard to making them and of payment of such notes.2 Where, by the custom of a bank, notes payable there and in its possession and not paid during banking hours on the day on which they fall due, are considered as dishonored, without any formal demand, then no such formal demand and presentment would be necessary to charge an Where the bank at which a note is payable is the indorser.3 holder, it would be a sufficient demand for the officers of the bank to hand it to a notary after banking hours, telling him there are no When discounting a note or bill, should a bank funds to meet it.4 inquire of the one presenting it as to the indorser's residence, and send a notice to the place named, this would be sufficient to charge the indorser, even though he may never have resided at the place named. A person indorsing a note with the knowledge of a custom of a bank not to give out notes for protest until three o'clock on the third day of grace would be bound thereby. Where the known and established usage in a bank as to papers, the third day of grace on which falls on Sunday, is not to demand payment until Monday, the bank receiving a note, the third day of grace falling on Sunday, to be collected according to the known and established mode of transacting its business, ^{&#}x27;1 Crow v. Mechanics' Bank, 12 La. Ann. 692.

Marsh. (Miss.) 464.

liable for negligence.

⁴U. S. Bank v. Carneal, 2 Pet. 543.

⁵ Palmer r. Whitney, (1863) 21 Ind. 58. In Commercial & Railroad Bank ² Harrison v. Crowder, 6 Smedes & v. Hamer, 7 How. (Miss.) 448, it was held that generally a note payable in ³ Cohea v Hunt, 2 Smedes & Marsh. bank should be presented for payment (Miss.) 227. In Mount r. First Na-during banking hours, but where it tional Bank, 37 Iowa, 457, the note was the custom of the bank to keep its was left with the bank for protest back door open, with its teller present without direction as to where notice after banking hours to answer demands to the indorser was to be sent. The then made, and a note was then prenotice was sent by mistake to a person sented, and the teller answered, acof the same name as that of the in- cording to the truth of the case, that dorser and living in the neighborhood. there were then no funds and had not The court held that the bank was not been during the day to pay the note, the presentment was good.

Bank of Columbia v. Mc Kenny, 3 Cranch Cir. Ct. 361.

would not be liable to damage for omitting to demand payment on Saturday.1

§ 335. When a bank is liable for failure to collect a note. -An Ohio bank having purchased a note payable at the banking office of another bank, from the payee, the payee indorsing the same, sent it to the bank, at which the note was payable, for collection. The note was not paid when it matured, and the bank owning the note brought its action against the bank, its agent, for collection, upon the ground that by its negligence the owner had lost its right to hold the indorser liable. The trial court rendered a judgment in favor of the defendant. This judgment was reversed by the Supreme Court of Ohio, which held that the bank which held the note for collection had been guilty of negligence in the matter and was thereby liable to the owner of the note.2

v. Bank, 89 N. Y. 182. In Holmes v. whom it is drawn are in the same place, in the absence of special circumstances it must be presented for payment the same day or, at least, the day after it is received; but, if in different places, the check must be forwarded for presentment on the day after it is received at the latest. See, ber Co., (1893) 95 Mich. 486.

law relating to the questions involved, by the law merchant was necessary to ¹Patriotic Bank v. Farmers' Bank and shows such a statement of the of Alexandria, 2 Cranch Cir. Ct. 560. facts which explain its ruling, that we As to liability of bank for negligence in give it in the words of the court. It such matters, see Bank v. Burns, 12 was said; "The real contention be-Colo. 539; s. c., 21 Pac. Rep. 714; tween the parties was whether [the Drovers' Nat. Bank v. Anglo-American payee], the indorser of the promissory Pucking & Prov. Co., 117 Ill. 100; s. note, had been discharged from liabilc., 7 N. E. Rep. 601; Bank r Good- ity to the [plaintiff] by reason of the man, 109 Pa. St. 424; s. c., 2 Atl. Rep. negligence of the [defendant]. The 687; Farwell v. Curtis, 7 Biss. 162; note had been transmitted to the [de-Indig v. Bank, 80 N. Y. 100; Briggs fendant] for collection and was not paid at maturity. If [defendant] by Roe, 62 Mich. 199, it was held that its negligence had discharged the inwhere the person receiving a check dorser, then it should be held liable for upon a bunker and the banker on the damage it thereby caused; but if, notwithstanding the alleged negligence, [the indorser] remained liable, it should be exonerated, for all the duty it owed to the [plaintiff], in case the note was not paid, was to take such action as would charge the indorser. When the note matured the [defendant] in error notified the makers also, Hamilton v. Winona Salt & Lum- and one of them came to its banking house. A plain and simple duty then ² Bank v. Bank, (1892) 49 Ohio St. confronted the [defendant]: Either to 351. The opinion of the court evinces require payment of the note, or, in dea full and careful discussion of the fault thereof, to take such action as

§ 336. What action on its part will relieve a collecting bank from liability .- The United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the sixth circuit has held that a bank receiving a certificate of deposit issued by a bank for collection and mailing it to the bank which issued it, with a request for a remittance, was guilty of negligence. But in this particular case it appeared that the plaintiff bank on May 8, 1888, mailed to the defendant bank the certificate of deposit for collection, and on May ninth the lat-charge the indorser. It did neither, indorser, serves notice of non-payment upon one fense." quired to give it to the immediate was not mailed until the 19th, two

1 Parsons on Notes & That the note was conditionally paid is Bills, 514; Dobree v. Eastwood, 3 Car. suggested; what that may mean in this & P. 250; Simpson r. Turney, 5 connection is not clear. No doubt, Hump. 419; Rowe r. Tipper, 13 C. B. that, as between the holder and the 240; Marsh r. Maxwell, 2 Camp. 210. maker of a promissory note, a condi- Therefore, if the letter of [the makers] tional payment may be made; but the had been sufficient in form and subrules of the commercial law require a stance to fix the liability of [the payer holder, who intends to hold an in- indorser] it was mailed too late and dorser liable, to give notice to the lat- for that reason he was discharged. ter of the default of the maker. Any- This release of [the indorser] was an thing less than a full and absolute accomplished fact before the makers payment is a default, but nothing less of the note applied to him to extend than that measures the duty of the the time of payment. The omission maker. In this case, however, there of the bank to require payment, or in was no conditional payment made, default thereof to give the necessary True, the [defendant] had in its hands notice to charge [the inderser] was the means of enforcing payment, but caused by the solicitation of the did nothing, it simply accepted the makers. * * * The most careful maker's promise that, if [the payce] scrutiny of the record fails to disclose did not give further time, they would that [the indorser], up to this time, pay the note. If the [defendant] had said or did anything to mislead the given notice to the [plaintiff] of the bank or to induce it to relax its vigildefault of the maker, it would have ance, or omit any step necessary in discharged its duty, for it would have law to charge him as indorser. [The afforded the latter an opportunity to indorser], therefore, had a perfect degive notice to [the indorser]. Lawson fense against any action taken to v. Bank, 1 Ohio St. 206. Where, how-charge him as an indorser, unless by ever, a holder of a promissory note his subsequent conduct he has forpasses by an immediate indorser, and feited his right to set up this de-After discussing whether more remote, he cannot avail himself there was sufficient notice to the inof the time the immediate indorser dorser and whether he was estopped would have had to serve the remote to defend, the court then made this one if the holder had given notice to query: "Was due diligence shown in the former; but the holder in that case giving this notice?" This was anmust give notice to the remote indorser swered as follows: "The last day of within the same time that he is re- grace was October 17 and the letter ter mailed it to the bank issuing it. On June first the defendant bank credited the plaintiff bank with the item in the account current for May, and wrote that nothing had been heard from the bank issuing the certificate after repeated inquiries, and requested that the matter be investigated and a duplicate or a

Pars. on Notes & Bills, 513; Lawson had indemnity within its control. tention was directed to it; the makers flow from it.

To constitute due dili- the dollar of their indebtedness. No gence it should have been deposited doubt but for this letter of [the payee's] in the post office in time to have de- the bank would have charged this parted in the carliest mail to the resi- note against the maker's deposits, and dence of [the indorser] that departed in that way demand its payment. If after business hours on the 18th. Law- [the indorser | had been influenced by son r. Bank, 1 Ohio St. 206. It is true the facts, and chose to grant an extenthat if the [defendant] had chosen to sion to the makers, and the bank give notice of non-payment to the relying thereon had paid out all the [plaintiff] that the [plaintiff] would funds of the makers before the assignhave had one day after it re- ment was made, and thus lost its ceived notice within which to give means of indemnity, he should be held notice to [the indorser] and in that to abide the consequences. But he case a notice to [by?] the [plain- had no such knowledge. He neither tiff] to [the indorser] on the 19th of knew that he had been discharged by October would have been in time. 1 the bank's neglect, nor that the bank r. Bank, 1 Ohio St. 206. On October granting the extension was an indis-17, 1888, the day after the note ma- creet act in itself, and he should not tured, one of the makers has be charged with consequences that he was called into this bank and his at- had no reason to suspect would On the contrary, then had funds in the bank which this bank [the defendant here] was could have been applied to its pay- an actor in the entire transaction. ment, but upon [this maker's] repre- With means of payment in its hands, sentation that his firm was pressed it chose to include the makers in for means it was induced to include direct violation of its duty to the them until they could apply to [the [plaintiff]. It knew this inclulgence paycel for a short extension of the was granted to the makers of the note. time of payment, promising to pay it expressly, to enable them to apply for if [he] refused to extend the time, an extension of payment to one who, After two days' delay, they mailed the upon the face of the paper, was only letter of October 19, to which he re- liable in case it did the very duty ceived in answer [the payee's] letter of that it must of necessity violate to the 20th, granting the favor, of which grant the indulgence. And when the the bank was at once advised; it there-letter from [the indorser] was made upon continued to receive and pay out known to it, and it proceeded to act for the makers large sums of money upon the extensions granted, it had no until November 1, 1888, on which day reason to believe that he had granted the makers assigned their property in the extension with knowledge of the trust for their creditors, having assets facts, and it took no action to advise him sufficient to pay only a few cents on of their existence. Under these circumremittance obtained from the issues of the certificate. On June twenty-second, having received no answer to this letter, the defendant bank wrote the plaintiff bank that repeated letters about the item had remained unanswered, that they had written the plaintiff bank for a duplicate, and that they now charged the plaintiff bank with the item, which was accordingly done in the account current for June. This closed the correspondence with reference to the matter. The issuers of this certificate continued in good credit until after January 1, 1889, when they failed. The Court of Appeals held that under these facts the defendant bank was not responsible to the plaintiff bank for more than nominal damages, approving of the instruction of the lower court that those letters and the charging back amounted to a renunciation of the defendant's agency so far as the defendant could renounce it, adding that the defendant could not, by its renunciation, put an end to the agency as the facts then were, and relieve itself from liability without the consent, express or implied, of the plaintiff, and that such consent would be implied from the silence of the plaintiff after being informed of the renunciation; and that if the plaintiff made no objection to the renunciation. the defendant was not liable for damage thereafter resulting from events subsequent, and not from the sending of the certificate to the issuers for collection.1

§ 337. Rules as to checks and drafts.— A bank receiving a bill for collection from another bank, becomes the agent of the remitting bank and not of the owner of the bill, and, in the absence of agreement to the contrary, would be answerable to the remitting bank for neglect in the discharge of its duties as agent, whereby that bank sustains loss or damage.² It is the duty of a bank receiving for collection a bill payable at a future time to use due diligence in presenting it and in giving notice of a failure of due acceptance, or where a bank receives a bill for collection, presents it for acceptance, and gives no notice of non-acceptance, it stances [the defendant] must be held to have assumed the risks that naturally flowed from its actions, one of which was that [the inderser] might avail himself of a defense thus afforded to him by its own negligence."

1 First Nat. Bank of Evansville v. Fourth Nat. Bank of Louisville, (1893)

26 Fed. Rep. 967.

2 Commercial Bank v. Union Bank, (1854) 11 N. Y. 203.

will be held liable to the owner for the amount of the bill in case the acceptance be defective.1 A bank acting merely as collecting agent of drafts, without knowledge that the money collected was to be received in any way for its own benefit, or to be applied on an indebtedness to it, or on its own account, will not be held to have received the money in payment of its indebtedness or on its account.2 A bank receiving a draft for collection, with instructions from the holder of the draft to collect the money due on it and hold the same until called for, by crediting it to the account of another in violation of the instructions, will become liable to the holder for whom collection was made.' Where a collection of a draft is made for the owner under a direction of himself, or some one accompanying him, given in his presence and hearing. to hold the money until one or the other of the two should give further directions as to the disposition of the money, and this other person afterwards have the money paid to himself or placed to his credit to make good an overdraft on his own account, the bank would not be liable to the owner for the sum collected.4 It is the duty of the bank with which a check or bill is deposited for collection, to transmit it to a suitable agent to demand payment in such a manner that no loss may happen to any party to the check, whether the drawer, indorser or indorsee.5 The acceptor of a bill of exchange, discounted by a bank, with bill of lading attached, which the acceptor or other bank regarded as genuine at time of acceptance, but which proved to be a forgery, has been held bound to pay the bill to the bank at maturity.6 The rule upon which this holding was made was that bad faith in taking negotiable paper, which will defeat recovery thereon, must be something more than failure to inquire into their consideration, because of rumors or general reputation as to bad character of maker or drawer.7 The words "for collection," appended to

¹ Walker v. Bank of State of New York, (1854) 9 N. Y. 582, affirming 13 U. S. 551. Barb. 636.

^{(1877) 69} N. Y. 373.

III. 465.

⁴ Ibid.

Drovers' National Bank v. Provision Co., 117 Ill. 100.

⁶ Goetz v. Bank of Kansas City, 119

^{&#}x27;Ibid. When the holders of drafts ² Merchants' Bank of Canada v. must bear the loss where they have not Union R. R. & Transportation Co., been returned or presented in a reasonable time and the drawer has be-International Bank v. Ferris, 118 come insolvent. Collingwood v. Mer chants' Bank, 15 Neb. 121, an indorsement upon a check, limit the effect which the indorsement would have without them and give authority to the holder only to collect for the benefit of the indorser.1 It may be shown by a bank taking a certified check on another bank, either as a payment, on account, or for the purpose only of collection, that the check had availed nothing, where the bank so receiving the check may have discharged its duty by an effort to collect it.3 A bank receiving a check for collection and retaining it for four days without presenting it for payment, or making any offer for its collection, or giving any notice to the depositor of its nonpayment, has been held in North Carolina liable for loss ensuing therefrom.3 Where a bank received a check upon itself for collection, being at the time a large creditor of the drawer, and failed without excuse to notify the depositor of the non-payment of the check, it was held guilty, in law, of negligence, and that by its action the bank had made the check its own and was liable for its whole amount.⁴ A bank receiving a check for collection payable at a day subsequent, would be liable to the owner for failing to present it at the proper time where it had presented it for payment without allowing days of grace. A bank receiving remained until next morning, when it the check from the drawer. was taken in the usual course of business to the bank on which it was 76 N. C. 340. drawn. The bank was closed and congiven on a New York bank to the agent (1850) 1 Disney (Ohio), 247. of the railroad company in Newark. By a rule of the company the agent 36 Mo. 475. could not indorse the check, but was

Jersey City, 17 Vroom (N. J.), 604.

1 Hoffman v. First National Bank of required to send it to the principal office in New York city. Two days ² Drovers' National Bank r. Provis- after the check was given it was reion Co., 117 Ill. 100. In Bickford v. turned in due course of collection to First National Bank of Chicago, (1866) the Newark bank, which had mean-43 Ill. 238, the check was drawn and while failed. It was held that there certified and deposited in a bank after was no negligence in the presentation ten o'clock A. M., and before three of this check which would prevent the o'clock P. M. on a certain day, where it company recovering the amount of

³ Bank of New Hanover r. Kenan,

⁴ Ibid. An illustration of no want tinued so. The check was protested want of reasonable diligence in the prefor non-payment and due notice given, sentation of a check for payment The Supreme Court of Illinois held Werk r. Mad River Valley Bank, that there was sufficient diligence to (1858) 8 Ohio St. 301. As to the effect hold the owner of the check. In New of delay in presenting check for pay-York, etc., R. R. Co. r. Smith, 4 N. J. ment, see Stewart r. Smith, (1867) 17 Law J. 34, a certified check was Ohio St. 82; McGregor r. Loomis,

⁵ Ivory r. Bank of Missouri, (1865), from a depositor a check upon another bank for collection, should the collection fail, without fault of the bank receiving the check for collection, has a right to return the check and cancel the credit given the depositor for the amount.1 The bank in an Indiana case, holding a check drawn in its favor, indorsed it to a bank " for collection for account of " itself, and sent it by mail to this bank with a letter from its cashier, stating, "I inclose for collection and cr., as stated below" (specifying this and other checks and drafts sent). The check was placed by this bank on its collection register, where were entered only such checks received for collection as were treated as the property of the parties sending them, no credit being given therefor until they were collected. The cashier of this bank indorsed the check for collection and transmitted it to a third bank, with authority by letter to credit the second bank with the proceeds when collected. the same day the transmitting bank failed and went into the hands of a bank examiner. Two days afterwards the third bank collected the check, with notice by newspaper report of the failure of the second bank, but not notifying the drawee of this fact of which they had no notice. The collecting bank then credited the failed bank with the amount collected on the check, it being then, on account of previous dealings, legally indebted to it. The bank examiner also having in charge the books of the failed bank, without the consent of the remitting bank, credited it and charged the collecting bank with the amount of the check on the books of the failed bank, which, at the time it received the check, was largely indebted to the remitting bank. In this action, brought by the latter against the collecting bank, the court held that it was entitled to recover; that the indorsement of the check to the failed bank did not vest title in it, or give it any right to the proceeds; that the accompanying letter meant that it should collect for the remitting bank and place the proceeds to its credit and not that the failed bank should treat the check as its own or credit the remitting bank therewith before collection: that the transaction did not make the former the debtor of the latter before the check was collected, or deprive the latter of its rights to the check or its proceeds before its collection by the former;

Decatur National Bank v. Mur. ald, 51 Cal. 64; Boyd v. Emerson, 29 phy, (1881) 9 Bradw. (111.) 112. Sec. E. C. L. 68. also, National Gold Bank v. McDonthat the collecting bank was the agent of the failed bank, and being notified by the indorsement on the check that the latter was not the owner of it or entitled to its proceeds, the former had no right to credit the amount to the latter on its indebtedness to the former; that the notice it had of the failure of its correspondent was sufficient to require the collecting bank to regulate its action with a view to the rights of the remitting bank, as affected by the failure of its correspondent; that the directions in the letter of the cashier of the remitting bank to the failed bank constituted an authority to mingle the fund with the general funds of the bank when collected, whereby the former bank would become a general creditor of the latter instead of being entitled to the fund; that the insolvency and suspension of the latter operated as a revocation of such authority, and if it had authority to collect at all after its suspension, the former bank would be entitled to the specific fund, and the collecting bank, being an agent of the failed bank, had no more power or right as to the specific fund than its principal; that the rights of the remitting bank were not injuriously affected by anything done by the bank examiner with its knowledge or consent, and that the fact that the collecting bank had credited the amount collected upon its debt against the failed bank, did not discharge it from A bank to which an inland bill of exchange is transmitted for collection through the intervention of another bank, becomes the agent of the payce and is answerable to him alone for any breach of its duty in relation to the bill.2 Where accounts are kept between different banks, and one of them fails to pay over money received on drafts or bills of exchange collected for the other, the remedy is against the defaulting bank, and not against the drawer of the bill or draft.3 Should a bank receive a bill for collection and omit to present it at the proper time or place for payment, and a loss be sustained in consequence of such an omission to present it for payment, the bank would be liable to the extent of the loss.4 And the right of action against the bank would not be waived by the owner of the bill withdrawing it from the custody of the bank; nor would

¹ First National Bank v. First National Bank, (1881) 76 Ind. 561.

² Farmers' Bank v. Owen, 5 Cranch Cir. Ct. 504.

² Kupfer v. Bank of Galena, (1864) 34 Ill. 328.

⁴ Branch Bank at Montgomery v. Knox, (1840) 1 Als. 148.

the bank be discharged from its liability to answer for its negligence by the pursuit of any of the parties liable upon the bill.1 The facts of a case in the federal court for the district of Colorado were as follows: The bank sued here received from the plaintiff bank a sight draft for collection, drawn by the plaintiff bank on a third bank against funds actually to the credit of the drawer; the defendant received this draft for collection January tenth, and transmitted it directly to the drawee, its correspondent, on the same day; it should have reached the drawee in two days; the drawee continued good until January twenty-ninth, when it failed. The drawee did not acknowledge the receipt of the draft, and, in fact, the draft miscarried and never reached the drawee; the defendant made no inquiries about it until February ninth; the plaintiff and defendant both supposed, meanwhile, that the draft had been paid; the defendant gave the plaintiff no notice of any kind in respect of the draft until February eleventh. its action against the collecting bank to recover the amount of the draft, the collecting bank was held liable on the ground that, by its negligent omission of duty, a loss had resulted to the plaintiff.2 The measure of damages in such a case was held to be the Bennington v. Raymond, 12 Vt. 401.

if indeed it does not increase, the dili- thereby occasioned." gence required of the collecting bank

1 Ibid. As to the time within which in respect to inquiry and notice. The the holder of a bill of exchange must defendant bank allowed an unreasonpresent it for acceptance, see Bank of able time to elapse before it made inquiry concerning the draft, and more First National Bank of Trinidad than a reasonable time had elapsed ber. First National Bank of Denver, fore the failure of the Kansas City (1878) 4 Dill. 290. Dillon, C. J., Bank occurred. It was this neglisaid: "I have fully examined the ad- gence that caused the loss, since it is judged cases relating to the duty and established by the evidence that the responsibility of a bank which under- draft would have been paid if it had takes to act as a collecting agent for been presented at any time before the its customers or for other banks. They suspension of the drawee on the clearly show that the defendant bank 29th day of January. Here, then, ought to have ascertained, within a was an unexcused delay for fifteen or reasonable time, whether the draft sixteen days to make any inquiry or transmitted had been received by its give any notice. Aside from the cuscorrespondent, and if not to have ad- tom or usage pleaded in defense * * * vised the plaintiff thereof. The prac- the decisions in England and in this tice of banks to send such checks or country are uniform that such delay to drafts directly to the drawer (as in this make inquiry and omission to notify case) is attended with some obvious the party interested, as occurred in additional peril, and does not weaken, this case, impose a liability if loss is full amount of the draft.1 In an early Connecticut case it appeared that the plaintiff had drawn a bill of exchange, payable to his order, upon a person residing in the city where the defendant bank did business; that he indorsed it in blank and lodged it with a New York bank for collection; that the cashier of that bank indorsed it in blank and forwarded it to a bank in Connecticut, the cashier of which indorsed it in the same manner and transmitted it to defendant bank, each of these indorsements being made for the purpose of collection only. The money was paid to the defendant bank by the acceptor, and the defendant claimed in this action of the drawer the right of treating it as a collection on account of the Connecticut bank, through which it came to defendant, and to set off the avails of the collection to the credit of that bank upon the general account between the banks. The Supreme Court of Connecticut held that the defendant was not the factor or banker of the Connecticut bank through which it received the bill, and as agent, or in any other capacity, did not have a lien on the avails of the bill for the general balance of its account with that bank.2 They further held that the custom of transmitting bills for collection from one bank to another, and crediting on account the avails received, whatever effect it might have had between themselves, could not affect the claims of a third person, who may have confided the collection of a hill to one of them, without assent, either express or implied, to the mode of transacting their business.8 Where a draft was deposited

4 Dill. 290.

488. A customer lodges bills of ex- a part of them." change in the hands of his banker gencount of such of the bills as happen drawces in a reasonable time, and that

First National Bank of Trinidad r. to be nearest in value to the sum ad-First National Bank of Denver, (1878) vanced, but without any special agreement to that effect. This does not in-² Lawrence v. Stonington Bank validate the banker's general lien upon (1827) 6 Conn. 520. The court referred all the other bills in his hands, but he as follows to certain English cases: may retain them in order to secure the "In Jourdaine v. Leprone, 1 Esp. 66, payment of his general balance. These it was said by Lord Kenyon that a cases, and others to the same effect, banker had a lien on a note paid into are inappropriate to the one before us. his house, and of course a right to re- The transaction of sending notes for tain it for his general balance. The collection from one bank to another doctrine more clearly appears from the has no analogy to the payment of notes case of Davis v. Bowsher, 5 Term Rep. to a banker and obtaining discount on

⁸ Lawrence v. Stonington Bank, erally, and when the banker advances (1827) 6 Conn. 521. That bills of exmoney to him he applies it to the dis- change must be presented to the in a bank without directions that it should be treated as a separate fund, and was forwarded for collection to another bank, which failed, and the drafts and deposits between the two banks had been constantly changing, it has been held that the owner of the draft should share pro rata with other creditors.1 Where shown in an action against a bank for money received to its credit that the bank was employed to collect certain drafts, and that the money was paid to its correspondent, a bank in the place where the drawee lived, and that the correspondent forwarded a draft for the money to the defendant, it would devolve upon the latter to show that, through no default or want of diligence on its part, the draft was not paid.2 Where acceptance of a draft is refused, it is not necessary to present the draft for payment.3 receiving a bill for collection becomes the agent of the owner, and in the discharge of its obligations as his agent is bound to present it for acceptance without reasonable delay, and to present it for payment upon maturity; if not accepted or not paid when presented the bank should take such steps by protest and notice as are necessary to charge the drawer and indorser. Otherwise, Charles, 76 Ill. 303; Walsh v. Dait, 23 86 Mo 596. Wis. 834, Knott c. Venuble, 42 Ala. v. Cunningham, 1 Cow. 397, Robinson v. Ames, 20 Johns. 146; Bachellor v. Priest, 12 Pick, 399; Wallace v. Agry, 4 Mason, 336.

¹ Edson r. Augell, 58 Mich. 336.

² Simpson v. Waldby, 63 Mich, 439. As to the responsibility of a bank employed to collect drafts upon parties at a distance for the failure or dishonesty of its correspondent selected by itself. see Simpson v. Waldby, 63 Mich, 480. As to the right of the owner of a bill what is a reasonable time depends upon ent in settling the latter's indebtedness the facts in each case, see Montelius v. to it, see Millikin r. Shapleigh, (1865)

"Eveter Bank " Gordon, 8 N. H. 186; Veazie Bank v. Winn, 40 Me. 60; 66, 78. In Nunnemaker v. Lanier, East River Bank v. Gedney, 4 E. D. (1867) 48 Barb. 234, the bankers had Smith, 582; Phonix Ins Co. v. Allen, received for collection a draft upon a 11 Mich. 501, Fugitt v. Nixon, 44 Mo. trust company, and on presenting the 295; Aymar v. Beers, 7 Cow. 705; Sice same at their office received in payment the check of the trust company upon a bank and surrendered the draft. The bankers neglected to present the check for payment on the day they received it, and before banking hours on the next business day the trust company suspended payment and its check was dishonored on presentation. The Supreme Court of New York held that the bankers, by surrendering the draft, assumed the responsibility of taking the check of the trust company remitted through a bank for collection in payment, and that the existence of to recover it of the bank, notwith- a custom in the city of New York standing the latter's placing the among business men to take the checks amount to the credit of its correspond- of the trust company without certificait becomes liable to the owner for the damages which he may sustain by such neglect to perform its duties, unless there be some agreement to the contrary, express or implied.¹

§ 338. Negligence of a bank as to check held for collection. -In a late Kansas case the payer of a check upon a bank brought action against the drawer, basing his action upon the fact that there was money to the credit of the drawer in the bank, and the bank becoming insolvent, had made an assignment, and the check came back unpaid. It appeared that the payee of the check had placed it in the hands of his bank as his agent for collection, and the latter had sent it to the drawee for collection. The question for decision by the Supreme Court of Kansas was stated to be whether the negligence of the payee and his agent, his bank, in sending the check directly to the drawer operated, under the facts agreed upon, to discharge the drawer from liability. The court said: "From the agreed statement it appears that the check reached Richfield on the 12th of December, 1889, after business hours; that the bank on which it was drawn was open, doing a general business, receiving deposits and paying money on checks during its regular banking hours on the thirteenth. ing that day a letter was written, addressed to the [payee's bank], with which was inclosed the check and the statement 'No funds in bank.' This letter was deposited in the post office after banking hours, and received at [the place where the check was drawn] after business hours on the fourteenth. The refusal to pay was, therefore, not communicated to any one until the fourteenth. Can it be presumed that if the check had been regularly presented over the counter to the Richfield Bank on the thirteenth a false answer would have been given, as was in fact given by letter and payment refused? It is admitted that the defendant had more than money enough to his credit to meet the check. Had presentment been made by another agent of the plaintiff and payment refused, steps might have been taken immediately to protect the drawer's rights; but, the check being in the hands of the drawee, of course no effort could be made by it to prosecute itself, and the fact that payment was refused was not communi-tion, in the same manner as bank ¹ Montgomery County Bank r. Alchecks, was no defense to an action by bany City Bank, (1852) 7 N. Y. 459. the owners of the draft to recover the amount of the same.

cated to the [payee's bank] until the night of the day following the last one on which the Richfield Bank was open for business. It might be that the answer 'No funds in bank' was literally true, and that the Richfield Bank had not the money with which to make payment at any time during the day of the thirteenth: but we are not at liberty to include in any presumptions of that kind, the agreed facts showing that it received deposits and paid checks during the whole of that business day. This case must be decided in accordance with established principles, and the fact that the Richfield Bank was a small concern in a very sparsely peopled part of the state, and perhaps never had any large amount of funds in its possession, cannot be made a pretext for breaking down those wholesome rules of business which have been built up and defined with so much care and precision. The request in this case by letter was not an ordinary demand of payment calling for current funds, but was a request for Kansas City exchange, which the drawee would of course be at perfect liberty to refuse. In cases of this kind a hardship necessarily results to one party or another. Courts, in their decisions, must be guided by fixed rules. The plaintiff, having trusted in the good faith of the Richfield Bank by sending the check to it, must bear the burden of the loss occasioned by its failure occurring after the day on which regular presentment should have been made." 1 It

¹ Anderson v. Rodgers, (Kans. 1894) will not be discharged from liability; 36 Pac. Rep. 1067, 1069. The ruling but when a person, having funds on was the result of an application of the deposit in a bank, draws a check principles declared in these words: "It against them, the holder of the check, is true, as was said by this court in if he delays its presentment, assumes Gregg v. George, 16 Kans. 546, that 'in the risk of the failure of the bank. It order to charge the drawee of a check, is said in Daniels on Negotiable Instruthe same strict rule of diligence in ments, (§ 586): 'The fact that the making demand and giving notice of check is presumed to be drawn against non-payment does not obtain as in cases deposited funds makes it of even of ordinary bills of exchange. As a greater importance than, in the case of general rule he is not discharged un- a bill, that a check should be preless he suffers some loss in conse- sented, and that the drawer should be quence of the delay of the holder.' If notified of non-payment in order that the drawee of a check has no funds on he may speedily inquire into the causes deposit to meet it, or if, having funds of refusal, and be placed in a position in the bank at the time, he afterwards to secure his funds which were dewithdraws them, and the check is not posited in the bank.' The rule, howpaid on that account, the drawee ever, as to the time allowed the holder [drawer?], having suffered no injury for presentment of a check, in order by reason of delay in its presentment, to relieve him from the risk of loss by would not be negligence on the part of a bank receiving a check from one of its customers for collection to forward the check by mail; but if, failing to hear from it within a reasonable time, the bank neglects to make inquiry or give notice, this would be negligence, and the bank would make itself liable for ensuing loss occasioned by the drawer's insolvency.1

§ 339. When a bank collecting a draft is liable to the owner .- It was held in the federal court for the district of Indiana that a bank which was an indorsee for collection for failure of the drawer, is definitely contemplation of law, to enforce in exchange on Kansas City. the request that remittances be made Kyle, 1 Ga. 304. It is considered that no therefor. firm, bank, corporation or individual (1875) 59 N. Y. 485. can be deemed a suitable agent, in fixed by the authorities: (1) Where the behalf of another a claim against itself.' payee to whom the check is delivered This proposition is sustained by receives it in the place where the bank abundant authorities. Drovers' Nat. on which it is drawn is located, he Bank v. Anglo-American Packing & must present it by the close of bank- Provision Co., 117 Ill. 100; s. c., 7 N. ing hours on the next business day. E. Rep. 601; Bank r. Burns, 12 Colo. (2) Where the check, as in this case, is 539; s. c., 21 Pac. Rep. 714; Bank r. drawn on a bank located at a place Goodman, 109 Pa. St. 422; s. c., 2 Atl. distant from that in which it was re- Rep. 687; First Nat. Bank of Eyansceived by the payee, it must be sent ville r. Fourth Nat. Bank of Louisville, for presentment for payment by mail 6 C. C. A. 183; s. c., 56 Fed. Rep. on the next secular day after it is re- 967; Farwell v. Curtis, 7 Biss. 160; s. c., ceived, and presented on the next day Fed. Cases, No. 4,690." It was inafter its receipt. In this case the sisted before the court that inasmuch check seems to have been forwarded as the check was forwarded in due for payment in due time, but it was time and came into the hands of the sent directly to the drawee by mail, drawee, which refused payment, and with the request that the bank of returned the check with the state-Richfield remit the amount by mail in ment "No funds in bank," the defend-The ant was not injured by the mode of [payee's bank], therefore, elected the presentment; that an answer of "No drawee of the check as its agent for funds," sent by mail, was as effectual collection. That this was negligence a refusal to pay as though made is well settled by the authorities. It across the counter at the bank. To is said in Daniel on Negotiable Instru- this the court said: "Where due prements (volume 1, § 328a), 'For the sentment is not made the burden of purposes of collection, the collecting proof is upon the holder of the check bank must employ a suitable sub- to show that the drawer has not sufagent. It must not transmit its checks fered injury." Ford v. McClung, 5 or bills directly to the bank or party W. Va. 166; 2 Pars. Notes & B. 71; 2 by whom payment is to be made, with Dan, Neg. Inst. § 1588; Daniels v.

1 Shipsey v. Bowery National Bank, account of a prior indorsee for collection was liable to the owner of the draft for the amount collected, and not remitted to the owner or the prior indorsee, notwithstanding credit for the amount was given the latter and he charged the collector and credited the owner, and was charged for the same by the owner, and though the collector, by virtue of an agreement with its inderser, whereby the amount due from one to the other for collections was to be placed to the latter's credit with a certain bank. wrote to that bank to place the amount to the credit of the prior indorser, which order it could have countermanded after notice of the latter's failure.1 In a case in the federal court it appeared that the owners of a bill of exchange sent it to a certain bank indersed by them for collection. At the time the bank received the bill of exchange it was insolvent, to the knowledge of its' managing officer, and on that day, or following morning, it failed. Prior to its failure this bank indersed the bill of exchange to another bank, which collected it and kept the proceeds, crediting the insolvent bank, which was indebted to it, with the amount collected. The court held that the first bank acquired no title because of its fraud in not disclosing its insolvency, and the collecting bank had no better title, as the owner's indorsement showed that the bank was merely the owner's agent to collect the proceeds.2

§ 340. When indorser of a check is relieved of liability.— The question of liability of an indorser of checks drawn payable to his order, by one upon a bank with which the latter kept an account, to the bank in which he placed the checks, they being received as each as shown by the record of the case, and not for collection by the bank, has been considered in a recent case before the Nebraska Supreme Court. There had been delay in the presentation of the checks, and the court declined to lay down any rule by which the indorsee of a check must present the same for payment in any given time to hold the indorser. But in this

Sweeny v. Easter, 1 Wall. 173; Bank 1034; White v. Bank, 102 U. S. 658. of the Metropolis v. First Nat. Bank of Jersey City, 19 Fed. Rep. 808; Bank 43 Fed. Rep. 857. v. Armstrong, 39 Fed. Rep. 684; First Commercial Nat. Bank of Cincin- Nat. Bank of Chicago v. Bank, 3 Fed. nati v. Hamilton Nat. Bank of Ft. Rep. 257, Blaine v. Bourne, 11 R. I. Wayne, (1890) 42 Fed. Rep. 880. See 119; Bank v. Hubbell, 22 N. E. Rep. ² Peck v. First National Bank, (1890) particular case they held that the checks were not presented in a reasonable time.1

¹ First National Bank of Wymore r. them by mail to a bank in Omaha, presenting it, and that it could not of demandand non payment presenting the check for payment, the creding day for presentment' an indorser of a check it must be pre on which they were drawn, as to bills of exchange.' their receipt mailed them to a bank Bowman, 69 Iowa, 150." in another state, which bank sent

Miller, 37 Neb. 500. The court con- Nebraska, which bank in turn sent sidered the question as to whether the them by mail to the bank on which indorsee was damaged by the delay in they were drawn, they arriving there presenting the checks was wholly im- on June 5, where they were then promaterial, upon the rule stated, as they tested for non payment. In Smith r said, in the following cases: "In North-Janes, 20 Wend, 192, the Supreme western Coal Co r Bowman & Co, 69 Court of New York say. The holder Iowa, 150, the court say, after deciding of a check can recover against the in that the plaintiff had held the check in dorser only when he has used due question an unreasonable time before diligence in presenting or giving notice recover against indersers. The fact Where the parties all reside in the same that the drawer had no funds in the place, the check should be presented hands of the drawee when the check on the day it is received, or on the folwas drawn, makes no difference.' In lowing day, and when payable at a Gough v. Staats, 13 Wend 549, the different place from that in which it is Supreme Court of New York say 'If negotiated, it should be forwarded by there has not been due diligence in the mail on the same or the next sucindorser is discharged, although he has also, Holmes v. Roe, 62 Mich. 199 not been prejudiced by the delay.' In Mohawk Bank r. Broderick, 10 The Nebraska court said further: 'The Wend, 304, the Supreme Court of New authorities all say that in order to hold York say. 'A check on a bank for the payment of money, to charge an insented by the indorsee in a reasonable dorser, must be presented with all dis time, and as to what is a reasonable patch and diligence consistent with the time, depends upon the facts and cir transaction of other commercial concumstances of each particular case,' cerns, and it was accordingly held, The facts in this case were that the where a check was received in Schenchecks were placed in the bank about ectady on the 14th of January, drawn the close of banking hours, on the 31st on a bank in Albany, a distance of sixday of May, 1890. The bank on which teen miles from the former place, and they were drawn was in a place between which places there is a daily twenty-seven miles distant from the mail, and not presented until the 6th location of the bank receiving them, of February, that laches was imputable and a mail left the latter place at 6 P. to the holder, and that the indorser was M. daily, arriving at the place where discharged. Although it is said that the bank upon which the checks were checks are like inland bills of exchange, drawn was located, at 9 P. M. of the and are to be governed by the same same day. The bank receiving the principles, greater diligence is required checks made no inquiry of the bank in presenting them than in presenting This case was whether the checks were good, nor did affirmed by the Court for the Correction it at any time advise that bank that it of Errors in 18 Wend. 183. See to the held the checks, but on the day of same effect Northwestern Coal Co. v.

707